Marjorie Morrison
Executive Director
“At Breast Cancer Action, we are privileged to witness the contributions of our volunteers who give of their time, talent and experience to help others just as they have benefited in the past. This is a wonderful gift that passes the torch from woman to woman, to help each other in an unending chain of support.”

Barbara Newport
December, 2006

As President of Breast Cancer Action, I would like to express my thanks to all of our volunteers, our breast health partners and indeed to all of you who have taken the time to reach out to others who are experiencing breast cancer.

I am pleased to announce that Breast Cancer Action reached many of our goals in 2006 leaving us energized and empowered as we now focus our attention to 2007.

A Look Back at 2006...

In May of last year, the Taipei Economic and Cultural Office hosted an annual fundraising event in support of Breast Cancer Action at the official residence of Dr. and Mrs. Chen, chaired by Dr. Shail Verma and Mrs. Louise Robinson.

In June, many of our members participated in the 13th annual Manulife Walk & Fun Run making it a successful event raising over $50,000 in total.

During our 2006 Annual General Meeting, Dr. Barbara Collins was our featured speaker. During the evening, Breast Cancer Action presented an award to recognize those who play a significant role in helping breast cancer survivors deal with the emotional, physical and spiritual challenges of a breast cancer diagnosis. The “Mentor of the Year” award was presented to Karen O’Donohoe, as nominated by Muriel Kurdish.

Throughout 2006, our members continued to benefit from our many programs: membership in the Dragon Boat Program (Busting Out) has expanded and our weekly Tai Chi and Exercise classes continued to be made available at no charge to our membership. Our Young Women’s Breast Health Program reached out with 66 classroom presentations and our print materials for the program were revised to reflect a more age-specific approach to communicating with youth.

We continued to provide lymphedema workshops and, in collaboration with our breast health partners, we hosted pre-operative information sessions to assist women diagnosed with breast cancer.

In October, we successfully launched the HOPE CAMPAIGN to raise awareness for and support of Breast Cancer Action.

Following an in-house needs assessment involving our membership, and in direct response to the results of that assessment, we submitted a complex grant application to the Canadian Breast Cancer Foundation to fund an expanded two-year lymphedema project.

In 2006, our commitment to helping women diagnosed with breast cancer expanded beyond our walls. We were the exclusive funding source of two programs offered by the Ottawa Hospital Regional Cancer Centre namely, Healthy Living for Women with Breast Cancer and the Lymphedema Therapy and Treatment Program.

All of these initiatives, projects, services and activities would not be possible without the dedication of our staff, as well as the support and assistance of our valued volunteers.

“Breast Cancer Action has touched the lives of countless women and families affected by breast cancer. It provides the personal contact of a volunteer who has been there, the camaraderie and health focus of exercise groups, and educational outreach to our high schools. Breast Cancer Action is committed to respond to the needs of the people in our region, now and in the future.”

Barbara Newport
President
Winston Churchill once said, “Courage is the first of human qualities, because it is the quality which guarantees all others.” I believe this statement to be true.

In March of 2006, I celebrated my one-year anniversary as Executive Director of Breast Cancer Action. During that special time of learning and growing together, I have been privileged to meet many amazing women who have shown me, through their determination and strength of spirit, that navigation of the breast cancer path does indeed take a tremendous amount of courage.

The personal experiences shared with me privately this past year allowed me to better understand the various stages of diagnosis, treatment and recovery from the perspective of those battling breast cancer. As a result, I have gained a stronger appreciation of the challenges many breast cancer patients encounter, an appreciation that better equips me to effectively lead this organization through various stages of growth, development and change.

I wish to share with each of you that I consider it to be an honour to be a part of this progressive grassroots organization that accomplishes so much with such limited resources and funding. Together, we have much to be proud of.

2006 was an exciting time of change for Breast Cancer Action. More than ever before, we became aware of how critical it was to adopt a more proactive and visible role in an effort to increase our profile within the community, and to work toward ensuring sustainability. With strong leadership in place, Breast Cancer Action continues to move forward at a steady pace embracing new initiatives and pursuing valuable market opportunities that allow us to better meet the diverse needs of those diagnosed with breast cancer within the Ottawa region.

Meeting the immediate and diverse needs of our membership, our stakeholders and our community can be challenging. Breast Cancer Action bears the enormous responsibility of ensuring we meet those needs while maintaining sight of our vision, as well as our mandate. It is a responsibility we take very seriously.

As a charitable organization, much of what we were able to accomplish in 2006 depended on the financial support we received from our community, our donors and our extended circle of friends. Truly, it takes a great deal of energy and funding in order for us to continue to offer our many core programs and services free of charge to our members and, in the case of our workshops, to our community.

In the days, months and indeed years ahead, Breast Cancer Action will continue to work toward strengthening and solidifying our existing programs, as well as striving to offer new avenues for those diagnosed with breast cancer to come together in support of one another.

Breast Cancer Action serves an expanded audience consisting of our membership, stakeholders, breast health partners and our community at large. Extending to the rural outlying areas of Ottawa as well as the urban centre of the city, we serve a predominantly female population.

The statistical results gathered from a recent comprehensive in-house organizational Needs Assessment offered Breast Cancer Action a valuable opportunity to better understand the demographics of those served by our programs, services and initiatives.

These results will provide the organization with the core data needed in order to focus on enhancing or improving our existing programs and services, as well as identifying future goals and projects.

Breast Cancer Action wishes to acknowledge the work of Marg Campbell in processing and analyzing the statistical data.

"I was there for Breast Cancer Action when it first opened, when it relocated and when it held its very successful fundraisers, and BCA was there for me when I received my diagnosis of breast cancer in 1998. With the continuing financial support of individuals and corporations, it will be there in the future for those thousands of women and men who will hear the words, You have breast cancer."

The hands of a volunteer have the power to make things happen; for the organization, for those living with a breast cancer diagnosis and for the benefit of the community we each call home.

Breast Cancer Action remains healthy and vibrant as a result of the many helping hands that tend to our care and well-being. The caring hands of a volunteer can help the organization plan new events, move into uncharted territories, tackle the unthinkable and build new collaborative partnerships.

When hands link together in a common cause, so much can be accomplished. Breast Cancer Action is extremely grateful to our very special team of volunteers who give the gift of their time, energy and skills.

VOLUNTEERS BUILD HEALTHY COMMUNITIES.

The financial support of our extended circle of friends is critical to Breast Cancer Action.

The funds we receive through donations and corporate sponsorship allow us to continue to invest in building a stronger, healthier organization.

As a result of donor dollars, both corporate and private, we are able to focus our attention to the ongoing development of our programs, as well as expand our services and introduce new initiatives and projects that are beneficial to breast cancer survivors residing in the Ottawa area.

Cultivating and maintaining healthy friendships with our valued donor base is the key to sustainability as well as the key to future growth and development opportunities.

At Breast Cancer Action, every donor dollar counts. The friendships we forge serve to help strengthen our role as a service provider for those diagnosed with breast cancer in our community.
