You already know about when I came in contact with beloved Master Kirpal. Before I met Him, I had not met a critic of Him or an admirer of Him. It was His grace only that made it possible for me to come to His Feet. So when I met Him I did not ask Him to which caste He belonged, to which religion He belonged, whether He was married or not. I did not place any of my physical difficulties in front of Him, I did not ask him any questions, because I knew deep in my soul that, “He is my Perfect Master, He is my savior and He has come to liberate me.” So since I did not present any of my worldly things to Him, my vessel was prepared, and He was a great Master, He gave me the Initiation, and He filled my vessel up.

We all can do that because our vessel is also prepared. When we are destined to meet the Perfect Master it means we are preparing our vessel. But when we meet the Master, when we come to the Master, if we also do not place our physical difficulties to Him, if we only ask for the Naam and His grace, then He can easily fill up our vessel and He can easily liberate us and make everything easier for us. But not everyone can do this because it is not an easy thing. We do not know how many births it takes for a soul to develop such an attitude. One has to do a lot of religious deeds, one has to do a lot of meditation in his past lifetime, in order to develop such an attitude when he comes to the Perfect Master.

There was an initiate of Guru Nanak Dev Ji whose name was Baba Budha; he lived a very long life up to the time of the sixth Guru, Guru Har Gobind. When he came to Guru Nanak he was of a very young age, but he was very clever and he used to talk about very good things just as an older person would talk, so Guru Nanak said, “You are a young boy but you talk like the elders, like the old ones, so that is why from today your name will be Baba Budha.” (Budha means an older person). He lived up to the time of Guru Har Gobind, the sixth Guru, and each time when they established the successor after Guru Nanak, Baba Budha used to perform the ceremony of giving the tilak, the ceremony of establishing the successor on the throne of Guru Nanak. He did that for all the five Gurus Who came after Guru Nanak.

Once Baba Budha asked Guru Har Gobind, “Master, I have been performing this ceremony for so long, and I am now very old, do I still need to do this meditation? Because I am very old and I think that now that you should release me from this duty of doing the meditation.”

Guru Har Gobind, Who had surrendered Himself to His Master, even though He Himself had become the Form of the Master – He was a Master Himself – but still He did not give up the practices. Because He knew how, even after reaching the Real Home, one has to remain like a child in front of the Master, and how he has to surrender himself to Master, so that is why He told Baba Budha, “Look here Baba Budha, even though you have done this work for so long, you have been meditating for so long, but if you will give up the meditation now, just imagine – what will the Sangat learn from you? If you will give up the meditation, they will also follow you, and they will also give up the meditation, which is not a good thing.”

So the meaning of saying this is that those who have surrendered their will to the Master, even after reaching the Real Home, even if They have become the Form of the Master, still They always enjoy the spiritual practices. The Masters Who have reached the Real Home, even if They are working as a Master in this physical plane, but still every morning They get up and do the meditation. They always present Themselves in front of Their Master as a young infant, as a child, and They always ask for the blessings and grace of the Master even though They Themselves are capable of doing everything. They do this only because They have surrendered Their will to the Master and They do not do anything of Their own; They always work in the will of Their Master.

A lot more can be said in regard to the surrender of the will, because this is the story of love which has no end. I can talk a lot more on this subject. We could even make books on this topic of how to surrender ourselves to the Will of Lord, but I think what I have said today is enough and we should always remember this and follow it.

1989 December: The Guru Never Wavers

Session Date: January 19, 1985

This question and answer session, translated by Mr. Oberoi, was given January 19, 1985, in Bombay.

QUESTION: Sometimes negative thoughts occur to me, just come in suddenly. Can I just renounce those thoughts by saying that “I am not the mind, I did not create the mind, I am not responsible for that thought.” And how do I really do that?

SANT JI: Each one of us must understand it clearly that whatever thoughts come into our mind, we are ourselves responsible for them; and we have to suffer the consequences of them because we have created them.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: During Your spiritual progress, aside from Your deep yearning for God, what practices did You do during the 1940's, 1950's, and 1960's to keep Your mind alert and attentive through the night to do devotion of God? And also could You talk about ashrams and the beneficial effect that ashrams have on Satsangis.

SANT JI: Ever since I started this search I had a deep yearning, I was always praying that I would be able to come in contact with a Master like Baba Nanak and the other Gurus, who would give me this; I had always that deep desire which was attracting me. Since I had that deep desire Maharaj Kirpal heard my voice. He Himself came all the distance to my ashram and He quenched my thirst; He gave me happiness. As I usually tell you I have always thought of my Master, I have always asked Him of Him, and I have had no other desire except Him. Maharaj Baba Sawan Singh used to say that the side of the balance which carries the most weight goes lower. Similarly whatever thoughts are there, the same thoughts will create further things in your mind. Whatever you think of that will have further impact and the desire will be created.

Guru Nanak Dev Ji Maharaj has said, "You can have only one type of inclination, when you have the worldly inclination you can't have the other one, and when you have the other one this will automatically go."

Consequently we should always create the desire towards God, we should make the place for Him to come and stay. Even in the worldly order, before a dog sits, he will clean the place with his tail, similarly if we want God to come we must clean our heart and make a place for Him to come and stay.

Even if some worldly relative has come to our house we clean it, we do all that is necessary to make it proper. Similarly have we ever thought that for the Highest of the Highest to come and stay in our place – have we ever thought of cleaning that place – we have already defiled it – is it not necessary that we should make it clean for Him to come and sit?

Those who indulge in all types of sins and yet think of finding God are making fools of themselves, because they expect both things to be continuing simultaneously.

I often say that at the time of Initiation Guru sits within our heart; the Negative Power is already there. After Initiation, when a person starts going against the teachings of the Master, the Negative Power tells the Guru inside, "Look he is your jiva, but still he is doing all these sins." But Guru is somebody with great devotion, with great confidence and perseverance, He always tells the Negative Power, "He is my jiva, I have Initiated him, I will do my best to reform him, to bring him up to the level."

I often say that we have to become the beggar of the beggars on this Path. Baba Ji used to repeat a couplet which says, "Neither have I beauty, nor do I have attributes, I am the lowest of the lowest, and yet You are my spouse; You are my everything, I have to win You over, I have to become Yours."

QUESTION: Master, I think you have sometimes said that an Initiate has a maximum of four lives to finish from the moment of his Initiation to when he gets back Home. I have always believed that this is my last life and that . . . You will definitely be coming to get me when my end time comes. Would you please comment on this?

SANT JI: One of the army men put a question to Baba Sawan Singh Ji, saying, "Kabir has written that an Initiate, if he does not go for the darshan of the Master for some time, then the relationship between the Guru and the Initiate is broken." Baba Sawan Singh said, "This was said by Kabir not by me."

The Light of Ajaib

Because the Saints, They always see the man; and giving us the darshan, our soul is clapped [awakened] with Their own soul, with Their own radiation, with Their own help, They take us up. And whatever deficiencies are there, they are completed on the Inner planes.

Sometime back a similar question was asked and I replied with reference to what Guru Gobind Singh did in His life, some incident of His life. As you all know Guru Gobind Singh took up the arms because of the tyranny of the Moguls. Once it so happened that some of his initiates who were fighting in the battle, they got a little disgusted, and they went away from Him, after writing a disclaimer that they were not His disciples.<sup>29</sup> When they went home their wives rebuked them and said, “Look here we are normally wearing the bangles, it is you who should wear the bangles and it is you who should wear these ladies’ dresses.” Now this gave them the feeling that what they had done was wrong. One of the ladies, who was known as Martapago, somehow prevailed upon them; and all of them, forty in number, along with that lady Martapago, went back to the Guru. On the way there was a very severe encounter with the opposition forces with the result that most of them died in the battlefield except one Jatadar Mahan Singh Ji and that lady. When Guru Gobind Singh was told, He came and He saw those people on the battlefield lying dead. Similarly Bhai Mahan Singh was also in bad position; He pleaded, “O Great Guru, whatever disclaimer I wrote, that should be torn up now.” He said, “Take it for granted that it is torn now, I never told you at any stage that I am not your Guru; it is only you who have said that you are not my disciples.” A Guru is someone who would never leave the disciple come what may. We idiot disciples may do whatever we do.

Whosoever has even a little inclination towards meditation would normally be aware of his end-time, and he would tell other people also. Those who are good meditators, they would tell of their coming departure long earlier, but the principle is that if there is no non-Satsangi around the man who is going, he would normally tell the Initiates around him that he is going, that the Guru has come to take him.

Leave alone the Initiates, sometimes others also talk of it, when people come and meet me, in their interview or even through their letters, they talk of such incidents: “so-and-so, when he or she was near the end, felt Your Presence very much; either in the hospital room or wherever he was, You came and You took him.” Some people have even described that they saw Maharaj Kirpal and Baba Sawan Singh also simultaneously at such times.

The Satsangis should be more concerned about the meditation, about doing their practices. The Guru never wavers; He always comes at the appointed time.

QUESTION: I have a question about the future. Eventually will we souls all completely lose our individuality or will we still be individually doing devotion?

SANT JI: I often tell you, soul is above the communities, above the genders, above the forms; at the third plane all these finish and soul is pure soul and not tied to these or any individual entities.

QUESTION: Dear Father, in every Bhajan we hear, we find sounds more beautiful than the last; could we again have the supreme happiness to hear one of these being sung in Your voice.

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs] As you know it is the Higher Power who is making me write all this. On the first tour I sang a number of songs but now the voice doesn’t help me, I can’t really sing.

The Light of Ajaib

This malady of writing bhajans is gripping me but Pappu and Kent are asking me not to write any more for some time. [Sant Ji laughs more, everyone laughs.]

I always want that the praise and admiration of my Guru should be done, I should be able to do it, in the new way, in the ever-changing and new way.

It is not possible to sing the full praise of the Guru. Sehjo Bhai has said, "If I could make the whole earth into paper, all the oceans into ink, and all the trees into a pen, even then I will not be able to write the praise of the Guru."

Every Saint has written about His Guru, about the Naam, about the Satsang in Their own bhajans, because whatever is pent up in Their heart for the Guru They try to express through these hymns.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, what is it exactly to love the Master as long as we are ego because ego always wants to take everything for itself?

SANT JI: As I always say, whenever a Satsangi starts treading on this Path the armies of the Negative Power – the five dacoits and the mind-start attacking us. As I always tell you, sitting in meditation is fighting them out, all these five dacoits. Tulsi Sahib has said, "O Tulsi, to fight on the battlefield is a matter of a few days only, but the soul fights against the mind without any sword, for all its life long." But those who devote themselves in this, those who fight the mind steadfastly, without the normal, usual weapons, they always succeed. And as I always tell you that those who do it devotedly and succeed in this Path, they get the prime of the place and positions.

QUESTION: Master, do you have a Gurumukh disciple?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs heartily] Look here, I want all of you to become Gurumukh disciples, you kindly cooperate with me; you kindly have courage and do it.

QUESTION: What is meant by natural devotion?

SANT JI: Leaving yourself and getting yourself merged into that Naam, into that Guru, into that Power, into that Nature, call It by any name.

QUESTION: When the Negative Power appears in Your Form within the disciple can you make it out?

SANT JI: It's to enable you to test this that the Saints have given you the Five Sacred Names. They are not those names which They have heard, but they are those on which They have meditated. If you repeat these Five Charged Names in any such situation the Negative Power will disappear; you yourself will be able to test it.

Many times the Negative Power does appear and sometimes It takes the Form of your Master also.

Maharaj Sawan Singh Ji when He fractured His leg, He was in great pain and agony. The doctors advised Him, that if He wants the bone to set properly He should start using meat, meat soup, and other such things. So He sent a telegram to His Guru, Baba Jaimal Singh Ji, telling Him what the doctors had advised and seeking His advice, whether He should do it. Because in the meantime when He sat in meditation, Kal, in the form of His Guru, came and advised Him to do it. At the same time when, on the receipt of the telegram, Baba Jaimal Singh sent Him another telegram telling Him that the Guru gives the order once and that stands. So He told Him these things cannot either save your life or prolong it. These are nothing, if you have to live, you will live, otherwise not; so as ordered, you should not use it.

The Light of Ajaib

Saint Satna has said that if you go to the protection of a lion then why be afraid of jackals? The power of Naam and Shabd is such that no power on the earth can stand before it. This is the most lasting Power.

QUESTION: Can you speak about how to be a good parent?

SANT JI: I have spoken a lot about it. I would say that you had better check out Sant Bani Magazine, but since you have become a mother recently I would give you something more also.

It's a well known incident Bhagat Farid was made a Param Sant by his mother. Right in his childhood his mother, who was a meditator of Naam and Shabd, used to advise him to devote himself to seeking God. And He would enquire, "Why is it so?" And she would say, "He is very sweet." So what the mother started doing was that she would put Him into meditation and before that boy would get up from meditating, she would place some sugar candy there, and tell Him, "This was sent by God." So this continued for a few days with the result that His inclination towards the meditation became more gripping, He started doing it because He knew it was very sweet. The same Bhagat Farid has written in His composition, "The sugar candy is very sweet, honey is very sweet, there are many things which are very sweet; but God is far more sweet than those." So all those who are Satsangis they should really train their children according to the teachings of Sat Mat so that they start picking it up gradually. If the children of the animals are affected by their parents why would the children of the human beings be not so? Once it so happened that a boy and a girl were in love, but their parents wouldn't agree to their marriage. They decided to run away together, so the girl brought her she-camel and in the dead of night both of them left that place and went away. On the way it so happened that there was some water, and that she-camel stopped for awhile, not going ahead and that girl immediately blurted out that the mother of this she-camel was also in the habit of stopping wherever she would see water.

The man immediately thought, "If the daughter of the camel was affected by its habits why would my own children be not similarly affected. This girl is fleeing with me against the wishes of her parents, well some time later we will have children out of this wedlock, and would that girl who comes out of our wedlock not behave in the same manner and not flee away? At that same time my own honor would be at stake."

So after he thought about it, he said that he had forgotten some very important things at his house and convinced his partner to go back. When they got back to the palace he said, "Look here, now we have come to the palace, we are saved of a great sin, let us not enter into it and let it be the end of it." So I mean to say, that whatever the parents do has a great effect on the children.

Maharaj Sawan Singh Ji used to say, "Those parents who commit wrongs, who do wrong things in the presence and in knowledge of their children, they are spoiling the character of their own children."

The parents should be become good first, the children will automatically become good.

1990*1990 January/February: On Karmas, Love, and Marriage*Session Date: January 15, 1985

This question-and-answer session was given January 15, 1985, in Bombay.

QUESTION: Yesterday You mentioned the Four Ages: the Golden Age, the Silver Age, the Copper age, the Iron Age. In my job I have to teach western theories of evolution – evolution of species, evolution of the human form from animal form – and I wonder how I should understand all this? How does it all fit together? . . . I just wondered if I should worry, or how I should understand this when people ask me?

SANT JI: The only benefit which we have in this Iron Age is that we do not have to live for as many years as we did in the other ages, and in this age Saints have graciously shortened the practice, by doing which, we can go back to our Real Home. In the other ages the jivas used to live for a long time and the practices were also very long; in the Iron Age, we do have to finish the breaths which have been put in our body, but compared to the other ages it is a short time. The practice which the Masters have given to us – by doing that practice, in one second we can go within, the next second we can come out; and in this way, by doing the meditation of Surat Shabd, we can easily go back Home and our evolution can happen very easily.

In the Golden Age if any person would do any bad deed or any sin the whole country had to suffer the consequences of that action. In the Silver Age if a person committed any sin or made any mistake, his whole city had to suffer the consequences of that bad karma, and in the Copper Age if a person had committed any sin or made any mistake his family had to suffer the consequences. But in the Iron Age, if a wife commits a sin, she has to suffer the consequences herself, if a husband commits a sin, he has to suffer himself. If one hand has done any mistake or has committed a sin only that hand will suffer the consequences, only that hand will suffer the karma of that. Guru Nanak Sahib says, “As far as suffering the consequences of the karma is concerned, this Iron Age is the best age because in this age only he who does the karma has to suffer its consequences; it does not fall upon the other people.” Whoever does the deeds, bad or good, only he is responsible for that and only he suffers or enjoys the consequences of those karmas.

QUESTION: In South America, Dr. Molina recommended during Satsang to keep our attention fixed on the Master’s third eye; is it better to fix your attention on the Master’s third eye or on His physical eyes?

SANT JI: What Dr. Molina said is correct regarding looking at the Master during Satsang. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say also, “Your attention should be so much concentrated on the Form of the Master that you should not even pay any attention to the person who may be sitting next to Him; you should not pay any attention to the things which are behind the Master; if there is any noise or disturbances, your attention should not even go there; you should be continuously concentrated on the Form of the Master.” And He used to say that you should try to look into the Eyes of the Master because the flow of the Shabd, or the flow of the Light, is coming through the eyes of the Master. When we will try to look into both of the eyes of the Master our attention will go automatically to the eye center, that will become our center point.

The Light of Ajaib

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “If you contemplate upon a dirty person, your mind will become dirty, you will get the dirty qualities of that dirty person, but if we contemplate upon a person who has good qualities, we also get the same good qualities which that person has.” When we put our attention on the Form of the Master and when we go on concentrating on His Form, we start getting all the good qualities which the Master has.

Baba Sawan Singh Ji used to tell a story from the Mahabharata about one boy who was from the low caste of Bhil; he wanted to learn the skill of archery. So he went to Drohnacharya who was the teacher of both the Korovas and Pandavas. When that low caste boy asked Drohnacharya to teach him the skill of archery, since Drohnacharya was the teacher of the prince and the royal family, he rejected him. He said, “I cannot teach you.” But that boy had much love and respect for Drohnacharya and he wanted to learn that skill so when he came back to his home, in his hut he made an idol of Drohnacharya. And every day he would sit in front of that idol for a couple of hours contemplating the form of Drohnacharya and he would internally request for that skill. So gradually he learned all the skills, all the things which Drohnacharya was teaching to the other boys from the prince’s family. If Drohnacharya had been going within, he would have known and he would have stopped that boy from learning that skill but since Drohnacharya was not going within, he could not do that. But because of his contemplation, because of concentrating on the form of Drohnacharya, that boy of the Bhil caste learned every skill, he learned everything.

Once when Drohnacharya was wandering here and there in the forest with his disciples, both Korovas and Pandavas, they saw a deer coming from the other side and there was an arrow through his mouth yet the deer was still alive. Arjuna who was the best student of Drohnacharya, asked him, “Master, you have said that I am your best disciple and that you have taught me every single skill and you have taught me so many things which you have not taught to anybody else, but what is this? I see this deer, but you have not taught me this trick [of stitching the deer’s mouth closed with an arrow]. This must have been done by a disciple of yours, because I know that in this world there is nobody else who teaches archery better than you do.”

Then that Bhil boy came out and confessed, “I have done this; I know this skill.” Drohnacharya was surprised so he asked him, “Who taught you this skill and who is your teacher?”

That boy replied, “Master, you are my teacher; you have taught me everything.” Drohnacharya remembered that he had rejected him, so he said, “No that is not true, I did not teach you.” That boy said, “Yes, it is a fact that you did not teach me outwardly, you had rejected me, but come with me.” And in the hut he showed the idol of Drohnacharya to everybody and he said, “I had love and affection for you, so every day I was sitting in front of this idol and contemplating on this form and internally you have taught me everything.”

Now Drohnacharya was not a Saint – he did not go within – so he did not have appreciation for the real disciple. He did not know that he should appreciate the love and affection of the disciple who was contemplating on his form. In order to keep his promise to Arjuna – that Arjuna was his best disciple – he didn’t want that boy to be better than Arjuna, so in order to prevent him from continuing with his archery, he asked for some kind of offering which the disciple is supposed to give to the Master. He said, “You have taken me as your teacher but you did not give me anything.”

The Light of Ajaib

That boy was devoted to Drohnacharya and he had a lot of love and affection for him so he said, “Master, whatever you want I will be very happy to give it to you.”

Drohnacharya was a narrow-minded person so he said, “You give me the thumb of your right hand.” That boy did not hesitate a moment to cut off his thumb and after that he could not do archery.

But the meaning of telling this story is that that boy, even though he was rejected by Drohnacharya, still because he contemplated on his form, he learned all the skills, even better skills than Drohnacharya had taught Arjuna or the other disciples.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say this regarding the importance of the darshan of the Master, “After you have had the darshan of the Master in the Satsang, after the Satsang is over and after Master has gone away from your sight, you should not talk with anyone. It will be best to sit in the meditation and not talk with anybody so that you will absorb that darshan, that Grace, deep in your within.” What happens if you talk after the Satsang? You lose the Grace, the benefit, which you have obtained by having the darshan of the Master and your heart becomes empty.

Once in Bucaramanga I was singing the glory of the darshan of Beloved Master Kirpal. I was saying how the physical form of the Master is also full of Light, it is Light itself, from the tips of the Masters’ toes to the top of Their head They are all Light. But now it all depends on our receptivity; it all depends upon our vessel; it all depends on which kind of eye we have made for having the darshan of the Master. Because Masters are Light, but not everybody can see that, not everybody can realize that They are full of Light and They are nothing else than Light. Kabir Sahib says, “Some people come to the Master with love, some people come to the Master with duality and with bad feelings; but Masters pay no attention to that love or the bad feelings. They accept and appreciate both of them coming, but it all depends upon our receptivity and upon our feelings how we see the Master, how we appreciate His Being.”

About fifteen or twenty years ago in Rajasthan there were not many good roads, there were not so many canals, there were not so many television sets nor radios, and the minds of people were very pure. They were innocent people, and just by giving them a little impetus, just by giving them a little understanding, they would start doing the devotion of the Lord, because their minds and their thoughts were not spread so much into this world. This was the reason that when Master Kirpal came to my ashram, all the people who had His darshan, even though not all of them were initiates, but all of them said that they had had the darshan of the Master in His Real Form, the Form of the Light; they had seen the Master turning into Light, all Light. This was only because their minds were not so swift and they were not spread into the world.

So when I was talking about all this in Bucaramanga, at that time there were many dear ones sitting there who had made their eye, who were fortunate ones to get that realization of the Master. And many people even tried to capture that thing in the camera and some people were successful, they sent me the pictures. Many people saw that the Form of the Master had turned into the Form of Light.

The mind of the western dear ones is very much spread in the world; it works too much. That is why, even after having a very high experience at the time of Initiation, they are not ready to accept it and even then they say, “Maybe it was a trick of the mind, it was not the valid experience.” This is only because their mind works too much. In this group there is a girl who was initiated in 1977 during my first tour at Sant Bani Ashram, she did not have any experience of either Sound or Light at the time of Initiation but she told me that she knew what was the reason behind it. I told her that if she would meditate with love and faith in the Master she would definitely get the experience. So after a year or so she got the experience of both Sound and Light and since she did the meditation lovingly and faithfully she got that experience and she says that now she gets the experience of both Light and Sound. I mean to say that those people whose mind is not working too much, those people whose mind and thoughts are not very much spread into this world, they get the experience very soon, even if they have not had the experience at the time of Initiation, later on, when they continue with the meditation, they get the experience.

Those who know the importance of the Master, they bloom like a flower when they have the darshan of the Master. Guru Arjan Dev Ji says, “When I look at the Form of the Master I bloom like the lotus; I become very happy.”

QUESTION: Master I have a good western mind and it is very active. Frequently there are stories that go on in my mind, they are violent or extreme forms of the five dacoits doing things and I wonder what burden the soul has to suffer for the activities of the mind. If those actions are stopped at the mind rather than being manifested in speech or an action, is the soul still responsible for those thoughts? And do those thoughts continue unless you are doing Simran until you finally reach Sat Naam?

SANT JI: Whatever thoughts we go on thinking during the day when we are lying down or when we are doing other things of the world all those things which we think, following our mind, obeying our mind, these are the only things which are bothering us and these are the only things which are keeping us away from God. You see that mind is an agent of Negative Power, of that Power that has created this world. It is his duty to prevent every soul from doing the meditation of Shabd Naam and he is performing his duty very honestly, doing the job of his Master very honestly, and very correctly. And soul is the essence of Sat Purush, she has forgotten her existence and she has lost all her energy, she has become very weak. Mind does not have any power of his own, but He is taking the power from the soul and is making soul weak. It is like a vine which does not have any roots in the ground, but that vine takes energy from whatever tree that vine is growing on, and makes that tree weak. In the same way, our mind has been thrown over our soul and he is taking the power from our soul and making her weak.

I will give you another example to make you understand how it works. You know that the silkworms make the silk thread from their mouth; they do it lovingly. They just spin out the silk and it goes on forming a cocoon around their body. And finally the people who collect that silk take that cocoon and put it on the fire. In order to refine their silk, they have to kill that worm who has produced that silk. So in the same way, the seed which is sown by our mind, although it is formed by our mind, we are responsible for it. Since the mind is making something like a cocoon around the soul, that is why whatever deed we have done, obeying our mind, or whatever seed which is sown by our mind, our soul also has to suffer the consequences of that. Guru Nanak Sahib says, “Our soul has to suffer the consequences of the seed which is sown by the mind just like that insect which produces the silk has to suffer.” Mind has created all the differences and disputes in this world; mind is the only one who has humiliated all the Rishis, munis, and the other people in this world. Kabir Sahib says, “This mind is a great humiliator, he always humiliates people; if I tell him that he is like that he will get upset at me. When I tell him to walk in the direction of the Master, he is not ready to even take one step in that direction.”

If we wisely think about this, if we honestly think about this, we will know that in this world we do not have any enemy. Our only enemy is in our within; the mind is our enemy.

The Light of Ajaib

I often say that when you sit for the meditation you should refuse your mind. You should tell him, “Neither will we listen to your talk nor will we make you listen to our talk.”

Kabir Sahib has said, “Following the mind, first the person goes in the forest, and afterwards he comes back into the city; and in this way, following the mind, he goes into the cycle of eighty-four lakhs births and deaths.” He said that first the mind creates the yearning within us that we should go into the forest and do the devotion of Lord, and after the person goes into the forest and starts doing the devotion, many other people come to respect him. They bring a lot of things for him. After eating all those things, and after getting all the name and fame, intoxication comes into the mind and the mind feels like coming back into the city and enjoying the things of the world. When he comes back to the city he gets involved in the worldly things and as a result he goes into the cycle of eighty-four lakhs births and deaths. So it is only because of the mind that first he tries to become a renunciate; but when he does that, afterwards the same mind brings him back to the city and makes him do such things which take him to the cycle of eighty-four lakhs.

Mind is very deceptive, first he will make you do the bad karma and then he will make you realize that you made a mistake.

Just imagine, when you have a thought of lust in your mind, in order to fulfill that thought, in order to fulfill that desire, you will have to take support of someone. A man will have to take the support of a woman, and the woman will have to take the support of a man, because such a karma can only be done if two people are involved in that. And you know that lust becomes the cause of disgrace. Many times it happens that people who are involved in lust do not even see the person standing next to them because lust is such a madness.

In the same way, when we have thoughts of anger, in order to get rid of them, it seems important that in order to get rid of that we will either have to beat someone or we will have to fight with someone and unless we do that our mind remains restless.

The form of the person with whom you have fought will stand in your mind and you will not remember the Form of the Master; and your attention, your thoughts, will be spread all over. So neither the angry person nor the unchaste person can do the devotion of Lord, because the attention gets spread all over in the world by the anger, and by lust the attention goes down.

I have always said that in our mind the meeting of four counsels: mind, intellect, consciousness, and egoism, is always going on; it is always in progress there, and they always create one or another thought.

Mind creates a thought and consciousness makes a sketch of it, makes a figure or form of it, and the egoism strengthens that thought and inspires you that you have to do this thing. And finally we do that bad deed, we do that karma. So that is why we should never let our mind create any thought within us because when we do the deed according to the thought created by the mind, our soul also has to suffer its consequences.

QUESTION: My question is three parts. One, concerning the Charged Names: Your voice is music in the Shabd; should we hear Your voice saying the Charged Names? Two, it has been said that Master Kirpal was the most beautiful, but it has also been said that Sawan was the most beautiful man you have ever seen. I wanted to know if there is any difference, are all Masters completely beautiful? Thirdly, about karmas: if we see an animal suffering on the road and it is surely to die by being hit by a car, if it is suffering very much, is it our right to help it go on and end its life. Or say if a mouse is caught by a cat should we chase the cat away so the mouse can get away?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs] When the group goes to Rajasthan usually I repeat the Simran for them; but I tell them that they should not record that Simran, they should not record the Simran in my voice, because you have to do the Simran yourself. The Sound which you are told to hear in the within, to listen to within, when you will go within, you will realize that that sound was the voice of your Master and the Master was calling you to come into the within.

Love is the most beautiful thing. Bodies also may be beautiful, but love is the most beautiful thing. When we love someone, even if that person looks like an animal still we will find him the most beautiful thing, the most beautiful face in the world.

I have seen Master Sawan Singh from a very close distance, and for a long time I got the opportunity to see Him. The most beautiful thing is our love which is within us, because when we look at the form of the Master with love and faith, the rays of our love will be reflected by the body of the Master and then we will see Him as the most beautiful being in the world. So it is our own love which makes the person whom we love appear to be the most beautiful.

Many people in this world saw Master Kirpal Singh. If all of them had seen Him as the most beautiful being in the world then do you think those people of that certain party who wrote a book against Him, who criticized Him, would have done that? Saints love everyone but unless we have love for Them, unless we have real faith for Them, we cannot see Their beauty, we cannot see Their love.

Once a man from Punjab came to my ashram when Master Kirpal was there. He had a very big turban on his head, and he came there and when he was talking to Master, he said, "I am not seeing the Light; I am not hearing the Sound. You said that when I would meditate, I would see Light and hear the Sound." So he was complaining about not seeing those things, about not having the inner experiences.

I was also standing there and I was looking at the beautiful form of the Master. On that day He had a little shawl-like thing, wrapped around His body and He was looking very beautiful. So in my heart I was saying, "Everybody is looking for the experiences and for the inner beauty, but I see You as the most beautiful thing." I was thinking in my heart, "Is there any other light in this world which is worth seeing other than the Light of the Master? Is there any other music or any other sound in this world which is worth listening to, other than the music or the voice of the Master?"

I was an initiate of Master Kirpal and the other dear one who had come from the Punjab also was an initiate of Master Kirpal. He was complaining about not seeing the things in his within and I was feeling very happy because I was seeing His real glory, His real beauty outside. So you see that it all depends on our receptivity, it all depends on how much love we have for the Master and how we see the things in Him.

You know that when we people write letters to the Master we always talk about our problems, we always ask for some things of the world and even when we come into the interview, when we talk to Him we again present the same problems of the world and we again ask for the worldly things. But when I used to see my Master, when I used to talk with Him, I had only one prayer in my heart and that was, "Your Eyes are the dyer, Your Eyes are the dye-stuff, the color, and Your Eyes are the ones who will dye the color of my eyes. My eyes have become the servant of Your Eyes; and I am very happy to be Your servant. I will not ask for any kind of payment because I just need Your darshan.” I was telling Him, “I do not mind working for You, for my eyes are the servant of Your Eyes, and I only want that You should give me the color of Your Eyes. You should change my eyes into the color of Your Eyes so that I may always have Your darshan.”

Regarding the third part of your question: you see, when we are living in this world, even if we go into the very depth of all these things, if you try to split hairs it is not possible. But I would say, in that context, that we should try our best to help other beings, to help people or creatures who are in need.

Long ago there was one Muslim Fakir who once went to Mecca. In those days there were not many means of transportation, so he was walking to Mecca, and he had some food that he was carrying with him. After walking for the whole day, he stopped in a mosque to spend the night. During the night some ants got into his food; the next morning he again started walking and, after walking for about twenty miles, he felt like eating the food. When he opened his bag he found that there were so many ants in there. He felt much pity for them and thought, “Some ants would have raised their eggs in that mosque where they got into my food, and some may have left some baby ants over there. If I will remove them from my food here, they will all die, because they will be here and they will be crying for their eggs or for their babies.” So since he had pity and mercy on them, he went all the way back the twenty miles he had walked; he removed those ants from his food in the same mosque where he had spent the night. So I mean to say that those who have love for God they also love his creatures.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, when I was here two years ago I was married to one of your disciples, but since then we have gotten divorced. I feel very bad about what’s happened, because I have a lot of anger towards this woman; we fought a lot in our marriage and I criticized her very much, both to her face and behind her back, and I treated her very badly. I prayed a lot to the Master to forgive me, but I feel that because you sit inside her, I hurt Your feelings too. I am wondering if I can ever be forgiven for that criticism, and the divorce?

SANT JI: I have often said that it is not a bad thing to get married. It is like taking some companion in life, to do the journey of this life comfortably while accompanying each other. But what happens when we get into this sacred union? Instead of keeping it sacred and instead of keeping it full of love, we make it dirty with the dirt of the worldly pleasures and passions; that is why all our love is lost from the marriage.

Before getting married to any person you should think about that person, not once, not twice, but, if you want, you can think about that person thousands of times, millions of times, you can take your time, you can think for months, you can think about that person a lot of times. But after you get married to that person you should always maintain the sacred union. Once you have made the promises with each other, saying, “I will respect you, and you will respect me, and we both will live together until the end of the life” you should maintain those promises; you should maintain that sacred union. After you have gotten married it is not good to get separated from each other or to get divorced.

No Saint has ever approved of divorce. They always say that both the husband and wife should live in such a way that [they feel as though] one soul lives in two different bodies. And they should part from each other only when the death separates them.

When the dear ones ask me about divorce, I feel as though the earth under my feet is shaking, is moving, because I feel very bad about it. And I always say that if there is any difficulty in the married life, if there is any disunity, you should talk about it with each other. You should sit alone and talk about it. The husband should come a little closer to the wife and the wife should also come a little closer to the husband. If there are any misunderstandings, they should be removed, and by talking and by loving each other, they should create such an atmosphere that the situation for getting the divorce may not arise, because divorce is not the real solution for all the problems.

Regarding criticism I have always said that those who criticize not only lose in this world, but they also lose their spiritual wealth. If a person is criticizing his own worldly companion he is losing a lot.

Regarding marriage I have said a lot in the past; I have said that even if it is a bitter juice, still you should drink it, because that is better for you. Because the mind who makes us love one person and hate the other person now, it is possible that the same mind will make us love some other person the next day, and he will make us hate the same person whom we are loving now. So we should not become like a toy in the hands of the mind and we should remain strong in maintaining our married life.

1990 March: What We Should Ask of the Master

Session Date: January 28, 1990

This question and answer session was given January 28, 1990, at Sant Bani Ashram, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Beloved Sant Ji, from Satsang and the sacred writings of the Masters we are told that Master has two forms. He has the outer or physical Form, and He has the inner or Shabd Form. The physical form must in the Will of God obey the laws of nature in the physical plane and He is not allowed to show miracles nor attract attention to Himself by showing His true glory in an outer way. It seems that we dear ones often present many questions to the Master which are like personal problems or decisions which will determine the direction of our future, and we expect the outer Master to provide a definite, clear yes/no, do/don't type answer which we then somehow understand as an order which we have to obey.

But since this may not be the role which the outer Master is supposed to fulfill, He may sometimes give a reply which puts the responsibility of that decision back on the shoulders of the dear one. He does not answer that question very clearly, because He wants the disciples to learn to develop their own faculty of discrimination and other God-given resources which are already within us and which God has provided to us for finding our way through the challenges, difficulties, and decisions which life in this world constantly presents.

Would Sant Ji comment on which things the disciples should request from the physical Form of the Master? What is the appropriate and respectful way to use the precious contact we have with His outer Form, and which things are in the Will of God for the outer Master to do for the disciples? ... and what should we do for ourselves by relying upon His constant presence within us in His Shabd Form and how can we develop and use our own discrimination and receptivity to find the answers by ourselves rather than constantly putting all our worldly questions and problems on the physical form of the Master.

SANT JI: The question is very good and it can be very helpful to many dear ones, but whenever you put a question you should try to make it brief, because the dear ones understand the answers to the brief questions in a much better way.

The Light of Ajaib

Most of the things which the dear one has asked in this question are answered in the Satsangs, but we people do not pay any attention to the Satsangs. It is not that everybody does not pay attention; there are some people who pay a lot of attention to the Satsang. But most of these things are always mentioned in the Satsangs: what are our faults and what should we ask from the Master and what we should not ask from the Master. These things are mentioned many times in the Satsangs.

Often I advise the dear ones that they should subscribe to Sant Bani Magazine. You get it once a month and you people spend a lot of money on buying the magazine, so when you get that magazine you should read it thoroughly, because most of such questions are answered in the magazine. Many Satsangs are published, and many question and answer sessions are also published. So if you would read the magazine thoroughly, you can get the answer to most of your questions.

Now I would like to explain the answer to this question to you. In order to understand the answer to this question we will have to go very deep, and we should understand this. A part of this question was asked by Baba Sawan Singh to Baba Jaimal Singh.

Master has given us the greatest gift of Naam and He always encourages us outwardly through His outer form to meditate on the Naam. He encourages us not just by talking to us, but He Himself sits in meditation, and presenting a living example to us, He encourages us to meditate. Also in His Satsangs, in His discourses, whenever He talks to us, He tells us that we have to protect ourselves from lust, anger, greed, attachment and egoism, those five dacoits who are plundering our meditations, who are plundering our souls, and who have made us spiritually bankrupt. He tells us all these things and He tells us how we have to keep our life pure, and He tells us many other things outwardly through His outer form, through His physical form those things which we should do in order to progress in meditation. Swami Ji Maharaj also said that the Master has two Forms: one is the outer, another is the inner. And what did He say to His Master? He said, “Oh my Master! You show me Your Real Form. Even though I love this outer form also, but You show me Your Inner Form also.” Master Sawan Singh and Master Kirpal Singh were the greatest of those souls who came into this world, but still, how much love They had for Their Master, and how hard They worked in order to give us the demonstration. And we know what They asked from Their Master, what questions They asked from Their Master. So thinking and remembering what They did, we need to understand a lot.

Most of the dear ones, whenever they get to see the Inner Form of the Master, they misunderstand it and they think it is a dream which they have had of the Master. But often I have said, “Dear ones, the vision of the Master which you get is not a dream” – because we get the dreams only when our soul drops down from the eye center and goes into the lower organs of the body, and then, according to the thoughts of the past day, we have the dreams. But the Master is very pure and holy: He never goes below in the lower organs of the body, because what is there in the organs of the body? It is only filled with dirt, and the Master never goes there. What happens at that time when we have a vision of the Master, which we often misunderstand as a dream of the Master? Whenever our mind is quiet and peaceful, then Master graciously lifts our soul up through His gracious and loving sight, with the hook of His Love, and in that way He takes us into the higher planes and He blesses us with His Inner Form. But we people think that it was just like any other dream, and so we do not take advantage of it. Often you will find a lot of happiness and peace after you have had such a vision of the Master. Some dear souls who get such Grace from the Master, do not misunderstand it, and for many days they often remember that Form of the Master which they have seen inside, and in that way, taking advantage of that remembrance of that Form of the Master, they progress in meditation.

Once, regarding the Inner Form of the Master, Baba Sawan Singh Ji asked Baba Jaimal Singh, “Master, sometimes Master comes within and says ‘yes’ to something, He answers that question, but that does not happen outwardly. Master does not shower His Grace like that. What is the reason?” So Baba Jaimal Singh said, “Often it happens when the disciple is meditating and the Master appears, that the disciple in all his excitement does not think about what he is asking from the Master, and whatever he asks, Master says, “Okay, that will be granted,” or “You will have this.” But when the Master sees that this will be bad for his spiritual progress, then the Master does not give what He promised to him within.

The dear ones who go within and connect themselves with the Almighty Lord every day know the Reality. They have seen the Reality and that is why the worldly things are of no use to them. So they do not present any worldly questions; they do not ask anything from the Master, because they are in constant connection with the Master within every day. But those dear ones who occasionally go within, or if Master graciously pulls them up some time, then they ask so many worldly things of the Master, and when the answers which the Master has told them do not happen outwardly, then they become confused. So the best thing would be that the dear ones would go within every day, so that if there was any confusion the next day they could clarify that with the Master. If the things do not happen according to what the Master has said, then they themselves can go within and clarify with the Master the next day.

Dear ones, the jivas are very ignorant. They are more ignorant than a five-year-old child. You know that a five-year-old child is very ignorant. He does not know that it is not good for him to put his hand in the fire. But the parents are very wise, and they know that if he puts his hand in the fire he will get burned. So that is why they always keep him away from the fire, and whenever he tries to put his hand in the fire they tell him, “No, it is not good for you,” and they always stop him from doing that. But the child gets upset, because he does not know why the parents are telling him not to do that. Similarly, suppose the child has a cold, he is coughing. The parents will not give him anything which will increase his cough. But he wants to eat the sour pickle, which will increase his cough. The parents say “No, you should not eat this.” He does not understand that it is only for his health that his parents are not giving him the pickle. He does not understand, and he gets upset, and throws himself on the ground, etc. But the parents are wise, and they do not give him the pickle.

The same is our condition. We people do not know. We are very ignorant ones, and we do not know what is good and what is bad for us. We see all the outer things in this physical world, all the material things in this world, and we always desire those things. We do not know what things are good and what are not good for us. Therefore, when we ask for all those things from the Master, He has to use His discrimination, and He has to decide which things will be good for us. And when we do not get the things which we desire, then we get upset. But our Master is like that wise parent who knows what is good and what is not good for us. He does not give us anything which will be harmful to us.

We do not know what the Master wants to give to us, and we do not know what He has for us. He wishes that while we are living we should go within and go back to our Real Home. He wants us to sit on that Throne which belongs to our Almighty Lord. He wants us to go back to our Real Home, but we people do not understand, and that is why we do not take any advantage of the Forms of the Master, and instead of asking for the inner grace, we always go on asking outer things from the Form of the Master.

The Light of Ajaib

Many times I have told this story in Satsang, and I will repeat it again. It is the story about a wood cutter. Once there was a king who had gone into the forest for hunting. He lost his way and he became very thirsty. A woodcutter was cutting wood in that forest. He had some water with him. So the king, who was very thirsty, came there looking for water, and the woodcutter gave him some water to drink. You know how much a thirsty man appreciates it when he is given water, because he thinks that the one who has given him the water has saved his life. So the king was very pleased with that woodcutter, and he said, "I am a king, and since you have saved my life, I will give you something very valuable. I will give you a sandalwood garden, so that you may live your life very comfortably."

Now that woodcutter did not have any appreciation for sandalwood; he did not know how valuable sandalwood is. He thought that sandalwood was like any other wood. So he began cutting down all the sandalwood trees. He would burn it and make it into charcoal and then sell it in the market; and in that way he continued earning his living as he had been doing before.

After some time the king needed some sandalwood, so he thought of sending his people to that woodcutter, thinking that he might have a lot of sandalwood and he might be living his life very comfortably, because sandalwood was very expensive. But when his people went there, they were surprised to see that there was not a single sandalwood tree left. Everything had been turned into charcoal. So they asked him if he had any piece of sandalwood. He said, "No, I don't have anything. You can see that I have cut down the whole garden of sandalwood trees, and I have made it into charcoal and sold it. I don't have anything."

But they wanted some piece of sandalwood, so they asked, "Isn't there anything left?" He said, well, there is this small piece, which I have made into the handle of my axe." So they bought that small piece of sandalwood from him, and in return they gave him a lot of money. When he realized that the small piece of sandalwood was worth that much, he felt terrible; and then he realized that he had not appreciated the sandalwood which he had been given. He had not even appreciated the fragrance of the sandalwood, but had cut down all the sandalwood trees. And he felt so depressed and sad about what he had done, he left his body right there, in that state of depression.

This is just a story. In reality, what is the sandalwood which God Almighty has given to us? Master has given us the greatest gift of Naam, which is the sandalwood garden, but we people do not appreciate the fragrance of the sandalwood. What is the fragrance of the sandalwood? The presence of the Living Master is the fragrance of the sandalwood which inspires us to go within and see that reality which God Almighty has placed within us. But we people do not appreciate the fragrance. We people do not appreciate the gift of God, the Naam which God Almighty has given to us; and so we go on wasting the gift of Naam, we go on wasting this precious birth which God Almighty has given us, in doing all the worldly things. We always go on indulging in the worldly things, and in the end what happens? Like that woodcutter, we leave this body, we leave this world, without gaining anything.

But the Master Who has given us Initiation is not careless. He always looks after our soul, even if He leaves the physical body and goes back to His Real Home Sach Khand. He always thinks about our welfare, our betterment, and He always tries to think of one way or another through which He can help us. So in many ways He again encourages us. He inspires us to meditate on Naam, and somehow He makes us meditate on the Naam. Afterwards, when we leave the body and our Master takes us up and makes us sit on that throne which is in Sach Khand, and when He rewards us for that little bit of meditation which we may have done, then we come to realize that if the meditation was so valuable, why didn't we do it with our every single breath. Then our condition becomes like that of the woodcutter. We feel depressed and disappointed, and we regret that we didn't take advantage of the precious time which God Almighty had given to us, and we didn't meditate. But the Master Who has given us Initiation is never careless. Whatever meditation we do, He always rewards us for that. But if we had appreciated Him earlier, we would have spent all our time doing the meditation and going within, and we would have not wasted any time asking Him the outer questions.

What should we ask from the outer form of the Master, and what are the things about which we should rely on the outer form of the Master? It is true that God Almighty has given us this faculty of discrimination, and there are many things which we have to decide ourselves, and the Masters also tell us to use our discrimination and make decisions ourselves. But the ways of the Master are very unique. You know that through the Satsangs They touch upon almost all the things which happen in our life, and They answer almost all the questions. Many times They go into very deep detail in answering our worldly questions, and also, since the Masters do not interfere in our worldly lives, They leave many things for us to determine, and many decisions for us to make. Dear ones, the mission of any Perfect Master is not dependent on any Vedas or Shastras, or upon any holy Scriptures. The mission of the Perfect Saints is dependent only upon the Naam – upon God Almighty and upon the Master Who has given Them this work of giving the Naam Initiation.

Even then, the Masters quote from the writings of the past Mahatmas, past Masters, only to make us understand that They are not telling us anything new – so that we may not feel that the Masters are saying anything different from what the other Masters have said. They tell us, “We are not saying anything new to you; all these things have been said previously by the past Masters.”

Often I have said that Master Sawan Singh Ji used to tell the dear ones in the sangat that those who go to the Masters expecting the Master to cure them of their illness, or to help them win some lawsuit, or sort out the problems in their home – those who go to the Master expecting all these worldly things – they should not bother going to the Satsang, because what can such people gain from Sant Mat?

Many people who used to go within in the time of Baba Sawan Singh know very well how many years earlier Master Sawan Singh had to leave this world only because He was burdened with all the problems of the dear ones. Similarly those who used to go within also know how many years earlier Master Kirpal Singh left the body and how much He had to suffer physically. He also had to undergo an operation and many other difficulties, and He also left earlier. We people do not understand this, and still we go on burdening the physical form of the Master with all our problems and outer things.

This does not mean that if we are not opening up our heart in front of the Master, if we are not telling Him about our pains and problems, He will not help us. It is not like that. If we are doing our Bhajan and Simran, whatever amount is feasible, He helps us in that way, and wherever we need the help of the Master, He extends all feasible help to us. If a bad person goes to prison because of doing something bad, and if he continues to be a bad person and also creates troubles in the prison, then what would the authorities there do? They would make his imprisonment even stronger, they would put him in a stronger room; and also, he would be looked upon as a troublemaker, and it is possible that his sentence might be increased. But another person who is not a bad person but somehow had to go to prison because something went wrong, if he lives according to the rules and regulations of the prison and does not create any problems there, then the authorities have mercy upon him and they may reduce the sentence which he has to suffer there.

The Light of Ajaib

Is the One in Whose remembrance we are sitting not looking at us? Whenever we are sitting in His remembrance, He is always looking at us. But we people, because we are involved in our ego, that is why whenever anything good happens we say that we have done it, and whenever anything goes bad we always blame it on the Master. But the Master Who is sitting within us, in Whose remembrance we are sitting, knows everything about us and He is constantly watching us. Guru Nanak Sahib says, “Even without your asking, He knows everything about you. To whom are you making the prayers?”

Regarding those who go within, Guru Nanak Sahib says that such people say, “Oh Lord, to ask anything from You except You is like asking for more sufferings. Kindly give us Naam, which would give us more contentment, and the hunger of our mind would be satiated.” In his Vars, Bhai Gurdas has written that even the tree under which the Master sits becomes so pleased and so blessed that it gets liberation from that body of a tree. And even if a ghost has the darshan of the Master in his astral form, he becomes free from that body. And even the stones get liberation. What is difficult for one who goes into the refuge of the Master to get liberation? But only if we have faith, if we have constant faith and love for the Master, can we get liberation.

The jiva does not know whether the worldly things which he is asking from the Master are good for him or bad for him. The Saints come into this world to liberate us. We are the ones who are involved in the worldly things, and They have come into the world to liberate us. If we are asking Them for worldly things again, then?

So Guru Nanak Sahib asked only for Naam from His Master. He said, “Oh Master, give me the Naam, which will give me contentment so that the hunger of my mind may be fulfilled.” He said, “Oh Lord, if You want to give me anything, give me Naam.”

You know that Master Kirpal had the gift of being all-conscious right from His childhood, but He never used that. And when He went to His Master, what did He ask from Him? He said, “Master, give me only respectful love for You.” Because He knew that Baba Sawan Singh was a great Power, He was God, and He knew what to ask from God, what to ask from the Perfect Master. That is why He asked only for respectful love for the Master. Those who go in the higher planes and have seen the glory of the Master within, they are the only ones who have real love and appreciation for the Master, and only they know what they should ask from the Master.

Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say that at Master Sawan Singh’s end time when people were making all the prayers, at that time Master Sawan Singh said, “If you want to give me more opportunity to do the seva, if you want me to remain here and do more seva for you, then kindly do not write me letters with worldly problems. If you want, you can write me letters about Bhajan and Simran, about meditation, but do not burden me with all your worldly problems, because you have already burdened me a lot. Now you know that I have become old, so before putting any more burden on me, at least you should consider that I have become older.”

Hazrat Bahu said that the heart of the lover of God is as soft as wax, and the hearts of the worldly lovers are black. He said, “You know that whenever we ask for anything from the Master, whenever we tell Him about our pains and problems, His heart is like wax and it melts easily and He is affected.” Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say that most of the things that we ask of the Master are those things which, if we got them, we could never progress on the Spiritual Path. All the worldly things which we ask from the Master will not help us, in fact they will become obstacles on our Spiritual Path, that is why Master does not give them to us. Master does only those things which He should be doing.

Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say that if the Perfect Masters went on granting the wishes and desires of the disciples, even if They came millions of times into this world and even if They gave millions of human births to the disciples, still They could not take them inside. They could not take the disciples back to the Real Home because the desires and wishes of the disciples would never stop. So that is why He always grants only that wish of the disciple which is helpful for his spiritual growth. But most of the things that we ask of the worldly nature are such which will not help us but will create an obstacle in our Spiritual Path.

Master used to say that at the time of Initiation, the Perfect Masters make an arrangement within the disciples so that on one side they go on paying off the karmas which they have to pay, and on the other side they also go on progressing spiritually.

We should take advantage of the precious time which we get with the Master in the interviews. Not everybody is like that. There are many dear ones who understand the value of that precious time; they do not waste it in asking the worldly questions. But most of the dear ones, when they come in the interview, they always talk about their worldly things.

Master Sawan Singh was very strict. He said, "I will not answer any questions, any letter, which has worldly problems in it. I will only answer questions regarding Bhajan and Simran." Master Kirpal Singh Ji also did the same thing, and I also made this request in front of all the dear ones in the sangat, that they should write me questions only about Bhajan and Simran. If they will ask me anything of the worldly nature, I will not answer their letters.

If you want to write letters to the Master, it should be only about spiritual matters. You should not write any worldly problems in it; you should only ask about Bhajan and Simran and the spiritual matters. In the same way, if you are coming for an interview, you should take advantage of that precious time. It will be beneficial for you if you will not ask any worldly things in your interview.

Saints do not interfere in the worldly lives of Their disciples, and They do not impose any of Their ideas on Their disciples as far as worldly matters go. They have left the disciple free. Whatever they want, they can do it. But They do tell us that if you do the Bhajan and Simran your soul will get strength, and whatever you have to face according to the karmas of the past, if you are doing Bhajan and Simran your soul will get strength, and you will get the strength to bear the consequences, to suffer the consequences of what you have done in the past. And They always tell us that we should try to avoid creating more karmas, and whatever we have to pay off from the past, we should do it happily.

Well, if I want I could go on talking on this subject for many days and still it would not be enough. Since the time is up I hope that whatever little I have said you will understand this and you will live up to it.

If the Satsangis would do their Bhajan and Simran, the mind would not create any questions in them. What happens? Our mind creates questions because we do not do the meditation and we want our Master to answer those questions. Are we doing the devotion of the mind? Or are we doing the devotion of the Master? Why not do the meditation so that we may become free from all these thoughts, these questions, and fantasies created by the mind which are bothering us.

Dear ones, we have made our mind our owner, our everything, and instead of obeying the commandments of the Master, we ask our Master to obey us. Master gives us the great gift of Naam, and He has taken our responsibility on His shoulders. He takes us to our Real Home and makes us speak in front of Almighty Lord, and whatever mistakes we have made in the past, He forgives us for that, and He always takes care of our soul. There is no doubt about this fact. Even now, many people who were initiated by Master say how the Masters came and took care of their souls. Even after going back to Sach Khand, His Real Home, our beloved Master is still looking after our soul and He is always protecting us.

1990 March: Understand and Have Faith

Session Date: December 31, 1989

This question and answer session was given December 31, 1989, in Rajasthan.

QUESTION: Dearest Sant Ji, even though I do the Simran and attend Satsangs, still daily my emotions are painful, I have different fears and sadness within me so I look to other sources of relief like psychological theories, Bach Flower Remedies, and diet changes, but I worry that I might be complicating my introspection. However if I ignore the negative feelings they seem to worsen so I really don't know if these self-help methods are tools towards a healthier discipleship or in fact a distraction to my mind. Thank-you.

SANT JI: I will try to answer these questions in two different parts, I hope that will be helpful for you to understand. First is that we people get swept away in the emotions of our mind only when we do not have enough faith in the Master. When we do not have enough faith in the Master, then the mind plays tricks on us and he easily sweeps us away in his emotions and we do not even know that he is taking us away from the Master.

Reading the writings of all the Great Masters we have come to this conclusion: that God Almighty is All Pervading. Those who do His devotion, those who surrender themselves completely to the Feet of the Almighty Lord, they also become the All Pervading One, and they also are present everywhere. As God Almighty sees everything happening everywhere, similarly those who do His devotion also develop that quality, they are able to see Him as well as everything working everywhere.

Guru Gobind Singh Ji Maharaj had said, "God Almighty and the Beloved of God are one and the same thing, there is no difference in them. It is like the water and the bubble which is formed in the water." The relationship of the Perfect Masters with God Almighty is like that of the bubble with the water. You know that when the air fills up the drop of water it becomes a bubble and when it withdraws from it, again it is water; in the same way there is no difference between the Perfect Masters and Almighty Lord.

So the Mahatmas whose inner eyes are opened, who have seen the Reality with their own eyes – that God Almighty and the Masters are one and the same – They know for sure that God Almighty is aware of every single thought of ours and He sees every single thing which we are doing. Whatever feelings or emotions we have, God Almighty is aware of them because He is within us.

When Master gives us the Initiation, He takes a seat within our body at the eye center, and in the Form of the Shabd He is always present there. Therefore, as we are sure that God Almighty knows about our every single thought, in the same way, if we believe that our beloved Master who is the Form of the Shabd is also All Pervading and He is sitting within us, then we should know that He is also like God, watching our every single action. He is also aware of every single thought and whatever feelings or emotions, whatever good or bad deeds we are doing. Whatever is going on within us our Beloved Master is very well aware of that and there is nothing we can hide from Him.

So you see that when you are sitting for meditation, if at that time you are doing something else or if you are having bad thoughts, just imagine in front of Whom you are doing that. Are you not doing that in front of your Master? Because the Master is sitting within you and instead of remembering Him with love and devotion you are bringing all these bad thoughts to Him. So you are not doing the thing which you have been told by the Master. So the disciples who know for sure that Master is within them and sees everything, they never allow their mind to create such emotions and they never get swept away in the emotions created by mind.

You all know Pappu's father very well; he was an initiate of Master Kirpal Singh Ji, a very devoted soul. When beloved Master Kirpal withdrew from His physical body and went back to His Real Home, Pappu's father did not join any party; he preferred to go to the Gurdwara every week instead, because he didn't want to get involved in any controversy. I did not know Pappu and his family; I did not know anyone in Delhi. I don't know how this link was made, only Hazur Kirpal knows how I was connected to them. But when I started going to Pappu's house in Delhi, even then Pappu's father and mother both continued to go to Gurdwara Bangasahib as a rite and ritual since Master Kirpal had left the body. I did not tell them not to do that, but after some time, when they came to know the reality, they stopped doing it by themselves. After that he became very devoted and he maintained his devotion until his end-time. When he was about to go to Canada, he was very scared because he did not know English and he was scared about what would happen on the way, and also how he would be able to answer the questions of the immigration officers. So he was very afraid. But when everything went very smoothly and he had no difficulty after reaching Canada, he sent me a tape letter in which he said, "Master, You always say that the Saints do not perform any miracles, They do not show any miracles, but I will tell You that the Saints do not do anything except performing the miracles." But the thing is that one should be receptive and then he can enjoy, he can see, the miracles of the Masters.

When we went on the first tour, at that time Pappu was not able to speak good English like he is able to do now. So about a month and a half after we started on the tour Pappu's father wrote him a letter and we got that while we were at Kirpal Ashram in Vermont. He had written the letter very lovingly as a letter of advice to Pappu, saying, "I know what the Saints are, what the Masters are; and we are very fortunate ones that we have been given this opportunity of doing the seva, and you should do the seva of the Master wholeheartedly." There was a lot of advice like that. Pappu gave me that letter to read and I told Pappu, "You preserve this letter. This is very good advice in the letter to you, and you can learn a lot from this." So you see that those who understand and have faith in the Masters, those who are always devoted to the Masters, if you tell such people to think of anything else at the time of meditation they will never do that because they have understood the Masters. That is why when they sit for meditation, they don't let their mind bother them and they only do the Simran when they are sitting in meditation.

For the last three years Pappu's father never had any worldly questions for me, whenever he came to see me he would always say, "I don't want anything except Your grace; if You would shower grace on me that would be enough."

Always from Canada he would write to me saying, "I have not come here because of my own wish, I have come here because You have sent me here and whenever You will call me back I will come." We learned that he had a very serious disease only in the last stage and there was nothing anyone could do. But you know the good children always want to give their father the best treatment, the best medical care, so Pappu and Kulwant and other family members thought, “Maybe we should send him to Canada to get the best treatment,” even though they knew that nothing was going to work because he was in his final days. They made the arrangements for him to go there, but he was not interested in going there.

So Pappu’s brother Kulwant and his mother came here to tell me about their trip, and even though at that time I was not well enough to travel to Delhi, but still I said that I should go there. So I went to Delhi and when he came to my room, usually he would come to see me with his wife, but on that day he came alone and I asked him why. He replied, “It is because today I want to talk to You about something very personal and I want to do it alone.” So he sat there with me and talked with me about so many different things. He said, “These people have made all the arrangements for me to go but I will go only if You tell me to go.” I told him that he should go, and also I asked him if he had any desire, or was anything bothering him? He said, “No, I don’t have any desire; I have only one wish and that is that I should leave the body only in India. I don’t want to die anywhere outside of India.” So I assured him that that would happen in the Will of Lord Kirpal and he should not worry about that and he should go.

Before they went to Canada I called Kulwant and I told him, “In the west people send their dying parents to a nursing home and they let them die there. But you should not do that because we Indian people are very happy if we can die while living with our family. You should not put him into a nursing home, and anytime he wants to come back to India you should not stop him. No matter how his condition is you should make the arrangements and you should bring him back to India right away.”

After some time when we saw that his condition was not getting better, I wrote him a letter saying that he should come back to India. When the people who were around him received the letter, nobody was advising him to go to India, because his health was not so good. But because he got the letter, he said, “Baba Ji has said that I should come back to India, and I want to go.” And at once all the arrangements were made and he was brought to India. Whatever desire he had, that happened, and before he left he told his family members about the grace of the Master. You see how far the dear ones go in testing the Master, he even asked Pappu, “Since when has Baba Ji started wearing the cloth shoes?” Pappu replied, “It is since Bangalore; in Bangalore He bought shoes made of cloth and He is wearing them.” So you see how far the disciples who have faith in the Master test the Master; they even pay attention to the clothes and the shoes the Masters are wearing.

There were many other things which he told his family members before leaving, about the grace and the protection he was getting from the Master. And the family members also were very strong and they accepted this Will of the Master. They did not mourn or weep like the worldly people do. They knew that he had gone to his Real Home and that they should not weep for him, and they also accepted the Will of Lord.

Only he is the Gurmukh, only he is the Mahatma, who abides in the Will of Almighty Lord. So the main thing behind telling all these things to you is that if you have so much faith and devotion for the Master then all your works are done by the Master. If you have developed this kind of faith and devotion for the Master you cannot afford to have any emotions, you cannot afford to have any thoughts or any feelings, or any other way in your meditation, other than the ways or the teachings of the Master. When you have given your heart to the Master how can you afford to have somebody else staying there? Kabir Sahib says, “You have given your mind to somebody else, but you have kept your body with the Master, how are you going to get the color of the Naam on your body?” Master also used to say, “Those who let other emotions, other feelings come within them at the time of meditation, and those who are involved in the other things while practicing the Path of the Masters, their condition is like an adulterous woman who does not belong to her friend, nor is she with her husband, and nobody takes care of her. So those who have understood the grace and the reality of the Master do not do anything other than the practices or instructions given by the Master.

The other part of the answer is that in Sant Mat to try any kind of remedy is not considered as a bad thing. If any remedy works for you there is nothing wrong in using that for your body because it is very important to maintain a good health since you can meditate only if you have good health.

Nowadays there is a lot of publicity in the newspaper from different kinds of healers or doctors who claim that they will help you regain your lost vitality and your lost youth; but I would say that it is all false and doesn't work, because the youth which you have lost you cannot regain no matter how many medicines or drugs you take, you will not get it back. Those drugs, those medicines, have intoxicating things in them which gives you intoxication for some time, but it is not doing any good for your body. That is why, while taking the remedies one has to be very careful.

Saints do not condemn any remedies or any medicines, but They do tell us that there is no remedy or no medicine for death, it will definitely come. Of course if you are sick and you are not physically well you can use any remedy or any medicine which will make your body well – but as far as keeping death away is concerned there is no remedy available for that. In fact Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj even goes so far to say about medicine, “Only that medicine works in which there is the grace of the Master.”

Kabir Sahib says, “The doctor says ‘May you be well; it is not in my hands, it is in the hands of God Almighty, I have only medicine in my hands, this thing which is working within you is the thing of God Almighty whenever He wants He will take it out from your body.’” Guru Nanak Sahib says, “Only that doctor is competent and effective who has the complete knowledge of the medicine he is practicing, and who can diagnose the disease very well.”

So dear ones if you have any physical pains there is no harm in taking medicine. You should not hesitate to go to a doctor and get treatment from him. And when you are taking the medicine you should try to do the Simran. You should not let your mind think negative thoughts like, “Why do you have to take this medicine, why are you suffering so much,” because you know that all the pains and diseases are the reactions of our own karmas and by suffering those karmas we are paying them off.

At the times when we are not physically well we should pay more attention to the Master, and we should take advantage of that time. We should be grateful to the Master because this is an opportunity to attack our mind, because when we are happy, when everything is well we do not remember the Master as much as we do when we are sick. Swami Ji Maharaj also said, “Appreciate the time of pain, because in the time of pain we remember Him more.”

When we are sick, by taking the treatment from the doctors, in one way we are finishing our give and take with the doctors. Another benefit of getting sick is that if you do the Simran while you are sick, you are doing it sincerely and it is coming from your heart.

There are some sicknesses we get due to our own carelessness which are for a short time; they go away after we take some medicine. But other diseases are due to our own karmas. These karmic diseases do not go away even if we try so many different remedies or go to many different doctors. We do not know how much we owe to the doctors and how much give and take we have with how many doctors, that is why we have to go from doctor to doctor. We have to try so many different remedies, but until we finish all our give and take with the people concerned we cannot get rid of that sickness or disease. In such times most of the dear ones lose their faith in the Master or they lose the faith in the doctor, thinking that the doctor is not giving them the right treatment, or the Master is not showering grace on them. That should not be the attitude of the Satsangis, they should always remain grateful to the Master that they have been given this sickness, an opportunity to pay off the karmas, and they should keep trying different doctors and remedies because such karmic diseases are finished only when all the karmas of that disease are paid off. In Aryavedic literature there is a story about Goraknath who had a boil on his head for twelve years. Goraknath tried many remedies, but he could not get rid of that boil which was bothering him a lot. In the place where he used to meditate an herb was growing, and after twelve years that herb said, "Goraknath, why don't you crush me on the ground and apply the paste to your boil and you will be all right?" Goraknath was a good meditator and he used to go up to Brahm. Those who do the meditation, who go within, even in the lower planes, they also get some kind of all consciousness, but they only get it up to the limit of Brahm. Only in Sant Mat does one become completely conscious. So Goraknath used to go within and he had some knowledge of the karmas and he knew that the boil he was suffering was karmic and it would only go away after twelve years. So when that herb said, "Why don't you use me on your boil?" Goraknath said, "I know that the time of my suffering with this boil has finished. I am going to be all right without even using you, but since you have offered yourself, I give you this boon – from now onwards you will be called Gorakmundi. If anyone wants to remove a boil or tumor or external thing like that, they will use you and they will get relieved of their pain." So in Aryavedic medicine that Gorakmundi medicine is still used. This story shows that no matter how many different medicines you use, if you are suffering from a karmic disease, unless the karmas are paid off you cannot get rid of that disease.

1990 April: Not Even a Leaf Can Turn

Session Date: December 27, 1985

This question and answer session was given December 27, 1985, at Sant Bani Ashram, Rajasthan.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, it seems to me that we criticize others when we feel in some way inferior ourselves. We make others wrong in order to make ourselves right. Does it follow that we must first love and accept ourselves in order for us to be able to love and accept others? And only then ultimately can we learn to love you?

SANT JI: This is right, a person criticizes another person only when he wants to hide his own faults and shortcomings. He cannot bear it when the other person is being glorified or is being praised because he feels himself inferior to that person. So in order to prove the other person wrong he criticizes him. Only a weak-hearted person criticizes others, and those who criticize others lose a lot in their spirituality.

In one of the chapters of Sukhmani Sahib, The Jewel of Happiness, a lot of light has been thrown on the subject of criticism. Also in the talks about the Gauri Vars which I gave and which has now been published as the book The Two Ways a lot has been said about criticism. A lot has been said about it in both those books. You should read those books and you will get to know a lot about criticism.

The Light of Ajaib

He who is perfect and strong and who has manifested his Master within him does not criticize anyone; and he also does not allow his followers to come near this bad disease. Criticism does not have any taste in it. It is a very bad disease, and it is a very bad deal. Those who get involved in criticism lose a lot of their spiritual wealth.

He who goes in the within and who concentrates at the eye center, even a little bit, gets the status of Sahaj. After that, criticism or praise does not have any affect on that soul because he knows that everything is in the will of his Master. Criticism does not become the cause of his sadness and praise does not become any reason for his being happy. He becomes immovable in his faith for his Master and he knows that not even a single leaf can turn without the will of his Master. He always has the support of the Master, so he does not get affected by the criticism or the praise of the other people.

QUESTION: She mentioned the necessity for accepting and loving yourself, it takes a long time as You had mentioned. In the meantime, we have all these negative qualities that we carry along with us. That's our karmic background. What is the attitude we should take toward those negative qualities so as to be able to accept and love ourselves?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji chuckles] We have to choose our path, because both of the paths are within us. We have to choose either the path of the negative qualities within us or choose the Path of the Master, the Path of the Naam, which Master has put within us. You know by following the negative thoughts and by following the path of the mind how great a burden of sins we have put on our own head. And you know that we can get rid of that burden by following the Path of the Master. When we follow the Path of the Master our soul becomes free from all these negative qualities. When we concentrate at the eye center and when we go further our soul starts becoming pure, but if we give up the Path of the Masters, the Path of Naam, and walk on the path of the negative qualities then our soul goes lower and lower. So we have to choose the path; it is up to us to choose what we want to do.

QUESTION: You said that it is not good to admire anyone but Master, but since all good qualities come from Master anyway why would that be so detrimental?

SANT JI: The thing is that first we should know why we are admiring or praising a certain person. Are we really admiring him, are we really praising him without any interest of our own? Or are we only doing it outwardly and don't really mean that? We can really praise the Master, or we can really admire the Master only when we go in the within and only when we follow His teachings. Outwardly we cannot admire Him enough and we cannot praise Him in His full sense.

Anyway we should not have any ill feelings toward any society or religion or any person. Especially for a Satsangi it is very important to have good feelings and good thoughts for everyone. A Satsangi should become an example to the society, or to the family or to the other people in the world. He should present himself as an example and people should admire him really and they should say about him that he is a good disciple of a great Master; he earns his livelihood honestly. Satsangis should adopt and develop such qualities within them that people may see that and people may admire them.

QUESTION: When we hear that someone is criticizing us, if other people come and tell us, "That person is criticizing you." If we have kept our door open to that person to come directly to us, do we have an obligation to go to that person and say anything?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs] It is better on such occasions to keep quiet. But since we have weak hearts and narrow minds, that is why when we hear ourselves criticized then we do not even remain in our clothes, our blood starts moving very fast, and we become so upset that we don't have any patience and we go to that person and start arguing with him.

If you will not keep quiet in front of the person who comes and tells you, "That other person criticizes you or thinks like this about you," if you will say anything, you should remember that he is going to tell that other person the same things which you have said about him and in this way it is possible that you may get into some kind of trouble. Such people who bring criticism from one place to another and take the replies back, they waste their lives and they spoil their life doing this job.

If you are wise and strong in your own selves, then on such occasions when somebody comes and tells you about the other person criticizing you, you should do a lot of Simran at that time and remember the Form of the Master and lovingly tell that person, "Dear one you should not tell me anything about all this, because I love that person who is criticizing me, and I have good feelings for him, and you should not tell me anything about all this." When you will tell all these things to that person who brought that message of criticism to you, he will feel embarrassed and never in his life will he come back again carrying the criticism of the other people.

QUESTION: You were talking the other day about the souls being selected in the court of God for Initiation and could you tell us a little about the basis on which they are chosen?

SANT JI: First of all I would like to tell you that today you should load your camera and today you will have to take the pictures and you should know that Sukhpal who is Bant's daughter also takes pictures like you do and she has taken a lot of pictures. [much laughter]

Well, coming back to your question you should know that when a child is sleeping the mother does not worry about that child. She wants to finish up all the work of the household which she is supposed to do and since the child is sleeping she is not worried for him. But as soon as the child starts weeping you know that no matter how important the work is, she will leave that work at once and will come and embrace that child, and whatever that child needs she will give it that. This is a worldly example. You know that as long as we are sleeping in respect to Almighty God – we live in this world doing all the things of this world and we don't remember God – like that mother, God is doing His work and He is not worried for us. But when we don't find any kind of peace or satisfaction in the pains and happiness of the world and when we finally remember God and cry for Him, then God also cannot resist and He sends us to such a Pole where His Power is manifested and then we are selected in the court of Lord. You know that when we do not find any peace and satisfaction in this world, then we cry, we tell Almighty Lord, "O Lord we do not find any peace in this world, nothing is giving us any real happiness and now we need You." When we call God Almighty like this, when we do not like to do all the things of the world, no matter what God has given to us, we do not like to have all those things, and when we want only God, then God also listens to our cry. He selects us for His devotion and He sends us to such a Pole where His Power is manifested and we are given the Initiation and then we start sleeping in respect to the world and are awakened in respect to God.

Often I have told you this story of my childhood: when I was about five or six years old, I don't know where I got that thought, but once I was sitting thinking about something and suddenly I started making the sand heaps, one for each member of the family. Then I would ask each one the question, "Will you help me? Will you protect me at the time of death?” Then I would get the answer from my own self, from my own within, “No, because when we are involved in the births and deaths, when we don’t know how to protect our own selves, how can we say that we will protect you?” So I became disappointed, and I had one sand heap in the Name of that Hidden Power for whom my soul was searching ever since my childhood. (I was always longing for that Power to come and meet me. I had not seen that Power and I had not even heard about that Power but I knew that there was some Power in this world who would protect me.) So when I had made that heap and I had asked that question I got the answer from within, “Yes, I am the One who will protect you.” My father saw all the things which I did, and when he asked me, I told him about all My thoughts and those questions and answers. Hearing all those things he became upset because he did not realize that my thinking was very deep and very high. He became upset and he told me, “We take such good care of you. We feed you very well and we give you all sorts of good things, and still you say that we will not protect you?” Because he was thinking from his level; he was thinking by his narrow mind and he did not know what I was talking about.

So I mean to say that when you have thought like this, when you call for Almighty Lord, and when you give up all other supports and have only the one support of Almighty Lord, then God also cannot resist. He also comes down and helps you. As Kabir Sahib says “When I looked around, I found that nobody was going to help me, no family, no relations, no power, no wealth, no property of this world, was going to help me at the time of death. And when I looked around and found that Master is the only One who will help me from this suffering world, I stretched out both my arms and I called for Almighty God. He also could not resist and He pulled me by my hands and He took me up.”

So when we have thoughts like this, and when we realize that in this world nobody can help us, we only have the support of Almighty Lord. When we start relying on Him, then He selects us and He sends us to someone who can teach us how to do the devotion of Lord.

QUESTION: Baba Ji, sometimes when I have actually been trying to do this work with some zeal, actually sitting and keeping the commandments and all that stuff, I still can feel unworthy of the love which You have to give and it gets in the way of my asking for Your help, because I don’t want to feel like any more of a burden than I already am. Could you please address that?

SANT JI: A short while ago before we sat for meditation I had said that even one bad thought could bring you down from on the top of Brahmans. When you sit for the meditation waiting for the grace of the Master you should know that at that time your enemy, mind, is also within you and he is ready to attack you with all his thoughts and with all his tricks. When you think that you are not worthy of the love of the Master and that you cannot request the help of the Master, in a way your mind is having an upper hand on you and he is winning over you, because he is making you weak. So when you sit for meditation you should not allow your mind to think any thoughts like this. As soon as you sit for meditation your attention should go straight into the Simran, and you should do the Simran constantly without allowing your mind to bring any thought like this.

Sant Mat is not the path of the cowards; it is the Path of the brave ones. This is the Path of the warriors. So when you sit for the meditation don’t become like cowards in front of your mind. Become like a strong warrior in front of your mind and do your devotion. In this context, Guru Nanak Sahib says, “When the Satsangi is fighting with the five dacoits – when he is doing his meditation, he is fighting with the five dacoits just like when the wrestler goes into the ring, he invites the other wrestler to come and fight with him.” In the same way, when the Satsangi goes in this battlefield, in this ring, with the grace of the Master, and because the Master is accompanying him, he also becomes like the wrestler. The Master says, “Don’t worry, even if you are alone and they are five in number, since you have the Power of the Master with you.” Since the strong hand of the Master is on the back of the disciple, Master always hails him and inspires him to fight with the five dacoits. And not even for one moment does Master go away from that ring, from that battlefield; He always remains by the side of the disciple.

A Satsangi should never think – not even in the state of forgetfulness – that he is alone. Because Master is always with the disciple, He always lives with the disciple like the shadow lives with a man, and not even for one moment does the Master go away from the disciple. I have many examples of many dear ones who tell me that when they talk with non-Initiates, the non-Initiates see that some old man with white clothes is standing behind that Satsangi, so even non-Satsangis can see that the Master is with the disciples.

During my first and my second tour many people came in the interviews and they told me what they had seen. Many people had seen two old men in their white clothes standing behind me. So I mean to say that you should never think that you are alone; Master is always with you. Guru Nanak Sahib says. “My Master is always with me; by doing the Simran I can feel Him always with me.” Once Sultan Mahmood changed his clothes and he went out in his kingdom in the night to see how the people were doing and what the people thought about their king. He wanted to know whether his people were happy or unhappy, whether they were comfortable or not, and what opinion they had of the king and for the ways of his administration. He had gone very late in the night and he had dressed himself as a common man. He saw four people coming from the other side and he asked them who they were. They thought, “At this time of the night this person who is here also might be some kind of bad element” (like a thief or a robber) so they did not hesitate in telling him their reality, so they said “We are thieves.”

So the king said, “Okay, I am also a thief,” because he wanted to join with them and see what they were doing and what they were thinking about the king, etc. So when king joined them, all of them said “We should plan where we will do the robbery tonight. We should first elect one of us as the leader or as the commander of our group. All of us should talk about our qualities and he who will have the best quality will be elected as the leader and then we will see where we will go and do the robbery. One of them said, “I have the skill that I can understand the language of the birds and animals.” Another one said. “I have such a quality that if I have seen someone in the nighttime, no matter how dark it is, I can recognize him in the daylight also. I don’t forget the face even if I have seen in the nighttime.” The third person said, “I am so competent in throwing the rope on the roof of the house, that once I throw it, it sticks there and no matter how many people climb that rope it will never break.” The fourth person said, “I am so competent in breaking the roof that even if a person is sleeping in that room, I will do it so quietly that the person will not know what is happening; I can easily break the roof like that.”

Now the king was thinking about what he should say, because he knew that only he who would have the best quality would be elected as the leader. So he said, “Well, I have such a quality in my beard that if I make my beard move I can save many people from the gallows.” Now the other people did not understand what he was talking about but they thought, “This is the best quality,” so they elected the king as the leader. Then they planned to go to the palace of the king and do the robbery there. So while they were coming to the palace, on their way a dog barked. So the person who had said that he knows the language of the birds and animals was asked what the dog was saying and he said that the dog is saying, “One of you is the king.” Now that was unbelievable; they had never thought that a king would come and join them, so they started laughing, saying that, “The dog is saying this useless thing.” So they were not stopped by that and they went to the palace and according to their skills they did the robbery and they took away a lot of wealth from the palace. The king was with them when they had taken the things from the palace and when they had distributed the wealth, so the king knew where those people lived. So next morning the king sent his soldiers and he arrested those four thieves.

In those days they used to give severe punishment to the thieves, they would put them to death. So as they were about to be put to death, the person who had said that he did not forget the face of the person whom he had seen in the nighttime, he looked minutely at the face of the king. He at once recognized that this was the person who was in their group and he was nobody else but the king. So he came there and he said, “You highness now you should exhibit your quality; you should move your beard and save us from the gallows. Now we confess and we say that we will never do this thing again and we will become your servants and we will give up this bad job.” So that king made his beard to move he said, “You release them,” and just by making his beard move he saved all those people from the gallows.

Now this is an outer story, an outer example, to make you understand that God Almighty also has changed His Form; He has come in the human form and He has so many qualities in Him. He comes and lives in this world among the people and He tells us about the good things He has, and about what He can do. In His beard also there is a quality, that when He makes His beard move He can save all the people whom He has accepted. You know that by making His beard move, by His saying, “Yes,” by His acceptance of the souls, He can save the souls from the gallows of the Negative Power. But it is very difficult for us to believe in a human being like us, it is very difficult for us to believe that He has such God-like qualities and that He is no one other than God Himself. But those who understand His reality, those who go in the within and have seen Him in their within, for them it is not a difficult job to believe in His reality. They know that He is God. Those who have seen the Real Form of the Master in their within, they always see the Presence, they always feel the Presence of the Master with them.

Guru Nanak Sahib says, “Even a sinner who has done millions of sins, if he goes in the company of the Master he gets the liberation. Not even the Angel of Death can come near such a soul.” Kabir Sahib says, “Even if a soul is being crushed in the mill, Satguru will come and save him from that pain. This happens only when the predetermined fate of that soul is awakened. Master comes and saves that soul only if it is written in the fate of the soul.” Satsangis should always have the love, faith and devotion for the Master. Whether he sits for the meditation or otherwise, he should always have these three things: love, faith and devotion for the Master.

Session Date: January 31, 1990

This question & answer session was given January 31, 1990, at Sant Bani Ashram, Rajasthan.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, in one children's darshan Satsang talk I read, Sant Ji said we should make our children come to the Satsang. In a talk given in Bangalore Sant Ji also said that after the age of fifteen parents should only make suggestions to the children. If an initiated Satsangi child does not want to go to Satsang or to meditate every day, do these statements mean that up to the age of fifteen we should still require the children to attend Satsang and meditate but after fifteen let them decide on their own, that forcing them to go would have a negative effect?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: Whatever I say regarding children is according to the things written in our holy scriptures. We get the color of whatever company we keep – children are very innocent souls; if they are always kept in good company, if their parents always set a good example for them, and if they are always encouraged to study in school, and to meditate and go to Satsang, then I don't see any reason that they will wander away from the Path after they become fifteen.

I had a very good family; my parents were very loving, very affectionate towards each other, and they always set a very good example for us. We never got any bad impressions from them. They always showed by their conduct that the relationship between husband and wife is that of love and it is not a relationship where you fight and abuse or criticize each other.

The good deeds of the parents have a very great effect, a very great impact, on making the character of the children. In history we can find many examples, many incidents, in which we learn how the goodness of the parents had a good effect on the children, stories which show us that because the parents were good and did not do any bad things in front of their children, that is why the children also became good like them. The fault in the parents is that they do not set a good example for the children, they always present a very bad example for the children, they oppose each other in front of the children, they do all types of bad things in front of the children and that has a very bad effect on the minds of the children. That is why the children start losing faith in the Satsang, they also lose interest in the Satsang, because when they see that their parents, who have been initiated for such a long time, are still doing all these bad things, then they think, "What is the hope for us?" And that is why they lose their interest in the Path, they lose interest in going to the Satsang.

Many children come to me in the interviews and tell me, "We see our parents fighting a lot; we see our parents doing all these kind of bad deeds. Even though they are initiated, and they go to Satsang, they are still fighting and doing all kinds of bad deeds; so what is the hope for us?" And in that way they lose their interest.

Master Sawan Singh Ji often used to tell about His own children in the Satsangs. He used to tell how when He was in the army He lived in a house and downstairs lived another family which ate meat, and because the children would go and play with them that family tried their best to feed the children of Master Sawan Singh meat and other things, but His children did not accept any of those things. The family were surprised and impressed with the strength of the children so much so that finally they had to come and talk to Master Sawan Singh. They asked him, "How have you made your children so strong? We have tempted them so many times to eat meat, we have even offered them, 'If you will eat meat we will do this thing for you.' But still your children are so strong that they do not want to eat meat; why is it so?"

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that this was only because of the good example which their parents set for the children that they had become so strong. Master Sawan Singh Ji Himself used to say in the Satsang that when the child grows up, when he becomes like you, when he is old enough, at that time if you impose anything on him, if you force him to do anything, he will rebel against you and he may wander away even more.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that the children become the same as the parents are. If right from the beginning you are giving good direction, you are teaching good things to your children, you are keeping him in the good company, in a good environment, and you are setting a good example for them then there is no reason why they should become bad or why they should go astray and why they should not become like you. Because the children are very innocent souls and they have to grow up only in your shadow, whatever you will teach them good or bad they will accept that. So if you are teaching them good things right from the beginning there is no reason why they should not listen to you and they should not do the good things.

Dear ones, in my life I have seen or been involved in many incidents in this context; if I told you all those things it could become many books.

Often I have said that right from my childhood I was always missing the fragrance of that Hidden Power; I was always feeling as if I had lost something in my life. But I was able to leave my home [in search of that] only when I had grown up.

Often I have said that my mother was a very good woman. She was very devoted and she was of a very soft nature, whereas my father was very hot-tempered; I could not dare to oppose my parents. Even though my father was a very hot-tempered person, still I had pleased him. So I mean to say that if you are good with your children, if you set a good example for your children, there is no way that your children would dare to oppose you.

I have been to many different communities and religions, where I met with many people who were involved in smoking tobacco, drinking wine, doing drugs and things like that. But because I had such an impression and so much effect of my parents' goodness, I did not drink the wine, I did not smoke the tobacco, and I did not get attracted to any of the bad things in which those people were involved.

Even though I went to all those people and I saw them involved in all those things, still I did not have any bad feeling for them; I remained strong, and it was only because of the impact I had from my parents.

When I had left my home in search for God I was young. At that time my mother made me promise a couple of things, and even up to this day I am keeping those promises.

She told me, "Dear son if you want to get married, you should come back home and get married; we should not hear from other people that our son is having a relationship with a woman or he is wandering here and there."

The other promise was – she told me, "You should always wear clothes which you have bought yourself, you should not accept anybody's clothes, if anybody is bringing things for you, if anyone is bringing clothes for you, you should first pay him for that and only then you should wear those clothes."

In India the farmers have this weakness that if their farm or their field is on a main road, they will make that road narrow, so that the people passing on that road may have difficulty. So my father told me, "Suppose that sometime you have a field or a farm which falls on the main road, you should not only leave the specified space as prescribed by the government, but you should also leave some more space for the people so that they may move along that road very easily." And up until now I am keeping that promise.

It was not within my power, nor was it because of my efforts that I have been able to learn all these things, it was all due to the impression and the impact which those great people, my parents, had on me, that I learned all these things.

The Light of Ajaib

Dear ones, when I went to the Udasi faith, there I saw that they were smoking tobacco and drinking wine very much, and they encouraged me to do the same thing. Before I went there I used to think that those who have the big rosaries around their necks and who wear colored clothes are the ones who have met with God Almighty. So whenever I would meet anyone who had a rosary around his neck and who was wearing colored clothes, I would always bow down in front of him, thinking that he had become one with God. So because the Udasis also wore colored clothes and they also had rosaries around their necks, I went there. And I saw them drinking wine and doing all those other things. They told me that if I wanted to become one of them, if I wanted to follow them, I would have to do that; I would have to drink wine, smoke tobacco, not only that, I would have to bring all those things for them. So I just folded my hands to them and said, “If you have only this thing to offer to me, then it is better for me to leave you, because I have come here to do the devotion of Lord, not to get involved in all these kind of things.

I was able to do that only because of the good effect my parents had on me. I knew how pure my parents had kept their home – they did not allow all those things in their home – and why it was so important for us to maintain purity. Only because of the good effect which my parents had on me I was able to resist and I did not follow the path of the Udasis.

Dear one, if anybody’s child goes astray, the parents are responsible for that; the parents are responsible for making his life dry and the parents are responsible for his bad condition. Many children come to me in the interviews and tell me that they can never forget how their parents abused them and what their parents did to them to hurt them; and they can never forget that. Pappu knows this very well, because he is the person who first hears this from all the dear ones, and then he tells me. Many people come to me in the interview, those whose parents were drunkards and committed suicide after drinking, they tell me how they also feel like doing the same thing which their parents did.

In this context Master Sawan Singh Ji used to very often tell the story of the camel whose mother had the habit of sitting in the water when she crossed any canal, so because her mother had that habit she also got the same habit.

Here we have many cows, and it is very interesting to see that whatever quality or whatever habit the cow has, her calf will also have the same habit. If the cow is giving a good amount of milk, her calf later on will give a good amount of milk; and if the cow is dancing and doing bad things like that, if she does not remain in control, her calf will also do the same thing.

My cows are more expensive than the other people’s cows, because people know that my cows give more milk and they are much more disciplined than the other cows. So you see that if the habits of the parents can transfer even among the animals, then will it not transfer in the case of the human beings?

So it is not the fault of the child. If you have formed the life of the child right from his childhood, then when he turns fifteen, as he becomes older, he will never oppose you. He will always follow your good habits, and wherever he will go he will glorify your name. There are many children who glorify the name of their nation; there are many children who are faithful to their community. They are faithful to their parents, and when they grow up they glorify the name of their parents.

If such souls come to the Path of the Masters it is like getting an added or an extra quality in them, because such souls never let down their Master, they always glorify the Name of their Master; and looking at their life, looking at them, other people wish that they had met with their Master, so that their life would also have been improved.

I meet many children in India and many children in India also write letters to me saying, “Why were we not so old at the time when Baba Kirpal was alive? If we had been old enough at that time we would have gone to Him and we would have received all the love which you always talk about – how loving He was and how much love you got from Him.” And they feel as if they have lost something by not seeing Master Kirpal and by not going to Him and receiving His love.

So this is the reality that the children glorify the name of their parents and in fact they are the ones who awaken the love of the Master within their parents. It is exactly like the disciple glorifying and awakening the love of His Master within other people.

During the first tour I met many dear ones who told me that they had understood Master Kirpal only as a human being. They did not know that He was God Almighty or that He was God who had come in the human form. If they had known that He was God then they would have devoted themselves to Him understanding him as God. But still they are very grateful that in their lifetime they have been informed, or they had been told that He was God Almighty and that He came into this world and He was none other than God.

I met many dear ones who were close to Master Kirpal and I even met the relatives of Master Kirpal who told me that now they confess that He was God, because earlier when He was in the body, they always opposed Him and did not believe in Him, but now they know that He was God.

I hope that the parents will understand their responsibilities toward the children and that right from the beginning they will give them the correct guidance for their studies, as well as for going to Satsang and meditating, so that when the children grow up they will not oppose their parents, and they will always follow the Path which their parents are following. In that way, later on when the parents become older, they may get the comfort and happiness from them, because children are the wealth of the nation, and if we give them good direction, then they always remain good. I hope that you will never have such an occasion to hear that your children are opposing you, or to hear they are not following the Path.

There are many children among the dear ones of the west, children who have grown up and gone to college, who have gone very far away from their homes – many of them have even come to India to study – but wherever they have gone they have always looked for the place of Satsang. They have always lived in the good company and they have always done the meditation and in that way they have not gone astray from the Path. Now I meet many children who when I went on the first tour were very young. They used to come with their parents to the children’s Satsang; and the parents would teach them how to sit in the Satsang, how to fold their hands and things like that. And the good company of their parents had such a good effect on them that now when they have grown up – many of them are in their twenties – because of the good effects they have had, they are still coming to the Satsang and following the Path.

I also get the opportunity to meet many older people, in India as well as in the west, who do not want to give up any of their bad habits, but still they expect from their children that they should respect them or they should behave well. This is the principle of Sant Mat: first of all you improve yourself and then you think about improving others, you think about doing good for others. Because after we improve ourselves we do not need to say anything to others; our personality, our being, our improved self will have the effect and the other person will improve himself.

The parents should lay a very strong foundation for the children right from the beginning, right from their childhood; and I hope that the parents will tend to the responsibilities which they have toward their children. Often in the Satsangs I have told you the story of Sheik Farid, how he was impressed and affected by the devotion and the goodness of his mother so that he himself became a devotee. He did his devotion and later on he became a Perfect Master. There is so much more which I can say on this subject and it is never enough; whatever I say will never be enough, I can only summarize this in one sentence and that is: very lovingly we should become a good example for our children.

Kabir Sahib said, "If a mother wants to give birth to any child, he should be a devotee, or a giver, or a warrior. If she cannot produce such a child it is better for her to remain childless." No Master has ever said that there is anything wrong in having children, but before having children we should think about what qualities we want to put in our children and how we can do that. All the Masters have said that when you are married there is nothing wrong in having children, but you have to develop all these good qualities within your children. If you cannot do that there is no purpose in having children.

Guru Ramdas Ji Maharaj has said, "It is better for a mother to remain childless if her child does not have a heart in which the Naam of Lord is manifested. Only that child will come to the Path of the Masters whose parents are following the Path of the Naam, who are doing the meditation of Naam and who have manifested the Naam within them."

So Guru Ramdas Ji Maharaj has said, "It was much better for a mother not to have a child if she herself was not doing the devotion of Naam and if she was not going to develop or manifest this quality of devotion of Naam within the heart of her child."

Master Kirpal used to say that the Path of the Masters is not the path of cowards it is the Path of the warriors and the brave people, because this is the Path of self improvement.

We have been sent into this world which is like a battlefield – meditation is like a battlefield where we have to fight. There we have to fight with the five dacoits: lust, anger, greed, attachment and egoism. They are like the warriors of the Negative Power which He has sent to this battlefield and we have to fight with them. We know that only a brave warrior can win in the battlefield, cowards can never win; only the warriors who have gone there to fight with all their bravery will win.

Masters never tell us that we should not attend to our responsibilities, They always say, "Whatever worldly responsibilities you have been given you should attend to, but also you should do your meditation." You should be like a warrior on this battlefield where you have to fight with the five passions sent by the Negative Power. But you are not alone in the battlefield, you have been armed with the weapons of Shabd Dhun by a Perfect Master, and His gracious, mighty, supportive hand is always on your head.

He is always encouraging us to continue this battle, fight this mind, and He gives us so much courage and support because He does not want His children to lose in this battle. That is why He is always telling us that we should become brave warriors and we should fight our minds. So dear ones, if we will become brave warriors we will never surrender ourselves to the mind; we will always remain as the brave warriors and then we will always enjoy the grace and support of the Master.

1990 June: Before Your Mind Attacks You

Session Date: February 25, 1990

This question and answer session was given February 25, 1990, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan.

SANT JI: I am sorry that I have come five or six minutes late, I apologize to the Sangat.

Yes, now you can ask your questions.

QUESTION: Master in my past I have had a lot of turmoil and have not been able to let go of it and I feel that I have not been able to let go because the person who has created most of the turmoil, I have not been able to forgive that person, and I have not also been able to forgive myself and I would like You to talk to us about letting go of the past and about forgiveness.

SANT JI: All the Saints have called this world as the home of difficulties, as the country of difficulties; from within one difficulty another difficulty is born.

As a matter of fact in this world the blind lead the blind and this is a country of dense darkness.

Many Mahatmas of the highest degree came into this world and people did not even spare Them, they created difficulties for Them even though the Mahatmas came into this world carrying so much love and sympathy for us and we worldly people are like the home of difficulties.

While living in this world we have to think about many things a lot. We have to think about very deep details, very subtle details of things. Most of the time when we say that some person or another created turmoil or difficulties for us, we do not question ourselves about what kind of attitude we had towards that person and what thoughts we had for that person. The habit of the mind is such that he will not blame himself, he will not ask any questions of himself, instead he will put all the blame on the other person and he will say, "The other person created turmoil in my life."

Dear ones, Saints come into the world carrying the element of grace and They always shower grace. They have got the grace from God Almighty in Their heritage.

Mahatmas are sent into this world with a lot of forgiveness and that is why They have always been forgiving even those who were the cause of Their torture and death. You know how Christ was crucified and how Mansur was stoned to death. In the same way, Guru Nanak was called insane and "the one who misleads people from the Path." Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj was also given inhuman tortures and He was tortured to death. But what did all these Mahatmas do to those people who gave Them all this torture? They had so much love and so much grace, even for those who became the cause of Their deaths, that They prayed to God Almighty to forgive them. They said, "They do not know what they are doing," and They only asked God Almighty for forgiveness for those people.

So you see how much grace and forgiveness those Mahatmas bring with them. So how can those Mahatmas not tell you to forgive those people who have created difficulties or turmoil in your life? Because They have come into this world with a lot of forgiveness, that is why Mahatmas always tell their disciples, "You should forgive the other person, and you should forget all the bad things which they have done to you.” Master Kirpal Singh used to say, “In the kingdom of Kal, the Negative Power, there is judgment and justice; if anyone has done any wrong to anybody, he has to pay for its consequences with an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth. It is the law of the kingdom of the Negative Power. But in the kingdom of Dayal, the Positive Power, there is all forgiveness. So the Perfect Masters Who are the Form of Dayal or the Positive Power never ask their disciples to avenge; They always tell Their disciples to forgive the faults of others and forget about it.

QUESTION: I read the article that You asked us to read and I was touched very deeply by it. It also brought me a lot of sorrow, yet I also see for me some hope. I want to understand something, I want to understand that when I am being plundered by the dacoits – my two worst are lust and anger – that if I go home and I remember You so sweetly, as You are now, that I can use that to take away their power over me. Sort of like throwing a rope to You – that hook of love? Could you talk about that?

SANT JI: I am very pleased to know that you have thought over the article, the Question and Answer which was published in the recent Sant Bani Magazine. Often I advise the dear ones to read Sant Bani Magazine thoroughly, because most of the time the questions and answers which we have here with the dear ones, and which are published in the magazine, are very helpful to the dear ones.

First of all the Satsangis should explain to their mind very well about these five dacoits or the five passions. You should tell your mind about the negative qualities of these five passions. First of all you should tell your mind about lust: how lust becomes the cause of the disgrace of men. When a person is involved in lust he does not even remain aware of the person standing right next to him. When he becomes controlled by lust he does all sorts of bad things; the lust degrades him, the lust takes him to hell, and lust becomes the cause of his disgrace. And there are many things which are created only because people get involved in lust. So you should tell your mind that if you always remain involved in lust, you will not be able to do your meditation; a person who is involved in lust cannot enjoy the Shabd, cannot enjoy meditation. No matter if a person spends double the amount of time in meditation, still he can get nowhere. The unchaste person can never enjoy the devotion of the Lord.

So you should tell your mind about all these disadvantages of getting involved in lust and after that you should always remember the five sacred Names, the Simran given to you by the Perfect Master. When you are attacked by lust, when you are involved in lust, at that time you should also remember that you are not alone in this struggle. You always have to go on struggling with the mind, but you have been armed with the weapon of the Shabd Dhun, with the weapon of the Simran. You should do that Simran when you are attacked by lust. You should go on repeating these five Sacred Names always, and you should always go on looking at the Master. You should direct your attention towards the Master and you will definitely get help from the Master.

When a soldier goes to the front and he is surrounded by the enemy army, if he surrenders his weapons to the enemy army will he ever win that battle? No, he will never win that battle. If he is doing that is he remaining true to the salt of his honor? No, he is not. At that time he should not run away like a coward, he should not surrender to his enemy, he should stand in front of them and fight until the last moment. He should always go on doing the work for which he has gone to the battlefield. In the same way, a Satsangi should also become like a brave soldier, a brave warrior, and should always go on fighting with the mind using the weapon of the Shabd Naam and the Simran which he has been given. As a matter of fact, before your mind attacks you with all his passions, you should attack him with all your force, with all the Simran; before he can involve you in any of the passions you should control him with the Simran.

The Light of Ajaib

When lust attacks us, first it comes into our thoughts. And when we give lust a place in our thoughts, in our mind, then later on, in order to fulfill the desires which are created through the thoughts within us, we use our body. Afterwards, when we start indulging in lust using our body, then our mind throws us into a deep ditch of the lust from which we can never come out. We get such a bad fragrance, such a bad smell of lust, that it goes into our head and we can never forget. The thought of not indulging in lust never comes, and we are always involved in that.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji explains the destruction or the damage which lust does to the Satsangis. He says, “O lust, you make us dwell in the hell, and you make us wander in many different bodies.” He says, “O lust, you take us to hell, and you take away the benefit of all the japas, tapas, and all the good deeds we have done.”

At another place Guru Arjan Dev Maharaj warns us that. “Just for a little bit of pleasure, which is not more than a pinch of salt, you suffer for millions of days; you enjoy for a couple of moments, but again and again for a very long time you suffer.”

So dear ones, if you tell your mind this, “That just to indulge in lust for one moment you will have to suffer for one crore<sup>30</sup> days.” If you tell your mind that you will have to suffer for thirty-three thousand years only for the sake of enjoying lust for a moment, I don’t think your mind would be wise to go on indulging in lust.

Kabir Sahib says, “Stretching out both my arms, I asked for the help of my beloved Lord and He helped me. I asked him, ‘O Lord, save me from these dacoits, from these passions; they are bothering me.’ And He showered grace upon me and He protected me from these dacoits, from these passions.” So if you stretch out your arms, if you ask for the help of the Master sincerely, you will definitely get it. The Master will reach there, no matter how difficult a place it is, no matter how far you are from the Master, but still He will reach there, and He will help you if you ask for His help sincerely.

But the point is that we should be asking for the help of the Masters sincerely. Sometimes we have given a place to the unchaste thoughts in our mind. In a subtle way, the thoughts of lust are present in our mind, and outwardly we are becoming like a hypocrite. We are pretending to be doing the Simran and asking for the help of the Master, but within we are not ready to give up the thoughts of lust. In that case how can the grace of the Master help you get rid of the thoughts of lust? If you are asking for the help sincerely, if you are the same within and without, then you will definitely get the help of the Master.

The burden which we throw on the Master is of a worldly nature. When we write Him about our worldly problems, or when we talk to Him about our worldly things in our interview, that is like we are throwing our burden on Him. But as far as asking for help to get the protection from these passions, from these dacoits, it is not like throwing the burden on the Master. In fact, you would be the most fortunate one, if you ask the Master sincerely for protection from the passions; They do not mind that. Regarding our worldly life, Masters always say that the Masters do not have anything to do with the worldly life of Their disciples. Through the Satsangs They always tell us that if we live our worldly life in a good way and, using our discrimination, if we make the right decisions and we live our worldly life peacefully, then we can do our Bhajan and Simran wholeheartedly and sincerely.

The Light of Ajaib

If you are asking for help to remove the passions, if you asking for help to go within, Master also becomes very happy. The Masters are always very eager to help us in those things, and in fact They want the disciples to ask for that kind of help so that the disciple will become clean. They do not mind accepting the dirty souls, as the perfect washer man does not mind accepting the dirty clothes, he knows he will be able to clean them. In the same way, the Masters also do not mind accepting the dirty souls. When you ask Them about worldly things, then it is a burden, but when you are asking for the protection from the passions or about the inner things you are not a burden.

In the relation of husband and wife, they both have the responsibility to live their life in a good way, loving each other; they have to make their worldly life like a heaven on the earth. It is their responsibility; it is their duty. But instead of doing that, suppose the wife writes a letter to the Master complaining of all the things about her husband, and finding all the faults in her husband, and in the same way when the husband writes a letter to the Master, he finds all the faults and he complains all about his wife, just imagine when the Master has to read all this, what effect will it have on Him?

Is there any harm in the husband and wife sorting out the difficulties which they have? Is there any harm in their sorting those things out by sitting together in their home? You see, when they write such things to the Master, the Masters can never tell them, "You should get separated." What to talk about writing, They cannot even think of separating the dear ones.

There are many other things which the worldly people write to the Master, ask to the Master, and if I went on listing all those things it would become a big book. There are many things which have no relevance, no connection, to Spirituality, but we people go to the Masters and talk to Them about those things.

If anyone is praying to the Master to be saved from lust, anger or the other passions the reality is that Master is very happy in helping such a disciple. Masters come into this world to make us fight with these five passions and if someone is trying to fight with these five passions sincerely, wholeheartedly, then They help us and They are very happy. Guru Gobind Singh said, "If I make a hundred and twenty-five thousand fight with one, only then may I be called Guru Gobind Singh." What He meant was that our every organ of sense is equal to the power of ten thousand elephants – it is written in the holy scriptures that every single organ of sense has the power of ten thousand elephants – and you know how difficult it is to fight with even one elephant and here He is talking about ten thousand elephants. So there are ten organs of senses which equals one hundred thousand and the power of our mind is equal to the power of twenty-five thousand elephants, so that is why He says, "If I make one soul fight with a hundred-twenty-five thousand, only then may I be called Guru Gobind Singh." So Masters come into this world to make us fight with these powers, and They help us in this fight if we are sincerely making effort.

Further Guru Gobind Singh says, "I may be called Guru Gobind Singh only if I make the bird kill the hawk." By bird, He means our soul is the bird and the hawk is the mind. He says, "I will make the soul crush the mind under her feet and only then may I be called Guru Gobind Singh." When my Master, Almighty Lord Kirpal, came here He told me that I had to close my eyes with respect to the world and I had to open them inside. When He made me sit in meditation, at that time, like an orphan, like a helpless person, I requested to Him, I shed the tears in front of Him. Outwardly I wept, internally also I wept, but the internal tears were of more value because I was shedding those tears right from the beginning, right from my childhood. I only made this request to Him, "O Lord you have to protect my honor because this is the kingdom of Negative Power and the Negative Power is chasing me, he will create all sorts of difficulties for me and You have to protect my honor.” And it was only because of His grace, He always protected my honor, He always protected me, even in my childhood, He protected me, He never let any bad thought come in me. In fact to those upon whom They have to shower the grace, right from childhood They always protect them and They never allow any passions or any bad qualities to come near them.

Baba Bishan Das, from whom I got the Initiation into the first two Words, told me once when I was in my youth, “Look here, O Son, if you do anything bad – if you drink wine, or if you do anything bad – just remember that people will call me bad. They will say that you are the disciple of Bishan Das and when they say that I will not be able to bear it. I will not be able to bear that and it is possible that I may even commit suicide if I ever hear that you have done anything wrong.” So you see that as the Master protects the honor of the disciple, in the same way, the honor of the Master is also in the hands of the disciple.

Baba Bishan Das did not have any disciples other than me; he did not give Initiation to anyone else, and he had given me all this advice. And when I left my home in search for God, my mother also told me, “Look here, O Dear Son, we understand your feelings. We understand that you are searching for God, but you should not wear anyone else’s clothes; you should not beg for any food to eat yourself. Whenever you run out of money you should come back home and you should take more money, but you should not ask for things from the people.” And Baba Bishan Das also told me the same thing, he also told me that I should not get involved in any of the bad qualities or any of the bad things, and with his grace I was able to follow his commandments. I was also able to follow the instructions which my mother gave me when I left my home in search for God. And even now with His grace I am able to maintain that. When anybody insists on giving things to me I always remember the words of my mother who told me, “If anyone compels you to take things, you should not break his heart, you should pay him back in one way or another.” So all these words were spoken by my Master and by my mother and even now I am able to maintain them.

Kabir Sahib said, “As the owner is blamed if a dog goes bad, so if the disciple does anything bad the Master will be called the bad one.” So that is why we should not do anything bad, because the Master is glorified by the number of good disciples he has. If He is able to take more disciples back to the Real Home, back to the Court of the Lord, he gets more glorified and the Master is known by His good disciples.

Baba Bishan Das had told me that I should do the farming to earn my living and I should never remain idle, I should always earn my own livelihood. This is the reality, that when I left my home in the Punjab, when I came to this area, I bought some land and started doing the farming and even now I do not feel embarrassed in doing this work of farming, I still do it myself.

The other thing is about anger: you should tell your mind about the disadvantages of anger also. You should tell your mind that anger is such a fire that if it attacks anybody’s home it reduces everything to the ashes; in fact it burns away all the good qualities.

Greed makes a human being just a piece of mere flesh for the greedy person. His sons, daughters, and family members do not mean anything because he is always after the things; and the greedy person also cannot do the devotion of Lord. You should also tell your mind about this bad quality and the disadvantages of greed.

In the same way attachment is the only thing which brings us back into this world again and again; it is also one of our greatest enemies.

The same is the condition of egoism: the life of the ego is very long, and the ego surrenders to us only in the end. Only after we have controlled all the other passions, only then does the ego comes under our control. That is why it is considered to be the most powerful one.

But the Masters have given us the technique of doing the meditation of the Shabd Naam; it is the remedy to cure us from all these passions. If we do our meditation, if we do the Bhajan and Simran, and if we use the weapons of the Shabd Naam which the Masters have given to us, then our soul – which at present is very feeble, very weak, like a tiny bird – will become as powerful or even more powerful than a hawk. It will easily control the mind who is considered as the hawk; our soul will easily control all the five passion.

Looking at the bad condition of the worldly people, Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “The condition of we worldly people is such that we go on eating the poison, we go on crying, and still we go on eating the poison.” Kabir Sahib said, “If a person jumps into the well carrying the light in his own hand who can save him?”

So that is why we should follow the Path of the Master sincerely. If we are following the Path of the Master sincerely, if we are performing our duties of doing Bhajan and Simran, if we are keeping our life pure and if we are keeping the diary – doing all the things which are required of us – then the Master will also perform His duty. He will never relax in performing His duty.

1990 July/August: The Effect of The Grace of The Master

Session Date: February 28, 1990

This question & answer session was given February 28, 1990, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan.

SANT JI: Now you can ask your questions.

QUESTION: Master Kirpal has spoken briefly about the love of the non-Satsangi, whether child or adult, for a Satsangi. Is the love of that person going beyond that Satsangi and making a connection and establishing a relationship with the Master? A particular example is: A Satsangi nurse cared for a seven year old boy who was a non-Satsangi; he then died. The mother, also a non-Satsangi, wrote to Sant Ji and He wrote back beautifully, saying that “Master Kirpal Himself is watching over His child.” My question in general is: what is the connection that is established between non-Satsangis who love us, the Satsangis, with the Master?

SANT JI: Well, I have said a lot about this subject in various Satsangs but once again I will try to explain this to you in detail; you should listen to this with your full attention.

First of all, this world is full of sufferings, it is full of pains and difficulties. A jiva comes into this world of sufferings after wandering into many different species and after getting kicked and knocked in all those species and different bodies. Finally he comes into a human body in this world of sufferings. First of all we need the blessings of God Almighty. If we have the blessing of God Almighty then anything can happen. Many times it is seen that even those non-initiated members of the initiated family, even though they have not received the Initiation but still they tell us amazing things, amazing experiences, which they have had with the Masters. Often I have related to you the incident which I saw in the town called Muksaur. A girl of say eight years old lived there, and when she was about to leave the body – she had not been initiated, she had only had the darshan of Baba Sawan Singh – but before she left the body she said, “Master Sawan Singh has come, sprinkle the water on the ground, His car is coming. Can’t you see Him? I can see Him very clearly; He has come here.” So many times it happens that if we have the blessings of God we can be taken care of, and Masters come to take care of the souls.

But there is a difference in this. When the Almighty, Omnipotent Lord who is All-Pervading wants to shower His grace upon us, until He showers His grace upon us, we cannot meet the Satsangis. Satsangis do the Simran and moreover Satsangis have the very strong feelings toward the Master and that is why when they deal with the non-Satsangis that effect of the grace of the Master is always present there. If a Satsangi is playing with or is taking care of a child, or if he is taking care of an elderly person, or if he is doing anything with non-Satsangis, always the grace of the Master is there because the Satsangi is always thinking about the Master or he is doing the Simran of the Master.

Often I have said, “If the Satsangis knew how much they have progressed within and how much power they have, then they will not be able to maintain that power, maintain that grace, of Master and they will just waste it.”

In order to understand this we will have to go back to the time of Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj. In those times, first of all people were given the Simran and they were made perfect in the Simran; and only after they had perfected the Simran were they given the Sound. But in that kind of system, many times it would happen that before a disciple could perfect his Simran either the disciple would leave the body or the Master would leave the body and because of that the work of the disciple would remain incomplete. With the Simran we can only collect our scattered thoughts, we can only concentrate at the eye center, but as far as our inner progress, our liberation, is concerned, that has to be done by the Dhun Atmak Naam or the Shabd.

Around the time of Guru Arjan Dev many disciples started performing the miracles and started wasting the meditation which they had done. There is a very famous incident of Kabul in which some disciples had gone to get another disciple. In that home somebody had left the body and the other members of the family were weeping, were mourning the person who had left the body. You know how the worldly people are, how much they cry; they weep and they create a scene. So when the disciples who were very devoted and who were great meditators saw the crying and moaning of those people they could not bear it. And taking the Name of their Master, and doing the Simran in the Name of the Master, they performed a miracle and they brought that person back into the body, back to life.

So after that a veil was thrown upon all the disciples’ meditation and then nobody was allowed to see how much they had progressed so that they would not waste the progress of the meditation they have done. So since then this veil has been thrown on all the disciples, but it does not mean that if you do the meditation that is not counted. Master is preserving all the minutes and seconds which you spend in His devotion, in His remembrance. Whatever time you spend in meditation, is all collected by the Master; He is preserving that and when the appropriate time comes He gives that to the disciple. Because only He knows how He has to use that power, and only He knows how He has to maintain and preserve that Power. Many times when the Master sees that the disciple is meditating with much love, faith, and devotion for the Master, He not only gives him the meditation which he himself has done but He also gives all the meditation of the Master Himself, and He has been doing this. But when we take the Power in our hands, when we perform miracles, and when we try to become equals to or even bigger than God Almighty – because only God knows who has to live in this world, who should be made to leave this world – so when people start performing miracles like that, then the Master throws the veil on that disciple. But when the appropriate time comes, He not only gives the disciple what he has earned in meditation but He also gives His own meditation, His own capital to them.

History bears witness of two very famous incidents of Guru Har Gobind: He had two sons and one of them whose name was Baba Atal brought the life back into a dead person. Guru Har Gobind was very much upset with him and He said, “This is not a good thing which you have done, because we are not equals of God, we are His servants and we should not do things like this. Either you should leave the body or I will leave the body.” Baba Atal at once lay down and died, and in his memory they built a very big palace. Similarly, Guru Har Gobind’s other son whose name was Gurdita had brought the life back into a dead cow and he also had to leave the body.

All those claimants of the Guru gaddi [i.e., the throne – the place of authority], who did not become successful in obtaining the successorship after the Sikh Master left the body, they always used to go to the Moghul rulers to seek their support and to seek their help. In that way the Moghul rulers would get the complaints from those people and then those rulers would torture the Masters of their time. So in that way when Emperor Arangzeb got complaints from the other claimant of the successorship of the Masters he asked Guru Hari Rai to come to Delhi to answer some questions but since Guru Hari Rai could not go Himself He sent His son Ram Rai to Delhi. But before he left for Delhi Ram Rai asked Guru Hari Rai, “You are sending me there and they will ask me many questions, but if they insist on me performing the miracles, what should I do?” So Guru Hari Rai said, “No you should never do that because it will be like going against the law of nature. Whatever question they ask you, you should answer that because in fact the Master Himself will be answering those questions through you. But you should not perform any miracles, you should not do anything which would be against the Will of God, which would be against the law of Nature.”

So when Ram Rai came to Delhi he was asked many questions and once they said, “We have heard that you people say that you love people from all different religions, you love Hindus, Muslims, you love Christians and everybody, and if that is true we are going to invite you to a feast.” So Ram Rai said, “I will be most happy to come there.” So that night they sent one he-goat that only had three legs; they had killed one he-goat and they sent it to Ram Rai. When Ram Rai got that goat, at once – because he also had the higher consciousness – he understood that this is some trick, some play, and maybe tomorrow they will ask me some question.

And the next day they said, “We had sent one he-goat to your home with three legs, a dead he-goat, can you make him alive again?” Ram Rai did not want to do that but because the mulanas and religious people who were there praised him very much and they had pampered him, he got taken in by that trick and then he decided to perform the miracle. So he at once made that he-goat alive, with the three legs. When they asked him, “What about the fourth leg?” He replied, “It is with the Kazis.” At that time the kazis, or Muslim priests, were the judges and the magistrates. He said, “I have brought this goat back to life as he was sent to me; if these kazis have any supernatural powers, they can fix the fourth leg to this he-goat.”

So when Guru Hari Rai came to know about this miracle which Ram Rai had performed He became very upset and He said, “I don’t even want to look at you; I don’t even want to see your face.” And after that Ram Rai was not allowed to go to see Guru Hari Rai and he spent the rest of his life in Dera Dhun. You have read many Satsangs which I have given on Asa Ji Di Var. Asa Ji Di Var is a section from Guru Granth Sahib. In that writing there is a couplet which means that the clay of the Muslim is included in the clay used by the potter and when the potter makes the pots with that clay and puts them in his kiln that burns very easily. So when Arangzeb asked Ram Rai, “In your sacred writing how come our Muslims are criticized like this? Why is it said that the clay of the Muslim burns in the fireplace of the potter?” Because Ram Rai wanted to please Arangzeb, the Moghul ruler, that is why he said, “No it is not written the clay of the Muslim, it is written the clay of daman” – which means the clay of the liar. Because he had changed the sacred writings of the Masters that also is one of the reasons Hari Rai did not want to see him. And so Ram Rai went to Dera Dhun, he established his own gaddi, his own mission, or his own path, there and he lived there all his life long. Guru Gobind Singh, Who was both a very lion-hearted and a very kind-hearted Master, tried to establish the connection with Ram Rai. He said, “Since we have to do the devotion of Lord, why don’t we do it together?” He tried His best to get along with Ram Rai, but Ram Rai did not want to do that.

It was like our Master Kirpal Singh, Who was the ocean of love, He always urged His opponents to come together. He used to say, “Since we have to do the devotion of Lord, why don’t we do it together?” So in that way, Guru Gobind Singh approached Ram Rai. When he did not come to Guru Gobind Singh for doing the devotion of Lord, the same thing happened in the end. Ram Rai was burned alive by his own disciples. The Satsangs on the Vars of Bhai Gurdas have been completed and Russell Perkins will be working on those Satsangs and he will be trying to make them into a book and in the introduction to that book you will get to read how the claimants of the throne of Guru Nanak and the other Masters who followed Him, how they tried many different, many heinous, and many low degree tricks to get the successorship, to get the gaddis and how they remained unsuccessful.

Now I will answer the question of how even the non-Initiates are protected and are taken care of by the Masters. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “Even the pets of the Satsangis are protected by the Master.” This is a concession given by Nature to those who have had any kind of connection with the Master, or even with the disciples of the Perfect Master, that they get the human body.” If the Masters have eaten the fruit of any tree or if they have ridden on any animal or if They have had any kind of connection with anybody, that person is protected, their soul is taken care of by the Master and they are given at least one more human birth. Further it depends upon their karmas, their fate. If it is written in their fate to get the Naam Initiation, they take advantage of that golden opportunity of the human birth and they get the liberation. Because even though the Master protects and takes care of the soul of such beings but since liberation is in the Naam that is why those souls have to take the Naam to achieve the liberation.

Most of the dear ones who have met me in the interviews have told me about their improved meditations and the experiences they have had, and many dear ones have even talked about seeing the inner Form of the Master, of talking to Him. But still because they are not competent, they are not sure whether the experience of seeing the Master is real or if it is their imagination or whether they are having dreams of the Master. Dear ones, often I have said that the thing which we call a dream of the Master in fact is not a dream. Because when do we have the dreams? We have dreams only of things of a worldly nature. All the worldly things, the thoughts and fantasies, are going on in our mind during the day, and when we go to sleep those thoughts and fantasies change their forms and they come back to us in the form of the dreams. Many times it happens that when we have the dreams of that kind then for many days we remain disappointed, or we remain sad because we don't know where the mind has taken us. Many times the mind takes us to a very deep ditch, he takes us to many different things, but we do not get any happiness from seeing the things of the world in the state of dreams.

But whenever our mind is quiet, whenever our thoughts are concentrated, then the Master showers His grace upon us. He withdraws our soul from our body like a hair is taken out from the butter, He does it very smoothly and when He does that He gives us His darshan. After we have had such a vision of the Master, for many days a disciple remains overwhelmed with happiness. He always remains fresh, because the Form of the Master, which is very attractive and very loving, remains in front of the disciple for many days.

So that is why, dear ones, I always say that the Shabd Form of the Master never goes into the lower organs of the body. When we have dreams of a worldly nature our attention, our soul, goes to the lower parts of the body. But when we have the vision of the Master, it is the Shabd Form of the Master who withdraws our soul; and with the hook of His love, He takes us into the higher planes. I become very happy when I hear about the meditation of the dear ones, that their efforts are bringing fruit, are yielding fruits for them. But when I see that they are still involved in mind and the organs of senses and that they have not risen above the mind and organs of senses then I become sad.

Those jivas are very fortunate ones who have met or who have had any connection with the Satsangis. Whether they are child or adult, it makes no difference, they are the most fortunate ones. I have met many people who have now received the Naam Initiation, who when they were kids, when they were in their childhood, had met many initiates of Master Sawan Singh. So when they meet me now, when they have received Initiation, they tell me, "In our childhood we used to hear all these things from our elders but we did not know how great the Power of the Naam is."

There is a merchant in the town of Gitarabad – now he has become an initiate. But in the past he knew about some initiates of Kirpal Singh and he only knew this much about them: that they have a Master somewhere in Delhi. There were a couple of traders over there and they all used to go and see Master Kirpal Singh in Delhi, sometimes once a month, sometimes after two, three, or four months and he knew that they had some Master who might be living somewhere near Delhi and that their whole family had gone to see Him once in awhile. He knew only that much, he had never talked to them, he had not gotten any other information from them, but he only knew that they had a Master and that He might be someone very good, etc. So just because of that information, that they were going to see their Master, he got so much good fruit of the company of the truth that he was blessed with the rare gift of the Naam Initiation in his lifetime.

I will tell you a story, I hope you will understand this. Once there was a king who did not have many children, he had only one daughter. In India, the parents arrange the marriages of their children. So he was also worried about arranging the marriage for his daughter, so he announced in his kingdom, "Anyone who will recognize me – I will marry my daughter to him and I will also make him my heir; I will give all that I have to him."

The Light of Ajaib

So when such an announcement was made, everybody who thought that he was eligible for that marriage wanted to go and get married to the princess and become the successor of the king. But on the main street of his capitol city the king had put many distractions. At some places he put very good food, and at other places he had put very good musical instruments, and shows and plays and things like that. At many places he had beautiful women there, and it was announced that people could enjoy with those women without paying anything. It means that he had so many distractions and so many things to distract people's attention on that main street. So when people started coming on that main street to search for that king they were all distracted by those things which were set up on the way. Some people got involved in the good food, some people got involved in hearing the pleasures of the music, some people got involved in seeing the dances, others got involved in enjoying with the women and things like that.

But out of all those people there was one person who was very pure-hearted with a lot of willpower and great determination, and he thought, "I can enjoy all these things once I have found the king." So he did not let his mind wander here and there, he did not get distracted by any of those distractions and he went looking for the king. Finally he came to the garden where the king had hidden himself. The king had disguised himself as a gardener and was cutting the grass over there. When that boy came there, when he saw the king, he saw that the face, the eyes, the forehead of that king were very radiant. At once he recognized that the gardener was the king. He said, "Your majesty, what is the use of hiding now; now I have recognized you, so you please manifest your real form." After that he got married to the princess, and he himself became the king.

This is just a story. The reality is that God Almighty is that king and he is present within all of us and he has told us, "I am within you and whosoever will recognize me, whosoever will reach me, I will give him my daughter, the daughter of the devotion. I will marry him with the daughter which is the devotion and I will put the crown of spirituality on the head of those who will recognize me." Now some of us are involved in the good foods, others are involved in hearing the music, some are involved in indulging in the worldly pleasures with women, and all those kinds of things, and that is why we do not recognize God Almighty who is within us. But there is somebody among us who is very strong-willed, who does not get distracted by any music, by any distraction of this world, he always goes looking ahead and he always goes looking for his goal. Finally after giving up all the pleasures and things of this world he manages to get to the place where God Almighty is hidden and he recognizes Him and he also becomes like God. He wears the crown of spirituality on his head.

Those jivas are very fortunate ones who have the connection with the Satsangis because the Satsangis always have the fragrance of the love of the Master and the remembrance of the Master to give to them. It becomes like a good virtue, a good karma which helps us to get the holy Initiation later on.

1990 September: The Servant of the Servants

Session Date: January 15, 1990

This question and answer session was given January 15, 1990, in Hyderabad, India.

QUESTION: [A question was asked about Sant Ji's bhajan "O Akal Ke Dekh Jara."]

SANT JI: There were many of those bhajans which I sang in the presence of Lord Kirpal. Because I moved, some which were in that collection of bhajans got lost. This is one of those bhajans which I sang in His Presence. In those days I did not write my name in the last line of the bhajans; I used to call myself as Dass, or the servant of the servants. So that is why it says here, “I am the servant of the servants.” I changed it to writing my name or the name of Master Kirpal or Baba Sawan in the last lines of the bhajans only because many people were taking those bhajans and they were getting them published or printed in their own name. So in order to prevent that from happening I started using my name. You might remember that in the earlier messages which I gave, like the New Year’s message, I signed my name as Dass Ajaib.

Well, in order to understand the meaning of this couplet completely one has to go within because it talks about the inner things. The hymn is towards the inner things, but it also mentions those two great Masters at Whose Feet I got the opportunity to sit, so it refers to Them also.

Dear ones, I got many opportunities to see the life of Baba Sawan Singh and I have seen how much He had surrendered Himself to the Feet of His Master and how He was devoted and how much He was in the Love of His Master. Even on the tent under which He sat to do the Satsang it was written, “Baba Jaimal Singh shower grace upon me,” or “Baba Jaimal Singh have mercy upon me.” And every single thing which was there would always sing the praises of Baba Jaimal Singh. Baba Sawan Singh was very much devoted to the love of His Master.

Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to tell this story very often regarding the sacrifices and love of Baba Sawan Singh for His Master. He used to say that once when Baba Sawan Singh went to visit the village where Baba Jaimal Singh was born, as soon as He got to the boundary of that village He knelt down there and paid homage – He folded His hands and bowed down there – and He respected that place. When He went into that village to do the Satsang, before He started to do the Satsang He started weeping in the remembrance of His Master. When the dear ones saw Master Sawan Singh doing that they asked Him, “Master, if this is Your condition then what will happen to us? If You are weeping so much in the pain of separation from your Master, what will happen to us?” Then Master Sawan Singh could hardly say anything because His voice was choked, but He did say one thing, “I have so much pain of separation from my Beloved Master that I am ready to sacrifice everything for Him, If He would come and give me one glimpse of His physical body now, I am willing to give up everything I have, I am ready to sacrifice everything I have.” Master Kirpal Singh often told this story in the Satsang just to explain to us what sacrifice Master Sawan Singh had made for Baba Jaimal Singh and how much He used to love Him.

I had many opportunities in my life to meet with people who had worked with Baba Sawan Singh, and others who had seen Him doing His meditation – they told me how He used to stay up and do His meditation and all about the practices He did. Also I was very fortunate to meet an initiate of Baba Jaimal Singh. His name was also Jaimal Singh; he was a great meditator. He used to come to visit me; many times he stayed with me in my house. He told me a lot about the love and devotion which Baba Sawan Singh had for His Master Baba Jaimal Singh.

Regarding Baba Jaimal Singh Ji, that disciple named Jaimal Singh told this story: once after Baba Jaimal Singh initiated somebody in his village that dear one asked Him this question, “Is it true that You will come to take me at the time of my death?” So Baba Jaimal Singh said, “Yes, you look at my clothes; I will come to take you wearing the same clothes.” So that disciple Jaimal Singh told me that before that person left the body he said, “Baba Jaimal Singh Ji has come, wearing the same clothes He was wearing at the time He gave me the Initiation.”

The Light of Ajaib

Master Sawan Singh Ji did a great amount of sacrifice in meditation. What I have come to know about His life was that He did a great sacrifice in meditation. We people hear about the sacrifices made by the Masters and we even talk about how much They have meditated. Sometimes we try to imitate Them; sometimes we even try to do as They have done. But, dear ones, it is very difficult to do such great sacrifices in meditation as the Masters have done.

Only when I got the darshan of Beloved Lord Kirpal did I understand how much He had sacrificed in meditation and how hard He had worked in meditation. He used to go stand or sit in the waters of the river Ravi and stay there for a very long time; sometimes He would spend all night there meditating in the waters of the river Ravi. In many other ways He did a lot of sacrifice on this Path, and He did His meditation.

One year before I met Him physically, He started appearing within me; He started giving me His gracious vision. I had been told by another advanced initiate of Baba Sawan Singh about Master Kirpal. He had told me that the Power who was supposed to initiate me would come to me by Himself and that He was such a great Power that if He put His hands in front of two firing canons, He could even stop those canons. But I came to know about His Real Power only after getting Initiation from Him and only after meeting Him.

Dass en dass means “servant of the servants” or the humblest or the poorest of all. It is very difficult to say these words, because it is very difficult to become the servant of the servants. It is very difficult to become the poorest or the humblest of all because we have the mind in us, we have the ego in us, and that is why we do not want to realize, we do not want to say, that we are the poorest of all.

Only with the grace of the Master can one become the humblest of all. When my beloved Lord Kirpal told me that I had to close my eyes in respect to the world and open them inside, when He told me to go into meditation, at that time I requested Him, “O Lord, this is the realm of the Negative Power and there are many things which will bother me. I have only Your support and it is only You Who has to save my reputation, save my honor.” And this is true – that Gracious One showered so much grace upon this burning, heated-up soul; and in this realm of the Negative Power where there are so many difficulties, it was only because of His grace that I was able to do this – I had only His support.

I had many obstacles to overcome. I had to bear the hunger and thirst: I did not eat well, I did not drink well. The last time that I became sick, the doctor asked me about my body and I told him, “Dear One, what can I tell you about my body? I have not taken good care of my body. I did not eat enough; I did not drink enough. I did not take good care of my body because I was doing meditation all the time.” There were many other difficulties, which I had to overcome. One of them was that I was not married and I was living the life of a celibate.

Regarding the celibacy – it is a great privilege and it is a matter of great grace of Almighty Lord if one can maintain celibacy. If one can maintain chastity all throughout his life – if the person can remain as pure as he was born, as he came from the womb of his mother – he was very pure – and if he can maintain that purity all through his life, that is a great thing. But this can happen only if that person has the gracious hand of Almighty Lord on his head; I was a very fortunate one to be able to do that.

We people talk about maintaining chastity; people say, “We are celibate, we are the mahatmas,” etc., but dear ones, it is very difficult to do that. One can do that only if God Almighty is gracious on that person. I have met with many mahatmas, many so-called religious people who say that they are celibate, that they are chaste, but it is very unfortunate of them that they cannot even maintain their vital fluid. They lose their vital fluid even in their sleep. So dear ones – those whose condition is like this – those who cannot maintain chastity even in the state of dreams, if they have women at their disposal – or such women, if they have men available – do you think they will be able to control themselves? It is not possible, because if you cannot maintain chastity in thoughts and in the state of dreams, how is it possible for you to maintain it physically?

Dear ones, you can imagine very well how difficult it would be for a person to maintain chastity and remain pure if he had all the privileges and all the things of the world available to him. You know that my parents had provided me with all the facilities and they always insisted that I get married. But right from my childhood, right from the beginning, I had the feeling that I had some ghost in me; it was very important for me to control that ghost. And I was aware that if I would get married to someone else then I would have to fight with two ghosts. And how would I be able to do that if I had not controlled the ghost who was within me and who was bothering me?

Often I have said that only he can become a renunciate who has been given everything by God Almighty and who then becomes detached from it. Only if he has been given everything and if he renounces and is detached from those things, only such a person can be called a renunciate. One who has not been given anything by God Almighty – if he says that he is a renunciate – how is that possible?

That does not make any sense, naturally, because since God has not given him anything, what did he renounce? When I went to 77 RB I met Darshan Singh, who is in our sangat. In those days Darshan Singh used to serve a mahatma who would not look at any woman and who wanted to have no contact with any woman. He did not even like to see women and he would always keep a very great distance from any woman. Darshan Singh was also under his influence. (Darshan Singh is Pathi Ji's physical brother; they both used to serve that mahatma before they met me.)

Whenever I went to 77 RB they used to talk about that mahatma. They said that he was such a great mahatma, and that he never liked to see the women and so on. That mahatma's teaching was that you should not eat food cooked by a woman ("because they drink tea and do other things and that is why it is not good for us to eat food cooked by the women"); he was so strict about all these things. But it is very funny that at that time, while he was following or serving that mahatma, Darshan Singh became the father of seven children. And still he would talk very highly about that mahatma.

So once they were talking to me about how good the mahatma was. So I asked Darshan Singh, "Tell me one thing, what was wrong in that mahatma, why did he not want to see any women?" He replied that, "Because the mahatma says that if he sees women he cannot preserve his vital fluid in his dreams." So I told him, "Darshan Singh, if just by even looking at the women he cannot preserve his chastity, then what would happen if sometime some woman would go near him? And still you tell me such good things about him; that he is very good. And tell me one thing, about your children: how did you manage to have all these children when you were following such a strict mahatma who did not even want to look at the women?" But he did not have any answer and he just kept quiet.

So I mean to say that if we have renounced all these things outwardly but from the within we are holding on to all these things, it is nothing but hypocrisy and such hypocrisy, such renunciation, can also be very misleading.

The Light of Ajaib

Kabir Sahib says that all the thoughts and all the fantasies which we have in our mind are nothing but lust. If we are not maintaining chastity in our thoughts, the chastity which is maintained in the body does not have any importance, it has no value, because all day long, twenty-four hours a day our mind is thinking lustful thoughts, fantasies and things about it. Even if we are preserving chastity in the body but still we cannot be called as the one who is maintaining chastity, instead of becoming a chaste person we are becoming the most indulgent ones.

So what I said in that bhajan – that dass en dass, the servant of the servants was a dear one, was a lover, and how can I compete with those two great lovers – I meant those two Great Masters because They had sacrificed so much and I see many other dear ones who are sacrificing themselves for the love of the Master – how can I compare myself with them because they are better than me? I meant Master Kirpal and Master Sawan Singh because They had done so much sacrifice and They had surrendered Themselves to their Master.

Guru Nanak Sahib also said that there are many who are superior to others, “Who knows my name?” There are many dear ones who sacrificed more than the other people and in that way they get to the court of Lord. Guru Nanak Sahib says, “People try to copy or imitate Those Who are one with Almighty Lord but they cannot imitate Them, they cannot copy Them.” We are caught up in ego and we are easily tricked by our mind only when we try to imitate the Masters and only when we try to copy the Saints and Their lives. But it is not possible for us to copy Them because we cannot do the things which They have done. In fact, They have been sent by God Almighty into this world to do all those things so that They could demonstrate to other people that without making all the sacrifices, without working so hard in meditation you cannot achieve this thing. And since They are sent into this world by God Almighty, They are able to do that only because of the grace of God Almighty, They can do it. But we cannot do it even though we may try to copy Them.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that once some houseflies went to the moths and they said, “Look here, we also look like you; we also have wings. We belong to the same category as you and we all are brothers and sisters.” So the moths said, “Yes, you look like us and you are like our brothers and sisters, but can one of you go and see if there is any lamp burning in the nearby house?” So at once one housefly went and came back in a moment saying, “Yes, there is a lamp burning there.” Then those moths chased those flies away saying, “If one of us had gone there to see the light he would have not returned; he would have burned himself in that light. You do not belong to the same category and you do not have any right to stay here.” So they chased all the houseflies away.

In the same way, dear ones, I have always said, “What is it like for a dear devoted person to go to the Master?” It is like bringing the dry gun powder in contact with fire. You know that the gunpowder explodes right away when it is brought into contact with the fire. In the same way, when a truly devoted person comes in the company of the Master, he goes up immediately. Dear ones, when we look to the Sikh history we learn about many disciples of the Masters who sacrificed a great deal, who surrendered to the Master. They did a lot for the Master, but when they listened to their minds, when the ego came, they were tricked by the mind and then they fell down. That is why I have often said that if we have even one bad thought or one thought of the ego it can bring us down from the peak of Brahmand.

Many times I have told you the story of Bhai Joga who was an initiate of Guru Gobind Singh, about how he sacrificed by obeying the orders of his Master, and when the ego came and he was going to fall down, the Master appeared there to protect him. Bhai Joga was an initiate of Guru Gobind Singh. Once Bhai

Joga's parents came to see Guru Gobind Singh, from Peshawar where they used to live. At that time Bhai Joga was a very smart, very handsome young boy and Guru Gobind Singh Ji liked him very much. He asked him, "What is your name?" He replied, "My name is Joga." Now the word "joga" in Punjabi literally means "for" or "of." So when he said, "My name is Joga," Guru Gobind Singh asked, "Well for whom?" Joga was so much enchanted by Guru Gobind Singh's love that he said, "I am for You or I am of You." So from that time onward Bhai Joga remained with Guru Gobind Singh. He did a lot of seva and he was a very good devotee, a very good disciple, a very good sevadar of Guru Gobind Singh.

Some years later, his parents came to Guru Gobind Singh, requesting Him to allow them to take Joga to their home because they wanted to get him married. So Guru Gobind Singh called Bhai Joga and said, "Okay, you go and obey your parents; you do as they want you to do." Bhai Joga did not want to go, so he said, "Master, I have surrendered my life to you and I want to remain here only with you, You are my everything and I don't want to go with anyone else." But Guru Gobind Singh said, "No, they are your parents and it is your responsibility to please them. So you go with them and do whatever they want you to do. You should obey them because they are your parents. I appreciate your devotion, and I appreciate your surrendering to the Master. I'll tell you one thing: whenever you get the message from me to come back to me immediately, leave everything behind and also leave whatever work you are doing, leave in the middle of it. As soon as you get my message to come, you should come, but now you go with your parents.

So Joga became very happy that he had not displeased his Master and that the Master was still pleased with him, so he went with his parents. Back at his home he was engaged to get married. In the Hindu and the Sikh traditions in the actual wedding ceremony, the Hindus have some fire burning and the Sikhs put the Guru Granth Sahib, their holy book, and they go around those things four times. They circle around either the holy book or that holy fire and that is the ceremony of the wedding. Now Guru Gobind Singh had also sent another disciple back home with Bhai Joga at the same time, because in those days there was not such good and fast means of transportation. Guru Gobind Singh had sent that disciple along with Bhai Joga and his parents with a letter from Him saying, "Come immediately!" That disciple was instructed, "You should give this letter to Bhai Joga after he completes the third circle around the holy book, when just the last round remains." So according to the plan after Bhai Joga went around that holy book three times and when only the last round remained, at once that disciple came forward. He gave that message of Guru Gobind Singh to Bhai Joga which said, "Come immediately. Leave everything behind. Whatever you are doing leave in the middle of it and come back." Because Bhai Joga was a very devoted disciple, he wanted to and he had to obey that word of the Master literally, but his parents, other relatives and everybody else said, "Well, how much time does it take to finish this ceremony? You just have to go around this holy book one more time and then that will be all; your wedding will be over. How much time does it take?" But Bhai Joga said, "No, I have to obey my Master; I cannot do this." So he left that work in the middle of it and at once he started on his way to Anandpur Sahib, [the place where Guru Gobind Singh had his dera.] On the way he had to spend the night in a place called Saharanpur. When he got there, suddenly ego came into his mind and he started thinking, "I am such a great disciple: I did not even care for my wedding, I did not even care for that beautiful woman to whom I was going to get married. I am a very great disciple, because I have come here and I am obeying my Master." So when he started having these kinds of thoughts, his ego bothered him – and when you allow ego to come in then all the other passions follow. So when he was thinking in terms of what a great sacrifice he had done, that he had left his bride behind, etc., when he started thinking about the beautiful woman, lust also spread within him and then he was having lustful thoughts and then he thought, “Well, what is wrong if I go and enjoy with some prostitute?” So now because he was completely under the influence of ego and lust and the other passions, he forgot where he was going and who he was. So he went to the house of a prostitute.

Now Master is not unaware of the sacrifice made by the person who has done such a great sacrifice for the Master, and He will not let him fall down. Master has given him Initiation and He is responsible for him, that is why Master will do every possible thing to prevent the fall of the disciple. So Guru Gobind Singh went there in the form of the guard of that prostitute’s house. When Bhai Joga went to that prostitute’s house the guard, who was in fact Guru Gobind Singh, told Bhai Joga, “Someone is already here; come back later.” So Bhai Joga left, but because he was still under the influence of lust and he wanted to enjoy, he went back there again and again. Each time the guard, Guru Gobind Singh, was there and he told him the same thing, “Someone is still here and you should come back later.” So in that way he made several trips but every time Guru Gobind Singh, in the form of the guard, would tell him, “You go away now.” When he did not understand that he should not do that, when he still insisted on coming back, by the time he came for the last time, it was about three o’clock in the morning, the ambrosial hour when most of the Satsangis get up and do their meditation, so when he returned at that time Guru Gobind Singh became very strict and He said, “Didn’t I tell you that someone important is here, some landlord or something like that? Why do you always come back here again and again? Are you not embarrassed to come here again and again? You look like a noble man, you look like a devoted person; this is the time for you to go and sit in meditation, but what are you doing?”

When he was made to realize that he was a Satsangi and that he should meditate at that time, then suddenly he gave up that idea of lust. Then he regretted what he had been trying to do, and from there he went to Anandpur and he met his Master. But how could he face the Master? You know that when you have done something like this you cannot look into the eyes of the Master, because He knows everything and you feel embarrassed. So he could not look at the Master; he was very embarrassed and very ashamed of his doings. However, he noticed that while Guru Gobind Singh Ji was talking to him He would sometimes close his eyes as if He was sleeping. So Bhai Joga said, “Master, what is this, didn’t you sleep well last night? What is the problem?” So Guru Gobind Singh smiled and He said, “Well yes, last night I was guarding one of my disciples and that was also very important.” Now Bhai Joga had seen all those things with his own eyes and he realized that that guard was no other than Guru Gobind Singh Himself and then he fell at the feet of Guru Gobind Singh. He realized that Guru Gobind Singh had been guarding him and that He had prevented his fall, and he realized how much he was protected by the Master.

So that is why, dear ones, this Path is not the path of becoming proud of anything; it is not the path of the ego. In this Path we always have to fold our hands to Master; we always have to ask for the grace and protection of the Master. If we do not have the grace and protection of the Master we cannot survive on this Path and there is no way we can keep the ego and the other passions away. So the more we pray to Him and the more we do His devotion, the humbler we will become. We will become the poorest of the poorest.

Dear ones, if there is any dear one who has done some sacrifice for the Master, the Master will always be there to help him and He will not let him fall down. If we look at our life minutely we will see that there were many incidents in our life in which we were going to fall down. But because we were sacrificing our self for the sake of the Master, He did not let us fall down; He protected us from falling down. But what do we people do? We do not have enough faith in the Master or love for the Master. Still we expect that He will take care of us and He will protect us. But we do not have enough love and faith in Him [to receive the help which He is constantly giving.] It is true that if the disciples always attend to and fulfill their duty, the Master will never hesitate, He will never forget to attend to His responsibilities; He will always fulfill His duty. As Guru Nanak Sahib said, “The Master is the one who explains the reality to the disciples; He brings the disciple who has forgotten to the Path, and in that way He liberates him.”

Session Date: January 3, 1990

This question and answer session was given January 3, 1990, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan.

QUESTION: Is it a mistake of proud-ness to think that one can lessen the Master's burdens and sufferings by not making it more heavy by our small complaints that we well know we can bear?

SANT JI: It is a very good question; all of you should try to listen to the answer lovingly and you should try to understand it.

Many dear ones told me in their interview that they got the answers to their questions during the last question and answer session, and this question is also very deep and we need to go into deep detail to answer it, so you should listen to it attentively.

You know in this kingdom of the Negative Power, where we have come to live, there is no forgiveness, there is only revenge. Whatever one does he has to suffer for that.

Those who are the crippled ones or the handicapped ones or those who are blind from birth, and those who, right from their birth, have so many diseases, so many sufferings – such souls have such karmas that they come into this world only to suffer the consequences of those karmas and that is why they get such kind of bodies.

Along with them also there are many souls who have done good karmas in their past lifetimes and because of those good karmas God Almighty writes the Perfect Naam and the meeting with the Perfect Master in their destiny.

When I went to Colombia I met many people who could not walk by themselves, who could not eat by themselves, and such people came to see me, especially when I went to Doctor Duque's place. Many people were brought there who were not able to move by themselves. The people who used to take care of them, or their children, brought them to see me.

Even though their children, or whoever brought them there, were not Initiates, since it was written in their fate to have the darshan of the Perfect Master that is why they were brought there.

The great souls, the Saints and Mahatmas, Who do the meditation of Shabd Naam, Who become One with the Shabd Naam, Who become One with God Almighty, there is no difference between God and such Masters.

The Light of Ajaib

Nanak Sahib says, “What is the relationship between such Masters and God Almighty?” He says, “Just as the bubbles are formed from the air, as the air fills the drops of water; and once again the bubble dissolves into the water – such is the relationship of the Master with God Almighty.” Further He says, “The devotee of God is exactly like God Himself, do not understand any difference, and do not misunderstand Him as a human being.”

Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say that in the prison there are the prisoners, they are human beings, and the superintendent also lives in the prison. He is also a human being, but the duties and responsibilities of both the prisoners and superintendents are different. The prisoners are there because they have been put there, they are suffering their punishment, whereas the superintendent is there to look after them.

The case of the doctor and the patient is similar: the patient is living in pain, he is suffering a great deal and he goes to the hospital to see the doctor. The doctor is a human being, the patient is also a human being, but the doctor does not have any pain, it is the patient who has pain and who goes to the doctor.

Look at the difference between an illiterate and a learned person. The illiterate person has no awakening of his own self, he does not have any knowledge, whereas the learned person has knowledge and he is living his life very comfortably and very happily. But outwardly they look alike because they both are human beings.

Suppose there is a judge: when he is visiting the market place or when he is just living his normal life, we cannot understand his competency, we cannot know what power he has; but when he is on duty, when he is sitting in court, only then do we learn what power he has.

In the same way, the Saints and Mahatmas come to this world in the form of the human beings because if They had come in the form of the cows or the other animals we would not have been able to understand their language. If They had come in the form of the angels and gods and goddesses we would not have been able to see them. Since we are in the human form that is why God Almighty also comes in the human form.

Within us, the jivas, the waves of lust, anger, and the other passions are rising and we are neither peaceful nor restful, we are at unrest within, whereas that beloved of God, that Saint or Mahatma, is very peaceful. He is very restful within because he is connected with God Almighty.

The reality is that such great souls Who come into this world are the only Ones Who lessen the burden of the Masters. They are the only Ones Who continue the mission of the Masters after They leave.

As I say, that one gets the darshan of the Perfect Master only if he is a very fortunate one. For a disciple to meet a Perfect Master is a matter of both great fate and good fortune at the same place. In the same way, I also say that a Master only gets a perfect disciple if He is the most fortunate one. Many Masters get a perfect disciple in Their lifetime and many Masters do not get such an opportunity; They are still making their disciples perfect.

Read the life of such a Mahatma from his early childhood and you will see how from his childhood, his life was such that he would always keep his eyes closed and wait for God. Even though he would not have met the Master in his early days, in his early childhood, because he was not destined to meet the Master at that early age, still he was in the making right from his childhood. And how does such a Mahatma maintain his body? He does not waste his body in the sensual pleasures of this world because he knows that within that body God Almighty is going to reside one day.

The Light of Ajaib

The thought or the attention of such a great soul is always searching for God Almighty right from childhood, and he spends all his time in searching for God.

Read the history of Guru Nanak and the others of the ten Sikh Gurus; see how hard They worked and for how long a time They went on searching. Even after meeting the Master they worked very hard.

Guru Nanak Sahib was born in a very good family, but for eleven years he made the stones and pebbles as his bedding. Was he not getting good bedding? He was getting good bedding, but still he chose to sleep on the stones and pebbles.

We get to know in the history of Baba Sawan Singh that he was also born in a very good family, he also learned a very great deal and he got a very good job. He did his worldly job, and still from his within he went on searching; he searched for twenty-two years of his life and whenever he would get the opportunity he would go in the company of the Sadhus and Mahatmas.

After he met with Baba Jaimal Singh he did not do this – that he got the Initiation and he just sat without doing anything. He did not do that. He worked very hard in his meditations; for many days he would not come out of his room, he would stay in constant meditation. He would not even eat enough; he worked very hard and he meditated a lot. If such a Mahatma is asked, “Mahatma, have you done the meditation?” Such a Mahatma will say, “No, I have not done any meditation; it is all the grace of my Master.” So Master Sawan Singh would also say the same thing, “This is all due to the grace of Baba Jaimal Singh.”

Once when He was saying things like this His driver Berta Singh, who also used to cook food for Him said, “Master, what about those sleepless nights You have had, and the many times You would not even come out of Your room to eat the food, was that not meditation? Was that not working hard?”

So many times Master Sawan Singh would not come out of His room, He would continue in meditation and He did not even care for the food. When the sleep would bother Him He would stand up and using a baragan to rest His hands He would stand up and meditate like that.

In the same way, Master Kirpal Singh Ji, who used to possess supernatural powers right from his childhood but never used them, was always searching for God. Once in his childhood, when his uncle became sick and was in the hospital, Master Kirpal would go to see him. He would take the same amount of things for a patient right next to his uncle as he would take for his uncle, so when his uncle saw that he asked Him, “Pal, I am your uncle and I have some claim on you and it is good that you bring all these things for me, but what claim does that person have on you? Why are you bringing the same amount of things for him also?” So Master Kirpal said, “Uncle, no doubt you are my uncle, but he also has the same claim on me as you do.” So such great thoughts were in Master Kirpal in his childhood and he always went on searching for God and the Perfect Masters. He used to say that although he was working in the army as the deputy accountant officer, which was a very big post at that time, still he would go in the night time to the train station of Lahore and help the old people who could not carry their luggage and their bedding. Serving the people, he continued his search.

He used to say, “Since I was very fond of going to the banks of rivers, once I thought, ‘Let me go and visit the bank of the Beas river.’ So I went to the Beas station and over there I asked the station master, ‘Which is the way to the river?’ So that station Master said ‘Do you want to go to the Dera?’” Master Kirpal did not know that there was a dera of a Master near there so he thought, “Well it is very good, it is like killing two birds with one stone. I will go to see the dera and meet the Master there and also I will visit the river.” So he went to the dera where he saw Master Sawan Singh Whom he had been seeing in his meditation for seven years before he met Him physically. So when he went there and saw that the Master was the same one Who was giving him darshan within, he said, “Master, why did you take so long for me to come to You physically?” Master Sawan Singh replied, “Dear one, this was the only appropriate time.” So the meaning of saying this is how right from childhood he was searching for a Master, he was searching for God Almighty, and what kind of thoughts he had right from the beginning.

Even such great souls who are capable of lessening the burden of the Master – even they cannot think of lessening the burden of the Master because only He who is Perfect can carry the burden of the Master. When Guru Angad Dev was given the responsibility of becoming the Master, He said, “Master this burden is very heavy; I cannot carry it.”

Such great souls cannot refuse the Will, or the order, of the Master; but when the Master gives them the order to do the work, at that time they request the Master, “Master, please sit here so that we may always enjoy Your protection.”

Regarding myself, you would have heard how my mother was so much attached to me and she would always give me very good bedding and such things, and she had a very good bed for me. But I had found a gunny bag from somewhere and in the nighttime I would sit on that. Sometimes she would come in my room and find me sitting on that gunny bag. She would get upset at me, saying, “You are still very young to do the devotion; this is the work of the old people. Why are you meditating like this?”

Regarding sleep, dear ones, I have often said that I have not inherited the sleep of the morning time because I have never slept in the morning.

I did not suffer hunger and thirst and I did not do the meditation, hoping to do this work. If I had known that by doing the meditation you have to carry such a burden, it is possible that I would never have done this. I thought that by doing the meditation of God, once you get the Almighty Lord, after that you always remain attached to His Feet and all your problems are over. But such souls do not meditate hoping to be the Masters or hoping to carry this burden, because it is a very heavy burden to carry. Such souls are made to carry this burden; They are given this responsibility.

I have often told you how once when we were leaving Ganganagar, Master Kirpal wanted me to sit in His car, and I didn't want to go with Him because the night before He had spent all His time meeting with the people and He was very tired and I wanted Him to rest. So I told Him, no, I would go in my jeep, but He insisted. He embraced me and said, “You come along with me.” So He took me in His car and then He started talking about the end time of His Master and how He was made to carry on the work of His Master.

When He was telling me all about that time, at that time my heart and my body were trembling. He was telling me that there were many reasons, “Because I could not refuse the order of Master Sawan Singh. But I did make this request, a prayer to Him, ‘Master, You please sit here, You live in this world; because You look very beautiful sitting on that throne.’”

[There was a break in the tape at this point. ]

So when Master was telling me all this I told Him, “Maharaj Ji, what kind of things are You talking about now? Why are You saying all these things to me?”

The Light of Ajaib

He said, “Yes, these very things will help you in the future.”

Dear ones, often I have said that for the Satsangis, the Masters are the abode of Grace, because They are the Ones Who have graciously given us the Initiation. We are the ones who are drunkards and who are involved in all kinds of the bad karmas, but They give us the Initiation. They sit within us and They liberate us even though we have all the bad karmas, because They have to maintain Their reputation as the forgiver and gracious one.

You know that first of all our mind, who is an agent of Negative Power, creates many obstacles in our way, and he always claims for honor and the fame of this world. And on our way to go to the Masters how many obstacles he creates.

Everyday in the churches, in the mosques, and other holy places we hear the praises of the Naam and we know that there is no liberation without doing the meditation of Naam, but still when it comes to taking the Naam Initiation this mind creates many obstacles in us.

Whenever any dear one does any bad karma, at that time, because Negative Power is also sitting on the left hand side and Master is sitting on your right hand side, the Negative Power always says, “Look at this disciple of yours. You have given him the Naam; was he worthy of the Naam that even after taking the Naam he is doing so many bad deeds?”

If parents who are looking after their child very well are told by other people that they are not doing their job correctly, and if someone blames their child for something he has done, then you know how bad the parents feel. Sometimes they go on arguing and fighting with them. You see that we people do the karmas and it is our Master who is blamed for our karmas; but Master is very patient, very humble and very gracious to us. Still He says, “Well, he will be all right; I will explain to him and he will stop doing these bad deeds. I’ll take care of him.” He says things like that.

Sometimes dear ones say that they are not sure which thought is coming from the Master and which thought is coming from the Negative Power. Such dear ones should know that all the thoughts which lead you toward doing negative things, bad things, and all the thoughts which take you to the bad deeds, they are all created by the Negative Power because he wants you to do the bad things. But if you get the good thoughts, thoughts which inspire you to do the devotion and thoughts that take you to the Master, those are the thoughts created by the Master. Whenever you get such grace of the Master, whenever you get good thoughts about the Master, at once you should try to sit in meditation. Because you know that your soul is always inclined towards the Master and at such times, when you have good thoughts, your soul becomes more inclined towards the Master.

For Satsangis to do even this much is enough. This would be like helping the Master and like lessening the burden – if they do not bother the Master with the worldly problems which they have – even that would be enough.

Guru Nanak Sahib says, “When the Master gives you Initiation He forgives all your past karmas and He puts you on the True Path.” So when you get the Initiation Master takes the account of your karmas from the Negative Power and then He becomes responsible for it, and for the future He puts you on the right Path, and He tells you that you should not do the bad karmas. Whatever karmas are done in the domain of the Negative Power must be paid off. Somebody has to pay them, either the disciple or the Master, and as I have often said, “The Negative Power does not spare even one karma.” It is also up to the Negative Power, to choose the way of paying off the karmas. If he wants he can take the eye of the Master. If he wants he can ask for the leg or any part of the body of the Master, and if he wants he can make the Master have diarrhea or any other sickness. It is completely up to the Negative Power to decide how he wants the karmas to be paid off by the Master.

The diary form which was made by Master Kirpal is the only remedy for this disease. We have to mold our life according to the teachings, according to the principles, laid down in the diary. Once we get the Initiation, we should not do any bad karmas. We should always think about the consequences of the action before doing it; and we should mold our life according to the diary.

Saints are free from all kinds of karmas and diseases, but still you know when They come into the human body how much They have to suffer. It is only the Saint Who suffers on account of other people's karma; He is the only One Who burns Himself in other people's fire. Otherwise who on the earth would want to burn in other people's fire? Who wants to carry another person's karma?

When Master Sawan Singh had carried some dear one's karma and He had become unconscious, He could not even move; then the same person whose karma Master Sawan Singh had carried was standing right there. He had the bad thoughts, bad feelings, for Master Sawan Singh and he said, "Master, is this Your own karma which You are suffering?" Master Sawan Singh just smiled and said, "No Dear One, it is not my karma, it is the karma of a dear one."

A similar kind of incident is found in Baba Jaimal Singh Ji's life also. Baba Jaimal Singh had an initiate whose name was Moti Ram; he was a tailor by profession. Because the sangat was very small in those days he went to Baba Jaimal Singh and invited Him to come and be with him for one month to do the Satsang and Baba Jaimal Singh agreed. So He went there and while they were doing the Satsang one very prominent, influential man, Hukam Singh, started coming to the Satsang.

Moti Ram wanted Hukam Singh to get the Initiation. So he requested Baba Jaimal Singh to give him the Initiation because he thought that if Hukam Singh got the Initiation it would be very good for the Satsang. He thought that other people would be attracted to the Satsang. We Satsangis always have the desire that new people who come to the Satsang should also get the same benefit that we got, and that many people should come to the Satsang. So that is why we always request the Master to give His grace and give the Initiation to the people who come there.

So Moti Ram also requested Baba Jaimal Singh to initiate Hukam Singh. But Baba Jaimal Singh said, "Well, you can make me give the Initiation to two hundred other people, but don't force me to give Initiation to Hukam Singh." But Moti Ram did not understand and he said, "No Master, You have to give him the Initiation." When he insisted very much then Baba Jaimal Singh agreed, "I'll give him the Initiation, on one condition, that I will leave this place right after giving the Initiation." Even then Moti Ram did not understand; he said, "Master, it is all right if You go back; I will come to the dera to hear the Satsang. But You should kindly give Initiation to Hukam Singh."

So Baba Jaimal Singh said, "All right, you get the tonga and put my bedding on that tonga and get it ready. I will leave right after giving the Initiation." Even then Moti Ram did not understand why Baba Jaimal Singh was not willing to give Initiation to Hukam Singh. Anyway because he was insisting, Baba Jaimal Singh gave Initiation to Hukam Singh and right after the Initiation He left in that tonga. On the way home in the train He met Baba Sawan Singh in Ludhiana.

The Light of Ajaib

Baba Sawan Singh used to say, “On the weekends or whenever we had holidays we would always go to the dera, and Baba Jaimal Singh would get upset at us, saying, ‘You people do not look after your household work and you always run to the dera. You should not come here until I call you, or until you do your household duties.’ So He would always get upset but still we were so fond of His darshan that we would take every opportunity to go to see Him. So when I met Baba Jaimal Singh in Ludhiana, I asked Him, ‘Master, can I come to the dera this weekend?’”

Baba Jaimal Singh was suffering with a very high fever at that time and He said, “No, you should not come to the dera this weekend; you should also not come next week, you can come two weeks later.” And afterwards He went to the dera and for fifteen days He was suffering with a very high fever. His whole body became very pale, He did not even take any medicine and he suffered a great deal at that time. Later on a doctor was called from Amritsar. Later on He told Bibi Rukho about the karmas of Hukam Singh which He had carried. He said, “Hukam Singh was supposed to be burnt in a fire and he had very heavy karmas to pay. That is why I did not want to give him Initiation but because Moti Ram insisted I had to give him the Initiation; as a result I had to carry all his karmas and that is why I became sick.”

Two weeks later Baba Sawan Singh went there and learned that Baba Jaimal Singh had been very sick. Seeing His pale face and very weak body, he requested, “Master, why didn’t You let me come to You when You were sick. I would have served You, I would have taken care of You; You should have allowed me to come here.” But Baba Jaimal Singh Ji replied, “No Dear One, it was good that you did not come, otherwise you would have had bad thoughts, thinking, ‘The Masters also have to suffer this much?’ It was good that you did not come, otherwise you would have also lost your faith in the Master.”

So Dear Ones, the meaning of saying this is that to give the Naam Initiation is not a very small thing, it is taking on the karmas of the disciples whom you Initiate. For the disciples who have got the Naam Initiation, for them, only this once is enough. If we do not do any bad karmas, and whatever problems we have, we try to sort them out ourselves. If we always do the things according to the instructions of the Masters, if we do the meditation of the Shabd Naam as the Masters have told us, if we are doing all this, that would be more than enough help to the Master.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that at that time when he saw Baba Jaimal Singh sick, he asked Him, “Can You tell me whose karma You have taken on Yourself?”

Baba Jaimal Singh said, “No, you will not be able to digest it.” But Baba Jaimal Singh made Baba Sawan Singh promise that he would not reveal the name of that person to anyone in the Sangat as long as Baba Jaimal Singh was in the body and that is why Master Sawan Singh did not reveal the name of that person. He used to say, “Today, because Baba Jaimal Singh is not physically among us, that is why I am telling you that He took over the karma of that person.” Even though the Masters carry the karmas of the people, still They do not let them know that They are carrying their karmas, They always remain very quiet; and very humbly and very graciously They take on the karmas.

Books are filled up with stories of how Masters in the physical form have helped Their disciples and there is a lot more which I could say, but since our time is over, I think that whatever I have said we should try to understand from it.

1990 October: Until We Become Disciplined

Session Date: November 27, 1988

This question and answer session was given November 27, 1988.

QUESTION: Master, what should be the behavior of the leader of the Satsang or in a particular area with those people who go for the first time to the ashram?

SANT JI: It is a very good question and it is very good for all the Satsangis to understand.

First of all the thing we should understand the most is that the group leader is the representative of the Master; he is a person upon whom the Master has showered a lot of grace. The group leader himself should act, and he should make other people act, in a way which pleases the Master. Master likes the discipline, so it is very important for the group leader, as well as the people who come with him, to be in the discipline.

I will tell you something about the format of the army which will make it easier for you to understand how it works. Usually ten people form a section in the army and combining many sections they form a platoon. Only that person gets charge of a section who has achieved a very special place in the eyes of the commanding officer, and in the same way, only that person becomes the leader of a platoon who knows about the rules and regulations and who knows what the platoon is required to do. So only those kinds of people become either the section officers or the platoon officers.

In the army the group leader does not issue any orders to the people; it is always the commanding officer who gives orders. Whatever orders the group leader receives from the commanding officer, he just conveys that to the people. People carry out sincerely and wholeheartedly the orders given to them by the group leaders and whenever anyone is considered for a promotion the group leader is always asked about that person.

In the same way, in Sat Mat we are also taught the discipline. The Master makes His Sangat into different groups and the group leaders are appointed. He tells us, "He is your group leader; you do the Satsang with him. He will be conveying my orders and my wishes to you."

A wise group leader does not impose any of his own thoughts on the Sangat. He does not give any orders to the Sangat from his own side; he only conveys the wishes and the instructions of the Master. Also, a good group leader does not merely tell us to meditate, instead first he himself meditates and becomes an example for others and then he inspires others to meditate. He practices the Path himself and he tells us about the benefit of doing the meditation of Naam.

The same thing applies to keeping the diary: Master Kirpal Singh invented the form of the diary and He inspired us to keep the diary because the diary is the only means of making us understand our faults and it is the only way of keeping ourselves in the discipline.

As at the time of Initiation the new initiates are told the good things about keeping the diary and how they have to keep the diary, in the same way, when any new initiate goes to the ashram he should be told by the group leader how he has to behave at the ashram and how he has to attend the Satsang. It becomes the responsibility of the group leader to inform the new initiate about every activity.

Until we become disciplined we cannot progress in the meditation. We have to make a wise schedule of our day-to-day life in which we divide the time which is available to us. We should know at what time we need to get up, at what time we have to go to Satsang, at what time we must sit in meditation, and on what day we have to go to the ashram to attend the Satsang. Unless we do all those things very carefully, we cannot progress in the Path.

As in the army, the group leader enjoys the special privileges from the commanding officer; whenever anyone is considered for the promotion, the group leader is consulted and he gets a lot of attention from the commanding officer. In the same way, the group leaders who maintain discipline and who perform their work correctly also enjoy the special grace from the Master.

Master showers a lot of grace on that group leader who himself maintains the discipline and does the meditation wholeheartedly because it is through him that Master distributes His grace to the other dear ones in the Sangat.

You know that in every ashram we have to set up some regulations, some codes of maintaining the discipline, such as how it is very important for us to maintain silence in the ashram. Even when we are doing things other than meditation, we should be doing the Simran and not disturbing the peace of the ashram. And also when we are going to get food, and when we go to eat the food, we know how we have to respect the food and not waste it, because the food which is prepared in the langar of the Master carries a lot of grace of the Master.

Another important thing which is needed in the ashram is seva. The group leaders should inform the dear ones what seva needs to be done, what things are needed at the ashram and how the dear ones can come and participate in the seva there.

You know that the group leader who runs the ashram has a very big responsibility on him, because only by his efforts can the sangat attend the programs of Satsangs and meditation at the ashram. The sangat can benefit from the ashram and the sangat can meditate at the ashram only if some things are prepared there for them. Another main thing is that the group leader should always be careful with ego. He should not become egotistic, because many loving, innocent, dear souls come to the ashram. They respect him a lot, they fall at his feet, etc., but the group leader should not get puffed up with that kind of respect and appreciation which he may get from the dear ones. He should always remain humble within and he should not get upset with the people unnecessarily if he has the habit of doing that.

It has always been seen that the loving, innocent, dear Satsangis go to the group leader and they respect him a lot, they praise him a lot. They are very humble and they sing the praises of the group leader, but the group leader does not appreciate that. Instead of having humility, he gets caught up in the ego, so he loses all the meditation he has. Those dear ones who are humble, those who do the seva, and those who do the meditation, those who sing the praises of the group leader, they definitely get the meditation of the group leader; but the group leader is left with nothing but egoism.

So all the group leaders as well as all the Satsangis should stand with all their strength like brave soldiers. What is the thing which can give them strength? The refuge of the Master can give them all the strength. To have faith in the Master, to always remain in the refuge of the Master, and to love the Master wholeheartedly are the three things which keep us in His strong refuge. So those dear ones who remain at the feet of the Master with all love and faith in Him and who do the meditation, they definitely progress in this Path. They also achieve the concentration and finally they become successful in this Path.

The Light of Ajaib

Dear Ones, the five dacoits of lust, anger, greed, attachment and egoism attack only those dear ones whom they see as lax or lazy, not prepared to fight with them. They only attack them when they see that they are not prepared and when they are not doing their work; but they do not dare to come near those who are always standing alert like brave soldiers.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj describes the condition of the brave warrior-like soul of the Master. He says that the warrior-soul of the Master is like a powerful wrestler who reaches all the heights of this world. He understands himself as the great wrestler of the Master and he always feels the hand of the Master on his back. Dear Ones, if you come to the eye center, you will see how the Master is there to help you; not even for one moment does the Master take His eyes from the disciple. He is always present there to help the disciple.

Even though the disciples have to fight with the five dacoits, those five passions, but still, since they have the hand of the Master on their back they do not have to worry because they have the strength and might of the Master with them.

There is a saying that we can know the goodness of a tree only when we eat its fruit. In the same way we can know about the glory of the Saint or the Master only when we go within and see His mission there with our own eyes. Only when we go within can we see how the glory of the Master works and how Master protects His disciples over there.

Dear Ones, I was a very fortunate one to get the Perfect Master, the Form of God, Almighty Lord Kirpal. It was due to His grace that I was able to reach His feet and I was able to do what He told me to do. And since I have lived a practical life, that is why whatever I see with my own eyes, I tell you only those things; I do not say anything from hearsay.

Even now there are many dear ones here who have been living with me for the past thirty-two years, and regarding my discipline, stretching out both my arms I can say, "Have you ever seen me not maintaining the discipline? Did you ever see me sleeping in the early hours of the day? Did you ever see me going to the cinemas? Did you ever see me wandering here and there in the streets?" I can even say to them, "Have you ever seen me running after food or condemning or criticizing the food?" There can be many defects in those men but I ask them, "Have you seen any defect in me?" I tell them, "Either you point out the defects in me or give me the opportunity so I can tell you your faults." Who can say this with complete confidence? Only one who has lived his life very strictly and only one who has maintained the discipline in his life.

When one breaks the discipline in his life it becomes very difficult for him to regain the discipline. Dear Ones, when once you smell the bad smell of the pleasures, once that bad smell reaches your brain, it becomes very difficult for you to maintain purity.

Saints have been given a very big responsibility by God Almighty. They have been told, "You go to the world, and to those who have the desire to come back home, and to those who really yearn for God Almighty, you should give them the Satsang, you should give them the Naam, and you should bring them back to the Real Home." And you know that no matter how many difficulties the Saints have to face, They always do Their job perfectly and with sincerity.

Satsangis also have a great responsibility to fulfill. It is their responsibility to convey the words of the Master to other people. They have to carry out the mission of the Master and make other people know about the Master. They should set a good example for the other people in the world; just by their way of living, it should be known that they are Satsangis, initiates of a Perfect Master.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that the Masters never fly, it is Their disciples who make Them fly. We should not be like those people who become a source of blame for their Master. Because you know that the Master is blamed if the dog is bad, in the same way we should not become bad, otherwise it will bring blame or a bad name to the Master. We should live our life in such a way that it will be impressive, so that other people should know that we are the disciples of a Perfect Master. The Satsangis and the group leaders all have this responsibility of glorifying the Name of their Master.

Kabir Sahib said, “The critic is worse than the dog who becomes the source of blame for his Master.”

There was a time when the disciples of Guru Gobind Singh were used as witnesses because people used to say that the disciples of Guru Gobind Singh never lied. In the same way, the initiates of Master Sawan Singh were also appreciated very much and it was said, “Those that go to the Feet of Master Sawan Singh are very true people and they never lie.”

When I go to Colombia, Europe, or any part of America, many dear ones who have maintained a good example, maintained a good discipline, and have set a good example for their families – their family members come to see me, although they are not initiated, and they all praise for those disciples. They realize how much good I have done for their children, they realize how good it is for them to be disciples and after that they never become an obstacle to keep their children from going to India.

There is an initiate in France, whose aunt came to see me in Bombay a couple of years ago. Even though she was not an initiate she told me that she was impressed. “You have done so much for my niece. Even though I am not an initiate because it is not in my karma yet to get the initiation. I appreciate what You have done for my niece.”

You know that when we praise someone’s children, how pleased and happy the parents are. The Masters have so much more love than thousands of worldly parents together, so you can imagine the happiness and pleasure of the Master when someone comes and praises His children.

There is a lot which can be said on this subject but I will not go into any more detail. The thing which I would like to tell all of you is that you should do your Bhajan and Simran wholeheartedly, maintaining the discipline – because one who maintains the discipline and does his Bhajan and Simran wholeheartedly definitely achieves success in his lifetime.

I am sorry, I forgot that I was sitting here in India. I felt as if I was sitting in your country. [laughter]

1990 November: Give Up Two Things: Laziness and Hurry

Session Date: October 28, 1990

This question and answer session was given October 28, 1990, at Sant Bani Ashram, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Beloved Master, when I go to the different places where people are meditating, often I have found that some people feel like they are going to die, or their body starts trembling and they feel like all of a sudden they have become very stiff or sometimes they feel as if they're going to have a heart attack. Other people feel nauseous and feel very dizzy and they feel as though they're going to fall. So when this happens they open their eyes and when they lose their concentration then the whole experience finishes. I was wondering if the Master would like to comment, on what this is about and what it is like to die while living.

SANT JI: It is a general question and every Satsangi should think about it. Master Kirpal Singh always used to say that suppose a piece of silken cloth is thrown upon a thorny bush and if you try to take it off by using your force or by doing it all at once it is possible that that piece of silken cloth may get torn. But if you spend some time, and if you do it patiently, then you can easily remove that piece of silken cloth from the thorny bush. This is just a worldly example, the reality is that our soul is spread in every single cell of our body, not only in our body but also in the outside world – in the problems and disputes of our communities and the disputes of all other places. Wherever our connection is, wherever our contact is, our soul is spread everywhere. When we try to withdraw our soul from all the places where she is absorbed – if we try to do it all at once – then it is natural for us to feel that pain.

You read in the Anurag Sagar how once the souls were one with God Almighty, they were not different from Him, they were one with Him. And the souls were given to the Negative Power because the Negative Power did the devotion of God Almighty, and becoming pleased with his devotion God Almighty gave the souls to the Negative Power.

So when the souls were given to the Negative Power, when they left their Real Home and came down to the lower planes, they came to Banwar Gupha, they came to Par Braham and to the other lower planes and as they came down to the lower planes different covers started covering them. First of all when the souls came into the causal plane the causal cover engulfed them. And further on when they came down into the astral plane they had the astral cover on them. Furthermore, when the souls came down to the physical plane, they were covered by this physical covering.

So when the soul got covered with the physical cover and when she started seeing things outside she got involved in the outside things so much so that she forgot her reality, her origin, and she even lost her life. Our soul not only has these three covers which are covering her when we are living in this physical plane, also the Negative Power has created the five dacoits, the five passions. These five passions are attached to us and twenty-five prakrities or worldly essences which pull the soul downward are also attached to us. Rajagun, Tamogun and Satagun, these three gunas are also attached to us and all these things pull our soul downwards.

It is a practical experience of the Saints and that is why They tell Their dear children, if you try to withdraw your soul from all these powers which are pulling your soul downward, if you will apply all your force and try to do it all at once, your condition will become like the condition of that piece of silken cloth which is thrown upon a thorny bush and if you try to take it out using all our force it is possible that it may get torn. So we have to do it very gradually and we have to do it very lovingly, otherwise we will have the pain.

Our soul is spread into this world by doing the world's simran. Everyone in this world is doing the simran of the world: a clerk is doing the simran of his work, thinking of what he has completed today and what he has to do tomorrow. He always goes on doing the simran of his work. The housewives do the simran of their kitchen, of their household, of what they have cooked today and what they will cook tomorrow; they go on doing the simran of their home. In the same way, the farmers also go on doing the simran of their work, thinking of what they have to sow and what they have to harvest and what work they have to do on the farm.

Everyone in this world is attached to his own work and is always doing the simran of his work. Masters have given us one very easy way of forgetting the simran of the world, because They know that a crop which is affected by water can be cured only by water. So that is why They know that only the Simran can cut the other simran. That is why They have given us that Simran which They Themselves have practiced and which They Themselves have perfected. Behind the Simran given to us by the Perfect Master is His renunciation, His sacrifice, His meditation work. That is why when we do the Simran given to us by the Masters we also remember His form, because whenever you think of anything the image of that thing appears in front of you by itself. In the same way, when you do the Simran given to you by the Perfect Master the Form of that Master starts appearing in front of you like that.

The technique of doing the meditation is what has been explained to you at the time of the initiation. At the time of initiation it is very well explained how we have to keep our attention at the Eye Center and do the Simran lovingly and slowly. Our soul is spread all over our body and also it is spread everywhere beyond the body. So first of all, we have to keep our attention at the Eye Center and do the Simran slowly so that we may bring our attention, we may bring our soul, and concentrate it first of all in the body and then later on at the Eye Center. If we try to pull our soul right up using all our force we will definitely have pain, and it will be a very painful process. When you sit in the meditation keep your attention at the Eye Center and do the Simran slowly as you have been instructed at the time of initiation. All your attention – the remembrance of your brothers and sisters and all your relatives which is bothering you – first of all you will start forgetting them, and all your attention, all your soul, will first concentrate in your body from outside. When you start withdrawing your attention or your soul from within the body, first of all you feel the pain as if the ants are biting you in your legs. It is only because your attention is still spread in your body that you are feeling that. But gradually when you practice and perfect your Simran, when you withdraw completely from the body and bring your attention to the Eye Center you will not feel any pain and the person who is sitting next to you may not even know that you have withdrawn so far and that you are at the Eye Center.

Now regarding those dear ones who feel unconscious while meditating, or those who feel like their body has become stiff, and those who have all those problems in the meditation: what happens is that those people have not really done the meditation in their home. For many days they forget the Simran, they don't meditate regularly, and they don't have a schedule of meditation back in their home. But when they are in such a meeting, a Satsang where they see other people meditating, then they have this feeling of haste in their mind. They also want to catch up with the meditation and they want to meditate as much as the other people are doing. Since they have not done the meditation, and they are not in the habit of sitting for such long hours, when they try to withdraw all at once, using all their force, that is why they have all those problems. Everyone should increase the time of their meditation gradually and do their meditations regularly.

Swami Ji Maharaj has said that every Satsangi should give up two things. One is laziness, the other is hurry. It is because of the laziness that we do not meditate regularly every day. Whenever we come in the company of the dear ones who do the meditation, we have this feeling of hurry and we want to meditate a whole lot. Then looking at the other people meditating we even have a feeling of hurry – why doesn't our inner veil open and why are we not seeing all the inner things. We should give up that feeling also.

The Light of Ajaib

Many times when we are in the meditation retreats then, just to get the praise from the other people, we give more time, more than we can handle, in the meditation. You can understand this with the example of eating food. Suppose there is a person who has been eating very little every day, if some day he eats double the amount of food which he is used to, he will definitely become sick.

Kal has many tricks with which he deceives the souls. Many times, in order to get the praise from the other people, he makes us pretend to be that kind of devotee who sits for a long time. Sometimes such devotees put in more time in the meditation sittings when another meditator is going to come and see them, or even when the Master is going to come. Then in front of Him and in the group they pretend to be doing more meditation.

So when people put in more time than usual then they have all these problems and also sometimes some people are mentally sick but they are not aware of it. That is why when they sit in meditation, due to some kind of posture which they have taken their legs become numb, their body becomes numb, and for many hours they remain unconscious and they think that their soul had gone up, but that was not the case, it was because of their sickness. People who are mentally sick, or those who are physically sick, don't want to believe that they became sick or had pain in meditation only because of their regular sickness. Instead of realizing that it is because of their sickness that they have become like that, they say that it is because of the meditation that they became sick. It is my personal experience that if we do the meditation according to the principles of the Path, as we have been instructed at the time of our initiation, then our soul can withdraw from the body very easily and we can see the Master within. It is exactly like when you are having a dream and you are awakened by a noise or something happening outside – when you open your eyes, you don't remember the dream, you only see the thing which is in front of you. In the same way, if you do the meditation according to the instructions given to you at the time of initiation, if you do it gradually, your soul will very easily withdraw from your body and, without making any big effort, you will enjoy the inner bliss without remembering the pains and things. You can remain there as long as you want and you can easily come and go without feeling any pain.

This is what the Master's call being reborn or dying while living, when we withdraw behind our eyes, forgetting the thoughts of the world. Guru Nanak Sahib says, "The gurmukhs come and go without any obstacle. When we close our eyes we go up and when we open our eyes we come down." Such meditators remember God Almighty always. They keep their attention towards God Almighty even in the crowded places, even when They are moving around, even when They are talking to people. Such a meditator talks with people with his mouth, but in his heart he is always connected to God Almighty.

In the Sant Mat practices no disciple ever has a bitter experience. All the experiences in the practice of Sant Mat are sweet. Those who have bitter experiences, in fact, they do not do the meditation, they just pretend to be sitting in the meditation, looking at other people.

I first got to see such experiences in the time of Master Sawan Singh. Many women, as well as men, but mostly it was women who used to do these things. When they would sit in meditation with other people, some of them would be mentally sick or some of them would have some other sickness, and they would sit for three or four hours and then they would fall backwards. Other people would think, "her soul has gone up," and then they would start praising her and they would start bowing down to that person. So this would happen every day and that person who was falling backwards, would make it a routine to fall backwards in order to impress other people that her soul had gone up. But when new people saw that, they would get confused and they wondered why such a thing was happening. So Master Sawan Singh had given special instructions to the organizers of the Satsang that they should not allow such people to sit in the front rows of the Satsang, if they wanted they could go and sit in the back.

I have also seen that when Master Sawan Singh Ji would walk in front of the Sangat, many women would bow down at Master Sawan Singh's feet and at once they would fall backward as if their soul has gone up. Their other companions would cover their face so that the other people would not see whether that person had closed her eyes or not. And that person who was pretending as if her soul had gone up, on one side she would pretend that she had withdrawn from the body but on the other side she would also go on removing the flies from her body. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to feel very bad about such people.

I also got to see things like this in the time of Master Kirpal Singh. Whenever He used to come to our area and whenever people would do things like that He would also get upset.

Such a thing happened also in the Bangalore program. There was one old woman who became unconscious, but she had some problems at home and also she had some physical problems. Usually the people who pass out in meditation, or who become sick in meditation, are those people who have had problems in their homes or have physical problems. That women's family was worried and confused so they called me. I went there and saw her and I told them to give her some massage and after some time she would come back into the body. It was only because of her physical sickness and the problems she was having that she passed out in the meditation.

A similar thing happened at Sant Bani Ashram also, during the last tour. One person became unconscious. It was good that I was able to see her in time; I told the dear ones to take her to the hospital. She was taken to the hospital and then after some time she became all right. Even the doctors had to say that she had passed out because of her mental condition.

So I hope that the dear ones will remember, and meditate according to, the instructions given to them at the time of initiation. If they will meditate like that they will never have a bitter experience. Always remember the words of Master Kirpal who used to say, "You should give up hundreds of important works to attend the Satsang and you should sacrifice thousands of important works to sit in meditation." He also used to say that you should not feed your body until you have fed your soul with the food of meditation. I hope that all the dear ones will meditate regularly, with reference to the meditation instructions. Up until now of all those who have followed the instructions of the Master, no one has ever had any bitter experience. In the future also I hope that nobody will have any bitter experience if they do the meditation according to the instructions of the Master.

In the message which I have given to the dear ones about coming to India, which was published in Sant Bani Magazine,<sup>31</sup> I said that before you come on this trip you should prepare yourself for it. That means that you must be meditating regularly before coming on this trip. This is a fact: those dear ones who are regular in their meditations back in their homes, when they come well-prepared for this trip, they tell me about their progress in the Sound, and they tell me how they are able to see more Light. They do not have any physical problems; they do not have any difficulty in meditating over here. But when the dear ones who do not meditate regularly in their homes come on this trip, because they are not in the habit of sitting for such long hours, when they have to sit for longer hours either they become sick or their body aches because they have to sit more. And becoming sick they bother other people also.

1990 December: The Master's Grace is Equal for All the Souls

Session Date: February 24, 1985

This question & answer session was given on February 24, 1985, at Sant Bani Ashram, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Is Masters health better than it was a few months ago?

SANT JI: Yes, now my health is perfectly all right, it is all the grace of Supreme Father Kirpal. Thank you very much for asking me about my health.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, I know that many times you have spoken about love and respect in a marriage, I wonder if you would talk about the difference between love and respect, and attachment?

SANT JI: Love, respect, and attachment seem to be three different things but they are inter-connected with each other. You know that if we love someone, naturally we will have respect for that person, because unless we have respect for him, we cannot have love for him; and you know that the love will be developed in us for the person to whom we are attached.

In order to make married life like a heaven on earth all these three things are needed very badly.

QUESTION: Some dear ones, some initiates have left the Path and become weak. It's all in Masters hands, but is there anything we can do for someone?

SANT JI: If you are in contact with them you should give them the good advice that it is the first duty of every dear one to honestly follow the commandments of the Master and do the practices which the Masters have taught you; and it is good for them if they will do the meditation and be faithful to the Master. But I will tell you one thing: no matter if they have left the Master, the Master will never leave them.

In this context I have often related the story of Guru Gobind Singh's life. You know that Guru Gobind Singh had to take up arms because He was fighting the tyranny of the Mogul emperors. That is why He had to fight with the Mogul army. In those days the armies didn't fight with cannons or airplanes, they had to fight with swords, and the fight was a face-to-face battle. So when Guru Gobind Singh was in the fort of Anandpur Sahib, which was a very strong fort, the Mogul army had surrounded it thinking, "When the army's food is finished those people will leave the fort. They will come out and it will be very easy for us to kill them." Gradually the food was finished, so a group of disciples, who were from a place called Maja in Punjab, came to Guru Gobind Singh; they wanted to leave the fort right then. Before they came to Guru Gobind Singh, the dear ones from Maja had said, "This Master keeps on fighting with the people; why are we wasting our time and energy with Him? We have left our homes for His service, but what is He doing with our services? He is fighting with the people, and it is not good and worthwhile for us to stay here."

The other disciples told them that they should not leave the Master, because, "Guru Gobind Singh is not fighting for His own cause, He is fighting for mankind, and we should be with Him because we are His disciples." But you know that when a storm comes even big trees get uprooted, in the same way when the wave of mind comes even the great, faithful, devoted disciples also waver and their faith is also shaken.

So like that, those forty disciples from Maja had lost their faith in Guru Gobind Singh. They went to Guru Gobind Singh and told Him, "Master, now we do not want to be your disciples. We are not your disciples and you are not our Master; we are leaving you right now, and if you want we can even give it to you in writing." So Guru Gobind Singh told them, "Okay, I do not say that you are not my disciples. I will remain your Master, no matter if you don't call me as your Master. And if you want to leave me, here is a piece of paper, you write on it that you are not my disciples." So they wrote on the piece of paper, "You are not our Master; we are not your disciples," After that those people left the fort of Anandpur Sahib.

When they arrived at their homes, their wives asked about the well being of the Master. When the women learned that their husbands had left Guru Gobind Singh in the time of crisis, when Guru Gobind Singh needed them, they became very upset because they were also very devoted to Guru Gobind Singh. The clothing of the women in India is very different from the clothing of the men; the women wear special clothing which distinguishes them from the men. So those women said, "You wear our clothes, you wear the bangles, you do the household work, and we will go in your place to help Guru Gobind Singh fight with the Mogul army." When the men were taunted and blamed like that, they at once realized their mistake. They left their homes and went to the place where Guru Gobind Singh had been. In the meantime Guru Gobind Singh was forced to leave the fort of Anandpur Sahib and He had gone to another place in Punjab. So that group of forty people from Maja went to Guru Gobind Singh's new camp. As they were approaching His camp, Guru Gobind Singh was sitting at a very high place from where He could see everything, and about a mile away from Him those disciples were attacked by the Mogul army. In that battle most of them left the body; only two disciples Mata Baghu and Bhai Maha Singh were still in the body. But the forty men had fought so valiantly with the Mogul army that the Mogul army was afraid to proceed and they had to turn back. Guru Gobind Singh saw that battle. When it was over He went there, He wiped the blood of those disciples away and asked them, "Ask for anything and you will be given that."

Bhai Maha Singh said, "Master, I don't want anything of a worldly nature, I only want that you should mend our broken relationship; tear up that paper in which we wrote that You are not our Master." Guru Gobind Singh told them, "Look here, this is the paper on which you had written that you were not my disciples; but I did not write that you are not my disciples and I am not your Master. I have given you Initiation and I am responsible for you; I will always remain as your Master whether you call me your Master or not." Both of them realized their mistake and they said, "Master, we are convinced that You are our savior and our Master; and we will always remain Your disciples."

So the meaning of telling this story is that no matter if the disciple goes away from the Master, the Master will never leave the disciple. He may loosen the string, He may loosen the rope, with which the disciple has been connected to the Master but He will never let it go. When the right time comes, the Master will definitely pull that rope and He will definitely bring him back; because when the Master gives us Initiation, He does not make any mistakes. We get the Initiation because it has been decided for us in the Court of God that we should be given Initiation. It is not any kind of mistake which the Master has done in giving us the Initiation, and when He has given us the Initiation He becomes responsible for us.

The Light of Ajaib

Many times it happens that some disciples have to suffer a great amount of karmas, that is why they go away from the Path. By doing that they suffer more than they are supposed to suffer because they have left the support of the Master. So if you know of some dear one who has left the Path, who has become weak, and if you are in contact with him, it is good to give him good advice. You should lovingly tell him, “Master will not leave you no matter how far you run away from Him. And when the time comes, you will have to come back to the Master, because He has given you Initiation and He will take you back. He is responsible for you; so definitely, sooner or later, you will have to come back to the Master.”

Since Maha Singh had fought very bravely, Guru Gobind Singh was very pleased with him and He had told him, “Maha Singh, you have protected the honor of the whole Sangat of the Maja.”

You know that a Satsangi wanders away from the Path only when he obeys his mind and only when he goes in the bad company. His going in the bad company becomes the cause of his wandering here and there and going away from the Path. If he goes back in the good company, he can come back to the line, he can come back to the Path.

About twenty years ago there was an initiate of Baba Sawan Singh who fell into the bad company and started drinking wine and eating meat. You know that Masters have many different ways of pulling the soul back to the right Path. So once that initiate of Baba Sawan Singh was drinking wine with some other people; it happened in the village where I used to live. My house was not far from the main road, and I saw a group of people coming towards my place. They were all drinking and all of them were saying, “Today we should drink the wine from Swami.” I did not know who they were calling Swami; I learned later on that they were calling that Satsangi as a swami. So after they drank, they started arguing with each other about some something and finally they started fighting. They ended up beating that Satsangi. While they were beating the Satsangi, they even said, “He who did not become faithful to his Master, how can we expect that he would become faithful to us?” So in that condition they accused him of doing something, they gave him a beating, and after beating him they threw him down in front of my door.

I did not know who that person was, or what village he was from, I had never seen him before, but when he came back to his consciousness he repented and he started rubbing his nose against the ground. He said, “I am an initiate of Baba Sawan Singh and I fell into bad company. Whatever happened to me was supposed to happen because I deserve that kind of punishment.”

So I mean to say that many times, working in the other people also, Master brings the Satsangis who have fallen into bad company back to the Path. Those who have been initiated by the Perfect Master, sooner or later, they will definitely have to come back. There was an initiate of Baba Jaimal Singh who fell into bad company and started doing bad things. He went to such an extent that he even started criticizing Baba Jaimal Singh. When he criticized Baba Jaimal Singh, Baba Jaimal Singh did not mind but when he started criticizing Swami Ji Maharaj, Baba Jaimal Singh’s Master, Baba Jaimal Singh thought that it was better for him to leave the body. So Baba Jaimal Singh made him leave the body.

Saints suffer a lot when their initiates are given the lower bodies or when they are sent into the human body once again, because when the disciple is unhappy or suffering the Saint also suffers or remains unhappy. That is why Saints always are determined that their disciples should get the liberation in one lifetime. But it is the law of nature that those who do the bad deeds should be punished. So according to the law of nature, one who criticizes his Master gets the body of a leper. So that disciple of Baba Jaimal

Singh got the body of a leper in his next lifetime. In his next lifetime he was born in the village called Taiyuval in the district of Gurdaspur and later on he was brought to the leper home of Tarantaran.

Once when Baba Sawan Singh went to that town of Tarantaran, the dear ones had arranged for him to visit the leper home. They said, "The lepers suffer a lot and they never get the opportunity to have the darshan of the Master; and if by having the darshan of the Master that suffering could be removed, it would be very good." So they requested Baba Sawan Singh to visit that leper home and Baba Sawan Singh agreed. The dear ones also arranged for some sweets and some clothes to give to the lepers. When Baba Sawan Singh went there, all the lepers came to see him, one by one, and Master Sawan Singh gave them clothes and sweets. Master Sawan Singh went to the rooms of those who could not come to have His darshan, the ones who could not move. Out of all those lepers there was one leper who, when he came near Master Sawan Singh, was smiling. When he came near, Master Sawan Singh said, "Well, have you come now?" That dear one said, "Yes, Master, now I understand Your grace." When Master Sawan Singh went back to His ashram, Bibi Rajo, who used to cook His food, asked him, "Master, in the leper home I saw that many people came to have your darshan. Some lepers were looking straight into Your eyes, some people were not even looking at Your face, even though we told them to look in Your eyes but still they could not do it. You went to many different rooms and some people were very receptive and some were not, but I don't understand about that person who came laughing and smiling and to whom You said, 'Have you come now?' and he replied, 'Yes, now I understand Your grace.' Did you know that person before-hand? Who was he?" Then Master Sawan Singh told her the whole story of how he had been an initiate of Baba Jaimal Singh and how he had been sent into the body of a leper. Then Master Sawan Singh said, "Baba Jaimal ordered me to go there, because that initiate has suffered a lot and now Baba Jaimal Singh has ordered me to release him from that body and send him within."

So the meaning of saying this is that those who are initiated by the Masters, Masters definitely liberate them, if it is not possible for them to liberate them in one lifetime, definitely in the next lifetime they give them the liberation because they have given them the initiation. Even if the initiate falls into the bad company and goes away from the Master, even if he criticizes the Master, but still, since the Master has become responsible for his soul, He creates such conditions, such situations, in which the disciple has to come back to the Master.

Bibi Rajo belonged to a very noble family and just a short time after she got married she became a widow. She spent all her life cooking food for Baba Sawan Singh and after Master Sawan Singh left the body, she came to Master Kirpal Singh. Just a few months ago she left the body. I knew her very well and she told me this story when I met her for the first time.

So we should always abstain from the bad company and we should always remain in the good company, because those who waver from the Path, those who go away from the Master, the Negative Power also does not accept such souls. They do not get that kind of enjoyment, that kind of intoxication, in doing other kinds of rites and rituals, the outer practices, and the Negative Power also does not accept those who leave the Master. Those who go away from the Master always wander here and there; their condition becomes such that they are neither ducks nor swans. You should not think that those who have been initiated by the Master, Master will leave them. Master will never leave them, even if they fall into bad company and go away from the Master still Master will never leave them; sooner or later He will definitely bring them back.

QUESTION: This is not a very sweet question, Master, but it is something which has been bothering me for quite awhile. I don't dispute the teachings at all or I wouldn't be here, but after living with them for several years I find that the philosophy behind them is so grim that it's very hard for me to adopt a positive attitude toward the life process itself and as far as the world is concerned to take any delight in it. It seems a waste of time, I guess just because it's just a garbage heap, as Master Sawan Singh put it. As for human relations these are seen as simply a matter of give and take. . . . We were taught that everyone except the Master is basically out for himself and no matter how close we get to each other, but we are still always alone. These facts are incredibly alienating, and as for the personal perspective it's awfully discouraging to find ourselves failing all the time. Perfection is what is asked of us yet parts of us inevitably will remain a little bit despicable; because we can't stand these parts of ourselves, we often deny they are even there. At the same time avoiding interaction with others only serves to magnify our faults all the more. Instead we wall ourselves up in a little tower under the pretence that we are going within, and announce that the world is just a farce. If this is our condition, how can we go jolly as Master Kirpal asked us?

SANT JI: I have always said that when you ask a question, first you should be sure of what you are asking, and you should try to put it in simple words and it should be very easily put. Now this question I can respond to with a whole Satsang which is not possible right now, but still I will try to respond to some parts of this question.

We live a dry life only when we become the thief of meditation. The happiness or the peace which lies in the practices or the philosophy of Sant Mat is worth seeing and worth experiencing. It can be achieved only by doing the meditation.

If someone learns how to live a pure life, even if he does not go in the within, still he will find so much happiness in his own self that he will always like to remain pure.

It does not matter if one is a Satsangi or non-Satsangi, when we do not stop the desires of our mind, when we live with the desires of the mind, when we fulfill the desires of the mind, in the beginning they seem to give us some kind of happiness or peace, but later on they create a depression, a sadness, in our within, and when we never stop the desires of our mind and when we go on fulfilling the desires, sometimes they are fulfilled, sometimes they are not and in the end it only leaves us with depression and sadness.

I have often said that Sant Mat is the Path of self-improvement, In this Path we are taught how we have to abstain from the bad qualities, bad attitudes, and how we have to adopt good qualities within ourselves, and how by living, by doing the meditation, we have to rise above this world and the body. Also often I have said that up until now those who have studied Sant Mat, those who have practiced Sant Mat and gone within, they have never said that this is a false Path. After going within and seeing the things with their own eyes they are always become indebted to the Master. They have always said, "The Master is Almighty; He is the All-Owner of all Creation. It was only because of His grace that we were able to go within and we were able to see all the things." The real realization of Sant Mat comes only when the person goes within; outwardly we cannot understand and realize this Path. Just by talking or by reading about it we cannot get to the depth of this Path. Outwardly when we go to the satsangs, for some time we get the good impression of the teachings and we start believing in them, but when we don't go to the Satsang, when we don't meditate, then dryness is created and we start losing the faith in the teachings. But the real realization of the teachings, the real realization of the Path, comes only when the disciple goes within.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that every person has his own background of karmas and he becomes receptive according to that. He used to say that there are some parcels of land which are ready and as soon as you sow the seed in them the seed grows, but lands which are not prepared first need some work done on them and after they have been prepared, the seed grows. In the same way some souls are prepared, some are ready to become receptive to the grace or to the teachings of the Master, the others are not. But we should not become perturbed, we should not become afraid, we should not worry about anything. If we will remain in the Satsang, if we will continue to follow the teachings of the Master, if we will keep trying to obey the commandments of the Masters, sooner or later we will also get that happiness which the Masters talk about, we will also get the realization of the Path which we need.

Often I have said that it is worse to surrender than to be defeated by the mind; you should never surrender to your mind. When he creates the dry thoughts within you, you should not give up your meditation, you should meditate more on that day than the usual time.

Many times, out of hundreds of people who get the Initiation, some people report very high experiences, some people report normal experiences, and there are some people who need to be given another sitting; and out of those people still there are some people who even after being given a second sitting do not get any experience. You see that the grace of the Master is alike, is equal on all the souls but it all depends on their receptivity; it all depends upon the vessel of the dear one who is getting the Initiation. Master was showering grace equally on everyone but according to their receptivity the people were getting the experience at the time of Initiation.

Guru Nanak has given a very good example to make us understand this thing. He says, “There is a certain kind of lentil which is called modh; when that lentil is cooked, it does not accept any heat or any water and it does not cook, while the other lentils are cooked. You see that the one who is cooking those lentils puts equal amounts of water and is equally heating all the lentils but only a few lentils do not accept any heat or any water and that is why they are not cooked.”

In the same way the Master showers grace equally on all the disciples but the effect depends upon our receptivity, it all depends on our faith and devotion for the Master. Master showers grace on all the disciples and He does His job well: some disciples who do their job well, those who become receptive, they do their work, they come to the Eye Center and accept the grace of the Master; but the other people, who do not understand the responsibility of coming to the Eye Center – even though Master is showering His grace on them – still they cannot accept the grace because they have not reached the place where the Master is present and where the Master is showering grace on them.

You should do your part; you should understand your responsibility of reaching the Eye Center. It is like the responsibility of the student to go to school and then it is the responsibility of the teacher to teach him. In the same way, Eye Center is our school and it is our responsibility to reach there. If we reach the Eye Center and do not find our Master there, then we can complain that Master is not doing His job. But if you reach the Eye Center then you will see that the Master was waiting for you, much before you came there, and He will do His job. So we should do our job, we should reach the Eye Center, and then we will see how the Master is showering His grace on us.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Sant Ji, as You just said, Sant Mat is a Path of self-improvement and it has been my experience that You have been very quick to forgive us. Does it also follow that it is okay for us to forgive ourselves quickly and to realize that we are each doing the best that we can in any moment?

SANT JI: The happiness that you get from forgiving, you cannot get by taking the revenge. Since God has put a lot of forgiveness in the vessel of the Saints that is why They forgive us very easily. If we are making any mistake and if we are forgiving ourselves it does not mean that we can go on making those mistakes and go on forgiving our self. When you have realized that it was a mistake and you have forgiven yourself, when you realize your mistake, you should never do it again. If you will go on doing the mistakes and go on forgiving yourself it will go on like a never-ending cycle and that is not good.

The reality is that forgiveness is a boon given by Almighty God. He has given this boon only to His beloved children, only to His beloved Saints and when Saints forgive us They forget it right away and They get a lot of happiness.

In Rajasthan there is a saying that if you feed someone and at the same time if you tell him you are feeding him, that kind of feeding is of no good.

1991*1991 January: The Laughter of the Saints*Session Date: November 30, 1988

This question and answer session was given November 30, 1988, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village I6 PS, Rajasthan.

QUESTION: Master, I like it very much when You smile, when You laugh, and it fills me with a lot of affection and love when You are laughing or smiling. But I have one concern and that is because of something which Master Sawan said, that one should not laugh when the Master is laughing because we lose some of the grace that He is showering. So my question is: do You also say the same thing and does this only apply to the Satsang or does it apply to other circumstances also?

SANT JI: As far as the words of the Master are concerned, it is not a very easy thing to understand the words of the Master; in fact if we would understand the words of the Master we would achieve our goal.

He meant that when the Master is talking to someone we should pay all our attention to Him. Master Sawan Singh was very humorous in nature; many times He would even make jokes and laugh in front of the dear ones. If we were also laughing and taking our attention to some other thing, that means we were not listening to Him and not accepting the grace which He was giving to us. The way through which the Master gives us His grace is unique.

In those days in India there were not many looms to weave cloth. So most of the time the women used to make the thread using a spinning wheel and then they would weave the cloth by hand.

Master Sawan Singh Ji would often need cloth for mats [for the langar]. Many women would take the seva of working on the spinning wheel and making the thread and then weave the mats. So when quite a number of women got together to do that seva Master Sawan Singh would go there and He would sit among the women on a chair. He would talk with the women in the same way that the women talk with each other, and it was so humorous that people used to laugh a lot. The way He used to talk with the women was so humorous that nobody could control their laughter. The Masters have Their own way of showering grace upon the people; I don't think that those men or women who were present there and who witnessed those scenes could ever forget the grace of the Master which they received at that time.

Usually when the Master is making us happy through His talks and when He laughs and smiles in front of us then we people have the bad thoughts for Him. We think that the Master is just like us; He is also smiling and laughing like us; He is doing everything like us. This is because we have the mind and we do not know when the mind is going to make us fall down and in what trick he is going to rob us. That is why He always used to say that whenever you see the Master talking or laughing with anyone don't pay any attention to that. Just keep looking at the Master – don't even look at the person to whom He is talking – just go on having the darshan of the Master.

Once Master was resting after eating His lunch and some dear ones went there and they opened the door. Master got very upset and said, "Well, why don't you let me rest?" Some people took it badly, but there were some others who said, "How much grace and parshad we have got from the Master." Those dear ones who had so much faith in the Master were talking amongst themselves, one was saying that, "You see how pleased the Master was from within and how much grace and parshad He has given us?" A couple of days ago after one of the bhajan sessions I had said that if we want to tell our Master, “You are God; You are my Lord and I have fallen at Your feet. I have taken refuge at Your feet and You please shower grace on me” – If we go on telling Him things like that I don’t think He will like it, and we won’t even dare do that before Him.

But those who go within they have their own ways of expressing gratitude to the Master. They do it through their bhajans, through their shabds. A bhajan is such a thing in which you can express all your love and gratitude for the Master. You can sing a bhajan and, standing in front of Him, you can tell the Master these things, and He will be very pleased to hear that; He will not mind it at all. I got many opportunities to sing bhajans in front of my Master Kirpal Singh.

You may study the newly written bhajans and you will see how much humility the disciple who goes within has. Only that disciple calls the Master as the Form of God and he is the only one who falls at the feet of the Master with all humility.

Many dear ones among you people sing the bhajans just as if they were reading the poetry or singing a song; but there are other dear ones who sing the bhajans as if they were singing from their heart. At that time they have so much devotion and love on their faces.

I have often said that one does not enjoy weeping if the comforter is not standing next to him. Unless we make our Master stand in front of us and sing the bhajans we cannot enjoy singing the bhajans to Him. So while you sing the bhajan feel that He is standing in front of you and you are singing to Him and after understanding every single line of the bhajan then you should sing it with all your love.

Last year when Gurmel Singh came here, he told me about singing the bhajans. You know that Pathi Ji had been practicing bhajans very hard and people had been recording them and taking them to their homes. But Gurmel Singh told me that he found a difference in the singing which Pathi Ji had done for the recordings and the bhajans which he sang in front of me before the Satsangs start. Gurmel told me that there was a lot of difference in the singing of those bhajans.

Some Colombian dear ones had also mentioned this difference when they saw me in their interview in Colombia. And some other people have also felt the same thing. Even Pappu had told me about the difference in the singing of Pathi Ji, that there is a lot of difference now in the singing of Pathi Ji. You will also feel a difference if you hear the bhajans which Pappu sings in front of me after the morning meditation, and the bhajans he might have sung otherwise.

It is only the Master Who through the Satsang blesses us with all the happiness and the joy; and love is also created only by the Master. This is a very complicated thing, very hard to understand, but those who go within can understand it very easily. The same power works in the disciple and the Master; the only difference is that the power in the Master is manifested, whereas in the disciple the power is still sleeping.

Dear ones, don’t you think that a person who is wandering here and there getting kicked and knocked in the forest – sometimes he goes to a high place, sometimes he goes to a low place – he has become a homeless one and is suffering in pain – such is our condition. We are also wandering here and there, suffering so much pain, getting kicked and knocked. So if somehow we come to know about and we meet our Father, don’t you think that we will smile, laugh, and become happy looking at Him? One can express his joy only through the smiles and laughter; and the way of expressing sorrow is only by weeping. So when we meet our Father, when the disciple meets his Master, he cannot control his smiles and laughter. He becomes very happy; that is why he cannot do anything but laugh.

I am a person who was graciously shown the bones of the past lifetimes. Master said, "If you want I can even make you meet your parents of your past life because they are still alive." But I folded my hands to Him and said, "No, I do not want to meet them."

So do you think that one who has been shown so much by his Master and upon whom the Master has showered so much grace, will he not become happy? Will he not go on dancing in joy when he meets his Master? When the love of my soul, my beloved Master, would come to my ashram – He came many times – at that time I used to be like half mad. I would cry only when He would turn His feet away from me, because I would read His mind and I would know that now He is going to leave, so at that time I would weep also. And you know that when He left this physical world, at that time my weeping was such that it became very famous; I wept so much in His separation. As I said the other day, when the Master leaves the physical world it is such a loss for the disciple which can never be repaired.

I am not the only one whose condition was like this, all the true devotees of the Masters have had this condition, have gone through all these sufferings. Kabir Sahib said, "If one does not become happy looking at the Master coming, and if one does not cry looking at the Master going, how can such a disciple achieve his goal?"

I have often said that I received a great amount of love from my mother. Even though she gave birth to many other children, still the way she took care of me, and the way she gave me love, not even hundreds of mothers together could give such love to their children. I have also said that I am sorry that I could not fulfill the worldly desire which my mother had. She wanted me to get married but I could not do that. It was my mother's desire, not mine.

I promised her that if I could not control my mind, if I could not control myself, then I would definitely get married. "Since I drank your milk, I will not defame your milk; I will never commit an adultery."

Well, so we were talking about the love of the Master, the smiles and laughter of the Master, and I was telling you about my own Master. Often I have said that I used to read one part of the couplet to Him, when either He had to go, or I had to go away from Him, I would read just one part of the couplet and He would finish it. I would say, "One should not love a foreigner even if he is worth millions." I would say that now I have come to realize that it is not a good thing to love the foreigner even if he is very valuable and very loving "because the foreigner always has to go back to his home." So Master would then complete that couplet by saying, "In a way a foreigner is better because whenever you remember Him, you weep in His separation." It was His grace and His greatness only that whenever He had to say goodbye to me He would stand at the door as long as I would remain in sight.

Dear ones, I have always been very frank and very open minded, whatever would come into my mind, I would not hesitate in saying that to the people, and even now I have this quality; I always say the things which come into my mind. Even now in my frankness and boldness I say this to my Master: I did not do the devotion to become the Master or to do the work which I am doing now. I did the devotion of God only because I heard that God Almighty comes in the control of those who do His devotion and then they can do whatever they want with Him. As the child is dear to the mother, in the same way, the devotees are dear to God Almighty. I just wanted to become one of the dear ones of God, that is why I did the devotion.

The Light of Ajaib

I did not have any idea of the seva which I am doing now when I was doing the devotion. I was very innocent and I did not know what was going to happen; and I was not expecting anything like what I have to do now, when I was doing the devotion. All the things which I would never have done and which I never did when I was doing the devotion, now I have to do all those things to please the people. I had never looked into the eyes of anyone and I had never allowed anyone to look into my eyes. I never allowed anyone to call me Baba but now I have to allow all those things to happen and I have now become the Baba for the whole world.

So only He knows which work has to be taken from which person. Many times I felt much embarrassed doing all these things, because I never wanted to do this but now I have to do this. But those dear ones who do the meditation and who have been given this job to do, they work wholeheartedly. When you meet someone who is there to help you without charging anything for it, don't you think you will smile and you will become happy when you meet that person?

Dear ones, I have seen the last days of Master Sawan Singh and I got the opportunity of seeing Master Kirpal Singh a lot also. There were other people who wanted to put on the turban of those Masters, even when the Masters were still alive, because they were fond of becoming the successor, they were fond of gadhis,<sup>32</sup> etc. But there were those who even took off their turbans and who did not want to become any successor or anything like that, even though they were offered. There were those who were running after the property and things of the Master, and there were other people who had even left their own house at the place of the Master. If you ask the real lover of the Master, if you offer him any amount of the wealth of this world, and if you tell him, "You will get all the riches of all the oceans and all the earth. What do you want? Do you want all this wealth or the love of the Master?" He would say, "No, no, I do not want any of this because it is just like dust and I need only the love of the Master." Who can say that? Only he who has realized the love of the Master, otherwise the worldly people don't have any idea, and they will always go for the other things.

No one has as much love as the love which the true disciple of the Master has. Once in Ganganagar one Mahatma came and he was wearing a lot of gold. Even the chair on which he was sitting had a lot of gold on it. I went to see him and Mastana Ji, the intoxicated disciple of Baba Sawan Singh, also went there. You know when two people of the same Path meet they feel much happiness. So when he met me we both became very happy.

In the evening when Mastana Ji had his sangat gathered He made me stand in front of the sangat and He asked me to tell the sangat about the beauty of Master Sawan Singh. His sangat was new and they had not seen Master Sawan Singh and since I had seen Master Sawan Singh that is why very often He asked me to speak about Master Sawan Singh to His sangat.

So I told them how beautiful Master Sawan Singh was, how His Face was full of the beauty, whenever He would smile, whenever He would laugh, it would feel as if the flowers were coming out through His mouth, He was so beautiful. Mastana Ji asked about the Mahatma I had seen in Ganganagar, "Was He anywhere near Master Sawan Singh? Was He anywhere near the beauty of Master Sawan Singh?" I told Him, "I do not criticize any Mahatma, but I can say that Master Sawan Singh was an example of His own Self and that Mahatma was not even as good as the dirt that comes out of the nose of Master Sawan Singh.”

Mahatma Chattardas was an Initiate of Baba Sawan Singh and he was a very famous poet of the Urdu language. Master Sawan Singh used to give opportunities to such poets to come up front and sing their poetry in front of the people. So Mahatma Chattardas recited his poetry in which he said, “You are our very old friend, and now we have recognized You, and now we have embraced You.” and he went on saying things like that. It was very pleasing to Master Sawan Singh and He was smiling and laughing. After that He invited another poet who had only one eye. He was one-eyed, but usually he would wear dark glasses so that no one would know that he had only one eye. But on that day he removed his glasses. And when Master Sawan Singh was looking at him, He said, “What happened to your other eye?”

He replied, “Well, Master always in the Satsang You say that we should become one-eyed, that we should close our two eyes and open one single eye in the within. So now this is only one eye and since You said to make one eye that is why I have made one eye.” So hearing all this Master Sawan Singh and everyone in the sangat laughed very much. Do you think that those people who were sitting there could have controlled their laughter after hearing such a humorous thing? Even now whenever I remember that incident, whether I am alone or even if I am traveling in a train, I cannot control my laughter.

1991 February: The Limitless Gift

Session Date: November 28, 1990

This talk was given November 28, 1990, at Sant Bani Ashram, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, I have always had this question and every time I read the Anurag Sagar<sup>33</sup> I think about this. It says that in the beginning of creation Sat Purush gave only a few souls to Kal in order to start his own creation. So my question is: where did all these other souls come from if only a few souls were given to Kal in the beginning?

SANT JI: It is a very good question. The book Anurag Sagar by Kabir is a very good book; it's worth reading and understanding. Kabir was the incarnation of Sat Purush, He was the first Saint Who came in the human form, and He never went below the human body. By reading His book, Anurag Sagar, and by hearing the experience of those Mahatmas who have gone within and who have seen Him, we learn the reality of the glory of Kabir Sahib. Whenever Kabir Sahib came into this world, He never had to spend the imprisonment of nine or ten months in the womb of the mother. Whenever He came into this world, He was born Himself; He was enlightened and He was illuminated Himself. He came in all the four ages, and whenever He came, He gave His recognition to the people. In Anurag Sagar, His Names in all the different ages are also written.

Dear ones, this is a worldly example: suppose some beggar goes to a poor person's door and asks for a donation, what can the poor person give to him? Even if the poor person gives that beggar whatever little he can afford to give for that beggar it will be a lot.

<sup>33</sup> The Ocean of Love: the Anurag Sagar of Kabir. Edited by Russell Perkins. Published by Sant Bani Ashram, 1982.

The Light of Ajaib

Suppose a poor beggar goes to a king, asking alms or a donation. The king may give a little bit of what he has, but for that beggar it will be too much, because you know that kings are very wealthy and a little bit from them can be a very big thing, a very big amount for the poor beggar.

So when the Negative Power did the devotion of Sat Purush and pleased Him, becoming a beggar he went to His door asking for the souls. Sat Purush, whom we call as the Limitless One – we do not know what His size is, how big He is, or how much He has. He is limitless; so how can we know how many souls Sat Purush gave to the Negative Power? We should always remember that He is the Limitless One and the duration given by a Limitless One is also limitless. We cannot comprehend it.

King Ranjeet Singh was born in a Sikh family and he was a very righteous king of the greater Punjab. There are many good stories about him. In one of the stories it is said that once a poor dancer-like person came to his court asking for some help. King Ranjeet Singh asked him his name. He replied, “My name is Karam Deen” – (‘Karam Deen’ means he who has a lot of grace from God.) “But, because of my condition I call myself ‘Karam Heen’” (he who does not have any grace from God).

King Ranjeet had only one eye, so he told him, “Okay, I will give you 5,000 rupees, but you give me one of your eyes.” He said, “God has given me only one eye, whereas He has given you two eyes. So you take 5,000 rupees from me and give me one eye.” Then that person became afraid because Ranjeet Singh was the king and whatever he wanted he could do that. So then he changed his words and he started showing all his humility, like beggars do, in front of the King. First he was finding fault with the grace of God, but later he realized that he should not do that when King Ranjeet Singh told him that he was a most fortunate one to whom God almighty had given a beautiful body with all the organs intact.

Later, after becoming impressed by his humility, King Ranjeet Singh gave him some things. Since King Ranjeet Singh was a king he was the owner of a very big area of the Punjab, so whatever little bit he gave to that person was so much that even now his descendants own a lot of property in the Punjab. And even in those days, even the big landlords did not have as much land and wealth as that person got from King Ranjeet Singh.

The treasure of Sat Purush is not a treasure which will end. It may seem to us that only a few souls were given, but when we go within, then we realize how vast is the treasure of Sat Purush. Bhai Nand Lal was a great meditator, a very good disciple of Guru Gobind Singh. Usually, since we want a lot of darshan, we say, “What can we get from just a little bit of darshan from the Master?” Bhai Nand Lal said the same thing in his own words. He said, “O Master, on Your side it is the question of one glance, whereas from my side it is the question of my life.”

Guru Nanak Dev also asked His Master to give Him a little bit of darshan. Dear Ones, Guru is the Power. The Master is that Power Who becomes the Master only after absorbing Himself in the Sat Purush. Sat Purush is limitless and so the Master is also limitless. We do not know what to ask from that Limitless One. We ask only for those things which cause pain and suffering for us. If we look into our hearts, we will see that out of millions and billions there would be only one person or very few people who ask only the Master from the Master. If we look into our hearts, we will get the answer to our question. Someone asks for the well-being of his daughter or son; another one asks for peace and happiness in the home; if someone is unemployed he asks for good employment; and if one gets employment and there is any difficulty there, he says that he is having a very hard time. So, Dear Ones, what are we asking from the Master?

The Light of Ajaib

As far as meditation is concerned, we may be sitting for a minute or two, and even that is almost by accident. But all day long we go on making the prayers and asking for worldly things from the Master. So such a disciple who asks the Master only for the Master is the most fortunate one.

The problems between the husband and wife are created by our own self, and many other problems in the world are also created by our self. But we throw all that burden on the Master. We spend less time in the meditation and more time in asking for the worldly things.

Akbar the Great was an emperor of India who had a lot of love for all the different communities and religions in India, and he had a very good minister whose name was Birbal. Once both of them had gone into the forest to hunt; they lost their way and came to a farmer's house. He welcomed them and tied their horses to a tree and offered them water. The king thought, "Maybe he does not know that I am the king of this country." So he wrote a chit (a small piece of paper) and gave it to him saying, "I am the king of this place, and whenever you need anything from me you can come to see me, and showing this chit you will be allowed in the court." That farmer replied, "What business can I have with you? I do my farming, and whatever tax revenue I am supposed to pay you, I pay. So I don't think that I will ever have any contact with you. If you need me any time, you are welcome to come and see me."

Seeing how confident that farmer was, Emperor Akbar the Great was very confused. He thought, "There are many people who will do anything to come close to me and I am giving him the liberty to come see me whenever he wants, and still he says that if I need anything from him, I should come and see him?"

Once it so happened that the king's wife got upset with him. He tried his best but he could not please her; she was still upset with him. When nothing worked, the king thought of the farmer who had said, "If you need me for anything you can come to me." He thought, "Why not take advantage of the seva of that farmer? Maybe he can help." So he sent his people to get the farmer. The farmer asked them what was the reason and they replied, "The king wants to see you because the queen has become upset and he wants you to come and help."

So the farmer took his son and also his nephew along with him. Usually farmers have plows, axes, and things like that, so whatever implements they had, they took those things with them and all three of them went to the palace. They asked the king, "What can we do for you?" He replied, "My wife has become upset, and if you will somehow please her, I will be grateful to you."

The farmer said, "Okay, I will do this, but there is one condition: when she comes to apologize to you, you should not give her the forgiveness until we tell you to do so."

Then the farmer went to the room of the queen. They first knocked at the door of the queen's room, but when the door did not open, the farmer asked his son and his nephew to break open that door. The queen was surprised and she came running, saying, "Why are you breaking the door? Who are you? And what do you want?" The farmer said, "We don't want anything," and at once instructed his son and nephew to measure the queen and ordered them to dig a grave for her. So she became frightened and began offering them things so they would stop, but they said, "No. We don't want anything. We just want to put you in the grave." So after giving her a hard time for a while, the farmer said, "All right, if you promise that you will not get upset with your king, then we can let you go." So she said, "Yes, I will never get upset with my husband." So they took her to the court of the king, where she asked for the king's forgiveness; he did not forgive her until he was told to do so by the farmer. Later on he forgave the queen and then she was no longer upset with him.

The Light of Ajaib

This is just a worldly story, but we can learn a very big lesson from this story: if we have confidence in our own self, if we have a heart made of iron – because as I have always said, in order to do the devotion of the Lord, we need to have a very big heart, a very solid heart, like a heart of iron – only then we can do the devotion of the Lord. Because that farmer had confidence in himself, that is why he turned down the offer of help from the king. Instead, he went to help the king. In the same way, if we have confidence for doing the devotion of the Lord, and if we make the effort, we can also become successful in the Path. We can also realize God.

Dear ones, the reality is that our thoughts are very small; our intellect is very limited. Our brains are also very small. We are very narrow-minded people and that is why we don't want to believe in the things which we do not understand. Since we are involved in and attached to the worldly things, that is why Masters give us worldly examples to make us understand the realities. Along with giving us the worldly examples, the Masters also touch our heart with Their astral intellect. They give us the Naam initiation and They create the yearning within us to do the devotion of Naam, and then our true search for God Almighty begins.

A very big responsibility for liberating the souls has been put on the shoulders of the Saints by Sat Purush. The Masters make the disciples contemplate and do the devotion of Sat Purush. They don't allow their disciples to remember or do the devotion of the deities who are lower than Sat Purush. The mission which the Masters have of teaching the disciples and connecting the souls to God Almighty – They don't have any personal interest in carrying out that mission. It is not a business which They have opened for Their own selves. Their only interest in and purpose of Their mission is that They want the souls, one way or another, to somehow realize God Almighty and go back to their Real Home.

All of you have got the initiation and all of you know how to do the meditation and go within. I hope that all of you will do the meditation because this problem or question can be answered in the true sense only after going within. Only after going within can we see how vast the treasure of Sat Purush is. Like the gift of a rich man does not end, in the same way the gift of Sat Purush is also Limitless. But we can know this for sure only after going within.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj has said, "Satguru is the name of the One who has known Sat Purush. In His company the disciples get liberated. Nanak sings His praises."

Dear ones, if we throw a very small needle made of iron in the water, it does not remain on the surface. It drowns. But if we put tons of iron in the company of wood, it will float on the surface of the water. In the same way, no matter how many bad deeds we have done, and no matter how bad we are, if we spend our life in the company of the Masters, if we do things according to the instructions of the Master, if we mold our lives according to the teachings of the Path, we can also get liberated.

I cannot sing the glory of my Beloved Master enough. I don't have those words through which I can sing His glory, because He has showered so much grace and mercy on this poor soul. Often I have said that in this Iron Age, to do the meditation is very difficult, but to take refuge at the Feet of the Master is easy.

1991 February: Love Does Not Ask for a Reward

Session Date: December 30, 1990

This question and answer session was given December 30, 1990, at Sant Bani Ashram, Rajasthan, India.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Master, when a disciple is trying to go within to see the Form of the Master inside in his meditation, and he can't see the Master inside but can only listen to the Sound and focus on the Eye Center, is it good for the disciple to try to visualize the Master's Form inside? Or should he wait until the Master feels he has progressed enough to show Himself inside by Himself?

SANT JI: It is a very good question and it is beneficial to all the Satsangis. The first thing is that when you make an effort then the love is created within you by itself. When you are making an effort lovingly, then your love attracts the love of the Master and the love for the Master is manifested within you. And when you are making an effort lovingly then you forget the time or the amount of effort you have put in, because love does not ask for a reward. Love knows only to do the work. So when you make an effort lovingly you do not even think of what you should be getting for those efforts which you are making, because love is such a thing which knows no bounds. It is like a seasonal river. When a seasonal river comes into existence, the floodwater in that river is so much that it does not know which path or course to take; it just goes on flowing. In the same way when the love of the Master is manifested within you it knows no bounds. It just goes on happening without seeking any reward and without remaining aware of the time or amount of effort you are making.

Love is such a power. In love there is such an attraction that even if you are loving someone on a worldly level you just need to remember that person and at once the form of that person will come into your mind by itself, whether he is tall or short, whether he is black or white. No matter what form he has, if you remember him lovingly, you start seeing his form in your within. The Shabd is present everywhere and it is a reality that He listens to the cry of the ant sooner than the cry of the elephant. He always responds to our pleas but we are not able to hear His response because, so far, we have not yet reached that point where we can listen to His answers.

Master Sawan Singh Ji laid a great emphasis on visualizing the Form of the Master while Master Kirpal Singh did not pay any attention to this. All the Saints have Their own ways of explaining the things and They have Their own ways of making Their disciples do things. He often used to say that we have to vacate the nine openings of the body by doing the Simran. When we bring our attention or soul to the Eye Center by doing the Simran we need the Dhyān or the contemplation on the Form of the Master. When we come to the Eye Center we do need something to hold on to there and if we have not developed our contemplation of the Master then our soul does not remain there. It slips down from there and goes somewhere else.

That is why it is very important for us to have the Dhyān or contemplation developed before we come to the Eye Center. This contemplation or remembrance of the Form of the Master can easily be practiced or developed before we sit in meditation, such as when we are sitting in the Satsang, in the presence of the Master, by looking at Him. And even when we are doing Simran during the day, when we are walking, talking, and doing other things, we should be remembering the Form of the Master. In that way we can develop this practice of remembering or concentrating on the Form of the Master.

If we have already developed this habit of remembering the Form of the Master, then when we come to the Eye Center by doing the Simran, we will not need to sit any longer trying to visualize the Form of the Master, because by that time we would have already developed the Dhyān or contemplation of the Form of the Master. Then our soul will not fall down from there because our soul will have the Form of the Master right there. But if we have not remembered the Form of the Master during the day and if we have not always thought of the Form of the Master when we are doing Simran, in other words, if we have not developed the contemplation of the Master, only then do we have to sit in meditation trying to visualize the Form of the Master and trying to develop our contemplation of the Form of the Master.

I will tell you what I have seen with my own eyes. Many times Master Sawan Singh would shower His grace on His disciples by handing out the chapatis to the dear ones. I have seen many dear ones who would take the chapatis in their hands which Master Sawan Singh would give to them. But even at the time when they would receive the chapati from Master Sawan Singh their attention would always be at the forehead of the Master. This is what is said in one of the new bhajans, “O Beloved Sawan, I have seen many beautiful forms, but none of those forms has resided in my eyes. O Beloved Sawan, Your Form is the only one which is in my eyes.”

I have seen this with my own eyes and I myself have practiced this. When Master Sawan Singh would give Satsang the dear ones would have such fixed attention that even if there was a noise or disturbance in the back they would never look back and they would never pay any attention to that disturbance. Their attention would always be on Master Sawan Singh. They were so attentive to Master Sawan Singh that they were not even aware which pathi was doing the singing. Even if Master Sawan Singh would talk to someone their attention would always be on Master Sawan Singh and they would not pay any attention to the person to whom He was talking. Usually after the Satsang the dear ones would not talk to each other. They would quietly leave for their homes or they would sit there and do more Simran or try to practice their remembrance of the beautiful Form of the Master. So you see that those who have developed so much contemplation of the Form of the Master do not need to sit down in the meditation and try to visualize the Form of the Master. Because when you are remembering the Form of the Master so much you always feel that the Master is accompanying you. When you are sleeping you feel He is sleeping with you and when you are awake you see His beautiful Form in front of you. Dear ones who have so much Dhyān or contemplation of the Form of the Master do not need to visualize the Form of the Master.

We people did not understand what Master Kirpal said about visualizing the Form of the Master. When He said that we don't have to visualize the Form of the Master that meant, as He used to say, “God is One Who comes to you by Himself.” He meant that when we will do the Simran which was given to us by our Beloved Master, then we will ourselves remember the Form of the Master who has given us that Simran.

In the beginning we might have some difficulty in keeping the Form of the Master at our Eye Center. Because in the beginning sometimes we remember the turban of the Master or the eyes of the Master or some part of the head or body of the Master. So sometimes in the beginning it is difficult for us to remember the full Form of the Master at the Eye Center. But if we go on practicing and remembering the Form of the Master and if we always go on keeping our attention on the Form of the Master, then practice makes a man perfect. By practice we become competent in anything we want to. So when we go on practicing then gradually we start remembering the full Form of the Master at the Eye Center. Right now we have not yet developed the quality of staying still at the Eye Center. That is why we do not always remember the Form of the Master at the Eye Center. But if we go on practicing, if we go on remembering the Form of the Master, gradually we can remember His Form all the time at our Eye Center.

Many dear ones who are not regular with their meditations, whenever such people sit in meditation for some time and their mind becomes still and they get a little bit of peace and happiness in the meditation, at once they get confused in going back and forth from remembering the Form of the Master to doing the Simran or trying to listen to the Sound Current. In that way they lose all the peace and happiness they have received during the meditation. So that is why I always say that before you sit in meditation you should repeat the Simran so that you can remember whose Simran you are doing. And when you do the Simran and remember the Master Who has given you the Simran, then the Form of that Master will come into your eyes and you will always remember Him. Guru Nanak Dev Ji Maharaj says the Form of the Sadh is the timeless one and it remains still within us by doing His Dhyana. Once Master Kirpal Singh Ji was doing some seva for Beloved Master Sawan Singh. He was giving Him some massage. Master Kirpal Singh asked Master Sawan Singh, "What is the difference between the Inner Form and the outer form of the Master." Master Sawan Singh Ji smiled and said, "Kirpal Singh, in the within also you will see the same Form that you are seeing outside. The only difference is that outside it is a physical form and inside it is the Divine Form, the Shabd Form." So dear ones the Master is the Shabd which has come into the human body.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj said, "God does not have any Form. He does not have any features. He does not have any outline. He does not have any color. He does not have any other form. He does not have any brothers. He does not have any sisters. He does not have any parents. He does not have any equals." Now the question is how to realize such a God Who does not have any form or outline. Guru Arjan Dev Ji said, "When we realized that He does not have any form or outline then we tried searching for Him in the Vedas, Shastras and all the holy scriptures. And all the holy scriptures said that God is the Formless One and He is the Indestructible One. Then we became sad thinking how to realize someone Who does not have any form, Who is never born and Who never dies." Then He says, "We went to the Saints and the Saints said, 'God is someone who does not have any form. He does not have any outline or features. He does not have any color.' But in whatever way the Saints describe the form of God Almighty, He is like that. Saints are the real yogis who have seen God Almighty and They are the only ones who can make you see God Almighty." So then Guru Arjan Dev Ji said, "When we did the remembrance of God Almighty according to the description given to us by the Saints and the Masters, those who have seen Him, then we understood where God is and how we can realize Him."

You know that ever since we came into this world we have been in the habit of seeing and remembering the forms, and we are in the habit of doing the simran of the outer things. Only because of our simran of the worldly things and the contemplation of the worldly things have we been coming into this world again and again. And the Saints know that just as a crop is destroyed by a lack of water, it can be revived only when enough water is supplied to it. In the same way a soul which is involved in doing the simran of the world can be liberated from this world only if that simran of the world is forgotten and only if that soul does the Simran of God. That is why Masters give us the Simran. They give us Their Dhyana because that is the only purpose of assuming the body. They have taken up this human body so that we may do the contemplation of Their body and remember Their beautiful form. And They give us the Simran so that we may forget the simran of the world and always remember God Almighty.

The dear ones who say that they hear the Sound but the Sound does not pull them up, or that they do not see the form of the Master, they also lack in doing the Simran. They do hear the Sound but they do not pay enough attention to doing the Simran. If they were doing the Simran, then by vacating the nine openings of the body, when they come to the Eye Center the faculty of seeing (which is called input) will get opened and along with hearing the Sound they would also see the inner things.

The Light of Ajaib

Many dear ones become disappointed when they are able to hear the Sound Current, very good sounds, but they are not able to see the Form of the Master. The reason for that is that those dear ones put a lot of effort into listening to the Sound Current but they do not pay much attention to doing the Simran. Because they are lacking in the Simran they do not see the Form of the Master. Their listening to the Sound Current is also correct because it is the Sound of the Master Who is calling from within, but if they would do the Simran also their Inner Eye will get opened and they would see the Form of the Master. Since they do not do enough Simran their soul does not come within the range of the Shabd and they are not pulled up. It is like the condition of the willful snakes. You know there are some snakes who with their will can attract their prey to themselves. They are very heavy and they cannot move easily to hunt their prey. So they desire some creature and that creature is attracted to them by itself. In the same way, when we will do enough Simran and when our soul comes within the range of the Shabd, then the Shabd itself will pull our soul up.

It is not as some dear ones think that they are not worthy of the grace of the Master or the Master does not want to give them the grace or they are not doing things right or it is not the appropriate time. That is not true, Dear Ones, because when you make the effort the Master is always waiting with both His hands full to shower grace upon you. But the thing is that when we are making the efforts at the same time we should also see how much effort we are making in doing the Simran. Because when we do not do enough Simran we do not come in the range of the Master and that is why we do not see all the things which we should be seeing. When the powerful Sound comes to you at the same time that you are doing Simran, and if you are rising above by doing the Simran, you can easily see the Form of the Master.

I have often told you that in the old days the Masters first used to give the Simran to their disciples. Once the disciple had developed and perfected the Simran (and by perfecting the Simran he would also perfect the contemplation or Dhyān of the Master), only after that when the disciple would come to the Eye Center by vacating the nine openings, would the Master give him the knowledge of the Shabd. It is the Shabd who has to pull the soul up and the liberation is only in the Naam or the Shabd. In that kind of system there was a problem that before the disciple would perfect his Dhyān either he would leave the body or the Master who had given him that Simran would leave the body and in that way the initiation of that disciple would remain incomplete. So in this age the Masters graciously give the Simran and the initiation into the Shabd, both at the same time, so that the disciples' initiation may become complete because their liberation lies only in the dhun atmak Naam. It was Kabir Sahib who showered special grace on the dear ones in this Iron Age and since then the Masters have been giving complete initiation.

Up until the time of Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj all the disciples were able to see the progress they were making in their meditation. They all could see where they stood in their meditation and how much they had progressed. But it so happened that once some Satsangis were staying with a family where a boy died and all the family members started weeping very badly and the Satsangis who were there could not stand their weeping, so using their meditation powers they brought the life back into that boy. When Guru Arjan Dev heard about that He became very upset, because you know that this is not our Path. Whatever progress we make or whatever powers we get by doing meditation we are not supposed to use them. As I said yesterday performing miracles is a very bad karma which one can do in this Iron Age and it is one of the very strongest karmas. Satsangis are told not to use their supernatural powers because our Path is such that we do not have to get involved in the supernatural powers. We do not have to show off the miracles. The Master has come into this world to save us from all these powers and miracles and

He has to take us to our Real Home. So when Guru Arjan Dev learned that He became very upset with those Satsangis and since then a veil has been thrown upon the Satsangis' progress. And that is why we do not know where we stand and how much progress we have made.

But to devotees who are very strong at heart and for whom the Master is sure that they will not waste their meditations in performing the miracles or in showing off to the world, Master allows them to see how much progress they have made; they are allowed to see where they stand in their meditation.

Whereas for other people, even though they meditate and make progress, because Master is not sure about them, and it is likely that they might misuse their powers if they knew about them, that is why Master has put this veil so they do not know how much progress they have made in the meditation.

Dear Ones, we know that even on a worldly level, if some parents have a good son they give him everything they have and they praise their son. But if the parents have a son who is not very good, they always keep things hidden from him. We know how the parents are worried for those children who do not understand or attend to their responsibilities at home.

When I go on the tours to America or South America or any other countries many parents come to meet me. There are some people whose children are very responsible and others who are not. So the parents whose children are very responsible or who have changed after seeing me or after coming to the Satsang, they come to see me lovingly and only to express their gratitude. They tell me, "We have come to see you because you had such a good influence over our child that he has changed and now he is more responsible." The parents of those children who do not change, who do not become responsible tell me, "Your teachings, Your Path is all right, we believe in that, but You should tell this child that he should understand his responsibility toward the home and he should be a responsible person."

Kabir Sahib has said the master is blamed if a dog is bad. Masters always make efforts and work very hard to tell the disciples that they should improve and become responsible. But if they do not improve what can the Master do? Masters always say you should improve so much, you should become so responsible, that people around you will know that you are going to such a Master. The change in you should become obvious to the people around you, so that they may know that you go to such a Master.

One part of the question was that maybe the Master does not understand the disciple as the worthy one or maybe it is not the appropriate time for the Master to give His grace. Dear Ones, that is not true. Master has given us the initiation only because we were worthy of it and He has given us His own life-impulse in the initiation. When the Satsangi goes within only then does he see with his own eyes how much the Master has struggled for him and how much hardship the Master has gone through for him.

Dear Ones, the Master has come to give and He is always willing to give, and He is giving us all His grace. For twenty-six years Master Kirpal Singh Ji went on saying that the Master has come to give us His grace and there is no problem with the giver. All the problems are with the receivers. Now it all depends on what kind of vessels we have made for His grace and how receptive we are to Him. As far as He is concerned, even now, even after going back to Sach Khand, He has not forgotten us. He is still giving us all His grace. But the question is how much are we receptive to His grace. So we should never doubt the grace of the Master. We should never think that He will not give. Dear Ones, He has come only to give us His grace.

1991 March: The Ambassador of God

Session Date: October 30, 1983

This talk was given October 30, 1983, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: I read in The Light of Kirpal that if before a person is initiated one of their close family members dies, then through their Initiation that person who died gets benefited. Can you speak on that?

SANT JI: I have said this thing very often in my Satsangs that if we are really searching for God and if we really have faith in the Master then definitely a member of our family who has left the body, even before we got Initiated will be under the protection of the Master. That person or that soul will not go below the human body; that soul will definitely get the human birth in which she will get the Naam Initiation because liberation comes only by meditating on Naam.

In this answer a question may rise up that when Master is going to protect the soul even without giving Initiation then what is the use of taking the Naam Initiation from Him? Masters explain that it is just like getting a passport or visa to enter a foreign country. Suppose you want to go to America, you will have to contact the American ambassador in your county and apply for a visa. That ambassador is appointed by the government of America and if your application meets with their approval, with their laws, rules, and regulations then the ambassador will give you the visa and you will have no problem entering into America. And if in America you have some friends and relatives they will come to the airport to receive you and they will be very happy to see you. In the same way Saints and Mahatmas are like ambassadors appointed for this plane. They do not become ambassadors by Themselves, They are appointed by God Himself. They are sent into this world by God to take those who want to go back to the Real Home. So when we go to Them and get the Naam Initiation from Them, They not only sign the document, They not only give us the visa to enter Sach Khand, but They also teach us how to go to Sach Khand.

And when, according to Their instructions, we go to Sach Khand, there we find the souls who have already reached there waiting to welcome us. They welcome us with much joy and happiness and then they tell us, "He Who gave us the visa, He Who gave us the Naam Initiation, was not only the ambassador of God, He was God Himself." Only after reaching Sach Khand do we realize that the Master who gave us Initiation is the Owner of the whole Creation and only because of His grace have we been able to return to our Real Home.

In Sach Khand they sing the songs of welcome and they welcome us. Just as it is a tradition in India, when a couple gets married, when the bride goes into her in-laws home, they welcome her by singing the benedictions and welcome song. Similarly, after getting the Naam Initiation and meditating, when we reach Sach Khand, the souls who are already there welcome us by singing all the songs. Guru Nanak Sahib also says, "Over there the souls welcome the soul singing the benedictions and welcome songs and then the soul realizes that nobody else could have brought her to the Real Home. It was only God Almighty Who went to the physical plane assuming the body of a Mahatma and Who gave the Naam Initiation. Only because of His grace, only because of the grace of the Real Husband was she able to return to her Real Home. So that is why even though the Master showers grace on us and He brings us under His protection, still, unless we get the Naam Initiation from Him we cannot return to our real home Sach Khand.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Master, You once told a story about a dog that was injured in the back legs and You took care of it?

SANT JI: I always request the dear ones to read Sant Bani Magazine with full attention and thoroughly because when you read the magazine thoroughly you come across many stories like that.

Anyway since you have asked, lovingly I will tell you the story. It happened that there was a pet dog of some family near my ashram who was a very good dog and once he went to somebody else's house where he was shot.

So he was injured very badly in the back part of his body; both his legs were broken so that he could not walk or move. When the family, whose pet dog he was, learned about that they did not pay any attention to his injury because they thought, "Now he is not going to be of any use to us." So they just left him on the street without even giving him a cup of water to drink.

It was very hot and I think he stayed there for the whole day without any water or any medical treatment. In the evening, when it got dark, he got the inspiration to come near my ashram, because the place where he was thrown was about three hundred yards away from my ashram. Since he could not walk he started pulling himself; his front two feet were working so he started pushing and pulling himself towards the ashram and he broke down about a hundred yards from my ashram and it became dark.

In those days one dear one used to come see me every evening in my ashram, so as he was coming, he saw a dog lying there and there was no trace of any man. It was only a dog there so he came and he told me about that injured dog. I went to see if any person had left the dog there but I could find no trace of any man. I figured out that both the rear legs of the dog were broken that is why he could not walk. So then I took that dog into my ashram. First I brought a pan of water and I put his head in the water and it took him about two minutes to realize that he was near the water. He started to drink the water, but I did not let him drink a lot of water because it was not good for him. Then I gave him some milk and clarified butter, because in the villages where doctors are not available whenever anyone gets injured the first thing the villagers give him is milk and ghee (clarified butter) to give him a lot of strength. So we gave him the milk and clarified butter which brought some strength to him and then we removed the bullets and made the dressings etc. After that for three months he stayed with us and we gave him a lot of good nourishing food and he became very strong. But since both his rear legs were broken he could not walk by himself. He was so smart that whenever he had to go out for attending the call of nature, since he could not move his body himself, he would always cry or make some kind of sign saying that now he wants to go out and I would always help him to go out and he never made the place dirty.

When the people who used to own that dog found out that the dog was with me, they started making fun of me saying, "He is a mad man; he does not have any other work to do that is why he is taking care of such a useless creature."

Why did I take care of that dog? I took care of that dog because many times in the Satsangs I had heard from Baba Sawan Singh a story about Rabia Basri, a Muslim Saint. Once when she was going on a pilgrimage to Mecca, on the way she found a dog whose four feet were broken and that dog was crying for the water. There was a well nearby but there was no rope or anything by which Rabia Basri could bring up the water. So she cut off her hair and made something like a rope and using some leaves of a nearby tree as a bucket, she brought some water and gave the water to the dog and in that way she saved the dog's life.

It is said that Mecca, which was seventy miles away from where this happened, came all the way to Rabia Basri because she had saved the life of God's creature. When people went to Mecca they could not find it there and they started wondering where Mecca had gone. It is said that in the sky there was a sound saying, "Now I am near Rabia Basri because she has saved one of my creatures. I reside in all men and animals; I am pleased with her and that is why I have gone to Rabia Basri to welcome her."

Because I had heard that story from Baba Sawan Singh many times I was inspired to take care of that dog. I understood that we can get the opportunity of serving God's creatures only if we have good fortune. So I always considered myself as the most fortunate one when I was taking care of that dog.

The real kindness comes within us only if we are the fortunate ones. Since my childhood this element of kindness, forgiveness, and humility has been present within me and I think that this is a gift of God.

This is another incident from when I was very young. Once a husband and wife were passing through my village on the way to their own village. On the way the buffalo which they were leading delivered a baby calf. They did not have anybody else to help them with the delivery and they wanted to take the calf with them to their home. I was present there and they asked me if I could find anyone who could help them to take the calf to their village which was about one and a half miles away. I said, "Well you cannot find anyone else better than me, I am ready to help you." They did not know me.

They did not know whose son I was and because they wanted someone to help them they did not even care to know who I was. So they allowed me to carry their calf which was heavy and dirty also. But I did not mind, I took the calf to their home and when they wanted to give me money for that I told them, "No, I won't accept any money because I did not do this work for money, I was sent by God to help you."

My father was very rich and he was well known in that area, so when they learned that I was Lao Singh's son they became very afraid and they brought some other people with them to my father to apologize. They said, "We did not know that he was your son otherwise we would not have allowed him to do this work." I did not say anything and they apologized a lot until I told them, "There is no need to worry. I did not do this work for money or anything like that, I did it only because I had mercy and kindness for the calf."

About thirty years ago in this area there were no orchards and there were no good roads; not many people used to live here since there was not enough water. But ever since the canals came here people started coming here to live, and nowadays there are roads and everything. But about thirty years ago when I used to live here there was no good motorable road from here to Kunichuk ashram and on to Gunganagar which was about six miles further. So once in the early morning hours of the winter months I was going to Gunganagar. We always had to walk up to Gunganagar, a distance of six miles, and since I was all wrapped up with a blanket the people could not see who I was. One person had to carry about thirty kilos of grain to Gunganagar to sell and since he was old he could not carry that whole load himself, so he asked me if I would help him. Even though he knew me personally he did not recognize me since I was wrapped up in the blanket at that time. I said, "Okay, I will take your load." I took that load all the way to Gunganagar and when we reached Gunganagar then he realized who I was. Then he felt very bad, thinking that he had done a grave sin. Afterwards he started coming to the ashram and later on he became an initiate. On the fourth of last month I went to that village where that person lived to give the Satsang; that person is still alive and he still repents that he made me carry his burden. I told him again this time also, "There is no need to repent because that was not in my control. I did it because of the element of humility and kindness which I have had ever since my childhood and I did not mind doing that." I do not say, "I did this thing." I do not have any I-hood in this thing, because I say that this thing was done by me only because God had blessed me with kindness and mercy for the people.

QUESTION: Is the ability to deeply and truly love the Masters physical form something that can be developed or is that something given by God?

SANT JI: In the beginning we have to work for this; we have to develop outer faith in the Master. When our outer faith is developed then Master Himself blesses us with the love for Him and He connects us with Him in such a way that even if we try hard to break that connection we are not able to do that. But in the beginning because we are slaves of the mind and we have the effect of our past deeds on us we need to struggle a lot with our mind regarding having the faith in the Master. But when we win this battle with the mind and we start having faith in the Master, then Master Himself gives us this ability of loving and having faith in Him.

Even if we try we cannot break our connection with Him because He is always protecting us and He never allows us to go away from Him. But in the beginning we have to work for it.

The mothers who have nursed their babies or the fathers who have seen this know that in the beginning it is difficult for the baby to reach for their mother's breast. The baby does not know that the milk is near, that it is the nourishing thing for him and that God has put the milk for him there. So the mother has to bring the baby near to get the milk. But later on when the baby starts finding the delicious taste of the milk, then even if the mother does not want to nurse the baby, the baby will come there and at once want to nurse. So in the beginning we have to work for everything.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji writes about the time when the love is manifested, He says, "God has manifested such a love within me that I cannot break that love even if I try. I cannot leave it even if I try."

QUESTION: When I am doing Simran I have difficulty with the first Word and I want to repeat it several times before I go on with the other ones, is that all right?

SANT JI: The meaning of my repeating the Simran to every group is this, that I want all the people who come here to perfect their Simran and to pronounce their Simran in the correct way. I hope that you will try doing the Simran like you do here and I hope that in a few days you will be able to get rid of this difficulty.

Many dear ones have the difficulty but when they repeat the Simran after me this difficulty goes away.

QUESTION: I never noticed having trouble with that before I came here but I also have had trouble with that. Is there some negative force involved?

SANT JI: At home you may not be aware if you are pronouncing it correctly or not, but here when you hear the Words being pronounced then you know that you have the difficulty.

Session Date: January 13, 1991

This question and answer session was given in Bombay on January 13, 1991.

SANT JI: The Grace of our gracious Master cannot be described. It is only due to the grace of our gracious Master that He has accepted our life at His Feet. Guru Nanak Sahib has said, "Oh Lord, I am the slave at Your door. Always keep me at Thy door."

Now you can ask your questions.

QUESTION: I was wondering about the quality of innocence in the true devotee, the value of the quality of innocence, and how you get that quality?

SANT JI: Master used to say that on this spiritual path we are like a child, because a child is very innocent. He does not know anything, but his love is selfless. So on this spiritual path, even a person who has obtained a Masters degree has to behave like a forty-day old child. One has to surrender and have innocence and love like the children have.

We can become true devotees only after becoming attached to the Truth, only after manifesting that Truth within us. The fact is that until we rise above body consciousness, and after crossing the stars, moon, and sun and manifesting the radiant form of the Master within us, at the eye center, we do not know when the mind is going to bother us. We do not know when, after creating any of the worldly desires, the mind will delude us. Even one bad thought or even one worldly thought can bring us down from the feet of Brahmand; it is only due to our worldly thoughts that we are brought back into this world again and again. Usually we people do not meditate, or we meditate very little. But we have so many desires which we present to our Masters; and when those desires do not get fulfilled, then we lose faith in the Master. So this is not something we can call as having true love for the Master; it is like we are working for the Master and asking for payment for it.

Guru Nanak Sahib has said that if we are asking for anything other than the Naam, it is like we are inviting all the sufferings and problems, because contentment, happiness, and peace are in the Naam only.

Often I have told you about an incident of Master Kirpal: once He was visiting somebody's home, and that person had a boil on his leg. Even though he had made arrangements for tea, that person had the desire that Master should first look at that boil, so that he might get some grace from Him. So he said, "Master, first of all, please look at this and have grace on me, and then later you can have the tea."

You know that if there is any true devotee around [when something like this happens], he will not like that. Often I have told you that my Beloved Lord was an Ocean of Love, and I was a devotee of love. In my whole life I did not ask for anything else but love from the Master, and since He was an Ocean of Love, and I was the devotee of love He gave me all His love. When I saw what that disciple was asking of Master Kirpal, I did not feel good about it, and I did not like it.

That person also used to proclaim himself as one of the greatest devotees of Master, because you know that nobody wants to call himself the lesser devotee. Everyone says that he is the best devotee and follower of the Master. As Guru Nanak Sahib has said, "Nobody wants to call himself the lesser devotee; everyone claims to be the best lover of the Master."

The Light of Ajaib

Once in Karanpur I was very fortunate that Beloved Lord Kirpal allowed me to travel with Him. We had just arrived in Karanpur when one dear one, an initiate, came to Master Kirpal and said, “Master, I do not see the Light.” Master tried to explain to him that he should keep the diary, and that he should do his meditation, then everything would be all right and he would see the Light. But that dear one insisted, “I must see the Light; You should shower grace on me,” and things like that. So the Master made him sit in meditation right there.

At that time I thought to myself, “What is this person doing?” And I said, “If you are asking for the Light from the Master, you can see the Light only in some places. But if you know that the Master Who is all Light, Who is the All-Owner of Creation, is standing in front of you in His full physical being, and He even talks to you, and you are sitting in His Presence, then what more do you want from God? And why do you only insist on getting the Light? Why don’t you catch hold of the [inner] Master Who is the Form of the Light, and Who can do everything for you?”

When we go within we realize how our Beloved Master rules over our mind, our intellect, our brain, and whatever we do or whatever we speak is all due to His grace, and He Himself makes us speak those words. But we realize this only after we go within. So it was all due to His grace, and He Himself made me say those words at that time when that dear one was insisting to Master Kirpal that he must see the Light.

Then I told my Master – and this was only due to His grace, He Himself made me say this – I said, “I have seen neither Allah nor Wahe Guru and I do not care for any God; I have not seen anybody else. I have seen only You, and I know that You are my God, You are my everything; I don’t care for anybody else. You are my girdhari, You are the One Who lifts up the poor and the downtrodden ones; you are my murari, You are the One Who brings life back into the dead ones.” So dear ones, I was able to say this only because of His grace. I mean to say that a true devotee will never ask for anything of this world from the Master, he will only ask for His grace, and he will do it in all his innocence.

This is not only my point of view. Swami Ji Maharaj said the same thing. He said, “O Lord, I do not know any Sat Naam or Anaami other than You.” Bulleh Shah was asked by His family members, “What do You understand that Your Master is, how do You see Him, and what do You think He is?” So Bulleh Shah said, “If you look at my Master from the outside, you will see Him wearing dirty clothes, and having a body made of flesh, skin, and blood, but if you go within and see His Real Form, His inner form, you would not even want to spit in the heavens, because He is so beautiful, He is so radiant, that no other thing of this creation can compete with His beauty and radiance.”

The Master of Bulleh Shah belonged to a low caste (the caste of aryin, which is considered a low caste among the Muslims), and Bulleh Shah Himself belonged to the sayyid<sup>34</sup> caste (sayyid is a higher Muslim caste – they are the ones whom people worship). So when people saw that Bulleh Shah, even though He was of the sayyid caste, was a follower of Inayat Shah Who was from the aryin caste, they asked Him about this, and He replied, “If anyone calls me sayyid, he will go in the hells, but if they call me aryin, the caste of my Master, they will get to enjoy the heavens.”

Here, outwardly, we are doing the practice of becoming true devotees. We are only making efforts to become true devotees of the Master, but we become true devotees and true love for the Master gets manifested within us only when we go within and only when we see the Radiant Form of the Master. If we do not do the practice of becoming better and going within then we can never go within. If we only talk about it and give it up without doing the Simran, without doing the work we are supposed to do, then we get nowhere, we always remain outside. I get the opportunity to meet many dear ones. There are many dear ones who are very good, very quiet, very peaceful, who have manifested the Form of the Master within them. Truth has not completely vanished, the truth always exists, so there are dear ones who do very good meditations; they have manifested the Form of the Master. When such dear ones come to see me in their interviews, they do not have any questions; they say, “Master we have come only to have Your darshan.”

Many men and women who come to see me say, “Master, please search for a good companion for me.” The women will say, Master please get us good husbands, and the men will ask me to get good wives for them. If they are having any physical problems they ask me to remove their physical problems, their diseases. And if their business is not doing well, they ask for the blessings in their business. They ask for all these things. So there is a category of Satsangis, like these, who come to me and ask only for the worldly things. Kabir Sahib said that the Master wants everyone but no one wants the Master. When they come to see the Master, either they come for name and fame, or they come for worldly things, they come for the worldly materials. They always request, “Master, shower grace upon us,” or do this or that thing for us; but they do not come for the Master. They do not ask the Master for that true thing, that real gift, for which the Masters have come into the world. The Masters have come into this world to take our soul back to the Real Home. But no one comes to the Master asking for that precious gift. So Kabir Sahib said that no one is the customer for the real thing. Everyone is looking for the false things. Kabir says, “What can we do to such blind people?”

I will tell you a story about the true devotee of the Master. I tell you a story of Guru Arjan Dev; even though He had reached Sach Khand, still He always called himself a half disciple. He never called himself as a disciple or a perfect being. In the court of Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj there lived two people, Rai Bulwant and Sata Ilhum. They used to sing very lovingly and devotedly in the court of Guru Arjan Dev. And there happened to be a wedding in their family and they thought of doing that wedding in a very lavish way. For that they needed a lot of money, because they thought, “We are the singers in the court of Guru Arjan Dev and if we do not do it in a very good way then what will people say? They will say that we are the singers of Guru Arjan Dev and we couldn’t even afford to have a nice wedding.” So they wanted to do it in a very good way to impress people. So they thought since many disciples come to Guru Arjan Dev, if every disciple contributes one taka – a taka is like two paise [two pennies], so they thought if every disciple contributes one taka each, then they would be able to collect a lot of money with which they could plan a very good wedding. So they came to Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj and told Him about the wedding and they said, Master, “If you can collect one taka per disciple and give it to us, we’ll be able to perform the wedding.” Guru Arjan Dev Ji said, “Well, you should ask for whatever money you need, but you should not ask like this.” But they said, “No, Master we want only one taka from every disciple.” The next day Guru Arjan Dev Ji brought four-and-a-half takas and gave them that money. He said, “One taka is for Guru Nanak, because He was the perfect disciple; one is for Guru Angad, He was a perfect disciple and one is for Guru Armad Dev, He was also a perfect disciple. The fourth one is for Guru Ramdas. And this half taka is for me, because I am still half a disciple.” So now you can imagine: He was the owner of Sach Khand; He had manifested His Master within Him; He was all in all. His Master had given Him the responsibility of guiding the Sangat and He was the owner of this whole creation but still He understood Himself as the half-disciple.

When Guru Arjan Dev Ji gave them that money those singers became upset and they thought that the Master was saying that only because He did not want to give them the money. But that was not the reason. Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj considered Himself as a half disciple and He considered only the past Masters as the perfect disciples. So I mean to say that as long as the Masters are in the body They never say that They are the true devotees or that They are the perfect disciples; They say, We are still the half disciples, we are still in the making.

The true disciple was Guru Angad Dev, even though Guru Nanak Sahib had blessed him with His grace, had embraced him with His body and had given him the name Angad which means born from one's own body. His name had been Bhai Lena but since Guru Nanak Sahib was very pleased with his devotion and his seva He embraced him and He made him as a part of His own body, and He gave Him the name of Guru Angad. Bhai Lena was such a true disciple, he was so devoted to His Master, that, when by mistake one of his arms crossed ahead of Guru Nanak while he was walking with Him, He gave the punishment to that arm by tying it up for one year. He said, "You dared to go beyond the body of the Master and this is the punishment that now you will be tied for one year."

So this was his devotion and He was a true disciple. Even though at that time He had become perfect and He had reached Sach Khand, but still He considered Himself as much inferior and much lower than the Master.

Once when Beloved Master asked me to convey the initiation He told me to explain the theory to the people. So I told Master, "Master, why don't you shower grace on all these people who are sitting here, why don't you show them your Real Form which you have shown to me so that they may also get the liberation?" When I asked Master to do that He got upset and He said, "Don't make them tear my clothes; do whatever I tell you to do." Dear ones, a true devotee can not bear to compete with the Master because he knows what the Master is. He always remains very humble and he always makes an effort to become a true devotee of the Master.

Guru Gobind Singh Ji was asked this question, "Who is the true disciple, who is the true devotee, or sikh?" You may call him as a disciple, a true devotee or a sikh; it is all one and the same thing. So Guru Gobind Singh replied, "He who has risen above lust, anger, greed, attachment, and egoism – who has removed all these bad qualities from within – who has gone within – that one is the true disciple. He who accepts the teachings and who lives up to the teachings of the Master is the real sikh or the real disciple." If he is not doing that, if he has not risen above the teachings or the dictates of the mind, if he is still under the control of the mind, he is not a disciple of the Master; he is the disciple or the follower of his mind.

When Guru Gobind Singh was saying this, one dear one stood up and he said, "No, Master that is not true. I am not a disciple of my wife, and I am not a disciple of any woman. I am not a disciple of any body else. I am your true devotee." So when Guru Gobind Singh said all that and that disciple replied that he was not the disciple of anyone else, that he was the true disciple of the Master, Guru Gobind Singh did not say anything. He just kept quiet on that day, but after a few days He called that disciple to Him and He said, "Okay, If you are my disciple you should go to the bazaar and you should get me a unique piece of cloth; get a roll of the cloth of which there should be no other piece of cloth available like that in the market; and you should bring that for me.” So that dear one went to the market and he looked around and then he was successful in buying a very nice beautiful piece of cloth, a roll of that cloth, for Guru Gobind Singh and he brought it home. When he brought that cloth home his wife saw it and she liked that roll of cloth very much. So she asked for that cloth, and he said, “No, this is for the Master. This is a unique piece of cloth and I bought this for the Master.” But she said, “No, I want this for myself. You can tell the Master that you looked around and you could not find one, and maybe tomorrow again you can go and you can find something else, but I want this one.” Then because he couldn’t say anything to his wife he gave that piece of cloth to his wife.

Next morning when that dear one went to the court of Guru Gobind Singh his wife also followed him, taking that roll of cloth with her, because she knew this whole story. When he went there Guru Gobind Singh asked that dear one, “Yes, dear one, did you get any piece of cloth?” He said, “Master, I tried everywhere; I looked around everywhere but I could not find one, but today I will go and buy one for you.” At once his wife came up and she said, “Master, you see he is not Your disciple; he is my disciple. I wanted him to give that piece of cloth to me and he did; now he’s lying to You.” So Guru Gobind Singh said, “Rare are the one’s who are the true disciples, the true devotees of the Master.”

Dear ones, no teacher ever wishes that the students whom he is teaching may fail in the examinations. Every teacher wants all his students to become successful because he knows that if his students will become successful people will talk very highly about him, they will praise him and his name will be glorified. They will say that he is the teacher of those students who have become successful. In the same way, no parents ever wish that their children should go in the bad company or that they should not become successful in their lives. That is why the child’s parents always make efforts, they always take care to be sure that the children are in good company, that they get all the good things which they need, that they become good people and have a successful life. They make every possible effort to feed the children well and they give them whatever would make them good in their lives.

In the same way, the Masters who have come into this world from Sach Khand, They all always wish that all Their disciples should become good people, that they should become good disciples. That is why, through the Satsangs, They always go on telling us how we have to live our life, how we have to do our meditations, because They know that if the disciples will do more meditation of the Naam, the fragrance of the Naam will come out from them and it will spread all over. The name of their Master will be glorified, the name of their Path will be glorified, so that is why They make every possible effort to make us understand how we should be living our life, and that is why They always go on telling us how we should be good people and how we should do our meditations.

But what happens? As long as the Masters are in the body and as long as They go on telling us all these things, we keep making efforts. In the case of Master Sawan Singh, I will tell you one thing: in India when Master Sawan Singh was alive people used to say that those who went to see Master Sawan Singh or those who were the disciples of Master Sawan Singh would never lie. And that is why they used to swear by them, saying, “They are the true people and they never lie.” But you know that when people give up the Path of the Naam, when they give up the teachings of the Masters, when they start obeying their mind and following the organs of senses and when they get involved in all the worldly things – then they start doing all the bad things – which brings a bad name to their Masters also. Kabir Sahib said that the master is blamed when his dog goes mad.

We can learn so much from the lives of the great Masters. I myself have seen the life of Master Sawan Singh. I saw that He never cared for His own body, He never cared for His own comforts and conveniences. He always worked very hard, and understanding it as His duty and responsibility, He always attended the Satsangs, He always talked to the people, because He wanted His disciples to become better. In the same way, Master Kirpal Singh also led a very uncomfortable life. He worked very hard and He always attended the Satsang even when He was not physically fit, even in the times when He was very sick, but still He never cared for His comfort, He never cared for His body. They always attended to the Satsangs, They always talked to the people because They wanted to make Their disciples better and They wished that maybe by one word or another the disciples would understand and they would make their lives better. So the Masters never care for Themselves; They always make efforts, They always work hard, so that the disciple may become better.

Pultu Sahib had said, “Only to liberate the souls, the Masters suffer so many sufferings. They do not have any desires, but They go around the world, They travel so much, only for the sake of the souls.”

My life is like an open book in front of all the Satsangis. You know that whenever I travel, whenever I go outside, I always get myself locked in the airplane and I go to the place where I have to be. Whatever seva I have to do, I do over there and I come back to my home. I never go to do any sight seeing, I never go to visit any beaches, I do not go here and there. Whatever time I spend, it is always for the seva of the sangat.

When I go to Delhi, Pappu knows that I get down from the car and go into the house. I come out from the house only when I have to go for the meditation or for the Satsang. The same thing is true when I go to Bombay, I do not go anywhere, any place, I go out only when it is for doing the seva of the Sangat. So I'm doing all this seva of the Sangat because I want the disciples to become better. Whatever I have received from my Master I am conveying only those things to you, to make you better. Whatever He taught me, whatever He gave me, I am only refreshing that message or that teaching of the Master in you. I am not giving you any new thing. It is the same which my Beloved Master gave to you.

Kabir Sahib said, “In the company of these five passions and the organs of senses we have spent all of our life, but still we have not received any contentment. We are not happy, we have not received any satisfaction, then what is the hope for us?” In the same way, Bhai Gurdas also said, “These eyes do not get content looking at the beautiful things of this world. These ears do not find any satisfaction by listening to all the music of this world. This tongue does not feel satisfied tasting all different good quality foods of this world. The only true peace and contentment comes when we go within and get ourselves connected with the Naam.” If we go on talking about this the stories will never end, even if we go on talking about this all of our life. The best thing for us to do would be to rise above the body and come to the Eye Center where the Giver is giving us all the riches, where He is donating everything to us. It is better for us to come up to the Eye Center.

1991 May: Sickness, Treatment & Accepting God's Will

This question & answer talk was given January 2, 1991, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, when we have to endure some physical karma that requires some suffering and maybe some medical expenses, should we experience these karmas as they come and trust in the Master to guide and protect us through these difficult times, or is it better to plan ahead and purchase medical insurance policies that would pay for most of our medical expenses and avoid a financial crisis. I hope to understand this problem and would like to have a solution. Maybe there is another way that is completely different.

SANT JI: It is a very good question. Now instead of saying anything of my own in response to this question I would like to repeat what Master Sawan Singh has said. I have told this many times in previous Satsangs. In His Satsangs or writings Master Kirpal Singh has also confirmed this. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that before a soul enters the womb of the mother her fate karmas are determined. Pains and happiness, richness or poverty, good health or sickness are the six things which are written in our fate. And things happen in our life according to our fate karmas.

Tulsi Sahib also has said that in this world karmas are the main thing. He says, "First the pralabdha or fate karmas were made and then the body was created. This is a unique play but our mind does not believe it. Whatever one has sown he harvests only that." At present the soul is confused because she does not know why everything is happening; the soul does not know that she is suffering on account of her own karmas.

At the time of your Initiation all of you are told that we are not the bodies, we are the souls; we have been given the body to pay off our karmas. Master Kirpal Singh used to say, "The arrow which has already been shot cannot be brought back; whatever is done is done." Whatever fate karmas have been written cannot be changed. Masters do not touch our fate karmas. They do connect us with the Shabd Naam so that it may become easier for us to bear whatever sufferings are written in our fate karmas.

We are always told that on our soul there are three covers, physical, astral and causal. It is like one cage is in another cage and those two cages are in a third one. So if you know how to rise above the physical body and how to remove the physical cover, you can easily start working in the astral plane. Then we can see what past karma is the reason for the suffering which we are having now.

Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say that when the Masters give Initiation They make an arrangement within the disciple so that he can pay off his karmas and along with paying off the karmas he can also make progress in meditation. This physical plane where we are living now is the country of the Negative Power. In this realm the law of revenge prevails. Whatever deed one has done he has to suffer the consequences of that deed. Suppose someone has taken out someone's eye, then his eye has to be taken out. If not in this lifetime, then in the next lifetime one has to pay off his karma in exactly the same way as the karma was done.

In the realm of the Positive Power there is nothing like revenge. There is only forgiveness. So when we leave this realm of the Negative Power and we go to the Positive Power then we are forgiven. Masters come into this world only to take us to that plane. Guru Nanak Sahib said, "O Brother, do not blame anyone. If anyone has to be blamed it should be your own deeds or karmas. Whatever I have done I am suffering on that account. Do not blame anyone else. And why do you blame others when everything you are going through is your own doing."

Now about making some arrangements for ourselves to avoid the karmas or to take care of ourselves when we have to endure or suffer those karmas – that is correct and one can do something about that. When you go to the astrologers or fortune tellers they may tell you what is going to happen or what is bothering you and how to avoid all those happenings. But it is the experience of the Perfect Masters that they may be able to tell you what is going to happen and all of that, but as far as the karmas are concerned no one can avoid or change those karmas. The Saints Themselves neither go to such fortune tellers nor do They tell us to go there. They do not believe in them and They don't tell us to believe in them. They tell us, "O Friend, whatever the Creator has written in our fate, there is no one who can erase that."

I will tell you a story of my distant relative. Once he went to a fortune teller who told him, after doing some calculations, that after a few months on one certain month if he visited his relative in that month he would become very sick and it was possible that he would not survive. When he heard that he became very worried; he kept on thinking about that time and it was like a very heavy burden on his head. Anyway, he did not go to visit his relative in that particular month which the fortune teller had mentioned. But a month later he went to visit his relative and there he got sick. Because he got sick he remembered what the fortune teller had told him and he was sure that he was going to die. Then the other relatives came to me and told me that he was about to leave the body and I should go there.

In those days I used to practice Ayurvedic medicine so I at once took the jeep and drove a distance of two hours. When I got there I told him, "You are not going to die." He told me, "I know that you do not believe in the pundits and fortune tellers, but whatever they have told me is happening now and I am going to die." So then he went on telling me everything about his home, as if he was going to leave the body right then. I told him, "I am a doctor and I am giving you the medicine in the Name of Beloved God. And seeking the support of God Almighty, I can tell you for sure that I will not let you die now. You will take my medicine and after a few hours you will be all right. You will not die today. One day everyone has to die and I don't know when you will die, but not today. My medicine will not let you die today." So I gave him the medicine and then I came out from his room. His family started doing some good omens and bad omens and other things like that which the Indian people do. So I told them, "There is no need to do things like that, because Guru Nanak said, 'Only those people who do not believe in God believe in these good and bad omens.' I don't believe in them so I don't do those things. And don't worry because he will recover."

By the time I reached home he had become all right, but still he said, "I know that Baba Ji does not believe in all this fortune-telling business, but whatever that pundit told me became true. He told me that I would become sick and not live but at least one part of what he said became true." Later I told him, "No, it was only because you were thinking of what that fortune teller predicted, and it was such a heavy burden on you." So, Dear Ones, to think about something and worry about something in the future, who knows if it will happen or not; maybe it will not even happen. So to become sick just by worrying about something in the future is not a wise thing.

I do not consider buying an insurance policy as a bad thing. It is a very good scheme. If anyone can afford to have an insurance policy then he should have it. But the question is, should we endure the pain of the karmas as they come or should we make any arrangements for it? Dear Ones, you know that all the Masters have said that whenever we get sick we should get the treatment and medicine for it and at the same time we should accept it as the Will of God. Because when we accept it as the Will of God we are saying that it is our own karmas that we are paying off and there is no one else to be held responsible for that karma. It is all our doing for which we are suffering. And by going to the doctors and getting the treatment from them we are paying off some of the debts that we may have with those doctors. Some give and take is finished with those doctors. When we are accepting it as the will of the Master then we become more grateful to Him. Swami Ji Maharaj said that we should understand the moment of pain as the blessed one. Because in the moment of pain, as we pray to the Master for His help we also have our attention towards the Master. Our soul is inclined to Him because we are asking for His help. So whenever we get sick we should get treatment from the doctors because any debt we might have with the doctors can be paid off by going to the doctors and getting the treatment. And along with that we should understand our sickness as the Will of God. We should keep our attention toward Him so that the burden of the karma may get paid off.

Masters never tell us that we should sit idle with one hand on the other. They tell us that it is our first responsibility to make an effort. There are two kinds of sickness and disease. And if you look at them very carefully, if we pay attention to what we are suffering, we can easily tell what kind of sickness it is. One sickness is due to our carelessness. There are many sicknesses that we get by not taking care of our body. And just by looking at our body with more attention, or taking better care of our body, those kinds of sicknesses or diseases can be easily removed and we do not have to suffer a lot of pain because of that. The other kind of diseases are the kind that we get because of our karmas. You may call it a karmic disease also. That disease or sickness does not go away until we suffer and endure the pain of the karmas. Whenever we get into that kind of sickness or disease it is better for us to suffer and endure the pain and pay off the debts. By paying off the karmas through that disease the burden or load of the karmas we are carrying on our head becomes less. If you do not become successful or do not get cured even after taking all kinds of treatments we should not find fault in the Master by saying that we are not being helped by the Master. Master is extending His physical help to us. Whatever is appropriate He is helping in that way. And in those circumstances it is better for us to accept the Will of the Master as it is. In Ayurveda where all the herbs are described there is a story about Gorakhnath. He was a great meditator and for a while he had a boil on his head. For twelve years he suffered the pain of it; even though he tried many different remedies still he could not get rid of that boil. When the time of this karma was almost over, after suffering for twelve years, there was an herb growing near the place where he made his fire. That herb spoke to him, saying, "Gorakh, if you will use me on your boil, your boil can be removed." Gorakhnath knew the philosophy of karma and he knew that the time of his suffering from that boil was almost over. But he said, "I know that this karma is almost over, but since you have spoken up now, even though you were growing next to my fireplace for such a long time and never said anything before, I will give you this boon, that from now on you will be called gorakhmundi and people will use you for treatment of boils." Nowadays people use that herb to remove boils and ulcers and things like that.

While we are paying off our karmas, when we go to a doctor the doctor has a lot of sympathy for us. No doctor wants his patient to suffer. He wants the patient to be comfortable, and to be cured so that the doctor's reputation may become well known. But if our karmas are still there, if we are to suffer more karmas, and if the treatment of that doctor does not work, we should not find fault in the doctor. There is no fault in the doctor, because he is doing his best. He has all sympathy and best wishes for us and he is doing whatever he can. Because of those karmas which we still have to pay off, we are not getting cured. In such circumstances instead of finding fault in the doctor we should remain patient and accept the Will of God and wait for the time when the karmas will be paid off and then we will become all right.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to talk in the Satsang about this line of karmas – how even in our next lifetime we have to go and take up a similar form in order to pay off those karmas. We have to get into the same kind of conditions and do things in exactly the same way in order to pay off the things that we have done in this lifetime.

1991 June: Heart Communicates with Heart

Session Date: September 28, 1988

This question and answer session was given September 28, 1988 at Sant Bani Ashram, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: The other day Sant Ji was walking along the wall with Gurmel and Sukhpal, for a couple of minutes we stepped in behind and followed until Sant Ji bade us to stop. I can't express the happiness of those few minutes. There used to be a place in the program for moments like that. But alas, that has stopped. O Giver of Happiness, would you mind commenting on this.

SANT JI: The set-up of the other ashram was such that we did not have enough land to walk around. That is why we used to have a time in the program for everyone to go along with me and I would take the dear ones for the walks. But here we have enough room to take walks and people are free to take walks whenever they want. That is why we do not have any such program here. Over there our land was divided into two different parts. There was a public road between those two divisions of the property and that is why it was not possible for the dear ones to take walks freely. Only because of that reason I used to take the dear ones for the walks.

You might remember that in the beginning when we came here, we used to have a muddy wall going all around the Ashram. That wall was made when I used to come here to meditate, and after meditating whenever I felt the need to take a walk I would go along the outer edge of the property. So that wall was made at that time.

There was no significant reason in telling you not to follow me the other day. The only reason behind that was that if I had allowed you to follow me, then everyone in the sangat would have followed us. [Sant Ji laughs] And you know that the dear ones have worked very hard to grow the crops here and we would have spoiled their crops. So it was better to finish that matter off between you and me. [Everyone laughs.]

QUESTION: Master, I'm relatively new on the Path and I'm still not clear on the practice of Dhyan. Can you explain that a little bit to me?

SANT JI: Regarding Dhyan I have said a lot, I have clarified a lot, and most of it has been published in Sant Bani Magazine. I think you should find those old issues of the magazine and read the articles which talk about Dhyan. You will get a lot of help from doing that.

The reality is that heart communicates with heart. When we remember someone, we do not need to visualize his form, we do not need to make the image of his form within us. When we remember him, his form appears in our within by itself. We do not need to make any effort in doing the dhyan. When we concentrate on the remembrance of our beloved, whenever we do the simran – whether we are walking, talking or doing any other thing – as soon as we do the simran and remember that person, his form starts coming within us, his dhyan starts appearing in front of us without our making any effort.

Many incidents keep happening in the lives of the Satsangis when the Master appears in front of them and gives them His darshan. Many times He appears there physically, many times He appears there in the form of the dreams, and many times He appears in some other form also. So whenever such kind of appearances of the Master happen we should take advantage of them, we should develop our Dhyān for the Master, and we should not let that kind of form of the Master disappear from our sight.

The relationship between the Master and the disciple is very deep. There is no other relationship existing in this world which can be called as deep as the relationship between the disciple and the Master. That relationship is eternal; it is permanent. Many times it happens that because of the depth of that relationship Master Himself goes to the disciple and gives him His darshan. Many times He appears in the form of the dreams also. But it is not a dream, it is because of the remembrance of the disciple that the Master has come there in His Radiant Form. But it is a pity that the dear ones do not take advantage of it, and instead of contemplating on that form of the Master, they forget it and take it as a normal dream.

There are many dear ones in this group itself who have told me in their interviews about their experiences: how when their minds were quiet they had the darshan of Master Kirpal and even Baba Sawan Singh, and how sometimes both the Masters came to them. This is only because of their contemplation, because of their remembrance of the Masters. The dear ones should take advantage of such incidents of darshan of the Masters, because a lot of grace of the Master is present in such visions.

Not everyone who is sitting here has the same kind of thoughts, and you do not all have the same kind of experiences. But often small or big things keep happening between the disciple and the Master and if we have developed the contemplation of the Master, if we have developed the habit of remembering the Form of the Master, all the time, then it is very easy for us to understand and recognize the grace of the Master. Many times, it so happens that if we are involved in some kind of accident or if something is going to happen in our life, many times a day or two before that thing is going to happen the Master appears and He tells us what is going to happen. Or He appears and gives us hints. But Satsangis are always cautioned; they are told that they should not try to avoid what is going to happen even if the Master tells them about it, because by doing so we lose all the fruit of our meditation. Saints always tell us that we have to live according to the will of God. We should know that whatever happens in our life is all according to our own pralabdha karmas of the past and it is wiser to pay all our karmas without making any excuses. So it often happens that if we have contemplated on the Form of the Master, if we have developed the remembrance of the Master, we will definitely get the hints, we will definitely get the cautions from Him, and it is possible that if our attention is towards the Master He may even appear in front of us to give us His darshan.

Even after knowing all these things, we Satsangis also get involved in arguments and we say, “If he had done this . . . he could have avoided that happening . . .,” and things like that. It is just as when doctors cannot diagnose what the cause of a person’s death was, they usually say, “His heart stopped,” or “The circulation of the blood was blocked,” or they just give a general explanation. But they do not know that the person’s time was fixed, that his end time had come, and that is why he had to leave the body.

So we were talking about Dhyān, and I was explaining to you how Dhyān is important for all of us, and how it helps us in our day-to-day life. A Satsangi should do Simran all the time, as much as possible, and he should always keep his attention at the Eye Center. He should not let his mind bother him with the worldly thoughts, and he should not let his mind take him away from doing Simran. So when we do Simran sitting at the Eye Center, and when we rise above the body consciousness, as we go on progressing in our inner journey, when we remove the physical, astral and causal covers from our soul and reach Daswan Dwar or the tenth door, the Dhyān or contemplation of the Form of the Master starts to happen within us by itself. We do not need to make any effort. There are two faculties or two powers by which our soul functions: one is the power of seeing which is called nirat, and the other is the power of hearing which is called surat. In fact, these names refer to different aspects of the same power, because they are the powers or the faculties of the soul. So when we awaken these powers, when we remove all the physical, astral and causal covers from our soul and reach Daswan Dwar, then such a contemplation or Dhyan is developed that happens constantly. The Satsangi who has reached Daswan Dwar and who has developed Dhyan, his attention does not spread all over in the world once he has developed that Dhyan. No matter that he is living in the world, but still he is constantly looking at the Master; he is constantly linked with the Master. Paltu Sahib said, regarding the same Dhyan, "Those who develop that kind of Dhyan, their devotion for the Master is like the flow of oil." You know that the flow of oil is constant, it is not broken anywhere; in the same way, those who reach Daswan Dwar and those who develop that kind of Dhyan their devotion becomes constant. Guru Nanak Sahib also says the same thing. He says, "O Dear Ones, you should do the Dhyan of the Master constantly, without any break."

Satsangis do not know the importance of doing the Simran. If they would know the importance of doing the Simran, it would not be difficult for them to develop the Dhyan. You know that your mind always goes on thinking about the worldly, unnecessary, useless things. Instead of allowing your mind to think all those useless worldly things, if you would make him do the Simran, if you would always keep him involved in the Simran, then your Dhyan would get developed by itself.

I will give you some worldly examples. You know that the love between the mother and the son is very deep. The son just needs to remember his mother and the face of the mother will appear in front of him. He does not have to make a lot of effort to remember his mother, and when he remembers her, her form is right there. In the same way, if the husband remembers his wife, it does not take much effort to remember your companion, and the form of your companion, whether it is the husband or the wife, will appear in front of you. In the same way, all the worldly works in which you are involved, you just to need to have a little thought of them and all their forms and activities will come in front of you, and you will not have to make a lot of effort in trying to figure out what was what. So the Masters tell us that all these things have the connections with us and are useful to us only as long as we have this body. We should develop the remembrance or have the remembrance of such a One Who will help us not only in this world but also Who will go with us after we leave this world; and that is the Master. So why not develop the remembrance of such a Master Who will help in this world and in the beyond also. Guru Nanak Sahib also says, "Who is our real friend? Only He who helps us at the place where no one else can help. O Nanak, give up the friendship of the false ones and become the friend of the true ones. The true ones are those who help you when you leave this world, and the false ones are those who may leave you even in this world."

Most people who have the habit of thinking so much during the day, or those who have the habit of talking too much during the day, what do they do when they sleep at night? Even in their sleep or in their dreams, they go on thinking or talking, and they talk nonsense. Their family members cannot figure out what they are talking about. Usually in Rajasthan people say that those people who talk too much in their sleep or who talk nonsense are under the influence of some ghost. No Dear Ones, it is not any ghost, it is your own mind, your own thinking, and your habit of talking during the daytime. All the thoughts you have thought during the day, and all the talk you have talked during the day, those things change their forms and the same things are bothering you at nighttime also.

So instead of talking about unnecessary things and instead of thinking useless worldly thoughts, if they had remembered the Master, if they had devoted themselves to the cause of the Master, they would remember the Master even in their sleep. Either they would be doing the Simran in their sleep, or they would remember the Master. For such people Kabir Sahib has said, “Those who remember the Naam of the Master even in their sleep, I sacrifice myself for them. I would be happy if my skin was made into sandals for their feet.”

In answering this question I only mean to say that if you will remember anyone his dhyana or contemplation will come to you by itself. Whenever you will do the simran of anyone, you will start remembering him, and you will gain the concentration on the form of that person by itself.

QUESTION: Why does the Master hide so much of His full power and glory from His disciples so much of the time?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs] It is a very interesting question. Suppose that you have something very precious, very valuable, if you show it off to the people it is possible that the people may come and try to steal those precious things away from you and in that way you will lose them. This is just a worldly example.

If you have read Anurag Sagar you would have read that God Almighty made certain promises with the Negative Power. The Negative Power asked Almighty God that all the souls who come into this world should not know about their past, from which body they came. Another promise was that “All the souls should feel content wherever I give them birth, whether I give the body of a donkey or a pig or a human being they should be content in whatever body they are.” As you know, the lives of donkeys and pigs are very painful. Whenever anyone tries to beat them, they always try to protect themselves because they love their bodies, and they love their beings. That is why they do not want anyone to harm their existence. That means that everyone is content in whatever body he is living. Another promise was that the souls should not know why they are suffering or enjoying. They should not know about the karmas which they have done in the past otherwise they would stop doing the bad karmas and the Negative Power didn't want that. He wanted the cycle of karmas to continue that is why He got that promise. The other promise concerning the Masters coming into this world was that the Masters, the perfect Saints, should not perform any miracles to attract the souls to Them, and They should liberate the souls only after making them do the meditation.

These were the promises, and you know that the Negative Power is also a beloved son of God Almighty and God has to please him also. He has done a lot of seva of God Almighty, and that is why God Almighty has made all those promises with the Negative Power that whenever the Saints come into this world They always live like a normal person. They do not perform any miracles and They always make Their disciples do the meditation of Naam and then They liberate them. If the Saints are born into poverty They are happy there, and if They are born into a rich family They are happy there. They always live a normal person's life. They always remember the purpose for which They have come into this world and They always keep Their hearts attached to the feet of Almighty God.

Saints do not hide any of Their glory or Their power from Their disciples. This is also a weakness of our mind; our mind tricks us into thinking that Master is hiding His glory and power from us. You can ask those who do the meditation and go within, “Has Master hidden anything from you? Has He not shown you all His power and glory?” Those who do the meditation according to the commandments of the Master, those who go within, the Master sits within them carrying all the prosperity and carrying all His power.

The biggest miracle which a Master Saint can perform is making a soul one with the Oversoul of Almighty God. Because you know that we do the beastly deeds, the deeds which the animals do. Forgiving us for all our faults He takes us to stand in front of Almighty God, and He tells Him, “He is your forgotten child, and he has come asking Your forgiveness. You kindly forgive him and make him one with You.”

Usually we understand the outer grace of the Master as the real miracles done by the Master. If someone had a fever and he prayed to Master, and his fever was gone, he would say, “Master performed this miracle and my fever was gone.” If someone’s leg was broken and he requested to Master, and with His grace if he became well, he would say, “Master did a miracle.” So all these outer things we take as the miracles. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “Those who understand that the grace of the Master or the miracles of the Master are limited only to these kind of things, what can they understand of Sant Mat and what benefit can they take from the Master?” The biggest miracle which a Master Saint can accomplish is to make the soul one with Almighty God.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to tell this story of Guru Teg Bahadur Ji: Once when He went to Agra He was sitting with His disciples doing satsang and suddenly a Muslim man came there. Instead of sitting with the other people he went straight up to Guru Teg Bahadur and he embraced Him. After that he left. When Guru Teg Bahadur allowed the man to embrace Him, the other people who were sitting there started having objections and saying, “Master has not allowed us to do that, yet here comes a Muslim man, a stranger, and Master allows him to do that. This is not a good thing.” As soon as they started talking among themselves about that, Guru Teg Bahadur figured out what was happening and why the sangat was upset. So He explained to them, “Do you know who that person was? If you knew his story, then you would realize that what I have allowed him to do was okay, and that he deserves that embrace. That is why I have allowed him to embrace me.”

Then Guru Teg Bahadur told His sangat that man’s story. He said that he used to be the King of Lahore, and once day a yogi who had the power to fly in the air was flying near the king’s palace. When the yogi came near he saw a beautiful bed made for the king to sleep on. Because he was tired, he was attracted to the bed. He thought, “Let me rest here for a little while and then I will continue my flight.” So he went and laid down on the bed. He had a little amulet which he kept in his mouth, and that amulet had the power which enabled him to fly in the air. When he laid down on the bed, he was so sleepy that he did not realize that the amulet had fallen out of his mouth. The yogi slept in a very deep sleep.

After a while the king came into his bedroom and thought, “How has this man entered my bedroom? This is the palace of a king! No one can come here.” But then he thought that he looked like a yogi, and he didn’t want to disturb that yogi’s sleep. He looked around and found that amulet. He took it and stood in a corner; there he waited for the yogi to wake up. The yogi slept until morning. When he woke up he was very nervous because he had intended to rest only for a little while but he had slept for the whole night. Then he started looking for his lost amulet and he was very upset and nervous. The king at once came out and asked him, “Have you lost something?” He replied, “Yes. I have lost my amulet, and that was what gave me the power to fly in the air. If I don’t have that how will I go back to my Master?” So that king gave that amulet back to him, and taking it, the yogi once again flew in the air and went back to his Master.

When his Master asked him why he was delayed the yogi told him the whole story. The Master was very much impressed by the generosity of the king and he wanted to reward that king. So the Master of the yogi came to the king along with a couple of other yogis. He brought some other amulets with him and said, "You have done a very good thing for my disciple; you have helped him a lot. You did not punish him. I am very pleased with you and I want to give you a couple of amulets using which you can fly in the air. We have acquired these powers after doing many austerities and a lot of yoga practices. So I want to give these to you." The king did not accept them. He said, "I feel very sorry for all of you, because you practiced so hard in the jungles. You left your homes for the wilderness and suffered so much hunger and thirst and kept yourself in samadhi only for these things? Only to get the power to fly in the air and nothing more than that? I feel that all that you have done is a waste of time and I don't want these amulets from you."

So because he was very sincere, he did not accept those things. He said, "I have my army, I have many other means of traveling. Why should I use the amulets? I feel very sorry that instead of doing the devotion of God for meeting Him you have wasted your time only for acquiring these powers. That is why I don't want to share them with you. You are doing miracles, and that is like you are becoming equal to God Almighty. I do not want to become one of you."

So Guru Teg Bahadur told his disciples, "Because of his sincerity and his truthfulness, God Almighty became pleased with him, and he also became the devotee of God."

So Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, "The Masters never perform any miracles, and They always tell Their disciples also not to do any miracles." To perform a miracle you are losing your own wealth which you have earned with hard work. The biggest miracle which the Master can perform is to connect the soul with the Oversoul. There is no bigger miracle than that. And Master Sawan Singh always used to say, "The Saints would prefer to die rather than to produce the miracles using the powers which They have earned by doing very hard meditations." Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj also used to say, "The riddhis and siddhis, the supernatural powers, are the slaves of the one who does the meditation of Naam." He used to say, "The Masters never perform any miracles. But since the supernatural powers are the slaves of those who do the meditation of Naam, in order to please their Master, sometimes they do things for the other people because they want the favors of the Master. That is why they do those things, and people think that the Master has done that. But in fact the Masters do not have anything to do with those miracles, they all happen by themselves." The Masters are strictly against performing the miracles. So that is why Masters never perform any miracles; They do not show off Their powers. But those who obey Their commandments, those who go within, they do not doubt the real glory and powers of the Master.

SANT JI: "The first step is Simran, the second is Dhyān. . . . Only through Simran can we rise above and come to this place. [Sant Ji points to the eye-focus.] And when our attention is concentrated through Simran, then comes Dhyān. So while doing Dhyān we have to do Dhyān of that person who initiated us.

The Light of Ajaib

Guru Nanak said that we have to do Dhyān of the form of a Saint. Why do we have to do Dhyān of a Saint? Because when we do Dhyān of some holy man, some good man, a better man than us, we will start getting – absorbing some of his good qualities. When you do Simran of the world, you are doing Dhyān of the world. When you do Simran of your Guru, then you are doing Dhyān of your Guru. Unless you give up Simran of the world, you cannot do Simran of the Guru and you cannot have Dhyān of the Guru.

So two powers are working: one is surat, the second is nirat. The work of surat is to listen to the Sound Current, and the work of nirat is to see the Light. Unless we concentrate our attention which is spread, our nirat will not see the Light; and unless that is concentrated, our surat will not listen to the Shabd. We are habituated to do Simran of the world from ages and ages and when we are on our death bed or our end-time comes, if we are doing the Simran of the world, we will come again to the world. Where you are attached, there you will come again; but if we are doing Simran of our Guru and having Dhyān of our Guru while we are sitting or doing any other thing when our death time comes, we will definitely have the Simran of our Guru and the Radiant Form of the Timeless Lord will come through Simran and Dhyān.

It will be instilled in the disciple and only that disciple can have the Dhyān, only that disciple can see the Radiant Form of the Lord, who has been doing Simran all the time.

MASTER: “. . . withdrawal is greatly assisted by simran or repetition of the charged mantra; and the perception of the inner light, leading to dhyān or one-pointed concentration, quickens the process still further. In turn, dhyān when fully developed, leads to bhajan or inner hearing. The inner light begins to become resonant.

“The practitioner, when he shuts his physical ears, gets rapidly absorbed into the music. . . . though light can catch the eye, it cannot hold it for very long and has no very magnetic quality about it. But with music it is different. He who hears it in silence and stillness, is drawn irresistibly, as it were, into another world, a different realm of experience. And so the process of withdrawal that begins with simran, is stimulated by dhyān, and is rapidly extended by bhajan. . . .”

p. 156

“In actual practice of the spiritual discipline, stress is laid on Simran, Dhyān and Bhajan, each of which plays a specific role in unfoldment of the Self. The Master gives Simran or mental repetition of the charged words, which help in gathering together the wandering wits of the practitioner to the still point of the soul between and behind the two eyebrows, to which place the sensory currents now pervading from top to toe are withdrawn, and one becomes lost to the consciousness of the flesh. The successful completion of this process of itself leads to dhyān or concentration. Dhyān is derived from the Sanskrit root dhi, meaning “to bind and “to hold on.” With the inner eye opened, the aspirant now sees shimmering streaks of heaven’s light within him and this keeps his attention anchored. Gradually, the light grows steady in his sadhna, for it works as a sheet-anchor for the soul. Dhyān or concentration when perfected, leads one to Bhajan or attuning to the music which emerges from within the center of the holy light. This enchanting holy melody has a magnetic pull which is irresistible [to the] the soul . . .

1991 July: Masters Always Shower Grace

Session Date: March 31, 1981

This question & answer session was given, March 31, 1981, at Sant Bani Ashram, Rajasthan.

[Note: this talk was also published in the May, 1982 issue of Sant Bani Magazine]

QUESTION: In the bhajan book there are four bhajans by Bramanand, I have never heard about this Mahatma can you please tell us about Bramanand?

SANT JI: Not much is known about Mahatma Bramanand but he was a Mahatma who was born in a place called Pushpur which is in Rajasthan.

One or two hundred years ago there were many Mahatmas present on this plane. You know that not much is known about many of the Mahatmas because when the Mahatmas come in this world only in a few cases are their life sketches written down and the record kept.

Kabir Sahib was the first Mahatma, the first Param Sant to come into this world and He came in all the four ages and He never went below the human body. He was a great Mahatma but still there are many conflicts and many misunderstandings about his life story. Someone writes that he got married and had children, somebody says that he never got married. Nobody knows for sure when he was born and there are many misunderstandings about his life also.

There are many other Mahatmas whose life stories are not available and for others there are many differences between the versions of different writers. Someone writes that such a Mahatma was born on such a date and another person writes differently according to his understanding.

From the bhajans written by Mahatma Bramanand we can see how strong was the love he had for his Master and from his bhajans we can see that he had so much love and faith in his Master.

He has written in his bhajans that, "Nobody else except the Master can help us in the hells and nobody else can help us cross this ocean of life without the help of the Master."

QUESTION: This question maybe has the sound of criticism but it is not meant to be. When the souls were given to this creation, my question is where do they come from? My concern is that they may have come from Such Khand and after traveling through the cycle of eighty-four lakhs, that well, maybe when I get up there, it might just be time that some other great soul would have done a lot of devotion and then they would be recruiting life for another creation and that is my concern.

SANT JI: In Sar Bachan Swami Ji Maharaj has written under the title, "The Dialogue with the Soul" because there also the soul asks similar types of questions, the soul asks that, "What is the guarantee that once I come up to Sach Khand I will stay there and you will not give me once again to the Negative Power? So Almighty Lord replied, "This Mauj, this Will, happened only once; once you have come back to me there is no question of going back to the Negative Power because I will not create this Will again."

The Light of Ajaib

The thing is that when a Satsangi gets Initiation he never goes below the human body, so nobody should think that they will have to go in the cycle of eighty-four lakhs births and deaths. You should be sure in your heart that since you have got the Initiation from Master you will definitely go to Sach Khand and you should not worry that Sat Purush will once again hand you over to the Negative Power. You should not worry about that because once you go back to Sach Khand you will stay there and you will not be sent back here. \

Swami Ji Maharaj has written that Sat Purush says, "I have created this Negative Power knowingly because without the fear of the Negative Power the other souls were not coming under my control."

When a soul comes into this world and after suffering in this world when that soul goes back to her Real Home she finds so much happiness that she doesn't want to come back into this world again. You know that when we are united with someone from whom we were separated, our joy knows no bounds. We are so happy once we have been united with our long separated beloved that who wants to be separated from them again?

QUESTION: I know that it is very important to have a very good attitude about meditating, to be in the right frame of mind, and you say continually not to feel it as a burden. What is the best way to get our mind to stop feeling it is a tremendous burden to meditate?

SANT JI: Dear One, you know that our mind is a very obstinate enemy and since he is an agent of the Negative Power it is his duty to stop the souls from doing the devotion of Almighty Lord. So that is why he is performing his duty well; he is obeying his Master. In the same way when we sit for meditation, when we are sitting to do the job of our Master, we should also perform our duty very well. As mind is doing his duty and he is trying his best to stop us from doing the meditation, in the same way, at the same time, we should also perform our duty very well. We should obey the commandments of the Master and not listen to the mind; we should only listen to the Master and do what He has told us to do.

QUESTION: Could one visualize the Master's Form while doing Simran?

SANT JI: If we will do the Simran lovingly and affectionately then without visualizing the Form of the Master, the Form of the Master Himself comes there and starts dwelling within us.

It is a natural practice; you know that if you remember anything you will start seeing or feeling that thing in your within, in your mind. In the same way when we will do the Simran given by the Perfect Master, lovingly and affectionately, then by Himself His Form will start appearing within us. If we are making any efforts from our side, if we are trying to visualize the Form of the Master then we will not be able to get any success in that because we won't be able to visualize the complete Form of the Master. Sometimes we may be able to visualize only the eyes of the Master, sometimes the beard or turban, and in that way our meditation will be disturbed, we won't get any success at that. So it is better just to do the Simran lovingly because if we remember the Master lovingly He will start to appear within us by Himself.

QUESTION: When the relatives of an Initiate die do they know when they pass on that they have gotten liberation from the Master?

SANT JI: Yes, he knows that but he cannot say that to others.

If there is any Satsangi relative who has done meditation and who goes within in meditation then he definitely learns whether his relative has been liberated or not.

The Light of Ajaib

It is a matter of faith and having the experience. As you say, if a relative of a Satsangi, even if he is not an initiate, even if he has not seen the Master, but if he has heard about the Master from his Satsangi relative and if he has a little bit of faith in the Master then definitely he is under the protection of the Master and Master definitely protects him.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “A Satsangi’s one generation gets liberation, of the Satsangis who do meditation many generations get liberation, and one hundred and one generations of the Param Sant get liberation.

This is my own experience, that there was one boy of fourteen years old, who was one of my relations and he was suffering from a disease and he left the body at a very young age. But his last days were very painful for him, he would complain that the snakes were all over his body and the insects were eating up his body and that he was seeing many dangerous and evil faces. He would complain to his mother, “Mother why are you not helping me?” His mother and the other people around were not able to see and experience all those things because they were all astral. Whenever I would go near that boy he would request me to stay longer with him because he would say that whenever I went and sat with him the evil faces stopped coming to him and he did not feel any biting from the insects or snakes and he felt peace at that time.

That boy was not an initiate but his parents were initiated by the Master. Master had told them in a dream that since he is suffering so much, he would not be able to live in this world, he would die after three days. The Master told them He would come to take his soul and that he would be born again in the human body and he would become a man. Master even told them the name of the village where he was going to get a new birth. Master told his mother that three days from then He would come around midnight and take the boy’s soul up. But before leaving the body the boy would drink some tea.

So on that night at eleven-thirty that boy asked for tea and his mother went in the kitchen to make the tea. At that time, because she was having so much faith in the Master she was singing a hymn and she knew that the boy would not leave the body until he drank the tea, so she was delaying in making the tea. Anyway, at five minutes of twelve she came in with tea because that boy had said, “Bring the tea as soon as possible.” As soon as that boy drank two spoonfuls of tea he left the body. Before leaving the body he spoke the name of Master, and since I was sitting very close to him he put his hand on my chest. Even though he had been having so much pain in his last days, when he left the body his passing out was peaceful. He did not have any pain at that time because Master came there to protect his soul and Master took his soul up.

His parents did not weep because they had faith in the Master and they knew that He had protected his soul. Regarding my father I have said many times that he did not have the opportunity to have the darshan of my beloved Master. He used to say, “I will see when your devotion will liberate me.” He used to say that in the way of a taunt.

When I came to Master at that time my father was very old and he was not able to travel to have the darshan of Master, so once I requested Master, “Master, my father is very old and he has not seen You and many times he taunts me and says, ‘I will see when your devotion will liberate me’ “ and I requested Master to take care of his soul.

A few days before he left the body, the relatives cabled me. Since he was living in the Punjab and I was living in Rajasthan, I went there and he told me that he loved me very much. He caressed me and he told me that he was seeing two Forms in his within Who had white beards and white turbans. When I showed him pictures of Master Sawan Singh and Master Kirpal Singh he said, “Yes,” that They were the ones Whom he was seeing within and They were saying, “We have come to take you.”

Then he realized that my devotion was going to liberate him and then he told people, “Today I realize that the devotion which my son is doing is true and the Master whom he is worshipping, whom he is following, is also the true one.”

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “It is a very big thing that the Masters take care of the human beings, the relatives of the Satsangis, but They even take care of the souls of the animals who are taken care of by the Satsangis.”

QUESTION: In the same line of questioning, you mentioned about relatives that knew about the Master and were somewhat favorable toward the Master, what about relatives who in their lifetime, were thinking that the Master was a very bad thing, when they die what happens to them, does the Master take care of them as well?

SANT JI: You see they are also protected because sometimes they also remember the Master; it doesn't matter in which way they remember the Master.

There is one very famous story in the Sikh history about Chandu Savai who was an officer of Emperor Jahangir. He was the person who was responsible for the torture that was given to Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj. He had enmity toward Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj; he made Him sit on hot coals, he put burning sand on His head, and he did many other bad things to Guru Arjan Dev.

After Guru Arjan Dev was tortured to death, the Sikh people wanted to take revenge on Chandu Savai. They requested Emperor Jahangir to give him to the Sikhs. When Chandu Savai came into the hands of the Sikhs, what did they do? They put a chain around his neck and pulled him as one pulls a dog, and they gave him a very hard time. When he was brought into the city of Lahore the person who had put the burning sand on the head of Guru Arjan Dev came there. He was also very angry that Chandu Savai had made him do such a bad deed. So he came there and he hit Chandu Savai on the head with a very heavy vessel and because of that Chandu Savai left the body. But before leaving the body he requested Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj, “O Master, only you can save me from this pain.”

Because he remembered Guru Arjan Dev Ji lovingly, and previously when he was planning to torture Guru Arjan Dev, day and night he would always think of the plans of how to kill Guru Arjan Dev. So he was also remembering Guru Arjan Dev and he had remembered Him a lot. So because of his remembrance and the request of his end time, Guru Arjan Dev came there and liberated his soul.

This question was asked by one of the five devotees of Guru Gobind Singh, he asked Guru Gobind Singh, “Master because Chandu Savai did such a bad thing; he killed a perfect Master it means that he must be suffering in hell.” But Guru Gobind Singh replied, “No, he is not in hell anymore, as a matter of a fact as soon as he left the body he was liberated by Guru Arjan at that time and he was not sent into hell. When he left the body the Angels of Death also came because they wanted to give him the punishment for all his bad deeds but at the same time Guru Arjan Dev and the other Masters also came there because he had requested for help and he had called Them. So They came there and They could not but shower grace on him and They liberated his soul.

The Light of Ajaib

Master used to say about Jesus Christ that when he was being crucified, at that time he said, “O Lord, forgive them because they have not understood me.”

Because Saints and Mahatmas have a very big heart They always want to shower grace on the souls. They know that the souls do not do any bad deeds, all the bad things are done only by mind. They also know that only what is in the Will of God happens, and the souls do not have anything in their hands.

The souls that love the Master and who have love and affection for others remain at peace in this world as well as in the world beyond; when they go in the inner planes there also they find peace and happiness.

Those souls who do not love the Master, who do not have any love and affection for other people, they do not find any peace in this world. They are always easily hurt and they always remain in pain in this world as well as when they go into the other world. When they go in the other world, in the inner planes, there also they find no peace or happiness.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, the non-initiated souls that are taken by the Master, are they given rebirth, or are they taken directly to Sach Khand?

SANT JI: Those who have not got the Initiation they are given the human body in which they are given the Initiation. Because liberation is only in the Naam.

QUESTION: If we do not progress much in this incarnation and Master chooses not to send us back for another birth and He puts us in a particular place in the inner planes, do we continue our meditation in the inner planes, is it a different kind of meditation?

SANT JI: God has given the full authority to the Master and it is up to Him to decide whether He has to send the soul back into this world or not; and only He knows in which plane He has to keep the soul and what He has to make the soul do.

But I will advise you that you should never think such things. You should never think that when you will not progress much in this lifetime then you will be kept in some of the inner planes and then Master will pray for you and take you back home – you should not think like that. You should think, “No, it is our duty to do the meditation.” You should have the desire to do the meditation and to complete the task which you have been given in this lifetime.

If the son does not work and does not earn any money but instead looks at the property of the father and asks him, “Which property will you give me, how much money will you give me?” and things like that. No doubt his father will definitely give him whatever he needs, he will give him the house and money. But since he has not earned that money, both his friends and well-wishers will say, “He is not a good man because he has not earned his money. All his money was given to him by his father.”

Once some sevadars came to Master Sawan Singh and requested Him to liberate them without doing the meditation but Master Sawan Singh said, “No. This is not possible. It is your work to do the meditation and it is the work of the Master to shower grace on you. If you will leave off meditating you will have to start from that very point where you left off.”

Sant Satgurus come into this world with a lot of grace and there is no doubt in this fact that lovingly They carry the burden of Their disciples without them even asking for it but it is our duty to help in

Their mission and we should also carry and share some of the burden which They are carrying. The only way of doing that is by doing the meditation.

QUESTION: When we feel pain during meditation – I know You have talked about it some, but I still don't understand very well. Kirpal used to say when He put us into meditation to make sure you do not have any tension in any part of the body. But I know that if I don't have any pain at all, I may go to sleep. I know a little bit of pain will keep me awake, and sometimes more pain helps me to concentrate more, could you explain some?

SANT JI: Well, this is not a problem that everyone is having. Usually when the Masters explain about pain They tell us that we should sit in such a position in which we do not have any tension in the body, because if we do not have any tension in the body only then will we be able to sit for a long time.

There are some people who if they sit without any tension, if they sit comfortably they fall asleep, but this is not the case of everybody. Those who have this problem should sit in such a way in which they may feel a little amount of pain and still remain awake.

1991 August: To Bathe in the Dust of the Master's Feet

Session Date: April 3, 1981

This question & answer talk was given April 3, 1981, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, during the tour last summer you mentioned that it would be a very long time until you came back to North America. You said that the world situation would be very terrible; could you explain that to us?

SANT JI: I did not mean to say that, and I did not say that after looking at the condition of the world. I meant to say that it is a very big thing for a Saint to visit any country, any area in the world; and for the people living in that area it is a blessing. These things do not happen again and again. You know that I am bound to the orders of my Master; and it all depends on the love of the dear ones. If the love of the dear ones pulls me there and if my Master orders me, then I will go there again.

We should not become restless in our minds after hearing the news on the radio and reading the newspapers and the prophecies which the people make about the world and the conditions in the world. We have been given Initiation; so we should do our meditation, because we can do nothing about the conditions of the world.

The Satsangi should always have faith in the Master and he should always go on doing his Bhajan and Simran. He should never think about the world; he should never get worried about what is happening in the world or what might happen in the world. This world in which we are living now is the world of Negative Power and if anyone says that he will make this the world of happiness, or if anyone tries to do that, he can never do that, because unrest has always been here in this world and in the future the same thing will continue.

You know that in the world there always are wars; some days some countries are fighting and other days other countries are fighting. In this way this thing is always continuing. Why are all these people fighting with each other? Only because they are attached to their community and their country, that is why they are fighting with each other. They do not rise above their communities and countries, and they do not see this truth: that God is residing within each of us and we should see God working everywhere. Because they do not do that, they remain attached to their community and their country and that is why they are fighting.

We should rise above all these things and do our devotion. I have never made any prophecy that it will take a long time for me to go to the West again, and never did my Master make such prophecies either, because as I have always said, it all depends on the Will of the Master. Wherever, in His Will, He sends me, I will go and have the darshan of the Beloved.

Guru Nanak Sahib calls Himself as a wooden puppet. He says, “What can a puppet do when her string is in the hand of Almighty God? Whatever He wants happens, and whatever way He wants the puppet to dress up, she has to do that. Wherever He sends her, the puppet has to go there, and what He wants the puppet to do, the puppet has to do. What can we do?” So we are like puppets in the hands of Almighty God and our strings are in His hands. Wherever He sends us we have to go there. Whatever He tells us to do, we have to do. We do not have any will of our own.

Many times I have said this, and even Russell Perkins knows about this, because he was the person who came here and met me. What was my plan at that time? My plan was not to come out into this world any time and that I would always remain inside and do my devotion. In the pain of separation after Master left the body I was so hurt in my heart that I did not want to do anything in the world, that is why I decided to spend all the remaining time of my life indoors. I did not want to come out, and I did not want that people should come and disturb me. That is why I told the person who was here to cook food for me that he should lock the door from outside so that people might think that, because the door was locked from outside, I was not here and they would go away without bothering me. But because of your love I was brought out and that is why I always say, “Your love has brought me out.”

The worldly people do the things involving themselves in the ego and they say, “We have done this and we have done that.” And the Beloveds of God always do things in the Will of God. They say, “Nothing happens because of what we do, but whatever He wants us to do, only that happens.”

QUESTION: The mind is very strong here and also the mind is a very great marksman and it finds its mark all the time. I find that I am being besieged by temptations and attacked on all sides. By doing the Simran just the way I hear the Master do it before we do meditation and by thinking about the Master I find that I am able to dispel those temptations. But there are so many temptations that, although I have great faith in the Master, I am starting to have real doubts about myself. I wonder if these also will diminish as we leave here and are not in the Master’s grace anymore or will these things leave scars – these thoughts, these battles, that we have had from the Negative Power?

SANT JI: Satguru never leaves the disciple not even for one moment. He is always accompanying the disciple like a shadow and not even for one moment does He go away from the disciple.

The only difference is that always there is a veil drawn between the Master and the disciple. Until the disciple has complete love and faith in the Master he cannot see the Master walking with him and doing things for him. When you leave here the Master will not leave you, He will be with you; if you will do your Bhajan and Simran wholeheartedly and if you will remember this holy trip, then definitely you will get help.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Someone out of Baba Somanath's group once told me that it was important to be careful about any sharing of utensils or food, making sure you do not take any food from someone else's plate, or things like that. Can You discuss this some and tell us if it is important or not in one's own family?

SANT JI: Regarding this a lot has been published in Sant Bani Magazine.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, "The meditator will never let you eat from his plate, because if he does that he will have to give his meditation to you and if you let someone eat from your plate, then you will have to take some karmas of that person, you will have to give benefit of your meditation."

It is just a trick of our mind that we think that by sharing food from the same plate or by feeding each other that we are increasing the love between us, but that is not true. I have seen in many cases that one day they are feeding each other and eating from the same plate, and the next day they are separated.

QUESTION: I don't know if this is a common experience for other people or not, and I know that we are not supposed to focus into our bodies in meditation, but sometimes it feels like the body temperature is rising very rapidly, I get real hot, and I was wondering if there was any spiritual or karmic implication to this phenomena?

SANT JI: This does not happen with all the people, it happens to some people. It doesn't have anything to do with the karmas. Sometimes when we do not have as much peace in our mind as we should have this thing happens.

QUESTION: In the Bani of the Masters it mentions bathing in the dust of the Feet of the Master. Should this be taken figuratively or literally?

SANT JI: In the Banis of the Saints and Masters They have said a lot about this dust and They say that it is very important. The dust in which we have to bathe is in the tenth door because all the nine openings, the nine doors, open outwardly; the tenth door is the door which opens inwardly, so after rising above these nine openings, when we enter the tenth door there we see the Feet of the Master. By saying that you should bathe in the dust of the Feet of the Saints it is meant that once you reach there you have to bathe, you have to surrender yourself, at the Feet of the Master. That is the Mansarovar, the Pool of Nectar in which you have to bathe. Both things are one and the same.

Tulsi Sahib has said, "Moment after moment bring your attention to the Eye Center and keep your attention there. Purify the mirror of your body and mind and beautify it with your attention." If your attention will be constant towards the Master, only then will you be able to reach His Feet and bathe in the dust of the Feet of the Master. Only then will the Light be manifested within you.

We bow down to the dust of the Feet of the Masters outwardly also, because if we do not get the dust of the Feet of the Masters outwardly, we cannot get the inspiration of going within and bathing in the dust of Their Feet inwardly.

Guru Nanak Sahib has also said, "O Nanak, I ask only for this bounty – please make me the dust of the Feet of the Saints."

To be able to achieve and to bathe in the dust of the Feet of the Masters is the reaction or the result of our very good karmas and it is a very big thing. There are sixty-eight places of pilgrimage in India. Guru Ramdas has written, "All those places long for the dust of the Feet of the Saints. They say, 'In us the drunkards, the people who have done bad karmas come and bathe, thinking that they are removing the dirt of their sins and that they are putting all their sins and dirt in our water. But we long for the dust of the Feet of the Masters or Saints, because by having a little bit of the dust of the Feet of the Saints, all our dirt and impurities and sins will be removed.” Once I expressed my desire to Baba Bishan Das of going to Hardwar. I told Him that I very much wanted to go and bathe in that holy place, the holy waters of Hardwar. Baba Bishan Das told me, “Not this year. Next year I will take you, and I will also go with you.” At that time I did not realize what Baba Bishan Das was going to show me, but whenever the Masters or the Saints say or do anything it always has some deep meaning behind it and I was not aware of that. So next year when He took me to Hardwar we arrived there late at night and as soon as we got there one woman came there and she requested Baba Bishan Das to let her wash His feet and let her drink that water. Baba Bishan Das replied, “No, I cannot let you do that, because I have not done so much meditation and I am not yet as perfect as you understand.” Although she was very insistent and she wanted to do that very badly, Baba Bishan Das was very strong and He did not let her do that, and then that woman left. I had never seen that woman coming to Baba Bishan Das any time previously, so next morning I asked Him, “Who was that woman?” Baba Bishan Das told me, “She is that river Gunga where you have come to bathe. Since many sinners and bad people come and bathe in the waters of Gunga, she is polluted with all the impurities and sins of the people and she is also longing for the dust of the Feet of the Saints so that she can get liberation.”

In the history of Guru Angad Dev, before coming to Guru Nanak [when he was Bhai Lena], he was a devotee of one goddess and he was like a group leader of his area. He used to collect the people and he would take them to have the darshan of the idol of that goddess. Once it so happened that he came in contact with a disciple of Guru Nanak Dev who asked him a very simple question. That disciple of Guru Nanak asked him, “Have you ever met that goddess whose darshan you are seeking all the time you are going to visit her temples and all that?” Bhai Lena was very surprised. Until then nobody had asked him such a question, so he was worried because he had never met that goddess and he was very devoted to her. So he replied, “No, I have never met that goddess.” So that disciple of Guru Nanak told him, “Well, this time when you go to visit the temple of that goddess, on the way you should stop in the place called Katarpur.” (That is where Guru Nanak used to live, and it was on his way to the place where the temple of the goddess was.) So the disciple told him, “You should go and see my Master, Guru Nanak, and then you will know whether what you are doing is correct or not.” So when Bhai Lena, along with other devotees of the goddess, came to Katarpur and met Guru Nanak he was impressed. Then he told his friends, “I will not go with you tonight; you should continue your journey, and I will stay here.” So when Bhai Lena remained with Guru Nanak, at three o’clock that night he saw that one woman was sweeping the floor of Guru Nanak’s house. He was very surprised to see that woman there because it was so early in the morning and there was no point of cleaning the floor, but still she was doing that wholeheartedly. So Bhai Lena approached her and asked her who she was and what she was doing there. She replied, “I am that goddess whose devotee you are, and I am begging at the door of this great Saint because I long for the human body so that I can do the devotion of Naam and go back to the plane where my soul was separated from Almighty Lord.”

Hearing that Bhai Lena was surprised very much and then he realized that the devotion he had been doing was not correct and that he should be practicing the Path of Guru Nanak. He asked that goddess, “Up until now I have done a lot of devotion to you, but still you did not give me your darshan, but today I have seen you. What is the reason behind this? Why did you not give me your darshan earlier?” She replied, “I am always here begging at the door of Guru Nanak, so how can I go and give darshan to anybody else? When I myself am longing for the liberation how can I give liberation to others?”

So when Bhai Lena saw this thing only then did he get Initiation from Guru Nanak and then he became the gurumukh disciple of Guru Nanak. If we have faith in the Master outwardly, only then will we have the inner faith for Him. If we have love for the outer dust of the Master, only then will we long for the inner dust and will we be able to go within.

Only those who meditate have love for the Feet of the Master and only they have appreciation and respect for the dust of the Feet of the Masters.

QUESTION: I appreciate very much the video tapes of Sant Ji’s tours, being able to see Him and I wondered when we look at You on the television, on the video tape, do we receive your darshan like we do when we see you?

SANT JI: It depends on the faith of the dear ones. At least you remember. It is very good that the dear ones have arranged for that, it is very good for you.

QUESTION: In the last darshan You told us that it is up to the Satguru if we come back for another birth. Once in the past, You said that even if we are doing a little bit of meditation, when we die we won’t come back, and that we should not think we are coming back, because we will go where we think we are going. If this is the case, if we have full confidence in the competency of the Master that we are not coming back, will we not come back? And further, if we have confidence in the competency of the Master that He will take us straight to Sach Khand, will He indeed take us straight to Sach Khand?

SANT JI: Yes, our soul will get the benefit according to the faith we have for the Master; and those who have faith in the Master they will definitely meditate.

Satguru does not wish that His disciples should come back into this world and again face the problems; He never wants that. I am telling this thing to you and this is truth. The Master wants the disciple to fulfill his task in this birth and go back to Sach Khand. There are very few incidents in which the Satsangi or the initiate gets one more birth. When the initiate makes or develops many bad karmas and when the Satguru sees that there is no other way out except by giving him another birth, only then does he get another birth.

If we know what is meant by “faith” then there is no question of our being lazy. We will never be swayed off our devotion by lust, we will never have bad thoughts, we will never have periods of dryness. We will never have any of these things. When we have faith that our Master is not a human being, that He is sent in the human body only for our liberation, only to teach us, and that He is competent – He will definitely take us back to Sach Khand and we should obey His commandments. If we have all these things in our mind then there is no power on this earth which can bring us back into this world; and since everything is in the hands of the Master and He never wants us to come back into this world, then there is no question of our getting another birth.

It is a very subtle, yet complicated thing, very hard to understand, that the Negative Power has the strings of all the souls in His hands, but when the Master gives us Initiation, at that time He takes the strings of the souls whom He has Initiated from the Negative Power and connects or ties those strings in Sach Khand.

The Light of Ajaib

Only those souls whose time is up and who are chosen by God for liberation go in the company of the Saints and take advantage of Them. The other souls, no matter how much they know about the Saint, but they still can never come in contact with Him.

The distance does not make any difference; if anyone is living across seven seas or far away from the Master, if it is written in his fate to get the Naam and to come to the Master, he will definitely find his way to come to the Master. If it is not written in the fate of a person to get Initiation from the Master, even if he is living very close to Him, he will never have any faith in the Master and he will never get the Initiation.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “As long as the curtain is drawn in our within we may say that we are coming to Satsang, that we came to the Master and then He Initiated us, that we meditate and that we do this and that thing. But after the veil is lifted, we see that we were doing nothing, in fact all the things were being done by the Master. Master was the One Who brought us to Him, He was the One Who was making us meditate, He was the One Who was bringing us to Satsang, and He is the One making us do all the things. Only then do we realize that everything is done by Him and we are doing nothing.”

Only when the inner veil is lifted do we realize how the Saints’ ship of Naam works and how They are doing the merchandise of Naam. As Tulsi Sahib said, “The Masters bring the ship of Naam – in this mortal world – They bring the fruit of Naam in Their ship and give that fruit to the people. After giving that fruit to the people, They take the people in Their ship and take them back to Sach Khand.” We understand about all these things only when the inner veil is lifted.

QUESTION: I am not trying to be irreverent at all in asking this question and if it is not appropriate then I will just withdraw it, but is there any way the Master can tell us about what it is like in Such Khand?

SANT JI: I think it would be much better for you to go there and see how it is rather than asking me how it looks, because you have been put on the same Path and if you will work hard, if you will try, Master will definitely help you in getting there.

Regarding this Master Sawan Singh used to explain, giving a very beautiful example. He used to say that the Taj Mahal is a very beautiful monument in India and if we want to compare its beauty, if we want to give the example of Taj Mahal, or if we want to say that Taj Mahal looks like such and such a building – there is no building or monument in India with which we can compare the monument of Taj Mahal. When we cannot compare the earthly things, then how can we give any example to explain or to describe the beauty of Sach Khand. This is something which is worth seeing.

When Master Sawan Singh went to Agra, one girl who used to go within accompanied Him. Master Sawan Singh asked her if she had ever seen any beautiful palace or any beautiful building inside. She replied, “Whatever I am seeing in my within is so beautiful that in comparison to all those inner things, this outer Taj Mahal is just like a toilet.”

1991 October: The Karmas are Revealed Within

Session Date: March 29, 1987

This question and answer talk was given on March 29, 1987, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan, India.

Note: these questions and answers also appear in the June, 1987 issue of Sant Bani Magazine.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Yesterday, Sant Ji said that when we are initiated all the accounts of our stored karmas, the sanchit karmas, are torn up by the Master and the disciple doesn't have to worry about those. The debt is wiped out. I thought there was some kind of karmas which we had to eliminate by meditating later in the higher planes, as we progressed in the higher planes. I'd like to know about those – those aren't the stored karmas? They are other karmas? And the other thing I was curious to know is what the Master has to do to wipe out that karmic account. I know that there is a story about King Janak, that he liberated all the souls in hell with three rounds of Simran, and I was wondering if it was like that or if the Master had a greater price to pay.

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs heartily] I am very glad that you have asked such a deep question, because this is something which is worth paying attention to. It is possible that many other dear ones may also have the same kind of question. It is good that you have asked this question.

First of all I would like to tell you that those dear ones who go within know how all these things work. Often I have quoted Master Sawan Singh Ji; He used to say, "Unless we go within we do not know who is doing all the things. Until we go within we may think that we are going to the Satsang or that we have come to the Master to receive the Initiation, or that we are making the efforts in following the Path of the Masters. But once we go within, once we contact our beloved Master in our within, then we realize that it was not because of our effort that we were coming to the Satsang, and it was not because of our own effort that we got the Initiation, it was in fact the grace of the Master who brought us to the Satsang and Who made it possible for us to receive the Initiation." In the same way, after receiving the Initiation when we progress in meditation, until we have gone within and seen the beloved Master with our own eyes we may say that we are meditating, that we are making the effort to progress. But when we go within, then we realize that our efforts were of no use, it was only the grace of the Master which made it possible for us to do the meditation. In fact, He Himself woke us up for the meditation, He Himself gave us the inspiration and the courage to sit in the meditation, and He Himself pulled us up and made it possible for us to achieve progress in meditation.

Often I have said that at the time of the Initiation Sant Satgurus make such a unique arrangement within us that we pay off the consequences of the karmas which we are supposed to suffer, our pralabdha or fate karmas. Side by side, along with paying off those karmas, we also go on progressing in meditation. When we meditate it is like preparing our soul for that time when we will have to face the consequences of our fate karmas, or deal with the sufferings which are going to come according to our fate karmas, and that is why Masters always say that we should meditate. Because when we meditate we are preparing our soul to face that difficult moment.

Often I have said that when a storm comes even the strong trees get uprooted, what to talk about the small plants or the weak trees. In the same way, when the wave of karmas comes in our life, then many of the dear ones lose their faith; their faith is shaken and they may even leave the Path. But those who meditate, those who go within, they know why that pain and suffering has come. They are also aware of the help which they are receiving from their beloved Master. Only they know how from one side as they are getting the pain and suffering from the other side they are also getting the help from the Master.

Those dear ones who go within and meditate also feel the pain and sufferings when the wave of karmas comes, but they do not complain. They always remain happy in the Will of the Master, because they know how much their Master has done for them and what kind of karmas they are suffering in that moment. The other dear ones who do not meditate, who have not gone within, who have not realized what Master has done for them, whenever they have to face such a condition or situation, they at once become dry, they leave the Master, or their faith is shaken and is gone.

Swami Ji Maharaj has said, describing the condition of the dear ones who go within, “They always understand the moment of pain as a blessing from the Master, because in the moment of pain we can remember our Master in a much better way than we can remember Him in the moment of happiness.” Not all the Satsangis have the same kind of attitude. Only those who go within know the truth about what kind of karmas are finished by the Master and what kind of karmas they are suffering now. Those who have got that realization and that awareness of the karmas do not have any complaint and they always accept, happily, whatever comes in the Will of the Master. We can get this understanding of how the Master showers grace on us, how He cuts our karma, and how He is showering His grace and helping us, only after going within. Outwardly, by hearing the words of the Master, we may get a little bit of belief, we may get a little bit of faith in Him, but Masters always lay a lot of emphasis on going within, because only after going within can we understand and accept the reality, the truth. That is why Masters always say, “Go within and see everything with your own eyes.”

You know that Baba Bishan Das had the secret, the knowledge, of the first two Charged Words, and He was practically successful in those two words. He gave me the knowledge of the two words of the two lower planes. With His grace He also made me succeed in that practice. He Himself made me realize my previous birth, where I was born and who my parents were. He also gave me the signs about my previous birth. Only with His grace was I able to know what my connection and my give and take was with my present parents, the parents who brought me up. He Himself made me realize my give and take with the other people in the world. And with His grace I was able to finish the give and take with them. Only because of His grace was I able to tell my parents how long I was going to be with them. Many years before I left my home I had told them that I would be leaving my home at that time. So you see that it was all the grace of Baba Bishan Das by which I was able to know everything.

When a Mahatma Who was successful, Who had the knowledge of only two words could tell so many things, could have so much knowledge, you can very well imagine how much more knowledge you could have, because you are on the complete Path; you have the complete knowledge. You can very well imagine if you would practice, how much knowledge, realization and awareness you could achieve.

The Satsangis who go very high in meditation, and the Saints and Satgurus who know everything, have so much patience and endurance in Them, that They do not perform any miracles. Even though They may know that just by walking a few steps They are going to meet with an accident, still They will not try to stop that, because They do not do anything against the will of nature. They do not perform any miracles; and even though They know everything, still if it is according to nature and the Will of God, They will not try to change that Will.

There was an initiate of Baba Sawan Singh Ji who was from a low caste. He was a very good meditator but his wife had a very bad temper, she would always rebuke him and she would always go on fighting with him and sometimes would even give him a beating. He was very upset at that. He was a very nice man, a very devoted dear one. Once he went to Master Sawan Singh Ji and told Him about his sufferings.

If we do the meditation and after doing the work which the Master has told us to do, if we go to the Master and tell Him about our sufferings and pains, sometimes the Masters do give us the hints. They shower a special grace on us and let us know why we are going through that suffering, and what is the cause of that pain.

So when he went to Master Sawan Singh Ji and told Him about his wife's nature and how it was very difficult for him to live with her, Baba Sawan Singh Ji, in His full glory and in His Will, told that dear one, "Do you know who you were in your past life? You were a crow. Your wife was a female donkey, and she was owned by a washerman. Whenever that washerman would bring that donkey near the place where you used to live, you used to go and sit on her. She had a wound on her back and you used to pick at that wound with your beak and in that way you used to torture her. Also whenever you wanted to clean your beak you would do that in that wound. So in that way you have tortured her a lot, and you have given her so much pain. And because your give and take with her was not good in the past life, that is why in this lifetime she became your wife and you have become her husband, and that is why now it is her turn to give you the same kind of torture. All the Masters have said that whatever you have done in your past lifetime, you have to suffer the consequences of that. So now it is your karma. It is better for you if you would finish that karma in this lifetime, so that you may not have to come back into this world again and again."

Since that dear one used to go within, he knew how the laws of karma work, and since he had the realization that it was his own karma, he lived with that karma and he suffered whatever came in the Will of God and he never complained. About fifteen years ago, I went to a town called Sangria. I saw a man and woman who were moving from that town. I was watching them packing all those things and I was very surprised to see how his wife was treating him. She would give him a beating and he would say nothing. He would just patiently suffer whatever was coming. She would beat him with sticks and finally she put a big stick in his mouth and he did not say even a word. He patiently suffered and bore all that. I was very surprised and I could not understand how on earth there could be a person who had so much patience and endurance. I did not know the whole story, so I thought, "I should find out about this person." So I waited there and I saw them packing their stuff. After finishing their packing, when they started moving, I followed them about a mile. When they realized that somebody was following them, they asked me, "Man of God why are you following us? What do you want to know from us?" I said to that man, "I have never seen a person like you. I do not know what is wrong between you and your wife, but I am surprised to see how much patience you have. Can you tell me how you can do this?"

He told me the whole story. He said, "About forty years ago I was initiated by Baba Sawan Singh Ji; once I asked Him this question about why my wife was like this. I told Him that it was very difficult for me to live with her, and He told me the reason. Now I know that it is my karma, and that is why I am bearing and suffering all this. I have no regrets, because it is my own karma which I am paying in this lifetime. I know that if I will not pay this karma at this time, in this lifetime, I may have to come back into this world again, because whatever I have done in the past, I have to suffer the consequences. This incident which You have seen today is nothing in comparison to what I have gone through in the past. This happens every day; if not every day, then at least once every two or three days I get a similar kind of beating. Sometimes it is even worse. But I do not have any complaints. I know that I have done even worse to her than what she is doing in this lifetime."

So you see that those dear ones who go within and who have complete faith in the Master, they know which of their karmas Master has finished and what karmas they have to suffer. That is why they do not have any complaints, they do not have any regrets. They lovingly and happily suffer the consequences of the karmas which they have done in their past lifetimes, even though Master helps them a lot in understanding and paying off those karmas.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “All the family members which we have now – all our friends, brothers, sisters and relatives which are connected to us in this lifetime – they are connected as the result of our past connections with those souls. And the souls with whom our give and take was good, with whom our dealings were good, in the past lifetime, we have smooth and normal relations with them in this lifetime. But those souls with whom our connection and dealings were not good in the past lifetimes, in this lifetime also we have difficulties with them.” You know that in the family you have good relations with some members and with some others you do not get along. So that is why Master Sawan Singh Ji always used to say, “When we meditate and go within, only then can we come to know what kind of karmas we are paying and what Master has done in removing our karmas.”

In Mr. Oberoi’s book, Support for the Shaken Sangat, the story of Sunder Das, an initiate of Baba Sawan Singh Ji, is written. You know that Sunder Das was a very devoted initiate of Baba Sawan Singh Ji and he lived with me for many years. He was a very good meditator. It was Baba Sawan Singh Ji Who once in His Will had told Sunder Das about what was going to happen in his future. Baba Sawan Singh had told Sunder Das that his wife would get killed, and his son and daughter would also get killed. He said, “That will upset your mind; you will go crazy and in that madness you will kill somebody. As a result you will be taken to prison. There you should confess what you have done, even though people will try to help you. Still you should not accept anyone’s help, and you should go through the trial and accept the punishment. You will be sentenced to jail for twenty years, but don’t worry; have faith in the Master, since you will stay in the prison for only six years and then you will be released.”

It is a very interesting thing that when Baba Sawan Singh Ji told Sunder Das what would happen in his future, at that time, Sunder Das was not even married. But since he used to do a lot of meditation and he went within, he was very close and devoted to Baba Sawan Singh. He took everything that Master Sawan Singh said as true because he had a lot of faith in his Master. When he learned about his future, he thought, “Well, I will not get married. When I don’t get married, then I won’t have children. And all these things will not happen.”

But the circumstances in his life were such that he had to get married. When his family members were telling him to get married, since he knew all about his future, and he didn’t want all that to happen, he said “I don’t want to get married.” But they said, “Either you get married, or all of us will jump into the well and commit suicide.” There were five people in his family and they all wanted to commit suicide if Sunder Das had not agreed to get married. So that is why he gave in to them and he got married. After that everything happened as Baba Sawan Singh had said it would. He had a daughter and a son; first his wife left the body and then his son was killed in the prime of his youth, and his daughter was also killed. This upset his mind, it made him crazy, and in that craziness he killed someone.

When he was brought to the judge, the king of Faridkot, who was a very good friend of Sunder Das, knew that at the time he committed that murder he was not in his senses. So he was trying to help Sunder Das and he told the magistrate, “This old man, this baba, was not in his senses when he did this. He should be forgiven.” But Sunder Das, because Baba Sawan Singh had said that he should not accept anyone’s help, said, “No, I am not crazy. When I have done this murder, why don’t you give me the punishment.” So according to that, since he had confessed, he was sentenced for imprisonment for twenty years, but in 1947 when India and Pakistan were formed, the prisoners in the jails were released.

The Light of Ajaib

And Sunder Das was one of them. When he got released from the jail he had been in the jail exactly for six years.

After that he came and lived with me. He was so much devoted to the Master, he always remained faithful to the Master even though so much happened in his life. All the things which happened in his life even made him crazy. Still he did not lose his faith in the Master, because he used to meditate and go within. He knew that all that was happening in his life was according to his own karmas and that he himself had to pay them. And he knew how much Master Sawan Singh was helping him.

Often I have told you how he used to sit with me for meditation. We used to sit for eight hours at a stretch. Once when we were sitting for meditation his leg got burned and he was not even aware of it. When he got up from that meditation with his leg burned he said, "Today I have got such an intoxication in meditation which I have not gotten in my whole life." He was not aware of his burned leg. You also know, if you have read that book, that in the interview which he had with Master Kirpal Singh Ji, Master took him inside and he was made to tell people the things which he had seen within. So I mean to say that those who meditate, those who go within, they always remain devoted to the Master. Their faith never gets shaken off; they never lose their faith in the Master, because they know how the grace of the Master works. They know how the Master works as far as the payment of our karmas is concerned.

I always inspire the dear ones to read Sant Bani Magazine because a lot of Satsangs and short talks and question-and-answer talks like this have been published in the magazine. Many subjects are touched upon, and you can find out a lot of things by reading the magazine. Last time I went to America I gave many talks regarding the inner planes and I tried to explain how things work in the inner planes. I gave brief talks about that. I also said, "At the time of initiation Master finishes off those karmas which can be an impediment or an obstacle for us in going within." When we bring our attention to the Eye Center, we see that our Master Who has given us the initiation is present there even before we get there. We see how He helps us to go within. As we go on progressing in meditation, we see how He, along with our progress in meditation, helps us to pay off our karmas.

I even said that when we do our meditation and progress in the meditation and go to Trikuti, the place where the storehouse of our sanchit karmas are stored, at that place also we are made to meditate a lot, if we are not purified enough. Because the effect which our soul has from the bad karmas can be removed only after doing a lot of meditation. Only by becoming completely pure can our soul go to the causal plane which is beyond Trikuti.

We do not know anything about the inner planes. Master always helps us; He is always with us every single step we take in our inner journey. He always guides and helps us. We cannot take even one step without the help and guidance of the Master. He is always with us in our within. As we go on progressing in meditation, as we go from the astral to the causal plane, as we go on progressing in meditation, we realize how great the help of the Master is and how much the Master is doing for us. Master takes us from plane to plane and He takes us to Sach Khand, our Real Home. Even after reaching Sach Khand, He does not leave us. He makes us stand in front of Almighty God and He requests on our behalf, "He is Your child, and he had forgotten Your Home; now he has come back asking forgiveness from You, and You should forgive him." So I mean to say that Masters always help the disciple in the inner planes, in the inner journey. When we go within we cannot take even one step without Them. And before we reach there They are already there to help us, and They take us and guide us on every single step we take in the inner journey.

Swami Ji Maharaj said, “If you want to see everything while you are living. if you want to practice all the things which you are taught, it is your courage and your efforts; you are great if you have the desire to do all that. But the most important and first thing you need in order to go within, is to understand and accept the grace of the Master.”

Now in the sangat you know that we all have faith in the Master according to the meditation which we have done. Those who have done more meditation and who are going in the within, they have more faith in the Master. Those who have not done a lot of meditation do not have enough faith in the Master. Those who have a lot of faith, those who do the meditation do not find faults in the Master even after reaching Sach Khand. In fact, they become indebted to the Master after reaching Sach Khand. But those who have not done a lot of meditation easily find fault with the Master if anything goes wrong.

Dear Ones, by saying all this I mean to say only this – as all the Mahatmas have said, “This world is the land of karmas; this is the place where we have to pay off our karmas.” We have been given this human body only to enjoy the rewards of the good karmas and to suffer the consequences of the bad karmas. Only in this lifetime, in this birth, can we square off our karmas.

In the Bhagavad Gita, Lord Krishna told Arjuna that neither our good karmas nor our bad karmas help us in getting the liberation from this body. He said, “Good karmas are like gold chains, and the bad karmas are like the iron chains. Neither our good nor our bad karmas can help us get liberation. Liberation is only in the meditation of Naam.”

Guru Nanak said, “O Brother, do not blame anyone for the sufferings you are getting. Whatever I have done I suffer the consequences of that. I am the one who is to be blamed.”

So we should also lovingly do our meditation according to the instructions of the Master. We should go within so that we may become free from this imprisonment of the karmas and gain the pleasure of the Master.

1991 October: The Value of Seclusion

Session Date: January 31, 1988

This question & answer talk was given January 31, 1988, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: In the instructions which Judith sends to everyone coming to India in the groups it is emphasized that we should remain in seclusion as much as possible while we are here and that we should refrain from conversation as much as possible. Could You please comment on the importance of refraining from conversation while we are here for these ten days?

SANT JI: You know that before we are going to do something we start thinking about it and making preparations for it; and we should do that if we want to achieve success in that work. You might remember that the first time I said things regarding coming to India,<sup>35</sup> I said that before coming here everyone should plan their trip here, and in that preparation, I also said that you should start sitting in the meditation, so that as you are preparing yourself for the trip by doing the meditation, your attention will always remain here and when you come here you do not have to struggle so hard to sit for meditation. If you have developed the habit of sitting for longer hours in meditation at your home then when you come here you can progress more in the direction of doing constant Simran, and you will not have to struggle very hard to meditate here. As far as keeping quiet or secluded is concerned, that also plays a very important part in achieving success in the trip here.

Master Kirpal Ji emphasized a lot about remaining in seclusion; Master Sawan Singh Ji also said a lot regarding remaining in seclusion. All the Saints have emphasized this a lot, because we cannot gain, we cannot achieve, God Almighty by talking. The more we talk, the more we become extroverted.

In the beginning it seems very difficult for us to remain in seclusion and refrain from talking because we have the taste of the worldly talks and we are habituated to talk about the things of the world. That is why it is very difficult for us to have control over our thoughts and over our tongue. But if we start keeping quiet and remaining in seclusion, controlling our conversation, then it becomes our habit, it becomes our nature. After that, in our heart we always find seclusion, we always find peace. Whether we are standing, sitting, walking, or doing anything, we will develop a habit such that either we will think about God or we will remember Him; then we do not enjoy the talking of the world.

When the dear ones are planning their trip here, first of all they work hard and save the money to buy the tickets and pay the other expenses, because I have always told people that they should not borrow money to come here. They should work hard, save the money, and they should come using their own money. So you know that when the dear ones are planning their trip here they are working hard and they are saving the money and they are making the preparations for coming here. At that time they think about the Master and all their attention is directed toward the Master. When I welcome the dear ones I tell them, "You should always remain involved in the work for which you have come here; you should always remember the purpose for which you have come here.

You know that it is not easy to come here; there are so many attachments binding you to your families and the world. You people come here, leaving all those things behind, and if you do not do the work for which you have traveled so far, then what is the use of your coming here? If after coming here you spend your time in talking then what was the use of your coming so far? You could have easily talked and done all those things back at your home. So you should always remember that you have come here for some definite purpose. You have come here to get the advantage of the Presence of the Master. You have come to do Bhajan and Simran and remain in seclusion.

So that is why all the dear ones who come here should understand the importance of remaining in seclusion and keeping quiet so that they may gain the advantage, gain the benefit, of the Presence of the Master. Those dear ones who obey the instructions of the Master, who remain in seclusion and do their Bhajan and Simran as they are instructed, they tell me about their progress and beautiful experiences in their interviews. Do not think that those who keep quiet, or those who do the Bhajan and Simran do not get anything, they do get a lot of benefit, they do get a lot of grace, and they report that in their interviews. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to lay a lot of emphasis on this matter. He used to say that when you are attending the Satsang of the Master, your attention should be so concentrated on the Form of the Master that you are not even aware of the party sitting next to you. Even when the Master is talking to someone during the Satsang, you should not be paying any attention to the person to whom the Master is talking. Your attention should be fixed at the forehead of the Master; you should be wholly absorbed in having the darshan of the Master. Since in the Satsang and the meditation your heart is filled up with the grace of the Master, if after the Satsang or the meditation you start talking with or you start making contacts with other people, what will happen? All the spirituality and the grace with which your heart is filled will start going out and instead of the spirituality, all the things of the world will come back into your heart. That is why Master Sawan Singh always used to say that after attending the Satsang or doing the meditation you should not talk with anyone; you should remain in meditation. All the Saints have emphasized about remaining in seclusion, but They have not told us that we should leave the world and go into the jungles and the forests. They have said, “No, you do not need to go into the forest, you do not need to leave your family, you have to live in this world. But along with living in the world with your families, still you have to maintain the seclusion.”

We can make our home itself a jungle. When I got Initiation from Baba Bishan Das, when I was doing the meditation on the first Two Words, as you all know, I did the meditation of those Two Words for eighteen years. And the ashram where I was sitting and doing the meditation also had the same kind of boundary wall as we have here. I remained in seclusion for all those years; no one was allowed to come and see me and not everyone was allowed even to come into the ashram. There was a person sitting at the gate and he would not allow anyone in and I would not go out of my room to meet the people. I would come out only for necessary or very important things, otherwise I would remain inside and do the meditation. Here at this ashram there are many dear ones who know about my seclusion and about the way I did the meditation at that time, and even now living in this ashram, I remain in seclusion. Sometimes for weeks together I do not come out and I don't see the dear ones who are living in the ashram itself. I come out and meet only those people who come from far away, those who have come for a spiritual purpose. Otherwise I always remain in seclusion; I don't go out and see people.

It is not that I am not attending to my responsibilities towards the ashram. I am attending my responsibilities towards the ashram, and also, since I am a farmer, I help Gurmel do the farming, and even in the smallest details of the farming work I help and guide him.

It is good that Judith has been instructing the dear ones concerning the trips to India, if we will understand and obey these instructions it is for our own good.

I said that in the beginning it seems difficult because we are habituated to talk in the outer world, that is why it is difficult for us to do this, but later on. when we develop the habit of remaining introverted and remaining in seclusion, then it becomes very easy for us and then our condition becomes like this – our hands are at work but our heart is towards our Beloved.

Guru Nanak Sahib said, “Those who develop this habit, they talk with the people of the world outwardly, but within them, they are always connected with God Almighty.”

QUESTION: Dear Master, if we inherit things like money, or a house, or an apartment, or land etc., from our parents or our close relatives before or after their leaving the body, in which cases can we keep those things and when should we not accept or donate the given things?

SANT JI: In India it is a law that the children always inherit the property of the parents and it is not considered anything bad – there is no sin in doing that – because their parents have inherited or received those things from their parents. So it is not considered a bad thing. Regarding inheriting property or other things from someone who is not related to us – if we serve or take care of them and if they become pleased with us and if they give us their property and other things there is nothing wrong in accepting those things also. In a way you are getting the reward or the fruit of doing the seva of taking care of them. If you get the opportunity to serve some older person then you should take advantage of it. If that person becomes pleased with you and gives you his things, or if you inherit his property – then the question is about where to spend it or where to use it?

If you are using or spending that money in a good cause, then you are making good karmas, but if you are not spending it for the right cause, if you spend it for the wrong things, then you are making karmas for your own self. But to inherit things by deceiving someone is a very bad sin. In this context I will once again tell you a story which I told when I was commenting on the Asa Ji Di Var.

This happened in the lifetime of Guru Nanak Sahib, in the city of Lahore. There were two people whose names were Gungu and Pungu; they were very poor people. In those days people in India used to perform a special kind of practice every year in the name of their dead parents or grandparents which the pundits called Sharad. The pundits told the people, “If you will feed us, on their behalf, and if you will give us the money for the wear-and-tear of our teeth, and if you will give us the clothes for them, your parents or grandparents who have left the body will get all these things in the heavens. Whatever you give us, they will get all those things through us.” So this was a kind of illusion which the pundits had created at that time and everybody was following that. Each year people would spend a lot of money and feed and give things to the pundits thinking that their parents were going to get those things in the heavens.

So Gungu and Pungu were very poor people and they could not afford to do that but the pundits told them, “If you will not do this, it is not a good thing for you. You should do all these things – you should give us all kinds of foods, you should give us good clothes, you should give us money – otherwise your parents will get upset with you. It doesn’t matter how you collect those things, but you should do it, otherwise you will be displeasing your parents.”

Since Gungu and Pungu didn’t have any other means, they stole from a merchant’s shop and they collected all kinds of different foods which they were going to give the pundits.

Guru Nanak Sahib also had come to Lahore and when He visited Gungu and Pungu’s home he saw all those things lying there and He asked them, “What are all these things?”

So they replied, “These are things which we are going to feed the pundit. We are going to give the pundit these things because he said that if we do not feed him and give him all these things, our parents will be displeased with us. Since we were very poor, we had nothing, so we had to steal from some shop. That is how we got all these things together.”

Guru Nanak Sahib worked very hard in those days to remove this bad practice from the Indian society, and Kabir Sahib also did the same thing. They traveled a lot and They tried to explain to people that life does not work like that. They asked, “How can you expect to feed your parents through the mouth of the pundit, because you don’t know where your parents are and in what condition they are in, so how can you expect that your parents can get the things which you are feeding the pundits? Because you know that not even a letter reaches its destination if you do not write the right address on it. So how can you hope or expect that the food will reach the heavens?”

So Guru Nanak and Kabir Sahib worked very hard but still people did not understand and they did not believe, and they continued doing this practice. Nowadays it has decreased because the pundits have become so greedy that people have lost their faith in the pundits; but in those days people used to believe a lot in the advice of pundits.

So Guru Nanak Sahib asked them, “Are you sure that your parents will get all the things which the pundits are going to take from you?”

Gungu and Pungu did not know anything so they said, “Well, we do not know anything, but the pundits say so.”

So Guru Nanak Sahib said, “The merchant from whose shop you have stolen all the things, his parents and grandparents are also in the heavens. You have stolen the things from their shop and they are very well aware of, they very much remember, the things which they left in their shop. So all the things which you are going to give the pundit, thinking that your parents are going to get them – when those things get to the heavens, the grandparents and the parents of the merchant are also there; they will start fighting with your parents and grandparents, saying, ‘You are the thief, you have stolen things from our shop.’ In that way you will bring disgrace to the name of your parents. And the grandparents and the parents of the merchant will start fighting with your parents and grandparents, so this is not a good thing.”

Then Guru Nanak Sahib uttered this hymn, “If you accept this kind of donation, or if you give a donation after stealing things from others, even your parents and grandfathers are defamed. And the broker or the person who is telling you to make a donation like this, his hands will be cut off in the court of the Lord. In the court of the Lord only the good karmas which you have done yourself will earn a reward for you. If you have stolen things from others or if you have deceived other people and inherited things this way – even if you donate that property – still you will not get any benefit from it because you have not earned that property, you have not earned that thing. Only those karmas or only those things which you have earned yourself will get a reward for you.”

In India, even if the father does not write a will in anyone’s favor, still the sons inherit the property of the father. But if some son tries to deceive the father towards his end, if somehow he gets his father to transfer the property and things in his name, that also is not considered a good thing, and that kind of person or that kind of son does not get anything.

In 77 RB there was an old man who had three sons; one of his sons was very greedy and he wanted his father to transfer all the property in his name. The father had quite a bit of property in the state of Punjab. So once his son told him, “Father, you transfer the property of Punjab to my name.”

That man was very wise and he didn’t think it was good for him to answer his son right there. He said, “Well, you take me to the Master and then I will see what to do.”

So the son brought that old man, lying on a bed because he could not walk, as he was very old at that time, and the son had given him some injection so that he might have strength enough to sign the papers of the will.

So the son brought him to me and when the father arrived, he exploded like an atom bomb. He said, “I used to understand this son as a sadhu because he is a Satsangi. He does the meditation of Naam; he sits with his eyes closed every day. I was thinking that he had become detached from all the worldly things, but this fellow wants me to transfer all the property to his name so that he can get everything.”

The Light of Ajaib

So to inherit the things of the father, even though you are entitled to it, but to do it by deceiving the father is not considered a good thing; it is also considered as a crime.

Dear Ones, God Almighty has created this huge creation and He is giving food and nourishment to all the creatures in this creation. Next after God comes man and man has also done so many things. But still man has not been able to nourish himself, it is God Himself Who is nourishing all mankind and all the creatures. Do we not even have this much faith – that God Almighty will nourish us? that He will give us everything we need? Can we not take care of ourselves? Why do we have to desire other people's things?

QUESTION: Dearest Master will you please talk about our responsibility towards our parents as they grow old and about our responsibility to older Satsangis who may have no one to care for them?

SANT JI: I have answered this question in a detailed form in the last group, I hope that you will be able to read the answer from Sant Bani Magazine whenever it is published.<sup>36</sup>

QUESTION: When someone else takes something we created and claims it and sells it and we are not supposed to sue people, when should we turn the other cheek and leave them alone and when should we stick up for ourselves?

Some of us have been told not to bother You with letters and not to ask for parshad. Will You tell us some guidelines?

SANT JI: Regarding the first question, it is better if you would follow the advice which Master Kirpal Singh used to give about going to the courts, it will be better.<sup>37</sup>

Regarding the letters, everyone has been told that they can write once in three or four months; no one has been told that they cannot write the letters. You can write once in three or four months but the letter should be brief and to the point. Even if you have to tell a very long story, you should make it very brief and to the point. If you do that, it is all right to write once in three or four months.

The letters of the dear ones come in every group and we reply to all the letters we receive. It is faster to get the replies to your letters if you have sent them through the groups and it is easier and more convenient also. Because you know that sometimes when you send the letters in the mail they may get lost or delayed, so that is why it is better to send the letters with the groups.

Every person is given parshad on the last day in every group. And also it is advised that if you want to make more quantity of that parshad, then you can buy some foodstuff and you can mix the parshad given here with that food and that will all become parshad.

Dear Ones, the Masters never tell anyone not to ask for parshad because there is a great importance in .the parshad. Those who have known the importance of the parshad they get a lot of benefit from it.

If we eat the parshad with a lot of faith and devotion for the Master we can gain a lot. Swami Ji Maharaj said, "I tell you this for your own good, you should eat the parshad of the Master with faith." Many times it is seen that children who are not yet initiated but they are from a Satsangi family, they get a lot of grace from the Master. I have seen at least two incidents when the children were not initiated but when their end time came at a young age they asked for parshad of the Master. When they ate the parshad given by the Perfect Master they started saying, “The Master has come.” So the Satsangi children have so much faith in the Master, right from the beginning. They look at the picture of the Master and they bow down their heads; and they get a lot of benefit from the parshad also.

Guru Nanak Sahib said, “Parshad is the name of the grace of the Master. Parshad is in fact the grace of the Master. It is the earnings of the Master; in the parshad given by the Master the charging of the Master is present.” But [what we get from it] depends upon our faith, and how much we appreciate the parshad, and how much devotion we have for the Master. We have to see whether we are appreciating it or whether we are throwing it under the feet of the people. Even though it has been more than five hundred years since Guru Nanak Sahib was born in this world, even now people make up parshad in His Name in the gurdwaras and some other places. And if the person who is handing out the parshad drops, even a little bit of the parshad by mistake, the other people who are receiving it will lift that up with a lot of love, faith, and affection and they will mix it with the other parshad and eat it.

Many dear ones gave me the parshad which had been given to them by Master Kirpal. I appreciated that parshad; I thanked my beloved Master for that parshad; I also thanked the dear one who gave me that parshad. But at the same time I felt sorry for that dear one, “This dear one does not have appreciation for the parshad given to him by the Master.” Because if he had the appreciation for the parshad, he would have not given it to me, he would not have shared it with others; he would have eaten it himself. During the first tour, a question about parshad was asked in Bogota, and I talked about the parshad given to me by my beloved Master Kirpal. When He came to my home for the first time, He gave me a lot of oranges and apples as parshad. Many people who were there wanted me to share that parshad with them but I did not give any to anyone. So some people thought of stealing those apples and oranges from me, but I closed the door from inside and I came out of that door only the next day after I had finished all the parshad.

Satsangis should have the knowledge of the importance of the parshad they should know how sweet the parshad is, how high it is, how it is the good thing, how it is best, and how important the parshad is. It can change our life if we eat it with faith and devotion.<sup>38</sup> from Support for the Shaken Sangat, pages 119-120

MASTER: I remember an incident in my life, long ago. My wife was relieved of her purse at a railway station. The police caught the thief and the purse was recovered from him. I was asked to lodge a report at the police station. I told the police that it was unnecessary as the purse had been found. But on their insistence, I had to go to the police station, perhaps for the first time. I told the police officer on duty that I was not interested in reporting the matter, but he would not agree and the report was ultimately lodged. Later, I had to go to the court as a witness. The police officer talked to me on this issue. He felt that justice must be done, but I considered that there were two aspects of Law: one Justice, and the other compassion or mercy. I emphasized that even after justice had been done, bitterness would remain; whereas through mercy, he could be cured, be forgiven. Compassion leads to mercy, which in turn, leads to nonviolence in thought, word and deed.

Anyway, when I appeared in the court, I requested the magistrate that if he could let the accused off on some ground, I would have no objection. The magistrate, after satisfying himself that there was no previous record of conviction against the accused, ordered his discharge with a warning. As a result, the accused and his relatives always remained grateful to me. What a tremendous gift forgiveness was! Justice could never produce this effect. Forgiveness is the greatest of all virtues.

1991 November: It is Never Too Late to Mend

Session Date: January 12, 1987

This question and answer session was given in Bombay, India, on January 12, 1987.

QUESTION: Master, I have a two-part question, on going within. What are the steps necessary for the disciple to actually go within? What things does he have to do and when he starts to go within, how does he know that he's starting to go within?

SANT JI: First of all the disciple needs to have love for the Master. And the second thing which he needs is to have faith in the Master. If he has both these things: love for the Master and faith in Him, then he gets the inspiration to work hard in meditation and go within himself.

Both these things work side by side – the grace of the Master and the efforts of the disciple. But if we are not making the efforts, if we have become the thieves of meditation, what can the Master do? Where can He shower the grace? The Master is not unjust; if we are making the efforts He will definitely shower His grace upon us.

Now, when we are sitting in this room, we can see everyone; we can see how they are. We can see everyone's face, we can see who has his head covered, who has his head uncovered, who has long hair, who is wearing glasses, and who is not wearing glasses. We can see everything very clearly.

So Dear Ones, when you go within, over there you will see things even more clearly than what you are seeing here outside, and you will even bear witness to those things. You will say, "O Lord, the things which we are seeing within, the things which You are doing for us, we cannot pay You back for that in any way."

Many of your brothers and sisters go to Rajasthan to do the meditation, some of them who work hard and go within tell us how much grace they get from the Master. They talk a little bit about what they have seen inside, and they express their gratitude for that.

The disciples who do not become lazy, those who give up laziness, they become successful in this. The Masters do not like to follow the same speed as that of the disciple, They want and They are determined that in Their lifetime, the disciples may go within and become successful. The Master wants that the stream of the Shabd should start coming within the disciple when He is living in the body, so that after He leaves the body, they should not wander away.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, our lives seem to have brought us in contact with people whose loved ones are dying or who have just died. What should we say to the grieving ones?

SANT JI: Satsangis know, as they have heard in the Satsang, that in this world many great emperors and many great warriors came into this world, but no one could live in this world forever. One day we all have to leave this world. God Almighty controls everything; we can have no control over Him. When we cannot do anything in front of Him, then it is better for us to accept the Will of that Almighty Lord. We have left many people; we may have to give the pain of separation to many dear ones, and many dear ones will leave us and give us the pain of separation when they leave.

Even Makander Rishi, who had a very long life, had to leave this world one day. In the same way, Ravana, who had millions of sons and grandsons. and who also had a very long life, he also had to leave this world.

In the Silver Age, Ram Chandra, Lord Rama, came into this world; he lived for ten thousand years. But still, after that time, he also had to leave this world. Guru Nanak very beautifully told us to be patient and to accept the Will of God. He said, “Rama went, even Ravana who had a big family went, Nanak says, no one is permanent in this world. This world is like a dream.”

Guru Nanak Sahib said, “You should not worry about those things which do not happen; in this path of the world, no one remains forever.”

“He who has been created will be destroyed one day, Nanak says., Give up all the entanglements of the world and sing the praises of God.”

If we will not listen to the grieving ones who have been separated from their dear ones, then they will get upset at us. If we will cry in front of the departed ones and mourn their death, we would only be increasing their pain. So instead of doing all these things, why not lovingly tell them and inspire them to accept the Will of God and have patience in His Will?

QUESTION: How and when did You happen to get that star on Your hand? The tattoo on Your hand?

SANT JI: I am sorry that even though a lot has been written about this in Sant Bani Magazine, the parents do not read the magazine that well, and they do not tell their children the story about this.

Often I have told this story about how in my childhood, something like boils or blisters were formed on my body. They were all over my body; there was not even one part of my body which was without those boils and blisters, and they all had pus in them. It was very difficult for me; the pus would come out from all the blisters and it was very difficult for me to bear that. I went to every place of pilgrimage, I tried every kind of medicine, but I could not get rid of those. In those days it was good for me to go to the places of pilgrimage, but when I realized that nobody liked me, that they did not want to stand near me. that they all hated me, then it became very difficult for me to bear that.

So because I was not getting cured of those blisters, my father brought me to Baba Bishan Das, and that was the first time that I met Baba Bishan Das. When my father brought me to Baba Bishan Das, he wept in front of Him and told Him, “Master, he is our only child, and we cannot do without him. But what can we do about the people? They don’t allow him to stand near them because he has all these boils on his body. We have tried everything, but nothing has changed.”

At that time, Baba Bishan Das Ji said “Nature wants to put some stains, some signs on his body, that is why he has all this.” So He wanted to put a sign on my forehead, but my father again wept, and said, “No, Master, it will not look good on his forehead.” So Baba Bishan Das said, “If you take him on pilgrimage to the place whose name is Taktupara, then maybe over there I can give you some suggestions.”

The Light of Ajaib

You know that Sant Satgurus have Their own way of curing things. It is Their grace which cures the diseases, but They have to do certain things outwardly also. So they took me to that place of pilgrimage, and there they put some signs on my body. And after that, from Taktupara, I went to a village called Sehtongai, which was about four miles. I walked all that distance, and this is true, that without using any medicine, without doing any kind of other treatment, all the blisters and boils went away. It was only because of the grace of Baba Bishan Das that this body is sitting in front of you without any other stain or sign.

Taktupara is the place where Guru Nanak Sahib had done the meditation for some time, sitting underground. My parents had given me the name Sadara Singh and it was on that day that Baba Bishan Das gave me the name Ajaib Singh, because He said, “The name Sadara Singh does not have any significance or importance.” Even now in the [deeds to the] property which I have in Punjab, my name is written as Sadara Singh. But Baba Bishan Das changed my name to Ajaib Singh. He said, “The Sadara Singh name does not have any significance; it is a useless name.” He said, “Today he has become a beautiful Singh; he has become beautiful.” So that is why He gave that name Ajaib Singh to me on that day.

It was quite a long time ago that my name was changed to Ajaib Singh, and now I am in the habit of signing my name as Ajaib Singh. Recently some of my property was taken away by the army for their cantonment, so they had to give me some compensation. So when they called me to give me that money I had to write the name Sadara Singh on my other hand just to remind me that I had to sign Sadara Singh and not Ajaib Singh. I was afraid that if I signed Ajaib Singh they would think that I was not the person who should be given the money. I mean to say that Sant Satgurus always shower Their grace and mercy on their children, but They do not show that They have showered grace on them.

QUESTION: Can a Master be requested to take good care of Himself?

SANT JI: This is up to the disciple. It is in the hands of the disciple what kind of parshad he gives to the Master – whether he gives Him the parshad of his Bhajan and Simran, his meditation, or whether he is giving Him the parshad of such suggestions and the other difficulties. So everything is in the hands of the disciple. I thank those dear ones who have suggested this to me.

[pause]

Because they themselves are very careless about their own health. [laughter]

QUESTION: The story You told about Your father – he didn’t sit passively by when You had sores on Your body; he did something about it. Will You comment on when it is time to accept things as the Will of God, and when it is time to do something so that God can help us?

SANT JI: We need to understand this: we do not know when we came onto this physical plane, we do not know how many times we were born in this world, we do not know how many times we became the husbands, how many times we became the wives, or how many times we became the children.

We do not even have the complete knowledge of the karmas which we are doing in this lifetime. We do not even know if what we are doing is a sin or whether we are doing a good deed. I am telling you that if we knew that we were doing the bad karmas, if we realized that the thing which we were doing was a sin, we would never sin.

The Light of Ajaib

The jiva cannot live without doing the karmas in any life. When we have done the good karmas in our past lifetime, right from the beginning of our childhood, we get the desire of coming to the Saints and Mahatmas, to the Master. And when we get the reward of the good karmas which we have done in our past lifetime, then we are brought in the company of the Master. If we carefully examine how we came to the Master, how all these things happened, then we will be convinced – then we will know – that it was all the grace of the Master, it was all the grace of God Almighty, and He Himself has planned and has brought us to the Master.

We get the good and bad company according to our own karmas which we have done in our past lifetime. If we have done bad karmas in our past lifetime, our intellect in this lifetime will not be good, and we will not like to go in the company of the good people. Even if by mistake we go in the company of the good people, we will not like it there, and we will not like to stay there in the company of the good people. But if we have done good karmas in our past lifetime, then our intellect and our thinking will be good, and we will easily go in the company of the good people. Even if we go in the company of the bad people, if we have done good karmas in our past lifetime, we will not like to stay in the bad people's company, and we will go and spend all our time in good company.

Dear Ones, we can even look at the animals and see that the creatures who eat flesh cannot eat grass, and the creatures who eat grass cannot eat flesh. It is seen in animals with whom we have dealings, like the pet animals which we have in our homes – some pet animals do not even like to drink water which another animal has contaminated. They always want to drink fresh water. You may also have come across such animals who do not make the place where they live dirty, they always go to some other place to attend to the call of nature. You may also have seen such animals who just turn their back to the place where they have eaten their food to attend the call of nature; so you have seen them doing all these things.

This is an incident which happened in the village where I lived before coming to the place where I am now living. There was a person who had a dog and somebody else shot that dog in his back. When that dog was shot he did not die. At that time, with his wounded body, he came to his owner, but the owner also did not pay any attention to him. He did not give him any water or take care of him. He did not accept him, because he knew that he was going to die soon. So after that, that dog spent a whole day without any care, without getting any water to drink. After spending the whole day in that condition, somehow he started coming toward my ashram, because my ashram was not far from the place where that dog was shot. About one hundred yards away from the ashram that dog stopped because he had no strength to continue.

One dear one used to come to see me every night at my ashram, and when he was going back to his home he saw that there was a dog lying there. He thought that maybe somebody had left the dog there, so he came back to the ashram and he told me that there was a dog lying near my ashram. We went there, thinking that we should try to see the footprints of the person who had left him there, so that we would know who had left him. But we did not find any footprints; it was the dog himself who had come there. I looked at him and saw that he was not dead.

Through his eyes he said, he conveyed, "Please take care of me; give me some water." So at once we went back to the ashram and brought him some water. All day long he had not had any water to drink, so when that water went into his stomach, life also started coming back into him, and then he started responding. After that we carried him to our ashram, and we gave him ghee and milk. (Usually when someone gets wounded we people give them milk and ghee, that helps in healing their wound.) So we gave him milk and ghee and after that we took care of him for a couple of months.

His wound got healed, but he did not heal completely. His rear legs did not work, so he could not move himself. But still he stayed with me in my room. He had such a habit that whenever he had to pass urine or do anything like that, he would not do it my room. In his own way he would tell us that he wanted to go out, and then we would carry him outside that room, and over there he would do his things. He never made my room dirty and he always remained clean. We took care of him for eight or ten months, and after that he became all right, but still he could not walk, we always had to carry him outside.

Sunder Das, an initiate of Baba Sawan Singh, used to live with me and he helped me in taking care of that dog. We understood him as the present given to us by Baba Sawan Singh. You can very well imagine who was the one who guided him to my place? Who told him, “You should go to this place where you will be taken care of; over there the people will serve you.” It was God Himself, and when his time had come, he got the inspiration from God Himself to come toward the ashram. If he had gone to some other place, nobody would have taken care of him, and he would have died in that condition.

Satsangis should always remember that whenever a good thought is coming into their mind, whenever they are inspired to do good things, it is the Master Who is showering grace on them, because the good thoughts always come from the Master. Whenever we have any bad thought, or we have thoughts of not doing meditation, at that time you should know that that is coming from the Negative Power, because the Negative Power never allows us to have good thoughts, he never showers grace on us.

QUESTION: When a dear one has a drinking habit, what can we tell him, or what can we do to help change his habit?

SANT JI: You should lovingly advise him, you should lovingly make him realize the condition of those who are addicted to such intoxicants. Usually you would have seen in the people who are addicted to drinking or smoking marijuana or using other drugs, how after some time their lungs stop functioning, and how it has a bad affect on their brain and their mind. They even lose their power of thinking. Nowadays in the shops where they sell wine in India, on the bottles of wine it is written that it is poison. Even after reading that it is a poison, it is up to the person whether he should drink that poison or not.

When I passed the “gyani” grade in the state high school in Sangroor, over there I had a teacher who was very much against drinking. He had made a cartoon drawing of a tree which he called the tree of the sins. On the root of that tree he showed a bottle of wine. He showed that the tree of sins was getting the nourishment from wine, and he named the fruits which were on that tree: “the loss of money,” “the loss of honor,” and other fruits were called “the cause of starving,” “the cause of poverty.” In India we often see that the people who are drinking, the drunks, they drink so much that they vomit. And the dogs eat up that vomited stuff and after eating up that stuff they go and lick the face of the person who is lying there drunk. After seeing such a condition of the drunkards, who would like to drink?

Guru Nanak Sahib says, “After killing all our good intellect the wine makes one a donkey. He doesn’t have a tail or long ears, but there is no difference between the donkey and the one who is drinking.”

Guru Nanak Sahib has referred to this wine as blood in His writings. He says, “If we get a drop of blood on our clothes, they become dirty. What is the condition within those who always drink this blood? How can they remain pure?” In the present time we are forgetting the teachings of the Saints and Mahatmas.

The Light of Ajaib

Guru Gobind Singh has written, “Those who are in the habit of drinking, their seven generations are destroyed.” Because one generation after another gets the habit of drinking, and in the end everyone in the family starts drinking.

Once someone asked Kabir Sahib to throw some light upon the use of intoxicants. “Why is it bad, and what happens if someone is using intoxicants?” Kabir Sahib said, “Why should I tell you about so many intoxicants, I will tell you the quality of just one intoxicant – wine.” He said, “I am telling you the quality of wine, listen all of you who are wise men, from a man the wine changes you into an animal, and it also takes away the money from your pocket.”

Nowadays the governments have taken strict steps and have imposed strict laws, rules, and regulations that those who are caught dealing in drugs and intoxicants are given very severe punishments.

Dhamdama is a place of pilgrimage in Punjab. When I was in the army, I was posted there and we had been given the duty of arresting the drunkards, because they used to harass the pilgrims who went there. So we would arrest the drunkards and then in order to teach them a lesson and show it to the other pilgrims we would hold them by their legs and make them walk using their hands. And we would take them all around the city and in that way we would show the other pilgrims: “this is the punishment that you will get if you are drinking in this holy place.” So you see the condition of those people. Nobody bothered the pilgrims who were not drinking, and they did not get any punishment. But the drunkards had lost the money from their pockets – they had used their money to drink – and afterwards they were getting this kind of punishment all day long. In the end after losing their money and their honor, they would go back to their homes.

I would say that those who are addicted to the intoxicants, in fact, they are getting the punishment for the bad karmas of their past lifetime, because their relations with their family members do not remain normal; they always have fights with their relatives. Their health does not remain good, they cannot think clearly, and also they lose a lot of their money. Those who do not have this habit, who are not addicted to any intoxicants or drugs, they have their good health, they are honored, they are popular among their family, and even in their neighborhood they are glorified.

Last time I went to London I saw a poster there which talked about a person who had come from India. He drank wine day and night, so much that his lungs were destroyed. His name was Jagat Singh, so in that poster the heading was:

“After drinking the wine so much, now Jagat Singh has surrendered to the wine.” So if you have any relatives, any brother or sister who has this bad habit, you do not have to fight with them. When they are not intoxicated, when they are in a normal state, at that time you should lovingly tell them the bad qualities and the consequences of being addicted to these intoxicants. You should tell them lovingly.

If you will oppose them at the time when they are drunk, or when they are intoxicated with drugs, at that time they will not listen to you. They will oppose you more.

Guru Nanak Sahib says, “You should abstain from that thing, drinking which you lose your intellect, and which creates the gap between you and Him. You should abstain from such kind of intoxicants.”

Guru Nanak Sahib says, “Those who drink that wine which spoils your intellect and which takes you away from Him, they always remain addicted to it. But Nanak says those who are addicted to that wine of Naam, it always keeps you alive and always keeps you fresh.”

No Mahatma has ever inspired us and given us the teachings to use intoxicants and drugs and things like that. All the Mahatmas have always inspired us to abstain from intoxicants.<sup>39</sup>

QUESTION: Master, recently I dropped a job, because I didn't know that in accepting it I would be under constant pressure to make compromises. After having left it I was wondering if I should not have stood firmer and tried to show that one can do things in a different way, if I should have accepted the test?

SANT JI: If some part of your mind is still thinking about that job, that work, then you should, with all your strength, accept that job and you should do it. Sometimes when we see the challenges and difficulties in some job, at that time we refuse to accept it, but afterwards when our mind makes us realize that we should have been stronger, then if we do not do it our mind creates difficulties for us.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that it is never too late to mend. Sometimes it happens with the dear ones that they make a decision in a way that is not good; they do it in a hurry. And that is why they leave a job, but afterwards their mind makes them think that they have made a mistake, and if that happens then they should go back and get that job. They should not worry about what people will say or what will happen. They should not worry about anything like that, they should not let their mind create difficulties in them, they should go back to that job and try to get it and do it.

Once there was a person who had some fight at home and he left his home. He walked for ten or twelve miles away from his village and came to my village. I was very young at that time; I was a child. When he saw me, he asked me, "Tell me, dear son, what should one do if he has had a fight in his home and has left his home? Even though you are a child, I am asking this advice from you, because it is said that one should seek advice, even from the wall, if no one else is available. But at least you are a man, and I am asking this from you. So what should I do?"

I told him, "If someone has left his home after fighting, he should go back to his home." So taking my advice, he went back to his home. He met me many times after that, and he always used to say, "You are my teacher, you gave me the right direction."

[Sant Ji laughs heartily.]

1991 November: With Yearning in our Heart

Session Date: January 29, 1981

This question and answer session was given on January 29, 1981, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Today, in this afternoon's meditation, as soon as I shut my eyes, the sound came very loud from the left side and I didn't know what to do, whether I should stop and put my thumbs in my ears, just keep doing Simran, or what I should do?

SANT JI: When such things happen, that you start hearing the sound from the left side, you should try to ignore it. At that time you can try to do the Simran or you can even postpone the meditation for a couple of minutes and then again start doing it.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: How is it possible, how does one do it, to distinguish between the inner sound of the Master and the voice of the mind?

SANT JI: Mind will never give you any good advice; it will always bring bad thoughts within you and it will always inspire you to do the bad things. But the Master will always inspire you to do meditation, He will always bring good feelings and good thoughts within you. This struggle always goes on within the disciple – one part of his within tells him to do bad things, inspires him to do bad things, whereas the other part always brings him good feelings, thoughts and advice, or inspires him to do meditation. It is the mind of the disciple which inspires him to do bad things whereas it is the Master of the disciple who inspires him to do good things.

When such a thing happens then the disciple should have his Master on one side and the mind on the other side. If he obeys his mind and does the bad things and does not meditate, it means that he became the disciple of his mind but if he does not obey his mind and he listens to his Master and meditates, then we can say that he became the disciple of the Master.

QUESTION: Can you say something about the value of bhajan singing?

SANT JI: Singing bhajans creates yearning and longing within us. There is a lot of love for the Master in these bhajans. Guru Nanak Sahib called it bhajan mungli. He says, “When a group of people get together, they should sing bhajans in such a way that—even if the Master is not physically present there – all of them should feel and understand that they are singing every single line of the bhajan to the Master directly.”

These bhajans have come out from the hearts of the Param Sants. They are the voice of the soul of those Mahatmas who became one with God, and they have a lot of charging of those Mahatmas. So that is why we should always sing the bhajans written by the Param Sants because by singing Their bhajans we also get that devotion for the Master, that love for the Master, and the charging which those Masters have.

QUESTION: Would we get more benefit from them if we understood more of the language or is the charging there irrespective of that?

SANT JI: You should try to understand when you are singing; try to understand what this particular line is saying.

QUESTION: Master, is it possible for us to derive the same benefit and receptivity when we return to our homes as we do when we are with You right now?

SANT JI: Yes, it does not make any difference for the Master whether the disciple is far or near, provided our inner veil is lifted. Right now we have just entered into the school of spirituality and up until now our contemplation, Simran and Bhajan, have not been perfected. So that is why sometimes we develop faith in the Master and sometimes our faith is shaken. But when we perfect our contemplation, Simran and Bhajan, then it does not make any difference where we live or where we go.

Mahatmas say that once we get the certificate that we have passed the examination, then you don't need to go to the school. But the school of spirituality is quite opposite to the worldly schools because in the school of spirituality when we come closer to passing our examination, when we come closer to getting our degree, then our love for the Master is awakened, and our yearning for the Master increases more and more.

The Light of Ajaib

After that our condition becomes like this “O my beloved I wish that You may always sit with me and I may go on looking at you.”

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj says, “The beautiful Form of the Master is always in front of me, whenever I look at Him I am content, when I don’t see Him I wander here and there like a mad man.”

Kabir Sahib said, “One should have the darshan of the Master many times a day.” Then He said, “If you cannot have the darshan of the Master many times a day, at least you should have His darshan once a day.” Then He said, “If you cannot have the darshan of the Master once a day at least you should have the darshan once in two days.”

After that He went on saying, “You should have the darshan once in fifteen days,” “once in a month,” “once in two months” and so on. Then He said, “One should have the darshan of the Master at least once in six months.” Then He said, “If you cannot have the darshan of the Master once in six months, at least you should have His darshan once a year.”

Because if you do not have the darshan of your beloved once a year then, in a way, the relation between the disciple and the Master gets broken. Master does not break the relation, but the disciple gets so much dryness because He has not had the darshan of the Master for such a long time, that he, in a way, breaks the relationship with the Master.

QUESTION: What will become of us, Sant Ji, if there comes a time in this world when we can no longer have Your darshan once a year – if we can't come to India and You can't come to see us – what will become of us?

SANT JI: Our Satguru Maharaj Kirpal Singh Ji used to say, “It is the law of Nature that there is food for the hungry and water for the thirsty.” So if it is our real desire then definitely God will arrange for us.

Many times I have said this: in my childhood I used to have thoughts of the ten Sikh Gurus. I used to wonder how would it be for those disciples who had the Masters like Guru Nanak, Guru Angad, Guru Amardas, Guru Ramdas, Guru Arjan? How did they feel when they were sitting in front of their Master? Will there be someone in my life at whose Feet I will sit? Will I also get some Master like them?

So Hazur Kirpal traveled four or five hundred kilometers and came to my home in order to quench the thirst which I had for Him from my childhood. He came, and He satisfied the yearning I had for Him; He quenched my thirst. In India there is a tribe called Dhum, they are even called Marasees; they are like beggars. They are very low caste people and when they go to beg things from the people, even though the householder may try to turn them out and may rebuke them, still they will not leave without getting something from them. They are very obstinate.

Bulleh Shah says, “When we go to the courtyard of our beloved we should become like the Dhum. Our beloved is our friend but we are misers of doing the seva.”

He says that when we go to the Master we should have the qualities of the Dhum, even if we are kicked and knocked by the Master, even if we are turned away by the Master still we should not leave His door without getting grace from Him. Our beloved is our friend, He is very gracious on us because He has come into this world only to shower grace on us, but the pity is that we have become the misers of doing the seva. This means that we have become the misers of doing the meditation. We think that Master has given us the Naam only to keep it with us and not for doing the meditation. We do not use the Naam which has been given to us; we do not meditate. Instead we just keep it and we become like a miser who does not spend his money for his own cause, moreover he does not spend it for other people's benefit. All day long he goes on counting what he has and he never increases it or decreases it, he just goes on counting it. In the same way we have also become like that miser, we do not use that Naam for the purpose for which it has been given to us. No doubt we have been given the grace of the Master; He has given us Initiation, but we do not use it, we do not meditate.

In our heart we should have total yearning and determination that: "I have to go for the darshan." If we have the real desire then definitely Almighty God fulfills our desire.

The reason I always say, that before sitting for meditation, you should make your mind quiet, you should make it empty, you should not have any worldly thoughts in it – if you sit with all this determination – if you are determined to have the darshan of the Master, you will definitely get help. The more determined you are, the more progress you can get. Just now you people sang this bhajan in which it was said, "O Lord, You have been listening to the requests from the very beginning. You took the ship of Makhan Shah Lubana across."

Makhan Lubana was a trader. Makhan was his name and Lubana was his surname, or his family name. In those days he was a very rich merchant, he used to have his ships going back and forth across the ocean. And you know that the ships in those days were not as big and not as seaworthy as they are now.

Once when Makhan Lubana was coming back after doing his business, his ship got caught in a storm and there was no chance of saving it. When he saw that there was no way out, he asked the people on deck, "Is there any way to protect ourselves from this calamity?" There was one Satsangi of Guru Nanak sitting in that ship. He said, "Yes, there is only one way out and that is prayer." He said, "After Guru Nanak there have been many great Saints on his gaddi and if you sincerely pray to Them, I am sure that definitely They will rescue you and They will help you."

So then Makhan Shah Lubana prayed and he promised five hundred gold coins for the langar of the Master. He said, "O Master, if you will save my ship I will give five hundred gold coins in your langar for the Sangat."

So then his ship was saved and he went across. After that he asked people, "Who is the Guru sitting on the gaddi of Guru Nanak?" People told him that Guru Hari Krishan had been in Delhi and before He left His body in his childhood,<sup>40</sup> he said, "The next Master is at Baba Bakala." Baba Bakala is the name of a place.

So Makhan Shah Lubana went to Baba Bakala where he saw that twenty-two people were claiming to be Guru. They belonged to the same family as that of Guru Teg Bahadur and they all had their own followers, people who were saying, "He is the true Master and the others are false."

When Makhan Shah saw those twenty-two people, he thought, "There are so many 'gurus' here how can I find out who is the one who saved me?" Instead of five hundred gold coins he went to each and bowed down to them and he gave five gold coins to each. He thought, "The real Guru will speak out and then I will have no difficulty in finding them out."

So after giving five coins to each one of those twenty-two people, he asked if there was anyone else who anyone considered to be the Guru. Someone replied that there is some person sitting underground called Tega, but he is also called mad because he always remains there and meditates.

From the very beginning Guru Teg Bahadur had spent time in meditation and in that underground room he meditated a lot. I had the privilege of having the darshan of that place. So He was meditating there and when Makhan Shah found that there was someone else, he went to the underground room and just as he did with the others, he also put five gold coins in front of Guru Teg Bahadur.

When Guru Teg Bahadur saw only five coins he took off his shirt and showed Makhan Shah the place where the nails had pierced His body. He told him, “Look here, dear one, my body suffered a lot in saving your ship. You promised five hundred gold coins, but now you are only giving me five, where are the other four hundred and ninety-five?”

So when Makhan Shah met the true Master, he left the coins there and he climbed on the roof top and he waved a piece of cloth, shouting, “I have found the Guru! I have found the Guru!”

When the other twenty-two claimants saw this they packed up their things and they left that place. But they were so envious of Guru Teg Bahadur that when Makhan Shah brought Him out for the first time to do the Satsang, one of them even shot at Guru Teg Bahadur. Fortunately He was not hit; the bullet hit the wall – that wall still exists and I have seen that also.

So because of this family problem Guru Teg Bahadur was not able to do Satsang there and He left that place and He went to Assam which is in the east of India and after that He went to Anandpur Sahib in Punjab and He bought some land there and settled down. By telling this long story I only mean to say this: that at that time, even though Guru Teg Bahadur was not called Guru, still when Makhan Shah prayed to Him with all sincerity and truth in his heart Guru Teg Bahadur went there and saved his ship.

In the same way if we have the real desire for anything, for the darshan of the Master, then definitely Master will arrange for us.

Bakala is the name of the village where Guru Teg Bahadur had done His meditation and when Guru Hari Krishan, the eighth Guru of the Sikhs was going to leave the body the Sangat asked Him, “Who is going to take care of the Sangat after you leave? And Who will liberate the souls?”

Then Guru Hari Krishan said, “Baba Bakala” – the Baba is in Bakala. Baba means one of the grandfathers and Guru Teg Bahadur was like a grandfather to Guru Hari Krishan, they had some family relation. So He said, “Baba Bakala” and when He uttered those words, “Baba Bakala,” there were so many people claiming themselves to be the Guru in the village of Bakala. As Master Kirpal used to say, “Always there is the imitation of the real one.” So there were so many imitators, so many false ones.

1991 December: Only a Lover Surrenders Everything

Session Date: August 22, 1977

[EDITOR’S NOTE: At the end of Sant Ji’s first tour, on August 22, 1977, all the dear ones at Sant Bani Ashram were allowed to have one final group darshan. Because of the large number of people and the size of the satsang hall – this was before it was enlarged – six smaller groups went in to sit with Sant Ji for about thirty minutes each. This is the transcript of the first three sessions.]

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: [a question about Simran] . . . two ways, one is that I hear my own voice saying it in my mind, and the other way is that I hear Kirpal's voice saying it in my mind. I was wondering which way was more beneficial?

SANT JI: You should catch one of them, not both. This is also a deception of your mind. There is always one Simran going on, in one way. There are no different parts of the Simran, or different ways of doing the Simran, because there is only one tongue of thought, there is only one mind, and there is only one power of thinking.

QUESTION: In meditation I have eye-strain at times; during the listening, the eyes will go towards [the light] and cause me to break my concentration, and cause a strain. Can You help me? [Pappu: When you are listening?] Yes, also watching.

SANT JI: You should not put any pressure on the eyebrows, when you are closing your eyes, just gently close them and don't put any pressure on them. Those who have the problem of eye-strain, that is only because when they close their eyes, they put a lot of pressure; they should not put any pressure on their eyebrows.

QUESTION: I would just like to thank Sant Ji for coming. It has been a great benefit to help me and my family.

SANT JI: I appreciate your love. I thank everybody, all those who cooperated in this visit.

QUESTION: When we go through the Astral and Causal planes, will we know this? And what happens to our mind when we go through these two planes?

SANT JI: Wherever you will go, you will always see where you are going, and you will always know it. Just as now, wherever your physical body is going, you know where it is going – you are sitting here and you know that – after this darshan you will get up and go to the langar and you will know that also. So wherever you go, you will know about that.

QUESTION: When a child meditates with a parent and the child is not fully initiated, and then that child, after he meditates, comes and tells his parents his experiences, what should we tell the child?

SANT JI: Try to tell him that he should not tell his experience to anybody. If he is telling that to other people, his experience will go away.

There was a child of seven or eight years, and looking at his parents he also started sitting for meditation, and he started seeing the form of our Master. Because he was getting much interest in meditation, even though he was not initiated, he kept on sitting and he went on increasing the time for meditation. His parents would always ask him, "What are you seeing?" and "Why are you sitting?" But he would always say, "No, I am just sitting," because he didn't want to tell them. But once it so happened that the parents asked him forcibly and he told them, "I am seeing the Master's Form." After that he never had the darshan of the Master.

You should neither tell them how to meditate, nor should you take them away from the meditation. You should not teach them to meditate, and moreover you should not tell them not to meditate, because children are innocent and sometimes they can get the inner contact also very soon. Their thoughts are not scattered very much in the world.

QUESTION: [inaudible question] . . . courage to make time . . . Simran.

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: Not to surrender to your mind is courage. Because it is worse to surrender than to be defeated. Try not to bring any confusion in your life. If you will invite the confusions to come into your life, you will not succeed in any of the affairs of life.

QUESTION: I'd like to ask – the other day You said that if we have inner experience and we don't fully digest it, that affects the mind. Could You please explain that?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs] It doesn't really have a bad effect on the mind, but the thing is that some people have the habit of not digesting that. They don't have the strength to digest. Just like that person Vir Babaru. I told his story.

Some people hold many secrets of the world and nothing happens to them. Their stomach is not increasing and they do not have any effect on their mind. But Vir Babaru and people like him, they can't even hold a little bit and that [comment] is only for them.

Not everybody is like that, but Saints tell us – Wari Shah, He was a Saint – He said, “Don't open the lock of your body and give out the secret of the spirituality which you have within you until it is important to do that. No matter if you leave the body, still you shouldn't open the box of your body so that people may see the secret of your spirituality.” By doing the meditation Saints have made Their hearts so wide, and They have kept so great a secret. About Their secrecy Baba Farid says, “Saints are near to God, and They are One with God, but still They never say that They are God. They hold that secret very much. They always say, ‘We are your servants; we are your slaves.’ They do not give out the real secret that They are near God.

There are a few people who become very heavy when they have to hold anything in their within. Until they talk about it they can't feel any lightness. And that [comment] was only for them. In the army there was a man named Utam Singh who also had the same habit. In the army there was a rule that after 10:15 p.m. no one could come out from their place and everyone had to sleep. One night after 10:15, when the lights were turned off, he got some thought, but at that time everybody was asleep so he couldn't find anyone to whom he could talk. Finally he came to me because he knew that I would be able to hear him. So he came to me and he told me, “I have a very interesting thing that I want to tell you.” But I knew his habit and I told him, “No. I don't want to hear anything from you.” He got upset with me. So after that, until he told me that thing, his anger wouldn't go away. So a few people have this habit, not everybody.

You see, we eat food two or three times a day, and we digest that. So in the same way it is not difficult to digest the experiences or other things.

QUESTION: I'm not initiated; I've attempted to meditate many times, and it never seems to lead me anywhere. Is it that I have to wait until I've been initiated before I can experience any success in my meditations?

SANT JI: Without initiation you can't see anything. And you should try to prepare yourself for getting initiation. Kabir Sahib says, “If anyone who does not have the protection of the Master is doing the repetition of the Simran for a thousand times a day, still that Simran will not bear any fruit.” In India, many years ago, there was the very bad practice of Sati. When the husband died the loyal wife would burn herself on the funeral pyre of her husband, and she was called a sati. So Kabir Sahib says, “A person who does not have the protection of the Master, no matter if he does Simran a thousand times a day, still he will not get any benefit. It is impossible to get benefit from that, just as it is impossible for a prostitute to become a sati.”

QUESTION: Is it okay to laugh or chuckle in the presence of the Master if He does so?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs; then everyone laughs.]

QUESTION: If one is unhappy in their situation, their circumstances, should they continue to stay in it and do the Simran and meditate, or leave, make a change in their life? How do you know?

SANT JI: If we can bring about a change we should do that. But in any case we have to keep doing our meditations. Suppose we are walking and suddenly we step on a nail, and it sticks in our foot. If we sit there doing the Simran, nobody will come to take out the nail. It is up to us, because we have a brain and we know how to bring about change in that situation. And we remove that nail. In the same way, if we can bring a change in our life which can make the situation easy, then we should do that.

In any case one has to do the meditation. If he can bring about a change, he should do the meditation along with that; if he can't bring about a change, he should still do the meditation – because meditation and worldly life are two different paths and we have to do both at the same time. Meditation is the only thing which will help us in the next journey, and because we are in this world, we have to carry out the worldly responsibilities also.

The dear ones who are initiated should never miss their meditations. They should do that daily and whatever opportunity you have – very good health – you should not misuse it, you should devote more time in meditation and always keep yourself in the Satsang.

[This ended the first session.]

SANT JI: Yes, please. If anybody wants to ask any questions.

QUESTION: Is Sant Ji feeling better today?

SANT JI: Yes. Yesterday also my body was fine, but yesterday was the day when our beloved Master changed His body in this physical plane, that's why I was very sad. And many times, remembering Him I felt like weeping and I wept also. And for that reason I was very sad and I didn't eat food very well.

I understand this day as the most sorrowful day of my life.

QUESTION: If I hear a lot of sound in the left ear, is it all right to hold my watch against the left ear to drown out the sound so I can meditate? [Pappu: “hold your watch?”] Yes, so it makes a noise next to the ear, so that my attention won't go to the sound in the body. [Pappu: “when you are doing meditation? At that time?”] Yes. [Russell: “during Bhajan?”] Simran or Bhajan, either one.

SANT JI: You have to ignore the sound coming from the left; you are not to listen there. It doesn't matter whatever means or way you take to avoid listening there.

If still you can't get rid of the sound coming from the left, you should postpone your meditation for a few minutes, but you should never listen to the sound coming from the left.

QUESTION: Sometimes when I meditate, and it doesn't seem like I've meditated long enough, I feel guilt or something like that. Is it necessary to feel that guilt, or should I just acknowledge that I didn't meditate long enough and put in more time the next time.

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: The point is, when we are feeling that we are the guilty ones and we have not done the work which we were supposed to do, then with the same devotion we should meditate very much next time. It is not enough just to feel guilt and not do anything about it. You should remove that guilt also.

Even though the Saints are completely innocent, there is no stain in Their soul, when Their soul becomes very pure and high and They get to Sach Khand, then also They always say to Their Masters, “I am Your guilty one, and I don’t have any good qualities of my own.”

It doesn’t mean that They are full of guilt, or full of faults. This is Their humility and They show that humility to us so that we may also learn how much humility we need to develop in order to practice this Path.

If all day we go on saying, “We are Your guilty ones, we are Your guilty ones” – and if we do not give up the cause of that guilt, what is the use of saying that?

Guru Nanak did the seva of Sat Sangat very much; for eleven years He sat on a cushion made of pebbles and in that way He did the meditation on Naam. After that He walked long distances to teach Naam and to improve the lives of the people. In that way He did a great service to mankind. But still He has written in His writings, “O Lord, I didn’t do any repetition, any austerities; I didn’t do any work. I am full of faults and I made many bad karmas; but because I have taken refuge in You, You should take my care. Because I am depending on You, that’s why You should liberate me.”

It is not true that Guru Nanak Sahib had any fault, or that He was the guilty one, or that He didn’t do the seva of the Sangat, or that He didn’t do the meditation. He did everything, He said this only because of His humility. Then also in front of His Satguru, after achieving everything He said, “I am Your guilty one. But still You are the great forgiver, and because I have taken refuge in You, You please liberate me.”

Swami Ji Maharaj, Who started this Path in modern times, said about Himself, “O Master, I am the greatest sinner among all the sinners.” Even though He had attained the highest status – He had reached Sach Khand – still He was saying, “I am the greatest of all sinners.” Kabir Sahib was the incarnation of Sat Purush. He came into this world to preach the Naam in all the Four Ages. He was the first Saint to come into this world and to teach people the Path of Naam. He said, “O Kabir, when I started searching for the bad ones, I couldn’t find any other bad ones; but when I looked within, I realized that there was no one else worse than me.” This does not mean that He was bad or that He was worse than other people.

When we are doing the bad deeds and are not giving up those things, what is the use of even feeling guilty if we are not leaving them. If we don’t have guilt, even a little bit, in our within, if we do not fail the Master even for one time, and if we are completely pure from within and without, then it is appropriate for us to feel that we are the guilty ones of the Master.

QUESTION: I feel so happy since I’m here near You – I feel like I’m seeing Kirpal in You, and You in Kirpal – that I forgot to put in my diary everyday to see if I could start all over again, and I haven’t been doing as much meditation as I should do because – as this boy was telling – I feel guilt. I just didn’t do enough. I could start all over the diary.

SANT JI: Try to keep the diary, and you should try never to miss the meditation. Many times I have talked about the diary. I have always said that only to keep the diary is not enough. Master has given us this technique not just to keep it, and record in it, and worship the diary. We should never repeat the sin which we have recorded in the diary once.

QUESTION: I pray, next trip, God willing, that You will come to Miami.

SANT JI: I was very pleased to see the love of the people from Miami. People came from far and near to the airport, and they arranged for the other people. I am very grateful for that.

QUESTION: Lately I've been working two jobs and I've been getting to bed about eleven o'clock at night. Before that I used to meditate from three to six in the morning. But lately I find that when I get up at three, I can only last about an hour and a half or two hours, then I fall right to sleep and lose my meditation. Should I get up a little later, maybe four or five, and meditate maybe for two hours more accurately, than to try to get up at three and do three hours?

SANT JI: You should divide all the time which you are getting and should make a definite schedule. You should know what is the time for eating, what is the time for sleeping, and how much time you need to sleep, how many hours. And after that when you should get up and do the meditation. In that way you should make a definite schedule and you should work according to that schedule.

QUESTION: I really don't know how I'm going to face tomorrow. I feel like it's an impending doom, knowing that You are leaving. I'd like You to offer some words of solace to keep us in stead, after You are gone. [Pappu: "what is 'impending doom'?"] [much general laughter] [Russell: "he feel's like it's the day of his death, or something like that. I also feel the same way."] [more laughter] [Pappu: "okay, just let me talk with Him first."]

SANT JI: Don't think like that. I and my best wishes are always with everybody; nobody should think like that.

Yesterday Russell Perkins read out that article in which I have said that distance doesn't matter, distance doesn't make any difference between the lover disciples and the Master. No matter if the Master is living across the ocean, but if the disciple is having love, He is always near him.

QUESTION: [long pause, then a child says:] Sant Ji, I don't think I'll get initiated because I don't think I can be a good meditator and live up to the Path.

SANT JI: Everybody is afraid of doing the meditation, you should know that. And everybody is afraid of getting the initiation also because of that. But what can be done? If it is written in your fate, you will get that. Everybody has to get that if it is written in their fate.

This is not you who is afraid of getting the initiation; there is one Power which is residing within you, and that is called Mind. He is afraid because when you will get initiation it means that you will get the way through which you can control the mind and that is why he is afraid.

Paltu Sahib says that for a man to drink Sat Naam is a very difficult thing. The name Sat Naam is very bitter. Paltu Sahib says people feel as though they are going to die when they will drink the Naam. They are ready to drink the bitter neem, the drink of the neem tree, but they are not ready to drink the bitter drink of Naam because they feel that they are going to die.

Only they drink the cup of Naam, those who are preparing themselves for death. They close their eyes and without any hesitation they drink it.

The Light of Ajaib

Those who are initiated they already have the way to approach to the Naam and to get that, but how to get to that and how to drink that cup of Naam – nobody tries in that direction.

Now we are sitting on the Path and we are understanding that this is our goal, but that is not true. Our goal is Sach Khand and our journey will end when we get to Sach Khand. Swami Ji Maharaj also says, “Up to the third plane the Negative Power exists, but after that in the fourth plane the Dayal Power, the Positive Power is there.”

Naam is residing in the fourth plane and above in Sach Khand, but we people are searching for that Naam in these three worlds. We can't get that because in these three worlds there is the Negative Power. Naam has created this world but we are searching for that Naam in this world and we can't get that because Naam is in Sach Khand.

Saints come to help us realize and to achieve that Naam. Without taking anything from us, They help us in doing so. Because They are the experienced men and the fortunate ones come in contact with Them, and take advantage of Their experience.

Everybody should attend the Satsangs and those who are initiated should never miss their meditation. Master used to say, “Give up hundreds of works to attend Satsang and thousands of works to sit for meditation.” My best wishes are always with you. You should never miss your meditation.

[This ended the second session.]

SANT JI: Yes, now anybody can ask any questions.

QUESTION: Master, do You want me to come to India this year and see You, or should I wait?

SANT JI: You should wait here.

QUESTION: I should wait here? That's what I thought.

[a child asks:] Are You planning to come back?

SANT JI: Yes.

QUESTION: Good.

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs and everyone laughs.]

QUESTION: When you feel in your heart that you want to see the Master, and you run into opposition, how do you know that you're doing the right thing? How do you know if you 're doing the right thing, if you press to see Him? or if you choose not to? [to Pappu: Do you understand? “No.”] Yesterday I felt in my heart that I wanted to see Sant Ji, and I went down to the bridge. There weren't many people there, and one person had said I could go with him to see Sant Ji, but down there I was told that I'd be doing the wrong thing if I did that. I sort of felt like if I [went ahead] I'd be a horrible person, so I decided at the last minute not to go see Sant Ji. I felt really bad, but I felt that maybe I'd be imposing on Sant Ji if I had gone ahead. How do we know what is right?

SANT JI: A lover should always have the desire to see the Master for twenty-four hours a day. I don't call that a “desire to see the Master” if for a few days or a few minutes someone has that desire, and after that, it goes away without being fulfilled – then that was not desire.

The Light of Ajaib

Mahatma Chattardas Ji said, “Always, twenty-four hours a day, I have the desire to see my Master. Why am I not going to see Him? I should go, even crossing the river, to see Him. No matter what obstacles come in between, still I will go and see Him.”

If we will remember Him twenty-four hours a day, and have the desire to see Him, at least for one moment in that twenty-four hours He will also remember us and He will also think about us. So that is the best time.

This is my personal experience, that you don’t need to go to the Master and say, “I have the desire to see You, that’s why I have come here.” No matter how far away from Him you are sitting, if you have the desire, that Power will know. And maybe sometime that Power will come by Himself to give you His glance.

No matter if we are sitting in the dark night, in a dark room which is closed from all four sides, and if a storm is blowing – there is no way to come into the room – then also, if we have the yearning to see that Almighty Power, that Almighty Power can appear there and in that way He can quench our thirst.

But the problem is that our mind does not allow us to understand and believe in this thing. Our mind is always understanding the Master as the body.

QUESTION: I’m wondering about working in the world – whether one should work many hours and save money so that we can come to see You in India, or should we work less and put more time in meditation so we can see You inside and wait for You to come back.

SANT JI: Yes, you should work for your livelihood, whatever is important, and after that you should meditate more and wait here, no need to come to India.

QUESTION: When I am meditating, sometimes I’m very alert and doing Simran all the time; sometimes I slip into a state of consciousness that seems not really sleepy – but I’m not aware of where I am. Sometimes I remember doing Simran, sometimes I think I may have forgotten it and may have been somewhere where I shouldn’t have been. But when you’re meditating and doing Simran constantly does it change? If you’re doing it correctly are you supposed to be very alert and then see things within or does our consciousness change and become unaware and yet you’re doing Simran? It’s confusing to me, because I don’t know where I go.

SANT JI: Up until now you have not reached to that state of consciousness in which you will forget all about the body, about the world; in that state you will not even be aware whether you are doing the Simran or not. You will be lost in the inner things. This state comes only when within us the Simran is going on just like the thoughts are going on within us right now. In the same way, if we perfect our Simran, then such a state of consciousness comes. That’s why I am emphasizing this for everybody – I am telling all the Satsangis – to do more Simran, because we people lack in Simran very much. Ever since we were separated from God, birth after birth, we’ve been in the habit of doing the simran of the world. And in that way we have become the form of the simran of this world. That’s why Masters give us the Simran, because only Simran can cut the other simran.

QUESTION: Sant Ji says to do Simran twenty-four hours a day, even while we are sleeping. I can’t sleep when I do Simran. Is there some little trick?

SANT JI: Sleep is a very great wrestler and when she will attack, your Simran will go away and you will sleep. So from your side you should always go on doing the Simran, if sleep comes and if you are sleepy, it's all right. But up till your last minute you should go on doing the Simran. But experiences of the people show that when you are doing Simran, at that time Sleep also works, because it is the duty of Sleep to come and disturb you in your Simran. So when you are doing Simran, you will feel sleepy very quickly, more quickly than usual.

QUESTION: Sant Ji talks about being in love with God, and for one being intensely in love with God there is no problem with sleep. I can understand that, however reaching that is another thing. Intellectually I can understand that and insist that if I stay up studying I can become a good student. If I stay up meditating then perhaps I can advance on the Path to some point, however, if I do that long enough I start running myself down physically, if I deny myself the sleep. And at other times sleep completely takes over. There seems to be a difference between having love which then makes you stay up meditating and just having an understanding which makes you stay up meditating. I'm wondering how to get from one to the other.

SANT JI: You see the thing is how can we succeed if we are afraid of our body and all these things from the very beginning? If right from the beginning we have the fear of the body and its health, then how can we succeed? This is not the way of lovers; lovers never care about the body or anything.

Baba Farid performed many austerities trying to realize God. One of his practices was that he hanged himself in a well with an iron chain and in that way he was doing some type of practices.<sup>41</sup> Once a shepherd came to that well to drink the water and asked Farid, "O Man, what are you doing here?" Farid said, "I am doing the practices." The shepherd said, "For what?" He replied, "To realize God." So that shepherd asked Baba Farid, "Is it possible to realize God just by hanging oneself in the well as you are doing?" Baba Farid said, "Yes, somebody has told me that it is; that's why I am doing it."

That shepherd was very innocent and he had a real yearning to realize God, so he got some rope and he hanged himself with that rope and he also went into the well.

God, Who was looking at all this, thought, "This shepherd is very innocent, and he doesn't know what is the secret behind this. Baba Farid has hanged himself only to show the people that he is doing the devotion, so that people will praise him saying, 'He is a very good devotee; he is doing this and that.' This shepherd is very innocent, and in an innocent mood he has started doing the devotion; and he has not prepared himself for death. Baba Farid has an iron chain which will never break, but the shepherd has only a rope and maybe today or tomorrow that will break."

God thought like that. God was concerned about him and at once He appeared there, gave the shepherd His darshan, and told him, "Now your devotion is completed."

Baba Farid, seeing that the shepherd, in only one day, had already realized God, thought, "I have been doing this for twelve years, and God didn't come to me." When he saw God talking with that shepherd he requested Him, "O God, shower Your mercy on this side also, because on this side I am your man, and I am waiting here; just give me Your hand." God smiled and said, "No man, you have prepared a lot, so I am not concerned about you. You are not going to fall down in the well, so why should I give my hand to you?" After that Baba Farid realized that there was nothing to be gained in hanging himself like that, and that this was not the way of a lover to protect himself from all the dangers. Only he is a lover who surrenders everything to the Master without caring about his body or anything.

<sup>41</sup> In other versions the story says Baba Farid hanged himself upside down, i.e., by his feet. This symbolizes the need to put our mind below everything else in order to realize God.

The Light of Ajaib

1992*1992 January/February: The Importance Of Ashrams*Session Date: February 26, 1980

This walk talk was given on February 26, 1980, at Sant Jib former ashram at Village 77 RB, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, in one of the Sant Bani's there is a place where it says that if we we had enough surrender and faith we could go to Such Khand within a year. How do we maintain that faith?

SANT JI: Doing more meditation is the only way by which we can make our faith constant in Master.

QUESTION: Can you say something about how we can weed out imperfections?

SANT JI: Only by doing more meditation. Because we are not doing enough Bhajan and Simran it is very difficult for us to weed out our imperfections and weed out our bad qualities, but when we meditate more and manifest that Naam within us, then we don't have the problem of the imperfections. Then we will become perfect; then it will become very difficult for us to have any bad quality. As now it is difficult for you to maintain the good qualities, in the same way later on it will become difficult for you to bring even one bad quality within you. Guru Nanak Sahib says, "When that sweet taste of Naam comes, then the taste of the worldly things do not find any place in our within." So only by doing more meditation can you weed out your imperfections and become perfect."

As long as one has no wealth and is poor he is called a beggar when he goes and begs from other people. But when he gets many pounds or dollars then he doesn't need to beg from other people because then he understands himself as the rich man and his habit of begging goes away by itself.

In the same way as long as we are stuck in and are involved in the worldly things we have problems. We are imperfect in respect to God, because we are not meditating and because we are attached to the world. This world is imperfect that is why we also are imperfect. But when we become detached from this world, when day and night we meditate on Shabd Naam and manifest that Naam within us, then we don't have any problem like that, because when we become one with the Perfect Naam then we also become perfect.

If an addict does not get the thing to which he is addicted he feels as if his body is going to break down; until he takes that thing to which he is addicted he cannot find any peace. Even though he knows that thing to which he is addicted is bad, and other people tell him that he should stop using it, he understands but still he cannot stop using it. He is addicted to it and he is compelled to use that intoxicant no matter what happens. Any day that he doesn't get that thing he feels that his body is having a lot of pain and that pain goes away only when he takes that thing.

In the same way, in the beginning it is difficult for us to meditate. But we become strong in meditation if we don't pay any attention to our mind, if we don't entertain our mind, but instead of that we ignore our mind. If we go on meditating and if we make meditation a part of our life then later on it will become difficult for us to leave off our meditation even for one day. When the meditator becomes a perfect meditator, when the initiate becomes a perfect meditator, for him to skip the meditation even for one day becomes very painful. If he doesn't meditate for even one day he feels that his body is becoming very heavy and painful. He feels as though he is going to die if he doesn't sit for meditation.

So it becomes very difficult for him to give up his meditation and until he meditates he doesn't find any rest. That is why Guru Nanak Sahib says, "As the addict lives on the addiction, in the same way the beloveds of God live on the meditation of Naam." As the addict cannot find any peace unless he uses the intoxicant to which he is addicted, in the same way the beloveds of God, the devotees of God, cannot find any peace until they sit in the remembrance of God.

In His bani Sheik Farid writes, "Tonight I didn't sleep with my beloved husband and my body is paining me very much. Let me go and ask them who have no husband how they are passing their nights?"

He says, "The souls who are married to their beloved God, to their beloved Master, if they don't sleep with their beloved Master for even one night – if they don't meditate for even one night – their body starts aching. They ask those souls who have not gotten Initiation from the Master how they are passing the night of their life?"

Satsangis should maintain regularity in meditation because in regularity lies the prosperity. What is our condition now? We meditate for a few weeks or a few months, then we give it up for many days or months and again we start over – this is not a good thing. Many people leave their Simran during the daytime and after many hours they remember that they are supposed to do the Simran; in that way, when their link is broken it becomes very difficult for them to rise above in the meditation. That is why it is very important to maintain regularity in meditation.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, could you say something about the importance of ashrams?

SANT JI: When we are living with our families sometimes it is very difficult for us to do the devotion of God. In the world it is very difficult to stop worrying about our problems and meditate on Naam. That is why ashrams are made; they are made for the purpose of meditation. The meditation which we cannot do while living with our family we can easily do when we go to the ashram for that purpose. When we are living with our families we have to think about many things and we have to face many problems; while doing all those things it is difficult for us to spare much time for meditation. But if we go to the ashram, just for the purpose of meditating, after a certain period of time we can gain a lot of benefit from that.

And those who are living in the ashram are the most fortunate ones because not only are they meditating, but they are also helping others who come to the ashram to meditate. They understand their responsibility of doing more meditation there and moreover they take care of the dear ones who come to the ashram for the benefit of their souls. The people who live in the ashrams get the opportunity of serving other people and that is a helping factor also. They are more fortunate than the people who visit the ashram. So the ashram is very important if you understand that meditation is very important for your soul. In the same way, in order to do more meditation it is very important for us to go to the ashram.

Many times those who have Satsang in their homes postpone it because of laziness, and many times they even postpone their meditations. But when they go to the ashram to meditate or to attend Satsang, they cannot do that. Two or three days before the scheduled time they start thinking about going to the ashram on that certain day for meditation and Satsang. And whether they have to drive for seven hours, or an hour and a half, all the time they spend traveling to the ashram they always remember where they are going and for what purpose they are going; all that time is also counted in the remembrance of the Master. So going to the ashram brings many benefits for the Satsangis.

As the melon changes its color looking at the other melons, or in the company of the other melons, in the same way, when we sit in the ashram in the company of other people who are meditating our mind also gets the inspiration to meditate. At our homes we do not get inspired to meditate and we become lazy. But when we come to the ashram and we see that other people are meditating, we also feel like sitting down to meditate. At the ashram we spend a couple of days doing meditation, whereas in our homes we cannot even spend a couple of hours in meditation.

Moreover, if there is any ashram and people are visiting the ashram, many people get the opportunity to do physical seva, many people get the opportunity to do the mental seva – that is doing the Simran – and many people get the opportunity to help the ashram with money. Many people get the opportunity to do the seva which they can do by doing meditation.

Master Sawan Singh had made a very big Satsang hall and He used to say, "Those who have contributed in making this hall, whether physically, mentally, or financially, no matter if they have left this world, but still they will get the benefit of the service in making this hall, because they will get a share of the meditation of the people who will be using the hall for it."

Saints do not make the ashrams for Their own benefit nor do They make the ashrams for Their children or Their relatives; They make the ashrams for the benefit of the Sangat. They do not accept any money from the Sangat for Their own use; whatever donations They get They spend for making the ashram for the Sangat. For Their own needs either They do farming, or work somewhere, or have a shop or something like that. They earn Their own livelihood and moreover from Their own income They contribute also to the making of the ashram.

Whenever we go to any ashram we should spend the maximum time in doing more Bhajan and Simran, and we should always remain in the discipline when we go to the ashram. Remaining in the discipline means that we should spend maximum time in meditation and not waste our time in gossiping and just taking about useless things. We should have respect for the ashram in our heart, and we should do more meditation there so that only the fragrance of meditation will come out from that place. And we should always maintain the purity of the ashram.

This is a fact that the Saints are never attached to any of the ashrams because They are attached only with God or They are attached to the Sangat whom They have initiated. They always look forward to the day when the initiates will understand Their message and will go back to their Real Home.

There is not even one moment when the Masters are not thinking about the benefit of Their disciples. They are always waiting for the disciples to come back to Them and They are always waiting for the disciples to obey Their commandments. As a mother is always thinking about the welfare of her children – she is always worrying about her child and she is always taking care that her child does not put his hand in the dirt or put his hand in the fire. Or if the child makes any mistake, if the child gets into any trouble and it cries for help, or even if he doesn't cry for help, but when the mother sees that the child is in trouble she leaves off all the works she is doing and at once she goes and helps her child.

The Light of Ajaib

In the same way Master's attention towards the disciple is constant. He is always watching what the disciple is doing. If the disciple creates any problem for himself, and if the disciple cries for help, Master always goes there, and from behind the veil, He always helps the disciple. The disciple may not be aware that he is getting help from the Master but Master always helps him.

Saints are not interested in running big langars (free kitchens), and They are not even interested in making big buildings. They do that only because They want to utilize the money of the dear ones in the right place for the right purpose. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, "In the langars of the Master the rich people donate from their earnings which is distributed among the poor and rich equally and in that way the earnings of the rich people become successful if used at the right place."

Swami Ji Maharaj also said, "Master is not hungry for your wealth but He is doing it for your benefit. He is using your money for the benefit of the hungry and thirsty. He is feeding the hungry and thirsty with your money and in that way He is utilizing your money in the right place. And in that way, when you are giving money to Him which He gives to the poor and needy people, you are gaining His pleasure without paying anything and when He is pleased Sat Purush is pleased."

Kabir Sahib says, "Those who move the rosary without the guidance of the Master and those who give the donations without the guidance of the Master all their efforts are useless, because only the Master knows what place or what practice will bring the benefit for the dear ones." They know which is the right place that Their disciples should donate the money, that is why when the money is donated under the guidance of the Master only then does it bring good fruit to us.

My personal experience is that many people wanted to give money to Master but only the fortunate ones were allowed to do that. Many other people who had money and wanted to give it to the Master were not allowed.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to tell one very beautiful story about a mahatma who would only eat food at the house of a person who was earning his livelihood righteously and honestly. Once it so happened that he went into one village and asked some people there, "Who is the person in this village who is earning his living honestly and who is feeding the sadhus, the mahatmas?" So they told him that there was one trader in that village who was a very righteous man and who was earning his livelihood honestly and he was always interested in serving the dear ones of God.

So the mahatma asked them how much property he had and how many children he had. So he was told that, "He has four sons and he has about a hundred thousand rupees."

When the mahatma went to that trader he welcomed him with very much respect and honor, and the mahatma told him, "I want to eat food in your home."

The trader replied, "Yes, have a seat and wait, I will tell my family to make the food for you."

While the food was being prepared the mahatma asked the trader, "How many children do you have?" and "How much wealth have you collected?"

The trader replied, "I have only one son, and I have collected only fifty thousand rupees."

The mahatma got very upset and he started to leave that place without eating any food. So the trader asked him what was the reason why he was not sitting and waiting for the food, and why was he so upset?

The Light of Ajaib

The mahatma replied, "I have heard that you have collected a hundred thousand rupees and you have four sons, but here you are lying, so it shows that you are not an honest man; I do not want to eat in your home." That trader said, "Well Mahatma Ji, sit down, let me explain to you. Whatever you have heard is correct: I do have four sons. But only one of them is helping me in the path of spirituality, so I call only that son as my own. The other three sons who are not helping me in the spirituality, who are not helping me in realizing God, how can I count on them? How can I say that they are my very own when they are not practicing the path that I am practicing?"

"About the money: no doubt I have a hundred thousand rupees, but I have kept fifty thousand rupees separate. I have spent fifty thousand rupees in the path of spirituality; I have given that money for the needy people. I used that for the cause of the Master and I am sure that I will get the benefit of that money. I don't know about the balance, fifty thousand rupees, what will happen to them, whether that will be given to the lawyers or the doctors. Where I will spend that money I don't know, so for that money, which I don't know where I will spend it, how can I say that money is my own? Only that money which I have spent in the cause of the Master is my own, because I will get the benefit of it." When that trader gave such an explanation, the mahatma was satisfied and he ate the food.

So whatever money or whatever belongings we spend or we use in the Path of the Master only that can be called as our very own. Who knows what will happen to the money which we have not spent in the cause of the Master? It may be spent in settling our lawsuits; who knows what will happen to it? But whatever we have spent in the cause of Master, we will definitely get the benefit of it.

Suthra Shah, one fearless fakir, has said, "We should serve the Master with our hands, and we will get the benefit of only that service. We should donate with our own hands, and only that donation will bring benefit to us. Who knows whether money we leave in this world will give us any benefit or not? Who knows where that money will be spent?" So whatever we do with our own hands, whether it is the service to the Master, or if it is donations, we get the benefit only of that.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, "After donating we should not feel proud of it." He used to say, "We should be very grateful to God that He has given us the opportunity to help other people." Moreover He used to say, "We should donate in such a way that if we are using our right hand in donating not even our left hand should know that we have done so."

Guru Nanak Sahib also said, "Those who visit the places of pilgrimage and those who keep fasts and give donations and who, after doing all those things, become proud of it – all the benefit which they have gained by doing those virtuous deeds will become useless, just as the bathing of an elephant is useless."

In India it is very expensive to get a daughter married, that is why, when a baby girl is born in a family, the people are not very pleased. It becomes a problem for them to find a groom and they have to spend a lot of money in getting her married. That is why, in India, if anyone helps in getting a daughter married that is considered as a very high and virtuous deed.

When I was in the army and I would go to see Baba Bishan Das, He used all the money which I was paid from the army in getting people's daughters married. He used to tell me, "You should not remember whose daughter has been married using your money." Whatever money He used to take from me He never kept that for His own expenses, for His own purposes, instead He always used that money in getting other people's daughters married.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: [inaudible . . .] there is a lot of pain and guilt for them and I am wondering why is it happening, and what they have to do about it to become good fathers and mothers and also to work through that problem?

SANT JI: First of all it is the responsibility of the parents to take care of the children whom they have brought into this world. When the children grow old, when the children are able to support themselves, only then should the parents think about going into the solitude and living a life like that.

People should think about going into a secluded life, going in solitude, before getting married. Before getting married they should think what they really want? If they want to go in the solitude they should not get married and they should not produce any children. But once they have gotten married and produced children, then it is their responsibility to take care of them until the children have grown up. Until they can take care of themselves, the parents should not run away from their responsibilities.

Before getting married everyone should think whether they will be able to attend to the responsibilities which will come to them after the marriage. We should get married only if we are ready to attend to the responsibilities which will come after the marriage. What is the use of getting married and then running away from our responsibilities? Only those who want to run away from the responsibilities think about going in the solitude, in the secluded life, after getting married. And that is not a good thing. Just think, if you run away from your family responsibilities, if you don't take care of your wife and your children, and leaving them alone to fight with the problems of this world, if you go into the solitude, even for doing the devotion of God, that will not bring you any good because you are not doing the correct thing, you are running away from the responsibilities.

Baba Farid said "People are excited about getting married as long as they are not married. But when they get married and have to face the problems then they repent; they think that if they had not gotten married it would have been better for them."

Once someone is married then how can he become unmarried again?

When I was young I always kept one writing of one Muslim Saint in front of me; His disciple was called Raja. When that disciple was about to get married he dressed himself as the groom and went to his Master to get His blessings. But when he came to his Master, his Master said, "O Raja, you have done a very foolish thing; you came into this world for realizing God but now you are preparing yourself to go into hell."

So I had this writing in front of me so that I might always remember that I didn't have to do that.

Saints don't say that you shouldn't get married. I don't mean to say that you should not get married. Moreover, They don't ever say that you should get married. I say that before getting married, before getting into this thing, you should think about whether you can carry the responsibilities after getting married, or whether you can maintain purity in your life if you remain unmarried. If you cannot maintain the purity without getting married then it is better to get married. But if you cannot carry the responsibilities of the married life, then it is not a good thing to get married.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Master, what would you advise someone if their companion doesn't follow the Path and their children receive two different points of view about You and the existence of the Path? What can be done so the children won't be confused about what to believe and even which diet they should follow?

SANT JI: First of all, I would like to offer my salutations to the Feet of Gods Sawan and Kirpal Who have graciously given us this opportunity to sit in Their remembrance. It is a very good question because often in families we do have such problems. In some families the husband is initiated and the wife is not; in other families the wife is initiated or the children are initiated and the other people are not. So in the families where not everyone is initiated, such problems, such questions, usually are created.

Satsangis should read my history because in my childhood my father did not like and appreciate my sitting with my closed eyes, whereas my mother was very devoted. She had very good thoughts of doing the devotion of God. No doubt my father was also a very good person, but he did not like it when I would sit down with my eyes closed.

Often I have said that if a Satsangi remains strong in his devotion to the Master, then the Master definitely showers His grace on the members of his family. Since I remained strong in my devotion, and my mother supported me in it, that is why my father received the benefit and the grace of my Master. You would read in my history how three days before my father left the body, he started having the darshan of the Masters and he received Their grace. He sent me a telegram three days before he left the body. At that time I was living in Sri Ganganagar, Rajasthan, and my father used to live in the Punjab. My father told me how he was having the darshan of two old men in white clothes with white beards. Even though he was not an initiate, but because of the strength of the Satsangi in his family, he received the grace of the Master. He even patted me on my back when he had the darshan of my Master and he said, "Today I have come to realize the strength of your devotion and I realize that you are on the right path."

Now I will come back to your question. It doesn't matter if just one person in the family is initiated. It doesn't matter if just the husband or the wife or the children are initiated in the family. Their life should be a life of example for others. They should not get into any kind of argument, saying, "The Path which I am following is the right one and the one which you are on is not a good one." They should remain strong in their faith and devotion to the Master. They should do so much meditation that the fragrance of Naam should come out from within them. So if they live a life of example for others, then a day will come when the rest of the family members also will be attracted to and will follow the Path. In this group itself there is an elderly Satsangi lady whose husband is a lawyer by profession. He doesn't believe in this Path; he may be following some other path. He came to see me while I was at Sant Bani Ashram on one of the tours. When he came to see me he said, "I don't believe you. I don't believe anybody like you, and I don't forgive anyone." When I saw Pappu's hesitation in translating, I told him, "Come on dear son, tell me whatever he is saying." So Pappu told me that he was saying, "I don't forgive anyone and I will never forgive you."

I told him, "There is nothing wrong in that. It is all right, because how can one forgive others if forgiveness has not been put within him by God Almighty." So I told that dear one, "It doesn't matter if you don't believe in me, but I believe in you." He was so impressed that after that he stopped bothering his wife and now he sends his wife to India. He sends his wife to attend all the programs. During the last Hyderabad program he was very sick and still he sent his wife to attend the program. When she came here and told me about his sickness, I told her lovingly to go back to him and to serve him wholeheartedly and lovingly.

So a person who knows about the Path of the Masters is a wise person and he is like a person who can see. So he should use all his wisdom and he should maintain the peace in the home. He should maintain the love with his family. When a Satsangi will maintain a diary, when he will do his meditations every day and when he will make his life better, the other members of the family will imitate him.

QUESTION: Beloved Master, can you tell us more about praying for others. If someone you love is sick or someone has an important exam, can one offer one's meditation for them?

SANT JI: This question has been answered in detail and it has been published in Sant Bani Magazine.<sup>42</sup> So it would be much better if you could find that magazine and read that detailed reply. Still I will say something in regard to this question. You see there is nothing wrong in having good wishes and good feelings for the other people. Just as you want other people to have good wishes for you, in the same way you should always have good wishes and good feelings for others. There is nothing wrong in praying for others, but only if we are perfect beings and we pray for others, only then does that prayer get accepted. If we are not perfect ourselves – if our mind is still wavering, if we do not have enough faith – in that condition if we pray for others, that kind of prayer does not get accepted. Because in that kind of praying, even if you are praying for that person outwardly, in your within you may be having some different thoughts for him. So that kind of prayer does not get accepted. So the best thing would be to first become perfect and then pray for others.

When we pray for others we do not know whether this kind of praying is acceptable or not, whether it is good for us to make this kind of prayer. But since we are not going within and if those prayers do not get accepted, then we start having doubts.

Things in Indian culture are unique; they are strange, different. Usually in the western culture it is not the same. In India if anyone has a daughter, then they don't celebrate the birth of a daughter, they don't become happy. When I went on the first world tour some dear ones came to me and they expressed their happiness on having a daughter. I had the effect of the Indian culture where people don't celebrate with happiness if they have a daughter. So I did not know what to say to that person. When I asked Kent, he told me that in the West it doesn't matter whether one has a son or a daughter. So I gave them my best wishes and expressed my happiness.

In India there are many so-called babas, those who are always interested in eating halvah and good food like that. And they claim that if they go to somebody's house and pray for them, they will get a son for sure. This is an incident from the village where I am living now. There was a baba there who used to say that if people invited him to their homes and if he prayed for them, they would definitely get a son. So one couple invited him to their home and he did some prayers and things like that, but they did not have

January 1985, "The Reality of the Saint," pg. 5- " . . . if other people have asked us to pray for them . . . when we're over here . . . what should we [say]?" May 1985, "Beyond Hell and Heaven," pg. 25- "People have asked me to pray for them. I don't know how to do that or if it's the right thing to do . . ." January 1989, "Simran Cuts the Simran," pg 29- "I have a question about praying for a soul that has left the body . . ."

a son, they had a daughter. When they told him that they did not have a son, he said, “Well, this is because you did not have enough faith in me. So the next time you invite me we will do a non-stop recitation of Guru Granth Sahib and afterwards I will do the prayers for you and we will have a big feast and then you will definitely get a son.”

So the second time he was invited, he came with some disciples and he even came to see me. I welcomed him and I respected him very much and I sang his praises saying, “You are a great benefactor to give sons to people and people are very happy with you.” I controlled myself; I didn’t want to say anything which would upset him so in that way I praised him very much.

After that he went to that family and did the prayers; they had invited thousands of people and they had a big feast. He made that couple spend a lot of money in doing all the ceremonies including the recitation of Guru Granth Sahib. Unfortunately, ten days after that, the woman who was expecting died. When she died, people started having doubts and questions, such as: “How could he make them spend so much money if she was going to die?” “What was the use of praying for her if she was going to die?” “Didn’t he know that she was going to die in ten days?” “If he was perfect and if he had known that she was going to die then why did they do all this?” I mean to say that he was not perfect, so he did not know, and that is why he did all that. So we should pray for others only if we are perfect and only if we know that the prayer will be accepted. If we are praying for others without first being perfect ourselves, then we are in the deception and we are deceiving those for whom we are praying.

The biggest prayer which we can do for others is – if the person for whom we are praying is a Satsangi – remind him of the Simran, ask him if he remembers the Simran. Sit with him and do the Simran. The thing is that since we have come into this land of karmas we should leave everything in the hands of God. We should do the treatment, the medical treatment, but as far as the result of that is concerned, we should leave everything in the hands of God. God Almighty, with whom the Satsangis are attached, is not someone unwise or someone unknown, that He will know things only if we tell Him. He knows everything; even before our telling Him things He knows everything.

I often say that we people sit in the meditation just by mistake. But when it comes to doing the prayers, we spend hours praying to the Master. We pray to Him for the well-being of our children. We pray to Him if we are involved in any kind of lawsuit, we ask Him to make us successful in that. We pray to Him for all sorts of worldly things. Now you know that all these desires and all these things of a worldly nature are created by our mind and we want our Master to fulfill our desires and to do those things for us. So obeying our mind we are advising our Master to do things for us. So whose devotion are we doing? Are we doing the devotion of our mind or are we devoted to our Master?

In Sant Mat, the Path of the Masters, always we are taught to live in the Will of God. We are also taught to make efforts but more emphasis is laid on remaining in the Will of God. There is an incident from the life of Baba Sawan Singh. He had a son who was thirty-two years old who was working as an overseer. He became very sick and when he was about to leave the body, he was on his way to Beas. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that, at that time, He thought that if He took His son to His Master, Baba Jaimal Singh, it was possible that Bibi Rukho, who at that time was in the seva of Baba Jaimal Singh, would request the Master to keep Sawan Singh’s son in this world. It would be a very difficult karma for Baba Jaimal Singh to carry and Sawan Singh did not want Baba Jaimal Singh to carry that karma. So He used to say, “I made him breathe his last at the train station itself, and only after that I went to Baba Jaimal Singh.”

The Light of Ajaib

Master Sawan Singh Ji said, “At that time I looked in my within, I neither had any unhappiness, any grief, nor had I any happiness. So whose Grace was that? It was the Grace of Baba Jaimal Singh Who let me remain unchanged in the Will of God.” So even after becoming the Gurumukh, He was able to accept the Will of God with the Grace of His Master.

So just imagine if you have a thirty-two year old son in the prime of his youth and on top of that he is an overseer, holding a very good job. It is very difficult to let him go like that. Just imagine if we were in His place, how difficult it would be for us to let it happen. But that great Master, He lived a life of example. He set an example for others.

So the Saints live a life of example. I often say that Saints are not greater or bigger than God Almighty. But still They have God Almighty in Their control. Only because They remain in the Will of God with Their love They keep God in Their control.

It is my personal experience that at that time that Master Sawan Singh’s son was leaving the body, Master Sawan Singh did not need to do any prayer. If He wanted, He just needed to have a thought and that would have been enough to save the life of His son. Guru Nanak Dev Ji Maharaj says, “Whatever a Perfect Satguru says, God Almighty hears that.”

You know what the purpose of the Masters’ coming into this world is, but if They keep listening to all our worldly prayers, not even in millions of years, will They be able to take us back home. That is why it is better for us to accept the Will of God. In this context, often I have told you a story which Baba Sawan Singh used to tell. Once there was a person who was riding a horse and his horse became thirsty. So he went to a farmer who was watering his field, taking water out from the well with a water wheel being run by a pair of bullocks. When the bullocks would move, the water would come out, but the water wheel would make a noise and the horse would be frightened and he would shy away and not drink the water. So the rider told the farmer to stop the noise because the horse would not stay to drink the water. The farmer said, “If I stop that then there will be no water. So if your horse wants to drink the water, he will have to do it amidst this noise.”

So in the same way, since we have come into this world, if we want to leave this world, we will have to live with all the sufferings and all the pains and problems of this world. So we should learn to live in the Will of God. If we are in a situation where we feel that we need to pray, at that time .we should explain to our mind that we will have to live in the Will of God and this is the way He works in the world. We should always be very happy and we should accept the Will of God gladly.

Bhagat Namdev Dev Ji says, “Our doing doesn’t yield anything. Whatever God wants, whatever He does, only that can happen.” Satsangis should meditate and by meditating they should become perfect. Only after we become perfect can we know what kind of prayers we should do and what kind of prayers we should not offer. Because by meditating, the intellect of discrimination is created within us and then we can easily differentiate between the true and the false and we can easily figure out what kind of prayers we should make.

Dear ones, I do not mean to say that it is a bad thing to pray. You can pray very gladly, no problem in doing that. But you should also be able to listen to the answer which God Almighty is giving to you, to your prayers. When you are praying to God Almighty, He is answering your prayers but you are not able to hear that. So listen to the answers which God Almighty has given to you, to your prayers, and see whether your prayer was perfect, whether He has accepted your prayer or not.

The Light of Ajaib

When a Satsangi goes within, only then does he realize what he should be asking from the Master and what he should not be asking from the Master. Only after going within does he realize what happiness or what pain there is behind the thing which he is asking from the Master.

Dear ones, the reality is that in the Path of the Masters, in Sant Mat, the Master does not teach us only to sit with our eyes closed. He even teaches us to talk to the Master inside. The inside is more clear than the outside. If we read the inner book, that is more clear and explains more than the outer. We don't enjoy weeping until there is someone to console us. In the same way, we don't enjoy praying until we know, or are able to get, the answers to our prayers, or until we know that our prayer is being heard. The Master Who is within us is listening to all; He hears all our prayers and He is willing to answer and He is answering all our prayers. We are not yet ready to listen to His answers.

So we should have sympathy with all our dear ones, with all those whom we love. We should have good wishes and good thoughts for them. But as far as praying is concerned, first we should become perfect, we should become the ones who are able to pray for others. We should become those who are able to hear the answer to our prayers.

You could have read the message which I gave on my return from my first world tour; in that I said that for a Saint it is not a very big thing to be able to talk to a dear one in his language. It is a very simple thing, a very small thing for a Saint to do, but They do not do that. They remain in the Will of God. But in the place where our soul has to go and meet the Shabd, and talk to the Shabd, there is no barrier of language. There is no difficulty for the Master to talk with the disciple in his language because over there no language is needed. I said that when your soul will go inside and meet and talk to the Shabd, no Pappu, no translator will be needed there. You will be able to talk to the Master in your own language. This is not something which I have made up. Many letters, many dear ones, not hundreds but thousands of people, who come here tell me how they were able to talk to the Master within in their own language.

Dear ones, I am telling you in very simple words that this is the Path of doing; this is not the path of reasoning or using your mind and intellect.

1992 March: The Foundation of Good Health

Session Date: January 15, 1992

This question and answer session was given January 15, 1992, in Bombay, India.

QUESTION: Beloved Master, much has been printed in Sant Bani Magazine regarding how the dear ones can better care for their health. So many of the dear ones struggle with their health, any more secrets regarding our health which the Master would share with us would be wonderful.

SANT JI: I am very happy to know that the dear ones read Sant Bani Magazine, that they appreciate it, and many of them take benefit from it.

Many times I suggest that if you read Sant Bani Magazine with much love, appreciation, and with all your wisdom, most of your questions will be answered just by reading the magazine.

Many dear ones tell me in the interview how they were being bothered by some question, some problem, and when they read Sant Bani Magazine their question or problem was solved by reading the magazine. But there are other dear ones who subscribe to the magazine but they do not read it and they do not pay much attention to the reading of the magazine. Most of your questions are discussed and answered in the magazine.

Dear ones this human life which we have got is very precious. God Almighty has given us this precious human life and we have been told how to maintain our health by the rishis and munis who came into this world in the form of the doctors and the healers.

If we want to plant any orchard or if we want to grow some grains in the fields, first we need to prepare the ground, we need to prepare the land. The person who prepares the ground, who sows the seeds, and who works hard in that, he is the one who will reap the fruit. He will be the one who will enjoy the fruit which those trees produce and by selling those fruits in the market he will improve his financial condition.

The information which the rishis and munis have given to us about how to maintain good health-we keep those teachings aside and we present them to the other people in our own way.

Their teachings say that God Almighty has sent us into this world in the form of the couples, in the form of male and female. Both the birds and animals, and the human beings, we all are sent into this world in the form of the couples. When we grow up and the time comes to get married and have children, that is the turning point when we can make our ground, when we can prepare ourselves for a healthy life. Their teachings say that right from the beginning until we get married we must maintain chastity. They say that we should have pure and holy thoughts until we are married. Even after we are married we should indulge with our companion only to get children, otherwise we should always maintain chastity, we should always maintain the purity and the holiness of the thoughts.

They also say that after the wife conceives the husband should not go near the wife [to indulge in lust].

The husband and wife do have the children, but they do not think about what kind of children they should have. Should they have a child who has a nature like that of a mahatma, or a fakir, or a warrior? They never pay any attention to what kind of children they should have.

Also we do not pay any attention to this very important thing when we are together for having a child: what kind of thoughts we are having at that time. We should always have good thoughts [at the time of trying to conceive a child] so that it will have a good effect on the coming soul.

The Hindu Shastras have not left any room to say anything more. They say that when a wife becomes pregnant after that the relationship between a husband and wife should be very pure and holy like that of a brother and sister.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, "As are the parents, so are the children." The children we get are like the thoughts we have.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to give an example of a Muslim fakir, a Muslim mahatma. He used to say, "He had five children in his life and went to his wife only five times in his whole life."

When the health of the parents is not good, when day and night they remain sick, when day and night they live on the support of the medicines and the doctors, when their thoughts are not pure and holy, how can the children remain in good health?

The Light of Ajaib

Farid Singh Nabha was the general in the army of the King Ranjit Singh. He was a very brave warrior who had won the northwest frontier for King Ranjit Singh in the battle with the Pathans. There was one Pathani woman who saw the bravery of Farid Singh Nabha and she thought that it would be very good for her to have a child by Farid Singh Nabha because he was a great warrior. In those days they used to fight with the swords so one could easily see and find out who was a mighty one, who was a brave one. So she wanted to have a child by Farid Singh Nabha.

So one day she went into the tent of Farid Singh Nabha and expressed her desire. At once Farid Singh Nabha behaved as if he was her son and he said, "Why don't you consider me as your son?"

You see who can do this? only a brave one. And how can one become a brave one? Only if he has risen above lust, anger and the other passions. Imagine the parents of Farid Singh Nabha, they must have been very good, that is why he got this quality. Ego had risen above all his passion, so that when the Pathani woman came to him expressing her desire to have a child from him, he at once said, "Consider me as your child."

Children get to learn a lot from their parents. Whatever kind of life the parents are having, the children's lives also become the same. But we people do not tell them good stories, we do not set good examples for them, because we ourselves have not been given that. Our health is not good so how can we pass it on to our children?

Kabir Sahib said, "Maintaining chastity does not mean only the control of the organ of lust. (Because he has described lust as that of ten different kinds.) He says, "Everyone talks about the lust but no one knows what lust really is. All the fantasies of your mind are also lust."

When our attention, our thoughts are not stable, then how can we say that we are maintaining chastity? What kind of chastity are we maintaining if our thoughts are all over and we are thinking about the world and the worldly things?

The older people do have to live on the support of medicines, but nowadays even young people take so many medicines and pills, so many things to live their life. In the past they did not use so many medicines to live their lives.

Nowadays, even if we see someone who may seem to be a very healthy person, still he is not healthy, because his thoughts are wandering here and there; he cannot fix his attention, and he does not feel like doing anything. It is only because he does not have good health, that his thoughts are not stable. He is not able to fix his attention, he is not able to do anything, he is not able to sit for long hours only because his health is not good.

So dear ones, if the foundation is strong, the house will be very strong. Right from the beginning, in everyone's life, you have to make them strong right from their childhood. You should make them do the basic things which are necessary to maintain good health: they should be made to do the exercises, to run and do the basic exercises for good health. Only that much food should be eaten which is necessary, which is required for good health. Also one should be very careful when the seasons change; whatever amount of heat or whatever amount of coolness our body requires, it is very important for us to give that amount of heat and coolness to the body. Just by paying a little bit of attention to our health we can easily maintain our health.

The Light of Ajaib

Up to the age of sixty years I never had any vitamins, I never went to any doctor, I have always enjoyed good health. I have always done those basic things which are necessary for maintaining good health.

In almost all of those sixty years of my life I always said that I felt as if there was some kind of spring in my body and I was always inspired to go running.

In 1984, when that storm of violence raged in Delhi, and people killed each other first and then they killed the animals, at that time without any sickness or disease I lost a lot of blood from my body. Since then I feel weak in my body. I don't have any sickness or disease but without any disease I am feeling weak.

I have to serve the Sangat by way of talking; almost constantly I have to talk. I am not complaining, but I do feel tired by talking.

What I mean to say, in answer to this question, is that if we have made our house dirty and we have spoiled it from the beginning, then no matter how much we try, still we will not be able to make it as good as we should have made it. If we had made our health good right from the beginning then we would not have to spend so much energy on it now. In the same way, if the parents would pay attention to the lives of their children, right from the beginning of their life, if their health is made good, if their thoughts are made good, then when they grow up they will not have to go to the doctor or seek the support of medicine because their thoughts and bodies will be good.

What I have explained to you is all according to the teachings of Sant Mat or whatever I have learned in the Ayurvedic medicine, how much the health of the children is affected by the way their parents are.

QUESTION: Master, I have heard that I lose all the meditation I have done if I go to sleep after meditating. Please give me more details about how and why this happens.

SANT JI: The best thing would be to understand the greatness of the Naam which we have been given by the Master. You see that when we first get the Initiation we have so much yearning, longing and appreciation for the Naam that we put in more time for meditation. So if we maintain that feeling it would be much easier for us to remain at the Eye Center and do our meditation. We should try to rise above our body and above the Eye Center and after crossing the stars, sun, and moon, we should reach the Radiant Form of the Master. After we have crossed all these things and we have reached the Form of the Master within, the true awakening comes in our soul. When the Form of the Master gets manifested within us, after that only our body sleeps, our soul never sleeps. Sleep is a very good system through which we can give some rest to our body.

Now what happens is this, that unless we have reached the Radiant Form of the Master, our soul remains at the Eye Center. Unless we see the Radiant Form of the Master, if we go to sleep, our soul or our attention falls down into our body. If we have not been able to go up in the within then our soul falls down into the throat center when we sleep. Further it drops down into the navel center if we are sleeping in a deep sleep. Down then: we do not remember anything [of the inner planes] and in that condition, since we do not remember anything, we get all kinds of worldly dreams. So it is suggested that you should not go to sleep after meditation, because if you have tried to come up to the Eye Center in your meditation and then you go to sleep-if your soul drops down into the body-if you have bad dreams-then you feel bad about it. So it is suggested that you do not go to sleep after meditation.

Guru Nanak Sahib says, "A meditator sleeps from outside but from within his soul remains awake."

Kabir Sahib says, "Remaining awake while sleeping, only rare ones do. The whole world is sleeping in the state of awakenedness."

If we have not yet perfected ourselves in meditation, and if we sleep after meditating, and if our soul drops down to the navel center and as a result if we get bad dreams, then all day long we continue feeling bad as though we have lost all what we had gained in the meditation.

If by meditating every day the disciple is able to get into the habit of keeping his attention at the Eye Center then if he goes to sleep suppose in the night time before going to bed he has done the meditation and he is able to keep his attention at the Eye Center – then graciously Master pulls his soul up. In that state Master gives him very beautiful visions and many times in that state of dream or visions Master even helps him to pay off many karmas.

After the day when we get the darshan of the Master, which we call the dream, we wish to have such a kind of darshan again. It leaves the happiness and intoxication for many days and we wish to have that kind of vision or darshan once again.

You know that we always get the worldly dreams. It is because when we go to sleep our soul drops down to the navel center and according to the thoughts which we have had during the day we get those worldly dreams. Rarely do we get the darshan or the dreams of the Master because we only get the darshan of the Master when our soul either remains at the Eye Center or is pulled up with the grace of the Master. The purest form of the Shabd does not come into the lower centers of our body and that is why we do not get darshan of the Master in the dreams very often.

So when the dear ones tell me that they have had a dream of the Master, that they went with the Master from one place to another in their dream, or that the Master said something to them in their dream, I tell them, "Dear one, that was not a dream, that was reality, because we cannot go to that place, we cannot have the dream of the Master with our own efforts. It is only the grace of the Master which pulls our soul up, and He has showered grace upon you. That was not a dream, it was the reality, it was the grace of the Master."

I have seen and heard of this in the time of Master Sawan Singh; when Master Sawan Singh would go near the dear ones they would say, "Master, as You appeared in our within before, please come again."

Also in the time of Master Kirpal Singh many people used to request Master to come back into their dreams because it was so intoxicating, they would feel so very happy. Even now many dear ones in India and also in the west, who get such grace of the Master, request to have such a dream, such a vision again.

So I tell them lovingly, "Dear one, don't understand this as a dream, this is the reality, the grace of the Master."

I tell them that they should do their Bhajan and Simran, rise to the Eye Center so that they can have such grace of the Master again.

Kabir Sahib says, "It is better to have the dream in which the beloved Lord is with you than to remain awake."

So dear ones, if the Master appears within us even in the state of dreams and if we get to spend a moment with Him that is the most fortunate moment.

Kabir Sahib says, "If anyone utters the name of the Master even in the state of dreams, I am prepared to use my skin to make shoes for his feet."

So sleep affects you in both of the ways I have explained to you: if you go to sleep after doing a little bit of meditation and your soul drops down to the navel center and you get the bad dreams, then all day long you go on thinking that you have lost the benefit of the meditation. On the other hand if you will develop the concentration, if you make a habit of keeping your attention at the Eye Center and going up, then your soul will go up and she will enjoy the grace of the Master there.

The purpose of advising the dear ones to do the Simran all the time, whether they are sleeping or awake, whether they are walking, talking, or doing a n y t h g such strong advice for doing non-stop Simran – the purpose is that the dear ones should do so much Simran that in every single breath the remembrance of the Master dwells. In that way, whatever question we ask of the Master – because He is replying to all of our questions – you will be able to hear and understand the answer.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to tell about a potter who had to go to the palace of a king. When he was taking his asses with him he would say, "Come on dear mother, come on dear sister, let's go." Somebody who heard that asked him, "They are asses, they are donkeys, why are you calling them mothers and sisters?" He said, "Well, you didn't understand my point, because I have to go to the palace and I live in the open place, I live in the forest, and we use slang language. Now I am practicing so that when I go to the palace I may not say any slang word." So this is what the Saints make us do, They make us do the practice, because we have to go within, that is why They always advise us to do Simran.

We also have to go to the court of our beloved Lord and that is why we need to do this practice. Masters make us do this practice lest we may be thrown out of the court of Lord. This morning after the meditation you sang this bhajan in which Guru Nanak said, "Nanak says, O Lord, we have come with the Saints."

You see that even after reaching Sach Khand the Masters say, "We have come with the Master; don't throw us out."

1992 April: The Example of the Birds

Session Date: February 29, 1980

This article is from a "walk talk" given February 29, 1980, in Rajasthan.

QUESTION: Now that I am trying to learn a bhajan I find that it floats around in my head instead of Simran sometimes, and I can't say them both; so is that all right, to have a bhajan in your head instead of Simran?

SANT JI: It's all right. That also shows your love for the Master.

QUESTION: Could you talk today about the man's responsibility as a householder?

SANT JI: Yesterday I talked about the responsibilities of the women; the men also have responsibilities in the household and many of the responsibilities are similar for both. The main responsibility of the man in the household life is that he should earn his livelihood honestly and he should earn enough to support his family; and after taking care of his family's needs he should contribute something to the needy people also.<sup>43</sup> He should give some of the money that he has earned honestly to the charitable things also.

This is very important and when we have taken up the household life no matter what problems come to us, no matter how much we have to suffer in that, we should never run away from the responsibilities which we have taken, we should always be content in whatever we have to do and in whatever we are given. We should never turn our face away from the responsibilities of the household. A person living in the household life can easily fulfill all the desires he has whereas in a life of renunciation he cannot do that.

Sadhus wake up day and night and do the meditation and in that way they earn the devotion of God, whereas the householders cannot devote or sacrifice as much time. But by serving the sadhus and by contributing from their honestly earned money the householders can get the benefit of the devotion of God from them.

Once there was a dear one of Guru Gobind Singh whose name was Bhai Nand Singh. He was the only son of his parents and because he was in the company of Guru Gobind Singh he felt like giving up the family and the world and becoming a renunciate Sadhu. But the parents didn't want that because they were afraid there would be no one to take care of their property after they would leave because he was the only child in the family. So they came to Guru Gobind Singh and requested Him to advise their son so that he would not become a sadhu.

So Guru Gobind Singh asked him, "Bhai Nand Singh, tell me, why do you want to become a sadhu? Why don't you want to continue as a householder?" So Bhai Nand Singh replied, "Because there are many responsibilities that one has to attend to in the household life and moreover there is no happiness, there are many problems and that is why I don't want to remain a householder I want to become a sadhu. It is better to renounce the world and go into seclusion and do the devotion of God; because we know that one day we all have to leave this world and go back to God. So I think it is better that we should start leaving this world right now, go into seclusion, and do the devotion of God."

Guru Gobind Singh told him, "Well, I will tell you two stories and then you should decide whether you should become a sadhu or remain a householder." He said, "I will tell you one story of a sadhu and another story of a householder. If you are able to be a sadhu like the one I will mention in the story then you should become a sadhu. But if you cannot do that then you should become a householder of the type which I will mention in the other story."

The first story He told was about a sadhu who lived outside a village and he had a principle that he would never go into the village to ask for food. If the villagers came there with food he would accept that and whatever he got he ate with no complaints, but he would never go and ask for more.

<sup>43</sup> This should not be construed as a bias in favor of a "traditional family" where the woman works in the home and the man works outside, rather it emphasizes the need of honesty in earning and responsibility in spending the earnings, a responsibility primarily to one's family, but also to the needy ones in our area. The person working outside the household can just as well be the woman; the point is to co-operate for the betterment of all. As Sant Ji says later in this talk, after taking up the responsibility of household life, "our life doesn't remain ours, as our [family] also shares in that."

The Light of Ajaib

Once God thought, “This sadhu has made this principle that he will never go into the village and he will never beg for food; whatever people give him he eats, but he never asks for more, and he never complains no matter what quality of food he gets. Let me see how much patience he has and how much faith in God he has.”

So God did not inspire people in the village to bring food to him and in that way two days passed that the sadhu didn't have any food to eat. The sadhu thought that maybe the villagers had forgotten that he was there and that was why they had not brought any food. He thought, “Let me go and visit the village; the people will see me and they will remember, and then they will give me some food.”

So he went to the village and there was a big wedding ceremony going on in the home of an important trader. You know that in a wedding ceremony everybody is busy in their work and nobody pays attention to the poor people. Since that sadhu was a poor man no one paid any attention to him and nobody gave him any food. He was following his principle of not asking, so he did not ask for food and he did not get any. So understanding that as the Will of God and without any complaints and without cursing them he went back to his hut. He thought, “It is all in the Will of God that people are not getting inspiration to give me food.” He didn't think that there was any fault in the villagers; he thought, “It is all in the hands of God so nobody should be blamed.”

When God saw this He was very impressed and he sent two of His servants to test him further. God thought, “Let me see how much more patience he has and how much faith in God he has.” So He sent two servants who went to the sadhu's hut and told him, “God couldn't bear the insult which you received when you went to the village; nobody paid any attention to you and they didn't even give you food for the last four days. God wants you to know that if you want He can burn this whole village and punish them since they didn't respect you.” But that sadhu was the abode of peace and he said, “Well, it was not the fault of the villagers that they didn't give me any food; I think that it is all in the hands of God. Since He didn't inspire them to give me food, they didn't give me food. If God had inspired them to give me food they would have brought food to me, as they were bringing it before; so I think that you should go and tell God that it is His job to bring me food, not the job of the villagers. If He wants me to have food He should inspire the villagers to bring food to me. If He doesn't want me to have food then He may continue to inspire the villagers not to bring food to me.”

When both of the servants of God heard that they were also very much impressed. They brought that message back to God and God became so pleased with him that He gave him His darshan. He appreciated the way of life that the sadhu was living.

So Guru Gobind Singh told Bhai Nand Singh, “If you want to become a sadhu and give up the responsibilities of the household, you should become a sadhu like this one. If you are sure that you are able to do that, only then should you become a sadhu, otherwise not. If you are ready to remain content in whatever God gives you – whether He gives you praise, whether He gives you insult, whether He gives you pain or happiness – if you are determined to accept everything in the Will of God, only then should you think about becoming a sadhu, otherwise not.”

Then Guru Gobind Singh said, “I will tell you another story of some householders.”

A male and female pigeon were both living in a forest and once a man, while hunting in the forest, lost his way. In the evening he came and rested under the tree where those pigeons were living. He had lost his way and moreover it was a very cold night. He couldn't go anywhere so he thought of spending the night there, but he was shivering because it was very cold. So both pigeons started talking to each other, "Look at this, tonight we have a guest in our home, but it is a pity that we cannot take care of him, we cannot give him anything. We have heard how people are understanding the guest as God and how they sacrifice their everything for giving comfort and food to their guests but since we are birds and cannot bring a good amount of food for this man, it is very bad. God will not be pleased with us because we are not maintaining our religion of serving the guests."

Then the male pigeon said, "Let me leave the forest and find some fire so that this man may have some fire to remove his cold."

So he went into the village and got a piece of burning wood. It was very hard for him to carry that in his beak but still he brought it and dropped it from the tree in front of that man. When that man saw that there was a piece of burning wood he was very happy because that was what he wanted. But there was no firewood there and there was no dry hay or anything like that to burn in the fire so both the pigeons decided to break their nest. So they broke their nest and threw that dry hay and some things from the tree. So that hunter collected some pieces of wood and using that dry hay, that broken nest of the pigeons, he made a fire and in that way he removed his cold.

Now he was hungry, so both the pigeons thought, "What should be done for him for food?" There was no food around so the female pigeon said, "There is no life for a wife without the husband but if a husband wants, he can live without the wife. Let me go and sacrifice myself for this guest; I will go and burn myself in the fire so he can eat me and you take care of yourself and the children."

But the male pigeon said, "No, that can never happen, I don't have any experience of taking care of the children so you should remain and I will go and sacrifice myself for this guest." Ever since that hunter went and sat under that tree he had heard some discussion going on between those two pigeons. Even though he was not able to understand what they were saying, still he realized that they were discussing something very seriously. Later when the fire came and they broke their nest it was not hard for him to understand that they were doing all this for his comfort.

Then the hunter realized that they were again discussing something very seriously. The male pigeon said, "I should go," and the female pigeon said, "No, I should go." Both were discussing and fighting because each of them wanted to sacrifice themselves for the hunter. Finally the male pigeon jumped in the fire and lost his life. The female pigeon also did not take any time and she also jumped in the fire saying, "O God, now You are the protector of the children, because for me now there is no life since my husband has left." They both sacrificed their lives for serving the guest and they had so much love for each other that they couldn't live in this world without each other.

So Guru Gobind Singh said to Bhai Nand Singh, "If you want to become a sadhu, you should become like the sadhu I mentioned in my first story; but if you want to remain in the household life you should live like these householders. Even though they were birds, but still they maintained their household and the responsibilities which they had towards each other. See how cleverly they did that and moreover they sacrificed themselves in the service of their guest." So that is why in the household life we should always keep our self ready to sacrifice our self for our partner. And only in that way, when we have love and respect for our other partner, only then will we be able to maintain our household life throughout our life.

The Light of Ajaib

Saints maintain the langar only for the sake of the householders. Since the householders cannot devote as much time in meditation still they should get some benefit of the meditation of the other people. That is why They have maintained this langar in which They make the earnings of the householders successful. If the householders do not make their earnings successful they cannot get the benefit of the others' meditation. In the langar of the Saints They never ask anything for Their own self, but for the benefit of the other disciples They have maintained that langar. That is why Kabir Sahib said, "I would die rather than to ask for myself but for the sake of other people I will not be ashamed."

The meaning of telling the story of those pigeons was that even the birds have the love for their partners. When they are taking care of their children, both the male and female bird bring food in their beaks. They both work very hard and equally to make their home and to take care of the children. They have so much love for each other that they leave each other only when they die. If one of them dies earlier than the other then the remaining partner doesn't feel comfortable living alone and he also dies sooner or later in the separation from the other partner.

As the male and female bird work equally to make their home and to take care of their children, in the same way [for humans] both the husband and wife are equally responsible for making their home good. As the male and female birds are both bringing things to make their nest, in the same way both husband and wife are equally responsible in making their household successful. As far as taking care of the children is concerned, just as both the male and female bird equally bring food and give that to their children, in the same way both husband and wife are equally responsible for bringing up the children. Moreover both of them should work equally hard to earn their livelihood and to maintain the home. Both of them should work equally for making their home a heaven.

Once at 16PS, for an experiment, I put a mark on one male and one female bird because I always saw them together. For three years continuously I saw them together. They were living together and making babies and working together to bring up the babies. After three years the female bird died, then that male bird went with some other female bird. When that female bird sat there in the nest, at that time there were some eggs and the babies were not yet born. But when the baby birds were born that other female was so harsh with them, that she threw them out from the nest and she treated them very badly, so those newly born birds also died.

Looking at that I thought: this is what happens with man also. When the wife leaves the body, or suppose the wife leaves the husband, or the husband leaves the wife, if they go and get another partner and if they have the children, this is what the other partner will do with the children. If a wife leaves the husband and the children with the husband, and if because of the lust he goes with another woman and marries another woman that woman will do the same thing as that bird did. So that is why, when we have the children, we should always try to maintain our marriage. Moreover after we have children it is very important for us to maintain the marriage, because after we have children our life doesn't remain ours, as our children also share in that.

In the household life we should always work together, we should always help each other, we should always remain loyal to each other, and just as the woman has responsibilities in the household, in the same way the man also should understand his responsibilities and attend to them.

After that, no matter how much wealth, children, and name-and-fame God has given to us, we should never become proud of that we should always understand that these are the gifts of God and we should remain detached from them. Guru Nanak Sahib says, “Those who remain detached from the worldly things even when living in the household life – I am the slave of such people.”

And a householder should meditate on Naam also. Guru Nanak Sahib says, ‘Nanak says, when we have got the Perfect Master we can remain detached from the world even while living in the household and achieve liberation.’”

Session Date: February 28, 1980

This talk was given on February 28, 1980, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 77 RB, Rajasthan, India.<sup>44</sup>

QUESTION: Sant Ji, could you tell us how a woman could make her home a sanctuary for her family?

SANT JI: For that, in the beginning, a woman has to sacrifice a lot. She has to understand the nature and the qualities of the other members of the family. In the beginning she might have to bear criticism also. But gradually, when she makes her nature and mind according to the nature and minds of the other members of the family, then her purpose is solved and she is not criticized, but she is appreciated in the family.

In the family the woman or wife should always speak sweetly. The wife or woman has to do a lot of work in the family, it doesn't mean she should speak harshly or that she should use bitter words because she is doing a lot of work. While she is doing a lot of work in the family at the same time she should be very humble and very sweet in dealing with other people. She should not expect that her husband will do the work for her or the other members of the family will do the work. Whatever work is there in the family she should always make an effort to do all the work by herself, and when she will understand her responsibility the other members of the family will like that and they will also lend a helping hand to her and in that way a good sense of unity will be created in the family.

Farid Sahib Shah wrote one of His banis in which a married woman is telling a newly married woman what she should do so that she can please and control her husband. She said, “O Sister, if you will adopt these three qualities only then will you be able to please your husband and he will be in your control, he will do what you want him to do.” What are the three qualities? First is humility. She said the wife should always have humility; no matter what happens in the family she should not give up her humility. The other thing is that whatever she gets, whatever her husband is able to provide her with, she should always remain content with that and she should always understand her duty, she should always understand that serving her husband and her children are her duties and she has to do that. The third thing is always to speak sweetly. If you adopt these three qualities then your husband will come under your control. Once in Sant Bani Magazine a letter to a dear one was published in which it was written very clearly that how both husband and wife should live in the family so that they can make their home an abode of happiness.<sup>45</sup> Because if the husband does not cooperate with the wife what can the poor wife do?

<sup>44</sup> Editor's note: This talk was given the day before the one which appeared in last month's magazine. As in that article, the family set-up described by Sant Ji is based upon a rural, Indian, model. In these marriages, the man and woman do not choose each other, the marriage is arranged. Further, what He is describing is a reality for many women. The expectations of the other family members create the conditions of the woman's life. His advice is meant to show how to improve the relationships between family members, not that families should follow a particular cultural pattern.

You know that you cannot clap with only your one hand, if you want to clap you have to use both your hands. In the same way if you want to pull the cart of the household, if you want to pull your worldly cart, both the wheels of it, both the husband and wife, should cooperate with each other, and only then can they develop happiness, only then can they have happiness in their family.

In India the girls are taught to take their husbands as God. They are taught that after the marriage they should eat food only after the husband has eaten his food otherwise it is not in their religion, it is not in their dharma that they should eat food. Also they are prepared for the service of the husband. They are taught to make the husband bathe in the morning and after preparing him for his job only then she should do her work. First she should dedicate herself to the husband and then to the other work. If the husband is cooperating with her then that house becomes not less than a heaven. But suppose someone is a drunkard and he comes in late at night after drinking a lot, the wife is waiting for him to eat food so that she can eat food, but instead of eating, if he is drunk, if he starts beating the wife how can the wife do anything to make that family like heaven? She cannot do anything. That is why it is very important for both husband and wife to cooperate with each other if they want to make their home an abode of happiness.

Tulsi Sahib has said that if both the husband and wife have the same type of desires, if they like to eat the same type of food, and if they have a similar liking for clothing, if they worship God in the same manner, and if they have the same Master, then that husband and wife can make their home like heaven. Because if they have equal liking for food they will never fight for which type of food is prepared in the home, whatever will be prepared in the house they will eat that without making any complaints. Regarding the clothing also if both of them will have similar taste then there will be no conflicts. If they have the same Master they will devote themselves to God in the same way, then also they will never have any conflicts. It means that both of them will have many things in common and when they will be doing the devotion to the same Master then that feeling of oneness will come in them and when both of them will feel that they are both one and the same thing, then that home will become like heaven.

Many women have many good qualities and they maintain good discipline in the family and they do a lot of work in the family but many of them have the habit of expecting praise and thanks from the husband. When they don't get what they expect from the husband, then they get upset, and that is also not a good thing. After working in the family and after doing the good things, one should never expect thanks and praise from the husband. It is up to the husband whether to praise her, whether to thank her or not, but she should always go on doing her work understanding it as her duty. The teachings of the Masters say that both the husband and wife are equally responsible in making their home heaven. Because in the household life, in the married life both husband and wife should cooperate with each other.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that, like women, many men also have the habit that when they do some work in the family then they expect that it should be recognized and that the wife should praise and thank him. If they don't get praise and get thanked they get upset; they make up their mind that they will not do it again because it was not recognized. But that is not the correct attitude, the men should also understand their responsibility in the family and they should also do the work which they are supposed to do.

Kabir Sahib also has said, “You should give up becoming proud of the works which you are doing, because pride is such a thing that it can finish us.”

A man may renounce wealth, he may even renounce his family, his woman and everything, but it is very difficult for him to renounce his feeling of pride. Kabir Sahib says, “What is the use of renouncing maya, the worldly things, if one has not given up ego? Ego is such a thing which has finished up many munis and great meditators. They all were doomed to death by the ego.”

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “Whatever we have accomplished that all goes astray when the ego comes.” I have seen that a lot of dear ones do a lot of meditation and moreover, they do a lot of seva also, but when they are praised by a few people they are caught up in that praise and that ego and in that way they are plundered by them and they lose all.

That is why whatever works we are doing we should do them understanding them as our duty.

The husbands and wives who would make their homes a sanctuary, only they will be able to devote maximum time to the devotion of Naam, only they will be able to come nearer to God. Because only if there is peace in the family can one devote much time in meditation.

There are only a few couples who think about making their home a heaven, otherwise you see that many people are married, but there are only a few couples who work in this direction. In Rajasthan there is a saying, “Few are the couples who will work for making their home heaven, otherwise all other married couples are just pushed together because they don’t make their home heaven.”

I have seen in my parents that my mother was having all the qualities that a loyal wife should have. She used to serve my father a lot, she used to bathe, wash him in the mornings and then do her work. She used to first feed him and then later on she would eat food and like that. She did all the works that a good wife should do. But on the contrary my father was such a man that even when he became very old, when he couldn’t even move his body on his death bed, at that time from the bed also he would fight with my mother, even when he couldn’t move his body. He always used to pollute the atmosphere, whereas my mother always used to bring peace into the room.

Once in the hospital when my father was very sick, all night my mother gave a massage to him and he was not aware who was massaging him. Whenever he would come into his senses he would use obscene words, bad words, for my mother. But my mother never complained. All night long my mother gave a massage to him and the next morning he again started using bad words. He had that type of mind that he was always angry and always upset at the people around him. It was his habit, but my mother was so patient that she didn’t complain, instead she said, “It’s all right, whatever you call me is all right. I don’t mind because my liberation is in your hands.”

There was one woman there at the same hospital who saw all this drama. When my father recovered she went to him and said, “O old man, if you had married me I would have taught you how one should speak with his wife.” I still remember how that woman went to my father and told him that he was not behaving well with his wife.

I lived with my parents for some time and I have seen that my mother never spoke loudly, she never got upset at my father, and moreover first she would prepare food for my father and only then she would eat.

The Light of Ajaib

When my father got sick she would help him day and night, not caring for herself she would always worry about him. When my mother would get sick, my father would never go in the room where she was resting. He would say, "I feel the bad smell from the room and I don't want to go." He would never even go to see my mother when she was sick, but my mother didn't mind that, she always used to serve him when she was well.

My mother had a renunciate guru and once she asked him, "My husband always gets upset with me, what should I do?" That guru gave her one bead of a rosary and told her to keep it between her teeth whenever her husband got upset and in that way he would cool down. Whenever my father would get upset she would not speak even a single word. She put that bead in her teeth and she was afraid to speak anything, because then that rosary bead would come out. When my father saw that my mother was not responding he would calm down. My mother thought that there was some miracle in that rosary bead but the fact was that because she was not responding in anger that is why my father cooled down by himself. So if one partner gets upset the other one should have that type of thing in their mouth. The other one should not respond in anger and in that way that anger will not be diffused everywhere.

If you want to make your home like heaven then you should also have some kind of rosary bead and you may have faith that the rosary bead will work for you as it worked for my mother. For my mother there was no miracle in that, there was no blessing in that, it was only because that guru had said not to lose it, you should always keep this under your teeth whenever your husband gets angry. She was afraid if she would open her mouth to speak anything she would be displeasing the master. In the same way, if you want to create harmony in the family, if your husband is always upset and finding faults in you, the better way to remove that problem is that you keep some rosary bead always with you and whenever your husband gets upset, keep that under your teeth so you will not speak. When you will not respond, after a few days, your husband will leave off the habit of getting upset. Or have some sweets in your house, whenever the husband or wife gets upset, the other partner should at once put the sweets in the mouth of that partner and in that way he will forget his anger.

The lesson we have to learn from the story of my mother is that we should have faith in our Master and we should always think that our Master is great. Even though my mother did not have a master who was the Form of Shabd or who was doing the meditation of Shabd Naam and even though she was liberated only by the grace of my Satguru Kirpal but still because she had faith in her master, and in the rosary bead given to her by her master that is why she always made peace in the family.

Meditation also can help you a lot in creating harmony in the family. Whenever you are preparing food, you should throw out all the worldly thoughts and instead you should have only Simran going on in your mind while you are preparing food. If you will prepare food with the Simran then that food will have a good effect on those who eat it and they will also change for the better.

1992 May: Always Appreciate The Time

Session Date: March 1, 1980

This talk was given on March 1, 1980, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 77 RB, Rajasthan, India

QUESTION: Sant Ji, I have a question about truthfulness, in body, mind and soul; it seems so far away that I can't even get an idea of what it would mean inside myself.

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: Both the good and bad things are in our within and we have to choose which path we will follow. It is up to us whether to go on the path of goodness or to adopt the path of badness. Many people have spoiled their habits; it is just a matter of habit. Otherwise truth is not far from us, truth is within us just as the other things are. People have spoiled their habits and that is why just for unnecessary things they start giving up the truth and they start lying, criticizing and they don't consider whether it is good for them or bad for them. They don't look within themselves to see how it is affecting them. It is up to us; we choose what we want to do. We should always remember our goal and if we want to achieve our goal we should always remain stuck to the truth.

No doubt speaking truth is an outer example of being truthful, but it also helps us very much in realizing that Inner Truth, in our within, Whom we call God.

In the beginning it is difficult to manifest truthfulness in our within because of our spoiled habits, but if we are determined to manifest that truthfulness then it doesn't take much effort and time to do that. And when that is done then it becomes very difficult for us to give up our good habits. As long as we have not manifested that truth within us we criticize and think evil of others. But when we manifest that truthfulness, manifest truth, in our within then for us there is no problem.

We should always first weigh our words and then bring them out. The wise people have always said that before speaking anything first you should look in your mind, look in your within and see what effect that will have on the other person. To manifest truthfulness is very important and constant meditation also helps in doing that. Truth is in your within and you know the practice of how you can go within and how you can manifest the valuable riches which are there.

Not having truthfulness within is a lacking of our mind. Those who don't have truthfulness, their friends and relatives give up their company and leave them one by one. Their condition becomes like the mad dogs to whom nobody pays any attention. Nobody believes the ones who don't speak truth and those who do not have truthfulness.

Truth is always truth that is why one should always be truthful. Guru Nanak Sahib said that, "Truth is above all but true living is above the truth."

QUESTION: Sant Ji, could you say something about schedules? I always enjoy making them up but it seems awfully hard to stick by them.

SANT JI: As you are enthusiastic about making the schedules you should also have the enthusiasm to follow them.

Making up a schedule means that we have to divide our time among the things in which we are involved. When we make a schedule we know at what time we have to go to work, and how much time it takes to reach the place where we work, how long we work there; how much time it takes to make the food, and how much time it takes to eat; how much time we devote to sleep; and how much time we are meditating.

When you have made up such a schedule it is very important not to miss the programs which are in the schedule. If you have the habit of missing the items in that schedule no matter what the part is, whether it is your work or it is your meditation there is no use in making such a schedule.

The Light of Ajaib

Because we do not follow our schedules that is why we always have to face the troubles. You see because S—— missed the flight of the group of people coming here, that is why he had so many problems when he had to come alone.

That is why whenever we miss any part of the schedule we always have to face the troubles. It is very important for us to stick to the schedule we have made.

You see that the flights operate on time and the trains are also moving on time. All the things of the government happen on an exact schedule, because they are always trying to maintain the schedules. This is because they have made those schedules and if they are not timely that causes problems to many people.

Once there was one soldier in our army who went on leave to visit his family and on the way back he was delayed by a couple of hours. When he was asked why he came late he said, "I was not late, the train was delayed."

So he was asked, "When does the train come to the station where you have to depart?"

He said, "Twelve o'clock."

Then he was asked, "When did you reach the train station?"

He replied, "At one o'clock."

So then he was asked, "Then how can you say that the train was delayed? In fact you delayed, you were late. How can you say that the train was late?"

He said, "No, I came there at the time, I came at one o'clock but I missed the train that left at twelve o'clock so I had to take another train that came at two o'clock, that is why I was delayed in the train."

Many times we take it very lightly; we don't take the time very seriously. But we should know that God has given us this measure time. All time is predestined, we have got the exact numbers of breaths and we cannot make any alteration in that. We can neither add any number of breaths nor can we reduce any number of breaths. God has made a perfect schedule of how much time we have to live in this world and how many breaths we have to take, and there will be no addition or subtraction in that.

Whatever God has made He will stick to that schedule, that is why we should always appreciate the time. We should never miss our schedule and we should always make the best use of our time, because God has given us a limited time in this world and we must do our work in that limited time. We may make the habit of missing the schedules and not sticking to the schedules, but God is not going to do that. He is perfect on His schedule and as soon as our time is up He will take us back. So that is why before the time runs short we should make the best use of it and we should take advantage of our being here.

We know that God makes a schedule for every soul and how perfectly that schedule works. Even while that soul is in the body of the mother at the appropriate time he has the food and the quantity is exactly what that soul or what that baby wants. Because of His perfection in the schedule, the birth of a baby happens at the exact time. It is not in the hands of a man to alter that schedule; whatever schedule God has made for that particular soul, the soul will have to work according to that.

The Light of Ajaib

That baby is born according to the schedule which is made by God, after a certain time that baby grows into a youth. Everything happens in this world with that child, with that soul, according to God's schedule. In the end when that man has to die at that time, no matter how many doctors he has to give him the medicine, no matter how many people pray that he should not leave when the time of his death comes, according to the schedule which is made by God, it doesn't take even one moment for him to leave this world. God does not wait for anyone, God does not alter that schedule which He has made.

In the same way God has made a schedule for the weather, for the seasons to happen and He has made a schedule for the suns, moons and stars. You see the sun always rises at the exact time and in the same way the moon also rises at the exact time.

First of all God is the One Who made the people of this world understand how they have to make the schedules. Because the schedule of God is perfect and every natural thing is happening according to the perfect schedule, so looking at that perfection people got the understanding of making the schedules.

In the earlier days when people had not invented the calendar of days and months and all those things, they counted the days according to the increase and decrease in the moon. You know that for fifteen days the moon decreases and for the next fifteen days the moon increases and then becomes the full moon. So looking at that people were counting the days using the moon and sun, they were counting the months and then the seasons 'Wow it is cold, now it is winter, now it is summer, now it is spring,' and like that. This is only because God made the schedule first and because He is perfect in the schedule. He doesn't miss any program in the schedule. You see if He missed even one program in the schedule which He has made how very difficult it would be for people in the world to bear with it.

So we should learn a lesson from God, since we are children of God and we are all trying to achieve Him we should learn a lesson from Him of maintaining our schedules. As He doesn't miss any program in His schedule, in the same way we should not miss any part of the schedule which we have made. And we should definitely make a schedule of our day to day life so that we may progress to Him easily.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, an article in Sant Bani Magazine mentioned that You would like people to learn Hindi or Punjabi and I was wondering which You would prefer us to learn?

SANT JI: I don't impose this thing on anyone, that everyone should definitely learn this language, but it is not a bad thing to learn any language if one can.

But it is better to learn Hindi than Punjabi, because Hindi is the language which many people speak. Almost everyone speaks it in India, and in the West also you will find many people who speak Hindi. You will find less people who speak Punjabi, because Punjabi is a regional language; it is spoken only in a little area of the country.

Saints do not mean to impose any particular language on the people, Their main purpose is that the devotees should do the meditation on Shabd Naam.

Many Saints even know the languages and They talk with the people in the language they speak. But many times when the Saints don't speak the language of the people, because there are many languages, then also it doesn't make any difference. Their main purpose is to teach us how to do the devotion of Shabd Naam and how to meditate on it and They teach us by using one or another means.

When we do not speak the language of the place where we are going, no doubt, it creates some inconvenience, and we feel and wish that we could know the language of that place. Some people feel it very much, whereas some people don't feel it very much, and they don't even mind. When we were in Colombia, Russell Perkins, since he didn't know the language of Colombia, he felt very bad and left out, because he couldn't talk to the people directly. So he told me that he was feeling very bad, and he wondered how we were dealing with this language problem. Every day we had to face the language problem, because I couldn't speak directly to anyone on the Tour.

So it happens when we don't speak the language of the country or the place where we are going, some people feel it very much, some people feel it less and some people don't mind. Saints never mind when They don't speak any language or when They can't understand any language because Their purpose is to make the souls do the devotion, and They read the heart and soul of the disciple just by looking into the eyes. They use the eyes for communicating and that is why it doesn't make any difference if They speak the language of any place or not.

If anyone wants to learn a language he should learn that language correctly. It is better not to learn a language than to learn it halfway. One should learn a language in such a way that he can communicate well with a person and he can be of use. When I went to Canada I met one Indian who had forgotten some of his Punjabi and moreover he had not learned a lot of English so whenever he was talking with me he would use half English and half Punjabi, at the end of every sentence he would say, "Yes, good, kita." Instead of saying, "Well done," he would say, "Good, kita" since he didn't know the word for kita which is a Punjabi word. So now whenever I remember that man I feel like laughing because that person was not able to communicate well.

Once we had one lady here from France and she couldn't speak English, but since Mildred knows very good French she was able to translate the initiation instructions, because she knows the language perfectly. So that is why I would say if anyone wants to learn the language he should learn it perfectly so that he can communicate well, otherwise it is better not to learn.

If anyone has time and anyone can do that I would not say that he should not learn the language, but I will not say that you should definitely learn the language.

1992 June: The Saints Work Day and Night

Session Date: February 27, 1980

This walk talk was given February 27, 1980, at Sant Bani Ashram, village 77RB, in Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: In singing the bhajans to the Master I have noticed at least in myself that there is a tendency for the ego to get in the way and decide I am singing well or I am singing poorly. What I would like to know is what is the best attitude to have when singing a bhajan to the Master?

SANT JI: This question has been asked many times and maybe it was printed in Sant Bani Magazine also – when we are singing bhajans to the Master we should have only love and affection for the Master in our within. No other thought should come there when we are singing a bhajan to the Master, because singing bhajans to the Master has a lot of importance. Guru Nanak Sahib calls a group of people who are singing bhajans to the Master the devotees of the Master. Because when a group of people are singing a bhajan to the Master, if they have love and humility within them, the love of all the people is directed towards the One Who is sitting in front of them in the physical form and He is the very personality for Whom they are searching in their within.

The Light of Ajaib

When they are lovingly and humbly singing the bhajans to the Master, Master also feels that love and He equally responds with love. So at that time the love is multiplied and in that way love is communicated between the Master and the disciples.

That is why whenever we are singing bhajans to the Master we should not let our ego come there and we should not even think whether what we are singing is correct or not. We should not go beyond the quality of our singing. The main thing required is our humility and the love which we should have for the Master when we are singing bhajans. If we are singing the bhajan to Master with love and humility then many of our sins are removed just by singing the bhajan to the Master and we become much more receptive to His grace.

So whenever we sing bhajans to the Master we should not remember anything except the Master Who is sitting in front of us. Whenever I used to sing bhajans to my beloved Master Kirpal I always had only love and humility and I never remembered any other thing except the beautiful form of my Master in front of me; I used to absorb myself in that singing so much that I was not even aware how many people were singing with me.

Whenever you sing bhajans to the Master you should be completely absorbed in that and you should not remain aware of any other thing. And the other people who are singing the chorus or joining in singing the bhajan, they all should join in singing because when everyone is singing to the Master with love and humility it charges the atmosphere and makes you all receptive.

If a patient goes to a doctor and if he doesn't pray to or if he doesn't request the doctor, "Please give me the medicine," he will not feel contented. No matter how much sympathy the doctor has for the patient, but until that patient makes that prayer, or that request, he cannot be contented. In the same way, we are also the patients because we have the burden of many karmas and we are suffering from those karmas of our past lives. So whenever we come to the Master and we get the opportunity to sing to Him then we should always make a prayer as Guru Nanak Sahib does in one of His bhajans, "We are the dirty ones and You are the One who will purify us. We don't have any qualities in us but You are the abode of qualities." We should make prayers like this when we sing the bhajans to the Master. Truly speaking all the bhajans are like a prayer which the disciple makes to the Master.

When Master first came to my ashram I sang a bhajan to Him which said, "Today is the auspicious day and it has come with a great fortune because today I am having the darshan of my beloved Satguru."<sup>46</sup> I sang that bhajan because that was the fact of my life, it was the truth in my life. I had never seen such an auspicious day before and moreover I was not sure whether I would have that opportunity again or not. That is why I called that as the most auspicious day and I sang that bhajan to Him. On the same day I sang the song that says, "God has come in the form of man,"<sup>47</sup> and that was also true. Master listened to those bhajans and He paid a lot of attention to them.

Whenever we are singing bhajans to the Master don't think that Master is not paying any attention or that you are not getting any extra benefit from singing the bhajan to Him. If we are receptive, if our vessel is made, then we can easily feel and see how much we have received just by pleasing the Master by singing the bhajans to Him. Whenever we sing bhajans to the Master, He always showers extra grace on us which we can feel if we are receptive.

During that time when I was singing to my Master He gave me His darshan the way Kabir Sahib gave His darshan to Dharam Das, His disciple.

Dharam Das was called Dhani Dharam Das which means wealthy Dharam Das because he had a lot of wealth. He was the owner of fourteen krores of rupees and that is why he was called wealthy Dharam Das. Because he had the desire to realize God, Kabir Sahib appeared in the form of a sadhu in front of Dharam Das and told him that He had come to give him something. Dharam Das was involved in worshipping idols when Kabir Sahib appeared, so He said, "Dharam Das, what are you doing? Don't worship the idols." At that time Dhani Dharam Das' wife was with him also and his wife didn't like that someone should criticize her husband, so she got upset at that sadhu, who in fact was Kabir Sahib and said, "Why have you come here? Go away from here!" So Kabir Sahib disappeared from there.

Later when Dharam Das was washing the firewood – in those days people believed very strongly in the "untouchability" and "impurity" and things like that – so he was making sure that he was not burning any impure firewood. While he was doing that Kabir Sahib appeared in the form of the same sadhu again and said, "Dharam Das you are a great sinner because you are killing many insects in that firewood."

At that time also Dhani Dharam Das' wife was there and she couldn't bear that someone should criticize her husband, so again she got upset and said, "O sadhu, you go away from here, my husband is not a sinner; you are a sinner." So Kabir Sahib disappeared from there.

Then Dharam Das realized that it was the same sadhu who had come to him twice, and both times because of his wife he had not been able to talk with or to get any knowledge from him. Dharam Das realized that the sadhu was great because on two different occasions and at two different places that sadhu had appeared and disappeared by himself. And he knew that there must be some power of God who was working behind this.

So Dharam Das rebuked his wife, "Why did you do that? If you would not have got upset with him I could have asked from him something about God, because he looks like a great sadhu." Because Dharam Das' wife was not aware and did not know who Kabir Sahib was, she said, "Well, he was just an ordinary sadhu, you perform some yajna, some austerity, and invite all the sadhus to come and have food. As there are many flies when you display any sugar or sweets, in the same way, when you announce that there is some great austerity going on in which the sadhus will be fed, many sadhus will come and among them will be your sadhu for whom you are rebuking me." Dharam Das first performed a yajna in Kashi and he spent a lot of money but the sadhu for whom he was searching did not come; Kabir Sahib did not come to attend that yajna or to eat the food. Many other sadhus came but not Kabir Sahib.

Dharam Das was disappointed, so he went to Matra, and there he performed a bigger yajna for which he spent even more money. But Kabir Sahib was not a fly, and He did not go there. Other sadhus came to the yajna, but Kabir Sahib did not. So Dharam Das was again disappointed.

After that Dharam Das spent all the money he had left performing a big yajna on the bank of River Ganges; he was hoping that Kabir Sahib would come there but Kabir Sahib never came. When Dharam

Das spent all his money He thought, “Well I have lost all my money, moreover I have not met the sadhu, so what is the point of living? What is the use of living? Now I should commit suicide; I should jump in the River Ganges and bring an end to my life. There is no reason to live now, because I have not met that sadhu, and now I have spent all my wealth.”

But then he thought, “If I jump in the River Ganges in front of all the people, they will say that because I have lost all of the money I have gone insane and that is why I am committing suicide. But that is not the reason, so I should go to some secluded place where no one can see me and I can jump in the water of the Ganges so that no one will know what happened to me.”

So Dharam Das left that crowded place and went into seclusion and when he was about to jump in the water of the Ganges he saw the same sadhu. Kabir Sahib was sitting there in meditation. Dharam Das became very happy, but on the other hand he was sad also, because now he didn't have any money. He told Kabir Sahib, “Master, You have met me now; had You met me earlier I would have served You with all my wealth and with all my belongings, but I am sorry that now I do not have any money to serve You. So that is why I was going to commit suicide, because I did not get You.”

Kabir Sahib said, “Well, Dharam Das, it was in the Will of God that you would come in contact with me only after losing all your wealth, because if you had come with all your wealth you would not have been able to get any knowledge from me. Moreover, you would have not been able to progress on the Path on which I want you to.” So then Kabir Sahib became very pleased with him and started giving him Initiation. Because Dharam Das had received the Initiation after such a long time and after such a long yearning, giving up all his worldly belongings, he was fully prepared to go to Sach Khand right from the time of Initiation. So as Kabir Sahib was giving him Initiation his soul started ascending on the inner planes and finally, before the Initiation came to an end, he was in Sach Khand. It means he was made perfect right from the day of his Initiation.

When Dharam Das realized the greatness of Kabir Sahib, when he saw that Kabir and Sat Purush were one and the same, he thought that his family members should also get benefit from Kabir Sahib. So he sent a message to his son (whose name was Narayan Das and who was blind) that he should come and get Initiation from this great Master Who is Almighty and the All Owner of creation.

But Narayan Das did not come because Narayan Das was an incarnation of Kal. He was born in the family of Dharam Das just to delude the souls, and he was the Negative Power Himself. It was the plan of the Negative Power to delude the souls after Dharam Das left the body. So that is why Narayan Das was the form of the Negative Power. He didn't come to meet Kabir Sahib and get Initiation. So then Dharam Das himself went to his home and brought Narayan Das, but because Narayan Das was the form of the Negative Power he did not respect Kabir Sahib. He started speaking bad things, saying, “You are condemning the reading of vedas and shastras which are the very root of the religion,” and “how can we worship a living man?” And he started saying all kinds of rubbish which didn't please Dharam Das.

Kabir Sahib said, “Dharam Das, don't get upset at him, because you don't know his inner secret, but I know that he will never get the Initiation.” Then Dharam Das felt very sad for his family, for his son, so Kabir Sahib gave him the inner darshan. Kabir told him how long He had been after Dharam Das and about his previous births, and how each time Kabir Sahib came to take him, how the Negative Power played a trick and he was not able to come into contact with the Sat Purush. Kabir Sahib told him the story of his many previous births and then Dharam Das was content. He was satisfied that Narayan Das was not going to get Initiation because Narayan Das always had the Negative Power behind him and Kal was always keeping him away from Kabir Sahib in his previous births. Then he realized, “It is not in God’s Will for Narayan Das to get Initiation.” Then he stopped requesting for Narayan Das and he became very grateful to Kabir Sahib because He had been trying for many births to liberate him.

So Kabir Sahib gave the inner darshan to Dharam Das and made him realize that He was always trying to get Dharam Das to Sach Khand in his previous births and at last in this birth it happened that he had come to Kabir Sahib and got the Initiation.

In the same way when Master Kirpal met me He showed me very clearly that He was looking for me and that He was waiting for me to come to Him to get Initiation and go up. So that is why when Master Kirpal came to my ashram I sang those two songs which I mentioned earlier. He liked those bhajans, and when a lot of Satsangis were sitting in front of Him I said, “Master, at least for today You should give Your darshan openly to all the dear ones so we will not have to struggle day and night for Your inner darshan. If You don’t want to give us this blessing daily, at least for today, because today is the most auspicious day in my life. You should give Your inner darshan to me and to all the people so that everyone will know that God is only One, and He neither resides in the temple nor in any mosque or any church; He resides in the heart of all the devotees.”

I told Him, “Give us Your darshan openly so that the priests in the temple as well as the mullahs in the mosque may all realize that God does not reside with them in their buildings, but He resides within us, within the devotees of God.”

The story I just told about Dharam Das and Kabir Sahib is from the book the Anarag Sagar on which Russell Perkins has written an article. It was in the last Sant Bani Magazine [January 1980]. In the book Kabir Sahib tells Dharam Das about previous births in which He came there to liberate him, why Dharam Das did not come to Him, and how all those things happened. Those who meditate can easily find out about their previous births – before coming into this human form – where they were born, in which type of body they were born, what karmas they had to suffer, and because of which good deed they got this human body, and what is their position in the inner planes. They can learn all these things by themselves. By reading the Anarag Sagar you will be able to know from which body you came into this body, and moreover, what your condition is now.

Then you will realize how the Saints are working for the disciples day and night. And when one becomes an initiate of the Perfect Master and does the meditation, no matter if his parents are initiated or not, the Master works for the parents of the initiate, that also is very well explained in the Anarag Sagar. When we do the meditation we can easily see our Master functioning for our parents, for our family, and for our own selves, and we can see how Master, even though He is criticized and blamed and not treated well by the other people, how He still has sympathy and best wishes for His critics also.

Those who meditate on Shabd Naam and go to Sach Khand and become one with Him only they have the real appreciation for the Saints in their within. Otherwise we the worldly people don’t have that much appreciation for the Masters. Only the souls who have reached Sach Khand have the real appreciation for the Master.

History says that Guru Nanak was not treated well by His parents, and His in-laws also did not understand that He was a great soul. They all thought that he was only wandering here and there and not doing his worldly work, and he was not taken as a good man. Only Bhai Lena who was later Guru

Angad had the real appreciation for Guru Nanak. He got the Initiation from Him and did the meditation and he became one with Him later on. He was the only person who had the appreciation for Him; only he knew how great Guru Nanak Sahib was.

Once it so happened that Guru Nanak Sahib and Bhai Lena were walking and one of Bhai Lena's hands went beyond the body of Guru Nanak. Bhai Lena felt that his hand had insulted the Master so for one year he tied his hand to his body and he never moved that hand. This shows how much appreciation and respect Bhai Lena had for Guru Nanak.

If you want to know about the pain you should go and ask the suffering one. If you want to know the value of the doctor go and ask one who has gotten comfort from the doctor, go and ask the suffering man who is being treated by the doctor.

In same way, if you want to know the value of the bread go and ask the one who is hungry.

In the same way, if you want to know the value of the Master go and ask someone who knows the value of the Master and who has taken his soul up to the Eternal Home. Only he will be able to tell you what Power the Master is and what qualities the Master has and how much we should respect and appreciate the Master. Only he will be able to tell you because he knows the real glory of the Master.

So whenever we are singing the bhajans to the Master we should have only love and humility in our within so that every single line which we sing to Him may become like our prayer to Him.

Many times I sing this bhajan which means, "Now the New Year has come and without Simran, O man, you will repent in the end. Even if you live for billions of years, in the end you will have to die, and if you have not done the devotion of God you will repent. You will become free from the noose of Yama only if you will sing the bhajans to the Master.

If you will forget the Naam you will get much suffering, you will be de-skinned and you will have many problems.

When will you bring your sinner mind back after making him understand the reality?

When will you request to your Master and ask for forgiveness?

Ajaib says, "Meditate on the Naam of Kirpal, otherwise in the end you will repent."<sup>48</sup>

So that is why when we are singing the bhajans to the Master the mind should overflow in us.

This question & answer talk was given February 6, 1982, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Master, what is in the heart of a true disciple and how is it one can develop such a heart?

SANT JI: In the heart of the true disciple there is only Master and nothing else. He does not have any interest in his heart. He asks only Master from the Master, he does not ask for any worldly thing. In fact he says, “O Lord, to ask anything from You except You is like asking for the pains, kindly give me the Naam so that all my hunger can be satisfied and I can be content.”

<sup>48</sup> See "Chade Chet, Har Chet Parani," page 46, in Songs of the Masters.

The Light of Ajaib

The true disciple of the Master understands the Master as the All Owner, he does not understand Him as the human being, as the body, he understands Him as Almighty God.

The true disciple of the Master knows his Master is the Creator. His Master is the One who made this toy, this world, and the birth and death of the disciple is in the hands of the Master. Whatever Master wants, He can do. He fills up the empty vessels.

Bulleh Shah has said that whatever Master wants, He can do that. If anyone goes to him with an empty vessel He can fill it.

Dharam Das told his Master, “O Master, I swear by You that not even in the dreams do I have any desire of the world. Wherever I look I see You whether it is inside or outside, wherever I look I always see You.”

The true disciple of the Master does not have the enmity to which all the people of the world are attached. He sees the Master in the enemy as well as in the friends. He sees that his Master is residing in both of them equally. He knows that it is up to the Master – if Master wants He can make people praise him; if Master wants He can make people criticize him. But he does not have any enmity for anyone.

The true disciple absorbs all the qualities which the Master has, and in fact there is no difference between the Master and such a true disciple. There is no difference between them because that true disciple has to carry on the mission of the Master and because the true disciple also comes from the same plane from where that high soul has come. There is difference only as long as the true disciple is separated from the Master. When that true disciple comes to the feet of the Master then he realizes, “I am made from the same substance, from the same thing, from which Almighty Lord is made, and there is no difference between the souls of the Master and the disciple, since they both come from the same plane.” When such a disciple comes to the feet of the Master, the Master at once realizes, “This is my soul who was separated from me.” And the disciple also realizes, “I was separated from this Power, not in this lifetime but from ages and ages, and now I have come to His Feet.”

Mahatma Chattardas has said, “When the disciple came to the Master the Master embraced the disciple in such a way that there was no distance left between them, they both merged into each other as the sugar dissolves into the water.” Only he is the true disciple who does not know how the people live in this world, because his soul, mind and body are all in the control of the Master and he does not have any free will of his own. He leaves everything for the Master, in the will of the Master.

We all understand ourselves, at our own places, as the true disciple of the Master, but we should look in our within and see what is the difference between us and the true disciples.

Bulleh Shah said, “Our heart is weak and we are stuck in this world but still we say that we are the lovers. By talking we seek the enjoyment of love but we are not ready to sacrifice ourselves.” The true disciple of the Master does not forget Him even for a moment. The true disciple of the Master does not forsake the Master even for a moment. Whenever he is awake his Master is in front of him, whenever he goes to bed he sleeps with the Master, and when he gets up his Master is in front of him. Guru Arjan Dev Ji says, “O my mind, go on repeating ‘Master, Master,’ because without Master I am nothing.”

The praise of the true disciple cannot be described in words.

QUESTION: Hazur Kirpal was fortunate to find in Ajaib the true disciple. Has Ajaib the good fortune of a true disciple and if so has He put him in hiding to grow?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs] Usually I say that as it is a matter of great fortune to get the perfect Master, in the same way, it is a matter of great fortune for the Master to get a real disciple.

Master travels a lot and goes through a lot of difficulty in search of the real disciple and He is ready to sacrifice anything for the true disciple, because within that true disciple the Master has to sit with all His Powers.

Only time will tell us who is the selection of the Master. We people are of such nature that if the Master tells a person in front of us, "I am giving you this Power, you will be working after me." How much jealousy and enmity will we have for that person, even if Master tells us that he is going to be His successor?

Guru Gobind Singh Ji Maharaj traveled a lot, from the Punjab He traveled to the south to Avichal Nagar because there He had to choose Baba Banda Bahadur and He was going to give him some Powers there. So when Guru Gobind Singh came there in front of all the Sangat He gave him that little sword which is called kirpan.<sup>49</sup> But the other people who were there with Guru Gobind Singh did not like that and they at once removed that kirpan from Banda Bahadur and said, "Well Master, you have met him just today, we have been living with you such a long time." They were very jealous of Banda Bahadur.

Guru Gobind Singh did not say anything over there. He kept quiet but internally He gave Banda Bahadur the Inner Powers and inspired him to go to the Punjab and carry out the work there. You would have heard the story of Bhai Bela who was a disciple of Guru Gobind Singh. When he came to Guru Gobind Singh, Guru Gobind Singh asked him, "Do you have any type of skill; do you know how to read or write?" He replied, "Master, I am an illiterate farmer and I don't know anything except taking good care of the horses; if You will let me I will take very good care of Your horses."

So Guru Gobind Singh became very pleased with him and gave him the seva of taking care of the horses. Also Guru Gobind Singh said, "I will give you one sentence daily which you can learn, and in that way you will also become a learned man."

Guru Gobind Singh had taken up the job of fighting on the battlefield because He was opposing the tyranny of the Mogul emperors. Once when He was going to the battlefield and it was getting late, suddenly Bhai Bela came and requested Him to give him the sentence of that day. Guru Gobind Singh smiled and He thought, "Look at this man! He does not even know where I am going and what is the occasion; he is worrying about his sentence." So He simply uttered these words, "O Bhai Bela, take heed of the time and the occasion."

Bhai Bela thought that whatever the Master had said, that was the sentence of that day so he went on repeating that sentence with full love and devotion for the Master. When the other people who had been living with Guru Gobind Singh for a long time saw that Bhai Bela was repeating that sentence with all love and devotion, thinking that it was the sentence given by the Master, they laughed at him. But he was not bothered, he went on repeating that sentence understanding it as the Master's commandment. In the evening when Guru Gobind Singh came back, those who were there, the chanters, asked Guru Gobind Singh if He had given any sentence to Bhai Bela to repeat.

Guru Gobind Singh said, “No, I did not give any sentence to him. Whatever I said was just to get rid of him, because at that time it was getting late and I had to go to the battlefield.”

So the chanters replied, “But Master he has been repeating these words since this morning taken as a sentence given by You, he is saying, ‘Bhai Bela, take heed of the time and the occasion.’” Guru Gobind Singh said, “Yes, that is true, in this Path those who do not care for the time and the occasion, and do the devotion of God, only they become successful.”

Guru Gobind Singh became very pleased with the devotion and love of Bhai Bela and gave His attention to him and took his soul up.

When the other people saw that Bhai Bela was remaining in deep meditation for twenty-four hours a day – his soul was always going up – they all became jealous toward him and started complaining to Guru Gobind Singh that in His court there was no justice. They all said, “Bhai Bela came just recently and you have showered so much grace on him, but we have been living with you for many years back. We have been taking care of Your place and we have been sweeping and doing many other things like that, but still up until now we have not been given that grace. You have never taken our soul up; so it means that in Your court there is no justice.”

Then Guru Gobind Singh told them to bring some hemp plant and make a drink out of it. When the drink was made Guru Gobind Singh told them to take it in their mouth, but that no one should swallow it. Everybody obeyed Guru Gobind Singh and then Guru Gobind Singh asked if anyone got any intoxication. They all replied, “Master, if we had swallowed it only then could we have got some intoxication. Since You told us not to swallow it, that is why we did not get any intoxication.”

So Guru Gobind Singh replied, “That is the answer to your question. You people hear the Satsang and hear the words of the Master from one ear and take it out from the other ear. You do not absorb them, you do not mold your life according to the teachings of the Master; that is why you are not getting the grace of the Master and your soul is not going up. Bhai Bela came just a couple of days ago, but whatever I told him he took all my words as my commandment and he went on repeating them with love and devotion. That is why he has been given such grace of the Master.”

The meaning of saying this is that it does not take much time for the Masters to prepare Their true disciples. The coming of the true disciple near the Master is just like bringing the dry gunpowder in contact with fire. You know that as soon as the dry gunpowder comes in contact with fire it at once explodes, but if the gunpowder is wet it will take some time. First it will become dry and then it will explode. In the same way, we people are like that wet gunpowder. We are becoming dry by attending the Satsang and trying hard and when our time comes we will also explode; we will become the true disciple. But when the true disciple – who is like dry gun powder – comes it does not take much time for the Master to put whatever He wants within him. In the Path of the Masters time does not make any difference; whenever They see anyone true and receptive to Their grace, They at once put all the things which They want to put within that soul.

Master does not become deceived when He chooses His successor. He does not give His whole Sangat to a blind one, He does not fall under any deception.

The Light of Ajaib

You may have read the story of Guru Teg Bahadur, how He did His meditation right from childhood, sitting underground. And when Guru Har Krishan left the body, He said only these words, “Baba Bakala.” He meant that the next Master will be in a place called Baba Bakala.

There were twenty-two claimants sitting in Baba Bakala, they were all claiming to be the perfect Master, the successor to Guru Har Krishan. At that time Makhan Shah the trader was having some difficulty with his ship, and his ship was drowning. So he prayed, “If there is any perfect Master at this time on the gaddi of Guru Nanak, if there is any Pir, any Fakir, or any Saint, I promise to donate five hundred coins in His langar if He will help me across this ocean, and take the ship to the shore.” So his prayer was heard and when he came safely to the shore he asked people about the successor, the Saint who was on the throne, on the gaddi, of Guru Nanak.

People told him that Guru Har Krishan had left the body and before leaving He had said, “Baba Bakala,” so Makhan Shah went to Baba Bakala. But there were all those twenty-two claimants in Baba Bakala, all saying that they were the successor to Guru Har Krishan. Makhan Shah didn’t know who to believe, so he started offering five coins to each of them, thinking, “Whoever is the True One will speak up Himself.” So he went on giving five coins to everyone. All the ones who were sitting there had become the Master by the support of their party, and every party was saying that only their Master was the Perfect One and that Guru Har Krishan had given Him the authority to give Initiation, etc.

So Makhan Shah went on offering five coins to every one of them, and finally he asked if there was anyone else? The people said, “Yes, there is one madman here, sitting underground doing his meditation, and his name is Tega.” So Makhan Shah went there and as he had done with the others, offered five coins to Guru Teg Bahadur also. Even though the Masters do not perform any miracles, but since They do not want to keep the Sangat in the deception and when They have to let the truth be known to the people that is why sometimes They do this: Guru Teg Bahadur at once ripped off His shirt and said, “Dear one, you promised to give five hundred coins and now you are giving only five coins? You just look at my body, in order to help your ship even the nails of your ship pierced through my body and what are you doing? You are giving me only five coins?”

At once Makhan Shah realized that Guru Teg Bahadur was the Real One. He went on the roof top and started shouting, “I have found the Master! I have found the Master!”

When the other people who were claiming to be the Master heard about that they became very afraid, they thought that when the True One has come out it would affect their business, because such people become the Master only for the business purposes. So with the help of Dhir Mal and other people they tried to shoot Guru Teg Bahadur. The place where they tried to shoot Guru Teg Bahadur is still preserved and I have seen that place with my own eyes. So after that those who were given the glimpses of the truth started following Guru Teg Bahadur and took advantage of Him. The other people like Dhir Mal and those who had become the false Masters, not many people followed them. So I mean to say that when the Master has to make any selection it does not take much time for Him, and whenever He leaves He does not leave in such a way that after Him nobody will know about it.

Remember that no one can reach the status of Param Sant without doing the meditation; and you should never think that Master will let anyone who has not done the meditation guide the Sangat. I have always said that before following any Saint you should lovingly read his history and find out whether he has done any meditation for ten years, for twenty years, whether he has done any sacrifice in becoming successful in Sant Mat.

Kabir Sahib says, “Those who do not practice themselves, but advise others, sand will fall in their mouth and while they are taking care of other people’s courtyards their own house will be on fire.”

Guru Nanak Sahib says, “If the scorpion becomes the minister and goes to debate with the snake, he will be killing his own self.”

Master knows about everyone. He knows which body is ready, no matter if he is not in the contact with the Master but still Master knows about everyone who does the meditation and in whom He has to put His Powers.

It is not only now, but always that the truth has been imitated. Paltu Sahib says, “He who has ten or twenty people following him is called a Mahant.”

That is why first of all we should do the meditation, because the Path of the Masters, Sant Mat, gives us the key to the Shabd. It demands a lot of hard work and effort and it is a slippery Path. If we miss even one step we can fall down and if we have even one bad thought it brings our soul out and we have to start all over again. So it needs a lot of hard work; it needs a lot of hard work for many many years. So that is why we have to mold our lives according to the teaching of Sant Mat and work hard in the meditation. After going within we should see because once we go within the Path becomes open to us like an open book and there remains no deception.

QUESTION: Did Sant Ji ever have anybody who was so thoughtful and loving when He was meditating as He is with us?

SANT JI: Truly speaking the love which my God Kirpal gave to me and the sympathy which He had for me is bothering me now because now I am separated from Him. Now also He is with me as He was before and now also He is giving me so much love and the same thing is bothering me.

That is why, in the separation from beloved Master Kirpal I always say that, “If I ever find anyone who is as unhappy as I am I may tell him about my pains. Because those who have not experienced any pain how can they value the pain? Those who have always been happy how can they know about the pain? The hafids or the learned people do not know what is really written in the Koran and the eunuchs cannot know the pleasure of indulgence. What words can relay the suffering if Master leaves the body before the disciple? Ajaib Singh you know this because you are going through all this.”

Dear ones don’t ask me about my pains and sufferings because I have become like a madman. Kirpal Singh gave me this separation and He left me unattended with all the wounds.

The teacher will be attentive to the student who is working hard and studying. You should never think that if you will meditate and be loving towards the Master He will not pay any attention to you. He will definitely be attentive to you with all His love. If there is anyone in this world who has real love for us and real sympathy for us that is our Master.

Because in the love of the world self-interest is hidden whereas the love of the Master is selfless.

I cannot be grateful enough to my Master for all the love He gave to me. I can only say that I thank Him for all the love. Only he who goes within can thank the Master. He gave me all the love and He made me obey His commandments. I cannot even say that I obeyed His commandments, it was not within my reach; it was His grace, His mercy, that He made me obey His commandments and He made me do all the things which He did.

In the Iron Age the souls are burning and the Master showers the rain of Naam and cools down the burning ones. How can we sing the importance of the praise of such a Master?

I could only sing in front of my Master, “After coming He cooled the heated hearts by showering the rain of Naam. The True Satguru has come to remove the pains of the suffering ones.”

I hope that all of you will do your Bhajan and Simran wholeheartedly and will make your life successful. You should try to obey the commandments of the Master, because the Master has come into this world only to give and in fact He becomes very happy when He is able to give something to His children. He is always wishing to give the things to His children.

This question and answer session was given in Jaipur, India, on March 6, 1992.

QUESTION: Could you explain how much we lose when we talk about the gifts you give us in dreams or in meditation, do we lose all of it or a little? If we do talk about it can we again have such an experience or is it lost forever? How does it affect meditation?

SANT JI: It is a very good question but it has been asked so many different times in different forms and different aspects and it has been answered so many times. Many times it has been published in Sant Bani Magazine, so if you make the habit of reading the magazine, if not in one issue, in another issue you will find the answer to such questions which are confusing you.

Usually dreams are created from our day-to-day thinking – the work which we do during the day or the thoughts which we think during the day – the dreams are created from those thoughts.

When we are awake our consciousness remains at the Eye Center, but when we go to sleep it drops down and goes to the throat center. When our soul is at the throat center we start having visions or dreams in the state of sleep. When we are in a deeper sleep our attention, our consciousness, falls down even further to the navel center. We are not able to do the things which we are thinking when our consciousness has reached the navel center, that is why the dreams which we have when our consciousness has dropped down to the navel center do not have any complete meaning. The dreams which we have when the consciousness is at the navel center sometimes will have one part correct and another part not correct; it will be in pieces and that is why we cannot figure out what is happening there.

In the dreams which we have when our consciousness has dropped down to the navel center, sometimes we run a lot, but we never get anywhere. Or we try to get somewhere, or we try to get something, and we cannot get it. Sometimes the dreams which we have in our deep sleep are very horrible, and we are very confused by such dreams. That is why in the Satsang it is always said that we do not have any peace either while remaining awake or in the state of sleep.

I will answer this question in two parts and then it will be easier to understand. One is about the worldly dreams which I have already told you and the second part I will tell you now. The second part is regarding what you have asked about the dream or the experience of the Master – should that be told to people?

Always it is said that Satguru is such a pure vessel Who has become the Form of the Naam. Below the eyes it is all the organs of senses and the pleasures of the world. It is all dirt. And since Satguru is a very pure and holy being, He never goes below the Eye Center, below the eyes. The thing is we people do not do enough meditation, that is why we do not know the greatness of the Master. But this is true, that the Master Who is the purest being will never go below the eyes. Those who meditate know that sometimes when our mind becomes quiet and peaceful then, showering His grace on us with His gracious Sight or through the gracious hook of love, Master pulls our soul up, brings it to the Eye Center, and gives us His darshan there.

Mind is our greatest enemy. He is the agent of Negative Power and it is his duty to keep the souls away from the Master. First of all he is told that his duty is to check that no soul should be allowed to come to the Master. If the soul is able to come to the Master, he should not get the Initiation; and if he gets the Initiation, he should not be able to meditate; and if he is able to meditate, he should not have faith in the Master.

Mind does not want to lose any opportunity. When I went to Nanaimo, over there an Initiation took place and many dear ones got very good experiences during the Initiation. They told me about their beautiful experiences, but also this question was asked, “Master, will we be able to see the same things when we return home?”

So I laughed and lovingly told them, “Whatever you have been given here, there is no way you can decrease it, even if you want; and you have to increase this. No one can take away the grace or the experience that you have been given here.”

When the mind can delude us even after we see the things with our own eyes, then it is very easy for him to convince us, it is very easy for him to delude us, about the things which we have seen in the form of dreams.

Once a woman Satsangi told Baba Sawan Singh, “Master, I used to have very good meditations, but I told someone about my meditations, and now what I had has been lost.”

Master Sawan Singh Ji said “You see, what is the fault of Master in this? Suppose you have a precious diamond, will you go on showing it to the other people? Will you go on telling other people about the diamond you have? If you will go on showing the diamond to the other people, if you will give the secret to the other people about the diamond you have, will they not try to rob it? So when you tell other people about the experiences which you have had then they envy you and the effect of their bad karmas affects your meditation.”

In the same way, in the town of Abohar there used to live one executive engineer, an initiate of Master Kirpal Singh, who used to see many things in his meditation, and he told someone about the lights and things which he was seeing. So when he told the other person about the lights which he was seeing, all the lights were stopped. So he repented and came to my ashram and he told Master Kirpal Singh that he had lost all that he was having. Master Kirpal Singh Ji lovingly told him, “Suppose you show a mirror to an ugly person, who does not like to look at his own face, and if he breaks that mirror, whose fault is that?”

In the same way, about two years ago, a dear one came from Punjab to 16PS to get Initiation. When he returned to his village he started talking about the beautiful experiences he had at the time of Initiation. There are many Satsangis in his village who have been on this Path, who have been initiated, for ten or twelve years, so when they heard all the experiences that he was talking about, they felt very envious. They thought, “What is this? We have been initiated for ten or twelve years, and we have not had any experience; this person has just got the Initiation and is talking about such high experiences?” So they felt very envious and they even wrote to me about their envy.

There was an initiate who had been initiated for twenty years, so he and the other people wrote to me, “What is this? That person got so many good experiences. And even though we have been on this Path and meditating for so many years, but still we have not gotten any experience?” So they were jealous and they complained to me about him. So I wrote them back saying lovingly, “Dear ones, you should not worry, now he will not be able to tell about his experiences to you, it was only for a few days that he got those experiences.”

So he stopped getting the experiences and now he is suffering a lot. He cannot give up the Satsang, he comes to the Satsang every month but as far as the experiences are concerned he is not getting anything, and he cries in front of me, and he tells me to give him the experiences. I tell him, “Dear one, that was the grace of the Master. Now you have to work hard; you have to make the efforts to get the same experiences.”

Master Kirpal Singh used to say, “If graciously Master has given you good experiences in the meditation, you should not go on telling people about it. If you will go on telling people about your experiences then the grace of the Master will stop.” It is not good to go on rattling the shells, and go on telling other people about your experiences. If you have them with the grace of the Master, you should absorb them, and you should enjoy and keep it to yourself. Because when you tell another person about your experiences and dreams, he does not gain anything from that, and you do lose a lot.”

Master Sawan Singh used to say, “If you have been given any grace of the Master you should keep it to yourself in such a way that not even a little bit of smoke may come out from your within; no one should know anything about what you have been given.”

We get the worldly dreams without thinking about them, without making any effort for them, but no matter how much effort we make to have the dream of the Master, we cannot have that until Master Himself showers grace on us. Many dear ones pray to the Master, they even get on their knees and pray to the Master, that at least in the state of dream He should give them His darshan. But that does not happen, it happens only when the mind of the dear one is quiet; because we never have a dream of the Master, it is the grace of the Master when we see Him in our within. Master never goes below the eyes, because it is all dirt over there, and we get the dreams only when our consciousness drops down below the Eye Center. So whenever the Master is gracious on us, whenever the mind is quiet, and He pulls our soul up, and brings it to the Eye Center, over there He gives us His vision, or His experience.

What should we do if we get such grace of the Master? We should keep it to ourselves; and keeping that beautiful, Radiant Form in front of our eyes all the time, we should go on doing the meditation.

Sant Mat is not a fairy tale. It is a Path of practice and doing. It doesn't matter who does it. Be it a man, a woman, a child, an old person, whoever does the practice can get the results. It is not a path of mind and intellect, it is a path of practice.

The Light of Ajaib

Kabir Sahib says, “You can find many people who talk about things, and those who have many ‘arrows of the talks’ and they will talk and debate about everything, but rare are the ones who churn out the essence and who really do what they talk about.” Guru Nanak Sahib also said, “No one has realized Him just by talking.”

So it is not a matter of talking, it is a matter of doing. In the bhajan Eh Manas Jame Nu Sohnya you would have read that “this is not a matter of talking; this is a matter of practice. Anyone who does it can see.”

So I hope that by now you would have easily understood that the worldly dreams do not give us any peace or happiness. And the vision or the experience which we have of the Master is not a dream, it is the Reality, it is the grace of the Master. When we have such a vision or experience of the Master our heart remains full of happiness and it blooms like the lotus all day long, and for many days that happiness remains there. So do not think that is a dream. It is the grace of the Master, and keeping that beautiful Form of the Master in front of you, you should do your meditation and progress spiritually.

QUESTION: Once we die our spirit goes up. Does it go back to the same place, to our Father from whom we came? Do we ever come back to earth? Where do we incarnate again?

SANT JI: It is a very interesting question; understand this, pay full attention. Once someone asked Baba Jaimal Singh, “Master, all the rites and rituals that we used to do before we came to you, before we got the Initiation” – because you know that in India after someone dies people do lots of rites and rituals in his name or for him, so they asked Baba Jaimal Singh, “Master, since now we have become Satsangis should we continue doing the same rites and rituals which we did before, or should we stop?”

In Bogota I did some Satsangs based on the book Ratan Sagar written by Tulsi Sahib. If you read those Satsangs you can understand the answer to this question very clearly, but I will try and answer it here also.

When the Satguru gives us the holy Initiation He sits within us in the Form of the Holy Shabd and He does not leave us until He takes us to our eternal home, Sach Khand. In our within, on the right-hand side the Master is residing and on the left side the Negative Power is there. When we leave the body, first of all our feet become numb, then our knees become numb, and as the soul goes on withdrawing from the body finally it comes to the Eye Center. When the actual death happens, those who are not initiated are taken away by the Negative Power, and at that time the soul who has been taken away by the Negative Power is very confused. She becomes very nervous, because she is pressed under the teeth of the Negative Power.

Tulsi Sahib has also said, “When the soul goes under the teeth of the Negative Power, at that time she feels terrible pain and the tears come in her eyes.” But this is the condition of those who do not have the perfect Master, who have not received Initiation from the perfect Master. But those who have been initiated by the perfect Master, as soon as they are withdrawn from their body, when they go behind the eyes, the Master, Who is present there all the time, at once takes care of that soul.

So Baba Jaimal Singh, in replying to the question which that dear one asked Him said, “When a Satsangi gets the Initiation from the perfect Master, he is born in the home of the Satguru; and all the rites and rituals which need to be done, they all get done just by getting the Initiation, because the disciple or the soul is born anew at that time in the home of the Satguru.”

The Light of Ajaib

I got many blessed opportunities to sit at the feet of Baba Sawan Singh Ji. It was such a time when, in the Punjab, He was opposed very much. The people who would oppose Him would somehow find out the Five Holy Names and they would try to stop other people from going to Baba Sawan Singh. They would say, “Why are you going there? We can tell you what He will tell you there.” So they would tell the holy Names to the people.

So when one person somehow got to know the Five Holy Names and he went on telling the other people about the Names, another dear Satsangi went to Baba Sawan Singh and reported that such and such a dear one had found out about the Simran and was telling other people. Master Sawan Singh said, “Giving Initiation is taking on the responsibility, taking care of the soul, it is not just giving out the Five Words, it is taking responsibility for the soul.”

Baba Sawan Singh also said, “Suppose if a dog passes through a cotton field, he cannot make a coat of it.” He said “When the Master gives the Initiation, He sits within the disciple in the Form of the Shabd, and He does not leave that soul until that soul has been taken to the Eternal Home.”

If we have to come back into this world again and again like the ghosts and the spirits then what is the use of going to the perfect Master?

So Satsangis should never think, not even in the state of forgetfulness, that they will have to be incarnated again. Because you have already been incarnated in the home of the Satguru and you don't have to come back into this world. Once you are born in the home of the Satguru then you don't have to come and go in this world.

The same question was asked by the sidhas to Guru Nanak, “Tell us how you have finished your cycle of coming and going?”

Guru Nanak Sahib replied, “By taking birth in the home of the Satguru, I have finished my coming and going in this world.”

Often I have told you what Baba Sawan Singh Ji used to say about one potter who had to carry some clay to the royal palace. While he was taking his donkeys he would say, “Come on friends, come on sisters, come on daughters.” He was calling his donkeys as sisters and friends and things like that. So someone who heard that said, “These are the donkeys; then why are you calling them as sisters and friends?” He said, “Well you didn't understand; I am just doing the practice. Because you know that I have a very loose tongue, I use the slang words, and I am going to the palace. What if a bad word comes out of my mouth? That is why I am trying to be polite; I am practicing the polite words.” So dear ones, all the Bhajan and Simran which you do, all the Satsang and the requests and prayers which you make to the Master here, is like the practice which you are doing and which you should always do. You are making this prayer to the Master, “Now you should forgive us.”

So it is our responsibility to do so much meditation that we may rise above the organs of senses and the mind, and while we are alive we rise above and go to that place, and see with our own eyes the place where we have to go and live after we leave this world so that we may not even have to ask this question about where we will be incarnated again. Guru Nanak Sahib says, “We should die while living. We should do such a practice that we may die while living.” So while we are living in this life we should rise above the organs of senses and the mind, and we should see the place where we have to go and live after this life. We should be able to see that with our own eyes.

Dear ones, now we do not have much time, but my heart is full and I would have loved to say more about how my beloved Master has been showering grace on the people. It doesn't matter whether it is east or west, He is showering grace on the people in all the different parts of this world.

1992 October: Don't Be Attached to the Ashrams

Session Date: February 3, 1982

This question & answer talk was given February 3, 1982, at Sant Ji's new ashram, at Village 16 PS, Rajasthan.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, this is my first time to 16PS Ashram, I for one find great peace and beauty here, there are few places on earth like this where each brick has been put in place with such love. Yet I have heard you say that the one mistake which Saints make when They come into this world is to make the ashrams. I have lived in many ashrams and I know that in the life of my own Master, Baba Somanath Ji, His beautiful ashrams became an overwhelming burden to His disciples. With 77RB ashram now demolished and 16PS ashram now born is there some new [Will of God] whereby Ajaib's traveling ashram will become a boon to His disciples rather than a burden?

SANT JI: Well I am very happy that you have liked this ashram, and whatever I say, regarding the mistakes made by the Saints, it is not what I have said, these are the words of my beloved Master Kirpal; He said this.

The life of this ashram is also not very long because this is made of mud and wood, as you can see. Not much money has been spent in making this ashram, and we have not invested a lot of money in it. I have kept this very, very simple. I hope that you will like this place a lot.

In 77RB also a very simple ashram was made and that is why it took no time to demolish it.

When the Masters leave this world, the people forget Their teachings. They look at the ashrams and buildings which They have made and they get attached to them. They do not realize that the Master Who made that ashram also did not take the ashram with Him, yet they think that they will be able to take the ashram with them. So instead of remembering the real teachings of the Master, they get attached to the bricks. They forget what the Master's purpose was in making the ashram and those buildings.

Masters make the ashrams only for the convenience of the dear ones who come to see Them. They make them for the convenience of the people, so that they can meditate there. But after the Masters leave, the disciples always look at the property which the Masters have left; and everyone tries to move to the front, everyone tries to become noticed by the other people, desiring that they will get the property which the Master has left. They forget the teachings of the Masters, and instead of remaining attached to the teachings, they become attached to the property or the bricks that the Masters have left.

In my former village, before 77RB, in the Kunichuk ashram I had made a very beautiful building, I had invested a lot of money in making that, and since so many people used to come there, everyone would ask me, "You don't have any children, you don't have any family, who is going to take care of this property after you? In whose favor are you going to write the will?"

People used to come to me and bother me with questions like that. At that place I came in contact with beloved Master Kirpal. So when He came, looking at my condition, Master knew everything that was in my heart; He was All Conscious and All Knowing. So He knew and that is why He said, “Even the Saints make one mistake on this earthly plane and that is of making the ashrams or the buildings.”

So when He came there He asked me how much land I had and how big the property was. I told Him to come with me onto the roof and I showed Him the boundary of my land which was fifty kilas or thirty-two American acres. I told Him that I owned all that property.

He said, “I am very happy that you have all this property; but I will tell you that you should leave this place and go to 16PS. Don’t take anything from here. Whatever animals, cows, and things like that you have, give them to the daughters of the other people. Don’t take even a little thing from this place; go to village 16PS and meditate.”

So I left there without taking anything from that place and I came here. And this is the place where my Master ordered me to go into full time meditation. He opened my eyes in respect to the inner world and He closed my eyes from the outer world.

When I left this place, it was because the pain of separation from my beloved Kirpal was so much that, remaining at this place, I was not able to bear it. So I left this place and went to 77RB. There I built a very simple, a very muddy ashram. When I made that ashram no one came asking me, “Who is going to be the owner of this property after You leave?” No one came to me asking me in whose favor I had written the will for that ashram.

So I mean to say that when the Masters make any ashram or any buildings for the convenience of the people, if it is very big, people come to know about it and then people start asking so many questions like this because they do not realize the purpose for which the Masters make the ashrams. They always get attached to the buildings and the ashrams made by the Masters.

The ashram that Baba Bishan Das made was paid for by my own earnings, and when Baba Bishan Das left the body there was no other successor to that. There was no other heir to that because Baba Bishan Das did not have any disciple other than me. So when that ashram, made from my earnings, became completed He told me, “Your job is not to get attached to this ashram; you should continue your search until the time when the One Who is to fill your bag will come to you by Himself. You should not get attached to this place, and you should not claim any possession of this place. You should not even look at this place.”

So when Baba Bishan Das left the body, the people of that village came to me, requesting that I should come and live in that place, but I said, “No this is not the order of my Master.”

Then they said that since there was no controversy there, there was no other disciple of Baba Bishan Das, they told me that I should nominate someone who could take care of that property.

But I said, “Well if I nominate anyone in my place, it is the same as if I was going and staying there. So I will not nominate anyone; it is up to you. You can decide whatever you want to do.”

So I did not go and get myself attached to that place; I did not even look at that place.

Since Baba Bishan Das gave me those orders I did not get attached to that place. That ashram is still existing in that village Chana in the state of Nahba in the Punjab. It was a very beautiful ashram, very great.

The Light of Ajaib

I mean to say that people always fight over the properties left by the Masters. When Master gave me the orders to leave the property of Kunichuk ashram and come here, on the worldly level it was very difficult to obey that order, because we people are attached to the properties and worldly things so much that we do not want to leave them. So when He gave me that order, outwardly it was very difficult to obey Him, and for once the heart felt it. But Master used to say that when a potter makes any pot, outwardly he hits the pot but from the inside he keeps a supportive hand. In the same way, Master put me through a very difficult test, and it was all by His grace and His own bravery that He made me pass that test. It was not my courage, not my bravery, that I was able to pass that test; He Himself put me to the test and He Himself made me pass that test.

I did not ask for any worldly thing from my Master, which does not mean that He did not give me any worldly thing, He gave me everything and still He is giving me a lot. Whatever I need, He gives me that. I had asked only Master from Him, and I had told Him, "I have an empty mind and an empty brain and my within is empty for You, so You please come and manifest Yourself within me."

He told me, "I have come from so far only looking at your emptiness and your mind."

The Path of the Masters, or the Way of the Saints, is not the way of talking; it is the Path in which we can improve ourselves. This is the Path in which we have to realize ourselves. We have to go within and we have to realize our self and realize God.

I spent many years searching. I went to many Sadhus and Mahtamas, I visited many organizations, sects and religions, and when I met my Master after that also I did not waste any time. When He told me to come to this place and meditate at 16 PS, I did not come out to see people, I did not meet anyone. I had only one sevadar attending me, otherwise I did not have anyone else with me.

Master had become very weak physically in His last years. When He told me to do the meditation, He told me, "I will come to see you myself You should not come to see me." So during His last days, with His weak old body He came here. You know that Masters also have some other body through which They can go to Their disciples whenever They want; no mountain and no ocean can stop them, because the love of the disciple is such that the Masters will be dragged there.

So when Master Kirpal came here, looking at the weakness or the condition of His body, my sevadar who was here told Him that He should not go downstairs to see me. When He came I had been in the deep samadhi for the last three days, and I was not coming out, so the sevadar requested Master that He should not go down, because His body was very old. But Master Kirpal replied, "No, where Ajaib can go, I can also go."

At that time Master said this: "Come on friends, let us go to see the battlefield. Let us go to the battlefield and see where the warriors are fighting; when they are fighting and getting killed they do not complain and they continue their fighting."

The disciple gets the Perfect Master only if he is the very fortunate one. But this is my personal experience, that if the Master is fortunate, only then He will get a real, a true disciple. It is not a little thing for a Master to get a true disciple in His lifetime.

Master used to say, "God is in search of man, when people become man then God Himself comes searching for him." Those who used to see me with my Master used to say, "Kirpal is fond of Ajaib."

The Light of Ajaib

You see that the disciple should be fond of the Master, not the Master should be fond of the disciple. But people who have seen me with Master used to say, “Kirpal loves Ajaib,” because of the way He would treat me, the way He would love me in front of other people. Whenever I went to see Him, He would never let me sit in front of Him, He would never let me sit on the floor, He would always have me sit with Him. And as a father feeds his child, in the same way, He would feed me. He would give me so much love that many times I would weep, and I would ask, “How come You are giving me so much love? You are Sat Purush and I am just a worldly jiva, why are You showering so much grace on me?”

Whenever I would go to see Him at the place where He stayed in Gunganagar when He came on tour, when He would find out that my jeep had arrived He would at once come out of His room to greet me. After seeing Him, when I would go back, He would come out and see me off and wait there and keep standing there as long as He could see my jeep. I have seen this with my own eyes. I say this: that He was great, He was all truth and He came into this world, as He used to say, “Saints always come for giving.” He came into this world to give and – He did not have a limited amount of grace to give to a limited amount of people – He had grace for everyone. People got from Him according to their receptivity, according to their vessels. If everyone would have become receptive to His grace, everyone would have gotten a lot of grace from Him because He brought a lot of grace in this world and people got according to their vessels, according to their receptivity.

Whenever Master would get ready to leave, after completing His tour, I would say, “One should never love the foreigner, no matter if He is very valuable, or if He is very good.”

Then Master would reply, “In a way the foreigner is good because after he leaves, whenever you remember, you weep for him and that is good.”

I know that Masters have a lot of love for the Sangat. The Saints always have a lot of love for Their dear ones, because They know that the Sangat is Their family and the Sangat is going to become the spiritual heir or the owner of the spiritual property of the Master. The physical family members may become the owner of the physical property but since the Masters love the Sangat so much and They know that the Sangat is going to become the owner of Their spiritual property, that is why They have so much love for them. In fact the Masters have more love than millions of worldly parents would have for their children.

Dear ones, I have not made this ashram so that after I leave people should fight over this ashram. I have made this ashram for the convenience of the dear ones, so that people may do the meditation here; and since it is made only of mud and temporary things, that is why it's life is not very long.

I do not have any connection with the members of my family. Never have I visited them and they have never come to see me.<sup>50</sup>

Hazur Kirpal showered a lot of grace on me and that is why my family members used to call me mad; they even wanted to take me to the [mental] doctors and get me the electric shock treatments. So I told them, “If you think that I am mad it is not good to keep connection with a mad man, and you should not come and see me.” It was all Master Kirpal's grace that they stopped coming to see me, because they used to say that Kirpal had put something in my head and that had caused the madness to come to me. I would reply, “Yes, Kirpal has put a lot in me, He has taken over my soul; and I will lovingly tell you that remembering the name of Kirpal, many millions of sinners have got liberation. If you also remember Him lovingly, if you also do His devotion, you can also get the liberation.”

Right from my childhood I always had this longing in my heart to see that hidden power which I had never seen. I always had this desire, I always had this wish, in my heart, “Will I get any Master like Nanak, or Kabir? Will I come across some Master Who is like Kabir and Nanak, Who will cool down my heated heart?”

So we all should work very hard, because Master is sitting within us. And when we will work hard, having a lot of faith and love for Him, since He is sitting within us, He will know about that; and He will at once open His door for us. He is not unjust. Whenever He sees the longing and yearning within us, He will at once open His door for us.

Masters become very happy when They are able to help Their disciples when They are able to pull Their disciple a little bit inward; and They become most happy when They are able to manifest the stream of Shabd within them.

Bulleh Shah said, “After coming to the Master’s door we have become the misers. God and Master are our friends, but we have become misers as far as doing Their [devotion] is concerned.”

We have become misers in doing the meditation; as the misers do not spend their money, in the same way, after we have gotten the Naam meditation from the Master we are not ready to use it, we are not ready to meditate on it. Master has not given us the Naam for keeping it, He has given us the Naam to meditate on it. That is why He always says, “You do the meditation and you struggle hard in your meditation. Struggling with the mind is what we call meditation.”

Whatever amount of meditation Master made me do, during that time I never sat in meditation with the thought in my mind: “I will see this thing,” or “I will have this experience,” or “I wonder if my soul will withdraw from the body or not.” I never had any thoughts like that. My job was to just sit in His remembrance and let Him do whatever He wanted to do.

We are like the beggars, and it is the work of the beggar to go to the people’s place and beg. He should not put this condition, that I will beg only if he will give me something. His work is to go and beg, and then it is the work of the householder who is going to give the thing to decide whether he should give to him or not.

So in the same way, our work is to sit and beg from the Master. Our work is to sit at the door of the Master – and since the Master is not unjust – He is sitting within us and when He sees our longing and yearning, He will definitely give us whatever we need. You know that when the beggar comes to your place he does not say, “Only if you give me something, only then will I praise you, or say ‘God bless you.’” Without knowing whether he will get anything or not, he starts blessing the people, saying, “God bless you” and when he does that, the people from whom he is begging are compelled to give him something. So in the same way, when we will sit at the door of the Master with longing and love for Him, when we will beg from Him, when we will request Him, then He will definitely give us whatever we need.

I will tell you that, up until now, no one who has worked very hard in this Path has gone empty-handed from this court. Those who have worked hard, having yearning and longing for the Master, have realized peace for their soul in this lifetime.

The Light of Ajaib

The eyes which have love for the Master get only love from the Eyes of the Master. And while they are working for the Master, they do not ask for any payment. His Eyes have the love for the dear ones, our eyes receive the love from the Beloved. The Eyes work for the eyes, and They do not make any excuses while working for the dear ones.<sup>51</sup>

Farid Sahib said, “As long as the girl is not married, she thinks about getting married; but when she gets married, then she wishes she was not married.”

To give the Initiation to any soul is not an easy thing; you have to carry the burden of many karmas of ones whom you Initiate. I will tell you that if the disciple knew that by doing this job of giving the Initiation to the other souls he would have to carry the burden of them, he would not be willing to accept that commandment of His Master. He would tell the Master, “Master, when You are going to take us back to Sach Khand, what is the use of doing this seva?”

I mean to say that when you give Initiation to others, when you get this job of giving Initiation to others, you have to carry the burden of millions of karmas of the disciples.

Only those whose inner eyes are not open want to become the Master; but those whose inner eyes are open never want to become the Master, they always try to hide themselves.

This is true, that I tried my best to hide myself; and I made the plan in 77RB to make a small room and stay there, live there all my life without coming out. But when I was making these plans, people from across the oceans and from all over the world were pulled, were attracted, to this place. When people started coming here, those people whom I had told about my plan to stay inside and not come out, they started saying, “On one side, Sant Ji is saying that He does not want to come out, He will stay inside. But on the other side, people from across the ocean are being pulled here. People who used to live on the seashores, and in very comfortable places, how are they coming here to this land of sand? Why are they paying their homage to this land of sand? Whose grace is this? Whose power is this? This is all the grace of the meditation; this is all the power of the meditation.”

So we should never become thieves of meditation. We should do our meditation.

I hope that you have gotten the answer to your question. The purpose of my making this ashram is not that people should fight over this after I leave. This ashram is very simple, it is muddy. And I hope that you will understand the purpose of my making this and that you will do your meditation while you are here.

I myself never got attached to any ashram in my life, because I changed many ashrams, nor do I want my sangat to be attached to the ashrams.

In my life I have worked very hard, I have done the meditation and I have spent my life in that experience. That is why I tell my sangat, “You should work hard and do the meditation, because by doing meditation you will also get something.”

Kabir Sahib said, “Happy are the people of the world, those who sleep and eat and enjoy. Unhappy is Kabir who stays up all night in the remembrance of the Almighty Lord.”

This is because no one has achieved God by enjoying the world. If God could be achieved by enjoying the pleasures of the world then what was the use of suffering the pains.

“O Kabir, the meditation which you have done will not become useless; no matter if the seven oceans come in the way, but still Its fragrance, Its effect, will reach the other side.”

Master replies to the questions of the dear ones, those who meditate. There are many dear ones who come here and tell me that before they came here they had so many questions, but during the meditation [program] they have gotten the answers to their questions and then they didn't need to ask those questions.

Thank you very much for preparing this very good question for many days.

1992 November: The Power of the Master is Always With Us

Session Date: October 11, 1992

This question & answer talk was given October 11, 1992, in Ahmedabad, India, during a session for Westerners.

SANT JI: Salutations unto the feet of my Gurudev Kirpal who was the Form of Sawan. He has showered Grace upon us and He has given us this opportunity to sit in His remembrance.

Today we will have a question and answer session, so you may ask your questions.

QUESTION: Dear Sant Ji, could You please tell us how to handle the moments when we feel discouraged about the difficulties of constant Simran, meditation and loving relationships?

SANT JI: At the time of Initiation it is explained about all this, but still I will try to explain to you and I will answer this question.

You know that we do not have any enemy outside in this world. Neither is any person our enemy, nor any community, nor any religion, nor is anything outside our enemy. Our enemy is within us. He doesn't come from outside; he always resides within us – our enemy is our mind.

All the Saints Who have come into this world have said that when the decision is made in Sach Khand about any particular soul – “Now this soul will be brought back to Sach Khand its Eternal Home – then that soul is brought into the company of the Master. Then that soul is brought into the Satsang and she is connected with the Naam which helps her to go back to her Real Home.

When that happens Kal, the owner of this land of karma, feels pain, because He got this soul after doing so much devotion, after working so hard. So when He learns that one more soul is going out of His hands, He feels pain, and through His forces He always makes efforts to create difficulties for that soul, for whom it was decided that now she should leave this land of karma and go back to Sach Khand.

I would like to give you a worldly example in order to make you understand this. No matter in what country of this world we live as long as we live according to the rules and regulations and laws of that country we do not have any difficulties. The authorities of that country where we are living are pleased with us and do not create any difficulties for us as long as we obey them. But when we try to become free from that country, when we try to give up that country and go to some other country, the authorities impose all sorts of restrictions and they create all kinds of difficulties for us. You can see this happening, in this present time, in many different countries.

So Kal, or the Negative Power, is the owner of these three worlds. Master is trying to make the Satsangis free from the bonds of the body and mind, but the Negative Power doesn't like it. So through His agent, mind, who is sitting within us, He does every possible thing to keep the souls in this world. He loses no second or minute, He always makes an effort to create difficulties for the Satsangis.

Master Kirpal Singh Ji told us to keep the diary. He told us to keep an account of every single second and minute of our life. The meaning of that is also the same: that we have to know for sure which minute or second we are spending in the devotion of God, or whether we are wasting the time obeying the dictates of our mind.

Many times it happens that even when we are sitting in meditation the mind rebels. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, "Many times the mind would prefer to stand in front of a cannon than to sit in meditation."

I have often told you about myself, that during the Second World War when they were taking people by force and making them join the army, I gladly gave my name to join the army.

At that time a lot of destruction was caused and many people were killed. People were so afraid of going to the war that they chose to go to prison for thirty years, but they did not want to go in the army. So at that time I not only joined the army gladly but I also offered myself to go and fight in the war.

But when Hazur showered grace upon me, He made that underground room for me and He told me to go within and meditate. He said, "You don't need to come out, I will come here to see you whenever I want." So when I was about to enter that room the mind came in front of me in the form of the tiger. He wouldn't let me go into that room. But if you have faith in the Master and if you think that the Power of the Master is always with you, then it becomes easier. If you always think that Master's hand is always with you, His Power is always with you, then you can face any difficulty.

So at that time I made a prayer to my beloved Master. I said, "Master, the Negative Power is in full force and He is chasing me. My reputation is at stake and it is in Your hands to save my reputation."

Dear ones the Shabd Form of the Master is always within you. You just need to develop faith in Him, and you need to feel that He is always with you. If you will feel that the Shabd form of the Master is always with you and that He is helping you, then you will have no difficulty whatsoever.

Another incident that I have also told you is what happened after a few days. The Negative Power came again, this time in the form of a huge snake. Even though in our area it is very rare to find a snake, but there was a very big snake. He was so big that, when he was moving along the ground, the earth felt like it was shaking. He came into that underground room and at that time I was sitting in meditation. When he came, since he was making a lot of noise, many people who were around that place also came; but I was sitting in meditation and I did not feel that he was coming.

So when some people heard the noise they came with sticks and they called aloud to me and said, "There is a big snake in your room." (Many dear ones who have had the opportunity to see that place where I meditated, they can very well imagine how big the snake was that could enter that place.) But the snake was there and it was very big. Through his mouth he was making a noise just like a very big bull would make. When I would try to quiet down that snake he would make more noise and he would try to attack me.

When the people said that there was a big snake in my room I told them, “No, there is no one here.” But when the snake heard that there were some people there who were ready to kill him, then he attacked them. At that time, even though it was a very scary experience, still I sat down in meditation, and I prayed to my beloved Master. I said, “O Lord, it is all Your play.”

Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say that if you have good feelings, even for the poisonous creatures, if you have good feelings then they will not attack you.

The Saints have love and affection for all the creatures, even for very dangerous animals, and that is why those animals come and sit quietly near the Masters.

Such incidents that I have just mentioned have great relevance to this question that was asked. Whenever you are in the moments of difficulty, when your mind tells you to get up from the meditation, or he becomes dry, you should lovingly explain to your mind.

If still you cannot make your mind quiet by talking to your mind like this, then you should make a prayer, you should pray to the Shabd Form of the Master Who is always with you. He is always within you and He will definitely help. In any case, you should not give up meditating.

In the Mahabharata it is written that Lord Krishna told Arjuna, “All these enemies that you are seeing, I will kill them, but they will be killed through you. You will become the means of their death. You will win in this battle and you will be glorified, even though I will be doing the actual fighting.”

In the same way, our Perfect Master Who is always with us, He fights with all these forces for us, but He is making us fight with them and He is giving us the glory. His Power is always with us and if we will always feel that His support is with us, that His Power is with us, then we will have no difficulty in fighting with these forces.

If the mind doesn't give up his habits, if he always keeps on bothering us with the thoughts, why should we give up our habit of doing the Simran? We should always go on doing the Simran, we should always go on feeling that the Power of the Master is with us, and always understanding and feeling the Presence of the Master with us we should go on doing our work of Simran.

Is there anyone who is spared by the mind? Read the holy books, read in the Bhagat Puran, and you will find out how many great rishis and munis, those who performed so many hard austerities, they were also deceived by the mind.

So a Satsangi should always be very careful in dealing with the mind. We should always remember what my beloved Master told me about the mind when I told Him about my shortcomings. When I told Him about my weaknesses, He said, “Dear one, when a bad person doesn't stop doing his bad deeds, why should a good person give up his good deeds?”

In the same way the mind is not stopping doing his deeds, if he is bringing the bad thoughts and the thoughts of dryness within you, why should you stop doing the Simran?

Consider this minutely; sometimes when the mind makes you rebel in the meditation, when he makes you give up your meditation, after some time the same mind makes you realize that you have done the mistake, and then again you start meditation.

The Light of Ajaib

So mind is playing with the Satsangi like a toy, in whatever way he wants, he makes the Satsangi dance to his tune. But the Satsangi should not listen to the tune, he should not dance to the tune of the mind, he should be strong and with all his strength he should do the Simran. If the mind creates any thought of losing faith or anything like that, at that time, do more Simran. Punish your mind and do more Simran. If you are used to sitting for one hour and if your mind is bothering you in that one hour, meditate for two hours on that day.

The thing is that the One Who is to help us is nowhere outside, He is also within us, the Master is the One Who helps us. He doesn't have to come from outside anywhere, He is within us. But what happens is that when the mind calls us we follow him and we give up meditation. We go far away from the One Who is there to help us. We give up meditation and we create all sorts of difficulties and problems for ourselves.

Many times when the Satsangi is sitting in meditation with all his strength and if nothing else works the mind again attacks that Satsangi and he brings the sleep. In sleep two or three hours go by and [sometimes] the Satsangi doesn't realize whether he was sleeping or sitting in meditation.

Even if the Satsangi is able to fight with the sleep then the mind uses another trick. He brings thoughts within the Satsangis such that, "It has been many years that you have been meditating, but still you have not reached Sach Khand, so what is the use of meditating? You should get up."

So there are many ways through which the mind can fool us and can make us give up meditation.

What I mean to say is that the mind will never accept any blame on himself. He will tell you that you have been initiated for the last ten years but you have not progressed. But he will not make us think about how many times, in these last ten years, we have meditated and how much we have risen above the passions and the other dirty things.

So that is why Swami Ji Maharaj said, "Give up sleep, give up laziness, and also give up this feeling of hurry which the mind creates within you."

A Satsangi should always be strong in doing his devotion. A Satsangi should always have these three things: he should always have the Simran on his lips, he should always be doing Simran; his attention should always be at his Eye Center and he should always remember the beautiful Form of the Master; his heart should always be devoted either to the Satsang or to the Master.

When the dear ones used to go to Rajasthan in the groups, many of dear ones would meditate a lot and they would tell me about their beautiful experiences. Even now in the city programs, those who concentrate, those who meditate, they go very high in meditation and they tell me about their experiences. I become very happy when they tell me about their progress.

In the last Bombay program one dear one from United States told me about his experiences in meditation. He told me how high he went in meditation and how beautiful it was for him to get that experience, and he was very pleased with that. He became very happy when he got that experience, but I also became very happy, because just to know that someone has concentrated in meditation and has gone up so high, gives me a great amount of pleasure.

God Kirpal used to say, "The truth is never destroyed completely, the seed of the truth is never destroyed completely, it always remains in this world."

The Light of Ajaib

People get the benefit, they get the experiences, according to their feelings and their efforts.

Swami Ji Maharaj has said, “I have taken up all your worries. Becoming worry-less you do your dhyana,” or the meditation.

So dear ones, when we have gone to the Master, Master has taken all our worries, and He is there to worry for us. We should have only one worry and that is of meditating.

When we know that we have found someone who has taken all our worries, then we should do what He tells us to do, and we should only be worried about the meditation that He has told us to do. In doing so, if we have to face any difficulties, with all our strength, we should face them and we should keep doing the Simran, and we should always pray to Him for His grace.

In very simple words I have always said this: that all the dear ones who come here in this kind of program, or in the groups, I appreciate their coming here very much. And all of you are written on my heart, because you people spend so much money, and you devote so much time to be able to come here, and I appreciate that very much. So when you people come here, I don't want you to go back from here empty-handed, I want you to carry a lot from here. But it all depends upon your receptivity, it all depends on how big of a vessel you have made of yourself and how much receptive you are to the grace.

I met with the Master, He showered grace upon me, and whatever He told me to do I did that. Whatever orders He gave me, I carried those out. It was all His grace that I was able to obey Him.

I have already answered the question in detail, but there is one more thing I would like to add to this, and it is: Suppose we are able to go past all these difficulties, all these problems, created by the mind and if we are somehow successful in meditating, we should keep a low profile. Many times it so happens that when we are meditating, and people come to know that we are meditating a lot, they come to us and we start talking about our meditations with them. When those people hear that we are doing so well in meditation, they start feeling jealous towards us and that affects our meditation.

So if, with the grace of the Master, you are able to fight with the mind and do the meditation, do not accept the praises of the people, and do not get upset if the people criticize you. Whatever you have been given in the meditation, just hold on to it, and understand it as the grace of the Master.

Sant Mat or the Path of the Masters is the Path of faith, love and making the efforts. He who has faith will also have love, and you know that love knows no burden. So if we have faith and love we will feel it is no burden in making the efforts. So this is the Path of faith, love and making the efforts.

Session Date: October 14, 1992

This question and answer session was given in Ahmedabad, India, on October 14, 1992.

SANT JI: I thank Gods Sawan and Kirpal that They have showered grace on all of us and made us sit together. If They had not showered so much grace upon us we would have not been sitting here together.

Now you may ask your questions.

QUESTION: Is it possible to just sit here quietly and look into the eyes of the Master without talking?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: It is a very good, a very interesting question. Many dear ones who come to see me in the private darshan sessions also have the same kind of request. They say that they have only come to look into the Eyes and have quiet darshan. Dear ones, when we rise above our body and mind and come to the Eye Center then all our questions get answered, all our questions go away. This has happened in the case of many disciples and the Master, that when they rise above and see the beautiful Form of the Master within, all their questions are answered, and then they wish to look into the Eyes of the Master, sitting quietly at His Feet.

I had a friend who was a malvi or Muslim priest; he used to tell me that a man cannot be God. He used to tell me that I was following the wrong Path. Since I had gotten the opportunity to study the translation of the holy book, the Koran, I told him, “Dear One, in your holy book, at many places it is written that you should go and seek refuge at the feet of the Prophets and the Masters. By not going to the feet of the Masters and the Prophets you are losing so much that you do not even know how much you are losing.”

When he understood the reality, when beloved Master went there and looked into his eyes, all his questions were cleared up. Master used to say that when one rises above the mind and intellect only then the ABC of Spirituality starts.

I have had many incidents, many experiences in my life. Often I have said that I have never asked my beloved Master any question. But that does not mean that He did not give me what I wanted or that He didn't answer my questions. Dear ones, the Court from which all your questions get answered without asking, what is the use of asking any question there? It is our mind who asks the questions.

I would like to tell you that the dear ones who came to see me after that last question-and-answer session which we had here, they told me how all their questions were answered. Because usually the things which are talked about in the Satsang or the answers which are given to the questions are regarding those things which the dear ones have to face in their day-to-day life. Even though all the questions get answered but still as Guru Nanak Sahib says, “As long as we live in this world, we say something, we ask something.”

Master Sawan Singh Ji had experiences with, or was acquainted with, all different religions and communities. He used to say, “The Punjabi people always keep doing something with their hands. They cannot sit idle; they always do something with their hands. In the same way the Westerners cannot sit idle as far as their minds are concerned; they always keep asking one or another thing.”

When I met Russell Perkins for the first time I told him, “You people become very happy after asking questions.”

And he said, “Yes, it is like that; we people like to ask questions.” Then I believed more in what Master Sawan Singh had said regarding the Westerners.

When we come to realize that the Master is the All Conscious One, He knows what is in our heart, then all our questions-and-answers come to an end. Still I would like to ask Dr. David Copeland to say whatever more he has in his heart.

Yes, doctor?

QUESTION: I just sort of wanted to hear stories about Your meetings with Master Sawan Singh.

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: Almost all the stories regarding my meetings with Master Sawan Singh which I have told earlier are published in Sant Bani Magazine, but if the dear ones want to hear it once again I would be very happy to repeat it.

Master Sawan Singh physically was very beautiful, very handsome. His Face was very attractive.

My first meeting with Baba Sawan Singh was encouraged, when Baba Bishan Das, who had the knowledge up to the first two planes, told me, “Whatever knowledge I have, I have given it to you.”

I had been searching for Spirituality since my childhood and Baba Bishan Das told me that He had given me whatever He had with Himself When I went into the army, once I was posted in the cantonment of Nashera which is on the frontier near the borders of Pakistan and Afghanistan. That was the cantonment which had been built by Baba Sawan Singh Himself when He was in the service.

There was a tour of Master Sawan Singh in the area of the borders and the place where Master Sawan Singh went was called Peshawar which was very close to the cantonment of Nashera where I was posted. There were some Pathans, some tribal people, who used to come in our cantonment to sell the branches of a particular tree which people use to clean their teeth with. So they had the opportunity of having the darshan of Master Sawan Singh in Peshawar. There were two people and they were talking among themselves about the radiance and glory and beauty of Master Sawan Singh. Since I was interested, I heard them saying, “A Saint has come from Punjab and we do not know about His Inner Power, His Inner Glory; it is possible that He may be Guru Nanak. If He is not Guru Nanak we would say that He is not less than Guru Nanak.”

The commander of our army was very fond of visiting the Saints and Mahatmas. He would always be very happy whenever he could see a Sadhu or a Mahatma. Wherever our army was stationed he would always find some way to visit a Sadhu or a Mahatma nearby. So I told him about Baba Sawan Singh, I told him, “I have heard about a Mahatma who is in Peshawar now, and if you are interested we can go and see him.” So we collected more information from those Pathans who had seen Baba Sawan Singh in Peshawar and about twenty or twenty-five people, including the commander of our army post, all went to Peshawar to see Baba Sawan Singh.

Since Baba Sawan Singh Himself had served in the army, He knew how hard it was for army people to get time off their jobs, so whenever anyone serving in the army used to go to see Him, He would always give them the time and see them [for interviews].

I requested Him to give me the Naam Initiation. He replied, “You will get the Naam at the appropriate time, and He Who is supposed to give you the Naam Initiation will come to your home by Himself.”

That was the time when the yearning was created in my within, I started wondering about the Mahatma, about whom Baba Sawan Singh had said that He would come to my home and give me the Naam Himself.

I said, “Master, how will I be convinced that He is the same Mahatma about whom You have said that He will come to my home Himself? How will I know that He is that Mahatma, that He is that Master, whom You mean? How will I have faith in Him?”

Master Sawan Singh said, “He who is going to give you the faith will also come to you by Himself. He is within you and He will come to you by Himself. I have to make you do a lot of seva.”

The Light of Ajaib

Then I told Baba Sawan Singh about my Master, Baba Bishan Das, and Baba Sawan Singh told me the location of His Dera and He told me to bring Baba Bishan Das there. When I went back to Punjab, I told Baba Bishan Das about Baba Sawan and at once He got ready and I took Baba Bishan Das to see Baba Sawan Singh.

Baba Sawan Singh became very pleased to see Baba Bishan Das, but He said, “Now you do not have much time, this is my promise: That I will take care of your soul in the within.” That very thing happened; after some time, Baba Bishan Das left the body and He was taken care of by Baba Sawan Singh.

I had many meetings with Baba Sawan Singh, maybe more than a thousand. But once when Baba Sawan Singh was developing the land at Sirsa He was staying in the house of a Rajput Thakur, Madhu Singh; He stayed there for a long time. An army officer who was fond of seeing Baba Sawan Singh went there to have His darshan and I accompanied Him because I was his wireless operator. Over there I heard this bhajan which the dear ones were singing: Chelo ni saiyo Sirsa nu chaliye. I heard this bhajan at that time; it was very sweet, very attractive, but I did not know that it was written by the Master who would later initiate me.

Dear ones, only God Almighty knows how many times I might have seen Master Kirpal Singh when I went to see Baba Sawan Singh. It is possible that I may have stood next to Him many times; but I did not know Him. The only time I remember clearly seeing Master Kirpal Singh was when Master Baba Sawan Singh left the body and He was cremated. I did not know at that time that He was Master Kirpal, that He was that Satguru Who would later on come to my home and give me the Naam Initiation – I remembered seeing Master Kirpal only after I saw the picture of that occasion in a book.

The Face or the Form of Baba Sawan Singh was such that – how can I describe His beauty, His glory through words?

In one of the bhajans I have said “I have seen millions of faces, but no face except His has pierced through my heart or has resided in my heart.”

Ever since I saw His beautiful Form for the first time, since then I celebrated all His birthdays even though I was not an initiate of His.

Dear ones, I am just talking about these outer meetings with Him, as far as the inner meetings, it was daily.

There were not so many initiates of Master Sawan Singh in our area; there were only eleven initiates in the whole district and they used to live about thirty-five miles away from the village where I used to live. So I would go to the city where those Initiates lived to celebrate the bhandaras or the birthdays of Master Sawan Singh. I would go there and make all the arrangements regarding the food and everything for the celebration and also I would go and request those people to come and participate in the celebration. I would also bear or suffer the spankings of those dear ones because they were initiates of Baba Sawan Singh and I did not have the Initiation so whenever they would criticize each other and I would tell them, “It is not a good thing for you to do that.” Then they would spank me and they would say that I did not have any knowledge of Sant Mat.

What we people do is that we get together to do the celebrations, to remember the Master, and after getting together instead of meditating we start criticizing each other. It is like first we eat the rice pilaf, the very good dish, and then we eat the ashes. So in that way we spoil the taste of all the goodies we have eaten earlier. So when I would hear them criticizing and fighting with each other I would tell them, "This is not good you should not criticize each other. You should obey the orders of Master Sawan Singh, you should do the meditation." Then they would get mad at me and they would say, "How do you know anything about Sant Mat? You are not even an initiate."

Then I would tell them, "Yes, I am not an initiate; I don't have any knowledge of Sant Mat but at least I know what Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say or what Master Sawan says about doing the meditation and not criticizing each other."

Dharam Chand, an initiate of Master Sawan Singh, used to do the Satsang and I used to do the chanting, do the reading for his Satsang, this went on for many years.

When Dharam Chand was convinced that I had become practically successful in the first Two Words, in the meditation of the first two planes, he suggested that we go to district Pali in Rajasthan, another district in Rajasthan in the area of Mahawar, and buy some land there. So we went there and bought some land and we started living there. There Dharam Chand told me that I should become a Master.

I told him, "Dear one, you are telling me to become a Guru? I have not yet become a disciple."

So dear ones these are just a few of the meetings which I have had with Master Sawan Singh outwardly which I have just told you about. His Face was so attractive, so beautiful that I can never forget Him. It is not the body of the Master which is beautiful. It is not the form, the outward physical form of the Master which the Masters always describe as the most beautiful one, it is that Inner Form, that Radiant Form, of the Master which if one sees one can never forget about.

The bodies of different Masters are different. Someone is tall, someone is short. The body sometimes becomes weak because of sickness and things like that so it is not the physical body which Masters often talk about as the most beautiful form, it is the inner Radiant Form which we can see only after going within.

The Shabd Form of the Master is so beautiful, so attractive that once you rise above and see that with your own eyes you will never forget that Form and you will always want to look at that Form again and again.

My maternal uncles always used to bother me. They used to tell me that what I was doing was not right, because people would taunt them and say, "Your son has become a sadhu."

After meeting with Master Kirpal Singh Ji once when I visited my mother's parent's home, there again I met with my maternal uncles, and they said, "We have seen your Master and there is nothing at all in Him like what you say about Him."

I told them, "You people do not have the eyes through which I see Him. If you could look at Him through the eyes that I have for Him, you would want to leave your homes and follow Him."

When grace was showered upon my uncle, when he got the Initiation, then he told me, "You did not glorify the Master enough. I feel like beating the drums and telling people how beautiful He is, how glorified He is. He is a living God, He is a God who moves around."

The Light of Ajaib

Whenever I would meet my beloved Master and whenever I would be alone with Him I would tell Him, “O my beloved, O my beautiful One, I wish that I could make You sit in front of me all alone and go on looking at You.”

So I was talking about the spiritual son of Baba Sawan Singh, Master Kirpal Singh, Who was also equally beautiful, He was also very attractive.

Once we wanted to celebrate the bhandara of Baba Sawan Singh on the second of April. So I met with an initiate of Baba Sawan Singh who was also intoxicated in the love of Baba Sawan Singh, and we planned to do this bhandara. So we got some pamphlets printed and we gave it out to the people in the city and we also hired some people to beat the drums and announce that we were going to celebrate the bhandara. In the announcement we also said, “We will make gulab jamans and other sweet things and people will be fed with all these good foods and things like that.” We were mad in love with Him and that is why we celebrated Master Sawan Singh’s bhandara in that way even though I was not an initiate of Master Sawan Singh at that time.

Okay all of you now please get ready for the meditation.

1993*1993 January/February: Stories of the Love which Never Ends*Session Date: January 9, 1993

This question and answer talk was given January 9, 1993, during Sant Ji's program in Bombay, India.

QUESTION: Dear Sant Ji, two days back we sang the new bhajan that was printed in the Sant Bani Magazine. You said that You felt very moved by the bhajan and You would like to say something about it, but the time was up and You said we should do our meditation instead. I was wondering if You would be willing to comment on the bhajan today.

SANT JI: First of all I would like to thank the Masters, Gods Sawan and Kirpal, who assumed the human body and came down into this world only for us, only for these poor souls. They left that plane, which we can call the plane of peace. We can only call that plane as the plane of peace until we have seen it; but it is something more than that.

Without seeing it, we cannot describe that plane which our Beloved Masters left and came to this plane to shower grace upon these poor souls. Kabir Sahib also said that if someone knows about this place from where we have come, only then he would know what that plane is really about. We can know about the taste of the tree, we can know about the quality of the tree, only after tasting the fruit which that tree bears. Until we have been to that plane, we cannot say anything, because we cannot have any idea about what that plane is like. We can only say that plane is the plane of peace. So I am very grateful to my beloved Master Who came down in this world giving up the plane of peace and Who assumed the human body to shower grace upon this poor soul.

After that I would like to thank the gracious Satguru Who inspired me from within and Who made me write this bhajan. Pappu had a lot of difficulty understanding this bhajan and translating it.

When Pappu was asking me several questions about this bhajan, I felt like laughing because he is a married man, and the relationship between the Master and the disciple is like the relationship between the lover and the beloved. The plant of love is planted by the Master Himself within the disciple. Often I have said that distance does not make any difference for the Master. It doesn't matter if He is physically close to the disciple or far away from the disciple. The distance does not make any difference. So when this plant of love is planted within the disciple by Master Himself, then the disciple works for that love. The disciple works to grow that plant. You may call it working or you may call it meditation. And when this plant of love has been sown within the disciple, then the disciple always yearns and he always longs to look at the Master. His eyes never get tired by looking at the Master.

Some Masters have described the relationship of the Master with the disciple as the relationship between the father and the son; the link which connects both the father and the son is also love.

But mostly the Masters have described the relationship of Master with the disciple as the relationship between the husband and the wife, and you know that the link connecting the husband and the wife is also love. Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say that a marriage happens only once in a lifetime and it is better if the partners leave each other only when they have to leave their bodies.

The Light of Ajaib

All the Masters have called it bad to divorce. Whether They came in the east or in the west, all the Masters have condemned divorce and they have said that whatever we do after divorcing our partner is like committing adultery. For twenty-five years of His life, Master Kirpal went on saying that Spirituality is not a subject of reading or writing, it is the subject of love and sacrifice.

He always said that the eyes give to the eyes. In one of the bhajans you would have read, “O Blind of Intellect, just look, because Satguru has given you eyes.”

The eye which receives the love is also made by the Master within us. It is all His grace.

I was laughing at Pappu because in married life it is only [the glances] through the eyes which are connecting or which are keeping both the husband and wife together.

In India, especially in the province of Punjab, the new calendar starts from the month of Chet (from the middle of March towards the end of April), and after that there are the months of the summer when it is very hot. The month of Sawan is the month when the rainy season starts and at that time after getting a lot of rain, everywhere it is coolness.

In the month of Sawan, Master Sawan Singh was born, so keeping the importance of this month in mind, His grandfather named Him Sawan Singh.

There had been a serious drought in that area at that time when Baba Sawan Singh was born, and it was so bad that the animals could not get any food to eat and it was even hard for the people. People even had to eat the grass, and they collected the grass and the other animal food and they appreciated that as much as they would appreciate the grains and other human food.

The greenery which we see in our area nowadays was not there in the past. In the past there was no system of irrigation, there were no canals. That is why it was always very dry, and there was little vegetation there. But nowadays because of the canal system you see a lot of greenery all over.

So dear ones when Master Sawan Singh arrived in this world, it rained so much that everywhere there was a lot of rain and people were able to grow a lot of food and grain. People were even able to grow fruit over there. Everyone got enough to eat. And according to the country calendar, they say that it was the most fortunate year because it rained very heavily and that ended a long-time drought. Whether one is a Satsangi or a non-Satsangi, still people in our area remember that year.

So that is why the opening line or chorus of that bhajan is “Sawan dayalu ne, rim jhim lae” “Gracious Sawan has caused the drizzle to shower.”

After it has rained, in the sky a rainbow is formed. In Punjabi it is called as the swing of the mother.

That is why it is said in the bhajan that in the sky there are the swings of love. At least for once you set the swing of love with me and see. In that time of the year, the married women, married girls, come back to their parents home, and that is the time of reunion and enjoying. So the friends get together and they make the swings and they swing on those swings. So that is why here it is said, “O Beloved Sawan, there are so many swings in the sky. At least once you make the swing with my soul and you set the swing for me and then see.”

So dear ones, when the disciple is in love with the Master, he has this desire that maybe once, at least for once, he may sit in the ship of the Master and he may also travel around with the Master. He always has this yearning to be with the Master and enjoy with Him.

The Light of Ajaib

I have often told you this incident of my life which happened with my Beloved Master Kirpal. Even though Master Kirpal did not like these things, He would never be pleased with this kind of thing, but the disciple is sometimes compelled, and because of the compulsion, because of his feelings and emotions he does certain things even though he knows that the Master does not like it, but he cannot help it and he does that. So one day when Master was taking a walk I tried to steal some sand from under the feet of the Master; I took some sand from the place where Master had just put His foot. When I did that, Master Kirpal saw that and He got upset and He said, "Now you will go on bowing down at this thing again and again." So at that time, even though I knew He would not like it, but still since I was in the habit of saying the poetry, I recited a small poem for Him. I always had this urge to say things or to write things and that is why I have written these bhajans. It is only because of my health that I am not writing many bhajans anymore and also since Kent and Pappu have told me, "Now it is enough, You should not write so much more," that I have stopped. But always right from the beginning I had this habit and I had this urge to write the poetry. So at that time I recited this poetry, I said, "This is my desire, my wish is to put this dust, on which You walked, close to my heart. O My Beloved, Your five Shabds have pierced through my heart."

Whatever the Master gives to the disciple, he always keeps it with him, he always protects it. You know that Baba Sawan Singh was a very successful farmer. So once when some sevadars were doing seva in the field of Baba Sawan Singh I was also there. And usually in those days whenever Master Sawan Singh would visit the farm while the sevadars were doing the seva, He would come and distribute the food for them. So when He came there to give out the parshad, at that time there was no chair or anything on which Master could sit down. I had a small piece of cloth, a sheet which was not very expensive, just an ordinary piece of cloth. So I put that down on the floor on which Master Sawan Singh sat. I valued that very much; I kept it and I preserved it.

When beloved Master Kirpal Singh came to my place, at that time I spread out the same piece of cloth, that same sheet which I had protected. When Master Kirpal Singh came there He looked at that ordinary, inexpensive piece of cloth. He looked at it and He smiled and instead of sitting on it, He took it and put it on His head. Only He knew what that piece of cloth was. I still have that piece of cloth with me, because on that piece of cloth two forms of God Almighty have showered Their blessings.

Dear ones, who will appreciate the Master and the things of the Master? Only he upon whom the grace has been showered and only he who has understood the glory of the Master. When Guru Teg Bahadur was on His way to Patna from Punjab, on the way He came to the city of Kashi where Kabir Sahib used to live. From there He took that loom on which Kabir Sahib used to weave the cloth, and also that piece of wood on which He used to keep the cloth after weaving. Guru Teg Bahadur took that all the way from Kashi to Patna which is a very long distance, especially in those days when there were no good means of transportation. There were no trains or buses, people had to walk.

So Guru Teg Bahadur took these things with Him. Even though the dear ones who were accompanying Guru Teg Bahadur offered to carry those things, Guru Teg Bahadur said, "No, this is something which I have to carry, because these are the things which were used by God Almighty to earn His livelihood when He came down to this world."

Later in the bhajan it is said, "I will hide you in my eyelashes; at least for once you come into the courtyard of my heart and see." You know that the eyelashes are there to protect the eyes. Kabir Sahib also described the importance of the eyelashes, He said, "O my Beloved Lord, if You will come into my eyes, I will close my eyelashes. I will close my eyes, so that You may not look at anybody else, and I will not let anyone else look at You. You will remain there just for me.” So that is why in the bhajan it is said, “I will hide You in my eyelashes, at least for once You come into the courtyard of my heart and see.”

During this last tour in Calgary one couple came to see me in the darshan. They both were seeing me, but you know the heart knows what is in the heart; heart talks to heart. The man was very devoted and he was looking at me with all his attention, and he was attracting all of my attention too. So his wife felt as if I was not giving any attention to her and that only he was getting all of the attention. She felt that, and she was wondering why this is so. So later on she alone came to see me and she complained; she said, “On the other day I felt as if You were not paying any attention to me. My husband was taking all Your attention.” So I told her, “No, that is not the case, my attention was towards both of you, but the reality is that when you have so much attention to the Master, those dear ones who look at the Master with so much attention, in a way, they capture the Master in their eyes and they don’t let the Master look at anyone else. They keep the Master to their own selves.” So dear ones, this is all a game of love, this is all a bond of love between the disciple and the Master.

When we were driving to the AK farm from the airport in Calgary, that dear one was driving the car in which I was going, and I knew about the habit of that dear one, so I told him, “Don’t look at me, you just look at the road,” because I was afraid that he might hit someone on the road. I knew the habit of that dear one was that when he gets intoxicated he just looks at me and he does not let anybody else look.

[From here on, Sant Ji had Gurmel read out the verses one by one. As each was read, Sant Ji would begin His comments with a hearty “Hah!” Yes!]

*Understand the melody of the songs sung by the cuckoo,
At least sing one song of love and see.*

The voice of the cuckoo bird is considered to be the most melodious, the sweetest voice. And if anyone has a very sweet or good voice he or she is often referred to or described as the voice of the cuckoo.

So the disciple says, “Understand the melody sung by the cuckoo, and along with me, sing at least one song of love and see.”

Often I have said that since I always liked to sing the bhajans, or write the bhajans, whenever I would sing the bhajans in front of my Master I would get so overwhelmed and so intoxicated in singing the bhajan, that many times I would even have tears in my eyes and the dear ones listening to that bhajan would also have the tears come in their eyes. Many times when I would sing the bhajans, with every single word I sang, Master Kirpal would nod, as if He were saying, “Yes, that is true.”

In the early tours I did sing the bhajans when I went [to America] and many dear ones, even many singers, who had heard the best singers from India told me that even the best voices from Punjab, “all seemed to singing through their nose, but when You sing, it feels as if You are singing through your heart.” The last time I sang a bhajan was in New York, and since then my voice stopped and I do not sing bhajans anymore.

The Light of Ajaib

When I wrote this bhajan, Gurmel sang it and Pappu accompanied him.

*You will get the happiness of the heavens here itself:
At least come under the shade of the hair and see.*

Yes! As we say, that fortunately we met the perfect Master, in the same way, a Master also gets a disciple only if He has good fortune. When people do devotion in order to get to the heavens, in order to get the happiness of the heavens, they give up everything, they work very hard, but still they are far from the happiness which one gets from the heavens. But when a disciple obeys the instructions of the Master, and when he does the meditation according to the instructions of the Master, the disciple gives much happiness to the Master. The Master receives so much happiness from such a disciple which He would not get even from going to the heavens. So that is why the disciple who does the meditation and who obeys the Master, he tells the Master, “You come and be with me and you will get the happiness of the heavens.” This can be said only by the disciple who does the meditation.

Many dear ones have seen the place where I have done the meditation. At that place I still have the writing which says, “Come, let us go, O Friends, to see the battlefield where the lovers are climbing the cross. While they are climbing they are not afraid of death, they are happy to climb the cross.” Often I used to say such things even in front of my beloved Master. Once I said, “There is no one as foolish as the lovers, because in all their foolishness they go on singing and dancing; and borrowing fire from other people, they burn their own home.”

At the time my family members opposed me very much. They all used to say that Master Kirpal had done some kind of magic over my head. They were so much opposed that my elder brother and other members of my family even offered to take me to Amritsar to give me some electric shock [therapy]. They thought that I was controlled by some magic or something which Master Kirpal had done and that I had gone mad. Why was that? Because when you are obsessed by some magic, that magic shows to everyone in the world that you are obsessed by that magic. You do not need to give any evidence. So it was because I had put myself on fire with that fire of love which Kirpal had given to me, that people were saying that. So dear ones, as Bulleh Shah has also said, “Even if someone is a kazi or a priest, and he is followed by so many people, even if he has such a large following, when he is hit by the shot of love he will give up his priesthood, he will give up all his following, and he will follow that Master.” So it was because of that love that I was behaving like that, and that is why the family members came and they offered that kind of treatment for me. The brothers and sisters, the family members, of such a lover have sympathy for such a lover and they try to explain things to him, whereas the lover knows and he thinks, “These people do not have the understanding.”

When my brother who thought that Kirpal had done some magic and who offered to get me the electric shock, when his end time came, he said that four butchers were catching hold of him and they were bothering him. Then the next moment he said, “Now your Master Kirpal has come and He has freed me, He has saved me from them.” So when he and the other people were telling me all those things, I said that the Master is still worried [about your welfare], and even though he did not appreciate the Master, but still because of His grace He has freed him from the butchers. Since his death my family members have come to the Satsang and they have taken the Naam.

*I will make you drink through the cups of eyes.
At least exchange your glance with me and see.*

Yes! Well, this is the line which bothered Pappu. It says that I will make you drink through the cups of my eyes, at least for once you exchange the glance of love with me and see. Dear ones, as the disciple is the lover of the eyes of the Master, in the same way, the Master is also the lover of the eyes of the disciple. As the disciple gets a lot of satisfaction and intoxication by looking into the eyes of the Master, in the same way if the disciple is true, and if he is doing what the Master is asking him to do, the Master also becomes the lover of such a disciple. Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj also said, "My eyes are yearning and asking when will I see my Beloved." Bhai Nand Lal Ji said to Guru Gobind Singh, "O Master, here it is the question of Your one glance, and it is the question of my whole life."

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj says, "We should close such eyes that do not get the blessing of having the darshan of the Master."

*I will write my whole life in your Name.
At least for once get in love with me and see.*

Yes! When the true love is awakened then the disciple understands everything as the things which belong to the Master; whether it is mind, his body, his wealth, or his position, he understands that all the things are of the Master.

So Guru Ram Das Ji Maharaj says, "Mother, father, sisters, brothers, wife, You are more dear than all these. O my beloved Master, You are more dear to me than all my family members." Everyone has his own way of explaining things. Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say that if a pipe has many openings then the force of the water will be very low, but if we close all the holes, and keep only one opening at the other end, then the water will come out with full force. In the same way, if we withdraw our love, our attachment, from all the other relations, and if we put all our love and attention toward the Master then it will be very forceful.

So that is why here the disciple says, I will write down, I will transfer, my whole life to your name, at least for once you get in love with me and see. So what can we imagine of what is going on within someone. Often I have said that right from the beginning when I was a very young child, I always had the feeling as if I had lost something. That feeling went on increasing, and later on, when I became a little older, when I would read or hear about the Sikh Gurus and Their disciples I would always crave for such a Master and to become the disciple of such a Master. I would always imagine, I would always think and wonder: "What kind of disciples were they who were fortunate ones to have the Masters like the Sikh Gurus. Will I be able to get such a Master in my whole lifetime?" And when the time came when I was blessed with such a Master, like I said earlier, [because] all the other openings were closed, all the love and all the attention was directed toward the Master.

In the old times in the army it was a custom that when anyone would join the army he was supposed to sign a paper saying that whenever my seniors will order me to go and fight in the battlefield I will not hesitate and I will obey their orders. The people were asked to put the fingerprints of all their ten fingers and sign that paper. So in the same way the disciple says here, "At least for once You come and be in love with me and I will put all my ten fingerprints on a piece of paper and I will transfer my everything, I will transfer my whole life to You."

Today the nectar is showering from the skies.

The Light of Ajaib

At least for once create the yearning and see.

The drops of love are coming from above. At least for once you drink this drink of love and see.

As there is the sweetness, the intoxication, in the love of the Masters – the love of the Master can change the life of the disciple – in the same way, in the love of the disciple also is the sweetness.

This is a very deep relationship. The Master goes there, even to the place where neither father nor mother, nobody from this world can reach.

*Coming into the intoxication of the month of Sawan,
You at least shoot the arrow of your glance and see.*

The farmers usually wait for the month of Sawan. They usually wait for the rainy season to come, because it is the time when they get the rain and they can grow the grains and things like that. When the black clouds form in the sky and everyone knows that it is going to rain, then the peacock dances. And it is said that when the peacock in all his happiness sheds one tear from his eye, and if the female peacock picks that up she conceives. So that is why the disciple says here, “Coming in the intoxication of the month of Sawan You at least for once shoot the arrow of Your eye, of Your glance, and then see how I respond to it.”

*Ajaib has become yours for no cost
At least for once you try me and see.*

Yes! The Master expects only the meditation from the disciple. He does not expect the disciple to bring gifts to Him. The only thing which He expects from the disciple that they may bring to Him is the meditation. So as the Master is expecting only the meditation from the disciple, here the disciple says, “I do not expect anything from You. I have become Yours free of cost, and at least for once, You try me and then see.”

If we are working for somebody and expecting the reward for it, that cannot mean that we are doing devotion. We are working. Kabir Sahib also says, “If the Master is living off the things of the disciple, then He is the greedy one, and if the disciple is doing the devotion of the Master expecting rewards from Him then he is also a greedy one, and they both are playing their games.”

But this is not the case between the true disciple and the Master. As the Master is expecting only the meditation and nothing else, in the same way the true disciple does not expect anything from the Master. He does not say, “Master remove my unemployment,” or “Remove my sickness,” or “Give me this,” or “Give me that,” he only does the devotion of the Master. So that is why here the disciple says, “Ajaib has become yours free of cost, now at least for once You come and try me out.”

The story of the Master and the disciple never comes to an end. Don't think that, after this session, the story which I have just told you is finished. It is not. For forty-five years Master Sawan Singh went on telling the stories of the Master and the disciple, and for twenty-five years Master Kirpal Singh went on telling us the stories of the Master and the disciple. All the ten Sikh Gurus and all the perfect Masters Who came in this world, They went on telling us the stories of the disciples and the Masters. They wrote many great scriptures, the holy books, but still the stories of the love of the Master and the disciple never come to an end.

There is so much more I can go on saying, there are so many more stories of the love of the Master and the disciple.

One person from our area went to California; he was not an initiate. But somehow a Satsangi who happened to go to Shamaz meditation retreat, and who happened to hear the dear ones sing the bhajans and the stories of the love of the disciple and the Master, he was so impressed that he went to the person from our area and told him, "I have heard the dear ones sing such beautiful songs about the love of the Master and the disciple." So that dear one went to Shamaz and he was also very moved. So after he came back to India, the first thing he did was to come to the ashram and he saw me, he met me and was very impressed with that.

So dear ones, these stories of the love of the disciple and the Master never come to an end. The love is such a thing that it never finishes. The more you talk about it, the more you bring it out, the more you get. So these stories of the Master and the disciple never come to an end.

1993 March: To Stop the Fire of Anger

Session Date: February 26, 1984

This question & answer talk was given on February 26, 1984, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Recently my brother passed away and when he died my sister and a friend of hers were in the room and remarked that there was a sweet fragrance. I wanted to know if that was left by the Master?

SANT JI: Were any of them Initiated? Your sister or her friend or your brother?

QUESTION: I was there and I didn't smell it.

SANT JI: Many times I have said this, as Master Sawan Singh has said, "Even the pet animals of the Satsangis are under the protection of the Master and even when they leave the body Master comes to take care of their souls." So the fragrance which was felt over there was definitely left by Almighty Master Kirpal. If the person who left the body was initiated or the other people were initiated he would have definitely told you before leaving, "The Master has come to protect me and I am going with Him."

Master Sawan Singh Ji also used to say, "Whenever such fragrance is spread by the Master, rare are the noses which experience and accept such fragrances." He used to relate His own incident. He used to say that once, in the month of April, He was climbing up a hill when suddenly He felt a sweet fragrance coming to Him and He became very happy. At that time He thought that He was not going to get any promotion in His job or He was not expecting any good news in His family so why was He having such a good fragrance and why was He feeling so much happiness within Himself?

Finally He came to a place where a fakir was meditating, He realized that the fragrance was coming out from the fakir's body because he was doing the meditation of Naam. When that fakir saw Master Sawan Singh he said, "Rare are the noses that accept such fragrance."

So when Sant Satgurus spread such fragrance, which in fact is a fragrance of Their own presence, rare are the noses that can accept and can understand the fragrance of Naam.

The Light of Ajaib

Kwaja Nizamuddin Auliya had many disciples and out of those disciples Amir Khusro was very devoted to him. Once it so happened that one disciple of Kwaja Nizamuddin Auliya who had to get his daughter married came to Kwaja Nizamuddin Auliya and requested Him to give him the donation which He collects in one day. Nizamuddin Auliya told him, “Dear one, you ask for whatever you want and I will give you that amount, because you never know how much I will receive in today’s donation.” Usually people have this misunderstanding that the Masters and Saints have a lot of money, but they don’t know that it is even very hard for Them to maintain Their langar. People have this misunderstanding because they see that many people come to the langar and eat a lot and Master feeds everybody. So they are always under this misunderstanding, under this impression, that Masters have a lot of collected wealth with Them. So when Nizamuddin Auliya offered him whatever he wanted he refused saying, “No Master, you give me whatever will come as the donation today.”

Then Nizamuddin said, “Okay, you sit by me and let’s see what happens.” It so happened that on that day nobody came to give any donation – because Saints do not have any law that whoever comes to have Their darshan should bring some money with them. And also Masters do not charge for anything. They give grace and love free of charge because They have been sent into this world with a lot of grace and love from Almighty Lord.

So on that day not even a single penny came as a donation, so that dear one was disappointed. Nizamuddin said, “Dear one it is not in my hands, now I do not have anything to give to you except for these old broken shoes of mine, if you want you can have them.”

That dear one thought that if he didn’t take those shoes away Nizamuddin Auliya might get upset, so he said to himself, “Okay, let me take these old broken shoes.” He did not understand the value and grace which Nizamuddin was giving him through His shoes. With his half mind he took the old broken shoes of Nizamuddin Auliya and he started going back to his home.

On the other side Amir Khusro, a devoted disciple of Nizamuddin Auliya, after being retired and after loading all his property and wealth onto his camels, was coming towards the ashram of Nizamuddin Auliya with the intention of spending all the rest of his time at the ashram of Nizamuddin Auliya.

As the dear one who had the shoes was walking toward Amir Khusro, Amir Khusro started feeling the fragrance of his Master. He thought, “The ashram of Master is very far, how come I am having the fragrance like it is coming from very near?” He did not know what was happening. After some time when that person who had the shoes came near Amir Khusro, he felt more fragrance, a very powerful fragrance coming and when the man passed him, Amir Khusro starting feeling the fragrance coming from the other side, so he realized that whatever the secret, whatever the truth was, it was in that man. So he called that person and asked him who he was and where he was coming from?

That dear one replied that he was an initiate of Nizamuddin Auliya and that he had gone to the Master so that He might give him something but his Master did not give him anything. He said, “When God is not pleased with us, how can we expect a fakir to give us anything?”

So then Amir Khusro asked him about the shoes, what were they? He replied that these were the old broken shoes which my Master has given to me. Amir Khusro asked him if he wanted to sell those shoes. That dear one said, “Yes. I will be happy to sell the shoes.”

The Light of Ajaib

Amir Khusro asked him how much he wanted for that pair of shoes. That dear one did not dare to ask for any money because he did not know the value of those old broken shoes, so he said, "Whatever you will give I will accept that gladly."

Now Amir Khusro said, "Dear one, these are the shoes of my Master and I cannot pay you the full value of them, I will keep one camel that is loaded with my property and you take all the other camels which are loaded with jewels and things. Still I am not paying you the full value because I do not have enough. I want to keep this one camel and some wealth for my children and for my family." So he gave all the camels and all the wealth, except for one, to him and took the shoes and came to Nizamuddin Auliya carrying those shoes on his head. He offered those shoes to Nizamuddin Auliya and told Him to wear the shoes.

When Nizamuddin asked him, he told him all the story. Nizamuddin asked him how much he had paid for his broken shoes. Amir Khusro replied, "Master, I did not have enough to pay the full value of these shoes, but whatever I had earned in my whole lifetime, I have given that just to buy these shoes."

When Nizamuddin Auliya heard this He became very pleased with Amir Khusro and He embraced him and He said, "Dear son, even now you have got a cheap bargain."

So the meaning of telling this story is that those who have purified their noses with doing Bhajan and Simran, those who have become pure, as pure as God is, only they can have the fragrance of the Master. Whenever the Master comes He always leaves His fragrance, but rare are the noses which experience the fragrance. Whenever Master visits anyone even at his death bed or whenever He goes to protect any soul, since He is pure, He is fragrant, He always leaves the fragrance, but rare are the noses which have the experience of the fragrance.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that one generation of an initiate gets liberated and many generations of a Satsangi who does meditation gets liberated and there is no limit of the generations of the Gurumukhs which will get liberated.

QUESTION: Master I have a problem with anger, sometimes I get very violent and bang on pots and pans and I throw things and sometimes I even verbally and physically abuse the person I live with and I am real tired of living like that, I know it is ruining my life. Any help you can give me I would really appreciate getting rid of this dacoit. Thank you very much.

SANT JI: You know that not only myself but even my Master and all the Saints who have come in the past have talked about this anger and they all have said that anger is a spontaneous madness and the only way to get rid of this dacoit is meditation.

This can increase as much as you want and you can decrease it as much as you want. When the wave of anger comes, then at once try and drink a cup of cold water and sit for meditation and always consider the condition of the other person with whom you are becoming violent and at whom you are throwing things. You should think about what would happen to you if you were in his place. The blood of the person who has anger in him gets burned and one who has anger in him, his light also goes off. You can ask any doctor, and even you are in this profession, you know how many problems, how many diseases are brought in the body by becoming angry. If you do not control this dacoit at this age it will be very difficult for you to control it when you become old.

The Light of Ajaib

In my former village there was a friend of mine and he was very much controlled by anger. Once when he was entering his home – because in the villages here people keep their animals also in the same courtyard where they themselves live – it so happened when he was entering his home through the courtyard, his buffalo somehow touched him and he became mad, he became upset at it and he took a big piece of wood and hit that buffalo on the head and at once the buffalo left the body.

When the buffalo left the body and fell on the ground, there was a camel there who saw this and he also started making noise because he saw the buffalo leaving the body. So when my friend saw that the camel was also complaining, he took the same big stick and he hit the camel also and he killed the camel right on the spot. When his mother and wife saw all this they were frightened and they did not want to say anything because they knew that if they would speak up he might come and hit them also, so they kept quiet.

After that he went to the kitchen and sat near the fireplace. The fireplace was burning so he felt a little more heat than he could bear, so he took that piece of wood and he smashed the fireplace. Afterwards he went to his bed and he lay down there. I was also in the same village and I thought, “Let me go and see my friend,” I did not know what was happening.

So I came to his home and I did not notice the buffalo and the camel dead over there. So I went and asked his wife, “Where is Chaudi?” (Chaudi was his name.) She replied that, “He is at home but he is having a cold and that is why he is not able to come out and see you.” In those days I was practicing Aryurvedic medicine and I thought: what is the point of practicing Aryurveda? If my friend is suffering from a cold, I should go and give him some medicine.

But that dear one was so much embarrassed by his misdeeds, by his anger, that he did not want to face me, so he was hiding himself in the bed. I went in there and I removed the sheets from his bed and I saw his body burning like anything, his face was red and his eyes were also very red, and he was burning in anger. I asked him what was the reason. He said, “Didn’t you see the dead animals in the courtyard? I was so much affected by the wave of anger that I killed both the animals on the spot. I would have killed my mother and my wife also if they had spoken anything, but it is good that they did not speak so I did not kill them.” So just in a moment he killed his two animals and he was about to kill his family also. Why did this happen? Only because of the anger. Anger was so terrible for him that he could not think about what is right and what is wrong that is why he killed these two animals.

Master Sawan Singh used to tell about an incident that happened with his friend in the army. He was also controlled by anger. Once it so happened that in the morning he went into the kitchen to light the fire, to burn some wood so he could make some tea, but there was something wrong in the matches or in the wood so that he could not start the fire. He became so upset at the fireplace that he threw the water which he was carrying for making tea into the fireplace saying, “Okay, now if you don’t burn it’s all right.” But the anger is such a thing that it won’t leave you; unless something very serious happens it will not leave you. Unless you have destroyed something it will not leave you. So suddenly it came into his mind to come and urinate in the fireplace and he did that. Again the anger was so strong in him that he burned the barracks’ roof which was made of hay and straw, saying, “Okay if you won’t burn in the fireplace, you will burn here.” So suddenly all the barracks was on fire and they had to call the police and all the fire trucks. Master Sawan Singh used to say that because of his anger he burned all the barracks and afterwards he was punished. Always remember that anger is such a thing which bothers not only you but also the people who are around you. The angry person himself remains upset all the time and he makes the other people who are near him upset also and gradually, one by one, all the friends of the angry person leave him and in the end he remains alone. Always the angry person has to face many diseases and many problems when he gets to his old age because if it is not controlled in this age it becomes very difficult to control the anger when the person becomes very old.

In the literature of Sant Mat anger is referred to, or is called the sweeper, as the mean person, as a very low thing.

In the olden days in India people used to believe very much in the caste system. The pundits and scholars used to understand themselves as the high caste people and that is why they did not like even to face the sweepers, the garbage collectors, and the people who used to do the low jobs, the mean jobs.

In those days there were many small states and small kingdoms in India. Once it so happened that one pundit was invited to do some religious reading by one of the kings. When the pundit came to the court, at that time the king was busy talking with some other people so he did not welcome that pundit personally. So the pundit became very upset and he went back to his home. Now the king realized that he had made a mistake, that he should have welcomed that pundit personally, and now he had become angry that is why he would not come back to do the reading and the religious things unless the king himself went and called him. So the king went to call him but the pundit did not come. Then the ministers and the other people from his court went there and still the pundit did not come. It was very important for them to have the pundit and do all the religious things, but he was not coming. So finally a sweeper, a garbage collector, came and asked the king if he would allow him to go and call that pundit. The king was surprised and he thought, "I went to call him but he did not come, the ministers and everybody else called and he did not come, how is it possible that this mean person will go and be able to bring him?" But the king told him, "Okay you can also try."

So that garbage collector, that sweeper of low caste, went to the pundit. In those days the pundits used to consider themselves as the high caste people and they did not even like to face the sweepers, the garbage collectors, and if the garbage collector was standing on one side they would not even breathe in the air from that side. They used to consider that the sweepers were low caste and very mean people.

So when that low caste person, that sweeper, went to that pundit's home in the morning, he called his name, he asked him to come out. But the pundit asked him who he was. He replied, "I am a sweeper, I am a mean person, a low caste person and I want you to come and attend the religious rites and rituals in the court of the king."

The pundit replied, "I do not want to face you because you are a low caste person, so you kindly go away." But he said, "I will go away only if you will come to the court of the king to do the religious things. Why have you kept my brother in your within?" He meant, "Why have you kept anger which is as mean as me, as mean as a low caste person, in your within?" When pundit realized that anger was a very mean thing, even worse than the low caste person, he at once left and went with that low caste person to attend the religious things in the court of the king.

So I mean to say that in the literature of Sant Mat anger is referred to, is called as the very mean thing. The person who has anger within him always remains upset, there is no peace in him, and he bothers all the people who are around him. Anger does not allow the light to manifest within the angry person, and the person always bothers other people. The only remedy for removing this dacoit, the only remedy to remove this disease is Naam. Only by doing the meditation of Naam can we remove this disease. Kabir

Sahib said, “Neither the unchaste person can do the devotion of God, nor the angry person can do the devotion of God, because the soul comes down and is degraded by lust, and by anger it spreads all over.”

When Guru Nanak Sahib went to Kurukh Shetra, a place of pilgrimage of the Hindus, he saw that the pundits had made a line saying that, “All those who are within this line are pure, are clean, they are not polluted.”

Seeing the pundits doing that, Guru Nanak Sahib said, “Why have you kept yourselves in the line in which you think you are not polluted when you are having the mean anger in you and when you are having the mean criticism in you? Because by criticizing others and by having anger within you are already polluted. How are you calling yourselves the pure ones when you are having so many things within you which are polluting you every second?”

QUESTION: Sant Ji, I have had the good fortune to be with You a lot in the last two years. It has been Your grace and protection that has saved me from many things. I want to confess that I am full of all these bad qualities still. I may look devoted to the Master but in my home I am full of anger and impatience and critical of my children and unloving to them especially when they don't listen to me. And when opportunities have come up to do service or help other people I have been greedy and I haven't wanted to or I have been lazy and very ungenerous. I have had critical thoughts of the Master and my mind is still full of a lot of impure thoughts and egotism and pride and I don't have any real love for the Master. I can't keep my attention at the Eye Focus, it's all darkness inside. This isn't a question but I just wanted to confess to you and ask you to help me please, to improve my life and progress in my meditation and help me to be able to receive your love, and please give me more darshan.

SANT JI: Well you should do your meditation and you should keep your mind quiet. If we meditate keeping our mind quiet we can definitely achieve success in all these things.

QUESTION: If it comes up that one has an opportunity to be of service to someone who is dying but they aren't initiated and they aren't a relative either, is it appropriate to do the Simran in their presence in hopes that it will help them somehow?

SANT JI: It is good to serve other people in a selfless way. As far as doing the Simran is concerned, you should do the Simran in such a way that he is not able to hear it. You should do it mentally.

QUESTION: Regarding the problem of anger, which a lot of us seem to have, You say that the remedy for the disease of anger is meditation, but also that an angry person can't meditate. So how can we break the circle? I can't imagine me sitting down after a storm of anger, it would be more than impossible.

SANT JI: I like your question very much [much laughter] and I would like to tell you that suppose an army comes to attack your home, if at that time you try to teach your army the skills of fighting, it is not possible, you will definitely lose the battle. Or in other words, if you try to dig a well when you are thirsty, it is not possible that you will be able to quench your thirst, because it will take some time for you to dig the well. That is why you should be prepared for it from the beginning, you have to work on it gradually. When a person is about to drown in the ocean, if he thinks he should learn swimming at that time, he will not be able to, he will not be saved from that, he should learn swimming beforehand.

In Colombia I gave a Satsang on a bani of Tulsi Das in which I said, “Once a potter was going to take some sand to the palace of a king and on the way he was telling his donkey, ‘Let us go dear sister. Let us go dear mother.’ Someone asked him why he was calling the donkey as mother, and sister?”

The Light of Ajaib

He replied that he was an illiterate, and that is why he had not controlled his speech. He did not know what he would say, as he was used to saying the slang words and things like that. That is why he was afraid that if he did not practice before going to the palace of the king it was possible that over there also he might say something wrong which might upset the king and it was possible that he might be hanged by the king. So that is why he was practicing beforehand, he was trying to call all the donkeys “mother” and “sister” so that when he went to the palace he would not say any bad word.

Similarly the Bhajan and Simran practices which we have been given by the Master are for removing these diseases, and we should do the practice, we should work on them beforehand.

QUESTION: Sant Ji is there any way that we can keep the mind quiet, any different ways?

SANT JI: Every day I tell you how to make your mind quiet. At the time of Initiation you are given that thing which makes our mind quiet and by doing that repetition our mind becomes our friend.

Swami Ji Maharaj said, “This mind will not understand anything no matter how much you try. Unless you give him the intoxication of the Shabd Naam, he will not come under your control.” So give the intoxication of the Naam, the Shabd, to your mind and he will come under your control. He will understand and he will become quiet.

Vashist, who was the teacher of Lord Rama, told him, “Listen O Ram Chandar, if anyone says that he has lifted up the Himalayas which are very big, no doubt it is unbelievable, but still for a moment we can consider it. It is possible that God may have created such a mighty person who has lifted a very big mountain. Suppose if someone tells you that he has drunk all the water of all the oceans, again it is unbelievable, but still for a moment we can believe that it is possible. But if someone tells you that he has controlled his mind never believe in him because it is not possible.” But at the same time he said, “This does not mean that up until now nobody has controlled the mind, no one has made his mind quiet. Rishis, munis, Saints and Mahatmas, those who have made their mind to hear the Inner Sounds, the inner Sound Current have made their mind quiet and have controlled their mind.”

Mind is the essence of Brahm and he is the resident of Trikuti. You take him to his Real Home and afterwards he will become your friend. You come to the Eye Center, keep your attention over there and gradually when you will go within, when you will go in the within, even a little bit, only then you will realize how the mind is helping you. When, plane after plane, you take your mind back to his Real Home, afterwards he will not bother you; he will become your friend. Like now he is bothering you and he is not allowing you to go in the within after you have taken him to his Real Home, Trikuti, he will not bother you and he will help you to always go within.

1993 April: The Nectar of Kirpal

Session Date: October 28, 1984

This question & answer talk was given October 28, 1984, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Sant Ji is the ability to do Simran at the Eye Center obtained by hard work, chastity, grace of the Master, or some other quality?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: Efforts and grace of the Master work together: If we are working hard then there is no doubt in the fact that Master will also shower His grace on us. As far as chastity is concerned, it [not only] has many physical benefits, but it also has a benefit in Spirituality.

If a child is interested in going to school, if he is hard-working, if he respects the teacher, and if he puts all his attention and concentration on the studies, then the teacher also finds it very important to put all his attention towards that child. He puts a lot more attention on that child who is hard working and who respects the teacher, and he tries to give the best possible education to that child.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “If we make efforts and the Master doesn’t shower His grace on us, even then we cannot achieve anything.” Our efforts alone, without the grace of the Master, will not lead us to success. But Master Sawan Singh also said, “The Master in whom God is manifested is not unjust.” You know that if someone has people working on his farm or in his store, he is responsible for them, he is worried for them, he knows when he has to feed them, he knows when he has to pay them. So Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “When even the worldly master is responsible for his servants, do you think that the Master within whom God is manifested is unjust?” No, He is not unjust. He is responsible for us, He is worried for us, and if we are making efforts for Him, He will definitely shower His grace on us.

This is an incident of my childhood: once when I was about thirteen or fourteen years old, I was walking along the canal and an old man who was a lawyer by profession passed me on his bicycle. When he saw me, he stopped and said, “Dear son, if you don’t mind I would like to ask you a question.”

I said, “It is all right, you can ask me anything, and I will try my best to reply to that.”

He said that he had read in a book that whatever a person has in his heart, that shows on his face. If there is someone who can read the face he can easily know what the person has in his mind and, “As far as I can see on your face, you are a devotee, you are doing some kind of devotion of God.”

I replied, “No, up until now I have not started doing any meditation, but it is true that I am looking for the [path of] devotion. I am searching for the practices, but I don’t know yet how to do the devotion.”

So I mean to say that if there is anyone who can read the faces, he will easily tell you what is in your heart. Those who are driven by lust, no matter if outwardly their faces may look bright and they may look very healthy, but if there is any experienced man he can easily look in their eyes and look at their faces and tell that they are suffering from the disease of lust.

Nowadays neither the men are taught about the importance of chastity, nor are women given the knowledge of how important it is to maintain chastity. Since the parents do not maintain chastity themselves, they are not a good example for their children, that is why even before the children reach their youth, as soon as they start producing the vital fluid in their bodies they start losing it by many unnatural ways. Since they have lost a lot of their vital fluid before their bodies are fully developed, they do not have good health and they are not physically fit, because they have lost a lot of vital energy from their body. When we lose the vital fluid in a great amount it affects our body, it affects our mind, it affects our thoughts also. When the children are given the knowledge of lust and dirty things right from their childhood how can they keep their thoughts pure? And when their thoughts are not pure, how can they keep their minds pure? If their mind is not pure, how can they get any strength of the soul to concentrate at the Eye Center? How can they collect their soul at the Eye Center and go beyond that? How can they bring that soul in contact with the Shabd?

You know that a piece of iron which is rusted will not be attracted by a magnet no matter how powerful the magnet is. In the same way the soul which is affected by lust and the other dirty things will not be pulled up by the Shabd, no matter that the Shabd is very powerful. Unless you remove the rust from the iron, and unless you remove the dirt from the soul the Shabd will not pull the soul up. This is only because of the lack of chastity. People do not understand the value of chastity; this is why they don't keep their thoughts pure, they don't keep their minds pure, and if the mind is not pure, the thoughts are not pure, the soul will not become pure and it will not go up.

Nowadays many doctors advertise in the newspapers: "If you want to regain your lost youth, if you want to regain your lost vitality and vigor – come to us and we will give you the medication" – But instead of regaining their lost youth and vitality they create even more heat in their body, because the medicines which those doctors give them in order to become healthy do not work. It causes more heat in their body and it inspires their minds to indulge in lust more than before.

When I came back from Delhi on the sixteenth of last month, I had to stop in the town of Sri Ganganagar because a dear one of Master Kirpal had left the body and I had to go and meet the family. Before I got to Sri Ganganagar a doctor from Delhi had made a lot of publicity. He advertised in the newspaper and distributed a lot of handbills and he was having something like a campaign there boasting that he could restore people's lost vitality and youth.

When I went to meet the family of that dear one who had left the body, that doctor also was there and whenever I looked at him, he would not look at me, he would close his eyes. I thought that maybe he was feeling sleepy, but that was not the case. He did not have enough courage to look into my eyes. He had come to see me because people had told him that a Saint was going to come and so he came to see me.

After awhile he told me that he would like to see me in private and that he wanted to talk about something with me.

I said, "Okay, you can do that." When he came in private to talk with me he told me about his disease – that even though he was sixty years of age and he was telling people he could help them in regaining their lost youth – the problem with him was that he lost his vital fluid whenever a woman was near him. Or many times if he could not find any woman he used unnatural ways to lose the vital fluid. He was very much affected by that disease, and he was tired of it and he wanted to get rid of it. So he asked me to shower some grace on him.

I told him, "What are you teaching the people? You are telling the people that you can help them in regaining their lost youth, but you yourself are not capable of doing that. Is your publicity not misleading the young people of the country?" He felt very embarrassed and he did not have anything to say.

Kabir Sahib says, "O man and woman, both of you listen to the teachings of Satguru. This poisonous fruit will affect both of you, don't even taste it."

Masters do not give the teachings only for the men. Maintenance of chastity is not only important for the men but it is equally important for the women.

The Light of Ajaib

Those who have maintained their body right from their childhood, those who have preserved their vital fluid from their very beginning, naturally they have light within them. And for such people it is very easy to get the Light of Naam; it is just like bringing a flame in contact with gas or petrol, it explodes. Similarly, when such people who have kept themselves pure are given Initiation, they go right up. Kabir Sahib says, “The unchaste person can never worship the Master, can never meditate. He is always affected by the doubts and fears; he is always worried because he is doing this bad deed. When will he get rid of this bad habit? He always goes on thinking about it and never does the meditation. He is controlled by the sense organs and he never gets the opportunity to meditate and go up.”

QUESTION: Master, when I read the Anurag Sagar it explained that this whole world we live in is Negative Power, it is Maya. But then I read in Sant Bani Magazine that if a person doesn't believe in God, just have him go and see a sunset and ask him where that had come from? I got confused – is it God, or is it the Negative Power?

SANT JI: We need a lot of understanding before reading the writing of any Mahatma. If we are fully prepared to understand the teachings of a Mahatma only then we can understand what He is trying to say.

It is like this: Once a pundit came to argue with Kabir Sahib and told him that he did not believe in God. He said, “I don't think there is any Power called God; all these stars, sun and moon – they rise themselves, they set themselves, and there is no one behind their existence.”

So in replying to his question Kabir Sahib said, “O Pundit, look at the sun, look at the moon and stars, and you tell me – with whose support is this sky existing and who is making the sun rise and making the sun set?” He was trying to explain to that manmukh because he did not believe in God. So Kabir Sahib told him, “All this creation, all the things which we see – they are not created by themselves. There is some Power behind their creation.”

There is no doubt that all this world was created by the Negative Power, it is all the Negative Power's creation but you should know that the Negative Power is also created by Almighty God. All this creation was created by the Negative Power but with the order of Almighty God. So in a way Almighty God gave the boon, gave the orders to the Negative Power to create all this Creation. Kal, the Negative Power, was created by Almighty God and He did the seva, He served Almighty God and in return He got the gifts, the boons, to create this Creation.

Guru Nanak also said, “All the divisions of this Creation, all the lower worlds, the world under the earth and all the planes, all the islands, are given to the Negative Power by God Himself. He who remains different from the three qualities, three attributes, such a gurmukh gets glory in the home of God.” Masters want us to rise above all these lower things, all these things we see in this world since They have connected our string with Sach Khand.

This is why Saints lay a lot of emphasis on doing the meditation because they want the disciples to do the meditation, go within, and see for themselves what is the Reality. They want us to go within and see how low the sun, stars, moons and planets and all these things remain and how much higher we have to go from that place. This last time when I went to Sant Bani Ashram I gave many Satsangs in which I talked a lot about the inner planes, about the inner journeys, if you would read those Satsangs carefully you will know how far we have to go and how low all these things remain and how far up we have to go from them.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Sant Ji is there any story connected with finding the well, with digging the well for the ashram?

SANT JI: The fact is that when that gracious Almighty Lord Kirpal showered His grace on this poor soul, you know that He came Himself, it was three days since I had come out. He Himself came and brought me out. At that time I could say only these things, "O Master, You are very sweet." And the place where we dug the well is exactly the same place where the tires of His car were and where He had stepped down. He had said at that time, "A time will come when you will get very sweet water from this place."

No matter that we made these buildings and we made this floor from concrete, but still we had not lost track of the exact place where He had stepped. So when they started digging the well I told them, "This is the very place where you should dig." We have named that water "Kirpal Amrit" which means "The nectar of Kirpal."

We will make the halva for you. You may have already eaten halva before, but this time we will make it with that water. We are using that water for making the tea, and the thing is that now we have to use less milk, so in that way we are saving a lot of milk by using that water [everyone laughs].

He was a Gracious One, He was an Ocean of Grace, and with both His hands He went on giving the grace and blessings to the people. Fortunate were the souls who had the opportunity to have His darshan and His grace. Even now He is giving His grace to all those who accept it.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, have You written anywhere about how we have to lovingly discipline our children, and if You haven't can You tell us a little now?

SANT JI: I have said a lot about this and a lot has been published also. I have told many stories about how we can discipline the children, so you should find those writings and read them. I have said a lot about this; that if the parents understand how much responsibility they have for making the lives of the children, then they can easily do that. If the mother is a meditator herself then she can not only discipline the child herself, but she can make the child obtain the status of a Saint.

A very famous story about Sufi Saint Farid tells about His childhood. I have said many times that his mother was a good meditator; she used to go within and she was interested in teaching the way of devotion to her son.

She wanted her son to start doing the devotion of God from his early childhood and become a devotee. So she started telling him right from a very young age, "Son, you should do the devotion of God."

You know that the children are always interested in eating sweets, so he said, "Will God give me some sugar to eat?" His mother replied, "Yes, if you will do the devotion of God, He is very sweet, and He will give you sweets and sugar candy."

So in the beginning she had to work hard, she had to teach him how to do the meditation, she had to spread the prayer mat for him and he would sit in the meditation. She would give him her attention and make him do the meditation and after a while she would put some sugar candies in a bowl and put it in front of him and tell him, "Okay, now you leave off, God has given you the sweets." She had to work hard only for a few days, but later on when he started doing the devotion, when he started enjoying the intoxication of the Naam which he was getting from within he did not crave the sugar or the sweets outside. When he became a Param Sant He wrote, “No doubt sugar, sweets, honey, milk are very sweet but, O Mother, the sweetness of Naam cannot be compared to any of these sweets.”

In my childhood my mother used to tell me the story of a man whose mother was responsible for his misfortune. Only because of his mother he was put to death. And she told how he gave the punishment to his mother.

It happened like this: There was a boy who got into the bad habit of stealing from others. When he would bring anything home, his mother would not rebuke him, but instead she would inspire him to go and do more. She was always very pleased that her son was bringing things from outside, that he was stealing. She went on inspiring him and finally one day he became a great dacoit. Once he went to plunder something and there someone was murdered. As a result he was caught by the police and he was sentenced to death. Before they took him to the gallows they asked him if he would like to see anyone or if he had any final desire. He said, “I don’t have any desire, I don’t want to see anyone except my mother. If you would bring my mother I would be very happy.” So when his mother was called she was very happy. She thought, “Maybe my son is going to tell me some secret, maybe he is going to tell me about some hidden treasure,” because she was still interested in the wealth. So when she went to see her son, he said, “Mother, bring your ear close to me, I want to tell you something very secret.”

His mother became very happy and she brought her ear close to the bars, and he at once cut her ear off. He rebuked and punished her, saying, “It is because of you that today I am going to climb the gallows. If you had stopped me from stealing things, I would not have become a dacoit. This is only because you went on inspiring me to steal other people’s things that I have become a dacoit.”

So I mean to say that if the parents are a good example they can teach their children, with less effort, to be disciplined and to be good citizens. I remember that even in my childhood I never had the habit of visiting people’s homes and I never had the habit of going with other boys to play. But still my mother would always keep a check on me and she would say, “Mind that if you will go to visit people’s homes, and if you will go and play with the other boys, I will go and tell their parents, and I will give you punishment, because I don’t want that you should become a bad boy and in the end you cut off my ear.”

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to talk about a married couple who had a son and they always used to encourage that son to go out to other people’s homes and steal things from them, and later on that boy also became a very great thief. So you can see that Sheik Farid’s mother was also a parent and she inspired Sheik Farid to become a Saint whereas the other people, in the story I just told you about, that boy became a dacoit. It was only because of his mother that he was put to death. So this means that the parents have a great impression, a great affect on the lives of the children. Master always used to say that if you want your children to become good, first you become good. Because unless you will set a good example for the children they will not learn from you.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used tell about His life; once when He was living in Abdabar there was a drunkard who used to live right next to Him. He also had many children and Master Sawan Singh also had many children. That drunkard always tried his best to inspire Master Sawan Singh’s children to play with his children and he always tried to make them eat meat and drink wine. But Master Sawan Singh’s children were so good that they never drank wine, they never ate meat, and once when he got tired of trying, he came to Master Sawan Singh and said, “I don’t know how you taught your children, but I have tried my best but still they are not interested in eating meat or drinking wine, they are not even interested in playing with my children. I don't know how you are teaching them, how you are disciplining them.”

Master Sawan Singh said, “The time will come when you will realize your mistake. Now you think that your children are following you, they are eating and drinking and you are happy, but the time will come when you will repent for this.”

The same thing happened. After a few years when Master Sawan Singh again met that person, he was suffering, he was weeping in pain, because his children were great drunkards and they were bad people and he was tired of it.

So I mean to say that children learn from their parents. If the parents are good people, if the parents set a good example for the children, the children can also live a disciplined life and they can also become good people. When I went to Sant Bani Ashram for the first time, the town's police chief came to see me. He also had the darshan of Master Kirpal Singh. When he came to see me he asked me, “What should the parents give to their children? What is the responsibility of the parents for the children?”

I told him that if the parents want to give anything to their children it should be good teachings, good education. Because if the children will get good teachings and good education they will glorify their parents' name. They will become respected in the world, and they will not starve in poverty. Because if they have a good education and good teaching they can make a good living. But if you will only give them the money and your wealth without good teachings, it is possible that they may lose your wealth, they may lose their wealth, and they may even bring a bad name to you and your family. So the only thing you should give them is good teachings and good education. So I always say, I hope that all the parents will give their children good teachings, good education right from their beginning, right from a young age, because they are the innocent souls, and they have been given to you by God. It is your responsibility to make their lives good.

1993 May: The Restless Nights and Days

Session Date: October 31, 1984

This question & answer talk was given October 31, 1984, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16PS, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: When we dream of the Master is that the Negative Power?

SANT JI: Regarding the dreams of the Master I have said a lot, and maybe it has been published in the magazine also. I have said a lot in the past but once again I will repeat it for you.

You know that our souls function in three different states: one is the awakened state, another is the state of dreams, and the third is the state of deep sleep, which we can even say is the state of unconsciousness, when our soul is not conscious of what is happening.

In the awakened state the soul is at the Eye Center and it is functioning from that center and she is fully conscious of what is happening, but when our soul drops down from the Eye Center and starts functioning at the throat center then the soul goes down in the state of a dream. This is when we have the worldly dreams.

The Light of Ajaib

We dream of the people whom we deal with in our day-to-day life, and we see in our sleep as dreams those things which we usually see outside during the daytime. Usually our day-to-day thoughts and our routine work changes in form and comes in the form of dreams when our soul drops down from the Eye Center and starts working through the throat center.

When our soul drops from the throat center and when she falls into the state of deep unconsciousness then both the mind and soul start playing their game. Since this is the level of lower mind that is why the forms of the dreams which we experience do not have any complete meaning.

Sometimes you might see forms which are not complete: you might see the head but not the limbs, sometimes you might see one leg and not the other one. So in that way it is incomplete and we cannot make any sense of it, because it is a state of deep unconsciousness and neither our soul nor our mind is conscious of what it is experiencing or seeing.

When graciously Master gives us His experience, which people often call as having dreams of the Master, at that time what happens? Master does not go down below the Eye Center because He is very pure, and in the centers lower than the Eye Center it is all dirt. It is all filled with dirt and Master does not go into the lower centers. He remains at the Eye Center or above it, and whenever He wants to shower His grace on us, He graciously pulls our soul up and at that time we see His Form, we have this experience which we call a “dream.”

Since we do not have the knowledge of the inner planes and we have not seen the Radiant Form of the Master within that is why we cannot appreciate the experience which we call a “dream” of the Master. We cannot appreciate the experience of the Master which He gives us through that state.

If we were concentrating, if we had gone within and had seen the inner planes, we could easily distinguish between the worldly dreams and the dreams of the Master. When we have the experience of the Master, at that time Master is not going below the Eye Center. He remains at the Eye Center or even at the inner planes which are above or higher than the Eye Center and He graciously pulls our soul up. He gives us the chance to go into the inner planes. This does not happen with everyone, that they cannot understand what Master is doing with them when they are having an experience of the Master. Many people do understand the value of the experience of the Master which they get in the state of sleep. Even in this group there are many people who go within, who meditate, and who know how Master pulls their soul up during sleep.

The worldly dreams which we get when our soul starts functioning from the Eye Center do not give us any happiness because they are not deep, they are not very subtle. But the experiences or the dreams which we get from the Master – since they are the grace of the Master, and our soul is being taken up into the higher planes – we get a lot of peace and happiness from such experiences. Sometimes that peace and happiness remains with us for many days, and once we see the Radiant Form of the Master within, it becomes difficult for us to forget that Form. Many dear ones who have been blessed by such an experience progress a lot in their meditation and in a way they make their meditation a success.

Since we do not go within, and we have not seen the Radiant Form of the Master, that is why we do not appreciate the grace which Master gives us in the experiences which we call dreams. If we were going within and if we had seen and known about the inner planes, then we could easily see the grace of the Master which He gives through these experiences. Satsangis should try to take advantage of the experiences of the Master.

The Light of Ajaib

Many times, because the disciple is not able to go into the higher planes, Master pulls his soul up using all His grace, but He does not go below the Eye Center. He always remains either at the Eye Center or at the higher planes and graciously pulls the soul up.

Whenever anything like this happens, Satsangis should be very careful and they should try to take advantage of this grace.

When we sleep, those who do not meditate, their soul also sleeps with their body and their soul drops down from the Eye Center and starts functioning through the lower centers, and as a result they have dreams. But the meditator's soul does not go below the Eye Center. Instead of going down into the lower centers it goes up into the higher planes. Even when the meditators are sleeping, only their body is sleeping and resting and not their soul, their soul is functioning and progressing in the higher planes.

Kabir Sahib said, "Whether I am sleeping or awake, I remain at the same place."

Sant Satgurus do not sleep when They seem to be sleeping. Their body rests, but at that time They are either taking care of or liberating some soul, or showering grace and blessings on some soul.

I would like to clarify this point once again, repeating this thing which I have said many times: "For a Saint it is not a difficult thing to talk in the language of the disciple." Many times the disciples report that when they went within and they talked with the Master, Master talked with them in their own language and they do not mention any interpreter. Many times I have said this, "Where the Shabd has to talk with the soul, at that time no translator is needed; there is no barrier of language there. In whatever language the disciple speaks, the Master also responds in that language."

A letter has come with this group in which the dear one has written about how he talked with me in his language (English) and how it was very clear to him what I was telling him.

When we are in the state of dreams sometimes we do not remember what happened in the dream, we don't even recall completely what Master said. But the dear ones who go within, who have such experiences with the grace of the Master, report that everything was very clear to them and that they understood everything. They never mention that Pappu was there to translate, because they hear the Master talking with them in their own language.

For a Master it is not a difficult thing to do that, but They do not perform any miracles and They do not boast of Their qualities because They are very humble.

QUESTION: I read a few different times about how You had meditated for seventeen years in a cave and then after You met Kirpal, for another five years, and I wonder, did You sleep at all or were You doing something else?

SANT JI: [Much laughter] This body needs food and also to keep it light it needs some rest, some sleep also. But the meditator's sleep as well as his diet reduces by itself.

It is because I have meditated in a special way, that is why I inspire all of you to meditate. Many people complain that they do not have enough time for the meditation. I tell them, "Look here, why don't you make a schedule of your day-to-day life in which you know at what time you have to get up, what time you have to go to your job, what time you have to eat, and what time you have to go to bed. In that schedule you should have a time for meditation also. [If you] follow that schedule wholeheartedly, then you will have no complaints that you do not have any time. Master graciously gave us the diary to keep, and by the help of the diary also we can maintain our daily meditation. If we follow the schedule which I have just mentioned, then we will have no difficulty in meditating and achieving our goal.

In the beginning it is very difficult to reduce the amount of sleep. In the beginning when one tries to reduce the amount of sleep, he feels heaviness in his eyes, he feels heaviness in his head, and it becomes very difficult for him to stay awake. But after he develops the habit of sleeping less then it becomes difficult for him to sleep more.

The appetite is the same. In the beginning it is difficult to reduce your diet, because you feel like eating too much, but later on, when you develop the habit of eating less, then you can never eat a lot of food because then your stomach has become used to eating less food.

This is my personal experience that the pleasures which the men are running after and which they do not want to give up – they give first importance to the pleasures – in the beginning it is difficult to give them up too. But when we give them up, a time comes when, from our within, we start hating those pleasures and then they never bother us, we never feel like enjoying those pleasures.

All the Saints, those Who got the blessings from Almighty God to bring the souls back home, meditated for many years in Their lifetime before They started doing Their job. They meditate for so many years, for so much time, because until They have perfected Themselves in meditation They do not get permission from Almighty God to continue the mission. If I had known that after my meditation and after perfecting myself in the meditation I would be given such a big responsibility of taking care of the souls, of doing the Satsangs for the dear ones, of flying in the planes, of having the restless nights and days going here and there to meet the people and do all this work, I would never have meditated this way. Because I was initiated by the Master and once the Master gives you Initiation then you are sure that He will take you back to the Real Home, so what is the use of doing the meditation? If I had known that I would be given such a big responsibility I would never have meditated; I am telling you the truth. But I did the mediation for some other purpose. I thought that when I do the meditation and perfect myself in it, I will meet God and it will be fun. It will be a nice thing, after that I will not have to worry about anything once I have realized God.

But after I did the meditation, when He gave me the permission, when He gave me the orders, to continue His mission, only I know what happened with me and how I felt. I felt in myself like a thief that is caught red-handed. He cannot run away, he cannot sit down there. He is confused, he does not know what he is; he cannot do anything, he just waits there for the judgment to come.

I felt the same way after meditating for so many years on the first Two Words. After perfecting myself for the first two planes, when Master Kirpal graciously gave me the Initiation, at the same time He told me, “Now you have to do this work. Be careful and don’t let my teachings be destroyed in this world. You have to continue to spread my teachings in this world.”

Only I know how I felt at that time, because I had not done the meditation to become the Master. When I was meditating on the first Two Words and when I perfected myself on the first two planes there was no question about being the Master and doing this job, because one who has perfected himself on the first Two Words cannot get the permission to do this work because he is still not perfect. Afterwards when Master Kirpal graciously gave me His Initiation and at the same time when He gave me the orders to do this work I felt very sad and I wept, but He didn’t hear my weeping. I told Him, “Master, I did not do the meditation for this sake, I did the meditation because I was a devotee of Your Feet and I wanted to sit in Your lap. I wanted to be a honey bee of Your Feet and a lover of Your Feet; I feel the pleasure, I feel the happiness by doing that, and I do not want to do this work.” But He did not listen to me because He wanted me to do all the work which He is making me do now.

So once again I am saying that if I had known in the beginning that He would make me do all these things, after making me meditate for so long, I would never have done the meditation in this way.

Those who do not meditate, only those people form the parties and only those people are desirous of becoming the Master. They do not know that they will have to settle the accounts of the souls with the Negative Power and that they will have to take the karmas of the souls on their own body. Since they do not know what job they will have to do, they are anxious to become the Master; that is why they form parties and they criticize other people.

But those who meditate and who know the Reality are not desirous of becoming the Master; they are not anxious to do this work. They are not willing to become the Master because they know what duty they will have to perform and how much burden they will have to take on their shoulders if they become the Master.

Guru Nanak’s sons struggled very much and they even became upset with their father that He did not give them the guruship. But when Guru Nanak told Bhai Lena, who later on became Guru Angad, to do this work, he said, “Master, this load is too much for me; how will I carry it?”

When Master Sawan Singh gave this responsibility to Master Kirpal, He asked him to count and tell him how many people were initiated. He was told that so many people were initiated, hearing which Master Sawan Singh said, “Kirpal Singh, I have done half of your work, now you have to initiate the other half.”

At that time Master Kirpal Singh wept in front of his Master and said, “Master, You be the one to do the other half; You do the rest of the work too.”

But Master Sawan Singh said, “No, you have to do that.”

At that time Master Kirpal said, “Let me become the pipe and whatever Water You will send to me, I will just let it pass through me and give it to the people. Whatever grace You will give to me I will give it to the people.”

Master Kirpal was not pleased, He was not happy, to do that work. Those meditators who meditate and go within do not become happy, because they know the load or the burden, and they are not anxious to become the Master and do this work. But when they are given the responsibility by the Master, when they are given this work, when they are given the orders by the Master, they cannot refuse their Master and they happily accept whatever comes in the Will of their Master.

You people have tasted so much of life. You have traveled so much, you have been so many places and you have enjoyed many pleasures of life. But you know how my life was: I never went to any city for sightseeing, I never went to eat any delicious foods, I never wore any beautiful clothes, I never went wandering and roaming here and there, and I never went out for picnics. You know that whenever I go to the foreign countries I am locked in an airplane, and over there in the ashrams I am locked in a room. I never go out to see places; I never go to meet people outside. People come to see me in my room. Even when I go to Delhi or Bombay, Pappu knows and whoever has had an opportunity to be with me in Bombay or Delhi, you know how much time I spend going into the city. I never go to visit any place in the city, I am always locked in a room where people come to see me. My life is much different than the life of most people. You can very well imagine what is the mission of my life on this earth and what is the mission of the worldly people's life on this earth.

People give first preference to meeting people and enjoying the pleasures of the world, whereas in my life there is no place for all those things. And even now, when I am doing this work, I never go for sightseeing or picnics or anything like that. I travel only for the sake of my job and that is all.

QUESTION: If the son does not want to meditate, is that between the Master and the child, or is there a place for a parent to encourage him to meditate, and if so how?

SANT JI: During the last question and answer session [printed in the April 1993 issue], I told you the story of Sheik Farid and his mother, how in the beginning she made some effort and she tempted Sheik Farid to do the meditation by saying that He would get sugar candy. Afterwards, when He got interested in meditating, she did not have to continue that. And later on He became a Perfect Master. Because of her efforts and her interest in making the life of her son we still remember her with great love and affection. I would say that even before the child learns to talk you should teach him good things, you should tell him about the Master, about the love of the Master. You should teach him good words, good language, because it is the parent's responsibility to make his life.

Pappu's son is very small, is very young, and whenever he sees my picture or Kirpal's picture in any room, he at once bows down to the picture. Even if he remembers only one sentence or one half of a sentence of a bhajan he would probably sing that. And Jarwahaar's daughter Pinkie, Pappu's niece, once she came when her mother brought food for me. After I finished eating, her mother gave her a banana from my basket, but she didn't take that. She said, "No, I don't want this; I want the parshad," and when I gave the same banana to her, then she was content that she had gotten parshad. So you know that she is not very old, she is just one or two years older than Pappu's son, but she has so much faith and devotion for the Master. She knows that whatever is touched by the Master is parshad. So she would not take that same banana from her mother which she took from me after I had touched it.

Pappu's father used to tell me about when Kulwant was a small child. Once they were visiting some relatives, in some other city, who did not have Master's picture in their home, so Kulwant did not accept tea there. He said, "I will not drink tea here because they do not have Master's picture in their house, and they do not have Baba Ji here."

So I mean to say that children are very faithful, they are full of faith and devotion and love. In whatever way you teach them, they will learn it right from the beginning.

You know that Bant's daughter is not very old, she does not even know how to talk. She cannot speak, she cannot understand anything, but we are trying right now to teach her some good things. She has already learned these few words: Aja Mere Kirpal Ji Pyare and you can even hear her singing that.

A few months ago Pappu wrote me a letter about his son Raju. Usually they play Master's Satsang video tape in their Satsang, and once they turned on the television for some news or songs and Raju was not ready to see that. He said, "You turn it off and you turn it on with Baba Ji on it." I mean to say that children are so full of love and faith that he thought that everywhere it is Master, it is Baba Ji, which is being televised, so he wanted to see Master.

In the beginning it may seem difficult for you to teach your children about meditation and loving the Master, but later on if you keep trying it will become like your routine work, and even you will find interest in that, because it will remind you of the Master more. Afterward you will find it very interesting and rewarding when you will tell your child to sit for the meditation or to bow down in front of the Master's picture and it will also help you in your meditation. Then whenever you will tell your son, "Son, didn't you meditate, didn't you bow down to the Master's picture?" You will also find it very pleasing, and you will also find it very helpful in maintaining your remembrance.

1993 May: What Can Ajaib Tell His Master?

Session Date: January 18, 1986

This question & answer session was given January 18, 1986, in Bombay, India.

QUESTION: [translated from Italian] When she was in Victoria with Mother Millie this summer she had a meditation at the end of which Mother Millie asked people whether they had a good or bad meditation and she wasn't sure what to answer because during her meditation she felt that she was in a place where everyone was suffering a lot, her included, they were breathing heavily, they were describing a place that she imagined as hell and she was wondering whether this had been a good meditation or a bad meditation?

SANT JI: Usually it is said that you should only ask such a question in your private interview because it is not appropriate to answer such a question about meditation in public.

QUESTION: Master, I would like to know if a disciple of a Sant Mat Master changed to another, which Master will be responsible for him?

SANT JI: Well this is a matter of deep thinking and understanding. Only the perfect Master is responsible for the soul of the disciple. The incompetent or the imperfect Master is not responsible, he cannot be responsible for the soul because when he himself has become a slave of mind and the organs of senses what can he do for the soul of the disciple? Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, "If the Master is blind, the disciple is also blind, and both of them go to the hell." So such an imperfect Master can be responsible for taking the soul to the hell, but he cannot be responsible for the liberation of the soul.

This is a matter for understanding: if we leave the perfect Master and go to the imperfect Master then we are doing a very bad thing for our soul; but if we leave the incompetent Master and go to the perfect Master we are removing a very heavy burden of our karmas from our soul. Swami Ji Maharaj says, "Give up the imperfect Master and in this way you will get rid of one more big karma."

QUESTION: This question concerns the bhajans. In the bhajans which You have written, You call Yourself poor Ajaib, Ajaib the miserable one, and other suchlike descriptions; I am wondering: If a perfect Master so describes Himself what is the condition of the rest of us?

SANT JI: Read the bhajans written by any perfect Master and you will find the same humility in all of those writings. They always describe Themselves or call Themselves as a slave, servant, or a poor one, a miserable one.

[The disciple who becomes perfect] knows that it is his Master who has made his life and he knows that his Master is pure, He is above all, He is highest and it was only because of His Master's grace that he became good, he became perfect. So he does not take any credit to his own self. He always calls himself with the humble words and he always gives all the glory and credit to his Master.

Kabir Sahib said, “I went looking for the bad ones but I did not find anyone bad, when I looked to my own within I found that I was worst of all.”

This does not mean that Kabir Sahib was the worst of all, that He was very bad, this is His humility. The perfect Saints, even after reaching the Original Home, the Real Home, still call Themselves as the poor ones.

Guru Nanak has said, “Poor Nanak has fallen at Your door; now unite me with Him, this is Your glory.” Bhai Gurdas, who was a great meditator, said, “I am a sinner and I have done all the bad deeds. I am the worst of all; I am much worse than others.” It does not mean that he was bad or that he was not loyal to his Master. This shows the love of such persons and a glimpse of their humility.

Swami Ji Maharaj says, “O Master, I am the greatest sinner of all.” The perfect ones have seen the real glory and real position of their Master after going within. They have seen the most real, the most pure, the most holy plane within. And they know that only because of their Master, they were able to go to that plane. In this mortal world, in this physical plane, there is the dirt of the pleasures and the worldly things; if anyone says that even after living in this world, he will remain pure, remain holy, that is not possible. It is as if you have a piece of coal in your hand and you say that you will not get any stain from it, you will not get your hands blackened. That is not possible.

So the perfect ones know that it was only because of their Master and only because of His grace, that He saved them from the dirt of the pleasures of this world. It was only because of the grace of their Master that they were able to go back to the Real Home, that they were able to go to the Purist Abode. That is why they always express themselves as the poor ones, as the miserable ones, because they know that they could not do anything if it was not the grace of the Master. Because of this they always give the glory to the Master. If Master had not given the Naam Initiation, Who gave us the wealth of the Naam? It was the Master Who gave us the wealth of Naam and only because of that wealth of Naam were we able to go to that highest place.

Guru Nanak Dev Ji Maharaj said, “All the world is sick and Naam is the medicine for all the diseases. We are full of the worldly dirt, and Satguru manifests that Naam within us. Only He connects us with that pure and holy Naam.”

All the Satsangis should think about this patiently: just imagine if we have lost our way in a forest and do not know which way to go, and if we do not have anyone whom we can call as our very own, who could come and show us the way home. If we do meet anyone there he is full of his own interest. Nobody wants to help us; everyone is trying to use us for his own selfish purpose. No one will help us and we are suffering there. We do not know where to go and we are lost in that forest. If, in that condition, in that kind of situation, we come across someone who is our very own, who comes to help us in a selfless way, who puts us on the real path and who helps us get back to our home safely and happily, just imagine what we will feel for that person.

We will be very grateful to him. For us, that person will be not less than God. We know that if he had not come to help us in that forest where we had lost our way, where no one was ready to help us and everyone was trying to take advantage of us—we know that if he had not come to help us we would have remained in that dangerous place. This person came and selflessly he showed us the path and even helped us back to our home, what will we think about him? We will become very grateful to him, we will not have any pride of our own strength, we will become very humble in front of him.

Similarly, in this world we are lost. We do not know which way to go, which is the Path which takes us back to our Real Home and we are confused. Everyone in this world is suffering. We do not have anyone in this world who can help us selflessly. Everyone whom we meet in this world is full of their own interest and they love us only because they want something in return from us.

If the mother loves the child, she loves the child expecting that in her old age he will help her, he will take care of her. If the child loves the mother it is because he has the desires; he expects that his mother will feed him and give him a good education, and that she will do everything for him. In the same way, if the husband loves the wife, he does not do it selflessly, he does that so that she will provide him all the things he needs, so that she will fulfill his desires. Also if a wife loves the husband she does not do it for selfless reasons, she does it so her husband will give her all the things she needs.

So the meaning of saying this is that everyone in this world, all our worldly relations love us because they have some interest of their own. There is no one who loves us selflessly. It is only the Master Who loves us selflessly, He does not expect anything from us except Bhajan and Simran. So if we get Someone Who loves us selflessly and Who puts us on the real path, Who helps us to get back to our Real Home, what would we tell Him? We would not tell Him that we could do it ourselves. We would always say – this voice would come out from our soul by itself – “We were wandering here and there and had forgotten our way; we were helpless, we were the miserable ones, we were the poor ones, and it was only by Your grace that we came on the right path. It was because of Your grace and glory that we were able to reach our Real Home.”

So when you know the real glory of the Master, when you know that the Master’s love is selfless and there is no other person in this world who could love us selflessly, then without your making any effort this voice will come out from your soul, “O Lord, You are the great owner of the real home Sach Khand, we were the poor ones wandering here and there in the suffering world, and only because of Your grace and Your help were we able to get back to our Real Home.”

Kabir Sahib says, “If there is anything we can offer to our Master that is the offering of Sat Naam, the offering of our meditation.” Kabir Sahib says, “I always wondered, I always thought, what is the thing which we can give to the Master? What is the thing which we can offer the Master? Sat Naam is the only thing, the meditation is the only thing which we can offer to the Master. And the most sacrifice we could do for the Master is to sacrifice our own self.” Master does not expect anything from the disciple, He does not become pleased by taking anything of a worldly nature from the disciple. For His own self, He does not want even a little thing. He works hard and earns His livelihood; He does not want anything from the disciple. If there is anything which He does want and with which He is pleased, that is our Bhajan and Simran. The Master always says, “Come to me, bringing whatever amount of Bhajan and Simran you have done.”

In my life I have never criticized or commented on anyone, and I do not allow my disciples to criticize others, because I know how much we lose by criticizing. Criticizing others means that we are staining ourselves and losing all our meditations. That is why I never criticize anyone. But I will definitely tell you that in my life I went to many monasteries, many so-called religious places, all over India, but everywhere they would only explain the theory and they would only talk about God and that is all. Nobody gave any practical experience, it was only Baba Bishan Das who put me on the Path. And after Baba Bishan Das it was Master Sawan Singh who assured me that the time would come when He would make me do the seva. Baba Bishan Das had the knowledge up to the second plane, He had the knowledge of Two Words and He had done it practically. He did not have any other disciples other than me; He used to say, “If I am not complete, when I am not perfect, why should I make disciples?” Whatever knowledge He had and whatever He had done practically he gave me only that.

When I took Baba Bishan Das to see Master Sawan Singh, we were sitting with Him and talking. And there was a Muslim Fakir who told Master Sawan Singh, “I know that in one of your past births you were the king of Faridkot.” (Faridkot is a state in Punjab.)

Master Sawan Singh said, “Yes, I also know that in many of my past births I lived a life of poverty, I was poor in many of my past lives.

So the meaning of saying this is that the perfect Masters have the knowledge of Their past births. That is why They make us understand that we do not know in how many births we became people’s wives, and in how many births we made other people our wives. We do not know for how many births and in which bodies we came, or how much richness we enjoyed and poverty we suffered.

The mahatmas who go within have the knowledge of their past; they know what they have gone through, and they know about everyone else. So finally we have gotten this human birth and have got the Master and have got Initiation from Him. After going to Sach Khand, what should we tell the Master Who has finished our pain of birth and death and Who has made it possible for us to go to Sach Khand? What should we tell Him about what we are? Because once we go within and realize how much we had suffered in our past lives – what to talk about past lives – in this life how much we have suffered! And when we know that Master has showered grace on us, that Master has taken us to the Real Home, when we know that it is all because of His grace that we have achieved this place where there is all peace and happiness, what can we tell Him about how we have realized it? We will only express our gratitude and we will only become humble in front of Him.

If you would look through the eyes of Ajaib, if you will look through the soul of Ajaib you will know how much he has suffered in his past lives. What to talk about past lives, even the suffering of this lifetime cannot be counted, and only he knows how much he has suffered and only he knows how much grace Lord Kirpal has showered upon him.

He has made a sweeper, He has made a maid, as the queen of Sach Khand; what can Ajaib tell Master Kirpal? What can he tell the All-Owner? Can he tell Him, “I am the best of all. I am the king, I am the emperor. There is no one else in the world like me” – when he knows that it was all the grace of Master Kirpal? It was all the grace of that Almighty Lord Who made it possible for this lowly one to go to Sach Khand and finish his birth and death. What can he tell him except expressing his humility, except expressing his gratitude for all the grace He has showered on this poor soul?

Kabir Sahib says, “The Path of God is very thin, about one tenth the size of a hair, but the mind has become very big like an elephant; how can he walk on that Path? How can he go back to the Real Home?” He says, “The Path on which we have to go back to our Real Home is very thin, it is like one tenth the size of a hair. But the mind has become very big like the elephant.” The mind says, “I am intelligent, a learned one; I have this, I have that.” So because of all these I-hoods he has become very large. How can he walk on that Path? He has to become as thin as the Path, he has to develop that much humility within him.

The only way of expressing our gratitude for the Master and the only way of developing humility within us is by going within. If we become humble without going within, that humility is for deceiving the people; it is only for showing other people. And if we show that we are humble without going within, we don't know when egoism will come and trap us. Unless we go in the within we cannot develop the real humility.

Many dear ones know how many Indian government officials were around Master Kirpal – members of parliament, as well as the Prime Minister, President and many ministers. Those officials used to visit Him and they used to ask for His advice and they were very close to Him. But on whom did He become gracious? He became gracious on this poor one who was in Rajasthan. He Himself went to Rajasthan to meet this poor one; He was not called, but He Himself went there to shower His grace.

If anyone would make a place for God Almighty to dwell and if anyone would call Him through his soul, you do not need to invite Him outwardly, He will come there to you by Himself. You do not need to invite Him from outside. He will come there if you are calling Him from your within, if you are calling Him from your soul. Even if you are sitting in a house which is locked from all sides, even if you are living very far from Him, across seven oceans, but if you have love, humility, and yearning for Him, and if you call Him with your soul He will definitely come there. If you do not have love and yearning for Him and you are not calling Him from your soul, then He will not come to you even if He is living with you. Unless you have real love and yearning for Him, He will not manifest within you.

This is an incident of Master Kirpal Singh's lifetime. Once I was visiting some village in the Punjab, the name was Dabwali. A sadhu was there who had done the practices of the water and it was the last day of his practices, so people had gotten together from so many different villages; they were going to perform the yajnas and the different austerities. I was going there and since I myself have done many of those austerities and practices I always have appreciation for those who do that, because it needs a lot of devotion and hard work. So I thought, "Let me also have the darshan of such a sadhu who has done the practices."

When I went there, he was sitting there with his followers, like you are sitting here, and he was sitting on a bed. As soon as he saw me coming towards him he started saying, "Bring a bed, bring a chair or some cloth, because behind the person who is coming there is another very powerful person, a very tall person and he has big eyes. He is wearing white-colored clothes and he is very powerful; he is very impressive."

He meant that he was seeing Master Kirpal Singh walking behind me. When I came near him he told me to sit on the bed along with him. I told him, "No Baba Ji, I will sit on the floor, I don't deserve sitting with you. You have done very good devotion, you have done very hard work doing these practices." He told me, "No, you sit with me on the bed." But when I insisted they did not let me sit on the ground unless I put something underneath me.

So the meaning of saying this is that you don't know at that time, physically, whether Master Kirpal Singh was giving Satsang, or whether He was seeing dear ones in interviews, or with whom He was meeting. But that Udasi Sadhu in Punjab who was doing a little bit of devotion sincerely, he was seeing the Presence of the Master with this poor disciple. Master always remains with the disciple, but those who have done some devotion, those who are sincere in their devotion of Almighty Lord they always feel His Presence. Not only do they feel His Presence, but they also see the Presence of the Master with the disciple.

Many dear ones write and tell me how they have seen the two Powers standing behind me during the Satsangs. Sometimes they see other Masters who are behind me or who are with me at the time of Satsang. I have also told about an incident in Vancouver; once a dear one even saw Baba Bishan Das standing behind me. He said that he had seen three powers, and he could recognize Master Sawan Singh and Master Kirpal Singh but he did not know who the third one was. I had never described how Baba Bishan Das looked, and there is no picture of Baba Bishan Das. But that dear one who had seen Baba Bishan Das in Vancouver told me about the turban, and I know that Baba Bishan Das used to tie his turban in that way. So because of that I told him that it was Baba Bishan Das. So the meaning of saying this is that those who do the meditation and who are concentrating can see the Presence of the Master, they can see how the Master is present with the disciple and how He is always taking care of him.

So when we know that it is all Master's grace – that Master has taken us to Sach Khand, that He has made us the owner of Sach Khand, that He has given us everything – what can we tell such a Master Who has given us so much glory, Who has given us so many things, what can we tell Him? Can we tell Him, “We are greater than You,” or “We are best ones”? We cannot say that, because then we know that everything belongs to Him, Sat Naam is His, Sach Khand is His, everything is His. What can we say when everywhere we look we always see Him? We understand that the earth is of the Master, the sky is of the Master, the water is of the Master, every being, everything belongs to the Master. There is nothing and no place in this world where the Master is not manifested. There is no place that doesn't belong to Master. What can we tell such a Master except that we are the poor ones, we are the humble ones, we are the miserable ones. So unless we have so much humility to express our gratitude to the Master it will not work because this is the Path of humility. Guru Nanak Sahib says, “I sacrifice myself on such a Master Who Himself is the liberated one and Who has liberated me.” That Power is called as the Guru or the Master Who has become free from the mind and the senses Such a high, such a pure Power is called the Master Who has risen above all these things and Who liberates others, such a pure being is called the Master. Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj says, “I have neither done any japas, nor have I performed any austerities, nor have I remained in the abstinence. I have not done any good deeds; I have only taken refuge in Your Feet. Nanak says, ‘I am the one who has done the worst karmas. Since I have taken refuge in Your Feet, You should protect my honor.’”

It does not mean that Guru Arjan had not done any seva, that He was a bad person, or that He had done bad karmas. He had done a lot of seva for His Master and He had not done any bad karmas. But because He knew it was all done by the grace of His Master that is why He called Himself as the one with the worst karmas.

The Master is present within the Initiated disciples in the form of the Shabd, and the disciples always work hard to see the Form of the Master Who is in the Form of the Shabd in their within. What to talk about the Presence of the Master within the Initiated dear ones, Master also gives His darshan to the dacoits and to other people who have done very bad karmas, because Masters have Their own ways of bringing people to the Path.

The Light of Ajaib

Bachan Singh, the son of Master Sawan Singh, had some bullocks and some thieves tried to steal them. Whenever they would come and try to take the bullocks away they would always find an old man standing there as if he was waiting for them. He would always say, "Well why have you come?"

At once those thieves would run away. This happened for three consecutive days. They would come and the old man would always ask them why they had come. So they could not succeed in doing their job. On the fourth day they went to Sardar Bachan Singh and asked him who that old man was, "Who was always alert there as if he was waiting for us?"

Bachan Singh realized that it was none other than Master Sawan Singh and he told them, "He is a Saint, He is the Master, and in the worldly way He is my father."

So Masters have Their own ways; They even give Their darshan to the dacoits and the thieves. Later on both thieves came to Master Sawan Singh and they became the initiates.

So I mean to say that the grace of the Master is such, the glory of the Master is such, that we cannot finish describing it, we cannot finish talking about it. I could talk on this subject for so many days, continuously answering this question.

1993 June: Sant Mat: the Path of Improvement

Session Date: January 14, 1986

This question and answer session was given in Bombay, India, on January 14, 1986.

QUESTION: I think it was Sant Kirpal Singh Ji who said, "He who is full of himself considers himself as above others and so puts a limit on himself." How can we day to day become more limitless in our way as Kirpal Ji says?

SANT JI: All the Saints have said, "Naam is the medicine for all the diseases." When we do the meditation of Naam then we get the humility. The Master Who is full of all the good qualities and Who has absorbed Himself in Almighty God, even after becoming One with God Almighty, Master is very humble. Even though He is above all, but still He does not have that egoism. So if we also become like the Master, if we also develop those qualities which the Master has, we can also become limitless and we can also become free of the ego, we can become ego-less. When we pay attention to the Shabd Naam, when we do meditate, when we go within and see the Master in our within, then we start getting the good qualities of the Master. We become humble and we start getting rid of all the bad qualities, all the ego which we had in our within. That can be done only when we do the meditation of Shabd Naam.

Saints always tell us that we should live in this world becoming the brave ones and not as cowards. All the good things which we have in this world have been given to us so we can use them. Saints always tell us that we can use the things which have been given to us in this world but we should not start serving them. They say, "Let them serve you, don't become the sevadars of the things which you have been given in this world."

The relationship between the husband and wife is considered to be the most unbreakable relationship. But if the husband and wife have this egoism: that they are the supreme ones and they are all in all, do you think that pride or that ego will let them go with each other? Do you think that our husband or wife will go with us? Are we proud of our children? Are they going to go with us? Do we have the pride of our education, our wealth, and the material things which we have in the world? Are they going to go with us? Nothing from this world will go with us except for the Master. Are we proud of our good health? Have we not seen anyone who is suffering from a disease? If we have a fever, even for a day, our face becomes very pale and we become very weak. So why do we have the pride of our good health? It is not going to remain with us forever.

Are we proud of our youth? It is just like the shade of a tree. Sometimes it is more, sometimes it is less, sometimes it is not at all.

Are we proud of our wealth? It doesn't remain at one place forever. If today it is with us, it will go to some other person some other day.

Are we proud of our good body? You have seen the old people, one day they also were enjoying their youth, they also had good, strong bodies, but what has become of them today?

So what is the use of having pride about such things which are not going to remain with us forever? Is there anything which we are going to take from this world? So why have the ego? Why feel that you are above all, that you are superior to others when you are not going to take anything from here?

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that someone once asked the servant of some street singers, "What do you get paid for your job?" He replied, "I get food to eat and clothes to wear, and the entertainment is free."

In the same way, what do we get from this world? What are we going to take from this world? We have come here, we have enjoyed this world, and we leave this world empty-handed; we do not have any savings. We are born in this world with our hands closed, but when we leave this world our hands will be spread out and we will take nothing from here.

Guru Nanak Sahib says, "Egoism is a very serious disease. It is a very sweet disease and it is a cureless disease." But He says further, "Only those upon whom the Masters shower grace do the meditation of the Shabd Naam, and only they can be spared from this disease."

This is not the only disease by which we are affected. There are many other diseases. In one place in the Gurbani Guru Nanak has described the diseases with which we are affected. He says, "The human beings are affected mostly by egoism. There are other diseases too. There is the disease of lust, the disease of anger, of greed, of attachment, and above all there is the disease of egoism."

He says, "The deer, the fish, the moths, all have one temptation in which they fall. They have one disease with which they are affected, and they sacrifice their life for that disease. What is the hope for the human being who is tempted and falls down because of all these five diseases?" The deer has the weakness of wanting to hear good music. Those who trap the deer play a certain type of musical instrument, which in Punjabi is called kundaheri shabd. They play that kind of music and the deer is so intoxicated, so fascinated by that special kind of music that he surrenders himself to the hunters. Even though he knows that if he goes where that sound is coming from, he will be killed, but still because he is affected by that disease, he goes and surrenders to the hunter. Because of this one disease, because of this one temptation, he is cut into pieces, he is cooked as food for many people. Just because of one disease he dies.

The moth has the disease of wanting to see the light and as a result he gives his life for that. The moth does not pay any attention to whether it is the light of a high caste person or a low caste person, he only loves to see the light. Even though he knows that when he flies to the light his wings will get burned and he also will get burned, but still because he has that temptation and because he is so fascinated by that light, he goes there and gives up his life.

Fish have the disease of desiring the good-tasting food, and the fishermen know the temptation and the weakness of the fish. That is why when they lower their hook in the water they attach a piece of meat and the fish even though she knows she is going to be caught and killed, but still because of that pleasure of the taste of the tongue, she puts that hook in her mouth, it sticks in her throat, and the fisherman catches the fish. Only because of this one weakness of hers she has to sacrifice her life.

The elephant has the disease of lust, he has the temptation and he falls for lust and those who catch elephants know about his weakness. They dig out a ditch in the ground and over that they put some grass and things like that to hide that ditch and then near that ditch they put a fake she-elephant. Because of his temptation for lust he comes to that place thinking that the she-elephant is there and he falls into that ditch. He remains trapped there for many days. Even though he is a very mighty animal, but because he doesn't get food he becomes very weak and the trappers using very sharp, pointed iron bars control him. Because of his weakness of lust, even though he was a powerful animal still he has to carry a man on his back. Not only does he have to carry the man but he also has to carry heavy loads. Only because of his one weakness the men take advantage of that and he becomes the slave of man.

The meaning of Guru Nanak explaining this with these examples is to say that all these animals that are very free or mighty, just because they had one weakness in them, they became the slaves of man, or they were cut into pieces and became the food of the man. They sacrificed their freedom just because of one temptation or one disease which they had. What is the hope for the human being who has all these five diseases and who is tempted by all these five passions and who falls for all this?

Mahatmas not only tell us about the diseases by which we are affected but They also tell us the way out. They also tell us how we can abstain from this disease. They say to the dear ones, "You go to a Mahatma who himself has abstained and who himself has been saved from all this disease."

Guru Nanak Sahib says, "My Satguru is free from all this disease and He is the real yogi." A yogi is one who has done the yoga and who has united himself with Almighty God; and Perfect Masters are the only ones who have done that yoga, who have done that practice of union with God and they are free from the diseases.

So the Mahatmas tell us, "Only if you will go and take refuge at the feet of such a Mahatma who has become free from all this disease can you also become free from this disease. If you will not go to such a Mahatma and live according to his instructions, then there is no chance of your survival. These five diseases will bother you and they will keep chasing you."

We know the condition of the young people nowadays. Before they enter their youth, before their youth comes to them they have lost all of their vitality, and then they repent. You may have read in the newspapers the advertisements of the doctors who say that they will help you regain your youth – "If you want to regain your lost youth, come to us and we will help you." But the Masters say that once a person has lost his youth, what to talk about the doctors, there is no one in this world who can help you to regain your youth, because once you have lost it, it is lost forever.

I have had the opportunity to meet the poor people as well as the rich people who are affected by this disease. The condition of the rich people is such that they always keep the doctors with them for all twenty-four hours of the day. They always have a doctor with them and unless the doctor gives them the treatment they cannot do anything, they cannot survive. They cannot even go to bed if they do not get medicine from the doctor.

We can be saved from all this disease only if we do the meditation of Shabd Naam, because, dear ones, this is the world of the Negative Power and there are so many traps, there are so many diseases, so many things to trap the souls. If someone says that even after keeping a piece of coal in his hand, his hand will remain stainless, will not get dirty, that is not possible. Since we are living in this world of the Negative Power and there are so many temptations there is no way we can be saved from these temptations unless we go into the refuge of the Master. Unless we go and fall at the Feet of the Master and do the meditation of Shabd Naam there is no chance of our survival.

QUESTION: What is the duty of the representative or group leaders when the Master leaves the body? Should he continue holding Satsangs – and in this area many non-initiates are coming – what is the duty of that person? Should he continue doing the Satsang or what should he do?

SANT JI: You can call them group leaders or representatives, but you should know that only those are made as the group leaders or representatives whom the Master wants to give something. If they do the work given to them by the Master understanding it as seva, rise above name and fame, pride and ego and all those things, if they sincerely do the work of the Master, then during the lifetime of the Master such a person will definitely go within and see the reality with his own eyes.

He himself will not wander, he himself will not go astray, and he will not let the ten or fifteen or however many people come in his group go astray.

Dear ones, I have often said that Satguru never dies, He was there in the beginning, even now He is there and in the future also He is going to remain. He is always present.

I have often said that those who say that the Master has died should be brought into court and asked, “Why did you take such a person as the Master who died?”

Master does change the body, but as far as the Power is concerned, It always remains in this world, and in one form or the other It always functions.

Those who are the thieves of meditation, those who do not meditate, who do not go in the within, only they get themselves divided into different parties. Since they themselves are misled, they mislead other people too.

QUESTION: I wonder if the Master would help us understand the difference between discrimination, evaluation, and criticism and if any of these have any use at all?

SANT JI: Well, we criticize only if we have not progressed. Progress means that until we have gone in the within, we criticize, and when we go in the within, when we progress, when our evaluation happens, when we go in the within, then we give up doing the criticism because then the power of discrimination is created within us. To have the power of discrimination means to be able to differentiate between the true and the false.

The person who has the power of discrimination does not need anyone’s support because he himself decides what is the good thing and what is the bad.

Right now, on our soul there is the physical veil and we are involved in the physical maya, but when we shake off this physical veil and when we rise above the physical maya and go into the astral plane, over there, there is the astral maya and there is the astral veil which we need to lift. When we do that and go into the casual plane, over there the casual maya is present and then there is the casual veil which we need to remove, we need to shake off. So when we rise above all this and when we even cross the peak of Brahm and go into Par Brahm, only then do we get this power of discrimination, we get this discriminative intellect and the person or the soul who has reached that place cannot even think about doing the bad things, what to talk about doing them.

At Sant Bani Ashram I commented on the Gauri Vars [published as The Two Ways]. In those Satsangs I said that the perfect Masters Who have stayed up many nights and Who have sacrificed so much in Their lives, Those Who have done the meditation by working very hard, They never criticize anyone and They never allow Their disciples to criticize others. Because They know how much one loses by criticizing. They get that discriminating intellect, that power of discrimination, and because of that They know that They should not criticize, and They do not allow Their disciples to get involved in criticism.

A soul that reaches Par Brahm and Daswan Dwar becomes like a swan. And Swami Ji Maharaj has also said, "O Swan, you separate the milk from the water." It is a special quality in the beak of a swan that when he puts his beak in the water of Mansarovar where the water is mixed with the milk, it can easily separate the milk from the water. In the same way when the soul reaches Daswan Dwar she gets that power of discrimination and she can easily differentiate between the good and bad things. Since she has risen above and reached Daswan Dwar that is why she always goes for the good things and such a soul never does anything bad.

I have often said that the soul who has reached the Daswan Dwar, if that soul looks down below, she can see everything very clearly. It is just as if a person is standing on the top of a mountain, he can see everything very clearly down below him. But if a person is low down on the ground and if he wants to look up, he cannot see everything clearly. Only if he is standing on the top can he see everything clearly.

There is no measure in this world by which, or with which, we can measure our progress. We have to see our own progress with our own eyes and we can do that only by going in the within. When we go in the within we can see how much we have progressed with our own eyes.

What is our condition unless we have gone in the within? Usually when some people start giving name and fame and start respecting a person who has not done a lot of meditation, who has not gone in the within, he gets puffed up. Then the jealousy is created within him and he feels himself as superior to others. He says that he is superior to others and that the other person has not done the meditation, "I have done the meditation." So when he gets this kind of feeling, when he gets name and fame – if he had done the meditation, if he had gone within, then he would digest that and he would not get puffed up, because he knows the Reality. But if one who has not done the meditation is given name and fame and people respect him, then he starts understanding that he is something more than the other people. And when he gets this kind of feeling, he loses everything.

Paltu Sahib says, "When you get to meet the Beloved you have to live becoming very thin. After that don't take sides with anyone, become impartial. Once you have got your Beloved, once you have got your Almighty Lord then for you everybody should be alike.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Master I would like to ask a question about darshan. I was wondering if this blessing comes from our longing or if it is from meditation or is it in our fate that He gives us His darshan?

SANT JI: The root of everything is meditation. When we do the meditation, we get the feelings for the Master. If you have good feelings for something, you get its good results. If you have bad feeling for something, you get the bad results. Guru Nanak also said, "A person sees the image of God according to his own feelings." When we do the meditation we get good feelings for the Master, and when we have good feelings for the Master we get His darshan according to our feelings.

Master Kirpal Singh used to quote from the sacred book of the Muslims, the Koran, He used to say, "It is written there that Prophet Mohammad said, 'The momin, or the gurumukh, the beloved disciple of the Master, is like the image of God, whatever feeling or whatever face you have, you will see that in the Master. Whatever feeling you have for God or for the Master you will see your image accordingly.'"

You know that Sant Satgurus always love everyone equally, for Them everyone is alike and They want to give equal things to everyone but whatever our feelings are and whatever our vessel is, according to our feelings and the vessel we have prepared we get the grace and we get the things from the Master.

Last night in the Satsang I said that once when Master Kirpal told me to explain the theory to some dear ones who were sitting there for Initiation, I told Him, "Master, why don't you show them Your Real Form, why don't You show them that You are God? Why don't You show them what You really are so that all the disputes of the temples and mosques will get cleared up? And in every home they would talk only about You and they would know that God is in this world in the Form of Kirpal." Because when I was seeing Him as God that is why I told Him that He should shower that grace on all the dear ones who were sitting there. Master Kirpal replied, "Don't make them tear my clothes."

At that time there were many other old initiates of Master Kirpal present there, they could have also told Master the same thing, "You are God, why don't you show all the people who are sitting here for the Initiation?" But they did not say anything like that. If they had also understood Master Kirpal as God Almighty, if they had also understood His Real Glory they would have said so. But they did not do that because they didn't understand the reality of Master. They didn't understand Him as God, that is why they said things according to their own receptivity, according to their own feelings.

So everyone in this world sees the Master according to his own feeling, according to his own vessel. And according to the feelings we have for the Master, according to the receptivity we have to the grace of the Master, we get the blessings and darshan of the Master.

Once in an Initiation that Master Kirpal did about fifty people were initiated. Everyone had good experiences except for one dear one who did not see the Light. So he told Master Kirpal that he did not see any light. I was there and I got confused and I said, "Well God is Light and Light also belongs to God, and here God is giving the Initiation, and God is present here in front of you, what else do you want? Why are you looking for any other Light when the Form of Light, when the Form of God is standing in front of you?" But anyway Master Kirpal gave him another sitting and he was content with that.

Even now when I meet him he repents – why did he ask for the second sitting? Why did he ask for the Light when God Almighty was there in front of him, when the Form of Light, the Abode of Light, the Abode of All-Consciousness was in front of him, why did he ask for the Light.

The Light of Ajaib

I have often told Russell Perkins that in the beginning, when people used to tell me about not having the Light, and this and that, I would always get confused. I would say, “God Almighty came in the human form and if you had the real receptivity, you could have seen the Light emerging from every single cell of that human form of Almighty God who came in the form of Kirpal; but you did not see Him. What else do you want? Why are you looking for the other Light when that real manifestation of the Almighty One is in front of you? Why are you looking for the other Light and other experiences?”

I have caught hold of my Master; what He told me, I did that and I became successful. If we would also take the real refuge at the feet of the Master and if we would also do our meditation, if we would also follow and live up to the teachings of the Master with this feeling, we can get everything. Our purpose can be solved and we can get everything. We can progress and we can get everything that we are looking for. But the thing is you have to do what the Master is telling you to do. It is not good if Master tells you to rise above the mind and the organs of senses and if you do not do that. If you are going in the opposite direction, what can the Master do for you? When you have got the Master and He has given you the Naam and when He is telling you to do certain things, it is your job to do what He has told you and then you get everything. If you fall at His Feet with sincerity, and if honestly you are doing what He has told you to do, then everything you need will get done by Him.

If we are like that prisoner who, when he is getting released from the jail, tells the jailer, “Don’t clean my room, don’t make any changes in my room, because I am coming back again.” If we are like that prisoner, how can we progress on this Path? What that prisoner should have done was that he should have forgotten about his room or whatever he had in the jail, and after coming back into the world he should have improved his life and he should have forgotten everything of the past. So if we also become like that, if we also forget everything of the past, and since we have come to the Master we should become His, and we should sincerely and honestly do what the Master is telling us. Then we can also progress and we can get everything from the Master.

Sant Mat is the Path of improvement. If we improve our outer life after joining Sant Mat, then it becomes very easy for us to go within. The inner Path becomes very clear and easy for us if we have improved our outer life.

1993 July: The Humility of the Saints

Session Date: January 27, 1985

This question and answer talk was given January 27, 1985, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Humility is something we can never have enough of, and I wonder how we can deepen our humility every day? I would like to have examples, if You have, from Sawan or Kirpal and Yourself, showing us the humble way.

SANT JI: The examples of the lives of the Saints are full of sacrifice – They have done the sacrifice of Their mind, of Their body, of Their soul, and They have done the sacrifice of doing the meditation of Surat Shabd Yoga. There is nothing in Their life which They have not sacrificed for Their Master, that is why They have real humility within Them, because the real humility comes in our within only when we sacrifice everything for our Master, for the devotion of Almighty Lord.

The Light of Ajaib

When we remove the physical, astral, and causal covers from our soul and reach Par Brahm, when we cross the region of mind and Maya, only then real humility comes in our within. Before we develop real humility, if we try to imitate the souls who are very humble, it means that we are developing false humility in our within and that humility will not work.

Master Sawan Singh used to say, “To have such a humility is a very deceptive thing. To say outwardly that you don’t need anything and that you are very humble, that you are nothing – to use sentences like that while in your within you desire name and fame, the honor and praise of the world – that means that you are showing humility only outwardly, but in your within you are not the real humble one.” So unless you rise above the mind and Maya and unless you shake off the three vestures – the physical, astral and causal covers – from your soul and reach Par Brahm, you cannot have real humility.

Once there was a fake sadhu whose name was Sheetal Das which means Mr. Cool or something like that [everyone laughs, including Sant Ji]. He called himself Sheetal Das because he wanted to show people that he was very cool in his heart, just to attract the people. He thought, “If people know that my name is Sheetal Das they will come to me to get some coolness.”

Suthra, who was an initiate of Guru Har Gobind, was a good meditator soul and he knew that the real coolness comes only when one meditates. Since he himself had done the meditation, he knew that real humility comes only when a person does the meditation. Otherwise if he is showing that he is very cool and if he is showing that he is really humble he is just deceiving the people.

So when he heard about Sheetal Das he went there. Sheetal Das was living outside the village and Suthra went there and sat down in front of him and asked him for some fire. He said, “Please give me some fire.”

That sadhu, Sheetal Das, said, “I don’t have any fire with me.” But again Suthra Fakir said, “No, give me some fire; you have some.” Again Sheetal Das politely refused, saying, “I don’t have any fire.”

But when Suthra Fakir went on insisting that he wanted fire from him, Sheetal Das became very upset and started running after him, chasing him to beat him.

When he did that, Suthra Fakir said, “You told me that you didn’t have any fire; but tell me from where are the flames raging now?” Hearing that, Sheetal Das became very embarrassed.

The meaning of telling this story is that unless one has gone within he cannot have real humility, and unless we have that real humility, whatever humility we show outwardly is like deceiving others.

There is a story of Lord Krishna’s lifetime: Lord Krishna had a devotee named Radika who loved Lord Krishna very much, but still there was one part within her that would always think, “Lord Krishna is not the real one, he only plays the flute and he plays games with all these women; he is not a real Saint or real sadhu.”

She had the impression that real sadhus live in the jungle or the forest, that they always wear colored clothes and always remain aloof from the world. They go on meditating in the forest, living apart from the world; they don’t come in contact with the world. She had this kind of impression in her mind about sadhus.

The Light of Ajaib

Lord Krishna also loved Radika very much and he did not want his devotee Radika to have any doubts or confusion about him. So he told her, “Radika, let us go out and visit some sanyasis, some sadhus who are in the forest, because I want to clear up the doubts in your mind.”

So Lord Krishna took Radika to one forest where there was a sadhu wearing colored robes. His place was very beautiful, very clean, it was like a small ashram made in the forest. That sadhu used to eat only roots and grass and nothing else, no food or anything like that. His place was very beautiful and clean, very attractive. So Radika told Lord Krishna, “Do you see this place? This is a real sadhu, because his place is very clean, he wears colored robes and he always remains in the meditation. He does not eat any food and he is away from the world and the worldly things, so he is a real sadhu, all the real sadhus are like this.”

Lord Krishna knew everything about that sadhu so he smiled and said, “Okay Radika, I will show you which kind of sadhu he is. Let us go and talk to him, but I will create some kind of will. I will change my form, but whatever I say you should not laugh at that. Even though you know the truth, you should just keep quiet and see what happens.”

So Lord Krishna changed his form into a very thin, very old man with a hunched back, and he told Radika to remain in her real form as the princess.

Both of them went to the sadhu and that sadhu became very pleased to see that young beautiful woman there with that old man. He did not know they were Lord Krishna and Radika. That old man said, “We have come to your shelter.”

Hearing that the sadhu became very pleased and said, “Welcome.” He showed a lot of humility outwardly, and he was very happy. He told them that his ashram was their ashram, that they were welcome there, and that he would do everything possible to make their stay comfortable. He welcomed them with all his heart and all his love.

Lord Krishna, in the form of that old man, said, “Sadhu, this is the princess of the king. They had gone into the forest for hunting but they lost their way, and suddenly a lion came out from the bushes. I was there, and you know, I am very strong, and I have very good skills, so using my skills I killed that lion and I rescued this young beautiful princess. I want you to allow us to stay this night in your ashram.”

Now whatever Lord Krishna, in the form of that old man, was saying was not believable because he had taken up the form of a very weak old man, yet he was saying that he was very strong and that he had killed a lion. That sadhu heard all that and in his mind he thought, “What is this old man saying?” But he did not have anything to do with that old man because his whole attention was on Radika who was a beautiful princess. An unchaste person always looks at the women; he does not mind what the other person is saying. So he did not pay any attention to the false things which Lord Krishna was saying in the form of that old man. He just went on nodding his head and approving what that old man was saying, because he wanted to please that old man and he wanted to get that young beautiful princess Radika. When the night came they were given a place to stay. That sadhu used to make a drink of some herbs to get the intoxication of mind, to give peace to his mind, as he used to call it.

Some American dear ones tell me that in their country they can get some pills to try to kill their mind, to calm their mind, but I tell them, “Dear one, there is nothing that can bring peace to your mind except the meditation. All the pills and all the medicine you get, which are said to give peace to your mind, are nothing more than intoxicants. They only numb the power of your thinking for a short while; for a few moments you get the intoxication, but later on you realize that you have lost a lot.”

So that sadhu made an intoxicating type of drink and he thought, “This old man will drink this and he will sleep and he will not get up until the next morning. Then I will be free to do anything with that beautiful lady Radika.”

He did not know that he was going to give that drink to Lord Krishna. Lord Krishna drank that drink, and it was not going to have any effect on Lord Krishna because he was God, but he pretended that it had worked on him. He started snoring and he fell “asleep” in front of that sadhu. The sadhu did not have any patience, because you know that when an unchaste person thinks of enjoying lust with a woman, he becomes very impatient. He does not want to waste any time because he does not see anything else except that woman. So at once he went to Radika. By then Radika had learned the reality of that sadhu. She was very much afraid and because Lord Krishna was also asleep, she became very terrified. She started rebuking that sadhu, “You were so humble and you were talking about so many good things when we first came here, but now I see your reality. You are such a deceptive one, you play such a horrible game.”

She went on saying that and the sadhu replied, “You see young beautiful lady, when nectar comes to someone’s home, who would not like to drink it?”

You know that the unchaste persons always call the lusty deeds as the nectar, but the perfect meditators know it is not nectar, it is poison. All those who have tasted this poison have not survived. But that sadhu was not a real Sadhu, he was fake, and that is why he thought that lust was like nectar for him and that is why he wanted to have it.

At once Lord Krishna changed his form into the form of a cobra and he appeared there to frighten that sadhu. When that sadhu saw that there was a cobra near him he became very terrified. He wanted to get rid of it and get away from that place. Because he was frightened by that cobra the sadhu at once left the room, leaving Radika alone [with the cobra]. And from there Lord Krishna and Radika also disappeared.

When they left that place Lord Krishna asked Radika, “Did you see his humility? It was not real, it was only an outward show; he did not have anything. He was living in the forest and he had given up all the worldly things, but within his mind he was craving for the worldly pleasures and when he got the opportunity he wanted to utilize it. So he was not a real sadhu. Now I will take you to a real sadhu. You should never look at the outer appearance of the sadhus, because many times it happens that people take up the outer humility, they take up the outer appearances only to impress people, but in their within they do not have the real humility or purity to do the devotion of Lord.”

After some time when the night came again, both Lord Krishna and Radika felt that some power or something was pulling both of them in one direction. It was raining and there was a storm also and suddenly they were being pulled in one direction. Many times they would fall down and get up, and again they were being pulled in the same direction.

Finally they came to a very beautiful garden-like place in which there was a very good pond and a very beautiful house. There in the garden by the pond a young man was sitting in deep meditation, and there were many women attendants who were giving him a massage while he was in deep meditation.

The Light of Ajaib

When Lord Krishna and Radika appeared there all the women attendants left and the young man got up from his meditation. He welcomed and paid respect to Lord Krishna and apologized for not welcoming him sooner because he had been sitting in the remembrance of Lord Krishna. He said, “O Lord, I am sitting in your remembrance and my heart is yours, everything I have belongs to you and I sacrifice and surrender myself to you.”

Seeing his devotion Radika was very much impressed and then Lord Krishna told her, “He is the real devotee. He has not taken up any outer garbs, he is not wearing any colored robes, and he has not left his family or his worldly responsibilities. But in his within he is detached from all these things. Even though outwardly he is having all these comforts and conveniences, but internally he has given up all these attachments and he is doing the real devotion of God. That is why he is a real devotee of God and not the other so-called sadhu whom we saw yesterday.”

So dear ones unless we have real detachment from within, unless we have real humility in our within and real purity for doing the devotion of Lord, if we go on expressing our humility outwardly, if we go on showing to other people that we are very humble, we are very pure, we are very devoted, we are only deceiving them and if we are doing that, we are also deceiving ourselves.

It is very difficult to develop humility like the Masters, like the Saints. Unless we become the Saints or the Masters we cannot have the humility which They have. History tells us that whenever the Saints and Masters came into this world and whenever They were opposed – since God has sent Them with a lot of power of endurance, a lot of humility in Their within – even though They were given so much trouble and pain by Their opponents, but even for them They had forgiveness and They always prayed to Almighty Lord, “O Lord, forgive them because they do not know what they are doing.” Because They had the real humility that is why They always prayed for forgiveness for Their opponents also.

On the other side, if all of you look in your own within, since that kind of power has not been put in our within by Almighty Lord and if we are criticized even a little bit, if someone insults us even a little bit, even then we change our colors and we become so upset, so angry at that person.

QUESTION: I have two questions. First, do we create and/or pay off karma in our dreams and the second is about a habit I seem to have about thinking about past actions and remembering them with some intensity and also creating things which might be in the future. What kind of karma is created or paid off on that mental level?

SANT JI: This is the work of the worldly people to go on thinking about what has happened in the past and to worry about the future, to always think about the bad actions which have been done in the past or to worry about the future. When a dear one becomes a Satsangi, after he has received the Naam Initiation from the Master all his thoughts should be centered around meditation and the Path of the Masters and he should always go on thinking about and following the instructions of the Master.

Dreams are because of our day-to-day thoughts. Whatever thoughts we have in the daytime we get dreams according to them. If we are upset and don't have any peace during the day and we have all those thoughts during the day, so in our dreams also we have the same kind of unrest. We don't get any peace and we are still upset. That is why the Saints always say that one does not get any happiness from the dreams. If one has not done Simran during the daytime, if he has thought the worldly thoughts, and if he has remained perturbed and perplexed during the day thinking the worldly thoughts, then in the dreams also he will have the same kind of things which will keep peace away from him.

The Light of Ajaib

If during the daytime you do Simran and live up to the teachings of the Masters, you know that when you do the Simran of the Master, when you remember the Master, the Form of the Master will appear in your within by Himself. So if you have done the Simran and have thought about the Master during the daytime, in the nighttime also you will see the Master during your dreams. You will see the Form of the Master because when our soul has become peaceful and quiet during the daytime by doing the Simran, during the night the Master will pull our soul up into the higher planes. Many times He will show us glimpses of the inner world and many times He will make us pay off karmas in those planes. But since we do not do enough Simran during the daytime, since we do not think about the Master during the daytime, our mind has become very restless. That is why sometimes when the Master graciously pulls our soul up and shows us all the inner planes and He makes us pay off the karmas over there, even then, because of our restless mind, we think that it is just a dream and nothing else and we do not take enough advantage from that experience. But the souls who do the Simran during the daytime and think about the Master all day long, such souls are always taken up by the Master and a lot of their karmas are paid off. Master makes them pay off a lot of their karmas in that state also.

In the Punjab there is a village called Dina and Guru Gobind Singh had two disciples there whose names were Lakmir Singh and Shamir Singh. Guru Gobind Singh stayed with them for a long time and He was very pleased with their seva, so He wanted to give them something. Once He called for Lakmir and Shamir and told them, "I am very pleased with your seva and I want to give you something of a worldly nature also. So ask for anything and you will be given that."

Those dear ones were very devoted and they didn't want to ask for anything, but still Guru Gobind Singh was very pleased with their seva. He told Shamir Singh, "Whatever area you will cover with your horse will become yours. You will become the owner of all that territory." Now that was the grace of Master.

Shamir Singh's maternal uncle used to believe in Sakhi Sarver who was some past god or mahatma, whom he had never seen. Usually people believe in the past Saints and Mahatmas not knowing their reality because they had not seen them or they had not even heard about them firsthand, but it becomes like a tradition and they always go on worshipping them. So like that Shamir Singh's uncle used to worship Sakhi Sarver.

When Shamir Singh came to his home he told his uncle and his family, "Today my Master has become very pleased with me and He has told me that whatever area I will cover with my horse, that will become mine." Hearing that his uncle laughed and he said, "Well, what kind of Master is He? Up until now you have been spending a lot of money on Him, you have been taking care of Him and now, just by His saying, you will get all this territory, you will get all this land, how is that possible? This is not going to happen."

Shamir Singh did not want to upset his uncle, but at the same time he did not want to displease his Master either. He had told his Master's promise and since it was rejected by his uncle, he did not want to cover a whole lot of area using his horse. He was afraid it might displease the family because they thought it was not really true. He did not want to displease Guru Gobind Singh either, so he went around his village with his horse thinking that by doing this much, he would be able to please Guru Gobind Singh also.

The Light of Ajaib

After doing that he went back to his Master Guru Gobind Singh and told Him the whole story about how he had gone to his home and what his uncle had said about Guru Gobind Singh's blessings and Guru Gobind Singh's boon. Hearing that Guru Gobind Singh said, "Okay, you may ask for anything else and you will be given it."

Shamir Singh said, "Master, You know that I still have that uncle in my home and if You give me anything else of the worldly nature he is not going to accept that and he is not going to allow me to have that, so it is better, if You want to shower grace on me, that You should liberate me in this lifetime. I do not want to come back into this world anymore." Guru Gobind Singh said, "Okay, Shamir Singh you go and sleep." When he went to bed he saw that graciously his Master Guru Gobind Singh had pulled his soul up and his soul was sent into so many different bodies, so many different species and all the births which Shamir Singh's soul was supposed to take. He went into all those bodies, he went into all those births and after going through all the pains and difficulties and enjoying the happiness of the births which he was supposed to take, in the end he came in the form of a human being who was very poor. You know that most of the poor people have a lot of children, so Shamir Singh in that form also had a lot of children. In those days there was not such a good system of canals and things and people had to depend on the rain. It didn't rain, so there was drought and Shamir Singh in the form of that poor man who had many children went into the forest to pick some wild fruits for his children. He went up on a tree and was standing on a weak branch; suddenly that branch broke and he fell on the ground and at that time he had some fruit in his mouth.

He felt a lot of pain in his leg. When he felt a lot of pain he at once woke up from that sleep and in his mouth he found the skin of that fruit which he was picking for his children. So when he saw all that internally, since he was a meditator, he knew the reality of his Master and he knew that this was the grace of the Master. He was made to go through all the pains and things in the dream state and he had been made to go through all the different bodies and species in the dream state. So he at once went to his Master Guru Gobind Singh. It was nighttime and Guru Gobind Singh asked him, "Shamir Singh, what is the problem, why have you come so late in the night?"

Then Shamir Singh told him all that he had seen, all that he had gone through, and he told him how in the end he was born in that poor family and with so many children, how he had gone into the forest to pick the fruit and how he had fallen down from the tree. And he thanked his Master because graciously He had cut down all the pains of the births and deaths. In the dream state He had made him finish all the births and deaths and he was liberated in that lifetime.

So dear ones, those who do the meditation they know that when they are given such experiences, when they are given such grace of the Master, it is not a dream. People call those visions of the Master when they are asleep as dreams, but they are not dreams. Dreams of the worldly nature come only when our soul goes below the Eye Center, but when we have visions and experiences with the Master, at that time our soul is not below our Eye Center, our soul has been pulled above the Eye Center. Because the Master is very pure and very high and He never comes down in the nine openings.

QUESTION: I have a personal question. When Master Kirpal used to put us in meditation, afterwards He used to ask us what we saw inside. It used to make me very very strict with myself because He was going to ask me what I saw inside. I notice that You don't do that and I wanted to know why?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs.] It is the Will of the Saints. Guru Gobind Singh said, “All the Saints have Their own Will. They have different Wills. Even though They come from the same plane, even though Their meditation is the same, They come from the same Light, Their instruction is the same, but They have different Wills, They have different ways of doing things.”

Master Sawan Singh Ji also did not ask people about their experiences.

There is a reason why I do not ask you about what you have seen in the meditation. When Master Kirpal used to come to my ashram and when He used to initiate people, at the same time He would make some other people sit for meditation on a different side of the tent. And those people, while the Initiation was being given, would not sit for meditation as they were told by Master, but they would talk with each other and make jokes and things like that. When they knew that it was time for Master to come, at once they would sit up in meditation with their eyes closed, pretending they were meditating right from the beginning.

Afterwards when Master would tell them, “Okay, leave off please and sit comfortably.” He would ask them, “How many people saw stars, how many people saw moons . . .?” So the people who talked during the Initiation and did not meditate then, but closed their eyes only when Master was about to come back, those people would raise both their hands to show that they had seen stars, moons and things like that. Since I used to see all those things I felt very bad. I did not like it very much because I thought, “Why are these people deceiving the Master? Doesn’t Master know what they are seeing and what experience they are having?” So it affected my mind so much that since then I don’t like to ask people what they see.

It doesn’t mean that I don’t know about what you are doing in your meditation. I have complete knowledge about what people are doing in meditation and what they are seeing. But because of that one incident I do not feel comfortable asking people about their experiences, because I feel that sometimes people try to deceive the Masters by lying about what they have seen in the meditation.

1993 August: If One Wants to Progress on this Path

Session Date: August 22, 1977

This talk was from a series of group darshans given on August 22, 1977, at Sant Bani Ashram, at the end of Sant Ji 's First World Tour. The first part of Sant Ji's answer to this question was printed in the December 1991 issue.

QUESTION: Sant Ji talks about being in love with God, and for someone intensely in love with God there is no problem with sleep. I can understand that, however reaching that is another thing. . . . There seems to be a difference between having love which then makes you stay up meditating and just having an understanding which makes you stay up meditating. I’m wondering how to get from one to the other.

SANT JI: Baba Farid performed many practices to realize God: once He made a structure like a chapatti out of wood, and He tied that to His stomach. That was only not to eat. If anybody asked Him, “Do you want to eat some food?” He would say, “No, I have already eaten, and I am full, and you see whatever was left over I have tied that to my stomach so that I can eat next time.” In that way, for twelve years, He didn’t eat anything. Whenever He was getting much pain from hunger He would go to the trees and gust break off and eat some leaves of the tree. Someone had told Him that by keeping a fast He could realize God, but that was not true. After twelve years when He came back home, and His mother started coming His hair, He was feeling a lot of pain because He was so weak. He complained about that. His mother said, “Dear son, when you broke the leaves off the tree, the tree was also having the same type of pain. Instead of doing the devotion of God, you gave much pain to the His creation. That is not the true path or true way to realize God.” So after that He went to the Param Sants, the perfect Masters, and getting Initiation from Them and meditating on that, He also became a Param Sant.

I would tell you that if you are doing meditation, your body cannot have any defect and you will not have any disease, only because of doing meditation. If your soul is going within, after that, no matter if you don't eat for weeks, still not even hunger will have any bad effect on your body.

There was a dear one who was addicted to opium. Someone told him about a man who also had been addicted, how he left that addiction and his body didn't have any bad effect of leaving that intoxicant. But the dear one didn't believe that. He started searching for that man, who was living near our ashram. So in order to get to that village, that person had to come through our ashram also. He was an initiate of Master Sawan Singh. When he came there, I asked him, “Where are you going?” So he told me everything. “Somebody told me that there was one dear one who was addicted to opium and he left it. People say that he is alive and nothing wrong happened to his body. I want to make sure, because I also want to give up this bad habit.” I told him, “I know that man, and he left that, but nothing has happened to his body. Why do you need to travel for three more miles, I am telling you that you should go back and you also give up that habit.” But he said, “No, I can't believe it that way; I must go and see with my own eyes.”

When he went there, he saw that the person who had left the opium was in good condition. So he got a little bit of assurance and he also made up his mind to give up that addiction. He promised me that he would not take the opium again, and when he went back to his home everything was all right for a few days. He told his family that he had made a promise to me that he would never eat the opium again. His wife was very happy and they threw out all the opium so that he would not get tempted to use that again. But after a few days when the pains started coming, he couldn't bear that. He requested his wife, “I am having very much pain. Do something to remove this pain.” His wife was very strong and she said, “I don't want to give you the opium again; I want you to become free from this disease.” He said, “I am dying from this pain, and if I die who will take care of you? Who will support you and the children?” She was very firm and she knew that nothing was going to happen. So she said, “It's all right. If you die, I will take care of the children. Don't worry about us. But you should leave this bad habit because you have made the promise to the Master.”

After one more day, He said, “I am dying, I'm having a lot of pain. You are not worried about my death because you can find some other husband. But what about my children? Who will take care of them?” So when he was arguing and begging her, she couldn't stand it. She said, “Okay, do you want me to go and bring opium to you?” He said, “Yes, but I have made the promise that I will not eat the opium with my own hands, so you please give me that, and then I will not have the blame that I used it again.” [laughter]

So again he started using the drug. Later, when I went to visit him, I asked, “Well, dear one, how are you? Did you leave that habit?” He said, “Yes, I have left it completely, but my wife requested me to eat it. Because she was afraid that if I did not eat it, I would die, and that is why she is giving it to me again. But anyway I have left it from my side.” So this is the thing, when you will sit for meditation, and if any pain comes, you will request your family members, “Please make get up from meditation, otherwise I will die, and if I die who will take care of you?” [laughter]. You can do that, and you will do that maybe. But I will tell you, I will promise that nothing will go wrong with your body if you will do the meditation. The other thing is that all the dear ones should come to the Satsang and those who are initiated should never miss their meditation. They should always do their meditation.

QUESTION: Is it incorrect for a Satsangi to do agni hothra? [Pappu: “Agriculture?”] No. Agni hothra. It's a vedic fire ritual for cleaning the atmosphere and the mind.

SANT JI: You see, all other meditations or practices are lower than the practice which is shown or which is taught to you by the Master. To clean the mind, why don't you do the Simran which is taught to you by the Master? That is the best practice for cleaning the mind. Swami Ji Maharaj says, “When the aspirant comes in the protection of the Master, he should forget about all the karmas, all the deeds, whatever practices, rituals – whatever superstitions he was having before – he should give all that up. And after that, whatever practice Master is telling him to do, he should understand that as his religion, as his dharma [meritorious deeds]. What is the use of taking Initiation if we are still doing the other practices? If one wants to progress in this Path, he should always go on doing the practices of this Path. If he doesn't want to progress then he can do the other things also.

QUESTION: The other day in Satsang, Sant Ji spoke about the burning desire to know God, that He had it ever since He was young, and that it wouldn't leave Him no matter what happened in the world. I was wondering how one develops that burning desire to know God.

SANT JI: Well, it should be there from the very beginning. If I tell you, “Do Simran, and in that way you can develop that burning desire.” – that is not true, because when I had that burning desire, I didn't have any Simran to do; I didn't have any practice to do.

Who creates the desire in us to produce the children? Who creates the desire within us to enjoy lust? All the desires come from our within, and they are created by us. The desire for God is also created in the same way. Just as the desire to collect more wealth is not brought by somebody else and put in us, that also comes up from our within.

Within the man there are bad things and good things, and it is up to the man to choose. He should know what is the path which he has to choose, either of goodness or bad things. Just as all the worldly desires which I just mentioned are within us, in the same way, the desire to realize God is also within us. But we need to awaken it. It is up to us either to awaken the desire which will bring us back into the world or the desire which can make us realize God. It is up to us to awaken the desire. Truly speaking all the desires are within us, even the desire for realizing God.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, in one of the early Sant Bani Magazines, You talked about your diet and how simple it was. You said You always avoided sweets as much as possible, and I wanted to know if You had a special reason for it.

SANT JI: You see, if I had the love of the tastes of the tongue, it never would have been possible for me to come to the Path of God realization. My father was very much fond of eating very good foods. Daily he used to eat many types of vegetables and other things, and just as the great royal people eat many foods, in the same way, he would order many types of dishes, and on the table there would be many types of foods. He tried to give me that habit, with all his tricks. [laughter] But all his life, he remained a vegetarian, he never ate meat nor drank wine.

Here in this country it is the law or the rule that after getting a divorce one can remarry, in India also now the law is the same, but thirty or thirty-five years ago, there was no restriction: one could marry as many women as he would want. In that way, my father married four times, and all the four wives were alive. And the last marriage which he did was when he was very old, and he did that marriage only because that wife was a very good cook. And because he was fond of very good food, that is why he married that young woman.

But even then, he didn't have any peace of mind, even after eating so many good foods. So then I realized that no matter what food you eat, still you can't get peace of mind.

There was an initiate of Master Sawan Singh Ji whose name was Dharam Chand. He was a very advanced disciple, and because many people in my area were following me, when he came to see me, he asked me this question: "Are you a sadhu or a swadhu?" A swadhu is someone who is fond of many good foods. So he asked me, "Are you a sadhu or a swadhu?" At that time I had the knowledge of Two Words. Not only the knowledge, but with the grace of Baba Bishan Das, I was successful up to the Second Plane. But still I was below the state where one becomes a sadhu. There were many people sitting with me when he asked that question – so I told him in front of all those people, "I am neither a sadhu, because I have not attained that position or that plane, nor am I a swadhu. If I had been a swadhu why would I have left my home? In my home there was everything in abundance. My father was fond of very good food; and I could have stayed there and eaten and enjoyed the worldly things."

Last year I stayed for one month in Pappu's house. His mother is also very good at making food, and she has very good thoughts, and she likes to serve many very good dishes. So whenever she was serving me, she would make three or four dishes at a time. But there also I was taking only one dish. Now also I am fond of eating only simple food, only one vegetable or one dish at a time.

Hazur Kirpal's diet was also very simple; He was also pleased only eating chapattis and simple food.

QUESTION: Is it possible to learn a taste for an extremely simple diet while making a living preparing delicacies?

SANT JI: [There is laughter in the sangat, then an animated series of comments back and forth between Pappu and Sant Ji.] Yes. [more laughter]

In that you have to be patient. Only he is a brave man who has the patience. Even though he is seeing very many good foods in front of him, but still if he is a brave man he will not eat them.

In my childhood, once when I was about eight years old, my mother made some halvah parshad. She made many types of halvah, but I was not interested in the sweets, so I didn't eat that. My grandmother came; she was very old, and she came carrying a stick and coughing. She said, "Why are you not eating this halvah?" I said, "No, I don't want to eat that." She told me that if I did not eat the halvah, she would give me a beating with the stick. Then she said, "You have to eat this!" But I said, "No, I don't want to eat that." When she was pushing me very much to eat that, I told her lovingly, "You just look at my patience also. There are three types of halvah lying there, but still I don't want to eat that. The other people when they look at just one type of halvah, the water comes in their mouth, and they want to eat that. Just look at how patient I am." So she was very pleased hearing that, and she loved me very much.

The Light of Ajaib

Our dear Don Macken, when he went to Rajasthan, he was served the very good food, because the dear ones there made very good food, and he ate a lot. After the evening meditation, when I was asking about the people's meditation experiences, when his turn came he said, "I had my own problem, because the food was so good, that I couldn't stop eating, and that was why I was not very good at the meditation." So when the good food is in front of you, it is very hard to control yourself and have patience.

QUESTION: Does the drinking of tea before sitting for meditation have any effect on the mind, such as speeding it up, or making it restful?

SANT JI: You see, I didn't have any type of addiction like this, so how can I tell you about this?

The thing is: we have to sit and not do any other type of work. So why don't you sit for that time also that you use in making tea and drinking it? When you go to your work, then drink tea. What is the use of drinking tea before sitting?

So all of you should attend the Satsangs and those who are initiated should regularly do their meditation. Master Kirpal always emphasized very much the need for attending Satsang and doing the meditation. He used to say, "Give up thousands of works to sit in meditation, and leave hundreds of works to attend the Satsang."

[This ended the fourth session.]

QUESTION: How do You pronounce Your name?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji did something which made everyone laugh.] Ajaib [AH-JAAAB] Singh. [more laughter] This thing is that I never need to pronounce my name. [more laughter] But if anybody asks me, "What is your name?" Then I say this. [Sant Ji laughs, and jokes with Pappu.]

QUESTION: "Ajaib" in Turkish means wonderful, does it mean the same thing in Punjabi?

SANT JI: Yes. My parents gave me the name "Sadara Singh" which doesn't have any meaning. So when I came to Baba Bishan Das, He gave me the name "Ajaib because He told me, "The name 'Sadara Singh' doesn't have any meaning, and 'Ajaib' means wonderful and 'Singh' means lion." So He used to call me "Wonderful Lion." Master Kirpal gave me the name "Sant Ji."

QUESTION: I'm a teacher, how can I help the children to fulfill their destiny as human beings, as best as I can?

SANT JI: First of all the teachers need to make their character very high, very pure. And when they do that, their good character will have an influence on the children by itself.

In India, traditionally the teachers were always holy and chaste. They were having a very high and good character. So those who were going to them to study and get an education, they were also developing the same type of character. What is the condition nowadays? The teachers are not having a chaste and moral life, and they are spoiled. Those who go to them to get an education, they also spoil their character. So most of the children ruin themselves either in the schools or colleges.

In the old days education was such that the writings of the great Saints, Mahatmas, and holy men were included in the texts of the course which they were studying. So in that way the students were also learning a lot from those things. But nowadays bad novels and other writings are given in the courses, so reading that the students spoil their mind and they are scattered more in this world.

The Light of Ajaib

The weakness which has come into society nowadays has come only because of the teachers. The students are not getting the education which they need because of the lack of character in the teachers.

QUESTION: You gave one whole Satsang talking about the evils of criticism, and this morning You mentioned a little bit about the poison of praise. I was wondering if You could elaborate a little more on that and ways to avoid it.

SANT JI: Until the soul crosses the limits of mind and matter and becomes free of the three cages: physical, astral and causal cages, there is no question of avoiding the poison of the name and fame or praise of this world.

I have seen many people, those who are sitting on the dais talking about peace and silence. If they are hurt a little bit, all the teachings which they are teaching, that all goes away. And instead of peace, their mind starts bringing unrest within them. Outwardly they will pretend that they are not restless, but from inside the mind is boiling the anger or the unrest just like water or any other liquid boils.

This is my experience: in 1947 when India and Pakistan were made, I was in the army and we fought and won in that battle. So when we were coming back to our homes, we were welcomed by the committee of the Sikh people in the city of Amritsar, in the Punjab. We were welcomed there and they brought garlands. They were congratulating everybody and putting one garland on every soldier. But when my turn came, because they were putting a garland on everyone's neck, they did it to me also. But I requested them to put one more on my neck so that people would know that I was very good, and people would praise me more. But when I came to Master and I saw His condition, I learned a lot. Then I realized that until a man goes within he cannot become free from this problem.

I was the same man when I went to a village called 24 RB, and there somebody wanted to throw some flowers on me. When they did that, I was very much upset, and I told them, "Take care, don't do this again." I was very much displeased with them. I was the same man who was asking for the extra garland, before I realized what the bad effect of this is. Once in Ganga Nagar, the district collector, the superintendent of police, and other honorable people of high posts came to see Master. They all knew me and when they learned that my Master was coming, they all had the desire to see my Master also. They wanted to honor Him, because they already had much respect for me.

So when they came there, I introduced everybody to my Master, and they had many garlands and flowers and they wanted to garland Master. But when Master saw that basket full of garlands and flowers, before they could garland Him, He started taking the garlands and putting them around their necks. Then Master said, "You came here with the desire of garlanding me, but I also have that desire. I am also fond of respecting people." And in that way He respected them.

Many people have the habit of making the false humility, just outwardly. And from the within they are not even a little bit humble. That is also a very bad deception.

Until we go within and produce the real humility, the outward humility which we develop, or the peace which we get from it is just like the condition of that mahatma whom Master used to talk about named Sheetal Das. He went to one village where a man named Suthra Shah lived; he was an initiate of Guru Har Gobind, the sixth Guru. He was a very fearless man. Suthra asked him, "Mahatma Ji, what is your name?" He replied, "Sheetal Das." (That means the servant of cold.) After a few days, Suthra went to him, and asked him to give him some fire. He said, "I don't have any fire with me." After a few minutes, again Suthra Shah asked him, “Mahatma Ji, give me some fire.” He said, “I have told you that I don’t have any fire, so you go. I don’t have any fire.” Again for a third time, Suthra Shah went to him and said, “Mahatma Ji, please give me some fire.” So he got very angry, and he said, “I have told you that I don’t have any fire with me, why are you coming and disturbing me.” In that way he got very angry and, taking his thongs, he got up and tried to give a beating to Suthra. Then Suthra said, “Mahatma Ji, you were saying that you didn’t have any fire. But how is it that these flames are coming out of you. You are taking out the flames of the fire of anger, so how is that?” So until we go within and develop real humility and until we get real peace, the outward humility which we are showing, that proves false, when such incidents happen. If anyone comes to test us, he learns our real qualities.

QUESTION: I read Your article about marriage. I was wondering if you would elaborate more on the criteria for choosing a companion?

SANT JI: Well, there is no other criterion for choosing a companion. This is not like putting a thermometer in and reading the temperature. [laughter] You can know about your companion only when you will deal with her or with him. Until then you cannot know how he or she is.

. . . So now I am requesting all the dear ones that they should do their meditation regularly without missing that. Our Beloved Master Kirpal used to say that you should attend the Satsang even at the cost of hundreds of works, and you should sit for mediation even at the cost of thousands of works. I came here only to give out His message. And that is that He is waiting within us for everybody. Stretching both His arms, He is calling us to come back. Just as He is waiting for us to come back, in the same way we should also have the desire to go and see Him. So I am requesting everybody to do their meditations more and more, and moreover they should make their life very pure and high, because until you make the pure life, you cannot progress and you cannot go within to see Him.

And Satsangi’s defense of meditation is a good thing. It is very good to develop the environment of Satsang and to keep ourselves in that.

Kabir Sahib had said, “If Lord Indra, the god of rain, showers for one minute, it is equal to the amount of water which is taken out from a well in a whole year.” In the same way, the minute which you have spent in Satsang is equivalent to the Simran which you have done for fifty years.

[This ended the fifth session.]

QUESTION: Where I live in Ontario, I’m the only person, and about 80 miles east there are two or three Satsangis and about fifty miles east of that there are three more. We have just met here, and we want to get a Satsang together. I wondered if you have any suggestions about that and about starting a Satsang when we’re so far apart?

SANT JI: In the Satsang you should give much emphasis on doing the meditation. Before starting Satsang, always sit for meditation. Always keep your Satsang pure and high, and free from all types of criticism and slanders.

QUESTION: I heard from someone that Sant Ji said in Colombia that He had decided that all His initiates would go to Sach Khand this lifetime. This is frightening in one way, because I realize that I will have to be very brave. But it made me happy in another way. I was wondering if Sant Ji really said this, and if it is true?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: All the Masters Who come into this world They all make this decision. Because Saints always try not to give another lifetime to Their disciples. If the disciple has a little bit of lacking then also They do not give them another birth, keeping him on the inner planes that lacking is removed and then he is taken above.

QUESTION: In our part of the country there are quite a few fruit trees which are either abandoned, or they are commercial groves which have been picked once . . . If we ask the owners they will usually give permission to pick that fruit. Is there a karmic debt connected with that? Also a similar situation: in a lot of construction projects they throw away lumber. I once built a cabin almost completely from discarded lumber which I got permission to haul away. Is there a karmic debt from that?

SANT JI: You see one who gives you something, definitely you will owe him a debt. How can you understand that thing as free of charge? The one who has made that lumber or fruit, he has worked somewhat on that, he has also spent some money or some time on that. He also wants the fruit of his effort or his working. So one who is giving to you, definitely you will have to give to him directly or indirectly. When the Satsangis meditate then they realize how even the small things also affect the meditation very badly, because even a little bit of money which is earned by dishonest means that also affects very badly. Who knows how that person has earned the money, or how he has grown the fruit, how he has bought that lumber, the one who is giving it to you?

There was an old woman who was initiated on the Path. She used to go very high in meditation. Suddenly a change came in her meditation and she started losing all the experiences which she had gained. She was very confused as to why this change had happened. She was earning her livelihood by honest means – many old ladies in India spin thread in their home – she also used to do the same thing. She was chaste and everything was fine, but she was confused as to how that change had come and why she was losing in the meditation.

Once a mahatma came there and she asked him to help her find out why the change had happened. The mahatma asked her many questions about her livelihood, about her chaste life and everything about her practices. Then he said, “Everything is all right, but something is causing this bad effect on your meditations. I would like to spend one night at your home and then I will tell you what the problem is.” When the mahatma came he saw that in the neighborhood of that old woman, there was a prostitute living. The window of the prostitute’s house was near the window of the old woman. The prostitute had a big lantern which gave a very brilliant light. When the old woman started doing her work, she turned on her own small lamp and used its light to do her work, but as soon as the prostitute lighted her big lantern and hung that in her window its light shown in the window of the old lady. Then the old woman turned off her own lamp, and did her work using the light from the prostitute’s lantern.

The next morning the Mahatma told her, “You are doing everything correctly except for one thing: you are using the light of the lantern which is burning in the prostitute’s house. You know how she is earning her money and how she has bought the lantern and the fuel which she burns in that. You should stop using the light of her lantern and everything will be all right.” So after that she always kept her own light burning even if the light was burning in the prostitute’s window. And after a few days everything in her meditation was all right again.

So if you ask for the fruit or the discarded lumber, the person will give it to you understanding you as a poor person. In one sense he will be donating. And one who donates, definitely he will get the fruit of that. So if you cannot pay the full price, at least you should pay a little bit. Who knows what his intention is in giving that donation to you? or what he is expecting as his reward?

In our ashram we needed some empty bags, the kind in which they carry cement. Afterwards they sell them and people use them as the carpet. In our ashram we had things like that. So once I sent Mastana Ji (Bachan Singh) to Raisingh Nagar to buy some. When the merchant who was selling them knew that he wanted them for the ashram, for the holy cause, he wanted to give them for free. But because he was a non-initiate, I had told Bachan Singh, “You should pay him at least a little bit. You should not take that free of charge, because who knows what bad things he may have done to earn that money, and who knows what he will be expecting in reward for that donation. And because he is not initiated we should not accept that donation. Because if our own sangat spends their own money for their own comfort they will not lose out, but if they take the donations of the non-initiates they will have to pay for that and in that way they can lose a lot.

In our ashram we have made this rule: if there is any Satsangi he can donate even one pound of flour for the langar or anything he likes, but if a non-Satsangi comes there, even carrying thousands or millions of rupees we never accept that. Lovingly we tell them, “We love you very much, but we don’t need this.”

Master Kirpal also had this principle and Master Sawan Singh also did the same.

That is why it is emphasized very much for the Satsangis to earn their livelihood by honest means, and the money which they have earned by honest means, when they donate it, that donation is also good and honest, and when the other Satsangis eat that food it doesn’t have any bad effects. A Satsangi should never accept anything from anybody without paying him something. He should pay a little or a lot, but he should pay.

QUESTION: What if we accept a gift from a relative – our parents, a sister or brother – either of money or a material object? Is that all right for us to do? Or should we refuse it if they are not initiated?

SANT JI: Well, they are your parents, and relatives, and it is their responsibility to give you what you need or what they feel like giving. They have given a lot to you ever since you were born, so it doesn’t matter.

QUESTION: What about government grants for artists who might otherwise not be able to continue their work as an artist without the grant?

SANT JI: Whether you are getting money from the government or any other person, if that is not earned by you, you will have to give something in return for that. You will have to carry a little bit of karmas of those who have donated or contributed that money.

When the drought came in our area, some international organization set up a fund, and many governments gave a lot of money to that. So those who donated that money, they will definitely get the fruit, some reward for that. But those who are eating because of that money they will have to give something. Whatever donation one makes, or whatever contribution one makes, definitely he gets the fruit of that.

Guru Nanak Sahib said, “Without giving and taking, you cannot finish the karmas.” If you will eat anybody’s food or anything, knowingly or unknowingly, if it is not your own, and if you are not supposed to have that, definitely you will have to pay for that.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: What about inherited wealth, like if you inherited a large amount of money at birth. We are supposed to live on our honest earnings, so what about money that was given by relatives, I don't mean just gifts, I mean large amounts of money. Would it be better just to live on your own earnings, rather than be dependent upon something you didn't earn, even if it was granted to you by your father?

SANT JI: Well, you should not think about these things in such a subtle manner, such a final way, if you want to practice Sant Mat. If you will go into this much depth on all these matters it will be very difficult for you to live in this world.

The main thing I have told you is to earn your livelihood by honest means. It is the duty of the child not to be a burden on his parents forever. He should also earn something of his own.

Because if we will be a burden on our parents, moreover we are already a burden on our Master, so how can we remove that burden from our Master, if we are eating the money of our parents, if we are not earning our own? Darshan Singh, the brother of Pathi Ji, and Pathi Ji, both of them work like priests in the wedding ceremonies, because in our area there is no other man who can do this work. So if there is a wedding people always invite them to do it. So I have always told them, "You should not accept any donation or gift when you are doing the wedding ceremonies, because it will have a bad effect on your meditation." So they are not doing that.

But once it so happened that Darshan Singh, Pathi's younger brother went there, that was the first time, and even though he remembered what I had told him, still after the wedding ceremony was over, they served halvah and tea and he ate that. He ate and his stomach was full. After he came home and sat for meditation, he couldn't go up in meditation where he used to go. The only one who realizes this fault, this effect, of eating the thing that is not earned by oneself, is the one who does meditation, and one who knows how far he goes in meditation. So when he sat for meditation, he couldn't go up to that place. At that time I was in 16 PS, so he came there, traveling for many miles on a cycle. He told me, "All my progress in meditation is stopped." So I asked him, "What did you do last time?" He told me everything. I asked him, "Why did you do that?" He said, "I didn't accept any donation, but they served halvah and everyone was eating and I also ate that." I said, "Were you not getting tea and food in your own home? You should have waited, and after you went home you could have eaten." So then he realized that even the food you eat after doing selfless service can affect your meditation. So you can imagine about the other things.

It is a pity that we are not going within, otherwise we would know which is the thing which is stopping our progress, which are the bad habits which are affecting our meditation. If we know that then we can remove them.

If you will eat the poison, little or more, always it will work. If you eat a little poison, it will not take your life, but still it will bring out some defect in your body; if you eat more poison it will definitely bring death to you. In the same way, if you eat the food made by the money which is not earned by our own self, definitely it will have an effect.

A practice of donation is in every religion. In the Muslim religion also it is the practice that one should give forty percent of his income to the holy causes. In the Hindu religion it is a tithe, or ten percent.

Why is that? Kabir Sahib has said, "When more water is coming into your boat, and in the same way when more money is coming into your home, you should throw out that wealth or water with both your hands. If you do not do that, if you are sailing in the boat, and water comes into the boat, you will drown in that. In the same way, if you will not give out the donation in the name of God, you can drown in this ocean of life.” So only he is a wise man who does that. All the Masters Who came in the past, They all earned Their livelihood by the honest means. They always emphasized to Their disciples the importance of doing that, and moreover They have donated also, and from Their own income They do the service of the langar and the Satsang. That’s why we should never try to eat anybody’s food without paying him anything. If we don’t have money at that time, we should do a little bit of work for him.

[This ended the sixth and last session.]

1993 September: To Obey the Orders of the Master

Session Date: July 16, 1993

This question and answer session was given in Bangalore, India, on July 16, 1993.

SANT JI: Salutations to Beloved Lords Sawan and Kirpal. They showered so much grace upon us. Leaving Their home, Sach Khand, They came down into this world of suffering to liberate us from this deep well of suffering. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to call this world as a deep well of sufferings. Showering so much grace upon us, our Beloved Lords came into this world to liberate us. A person who teaches a parrot to speak words sits behind a mirror; he says the words and the parrot imitates him. The parrot thinks that there is no one there to teach him and that he himself is learning it. So in that way, from behind the curtain, our Master taught us so many things. Graciously He explained to us every single thing, in detail, but because of our mind – since it is the habit of the mind to create doubts and ask questions – we keep having doubts and questions, even though the Masters have often said, “This is the Path of doing; this is not the Path of reasoning or asking questions.”

If we were to go within then all our questions would be answered, because when we go within the Inner Path becomes as clear as an open book.

Maharaj Ji used to say, “The teacher has his own responsibilities and duties to perform and, in the same way, the student also has certain duties or responsibilities to attend to.”

In the same way the disciples in this Path of the Masters have been given only that job which they can easily do and that is the job of doing the Bhajan and Simran. When the disciples perform their duties well the Master does not hesitate, He does not wait even for a minute, while performing His duties.

Okay now you can ask your questions.

QUESTION: Master forgive me for asking You this question. On one occasion when Master Kirpal was in Bogota, after one of His talks I didn’t realize, or I wasn’t aware, that people had been asked to close their eyes, and then I realized that everyone had their eyes closed except myself. So I kept on looking at the Master and in a very fascinating way Master Kirpal started transforming or becoming different Saints. My question is: Why do the Saints request us to close our eyes when we are in front of Them? Wouldn’t it be better to remain with our eyes wide open when we are in front of the Master as I did in 1972 with Master Kirpal Singh?

SANT JI: It is possible that many other dear ones may be having this question, or that this question may be coming up in their minds again and again. It is a very interesting question and you should listen to the answer to this question with much attention.

The Light of Ajaib

Just as a child who goes to school is an ignorant one – he doesn't know anything – if he is told not to read the books but only to look at them, he will never learn anything. Of course he will get this pride or ego that he has been going to the school for so many years, but in fact he will learn nothing.

In this way, first of all it is very important to obey what the Master says. Often I have said that I got the habit of obeying the commandments and keeping the discipline of the time and other things from the army, because in the army it is a rule that first you carry out the work which you have been given, first you obey the orders, and later on if you have any doubts or questions you can ask them.

It was only because of this habit of obeying the orders and keeping the discipline that when Master Kirpal Singh, after making a very long journey, came to my ashram I was able to obey Him. For twenty-five years of His life, Master Kirpal Singh Ji went on giving the teachings to the people. In the same way, Master Sawan Singh also spent forty-five years of His life and He came to give the teachings to the people. But the question is: how many people were ready to receive what They had to offer and how many people actually received from Them what They had come to give? People got the grace from the Masters according to their receptivity, according to the vessels they had made for it.

Many times we see the dear ones who are recently initiated; they come to the Master, they come into the Master's presence, and they get their cups filled up with the grace and they become intoxicated. We can see how much they feel intoxicated, we don't see that kind of intoxication in many dear ones who have been initiated thirty or forty years ago. This is because every soul has a background. The dear ones who have been initiated for a very long time have a lot of karma, some of them have a lot of burden, a lot of karmas to be paid off to the Negative Power. Even though the Light and Sound are present within them, still they are not able to see the Light or hear the Sound because they are still paying off the karmas of the Negative Power. This doesn't mean that they will never see the Light or hear the Sound or that they will always continue paying off the karmas. If they develop receptivity and obey the instructions of the Master, if they do their meditation with love and faith, they can also pay off their karmas very quickly. They can also see the Light and feel intoxicated in the same way as the other dear ones.

Often I have said that for a true disciple, for a true dear one, the coming of a true sincere soul near the Master is like bringing dry gunpowder in contact with fire. Just as it takes time to dry damp gunpowder, in the same way, if the disciple is not prepared, then it takes time for him to develop receptivity. It is as if there is a lamp which has a clean glass, it is filled with oil, and the wick is there and the match stick is there – it just takes a second to strike the match stick and the light is on. But if the lamp is not put together, it takes time; first we have to put it together and then we can light it up.

In the same way, the souls who have prepared themselves, and the souls who have good karmas in their background – it is possible that they may have met with the Master in their earlier days – so when those souls come in contact with the Master, since they are already prepared, it doesn't take much time for them to develop receptivity and get grace and intoxication from the Master.

This has been published earlier in Sant Bani Magazine and you can understand the answer to this question if you read about my life. You know that right from my childhood I always had the feeling that I had lost something. I did not know what it was, but I would always wonder, "Will I ever get that thing which I feel I have lost?" It was only because of that feeling that I came in contact with Baba Bishan Das.

The Light of Ajaib

I have said a lot about Baba Bishan Das, that he was a very strict Mahatma. Even though he belonged to the royal family of the state of Nabha in Punjab and he had all the facilities – he could have lived a very comfortable life – still he preferred to live a very hard life. He was a learned scholar of that time, but still he did all sorts of austerities, he did all sorts of things only in search of God. What have our Masters taught us? That this Path is the Path of doing the practices in an easy way, in a natural way; this is not the Path of doing the strict practices.

When Baba Bishan Das went to Baba Amolak Das, who was not a very learned scholar as Baba Bishan Das was, he did not ask Him any questions, he did not mention any book or anything like that, he only said, “Master, please liberate me from this hell.”

Baba Amolak Das then ordered him to bring thorny bushes from the wilderness and make a fence in an area which did not belong to Baba Amolak Das and which did not have any crop or anything which needed any protection. Still Baba Amolak Das ordered Baba Bishan Das to do that job. For a month and a half Baba Bishan Das went into the jungle, brought thorny bushes, and made a fence. Only after Baba Bishan Das had obeyed and followed that order of Baba Amolak Das, did Baba Amolak Das give him the Initiation into the first Two Words and teach him to meditate.

When Master Sawan Singh was stationed at the Murree Hills, His beloved Gurudev, Baba Jaimal Singh traveled a lot and went to Murree Hills to find Baba Sawan Singh. Wasn't there anyone on the way to whom Baba Jaimal Singh could have given Initiation? Baba Jaimal Singh went all the way to Murree Hills to find Baba Sawan Singh because he had a past connection with Him.

In the same way, seven years before Master Kirpal Singh physically met Baba Sawan Singh, Master Kirpal Singh was seeing Him within, in his meditation. Wasn't there anyone else for Baba Sawan Singh to whom He could have given His Darshan? No, it was only because of the past connection between Baba Sawan Singh and Master Kirpal Singh that He appeared in him seven years before He met him physically.

In the same way, this poor soul who is sitting in front of you had neither heard any criticism nor any praise of Master Kirpal Singh. But one year before I met with Master Kirpal Singh physically He started coming within me in the Form of Swami Ji Maharaj; He had short hair and His moustache was also trimmed. Only a few days before I met Him physically, He started coming within me in His actual Form.

When I met Him I said, “O True Lord, this is how You used to appear within me.”

He said, “This is all because of the grace of Master Sawan Singh.”

It is very difficult to understand a Saint and it is very difficult to understand the words or teachings of the Masters. This is where the learned people make mistakes. Tulsi Sahib has said, “If anyone claims that he has understood the Master, God forbid, I touch my ears. It is not possible.”

Now I am coming back to your question, I have tried to make it very brief and all that I have said was important because it was related to the question.

You know, as I have often said, when Master Kirpal Singh came to my ashram, He told people, “Those who want to see God should close their eyes.” Now this is something you should think about patiently, pay attention to it. He said that those who want to see God should close their eyes. Everyone closed their eyes except me, because what I understood from Him was that He was saying that those who want to see God should close their eyes. Some people even complained to Master Kirpal that I was not closing my eyes.

You know that the soul who has been yearning for God Almighty from his previous births and also from this birth, if he has spent most of his life in searching for God Almighty, and if his yearning is very strong, when he gets an opportunity to be in the Presence of God Almighty, you can understand what he will do at that time. On such a soul God Almighty also showers His grace, Master also showers His grace. So that is why, when people complained to Master Kirpal that I was not closing my eyes, I said, “Master, You have said that those who want to see God should close their eyes. But when I can see God Almighty in front of me without closing my eyes, then what is the use of closing my eyes?”

Now this is something that one can say only if he has the grace of the Master. Because to believe in any human being that he is God Almighty is very difficult. One gets this understanding, one gets this belief, only if that Master Himself showers grace upon that soul.

This was the experience which I had on my very first meeting with my Master: There was one person there who was not a Satsangi; he said, “This Master is not a human being; He is not a man. He has just assumed the body of a man but in fact he is God.” He said that he could see the Light in Him.

So dear ones this understanding comes only to those souls whose vessel is prepared, who are receptive, and this happens only if the Master Himself showers His grace upon them.

All of you know about Seth Hiralal [Pappu’s father]; he was an initiate of Master Kirpal Singh. When Master Kirpal Singh left His body of five elements, left this physical world – you know that when the Masters leave Their bodies always there is some trouble afterwards amongst Their disciples. So because of that, Hiralal did not continue going to the Satsangs, instead he started going to a Gurdwara: Gungasahib Gurdwara.

When it came in the Will of Lord Kirpal that I should go to Delhi, even though I did not know anyone in Delhi, because I had been sitting underground and spending my life like that. But it was in the Will of Lord Kirpal that I should come out, and I went to Delhi. So when I went to Delhi I did not know anyone, but when I stayed with Hiralal, even at that time he used to visit Gungasahib Gurdwara. So when he realized, when he understood the reality, he came and he fell at my feet. You could have read in the magazine about when he left his body.

So the meaning of this is that those who have understood the reality of the Master, who have understood the grace of the Master and the importance of Satsang, they can never leave it. They always realize the Master; they always understand the Master as the Master is.

Hiralal used to say, “Masters say that They do not perform miracles, but it is my experience that Masters do nothing but perform the miracles.”

So dear ones, those who have such firm faith and determination, they become receptive to the grace of the Master. Even among you there are many dear ones who have had such experiences, and they tell me about them when they come to see me in the private darshans.

The question was about seeing or looking at the Master with your eyes open. You know all these Masters Whom I have mentioned and Whose examples I have given to you, They looked at Their Masters as Baba Sawan Singh looked at Baba Jaimal Singh. He saw Master Jaimal Singh a lot, but He also did what Baba Jaimal Singh told Him to do.

The Light of Ajaib

Baba Sawan Singh worked very hard in meditation. Whenever He would be bothered by sleep, He would stand up. He had made a wooden stand which was called a beragan, and standing with the support of that beragan He used to meditate. He would stand all night and meditate like that. For many days He would not come out of the meditation room. He worked very hard in His meditation according to the orders of His Master Baba Jaimal Singh.

Master Kirpal Singh had made the bank of the River Ravi the place for His meditation. He would go there and He would stand in the waters of River Ravi and He would meditate like that. He also saw His Master, Baba Sawan Singh, with His open eyes, but He also did what Baba Sawan Singh asked Him to do.

In the same way, I also got many opportunities to behold my beautiful Lord, I saw Him with my open eyes, but He made me sit underground for five years and He made me do the meditation.

Why are we asked to close our eyes and do the meditation? It is because our Master wants us to see the Reality in our within so that we may not lose our faith. Because if we have not seen the Reality, the Real Form of the Master within, then it is possible that if a few people would criticize our Master we would lose faith in Him. But if we have seen our Master within, then no matter what people say, whether they criticize Him or praise Him, they do not affect us, because we know what our Master is.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “It is like this: if you have seen a bullock with your own eyes, no matter if the whole world says that it is not a bullock, that it is some other animal, still you would not believe them.”

In the same way, if we have seen our Master within then it doesn't matter what other people may say about Him because then our faith will remain strong all the time.

So Kabir Sahib says, “First of all you become the perfect ones. Once you have become the perfect ones, then it doesn't matter if your eyes are open or closed, because when you have manifested His Form within you, when you have seen Him within, afterwards wherever you look, you will see only His Form, because that enchanting, attractive Form of the Master will never leave you.”

Kabir Sahib had said, “Neither do I close my eyes nor do I plug my ears, I don't even give pain to my body. With my open eyes, happily I have the darshan of my beloved Lord.”

We get enough time and opportunity to have the darshan of the Master during the Satsangs or when the Master is walking by us. We should try to take advantage of that time; we should fill ourselves up with that darshan.

Earlier also I told you the story of Mana who was an initiate of Guru Arjan Dev Maharaj. We should not follow the example of Mana. Mana was such a disciple who would not do anything in the langar, he would only eat from the langar but he would not clean the vessels, he would not clean the floor, he would not do any seva. When the people in charge would tell him that he should do this or that seva he would say, “No, I will not obey my equals! I will do only what my Master will tell me.”

So the dear ones complained to Guru Arjan Dev about Mana. Masters know everything about what the dear ones have in their heart and Guru Arjan Dev knew that Mana would not even obey the order of his Master. So Guru Arjan Dev called him and He told him, “Okay, go out into the jungle, collect some wood, burn the fire and you sit in that fire.”

Mana said, “Okay, I will do that because it is Your order.” He thought that it was very easy. He went into the jungle, collected some wood and he even started the fire, but he did not have the courage to get into that fire. When he felt the heat he was frightened and he just went around and around the fire.

Then a robber, or thief, came there who had a lot of stolen wealth from some rich person’s home. He knew the police were chasing him, and when he came near where Mana was burning the fire, he asked, “O man of God, what are you doing in this wilderness, in front of this fire?”

Mana told him the whole story. So that thief told him, “Okay, why don’t you take all the wealth which I have, and you transfer or give me the order of your Master?”

That dear one, that thief, appreciated and obeyed the order of Guru Arjan Dev even though it was not given to him. He got it from Mana and in that way he was liberated. Whereas when Mana was coming towards his home carrying all that wealth, the police came, and you know that the person who has all the stolen goods is considered to be the thief, so he was arrested and he was punished for that.

So we should not follow the example of Mana we should do what our Master tells us to do. If the Master tells us to cut the grass, we should do it. If the Master tells us to fetch the water, we should do it. Whatever our Master tells us to do, we should do it. It is always beneficial for us to obey the orders of the Master exactly in the way He has given them to us.

All of you please close your eyes and start meditating.

1993 October: Master Has Determined to Take the Disciples Back

Session Date: March 30, 1986

This question and answer session was given March 30, 1986, at Sant Bani Ashram, in Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: I have two questions, really. I heard once that Master Kirpal was talking to an initiate and He had the book The Wheel of Life in His hands; He tossed it aside saying, “My initiates will never come back”; and I was wondering if He really said that? I know that He could do whatever He wills with us; but I wonder if He really said it?

The other question is: You’ve talked before about the inner planes and, in fact, have given whole Satsangs on what the inner planes are like, but I wondered if You would talk a little bit about what goes on in the inner planes and what do we do there?

SANT JI: Whatever Param Sant Maharaj Kirpal said, that is correct, that is true; because all the Param Sants, the Perfect Masters, Who come to this plane, always try Their best and They do not want Their disciples to come to this plane again and again.

You can convince yourself by reading the Anurag Sagar [The Ocean of Love] in which you will find the story of Supach, the Valmik. In order to liberate him, Kabir Sahib had to take so many bodies, so many births, yet He came to liberate him. Supach was the one who later on came as Dharam Das.

There is a story which happened in the lifetime of Guru Nanak Dev Ji. He had a disciple; but he would not do the devotion as instructed by Guru Nanak, even though Guru Nanak used to visit him very often. He was always busy doing his worldly work. He would only bother his sons and always worry for the family, but he would never devote any time to the devotion of God. Guru Nanak Sahib always used to tell him, “All those things are not going to go with you. You should do the devotion of the Lord; otherwise you will have to come back into this world.” But that person did not pay any attention to the teachings of the Master, and he remained attached to the family and the business of the world.

You know that you cannot win the business of the world, but the business of the world will defeat you. They always have the upper hand. There is no one in this world who has completed all of his businesses. So, according to that, since he was attached to the businesses and the things of the world and to his family, and since he did not do the devotion of the Lord – he did not pay any attention to the teachings of the Master – he came back into this world after he left the body, because death does not wait for anyone. When his time came, and he left the human body, he came back into the same family; and this time he came as a bullock, because he was attached to his sons, his family and the business of the family.

When he came in the body of the bullock, Guru Nanak Dev Ji Maharaj again came to that house and He told him in his ear, “Dear one, now you have come back in this body of the bullock. At least now you should pay attention to what I am telling you. You should do the devotion of the Lord. You have got the Initiation; you should do the devotion of the Lord, and, in that way, get rid of this suffering world.”

But he said, “No, how can I do that? How can I not pay any attention to my family? I am the strong bullock of the pair, and the other bullock is not very strong, so I have to do all the work. My children are not very well-to-do. If I will not work for them, who will work for them and who will feed them?”

Since he was so attached to them, he did not want to give up the attachment; he did not want to listen to Guru Nanak.

Anyway, after suffering in the body of the bullock, when his time came to leave that body, he left that body but was still very attached to that family and to his sons and grandsons. So again, according to the law of attachment – that wherever you are attached you go there – he went back to the same family in the body of a dog. When he came in the body of the dog, Guru Nanak Dev Ji Maharaj, Who was all-conscious, again came to him and told him, “Dear one, now you have come back once again to this family. Now you should give up the attachment to this family and do the devotion of God.”

But he said, “Master, You know that my children are lazy. They sleep all night long; they sleep very deeply and they do not know what is going to happen. If I am not here to guard their home, You know that the thieves will come and they will plunder all the wealth. So I stay here, I growl, I bark, all night long and I keep a guard against the thieves. If I am not here, then who will take care of them?” He did not want to give up looking after the family, so Guru Nanak Dev again went back. Once it so happened that a boy in the family stepped on the tail of that dog, and the dog got upset; so that boy hit him with a stick and he broke his back. Still, the dog did not want to give up the attachment to that family. With his broken back, still he would guard the home and he remained there.

After some time, he left that body also, after a great deal of suffering in that body. But still he was attached to that family, so he came back in the same house in the body of a snake. Once it so happened that everyone in the family had gone out leaving a young child in the home. And that young child was not used to being left alone. Suddenly, when he woke up, he looked for his mother, and then he started weeping.

That old man who was there forgot that he was in the body of a snake; and because of his attachment to the grandson, he at once went to that young boy and started caressing him. Suddenly the door opened and everyone in the family came back. They were surprised and terrified to see a snake with the boy and they thought that the snake was going to kill the boy. At once they called some other people who beat the snake to death with sticks. But even after getting that kind of treatment, and even after leaving the body of the snake, he still did not want to give up the attachment.

Again he came back into the same home, this time in the body of a worm. When he was born in the body of a worm, at that time, Guru Nanak Sahib was touring with His disciples Bala and Mardana. When he came in the body of a worm, Guru Nanak Sahib started laughing suddenly. Bala and Mardana asked Guru Nanak why He was laughing that way. He told them the whole story and said, "We have gone there many times to explain to that dear one about the devotion of God; let us go there once again. Maybe this time he will understand and he will do the devotion of the Lord and will get the liberation from this suffering world."

Masters Who have given the Initiation are always worried for Their disciples and They always try Their best to make the disciples understand that this is not their real home and that they should do the devotion of the Lord if they want to get the liberation from this suffering world. So because of that promise which the Masters have made to the disciples, They always come again and again and They always try to explain to the disciples about the devotion of God.

So, like that, Guru Nanak Sahib came to that home again and He told His disciple Mardana to take out that worm from that dirty place. And with His inner grace He took him to the inner planes. He made him do the devotion there and finally He gave him the liberation.

So the meaning of this story is that Master always tries His best. First He will try to tell us verbally; He will try to explain to us outwardly that we should do the devotion of the Lord and we should not wait for another lifetime to get liberation. We should do it in this lifetime.

Now, replying to your question, Masters are determined that They will liberate all the souls, all the Initiates whom They have initiated, and that is why They always tell us that we should do the devotion of God. Neither the Master should wait for the next lifetime nor should the disciple wait for another lifetime. They should do whatever they are supposed to do in this lifetime, because, according to that soul, that old man who was initiated by Guru Nanak Dev Ji Maharaj, if he had done the devotion of the Lord when he was in the human body, if he had obeyed the instructions, if he had followed the orders of Guru Nanak Dev Ji Maharaj when he was in the human body; he would not have gone into the other lower bodies and he would not have suffered so much.

Because he did not obey the instructions of the Master in the human birth, that is why he had to come back again and again into this world. Because he was attached to the world, Master also had to come again and again, and He had to work harder for him. So that is why, even though Masters are determined to take the disciples back to the Real Home in this lifetime, the disciples also have some duties to perform. They should not wait for the next lifetime. As the Master is determined to liberate the disciples in this lifetime, in the same way, the disciples should also do their part.

When Mansa Singh, a dear one who lives in Calgary, got Initiation he thought that his father should also get the Holy Initiation in this lifetime because his father was devoted to the sadhus and saints. His father used to go to see the holy men and he was also interested in doing the devotion of the Lord. Because Mama Singh had realized the glory of Naam, that is why he wanted his father also to get the Naam Initiation. He wanted that he should not remain in this lifetime without the Naam Initiation.

So when his friend Gurmel Singh Grewal and his wife went to India in order to visit their family, he told them that they should take his father to 77 RB and somehow get him initiated. When Gurmel Singh Grewal and his wife brought Mansa Singh's father to me in 77 RB, I talked to him and at that time I felt that he was not ready for the Initiation. So, in order to make him ready for the Initiation, I did not accept him right away. I told him, "You will have to wait for some more time and then you will get the Initiation."

Since he was a very dear, devoted soul, when he was not accepted, the yearning increased within him and then he became prepared for the holy Initiation. This was the only way to bring him to the Path; this was the only way to prepare him for the holy Initiation. If I had accepted him right away, it was possible that he would not have become as prepared as he became later on.

Anyway, when he got the Initiation, since he had a hard time hearing and I could not speak aloud about the Initiation to him, and since I saw that there was no need of explaining the theory to him in detail, that is why, with the help of Gurmel Singh Grewal, I gave him the Initiation. Still I had to explain a couple of things to him; I had to make him learn the Simran. So Gurmel Singh spoke the Simran loudly and after he had made him learn that Simran, after that when he sat for the meditation just after a little bit he started seeing the light and he became very happy. At once he took out a five rupee note from his pocket and he offered that to me. In India, if you bow down to a "Saint" or a "Master" without offering any money or something like that, it is considered to be a bad thing. So he thought that I am also a saint or a mahatma like the other ones, so he at once offered a five rupee note to me. But I told him, "No, don't do that." I tried to stop him. Gurmel Singh also tried to stop him; but he said, "No, let me do that." Anyway, after he got the Initiation, he became very happy. He told me, "This is the most blessed day of my life; I have got the real thing." And he understood the glory and the importance of the Naam.

At that time, he made me promise him that he will not have to go back from this world alone. He made me promise that I would come to take him at the time of his death. After that, whenever he came to see me at 16PS, since he was very humorous, he would always remind me of the promise. He would always tell me, "You have promised me that you will come to take me when I will go from this world."

According to his devotion and according to his yearning and remembrance of the Master, the same thing happened, because he used to do his regular practices and he was very devoted to the Path of the Masters even though he was very old and he could not meditate enough. But still he was very devoted to the Path and he was regular in his practices. A few days before he left the body, his soul went up and he stopped talking with the people. He stopped talking with the family. Since the other people in the family were not initiated and they did not know anything about the Initiation and the soul going up, and since that old man had suddenly stopped talking with them, they were terrified and surprised because they did not know what had happened to him. So they called for a doctor; but the doctor could not do anything. They called for other people also, but nobody had any idea what was happening with him; so they called for another son, Ikbal Singh who is a district commissioner of the city of Roper and he is a wise person.

When he came there he was also very surprised to see his father in that condition, because his father had always lived a very good life and he was healthy. He saw that and he wondered why his father's condition had become like that, and he was confused. He tried to talk with many people but nobody could explain to him. Anyway, somehow he came across a Satsangi who told him that when a Satsangi leaves the body, when he is about to leave the body, sometimes his soul goes up and he becomes detached from the family, and the world because at that time he has become linked and attached to the Master Power or the Shabd which is within him. And there is no need to worry. The people who are sitting near him should do the Simran and in that way he will leave the body peacefully. When Ikbal Singh came to know about that, when he came to know that nothing was wrong with his father, that he was going to leave the body, he became very pleased. And at that time he repented, because, whenever he had come to see me along with his father, I would always tell him about the Naam and about the Initiation, but he never paid any attention and he didn't get the Initiation. At that time, he realized his mistake and then he said, "If I had known that Master is such a power, Naam is such a power, I would have also received the Initiation, because Sant Ji told me many times to get the Initiation. But it is very bad that I did not listen to Him and I did not get the Initiation."

After some time, when the soul of that old man came down, just before he left the body, in the beginning of the month of March, he told his family members, "You see, usually the people have to spend about ten months in the womb of their mother; they have to be in the prison of the womb of mother for at least ten months. But I was very fortunate one. God was very gracious on me that I had to stay there for only seven months and after that I was born into a very nice family. All my children are very good. Many of them are devoted to the devotion of the Lord. And I also met the Perfect Master and He gave me the Perfect Naam. Now I understand the value of the Naam; now I understand the Power of the Naam. I have gained a lot from the Master; now He has come to take me. If you also understand the Path of Naam, if you also want to improve your life, you should also go to the Master and take the Initiation."

After saying those words, he left the body. So Ikbal Singh, his elder son, along with the other members of the family, came here and they were very happy. They were very content, even though their father had left the body, still they were very happy in the Will of the Master, and they told me about all this. Ikbal Singh told me personally about all these things and they came asking for the Initiation.

So I mean to say that those who get the Initiation and those who have the faith in the Master, they are definitely taken care of by the Master, because Master has determined to take the disciples back in this lifetime. Hazur Maharaj Kirpal used to say that you should make the way of your heart with the heart of the Master.

The disciple should only speak those things which the Master speaks. He should always speak the same thing which the Master has talked about. When the Master says that He is determined that His disciples will not come back in the world, they will not have to come back into this world. In the same way, the disciples should also be determined, and they should also do those things which prepare them for their journey back. They do not know about the time, we do not know when death is going to come, when we will have to leave this world.

We should do only those things which are helpful in doing the Bhajan and Simran. We should remove all the obstacles which are between us and the Master. We should do only those things which can help us in doing more Bhajan and Simran, and which can help us in our way back to God.

Now regarding your other question about the inner planes and what happens over there: I have said a lot about the inner planes and inner journey, and a lot has been published in Sant Bani Magazine. You should find that magazine and read that. And after that, I would like to inspire all of you that you should work hard. You should go within and do your Bhajan and Simran, and you should see the truth with your own eyes.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: It seems like a lot of initiates go through some intense times just before they come to India. And there's a lot of theories around about what's going on. Can you say something about that?

SANT JI: Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that whatever difficulty is going to come in our life that is all predetermined. It does not matter if one is coming to India or not, whatever is going to happen in his life, that will definitely happen. No one can avoid that or postpone that.

In the other village, there was a person who was once making a hole in the wall. And his wife was watching that, and she said, "Mind that – a brick is going to fall on you. Be careful." That brick was going to fall on him, and it did, and it fell on his back, and he suffered a great deal from that.

So she said, "I told you that you should do your meditation. If you had done your meditation, you would not have hurt yourself." He said, mentioning me, "you always tell me to do the Bhajan and Simran. You know that Sant Ji also does a lot of meditation; He works very hard. And He does not let God have any rest; He always goes on doing His devotion. But still, he has so much intense times, still He has so many difficulties." So this is just a trick of our mind. Whatever difficulty is going to come, it will definitely happen. To say that it happens only when we are preparing to come here or only when we have come here, that is just a trick of our mind.

QUESTION: Can you explain more about how we do Dhyān, and do we use that before we get to the Eye Center or only when we are at the Eye Center? Please explain more about how to do that practice.

SANT JI: Many times I have talked about the Dhyān. A Satsangi understands the importance of the Simran only when he reaches the Form of the Master, only when the Form of the Master is manifested within him. As I have said earlier, the Simran takes our soul up to the Eye Center, and after crossing the sun, stars and moon, then the Form of the Master is manifested; the Simran can take our soul only up to that point, only up to the place where the Form of the Master is manifested.

Once we have reached the Form of the Master, or once the Form of the Master has manifested or appeared within us, then we need the Dhyān or contemplation. At that time, we need to absorb ourselves in the Form of the Master so much so that we should not remain aware of our own selves, we should only be aware of the Form of the Master Who has manifested within us.

When we reach the Form of the Master, after that we need the Dhyān. And if we have not perfected ourselves in doing the Dhyān, as said earlier; then sometimes our attention will drop down from the Eye Center; sometimes it will go here, sometimes it will go there. And in that way, we will not be able to absorb into the Form of the Master, even though He will be manifested over there.

That is why it is very important to learn about the Dhyān and do the Dhyān when we have risen above the mind and the organs of senses, and when, after crossing the sun, stars and moon, we have reached the Form of the Master. If we do the Dhyān before we have reached the Form of the Master, that Dhyān is not complete, because we cannot do it completely. We can do the Dhyān completely and we can become successful in that, only when the Form of the Master is manifested or we have reached the Form of the Master.

When we have reached the Form of the Master, and when we do the Dhyān and absorb ourselves in the Form of the Master, so much that we do not remain aware of our own selves – we see only the Master, we see only Almighty God in front of us. After that, such a soul, within whom the Form of the Master has manifested, one who has done the Dhyān in this way, does not see anyone as his enemy because he sees God Almighty working in both his enemies and his friends. And such a soul, or such a mahatma, himself does not criticize anyone. He does not allow his disciples or his followers to criticize anyone, because he knows that the same God is working in everyone, so whom can he criticize, whom can he praise?

Guru Nanak Sahib says, “O Lord, if they were made by some other God, then we could say that they belong to someone else. When You Yourself are within everyone, how can we criticize one and praise the other?”

So that is why, when we reach the Eye Center, by doing the Simran, and when, after crossing the sun, stars and moons, when we manifest the Form of the Master, when we absorb ourselves in the Form of the Master, when we get in that kind of condition, after that we should hide our condition. Just as a woman hides her body, in the same way we should hide that grace of the Master. We should not go on talking about it. We should not go on telling people, “Master has manifested within me,” or “Master is telling me this” – or “Master is telling me that.” Because, if God has been gracious on you and if Master has manifested within you, and if you go on talking about that to other people without the instructions of the Master, what would happen? The dear ones who just got initiated or who have not progressed so much, they will feel jealous about you, and their bad feelings will affect your progress. Your progress will be stopped and you can lose a lot in the meditation.

So that is why, unless you have risen above the mind and the organs of senses, unless the Form of the Master is manifested within you, unless you are absorbed in the Form of the Master so much so that you do not remain aware of your own self, you should not give up doing the Dhyān. In fact you can do the complete Dhyān – your Dhyān can become successful – only when you do it after the Form of the Master is manifested within you. If you will try to do the Dhyān before the Form of the Master is manifested within you, you will not become successful, because you do not have anything to hold on, you do not have anything to contemplate upon, unless the Form of the Master is manifested within you.

By doing the simran of the world, the dhyān or the contemplation of the world has happened or come in our within by itself, we do not have to make any efforts in doing the dhyān of the world. In the same way, when we will do the Simran given to us by the Master, then the Dhyān of the Master will come in our within by itself. Then we will not have any difficulty if we have forgotten the simran of the world and if you are doing the Simran of the Master.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to talk about a dear one who used to love his buffalo very much. When he went to a mahatma to get the initiation, the mahatma asked him, “What is the thing which you remember the most? What is the thing you love the most?” He said, “Master, I remember and love my buffalo very much. Even when I am sleeping I think about and have visions of the buffalo because I love him very much.” So that mahatma told that dear one, “Okay, you go in that room, and go on doing the dhyān or go on doing the simran of the buffalo. I have some work to do, and I will come back after a few days and I will give you the initiation.”

Now, it was not difficult for that dear one to do the simran and the dhyān of the buffalo because he already loved that buffalo. So, when he sat down for doing the remembrance and the dhyān of the buffalo, he enjoyed doing that; he did not find it difficult. After a few days, he perfected himself in the dhyān and the simran of that buffalo, because he loved him very much. After a few days that mahatma came back, He told him to come for the initiation. But that dear one said, “Master, I cannot come out, because my horns will get stuck in the door.” That mahatma said, “No, you are a human being. You do not have any horns and you will not get stuck in the door.” He said, “No, Master, I am a buffalo and I will not be able to come out through this door.”

The meaning of saying this, as Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, is that it is not a difficult thing to do the Simran, and it is not a difficult thing to do the Dhyān of the Master because right now we are doing the simran of the world and the dhyān of the world is coming within us by itself. In the same way, if we were to do the Simran of the Master, we could easily do the Dhyān of the Master.

1993 November: Human Love Serves as a Bridge

Session Date: January 11, 1984

This question and answer session was given in Bombay, during the Westerners' program, on January 11, 1984.

QUESTION: Maharaj, I have to confess something. Part of me is very scared about dying while alive.

SANT JI: The day of death is fixed for every being. Even before his coming into this world when he was in the womb of the mother, at that time the day of his death was fixed; and it will come, no matter what one does about it. There is no way to avoid it. Whether you accept it happily or whether you don't accept it – still it will come. Whether you take it, whether you are afraid of it or whether you are not, it will definitely come. But Satsangis should not worry about death; they should not have any fear of death, because, in fact, they do not die. After dying, they are going to go to the Master's home. And, in fact, those who die while living, they are preparing the ways of living after their physical death. So Satsangis should not be afraid of any kind of death.

In Swami Ji Maharaj's time, there was a father and son, and they were both initiates of Swami Ji Maharaj. The son was dying because a plague was spread all over the country, and he was also affected by that. When the son was about to die, the father started weeping. The son asked his father, “Why are you crying?” The father replied, “I am crying because you are my only child. And now I know that you will die. I will lose you. That is why I am crying.”

So the son replied, “Don't cry for me; don't weep for me, because I am not dying. In fact I am going to live in a much better way. In my previous birth, I was a tree, and one of my branches was presented in the seva of Swami Ji Maharaj, and He used it for brushing His teeth. And because of that, I was freed from that body of a tree, and God gave me the body of a man. But since I came from the body of a tree, I was not fully developed in this lifetime. That is why my liberation was not completely possible. But it is all due to Swami Ji Maharaj's grace that, in my next lifetime, I will get a fully developed, complete, human being's body; and after that, I will not have to come back into this world again and again.”

It is the law of Nature that, if the Saints use any tree, any part of the tree, or any part of any vegetation, that tree or that vegetation gets the human body. If the Saints ride on any animal, or if any bird, or any kind of creature touches the body of a Saint, all those creatures, those beings, get a human birth in their next lifetime.

So the son told his father, “Don't cry for me because, due to Swami Ji Maharaj's mercy and His grace, I am going to live now, I am going to get such a birth which will take me to the liberation.”

The Light of Ajaib

When Master Sawan Singh was getting his house constructed in the city of Amritsar, at that place, there was a mango tree, which was very huge and very beautiful. When Master Sawan Singh saw that tree, He thought of cutting that tree down. But the girl who used to cook food for Master Sawan Singh came to Him and requested that He should not cut that tree down because it was very beautiful, and many people of the sangat got a lot of rest sitting under the tree because it gave a lot of shade. Master Sawan Singh said, “Well, he is beautiful now. And since I have seen him, the eyes of the Saints have been cast upon this tree, he will become more beautiful. He will remain beautiful; he will become more beautiful.”

Master Sawan Singh wanted to liberate that soul from that body of the tree, and He wanted to give him the human form. At that time, there was an initiate of Baba Sawan Singh whose name was Ishar Singh, who did not have any child. He also heard all this, so he requested Master Sawan Singh, “If you have thought of giving a human form to this soul which is in the tree, I would like to request you that you should make it possible that the soul takes birth in my family. He should come as my son.”

Master Sawan Singh agreed. He said, “Well, whatever you say, that will happen if it is in the Will of Baba Ji.” Saints never take any credit for Their own self. They always say that it is all because of Their Master’s grace.

So after ten months, a boy was born in the family of Ishar Singh; and when he was brought in front of Baba Sawan Singh, the family wanted Baba Sawan Singh to give him some name. So Baba Sawan Singh called for that girl who had requested Him not to cut that tree because it was so beautiful. Baba Sawan Singh asked that girl, “Tell me, is he beautiful now, or was he more beautiful when he was in the body of the tree?” That child was so beautiful that Baba Sawan Singh gave him the name, “Mango.”

In Rajasthan there is a village called Ladhuwala where I used to visit once a month for meditation and Satsang purposes. There was a tree outside the village and we would sit under that tree to meditate. Once some dear ones asked me, “Will that tree get any benefit because we are sitting under it and doing the meditation?” I said, “Yes, this tree will definitely get the human form in his next life next birth.”

By the evening of that day, that tree became dry, and the next day they cut it down. The family who owned that place did not have any children. So a girl was born in that family and we named her Khiker. Khiker was the kind of tree, the name of the tree. (Still now that girl is living.) Sadar Ratan Singh, using his tractor, took the wood of that tree to the ashram, and it was burned in the langar.

Satsangis should not be afraid of death; in fact they should be very happy. How much happiness should they experience at the time of dying? They should experience more happiness than they would experience at the time of their wedding. I’ve seen many dear ones, those who meditate a lot, when they die. They are so happy, much more happy than they were at the time of their wedding.

Kabir Sahib has said, “The death of which all the people are afraid – I find happiness having that kind of death because, after having that kind of death, I get the supreme bliss.”

Satsangis should do their Bhajan and Simran. We people have this weakness; we are afraid of death only when we don’t meditate. When we do the meditation, then the fear of death does not bother us. After some time, you will be able to read the stories of Sunder Das, an initiate of Baba Sawan Singh who lived with me for about twenty years.<sup>52</sup> Many months before he left the body he told about his departure. He was so happy when he left the body, he told us to make parshad and feed people, because he was seeing that Master had come to take him.

So those who meditate, those who have confidence in the Naam, those who have faith in the Master, will they be afraid of death? No, they will never be afraid of death because they know that after this death they will be going to their Real Home.

In Amritsar there was an initiate of Baba Sawan Singh; she lived on a street in an area where everybody else opposed Master Sawan Singh. Eight days before she left the body, she told them that on the eighth day she would leave the body, because her Master would come to take her. People did not believe her because they did not believe in Master Sawan Singh. They said, "Well, are you a yogi that you are making such a prophecy?" After that people started counting the days. Now six days are left, five are left, four days are left.

On the eighth day she left the body; and before leaving the body, she told them that Master Sawan Singh had come to take her. After that, all the people who lived on that street became very devoted to Master Sawan Singh. When Master Sawan Singh went to Amritsar to give the Satsang, they all requested Him to give them the Initiation. But Master Sawan Singh said, "No, first you should get a little bit more faith, be a little bit more strong, and then I will give you the Initiation."

So we should do our meditation, and not be afraid of death or anything like that, because Naam does not leave any attachments within us. It finishes all kinds of attachments, because, before we die, we do not meditate as much and as well as we should have done. But at the time of death, the Master comes and takes us. Those who meditate, those who go in the within, Master tells them about their departure, two days before, or four days before, or maybe weeks or even months before, that they are going to leave on a certain day. But those who do not do the meditation, even though they don't know about their departure, still Master comes and takes them.

QUESTION: [Inaudible question.]

SANT JI: You should always contemplate on the Form of that Master Who has given you the Initiation. I am here to give the love of Master Kirpal to all of you. If you will receive the love of Master Kirpal from me, there is no harm in that, because I am connecting you people only with Him.

Saints are not different; They all are One and the same thing. Since They come from the same place, from the same country, They come out from the same Shabd, They breathe the same Shabd, and They take the soul to the same place. In fact, we see Them as two or different only as long as we are outside. But when we go within, there is no question of seeing Them in two different Forms, They are One and the same thing.

Regarding this, Master Kirpal used to make us understand, in many different ways, giving many examples. He used to say that Saints never die; they only change the body. It is like one bulb fuses [bums out], and it is replaced by another bulb. The light is the same, the power is the same. Only the body is changed.

QUESTION: Sant Ji comes to Shamaz in May. Usually the weather is good that time of year; but it's early enough in the spring that it is possible that there could be bad weather. Should we plan on good weather, or should we be prepared for bad weather?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: We should make the arrangements expecting both the things both good and bad weather; and we should leave the results and leave the future in the hands of Master.

Prophet Mohammed used to deal in the business of camels, so he used to have many camels. Once in the Satsang He said that everything is done in the Will of God; in fact God Himself does everything. Not even a leaf can move if it is not in the Will of God. One of His dear ones heard that. And since we have the habit of only taking such things from Satsang which are good and comfortable for us, he thought, "When Master said that everything is done in the Will of God, not even a leaf can turn without the Will of God, then why do I need to tie the legs of the camels; why do I need to stay up all night and guard them? When everything is done by God, why not let God do all the work and let me rest?" So he told Prophet Mohammed, "You say that everything is done in the Will of God, God does everything, then why do I need to bother about tying the camels and guarding them?"

Prophet Mohammed said, "No, it is your duty. You have been given the responsibility to protect the camels, to tie their legs, to guard them. So it is your job and you should do that. And if anything happens, even after you make all these efforts, then you should understand that it is the Will of God. You should always leave the results in the hands of God; and you should perform your duty."

In the same way, you should expect both kinds of weather, good and bad, and you should make the arrangements according to that, and leave the future in the hands of Master.

When you people come to Rajasthan, from the point where you leave the tar road and come on the dirt road, we maintain that road; and every time before you come, we spend a couple of days there preparing that road for the bus to come.

If we would not prepare that road, it would be impossible for the bus to go along that dirt road and reach the ashram, and in that way you might have many difficulties. We understand our responsibility, and that is why we always maintain that road. And still, we leave the results in the hands of Master, because everything happens in the Will of Master. Nothing can happen without His Will. Even after attending to our responsibility, we still leave the results in Master's hands.

Even after fixing that road we do not become careless. We always send the ashram bus to meet your bus, and it always leads you to the ashram. And when you leave the ashram, again you will notice that the ashram bus leads the other bus up to the tar road.

So I hope that you will become the wrestlers, become the strong children of Master. Have faith in Him, make the arrangements in the best way, as much as possible, so that the sangat may not have any difficulty reaching there.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, I'd like to ask a question about human love. Sant Ji, in this life I've met several people for whom I have the most deep and abiding love and affection. And I didn't know what to do at that time, because I want very much to be able to love and serve you correctly. But I found that I couldn't deny the fact that I love certain other human beings very, very much. The question is, even if our love is a very human love, if we really long that our love will become innocent and pure for the Master's sake, can the Master also use that as a means to unite the souls with Him? Can human love be a means for gaining perfect love for the Master if we really long that our love will become innocent and pure?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: This is a very interesting question, and I will give a very interesting reply to this. First of all, you should know that, when we love, we love on the level of mind. In the beginning, it may come in your mind that you will be able to maintain your love, pure and innocent. But what happens after some days? Your mind takes your love, in the dirt of the pleasures and the worldly things and that love is polluted. So instead of becoming happy, Master becomes sorry for you, looking at your love, because you have polluted it with your desires and with the worldly things.

In a place called Jinnah, which is now in Pakistan, there used to live one potter whose daughter's name was Sohni. The king of Balakh Bukara had a son whose name was Ichadvekh. Once he came to this part of India; he saw Sohni and fell in love with her. Sohni did not know about it but he loved her from a distance. And since he wanted to come close to her – he wanted to live close to her, that is why he left his kingdom and everything, and he came and settled in this country. Sohni's father used to deal in the pitchers and pots and things like that because he was a potter. Ichadvekh, who was later on called Mahiwal, started doing the business of the pitchers and pots. He opened a shop. He would go to visit Sohni's father and buy things from him. And he would either sell those things at a low price to the people, or he would just donate them to the sadhus, to the holy people, because he wanted an excuse to visit Sohni's family again and again so that he could see his beloved.

That love was very pure, very innocent; that love was not of the worldly nature. When he continued doing that, after some time, all the money which he had was finished. So he could not continue going to Sohni's house like a trader, because he did not have any money left with him. So he became a servant in Sohni's house so that he could remain close to his beloved and see her.

He told Sohni, "I only want to see you because I love you." When Sohni's parents came to know about the love Mahiwal had, they were not pleased with that, and they kicked him out of their home. After that he made a hut across the river and started living there. Every day he would catch some fish and bring them to Sohni, because he loved Sohni very much. Once it was not possible for him to catch any fish in the river because it was flowing very fast. So he thought, "Well, every day I kill the fish to please my beloved. Why not cut my own meat, take the flesh of my own body for my beloved, because I love her; and my body is not dear to me as much as she is. So why not cut my body and take that flesh to her?"

So he cut some flesh of his body. And at the place from where he had cut his flesh – he tied the bandages, and using a baked pitcher he came across the river. In those days they did not have good boats and things. So they used the pitchers for going across the waters [probably a large diameter, shallow bowl – Editor]. So he came there, and Sohni was waiting for him over there. When Sohni saw that her lover did not look as radiant (because he had cut his flesh), she asked, "What is the problem? Every day you look so radiant, so bright, but today you look sad and depressed, like a sick person. What is the reason?"

But Mahiwal did not want to tell her that he had cut his body to bring the flesh – to bring the meat. But, since she insisted, he removed the bandages and showed her what he had done to please her. When Sohni saw that she fainted. When she came back into consciousness, she said, "Mahiwal, today you have crossed the limits of the pure love, and you have done your best to prove yourself as the best lover. Now it is my part; I should also do something for you. From now onwards, you should not come across the river. I will come across the river to meet you. Now it is my job; I should do this."

The Light of Ajaib

In the meanwhile, Sohni had been married to somebody else, and Sohni's sister-in-law knew all this story. Every day, Sohni crossed that river, using a baked pitcher. One day, out of enmity, her sister-in-law replaced that baked pitcher with an unbaked pitcher which was going to dissolve as soon as the pitcher was put in the water. When Sohni came to the bank of the river, she knew that it was not the same pitcher which she had been taking every day. Even though she knew that she would die in the water, she was not stopped by anything; she was not afraid, because she had promised her beloved that she would go there. So she took that unbaked pitcher and, in trying to cross, she was drowned in the river. When Mahiwal found out about that, he also jumped in the river and left the body.

So the meaning of telling this story is that their love was not of the worldly nature. Their love was innocent. They wanted to use this human love to develop the love for Almighty Lord. They did not change their human love into the worldly love – in the love for lust and things like that. They wanted to do this, and in that they became successful. But not everybody becomes successful in this. One out of millions and billions are able to maintain the purity and innocence in the love.

Human love serves as a bridge to reach the spiritual love, to reach the Godly love. But if we remain on the bridge we can never cross the river. When we are crossing the bridge, it is better for us to cross it as soon as possible, because we never know what is going to happen on the bridge. Since human love serves as a bridge to reach the spiritual love, love for God, that is why it is better for us to rise above the human love as soon as possible, because we keep human love in our mind on the level of mind. And you know that mind always misleads us.

As long as we are in the limit of mind we can never be saved. That is why Saints always emphasize that, no doubt, you may start loving the Master on the human level, but you should try to rise above it as soon as possible.

Nowadays, people do not understand the value of maintaining purity and innocence in the love. They don't even try to understand that, what to talk about maintaining it. Pappu reads all the letters which come written in English and he knows how many letters we get. In the first letter, the dear ones write that their love is like the love of brother and sister. And after a few days, another letter comes which says that now they have decided to get married. You know that we answer the correspondence only once a month. So when the letters come to me, Pappu has five or six letters from the same people. In the first letter they talk about their love as the love of a brother and sister. In the other letters, they talk about their desire of getting married to each other. Then it becomes difficult for Pappu to decide which letter we should read and to which letter we should respond.

I mean to say that once you say, "She is my sister," or "He is my brother," – he should remain your brother or she should remain your sister through all your lifetime. How can you even think of getting married to the person whom you have called your brother or sister?

Since it is a worldly question and it has nothing to do with spirituality, that is why I'm replying to you in this way. Some girls also have this habit, that they call people their brothers. Because unless we call the person as our brother or sister, it is not possible for us to come close to them. So I think I will say that people make such relations of brothers and sisters only to deceive others.

So we should try to spare ourselves, protect ourselves, from such tricks of the mind. In Sant Mat, it is not a bad thing to get married; you can get married. But it is not a good thing for you to first call someone as your brother or sister and then think about getting married to the same person. Because this is against the principle of Sant Mat. Otherwise, there is nothing wrong in the Path of the Masters about getting married, but one should be very careful in doing anything in the world.

QUESTION: There is something very important, that I should ask further, Master, because, maybe it will be of benefit to other people. Because I find myself in a situation where, five years ago in India, I met somebody for whom I have a very natural affection. And that affection has continued until this time. And if I say before You that that's not there, then it would be a lie. And so, does that mean that if we know that we're not chaste that we should always ask the Master for separation from that person that we love so there will never be any danger of that love becoming impure? I don't want to deceive You. I want to know, and maybe other people find themselves in the same position; because I know I'm not saying my love is pure, but I pray that it will become so. Should we seek separation if we find ourselves in that situation where we know we haven't reached that real inner purity that the Master talks about?

SANT JI: Many times in the Satsang I have told the story about Gopi Chand, that he was inspired by his mother to become a yogi. He left his kingdom and he became a renunciate. In those times, there was a custom among the yogis that if anyone wanted to become a yogi, a renunciate, first of all, he had to go into the city of which he was a resident to beg for donations. This was a way of making the mind humble. So, when he became a yogi, he went to his own city begging for donations, begging for the things. When he came to the palace, all his queens, all his wives, gave their ornaments and everything to him, thinking, "Now, when we don't have our husband, our husband has left, has become a yogi, then why do we need all this jewelry and all these things." So they gave to him. And then he came to his mother, who had inspired him to become the yogi and to give up all the kingdom. His mother said, "Now you have become a yogi, since you have come begging for the donation, for the good things, that is why I feel that I should give you something as the donation. And I would like to tell you three things: you should always sleep on the most comfortable bed; you should always eat the most delicious food; and you should always remain in the strongest fort.

When Gopi Chand heard that, he said, "Mother, if some other woman had said these things, I would have thought that she was crazy. But you are the one who inspired me to become a yogi, and now when I have become a yogi, when I left all of the things, all the comforts of the world, you are telling me to again sleep on the comfortable bed, eat the delicious foods, and live in the strong fort – how is that possible? Because I will have to beg from door to door for the food; and whatever they will give me, I will eat that. And since I will have to sleep under the trees, how can I expect to live in a strong fort, or even a house. And since I will have to sleep outside, without any mattress or anything, how can I sleep on the most comfortable bed?"

Gopi Chand's mother replied, "Dear son, you did not understand what I was trying to tell you. When I said that you should sleep on the most comfortable bed, that means that you should not sleep until sleep overpowers you. When sleep overpowers you, then you will not find anything uncomfortable, because when you are really sleepy, then even the most uncomfortable bed seems very comfortable. And whatever food you will get from the people, don't eat that food unless you are really hungry. When you will feel real hunger and when you eat food after feeling very hungry, then you will find even the food of ten days old as the most delicious and the most fresh food. And when I say that you should live in the strong fort, that means that you should always remain in the refuge of the Master. Because there is no other place stronger than the refuge of the Master. If you remain in the strong fort, in the strong refuge of the Master, nobody will be able to deceive you. You are young. You are very popular among the people, since you were their king. Now you have become a yogi, so many people will come to see you. Many women and attractive young girls will come to see you. And if you will not keep yourself in the strong fort, if you will not keep yourself in the strong refuge of the Master, it is possible that all of them will deceive you. That is why, always remain in the strong fort; always remain at the Feet of the Master. Always have faith in Him. Always have confidence in Him. If you are keeping yourself always at the Feet of the Master, then there is no question of being plundered by all those passions and things.

1993 November: The Student who Loves and Obeys

Session Date: July 20, 1993

This question and answer talk was given on July 20, 1993, in Bangalore, India.

QUESTION: Master, is the moment of the inner darshan established by the destiny of each soul or does it depend on the effort that one does in meditation?

SANT JI: Both of these things work together – the effort of the disciple and the grace of the Master. Often in Satsang I have said that the means of receiving the grace of the Master is meditation.

If someone is not thirsty and another person offers him water – no matter how good or how delicious that water is – the other person who is not thirsty will not accept it. He will say, “I am not thirsty; I do not need it.”

Since he is not thirsty that is why he does not appreciate the water. The same thing is true regarding the inner darshan of the Master. If we are not yearning for the inner darshan, if we are not making efforts for the inner darshan, then even if the Master graciously gives us His darshan we will not appreciate it. So that is why, according to the law of Sant Mat, one has to make efforts to receive the inner darshan of the Master.

Guru Nanak Sahib says, “If you try to sell your things to a person who is not its customer, who does not appreciate it, then your things will have no value. If you find a customer who really needs your goods, he will appreciate them, he will value them more.”

So in the same way, if we are yearning for darshan, if we are making efforts to receive the inner darshan, then we appreciate it. Making efforts to receive darshan is like appreciating the darshan.

Swami Ji Maharaj has said, “The Shabd will get opened with the grace of the Master and the mighty Master will pull your soul up.”

So that is why it is very important for us to start from the root. The ABC of our devotion starts from our loving the physical form of the Master. Even though the Masters do not attach us with Their physical bodies – They connect our souls with the Shabd – but if we do not love the physical form of the Master then we will not be able to develop love for the Inner Form of the Master.

Only those who love the physical form of the Master progress and go within. Indeed it is a very simple thing – only that student who loves and obeys his teacher works hard in his studies and becomes successful. Even though the Saints do not need our love, because They Themselves are intoxicated in the love of Their Master, but unless the disciple loves the outer form of the Master he cannot progress within. Because if he doesn't love the physical form of the Master, the yearning, the craving to do the Simran and meditation and go within will not be created.

Guru Arjan Dev has said, “I do not feel satisfied even after looking at the body of my Master again and again.”

If we love the body we will also try to catch hold of the words which are spoken from that body; we will also try to obey the words of the Master.

At the time of Initiation every dear one is told to appreciate my words more than my body. He will gain a lot from doing that.

When we do our Simran and withdraw our attention from all the outer things, rise above our body and, after crossing the stars, moon, and sun, when we reach the Form of the Master, when we manifest the Inner Form of the Master, then it becomes the duty of the Master to take us from plane to plane and take us to our destination. But it is the duty of the disciple to reach the Form of the Master and then it becomes the duty of the Master to take the soul up to the various planes.

QUESTION: What is there beyond the fifth plane? Baba Sawan Singh talks about the sixth, seventh, eighth, and ninth plane? Are they part of Sach Khand? Does the soul visit those planes? Does the soul get any suffering when it leaves the fifth plane even if it is to go higher?

SANT JI: All the sufferings of the soul end when the Form of the Master is manifested. Once the Form of the Master is manifested, all the sufferings go away and after that there is only bliss and happiness.

Guru Ramdas Ji Maharaj has described the condition of the soul when the soul reaches the Form of the Master. He says, “O My Mother, I have found the Satguru and I have become very happy.” So the soul becomes very happy when she finds the Satguru.

The Negative Power has created many confusing things in our within and the soul has to go through those places. The Satsangis who go within know how Master Himself takes the soul through those places and planes.

When the soul shakes off the physical, astral and casual covers, she becomes very radiant – just as in this plane there is one sun, but if you collect twelve outer suns like it, then the light of the soul becomes like the brilliance or radiance that you would get from those twelve suns. But still in the inner planes, in the region of the Maha Sunn, that brilliant light of the soul is of no use. The soul crosses that plane of dense darkness only with the Light of the Master. In the Hindu Shastras it is written, “Who is the Guru? Guru is the One Who dispels or removes the darkness.”

Guru Nanak Sahib says, “If hundreds of moons rise and thousands of suns, even then it is all darkness without the Master.”

All the Saints have written in Their writings that without the Master the soul cannot cross over that plane of dense darkness.

In the Guru Granth Sahib the writings or the banis of the Bhattas are also included. The Bhattas were very learned scholars like pundits. They had studied at the Kashi University and they had done all sorts of things in search of God. After searching for God in so many different places, finally when they met with Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj, they received the Initiation from Him. They did the meditation and became perfect ones.

They wrote about their inner journey which is included in the Guru Granth Sahib. They said, “Without the Master there is deep darkness; without the Master one cannot understand anything; without the Master one cannot get any patience. Only with the grace of the Master one can have patience, understanding, and can see everything within.”

The Light of Ajaib

When the soul reaches Sach Khand she is converted into total light and radiance. From there, Master Sawan Singh used to quote from Kabir Sahib explaining what happens to the soul after that, because only the soul who has reached Sach Khand knows what happens to her when she reaches there. So Kabir Sahib said, “Just as when some salt goes into the water of the ocean to find its origin, the salt dissolves itself in the water of the ocean – how could that salt come out and tell people what was its origin?” In many of my Satsangs I have quoted Kabir Sahib, giving examples from His bani. He said that if any dumb person eats the jaggery [sweets made from sugar cane] he cannot describe the sweetness of the jaggery he has eaten, he can only make signs or gestures to express his happiness.

QUESTION: Is it fair that in those things which concern the world we get so easily entangled while it is extremely hard to do the devotion of God? Just to smoke four times in a row causes the habit of smoking and this does not happen with the devotion when we go four times to Satsang.

SANT JI: Well, regarding this question, I commented in the Indian dear ones’ Satsang, and eventually those Satsangs will be translated and you will know the answer to this, but still I will answer this. First of all we need to understand that when our mind attacks us, at that time we listen to him and very lovingly and happily we do what our mind wants us to do.

Since our childhood we have been living in a society where we see people smoking, drinking and doing all the other things. Looking at those people we have sort of developed our dhyān, our attention – we see them having fun or getting enjoyment for a couple of minutes, but we do not see beyond it. We do not see how much they suffer as a result of having indulged in all these passions and these [intoxicating] things.

In one of the Satsangs I have said that by smoking, by drinking, and by indulging in the passions we lose so much, because it affects our memory, it affects our body, it affects our way of thinking.

All the Param Sants, Those Who have come into this world up to now and Those Who are still coming, They all have said that just as there is blood in the human beings in the same way there is blood and life in the other animals. So just as we have the right to live on this earth, in the same way, the animals and other creatures also have the same rights; that is why we should have mercy on those creatures.

So Masters tell us that intoxications of all kinds have a very bad effect on our intellect. That is why They tell us to abstain from those things. Masters do not accept, for the Initiation, those who are involved in the drugs and other kinds of intoxication. They tell them, “If you can give up all these intoxications only then can you get the Initiation.”

Many religions have made the concoction of liquor and opium and things like that and they do not see anything bad in that, they only justify their indulgence. But Kabir Sahib has very strictly condemned all these things. It is easy to get into the habit of using the intoxicants but it is very difficult to leave it.

Yesterday in the Satsang I told you about an initiate of Baba Sawan Singh whose name was Hanuman. He had performed the austerities for twelve years. When he came to the feet of Master Sawan Singh, he made a cave over there and he lived the rest of his life after that with Him.

The Light of Ajaib

He had the habit of smoking. One day in Satsang Master Sawan Singh said, “Those who use opium, those who eat fish, those who drink wine, or those who smoke – no matter what good deeds they do, no matter what rites and rituals they do – all that they do in the name of devotion to God, that is all wasted.”

He gave up smoking when he heard what Baba Sawan Singh said about all these things. Later, he himself used to say, “Even though it has been twenty years since I gave up smoking, but still sometimes when I sit in the meditation, I visualize or I dream of the meetings I used to have with my friends where my friends offered me a cigarette.”

So the meaning of telling about Hanuman is that as far as getting entangled in the worldly things is concerned, we get the help from our mind. That is why it becomes very easy for us to get into the habit of doing the worldly things.

Well, first of all, from the depths of my heart I would like to thank my beloved Gurudevs Sawan and Kirpal who showered grace upon us, Who Themselves called us here and gave us the opportunity to spend time in Their remembrance.

Someone had asked [a devotee] about the greatness of his Master. He replied that only one who is as great as the Master could know about His greatness. “Whatever I will say about the greatness of my Master will not be complete.” In the same way I cannot say how great Masters Sawan and Kirpal were. Because whatever I may say on the outer level will not be complete. Because whatever I tell you about Their greatness on the level of my intellect that will not completely describe the greatness of the Master. I am not the worthy one who is able to describe the greatness of the Masters. I can only tell you how even now those Masters are showering Their grace and extending protection to Their dear ones. They extend Their protection to the dear ones when they have the operations or when dear ones are leaving the body.

So Their greatness can be understood only by those souls with whom all these experiences happen, all those who get such experiences of the protection of the Master.

So I am thankful to all of you for doing the meditation and helping with the raw food [the fruit and cookies] whatever kind of food was served here. If any sevadar did any mistake, I apologize for that, because you know that only those who work make the mistakes. I hope that you will not carry any bad feelings from here.

In the private darshans the dear ones who participated in this program told me about their experiences and how much they have gained in this program. I always tell the dear ones in the darshans that the only way that you can maintain what you have been given in this one week program is by doing the Bhajan and Simran and doing the diary.

So I hope that all of you, after getting back to your homes, will continue doing your Bhajan and Simran, will keep attending the Satsang, and keep the diary.

I wish you all the best for your return journey.

1993 December: Divorce is Not the Solution

Session Date: January 30, 1985

This talk was given on January 30, 1985, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan, India.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Why are the karmas of divorce so heavy?

SANT JI: God, Who has created this creation, does not want that corruption should be spread in His creation. He does not want the people to go on doing adultery. He does not want the people to break their discipline. God also likes the people who are created by Him to live a disciplined life. The only difference between human beings and beasts is that the animals do not have any sense of discrimination. They do not have any intellect; they do not know what is good for them or what is bad for them. But man, who is made of five elements, has the complete stature. God has blessed man with the sense of discrimination; he knows what is good and what is bad. God Almighty has laid down certain principles, certain limitations, in this creation, and He does not want the people to cross those limitations. He wants the people to live within the discipline.

Saints are very strict in this matter and They have made this decision – They say, “What to talk about getting a divorce, one should not even think about it.”

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj says, “Those eyes should be taken out who look at other people’s companions. Those women who look at other men, their eyes should be taken out. Those men who look at other women, their eyes should also be taken out. Only those eyes are worth having which do not look at the other people’s companions.”

Divorce is not the solution to any problem. In a way, after getting the divorce we make one more problem, because we don’t know what kind of companion we are going to get afterwards, what kind of nature he will have, what kind of person he will be. So Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “In a whole lifetime, a wife can hardly develop the love for one husband.”

If she is able to do that, we would call her as the lucky one, because you know the mind is sitting within us and it does not want us to maintain our love for one person or that we will go on loving one person forever. It always creates such things within us which shake our love and faith in our beloved, and as a result, it always takes us away from our dear one.

So that is why Master Sawan Singh used to say, “For a woman it takes almost her whole life to maintain and develop the love for one husband.”

Just imagine the condition of that woman who has so many husbands, so many people to please, she will not be able to please anyone. For the time being, when she has youth, when she is beautiful and has a good body, she can attract many men who would come to her offering many different things. She would be shown a lot of [worldly] love and affection by those people. But if, in the Will of God, she has to face the consequences of her karmas, if she becomes sick, or when she becomes old, experience says that no one will come to help her. Even if she tells her servant to call those men who were attracted to her and who used to come to see her when she was young and very beautiful, nobody will come there.

Everyone would say, “I was not the only one going to that woman, there were many other people.” They all would say, “Somebody else will go,” but no one will go and help that woman. The result will be that the woman will suffer pain, she will be hurt because no one will come to help her, and finally she will die.

But if you take the condition of a woman who is devoted to only one husband, the loyal wife, what will happen? Suppose she becomes a little bit sick, her husband will try his best to get her the best possible treatment. Even if he doesn’t have any money he will try to borrow that money from other people. He will stay up all night and do everything possible to make his wife well because he is so much in love and attached to her. Finally somehow he makes her all right.

This is the condition of this worldly plane. Since we have to cross the Negative Power's domain, we have to go through the hells and the heavens before we go up to the Real Home. We have to go through the inner planes.

If those women who do not have good character in this physical body, if they fall for anyone easily, if they are attracted to so many people easily, what will happen to them when they go through the heavens? If they are women, they will be met by the radiant men who will inspire them to stay there. And if they have not maintained themselves in this physical plane, in this physical body, they will fall for them and they will stay there. They will have to come back to this physical plane, they will have to take a body again, and again they will have to go into the cycle of eighty-four lakhs. They will never be able to go back to their Real Home.

If they are men and they did not have good character in this physical plane, in this physical body, they will also easily fall for the radiant women who will come in their way and they will also be stuck there and come back into this physical plane and remain here.

So that is why Saints always put emphasis on maintaining loyalty to your companion. Through Their Satsangs They always tell us that once you are married, in your [entire] lifetime you should always remain with your companion. Only death should separate you. You should not separate yourself from your companion as long as your breaths are going on.

You should live your married life in such a way that you may have two different bodies, but the same spirit, the same light, working in both of you. Guru Nanak used to say, "Don't call them as the husband and wife those who sit together, but call them as husband and wife who live like one light in two different bodies."

One dear one made up her mind to get a divorce from her husband. I tried to make her understand in so many different ways, in my interviews with her. Afterwards I wrote many letters to her saying, "Divorce is not the solution to your problems. You should not even think of it, and you should not take any step in getting the divorce because it is not going to solve any problem. It may create more problems for you." But she did not hear my advice. Saints always say that you should not get a divorce; They are always against it. They do not impose Their ideas on the dear ones, They always tell the disciples, "It is up to you to decide." But They do not approve of divorce.

It is up to the disciples to decide what is good for them; Saints can only give them advice. So, not following my advice, she got the divorce and later she got married to someone else. Just one month after she married that other person, she wrote me a letter saying, "I feel that I have married my enemy." So if she had followed my advice in the first place, if she had not gotten the divorce from her previous husband, she would not have written that. If divorce was the solution to her problems, she would not have written me that letter saying that she had married her enemy.

King Vatari was a very righteous king, a very great king. Once while talking to his wife, he was talking about some sati, a wife who had burned herself along with the dead body of her husband. The king's wife, who was also very righteous, of very good character, said, "My Lord, that sati was not very loyal to her husband, because why did she wait until the funeral pyre? She should have left the body as soon as she heard that her husband had left the body. Whatever breaths she took after the death of her husband, until she burned herself with his dead body, were illegal. That is why I don't think that she was very loyal to her husband, she should not have taken even one breath after hearing the news that her husband had left the body."

King Vatari was surprised that his wife was talking about such a high ideal and he wanted to find out how loyal his wife was to him. So he went into the forest to go hunting, with the intention of sending his blood-stained clothes home, with a message that he had been attacked by a tiger and had left the body. Then he would see what his queen would do.

So according to his plan he sent his blood-stained clothes with his attendant to take them to his wife and tell her, "A tiger has killed the king." When King Vatari's wife saw those stained clothes she believed that her husband was no more. So before that attendant could say anything she took a very cold sigh and she at once left the body.

When the king came back to the palace he became very sad because he had lost his wife when he was only trying to test whether she was loyal or not. Then he decided that he would never get married again. But you know that sometimes the king has to obey and follow the advice of his attendants and advisers. Accordingly, his advisers said, "Your Excellency, you should get married again because you have a very vast kingdom and you should leave somebody behind to take care of it."

So following their advice the king married again, but this time to a woman who was not of very good character. However, King Vatari did not know about that; he was under the impression that this woman was like his previous wife.

In his kingdom there was a person who cut wood in the forest and sold it in the market. Once while he was working in the forest he found a fruit which had the quality that if an old man would eat that fruit, he would become young forever. So when he got that fruit he thought, "My king is very righteous, he is a very good person, and he is getting older, it is better for him to eat this fruit so that he may remain young and rule over this kingdom forever. I don't need this because I am suffering and I am always in pain, so why do I need a long life? I don't want to suffer anymore." So he gave that fruit to the king.

The king thought, "My queen is also righteous, of very good character like my earlier wife. It would be better if she had this fruit. If she eats this fruit she will remain young and she will be able to live for a long time."

The king did not know that his wife was not of good character, so he gave the fruit to his queen, and told her the quality of that fruit. The queen was not satisfied with that king and she had become friendly with an attendant who took care of their horses and she had some connections with that person. So she thought it would be better for him to have that fruit so that he could remain young forever. So she gave the fruit to that servant.

Now that servant was not satisfied with the queen, and he had had some connections with a prostitute, so he passed on the fruit to that prostitute. When the prostitute got that fruit, she thought, "I am a very great sinner, why should I eat this fruit? The only person worthy of this fruit is my king. I should give this fruit to the king."

The Light of Ajaib

So in that way that fruit came back to the king. When the king saw the same fruit coming back to him through that prostitute he was very surprised. He at once went to that queen and asked her what had happened to that fruit, where did that fruit go?

At first she started making some excuses, but when the king pulled his sword out she confessed that she was not loyal to him and that she had had illegal relations with a servant and she had given that fruit to him. When the servant was called, at first he did not confess, but later when he was frightened he said, “Your Excellency, the queen was gracious on me and I had connections with her, but I was not satisfied with her, so I gave the fruit to the prostitute.”

When King Vatari heard all this he became very sad, very depressed. And he became more sad because he had thought that his second wife was also loyal to him, like his first wife, but when he did not find her loyal he became very sad.

So the meaning of this story is that once a person has moved in his or her relationship, afterwards he gets no satisfaction no matter where he goes. In this story curse on that wife, curse on that queen, who got the king as her husband but was not satisfied with him, and curse on that attendant, that servant, who after getting the companionship of that queen was not satisfied with her and went to the prostitute.

Saints always say that if you put more wood on a fire you cannot extinguish it – it will go on burning more and more. In the same way, if you are not satisfied by one person, you will not get satisfaction even if you go to many other people. So that is why They always put emphasis on maintaining our married life. They say that even if you feel that this is a very bitter drink, still you should drink it. It is possible that if you drink this bitter drink it may prove to be very good for you in the future. That is why They always emphasize to maintain your married life.

For this reason King Vatari was compelled to give up his kingdom and all the worldly things and become a renunciate. He went to Gorakh Nath and spent the rest of his life in the renunciation.

If the parents who have children get a divorce it has a very bad affect on the children. I meet many children whose parents have gotten a divorce and they suffer a lot. They ask me where they should live? Whether they should live with their mother or their father and they tell me how it is affecting them. Many times I have seen that such children’s minds are affected and when they grow up they also become like their parents. Right from their childhood they have this impression that their parents were always fighting with each other. Since their parents have gotten a divorce, that has a very big impact on them. Later on it develops into a problem of their minds [a way of thinking] and they tell me that their condition is because their parents had gotten a divorce and things were not harmonious in their family.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “Whatever you are doing now, it is possible that your children may also do the same thing, because they have to learn from you.” He used to say, “As are the parents, so will the children be.” Whatever you are doing now, your children will do the same thing when they grow up. They will know from today that their parents did such a thing, and they can also do that.

Even animals have the effect of their parents’ habits. In this context Master Sawan Singh Ji used to tell a story which I have also told many times in the Satsang and I will repeat it again. Once there was a prince and princess who loved each other but their parents were not agreeing to their marriage so they both decided to run away from their homes. The princess said, “I will bring a she-camel and on a certain night we will both run away from our homes.”

The Light of Ajaib

So accordingly she brought the she-camel and both of them ran away from their home. When they had gone a little way, they came to a small canal. That princess knew the habits of that she-camel so she told the prince, “Pull the camel’s rein otherwise she will sit in the water.” And at once she added, “Her mother used to do the same thing.”

When the prince heard that, it affected him. He thought, “If the animals also take the habits of their parents, what will happen to my children? Now this woman is running away with me, we are both running away from our homes, we will get married and have children. What if my daughter also runs away with somebody else? What will happen to me? What will people say? People will say, ‘His daughter has run away from home’ and it will be a very bad thing for me.” So at once he realized his mistake and went back to his home and he did not go with that princess any more.

So whenever people ask me about divorce I always tell them, “Before making any decision you should consider the condition of your children also. Because whatever you are doing now – if you are living a restless life, if you are thinking about divorce, and if you are doing all those things – your children will also develop the same habits. They will do the same thing which can be very painful for you in the future.”

We are human beings and God has given us our children as His gift. It is possible that from our children there may come the leader of the country, of the world and they may show other people the truth. It is possible that they may rule over the country and the world. If we are doing all these things and not allowing them to be what they should become do you think that we are doing justice to our own selves? Are we doing justice to the will of God?

QUESTION: Beloved Sant Ji, could you please clarify the position of what karma we make if we give money to deserving charities? Also what is the difference between giving and sharing? Do we make bad karma if we do not give ten percent of our earnings to those less fortunate than ourselves?

SANT JI: All the Saints have emphasized that before giving the donations you should always be very careful; find out in what way your donation is being used. Because as you are entitled to have the fruit of your good karmas, in the same way you are entitled to suffer the consequences of the bad karmas which might be created by the use of the donation you have given. You may have heard on the radio or read in the newspapers how some religious organizations or institutions, which were run with the donations of other people, became restless and killed many people, and how bad things happened in the past.

So just imagine if, using your donated money, someone buys a rifle and kills someone or does some other bad thing, that karma has to be paid off. When God sits down to decide who should suffer the consequences of that karma, will you not be one of those who has to suffer the consequences of that karma, since your money was involved in that?

In Mr. Oberoi’s book there is a story: someone donated a cow and by that donated cow a priest ate meat and drank wine. After that, the person who donated that cow to the priest, continued to have the feeling of that undigested meat and wine, even though he had never eaten those things. (He belonged to the Namdari sect – they are very pure people who do not eat meat and drink wine.) He went to many organizations, to many places, but he could not get rid of that problem. When he became one hundred years old he went to Master Sawan Singh and only after that he paid off that karma and got rid of that problem.

Kabir Sahib says, “Those who move the rosary of someone else other than the Master, those who give the donation to someone else other than the Master, their donation is not accepted, it is illegal. You may even ask the Vedas and Koran about this.” Master is the only One Who knows about where He has to spend our donation. He has to spend our money and He does not accept more than is required. Only He knows where he has to spend the money of His children and make that money successful. For His own purpose, He has some kind of business or farming going on. He earns His livelihood by honest means and He does not accept even a little of the disciple’s money for His own use.

One should only donate to the needy people. What is the use of giving donations to such organizations which already have a lot of money, for whom it has become difficult to take care of that money. But on the other side if you find a person who is hungry, who really needs that money, you should donate only to such needy people.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “First you fulfill the needs of your family, your home, and then you look at your neighbors and fulfill their needs, only then should you look at the other organizations.”

There is a story in the books of the Muslims that once about three and a half million people went to Mecca. Mecca is the place where Prophet Mohammed was born, and the Muslim people understand that by making a pilgrimage to that sacred place they will get liberation. So many people went to Mecca and as all of them had gathered there a voice came in the sky which said, “Many people have come to Mecca this time but there is no one in this crowd whose pilgrimage has been accepted. But there is a cobbler in the city of Damascus who has not been able to come here personally but his pilgrimage has been accepted.”

The King of Balakh Bokara was a very good soul, he was searching for God. He was also there and when he heard that nobody’s pilgrimage was accepted, including his, and only one person’s pilgrimage was accepted, and he was not even there, he wanted to go to the city of Damascus to see that cobbler. He wanted to know what goodness that cobbler had so that God had accepted his pilgrimage and not accepted anyone else’s pilgrimage.

So the king went to Damascus and looked for that person. Finally he met that cobbler and asked him, “Brother, tell me what goodness you have, what good thing have you done, that God has accepted your devotion but not ours, even though we went there in person. We made such long journeys but He did not accept our devotion. What have you done that God was compelled to accept your devotion?”

That cobbler said, “I don’t know, but I know that I had been preparing for this pilgrimage for a long time, I was collecting money for it. Once it so happened that a very strong smell was coming from our neighborhood. Something was being cooked there and my wife wanted to have a bit of that dish. So I went to my neighbor and asked them to give me a bit of that. But my neighbor painfully said, ‘This is not food fit for humans; this is the flesh of animals. We were compelled to eat this only because we have been starving for the last eight days. We did not have any fruit or any vegetables to eat, that is why we killed this creature of God, and we are cooking it so we can eat it. You should not ask for this because this is not food for the human beings.’ When I heard that my neighbor had been hungry for the last eight days I could not bear that. At once I took all the money which I had collected for the pilgrimage and I gave it to my neighbor so that he could buy good food to eat. So maybe because of that God has accepted my devotion. He made me also hear His voice, ‘Since you have had pity on my creature that is why I accept your devotion even though you won't be able to come to Mecca physically, but still your devotion is accepted.”

So Saints always tell us to be careful in the decision of giving away your hard-earned money. As a matter of fact, only the Master Who has taken up your responsibility, only that Saint Who is going to help you in the beyond and Who is helping you here, only He knows where your money should be used. Because only a father knows where the hard-earned income of his children should be used. In the same way, only the Master knows what is the best place where He can use the money of His children.

Saints always tell us that we should not become ungrateful; we should always go on donating from our hard-earned money. As Kabir Sahib says, “If more water comes into the boat, the wise thing to do is to throw the water out with both your hands. And in the same way, if more money comes into your home, it is a wise act to give out that money to the needy people.”

Satsangis should not look at some other organization for donating. Since you have gotten Initiation you are Satsangis, and there are many Satsangis among you who may be needy, who may be poor, who may need your money. So you can find such people and you can help them or you can donate to the Ashrams or to the Satsangi institutions.

You know that when I went to America for the first time, many dear ones there did the seva physically, and they donated a lot of money there also, and as a result a very good place was made there for so many people for the meditation. When people take advantage of those places the benefit of their meditation also goes to those people who have donated, or to those who have helped in the construction of such things.

Even now when I am going on Tour, the sangat may be needing a lot of money, because many people will be coming there. If God has given you any extra you can give to those sangats, you can send to those Satsangs so that dear ones can take advantage of it.

In your sangat also, there might be people needing money, who may be needy, who may be poor and you should help your Satsangi brothers and sisters wholeheartedly.

1993 December: When You Live a Pure Life

Session Date: January 14, 1984

This talk was given on January 14, 1984, in Bombay, India.

QUESTION: [The question and first part of reply is missing from tape – Editor]

SANT JI: Also, I have said this very often, that whatever the mind desires, that can happen, if the mind continues working in that direction. Now, what is our condition? We do desire to reach Sach Khand; we do desire to have the yearning for the Master. But, at the same time, we do not work hard for that; we do not work hard to achieve all those things.

Since we do not work hard to achieve our target, how can we expect the inner veil to be lifted. We yearn for all those things, but we do not work for them, we do not control our thoughts, we do not control our diet or our outer actions which affect our meditation, and affect our progress directly. And we do not keep the diary exactly in the way that Master Kirpal told us.

The Light of Ajaib

If we introspect our life correctly and thoroughly, then we will know how many faults we have within us, and how many times we make the same mistakes. I always say that, in keeping the diary, just to write down the faults is not enough. Writing down the faults means that, the next day, you should not do the same fault. But, I am so sorry that when I get the diaries from the dear ones, what I see is that the mistakes they have done on one day, they repeat the same mistakes on the next day also.

In this context, I often relate the saying which we have in Rajasthan, that when the town authorities come the person who has done unauthorized construction, he accepts that he has made the mistake, and he will amend it; he will make it all right. But as soon as the authorities go back, he does not worry about it; and he does not change the construction he has done. In the same way, we do have love for the Master, we do yearn and long to do the devotion of the Master. And when we know about our faults we think that we will not do this again and we will meditate more. But after that yearning has gone, after that longing has gone, we do not worry about it and we do not try to improve ourselves. We do keep the diary, and after writing down the faults, we forget that we are supposed to remove these faults.

If we lose anything of the worldly nature, we feel the loss, because we can see what we are losing. But we do not feel the loss which we are having spiritually, because we cannot see how much we are losing spiritually, how much spiritual wealth we are using. But Master knows that by not doing our meditations and by not obeying the commandments of the Master, how much spiritual loss we are having, because He can see our meditations, He can see everything. So that is why the Masters always tell us to abstain from [those things which make us lose our Spirituality] and to work hard.

Now first of all we do not meditate. What is a meditation? Is this love for the Master, that we do not see the spiritual loss which we are having? When the yearning comes in our within, when we long for doing the devotion of the Master, first of all, we do not meditate. And, if, by chance, we come to meditate, we would get up in the morning and meditate for a couple of days. And even then it will not come from our heart; we will not have the courage to do that meditation wholeheartedly. Instead of asking for Master in the meditation, we ask for the worldly things. And suppose if we continue meditating for ten days half-heartedly, we lose all the Grace only by asking for the worldly things. So this is not the meditation; this is not the courage; this is not love for the Master.

In order to keep the souls trapped in this world, and in order to delude the souls and keep them in this world, the Negative Power has created many things. Many inventions have been made: things like cinemas (which is no doubt the imitation of what we have inside). Cinema has been invented, television and things like that have been invented, so that the souls may get attached to all those outer things and see all those things outwardly and may never get inspired to go within and get the real thing.

You know that when people go to cinemas, they spend a couple of hours there. They spend a lot of money also there, and it affects their health. Just imagine how can we have a good effect by seeing the bad movies? It spreads our thoughts more, so how can we concentrate our thoughts? How can we collect our thoughts?

The first movie or film I saw in my life was a movie they had made of me, which was shown at Sant Bani Ashram. And that also, [was because] I wanted to know how they make the movies, how they make the films, using the cameras, etc. So that is where I saw the first movie of my own self. Even in the Army, once a week they would show us a movie free of charge. But on the day they would have the movies, I would not go to see the movie. I would take somebody else's duty and tell him to go and enjoy the movie while I was attending to his duty. When the officers would ask me why I was not going to see the movies, I would tell them, “The poison, even if it is given out free of charge, will still work; it will have a bad effect. That is why I don’t want to see them.”

Once when I was in the Army on my duty, I had to go from the town of Nabha to Dehra Dhun because we were going to be posted over there. We were going in a truck, with my signal officer and my second operator, with our wireless set [radio], since I was the wireless operator. On the way, when we were about to reach the town of Saharanpur, something went wrong with the truck and we got stuck there. Suddenly it started raining and the weather became very bad. So it was very difficult to go out and find someone to fix the truck. So we decided to stay in the truck. And we had to stay there for about three or four hours, since it was raining very heavily. There was no way out.

In order to spend the time, my signal officer said, “Okay, there are three [of us] people in this truck. Let us play cards to spend the time.” Both of them knew how to play cards, but I did not know how to play cards. So I told them, “I don’t know how to play cards, and I don’t like to play cards.” They said, “If you don’t know, we will teach you how to play the cards.” But I told them that it is a sin even to learn something which is not good; because I used to say that I understand that playing cards is like gambling, and I don’t want to get involved in that kind of bad deed.

So he got upset and he told me to go out of the truck. When I went out of the truck, He told me to come back in, because it was raining outside; then he told me to keep standing while they were playing cards. So I preferred to take that punishment of standing for four hours, but I did not want to spoil myself by learning that game – by learning to play the cards. And I preferred to have that punishment.

So I mean to say this: if we give up all the small things – those bad habits, those bad things which we do not see as very bad things, which we do not see as major things, but they do affect our concentration – they do affect our thoughts. If we give up all these minor small things, small bad habits, small worldly things, we will find that, by themselves, the thoughts will become pure and you will gain the concentration. And then, you will not find it difficult to take a courageous step in making your life better.

My life in the Army was very pure. And whenever we would get surrounded by the enemy, especially in the war with Pakistan, in Kashmir, when we were surrounded by the enemies all over, we did not know when those people would go, and we would be able to come out. So the officers, even though they were older and more experienced than I was, they would ask me how long they would have to stay in that position – Would they be able to survive? – because they had small children, they had families. And they were afraid. They would ask me what is going to happen next. They wanted me to tell them about the future. This was only because of the purity of my life over there. And they used to say that since I did the devotion, I might know what was going to happen next. So I mean to say that when you have a pure life, when you live a pure life, you can know what is going to happen next; you can know a lot.

QUESTION: Could Sant Ji speak about our specific duties as parents to our children who are initiated?

SANT JI: The parents have a great responsibility for making the lives of the children whether they are initiated or not; because they are the gifts of God, which God has given to you very graciously. They are innocent souls, and they don’t know anything. That is why the parents have the great responsibility of making the lives of the children.

Whether the children are initiated or not, it does not make any difference. When I first went to America, a non-initiate parent asked me what the parents should give to their children. I told him that the parents should give them a good education, good understanding; they should make their life good. Because, if you will give your children a good education, if you will make their life good, wherever they will go and live in the world, they will earn their livelihood, they will stand on their own feet, and they will glorify the name of their parents. But if you do not give them a good education, if you do not make their life good, then what will happen? Even if you give them all the wealth you have collected, since they don't have a good education, since they don't have the right understanding of the world, they will waste all the wealth which we have given to them. So that is why it is much better to give them a good education and good understanding than to give them the wealth.

Always keep the children on the vegetarian diet. Tell them the disadvantages of eating the non-vegetarian things. You should tell them that by eating the meat and the non-vegetarian things the soul becomes more dirty. And when the animal is killed for being used as meat, the vitamins which it has are reduced; and in comparison to the vegetables and the vegetarian things, the non-vegetarian things are not as nutritious as the vegetarian things are. But we do not have the complete knowledge of the vegetarian things. That is why many people think that the non-vegetarian things give more strength. So lovingly you should make your children understand the benefits of eating the vegetarian things, give them good educations, and always help them to abstain from the bad habits. If the children are initiated, make them meditate. Make them develop more love and faith in the Master. If they are not initiated, inspire them to understand and accept the teachings of the Master, and have them get the initiation.

If you tell your children the disadvantages of drugs, and the advantages of the vegetarian food, if you tell them the bad things drinking does – right from the beginning if you make them understand all these facts, then you will see that your children will become so strong in their lives that they will prefer to die out of hunger, but will not touch the meat, wine and drugs and things like that. If you have given them correct understanding right from the beginning, if you have manifested such kind of pure thoughts in their minds right from the beginning, you will see that it will help them a lot in their future.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to tell a story about His own children and a person who worked in the same office with Him. He was a clerk and he used to eat meat, drink wine and he used to feed his children also with meat and wine and things like that. Many times he would try to inspire Master Sawan Singh's children to eat meat and to drink wine. But whenever he would mention those things, the children of Baba Sawan Singh would all at once run away from that place; and they would never even touch wine and meat, what to talk about eating.

But at that time, he did not understand. So he would tell Master Sawan Singh, "You have made your children very strong. They do not even like to hear the name of wine and meat." And he did not understand the value of that at that time. So Master Sawan Singh would tell him, "The time will come when you will understand why I have made my children so strong. Because the things which you are doing with your son, with your children, the bad habits you are planting in them, you will see what happens to them in the future."

The same thing happened later on, when the children grew up. They started drinking wine and eating meat in abundance, which became a cause of problems to that person. And later on, once when he met Master Sawan Singh, he told Him, "Now I realize why you had made your children so strong. And whatever you were telling me about making the lives of my children, now I understand that. But now what can I do, because now they have become very bad.”

So the only thing I mean to say is that if we understand our responsibility to make the lives of the children, and if we do it understanding it as our duty, then it makes their life very good. And if they are initiated, since their thoughts are not spread very much in the world, many times it happens that they open their inner veil much before the parents open their inner veil. And many times they will start talking with the Form of the Master in their within.

A few days ago, Pappu wrote me a letter about his son. You know that his son is very small, and he is very innocent. I don't know what is going to happen tomorrow, how they will make his life. But now I can say his thoughts are very pure; he is very much devoted. So a few days ago, when Pappu wrote me a letter about his son and about his children, he said that, whenever they play anything on the television which is not of the Master, Pappu's son Raju says, “No, don't play this; play only the thing which has Baba in it.”

He does that and he makes them shut off the TV; he makes them play the video of Baba Ji. And even here also, you see that they know what Baba Ji means. Whenever I come to visit their family in Delhi, Pinkie, since she is the elder one, she knows how to come and hold her hands and bow down in front of Baba Ji. She does that. And in the beginning she started bringing Raju also because he was small. And she would make him also bow down in front of the Master. So I mean to say that they are innocent souls, and if they have the good influence on them, they know what the Master means, and they become more devoted than the parents.

Hira Lal, Pappu's father, once told me that when Kulwant, Pappu's elder brother, went to visit some family, and they were non-initiates so they did not have Master Kirpal's picture in their home, so Kulwant did not drink tea over there. And he said, “I will not drink tea here because they do not have the picture of Master Kirpal Singh.”

So I mean to say that when you have such a good influence on the children they grow so much in their love for the Master that they would not like to eat or drink anything in such a house where they don't have a picture of the Master. They will not like to go and visit any non-initiate. Here also, when Bala, Pappu's sister-in-law, brings food for me, Pinkie comes along with her. So one day when she came here – I know that children always like to eat things – so I told Bala to give a banana to Pinkie, but she would not take it from Bala. She said, “I want parshad from Baba Ji.” I gave her the same banana which she would not take from her mother.

So I mean to say that the children don't even care about the food. When they have the good influence on them, they would want the Master to give them parshad. So children are the innocent souls. It is our responsibility to make them develop love for the Master, to make them develop faith in the Master. If we have good influence on them, if we make their thoughts pure, make their thoughts good, in the future it proves very good. Because then, the children make their lives, and we don't have any difficulties.

Saints have so much love for the children. That is why you know that They do not mind seeing the children even if they are dirty, or even if they are making noise. Very patiently, They listen to the children, and no matter what they are doing, They do not get upset at them. Because They know that They have to make the lives of the children. And that is why, whenever the children come, I am happy to see them. Masters know that it is in the hands of the parents to make the lives of the children. That is why They always tell them to be patient, and to patiently make the lives of the children.

The only meaning of telling this story of the family is that if we make the foundation of our children good, in their childhood, they will become very good people in the future. And the parents also get the benefit of their becoming good, because then they will have no difficulty, no problem, when the children grow up. If we have brought them up according to the teachings of the Path, if we have put good thoughts in them when they are small children, then when they grow up, they grow up with the same thoughts and they become good people.

It was a very good Satsang. This was the last program which we're having together, because you know that tomorrow, the regular Satsang is at 11:00. And the day after, on Monday, also, there's a Satsang at 11:00, so we won't have another meeting like this. It was very nice having all of you here. And now I hope that the dear ones will sing the bhajans that will remove their laziness.

19941994 January/February: When the Master Becomes HappySession Date: January 8, 1994

This question and answer talk was given January 8, 1994, in Bombay, India.

SANT JI: Salutations unto the feet of Beloved Gurudev's Sawan and Kirpal Who have generously given us these opportunities to sit in Their remembrance and do Their devotion. When we fortunately meet a perfect Master, then giving up the company of the mind and the organs of senses, we should love that Master wholeheartedly, sincerely and honestly. Because when we will love the Master, then our attachment to the worldly things will decrease and it will become easier for us to go within. So that is why, when fortunately we get the company of such a Master, we should love Him; we should follow His commandments without having any fear. Without having any doubts, we should go within and connect ourselves with the Naam within. He has come into this world to shower so much grace upon us. He resides within us and from within He showers grace upon us. He connects us with that Power within for which we have been yearning and for which we have been searching for a very long time. So that is why, if God Almighty showers grace upon us and if He brings us to a perfect Master, we should take advantage of that grace.

QUESTION: Many Satsangis have read in books or even experienced the struggle that happens when the Master leaves the plane of illusion and returns permanently to Sach Khand. Can Master tell us how we should conduct ourselves and how we can stay firm in the Naam, even if we have not yet manifested the Form of the Master inside?

SANT JI: Usually such questions always keep coming up within the Satsangis. When these kind of changes take place, [the struggle and confusion] happens. Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say that when the Masters start holding Satsang many different kinds of people come to them. People come to the Masters who have the qualities of the hansas or the swans, and people with the qualities of the crows also come to the Masters.

History bears witness that every time a perfect Master has left the body, not all the followers of that Master, not all the dear ones from the sangat of the Master struggle or fight among themselves or fight for the property and things like that. There are many dear ones who have the qualities of the swan – and those who really love the Masters, those who go within – they do not care who takes care of the property and what happens after the Master leaves the body because they really love the Master and they really know Who the Master was. That is why they do not get involved in the struggle, they do not get involved in back-biting criticism, and fighting over the property. Since they really loved the Master, they ask only for the Master from Him and they do not care for any other thing.

But those people who do not have love for the Master, those who do not go within, they are the ones who struggle for all these things, and only those people who do not have that quality of the swan, fight and they struggle. Whereas the dear ones who have the qualities of the swan, they can easily discriminate between the true and the false.

The jivas with the qualities of crow also come to the Master. The Master accepts them equally. Master showers His grace upon the gamblers, the deceitful ones, the liars and the thieves. Those people, even after coming to the perfect Master, do not want to give up their bad habits and they continue indulging in their bad habits even after coming to the perfect Masters. Those are the people who always go on looking at the property and the worldly things. They always are looking forward to that time when the Master would leave the body and they could take His place. Those are the very people who learn all the acting and posing of the Master, they see what kind of clothes the Master wears, how He speaks, and how He acts. Those are the people who, when they get the opportunity, do not miss it and they at once create all the troubles and the struggles.

This is an incident of my own life. In the village where I used to live, I had made a very big, a very good, house and there was also a lot of property there. And the people who used to go there to see me were bothered more about the property and the house where I lived than they were bothered about me. They all would look at those things more than they would look at me. Because that place was on the highway it was very convenient for the people to come there especially those who would use that highway. They would stop on their way.

Once one military officer came. He was going somewhere, so he stopped there. We lovingly welcomed him. We offered him some food. And when he was having the food, these thoughts came into his mind: “This Saint has not gotten married; He does not have any child.” He could not see any successor or anybody who would inherit that property. So he was wondering who will get all those things after this Saint will leave? So after he ate the food he said, “Baba Ji, one thought is bothering me. I do not see anyone here who could inherit your property, since you did not get married. I am wondering who is going to get all this property and who is going to be your successor?” I laughed and I said, “I was waiting only for you. If you want I can give everything to you.”

After just a few days, gracious Lord Kirpal came to that place. That place was made in His remembrance, and I was waiting for Him, because there was a hint from within that something big was going to happen in my life. “Someone is going to come and give me His grace.” So after a few days, gracious Lord Kirpal came there and He Himself saw all the property and the things which I had.

Then He told me that even the Saints make one mistake. “Even after coming to the physical plane my Master Baba Sawan Singh made this mistake. I also made this mistake of making the property, making the big buildings. Even though I was fond of living in the jungles and I did not want to make the property or the buildings, but still I made them, and now I see that you are also making the same mistake. So, while I am still in the body, you leave everything here and go to 16 PS and you make your residence there. You meditate over there. You do not need to come to see me. I will come there myself whenever I want to see you.” And He did keep His promise. Whenever He felt like coming, He Himself came and gave me His darshan.

Many dear ones who are sitting here have been to 16 PS, not once but many times, and you know the buildings which are there are not fancy, they are not very expensive. They are just made of brick and mortar. Most of the bricks and the iron girders which I had used in making the ashram at 77 RB are used in making the place at 16 PS. The reason for giving all these details to you is because it has relevance to the question which was asked.

Now I will tell you about those people who do the meditation – those who go in their within are aware of this fact that when the Master leaves the body He doesn't go anywhere. It is only that He changes the body; it is just a deception. Otherwise, He remains in this world all the time. When Mr. Oberoi had asked Master Kirpal Singh about who will work after Him, Master Kirpal Singh in His last days had said that the seed of the Truth never perishes. It always remains in this world.

The people who fight over the things, they form parties and we people, those who follow them, those who join their parties, we do all this because we do not have the discrimination. We do not have the quality of discrimination. We cannot discriminate between the true and the false. That is why we follow them. And even those people, those who fight over the things and those who form the parties, they also do not have discrimination and that is why they do not know what is true and what is not true. But Negative Power is such a Power Who will ask for an account of every single deed. He will ask for the account of every single morsel you have eaten. When the Master leaves the body and those people who formed the parties and those who make other people follow them when they themselves do not go in the within, when they do not know that what plane is there inside and when they do not know anything of the inner planes, how will they be able to take people inside?

Kabir Sahib said that the eye of discrimination has been damaged and that is why they cannot discriminate between a saint and a non-saint. But those who are followed by ten or twenty people, they are called the mahant or the saint. So, the people who are followed by the drum-beaters, and those who are indulging in eating food, other people in the world think that they are the true ones.

All of you have read the life of Master Kirpal and many dear ones who had the good fortune of seeing Him are also sitting here. You know that when His Beloved Master left this plane and went to Sach Khand, at that time Master Kirpal did not create any trouble, He did not fight over anything. He left that place saying, “Now when the Beloved Master is not there, what do I have to do with that place?”

And this is the reality, that He had made Himself a very good house, a very nice house there in that Dera. And He didn't even care for that. He left it. He just bowed down at that place and He became so sad and depressed that He left that place. What to talk about making the parties and fighting over all those things, He did not even look for His own things there. He went to the jungles of Rishikesh and He went into deep devotion there. Not even in the state of His dreams did He remember the property which He had left there. He did not even care who was doing what in that place. He did not criticize anyone and He did not have any bad feelings for anyone. I say all this because I got many opportunities to be with Him and I know that He had love and respect for everyone.

Mr. Oberoi has written a book [Support for the Shaken Sangat] and I'm sure that most of you may have read it. If not, you should read it. There is a story of Master Kirpal Singh with Bhai Sunder Das which tells how Sunder Das was given the experience about those people who do the acting and posing outside and how they are troubled, how they are punished by the Negative Power. Negative Power does not even spare those people who act and pose. This dialog which took place between Master Kirpal and Sunder Das was not at any place secret. It happened in front of many people and those people who witnessed this, those who heard this, even they tremble that this is how the Negative Power punishes those souls who deceive other people.

I remember this very well. There was a lawyer in that group who had witnessed all of that. He stood up, trembling, and told Master Kirpal, “Master, I have heard so many Satsangs of yours, and I was never afraid, but today what You are making this dear one say – You are not saying all this Yourself, but You are making him speak the truth. Now I am trembling, my heart is trembling, because now I have realized that the Negative Power is also a Power.” The Master is a Power, and that is some Power to Whom we have to answer, to Whom we will have to give an account of our every single breath.

Mr. Oberoi is the dear one, who right from his childhood had been in the company of Beloved Master Kirpal. Even his parents got a lot of support and love and consolation from Master Kirpal Singh because he belongs to the same village as Master Kirpal. So he has known Master Kirpal Singh from a very near distance and he knows how little Master Kirpal Singh was attached or bothered about the property. No dear ones, He was not at all attached to the property. He was only attached to the Master and He brought only the Master from the Dera.

Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to tell a story in this context about a king who went to Europe. And when he got there, from England he sent the message to his queens, “Please write to me for whatever things you want me to bring from here, like cosmetics or other things.” So, all the queens wrote to him about the things which they wanted. There was a queen, who in the eyes of the other queens was inferior. She wrote to the King, “I do not need anything, any gifts or any cosmetics. I need only you. I want you to come home.” So, when the king came back he sent all the gifts and cosmetics, and other things which the queens had requested, to them and he himself went to the queen who wanted him. Now you can very well imagine that where the king has gone there is no scarcity of anything over there. That queen had said, “This world looks beautiful only because of you. My cosmetics, my make-up, my beauty, is only because of you and I do not need anyone but you.”

So you can understand the meaning of this story – that the person who asks for the Master – when the Master is manifested within you, does that disciple need anything else? Will that disciple fight for any worldly possessions? If the Master is manifested within you, if you have the Master on your side, do you need anything else of this world with you?

We read in the history of the Sikhs about Guru Teg Bahadur: that when Guru Hari Krishan left the body, He only said, “Baba Bakala,” because Teg Bahadur was like a grandfather and Bakala was the name of the place where He was. So when Guru Hari Krishan uttered, “Baba Bakala” that was the hint that His successor was in the town of Bakala. So when everyone heard that, all His family members who belonged to the Sodhi community, the Sodhi family, all of them went to the town of Bakala and they all set up their own gaddis. They even employed preachers and they started calling themselves as the true successor of Guru Hari Krishan. You know that the truth is after all truth and you can never hide it. When the sun rises and when it is light all over, if the owls do not see, that does not mean that the sun has not risen. The sun has risen, even if the owls do not see it, but still it is giving the radiance to all the world. So in the same way, when the Truth manifests and when it shines everywhere, it is criticized. But the Truth Himself does not criticize anyone.

Makhan Shah the trader was just an excuse through which the Master revealed Himself to this world. It so happened that Makhan Shah’s ship was sinking and he prayed, “If there is anyone sitting on the throne of Guru Nanak, who is like Guru Nanak, may He save my ship, and if He does that, then I pledge 500 gold coins for His langar.” With the grace of the Masters, his ship was saved. When he came to the shore he went looking for the perfect Master who would be sitting on the throne of Guru Nanak. When he asked people, he was told, “Guru Hari Krishan has left the body and before He left He said, ‘Baba Bakala,’ so maybe in the town of Bakala you will find the True One sitting on the throne of Guru Nanak.” He went there and saw twenty-two claimants who were claiming that they were the true one. In those days the gaddi or the throne was called by the name Manji. So they all had set up their Manjis there and they had their preachers and everyone was claiming that he was the true one and everybody else was the false one. Makhan Shah became very confused because he had to give 500 gold coins to that Mahatma Who was true and Who had saved his ship. So he thought, “How do I know Who is the True One and who is not? Because I don’t go within I do not know where the Master Power has manifested.” He decided in his own self to start offering five gold coins to each one of them, and everyone happily accepted that offering. Finally, when he had given five gold coins to each of those twenty-two claimants, he asked if there was anyone else who was claiming to be the successor. Somebody told him, “We don’t know whether he claims to be the successor or not, but there is a mahatma who is called Tega, the crazy one,<sup>53</sup> and he doesn’t come out. He has made a cave, an underground place, and he always sits there in meditation.” So Makhan Shah thought, “Let me go to him also and offer him five gold coins.” So he went there and as he had offered the other people, he offered him five gold coins. (Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that usually the Masters do not perform such miracles. They do not reveal Their power to the people but sometimes when it comes in Their Will, graciously They do perform such miracles, They do reveal Themselves to some selected dear ones.) So like that Guru Teg Bahadur removed His shirt and told him, “Dear one, you pledged 500 gold coins and here you are giving me only five gold coins? Look at my condition; look at how much I have gone through in order to save your ship?” So when Makhan Shah realized that he had found the True One, when he saw that Guru Teg Bahadur was the True One, he could not control his excitement. You know that if you have lost something, when you regain it your joy knows no bounds and you want to share it with the rest of the world. So in that condition Makhan Shah, without any hesitation, went up on the roof top. He waved a flag and he said, “I have found the Guru!” Since Makhan Shah the trader was a very rich and influential person he established the Satsang of Guru Teg Bahadur. He got him out of that cave and He started doing the Satsang. In those days Satsang was called by the word divan. So, he set up the divan for Guru Teg Bahadur. And when the people heard about Guru Teg Bahadur and all this story, then the other claimants were very jealous of Guru Teg Bahadur. One of those Sodhis, whose name was Dhir Mal, in his jealousy, even shot at Guru Teg Bahadur. So the meaning of saying this is that even though Guru Teg Bahadur was the True One, still He did not claim to be the True One. He did not fight for any property, He did not fight for anything, because He had the Master with Him and He was only doing His meditations.

Dear ones, there is so much more I can say in answer to this question. But, cutting it short I will just tell one brief story from the Mahabarata which our Beloved Lord Kirpal often used to tell us. You know that when the Mahabarata war was going to happen, both Udystra and Duryodin went to Lord Krishna who was lying down at that time. Now Duryodin was very proud of his possessions, and of his armies, because he was a king and he had everything whereas Udystra, the oldest brother of the Pandavas, did not have anything and he was very humble. So in all his pride Duryodin went and he stood on the side of the head of Lord Krishna who was sleeping at that time and Udystra stood by His feet because he was very humble and he always took Lord Krishna as God. So they both were standing there and when Lord Krishna woke up – you know that when we wake up we first see the thing which is towards our feet – He first saw Udystra and He welcomed him. He said, “Welcome Udystra, I am glad that you have come

<sup>53</sup> “Teg” means sword, and “Bahadur” means brave, so the ninth Guru's name means Brave Sword. “The crazy one” may be a play on the word “Tyagi” or renunciate.

The Light of Ajaib

here.” He started talking to Udystra and asked him why he had come there. So Udystra said, “We have come here to ask for Your grace, because now everything is set for the war and it is going to happen.

When Duryodin saw that Lord Krishna had not welcomed him or seen him, and He was talking to Udystra instead, he got upset and he said, “I knew that you would take sides. He came later, I came earlier and still You are talking to him first?”

Lord Krishna replied, “But I did not see you because you were standing on the other side. Anyway I will not take sides. I will offer you equal things.” He said, “I have my whole army, and the other choice is I myself, and my condition is that I will not use any weapon. So you can choose who wants the army and who wants me.”

Udystra in all his humility said, “Duryodin you have the first choice, you go ahead and you ask for whatever you want.” So Duryodin thought, “What will I do with Krishna? Because He is not going to hold a weapon, He is not going to use a weapon and He is all by Himself. Whereas the army is huge in number and I also have an army and with that I can easily win the war.” So he went for the army, and Udystra was very happy to have Lord Krishna with him. And you all are aware of the result of Mahabarata, what happened, and who won in the end.

So the meaning of this story is that those who go within, those who meditate and rely on the Master, those who have the Master with them do not worry about any other thing, they do not fight for any other thing, they do not get attached to the parties or organizations or the places where the Masters have been because they know this fact: that when the Master Himself could not live in those properties and those places forever, since the Master could not take those things with Him, how could those things go with us? So that is why they do not attach themselves to those properties and outer things. They only attach themselves to the Master and only rely on the Master Power. They are the ones who have discrimination and they always win in the end.

The true heart, within whom the Master is manifested, and the heart which has been chosen by the Master, will never criticize anyone and He will not allow His dear ones, His followers to criticize the others, because He knows that God Almighty, His Master, is very pure and He is sitting within Him. How will He take the dirt of the other people and defile His heart? He will never do that. The reality is that it is not the wish of the Master just to give the Simran to us or just to connect us with Shabd Naam. He not only does that, but it is His hearty desire that while He is still in the body, all His disciples will perfect themselves, go within, and see the Reality. That is why He always encourages us to go within and do the meditation.

But we people are forgetful and that is why we become lazy and we do not do the thing which He wants us to do. Otherwise it is His desire that all of us become perfect, go within, and see the Reality so that when He leaves we may not stray from the Path or get into any delusion.

Even the gracious Lord does not forget His disciples. If for some reason the dear ones, the disciples, are not able to do the meditation in the lifetime of the Master, but still Master does not forget them. Sooner or later, Master definitely brings them to the place where they have to reside. Sooner or later, He definitely brings them to their Real Home.

In my life, Baba Bishan Das left the body, and the ashram which He had made was mostly made with the money which I had given to Him. He did not have any other disciple who could take care of that place or who would control that place. But before Baba Bishan Das left the body, He told me, “I am not attaching you, I am not binding you with these bricks. Because this is not your goal. He Who has to give you the higher thing will come to your home by Himself. You do not have to attach yourself to these bricks. You have to leave this place.” So when He left the body I also left that place.

Many dear ones, many people from that area, from that village came to me and they told me that it was my right to go and be there and take care of that place. I said, “No, it is not my right. I have nothing to do with that because these are not the orders of my Master.” Then they suggested that I nominate someone. I said, “No, these are not the orders of my Master. It is up to you to take care of it and I don’t have anything to do with it.”

In His bani in one place Guru Ramdas has written that if you put all the wealth of this world – all the riches, gold and everything, as much as all the water in the seven seas of this creation – and if you offered that to the Beloved of God instead of Master Himself, do you think that he will accept that? He says, “No, he will never accept it. He only asks for the love of the Master.” Guru Ramdas Ji Maharaj has even written this that those who are attached to and who are attracted by the maya, they indulge in the maya and still they never get any satisfaction. And to those people, even if you give them the wealth of all the different continents still their hunger will never be satisfied. They will always want more and more.

So we should also follow the Path of the Naam on which our Beloved Masters have put us and we should also please the Master. You know that it is the desire of the Master that all His disciples will become successful in His lifetime. You know that even a worldly teacher, when he sees that all his students have passed the examinations, he becomes very excited, he becomes very happy. In the same way, when the Master sees His disciples becoming successful in this path, He also becomes very happy. So, we should also rise above the slavery of the mind and the organs of senses. We should rise above body consciousness to the Eye Center. We should do the Simran and we should become successful by reaching the Eye Center every day.

Regarding the happiness of the teacher, I will tell you from my own life that when I passed the wireless operator’s examination in Nowshera (which was very tough), my teacher was also there. He was just taking a walk around the exam room and when he saw that I was doing my paper well and that all my answers were right, he was happy. But when it was announced by the English officer that I had secured the full score and that they were going to give me a salary of two levels higher as a bonus, my teacher became very happy and he lifted me up and expressed his happiness. The English officer said, “Even though this person was so confident about his answers that he wrote ‘R’, which he did not have the right to do, but still I am very happy that he has secured the full score.”<sup>54</sup> So seeing that, my teacher became very happy and he expressed his happiness. This was the happiness of the worldly teacher. So when we also become successful in this Path of Spirituality, in this School of Spirituality, our Master also becomes very happy.

1994 April: The Great Treasure of Grace

Session Date: March 11, 1994

This question and answer talk was given March 11, 1994, in Jaipur, India.

SANT JI: Salutations unto the Feet of Lords Sawan and Kirpal Who have given us this opportunity to sit in Their remembrance.

As you know today it is the turn to have the question and answer session.

QUESTION: Master, since many people asked me if it is possible for someone to die by accident before their time, could you talk to us about this so we may better understand what is written in the Anurag Sagar, “When death occurs before it’s time.”

SANT JI: It is not difficult for the Satsangis to understand this, but the thing is we people do not do the meditation, we do not go within and that is why we do not understand all these things. If we were to meditate, rise above the body consciousness, vacate the nine openings, rise to the Eye Center, and go beyond the stars, sun and moon and go within, then we can easily get the All-Consciousness and then we can easily understand such questions. The Satsangis who do the meditation and rise above the body consciousness to the Eye Center and go beyond all these things that I mentioned earlier, they become the all-conscious ones. But the Satguru does not let them sway in the waves of the emotions and that is why even though they know the reality, still they are not allowed to speak about it.

Such dear ones who do the meditation, they know what is going to happen; they know that the “accidents” or whatever happens, are all according to the pralabdha karmas and that everything is pre-determined. The dear ones who are higher and who go to Par Brahm, they also know about this, and even if some accident or something like that is going to happen in the next moment, still they don’t do anything to avoid it because they know that everything is happening in the Will of God.

Saints do not make any prophecies. The people who claim to be making the prophecies, even if they are able to tell us what is going to happen next, they are not able to avoid it. It is not difficult for a Saint to avoid a calamity, but They don’t do it because it not in accordance with the Will of the Lord.

Regarding this we have heard from Master Sawan Singh about the incident which happened in His own life, when His thirty-two year old son, who was an overseer by profession, left the body. Even though Baba Sawan Singh was capable of doing everything – if He had wanted, He could have prevented the death of His son, but He did not do that. Bibi Rukho, who used to cook for Baba Jaimal Singh, was of a very strong nature and whatever she wanted, she could always easily get done by Baba Jaimal Singh. So Baba Sawan Singh knew that if He went to the Dera with His sick son, it was possible that Bibi Rukho might ask Baba Jaimal Sing to prevent the departure of his son.

Baba Sawan Singh used to say, “I knew about the nature of Bibi Rukho, that is why I waited at the Beas train station for my son to have his last breath.”

Baba Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “At that time when my son left the body, I looked within myself; I neither found any sadness, nor was I regretting what had happened.” Baba Sawan Singh used to say, “It is not difficult for a perfect Master to do such things, but They don’t do it because it makes the difference in their Gurumukhship.”

The Light of Ajaib

In His bani, Bhagat Namdev Ji has written that God Almighty says, “If I have made a decision, my devotee can make me change the decision, but I cannot even change the decision which my devotee has made.”

Because the devotee of God Almighty has pleased God Almighty with all his devotion, that is why God Almighty does whatever the devotee wants him to do.

Guru Nanak Dev Ji Maharaj says, “Whatever they want, they get it done.”

So that is why Saints and Mahatmas say that whatever comes to us from God Almighty, the Satsangis should accept it lovingly.

Sufi Saint Farid Sahib says, “They always live a life of patience and continence. Even though God Almighty manifests within the body of the Saints and lives close to them, but still They do not reveal that to anyone.”

Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to quote from Maulana Rumi, He used to say, “When the Will of the Lord is unchangeable, then what is the use of doing anything in front of Him, why not just surrender to Him?”

The reality is what the Masters say, They say that before we are born our pralabdha, our destiny, is formed and it is determined for us whether we will have good health or bad health, whether we will be poor or rich, whether we will have pains or happiness. All the things which are going to happen in our life are all predetermined. They all are written in our destiny before our birth and everything occurs at the right time. But instead of understanding that as the Will of God and as something which is written in our destiny, the jiva cries; he even has doubts and gets upset with God.

Tulsi Sahib says, “First the Pralabdha was created and then the body was created. O Servant Tulsi, this is a very unique kind of play, but the mind doesn’t understand and believe in it.”

I can only advise you regarding this question that the Satsangis do not get anything from splitting the hairs. One should not bother with: “Why did this happen?” – “Why didn’t this happen?” – “Could this have been avoided or not?” – “Did it happen on time or not?” Instead of all this you should do more Bhajan and Simran so that your mind will get some peace.

QUESTION: Sometimes during meditation a sound comes which is neither from the right nor the left. What should we do to identify it?

SANT JI: This happens to many dear ones. When we listen to the Sound Current, and when we hear the Sound Current, every day we should try to catch the same Sound which we have been listening to. When it happens that you cannot identify the Sound, just listen to it. Because when the Satsangi rises above the body consciousness and comes to the Eye Center and meets the Master there, then all such questions are answered. When within us the Sound gets manifested and the Master gets manifested, the Master Himself solves all the problems and He himself identifies the Shabd for us.

If you will try to identify the Sound you will go farther away from It and you will have to start your meditation again.

QUESTION: Beloved Master, in Streams in the Desert You say that no Master has given permission to any disciple to get divorced. Nonetheless there are some Satsangis who say that You have given them permission to do so. Could You comment on that?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: It is a very interesting question. It is not only me who has said that. No Saint has ever given permission to any disciple to get the divorce; all the Saints Who came into this world have said so. You may read the teachings of Jesus Christ and you will find that even He said that divorce is a very bad thing. Even the word “divorce” is bad. Also the Saints and Mahatmas Who were born in the East have said that divorce will not solve any problems. In fact after getting the divorce we become more upset and we lose even more peace.

Well, I will tell you one thing which happened with me in 77 RB. One initiate of beloved Master Kirpal used to come to see me very often. He was very devoted and he used to stay at the Ashram for many days, but he was addicted to some sort of drug. You know that a person who is addicted, if he does not have enough money to fulfill his desire, he will look for the money from some other way – either he will steal, or beg or borrow – something like that.

So once when he came to the Ashram he was in need of money. At the same time a woman came to me with a piece of cloth and she offered it to me. I told her, “I don’t need that.”

She said, “Well there are many people in the sangat who come to You and You know better how to make the best use of it, so maybe You can give to someone who needs it.” So I accepted that and sometime later another woman came and I thought that she could use that piece of cloth in a better way so I gave that away to her.

That dear one, that initiate of Master Kirpal, that addict, had seen the first woman giving me that piece of cloth but he had not seen me giving that piece of cloth to the other woman. So he came to me and he told me, “I was sitting in meditation and beloved Lord Kirpal has told me that Sant Ji has a piece of cloth and you should go to Him and asked for that.”

I told him, “Dear one, if you had sat for a few more minutes He would have even told you that I have given that cloth away to somebody else.” So we people interpret the sayings of the Masters for our own use, in our own ways.

There was another person who used to beat his wife everyday, and when she would complain he would always “quote” Tulsi Das, saying, “He has said, ‘There are four things in this world who deserve the beating and woman is one of them . . .’ and that was why it was all right that he was beating his wife.”

So I told her, “If he is quoting from Tulsi Das you should beat him back. You should make your own couplet, you should say, ‘There are four things who deserve the beating and man is one of them. . .’”<sup>55</sup>

Regarding the married life, even Guru Nanak Sahib has written a lot. He says, “They are not the married couple, they are not the husband and wife, who live together just for the sake of the pleasures for a few days, and then leave each other. Those who live like one soul in two different bodies are the true husband and wife.” Don’t call them husband and wife who just sit together. Call them the husband and wife who live like one light in two bodies. So we should abstain and save ourselves from doing this evil, because it is nothing but going astray.

QUESTION: How brave or courageous can a disciple be without the mercy, grace, and infinite goodness of the Master?

<sup>55</sup> Editor’s note: According to some of the people who were there, this was a very powerful moment in the talk, and Sant Ji laughed when telling this story. It shows how ridiculously we twist the Master’s words to our own purposes.

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: How can one become the disciple of the Master if he does not have His grace? Because when we go to the Master for His grace, we will do those things which our Master tells us and by doing which our Master has received the grace from His Master. It is very easy to say, "I am the disciple of the Master." But it is very difficult to become the disciple. Guru Nanak Sahib says, "My beloved is dear to all. He resides within everyone, He showers equal grace upon everyone, He doesn't break anyone's heart."

So for the Master, all the disciples, all the initiates are equal and He showers equal grace upon them. He chooses only a few people just to make the arrangements and do the outer work. But as far as the grace is concerned, He showers that equally among everyone.

He has chosen these few people to do the work of the Master because through them He wants to distribute from the great treasure of grace to the other people.

A Satsangi can never become successful in this world without the grace of the Master and also he cannot take even one step in the Inner World without the grace of the Master. Because you know that this world is the jungle of pleasures of the senses and we can easily go astray, we can easily be misled if we do not have the grace and mercy of the Master. And the Inner World is even more complicated. If we do not have the grace and mercy of the Master we cannot take even one step there.

Master used to give the example of Maulana Rumi who used to say that no matter how wise the people are, but within, without the grace of the Master, the forces of the Negative Power mislead them.

A few days ago a relative of Sardar Rattan Singh left the body. He didn't come to the Satsang very often and I saw him just a few times. But he had a very difficult time when he was about to leave the body. He had adopted a son, and towards the end he hit that adopted son and his wife, and told them to go out of the room; he called for his two brothers who were initiated. He asked them to tell him about the Naam. They said, "We cannot tell you anything about the Naam because it will not bring you any benefit and also we will lose what we have."

So his brothers told him that whatever he had been doing earlier, whether he was repeating, "Wahe Guru," or whatever, he should continue doing that and whenever he felt better, they assured him they would take him to see me and then he could get the Naam.

One of the brothers who sat by him doing the Simran when he left the body, told me later on, "Baba Ji, when I was sitting near him doing the Simran he passed out peacefully; he realized in the end what the grace of the Master is, and he wanted to have that." But what can be done in the end if one has not gone to the Master earlier to receive His grace.

So for such forgetful souls who have not yet received the grace of the Master Kabir Sahib says, "Those who have not received the grace of the Master, they should at least make this prayer, "O Lord, pay attention to me because I am stuck in the ocean of life. If You will not shower grace on me I will drown."

Guru Nanak Sahib says, "Even if I am Your bad son, still it is Your reputation to take care of me." Saints and Mahatmas come into this world with a lot of grace and They always maintain Their reputation of being the Gracious Ones.

Swami Ji Maharaj says, “Whenever we get the sufferings and the pain, then we start doing the Bhajan and Simran. Look at the grace of the Master that He accepts even that meditation which we do when we encounter the pains and sufferings.”

Thanks to Lord Kirpal who allowed me to speak all this. Okay now, lovingly close your eyes and do the meditation.

1994 April: A Very Meaningful Principle

Session Date: February 3, 1988

This question and answer talk was given February 3, 1988, in Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: This is not a question; it's a kind of public confession of a dear one. When here, my mind feels ashamed or pretends to be. But when involved with the worldly activities more than with Bhajan and Simran, the shame goes away. From outside, I might appear to be a good person; but inside, my mind is full of every kind of dirt: dishonesty, lust, violence, anger, greed, and disdain for others.

SANT JI: The day after tomorrow in the Satsang, I will try to explain to you what kind of life a Satsangi should live, and what kind of people get honor in the court of the Lord. Only those people who are the same from outside and inside get honor and glory in the court of the Lord.

Mind is our greatest enemy; and he is sitting within us; he has made us his toy. We are dancing to his tune in his hand like a toy. But the Satsangis have been given the Power of the Shabd; and only to fight with the tricks of the mind, the Satsangis have been armed with the weapon of Shabd Naam by the Master. So they should always remain attached to the Shabd; they should always remain powerful with that weapon of the Shabd Naam, of the Shabd Dhun. They should always rise above the tricks of the mind, and come to the Eye Center. They should fix their attention between and behind the two eyebrows. They should come to the Eye Center, where the grace of the Master is coming in abundance.

If the Satsangis know how to withdraw from the other things and come to the Eye Center – if they remain at the Eye Center all the time they can easily save themselves from these petty tricks of the mind. Satsangis should not become worried about anything. As they are realizing and praying to the Master for His grace, at the same time, they should also make the efforts to make themselves better.

QUESTION: What is grace? Both the Divine gift and its reflection as it moves through time.

SANT JI: On the worldly level, it can be understood like this: Suppose there is a person who has done some very serious kind of crime. Suppose someone has murdered someone, and he is presented in front of the judge. Now the judge knows that this person has done the crime – he has murdered someone. And there is no way that he can be spared from the punishment; there is no way that he can be released. The judge knows about the police report, and that all the evidence and everything is going against that person. But there is always some room for grace or mercy or having pity on that person. It is not usually found in these cases; but sometimes it does happen that the judge – because he also has some power – may write, “All the evidence which is presented to me does not go against this person. And it was impossible for me to make the decision. That is why I’m giving him the benefit of doubt; and because of that, I am releasing him.” This thing happens sometimes, not always, because the Negative Power, in whose country we are living, does not want any kind of injustice. And that is why the people who are responsible for justice are expected to do the justice. But sometimes, the judges also do like that. This is unusual, but sometimes it does happen in a case that the judge declares the criminal – even though everyone knows that he has done that crime – but still the judge declares him as innocent.

This is on the worldly level. Even on the worldly level, the worldly judges have room to be merciful; and they also have the right to declare someone innocent, even though they know that he has done this wrong thing.

In the domain of the Positive Power, since we have joined the Positive Power and we are trying to go to the Positive Power's home, in the domain of the Positive Power, there is grace and mercy all over. What is the mercy or the grace? Master showers His grace; He does not look at our bad qualities, He does not look at our faults. He always showers grace upon us; He blesses us [with the inner] life – not the life we are living in. He knows that when our body does any mistake, our soul who is living in that body also suffers. That is why He liberates our soul from that body. He gives us another life. He blesses us with that immortal life which does not bring us back into this world again and again. And in that way He showers a lot of grace on us.

So this is called the grace. Grace means that He blesses you with the new life; He releases you from the cycle of coming into this world again and again. I will say that, in reality, the grace means to give your own throne to someone. You know that Master gives us the Initiation – when He takes us up – He gives us His own throne to sit upon, and He makes us His own Form. So this is called grace.

Dear ones, whether one is a Satsangi or a non-Satsangi, one should never think an account is not being kept of whatever they are doing. In the writings of the Saints and Mahatmas, the people who keep the accounts of all our deeds are called by the name chittera gupta. And they keep the account of our every single breath, of every single deed we are doing. And when we are presented in front of the Lord of Judgment, they present our file – our record – and every person has to pay for every single deed he has done.

The Lord of Judgment, Who is called the God of man, does not have any enmity towards anyone; He is not a friend of anyone. Whatever file or whatever record of a person is presented to Him, according to that record, or according to that file of the person, He decides where that soul should be given a birth, where that soul can pay off her karmas easily. According to her deeds, that soul is sent back into this world; she is given birth again.

But the way of the Satsangis is different than the way of the non-initiates, non-Satsangis; because it is written in the Bani that those who are the initiates of a perfect Master those who do the devotion under the guidance of the Perfect Master neither the chittera and gupta give any account of the Satsangis' souls. It is written that chittera and gupta, whatever account of the souls they write, their law does not apply to the Satsangis, because it is the Master Who keeps the account of the deeds of the Satsangis.

Right from the beginning, since I was inclined to doing the seva of people who needed help; I would always go and serve the dear ones who would need my help. In the Army also I got many opportunities. Whatever time I would have, I would go and devote that much time taking care of them.

So I got many opportunities to witness the deaths of many people. And I have seen that not everybody's experience at the time of death is equal. Some people are very quiet they do not say anything, and they leave peacefully. Some people have the habit of telling what they are seeing or what they are going through. I have also heard that some people say, "Yes, they are standing on that wall; they look very terrible, and they are going to come and they are going to take me.” And they are very much afraid; because they see the angels of death coming and bothering them. I have also heard some people saying, “Yes, our Master (or whoever they were devoted to) has come, and now we are very happy to go with our Master” or with our teacher; and they would leave peacefully.

But our minds are such that we do not believe in all these kind of things. And also because the doctors say, “This person has become crazy; that is why he is saying all these words.” But it is not that they have become crazy. Whatever they are seeing, they are reporting only that; they are seeing only that. But the doctors say that the person has become crazy or has a fever in his brain, and that is why he is saying those things.

Usually I have seen, even in the villages when the people die; and when they are reporting, when they are saying what they are going through or what they are seeing, usually the people say that they have gone crazy. Nobody wants to listen to any good or bad things they may say.

Now, even in India, we do not have any disease which kills many people. But about 25 years ago, there were so many kinds of diseases, which, when it would spread in the country, would kill families, would sometimes kill the whole village.

The incident which I am going to tell you is not what I have heard from other people; this is something which I have witnessed myself. One of my relatives was a boy of 14 years old, whose name was Hukam Singh. He became sick with one of the diseases which was spread at that time.

Whenever his parents would go and sit near him, he would always say, “The ants are eating my body; the dog is killing me – the dog is eating my flesh.” And he would also say, “There are many poisonous snakes who are coming and biting me.” And in that way he would always complain that he was getting a lot of pain. And whenever I would go near him, he would say, “It is good that you have come here; because when you come, then all those things do not bother me.” And he would feel peace, and he would always request me to remain by his side.

But whenever his parents would come and sit near him, he would always say that those things had come back, and that they were killing him they were eating him.

At that time I had not met Master Kirpal; I was doing the meditation of the first Two Words. And you can very well imagine what the Power was which was bothering him. It was definitely the Power of the Angels of Death which were bothering him. And because he was sitting with some dear souls, only then he was getting any peace.

We people do not believe. We say, “No, he was crazy,” or “He was having fever in his brain,” or “His brain became crazy; that is why he was saying all those things.” But no, that is not true. Every soul brings his own karmas to suffer; and the soul has to suffer the karmas which he has done. But when a dear soul goes and sits near him in the time of pain, he does get some relief; he does get some peace. It is like when you go and sit near the water, you feel cool; but when you go and sit near the fire, you feel the warmth. In the same way, if you are sitting with some dear soul – some pure soul – then you definitely get the relief even though you have to pay those karmas. But when you are sitting with the worldly people, you get all kinds of pains and difficulties.

We have a sevadar here whose name is Bachan Singh. He is not here in this group because he is sick. His wife left the body about four or five months ago – I don’t remember the exact date – but it was something like four or five months ago that she left the body. And last year, in the month of March, she started saying that there was a very monstrous dog in her within who was eating her body up. When she said that, the doctor who was attending her said, “She has gone crazy. The balance of her mind has been disturbed; and that is why she is saying things like that.” She used to call me “Brother.” It does not make any difference to the Master whether somebody calls Him “Brother” or “Friend” or “Baba” – whatever name. So she used to call me “Brother.” And she told her husband that she wanted to come and see me. She said, “Why don’t you take me to my Brother, and He will fix this problem for me.”

So when she came here, she took at least one hour to tell me the whole story; she told me everything. And I told her, “Look here, Sister, whatever karmas you have done, you have to pay for that. One day we all have to leave the body. But I can guarantee – I can tell you for sure that whatever you had to suffer, you have done that. But from now onwards, my Guru, Master Kirpal will take care of you. You will not have any problem; you will leave peacefully.”

She lived for four or five months after that; and she never complained about that problem. And just four or five months ago, she left the body peacefully.

I got the opportunity of meeting the doctor who was attending her; and then I asked him, “Now what do you say about the balance of her mind? Is her mind okay now, because she was not reporting anything like that?”

So I mean to say this: I am not saying anything for my own. Whatever the dear ones have told me about their experience, I am just relating that to you.

Dear ones, if we remember the Master Who has given us the initiation, with all our love and faith and devotion for Him, He helps us at the time when neither our mother nor our father – not even kingdoms and their power, nor any worldly wealth we have collected – helps us. He comes and helps us at that time, at that terrible time, when nobody else from this world can help us. He comes and helps us when we remember Him with love and faith. This is called grace.

But we should not become lazy and think, “When the Master is going to come at the end time – if we will remember Him, He will take care of us, then what is the use of doing the remembrance and the meditation?” No, dear ones, it is not good to become a burden on your parents. You know that one who stands on his own feet, one who earns his own livelihood, is the good child of the parent. In the same way, that disciple who does his meditation, who stands on his own feet, and who carries his own burden, is called the good disciple. The disciple who wants his Master to carry the burden cannot be called the good one.

If, at the time of death, we go on looking at the door, waiting for the Master to come, and if we go on praying for the Master to come and take care of us, what is our bravery? If we had solved this matter in our lifetime, if we had manifested the Master in our within, while we were healthy, while we were in the body; then we do not need to wait for Him, because He is within us. And from our within, He will help us.

QUESTION: Have the people sitting here already met in previous lives? And is it useful to know one's past lives to understand one's spiritual development? What is the difference between devotion to the Satguru and fanaticism? How can we increase our faith in the Satguru?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: Saints do not make prophesies, such as: “You have done these good karmas in the past,” or “You have done this bad karma in the past,” or “You were an elephant in your past life,” or “You were a horse,” or “You were a dog,” etc. But Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that we meet only those people in this lifetime with whom we had some connection in the past lifetime. Guru Nanak Sahib also says that those who used to fly in the past life meet those souls who are flying in this lifetime; and those who were on the land meet those who live on the land.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that this creation was created and the souls were given to the Negative Power to form His own creation, because Kal had done the devotion of Almighty Lord for seventy ages, standing on one foot. And as a result of that He got the gift of the souls from God Almighty to create His creation. He cannot create any new soul, He cannot destroy any soul. But He has the right to keep the souls involved in the trap of the karmas in His creation as long as He can. At that time, God Almighty told Him, “One of my Powers will also come into Your creation, and You have to give the human body to that Power. Also, You have to give the human body to all the souls at least once after completing the cycle of 84 lakhs, births and deaths.”

At that time, the Negative Power said, “Yes, I will give the human body to Your Power; and also I will give one chance of the human birth to all the souls after completing the cycle of 84 lakhs, births and deaths. But I have some conditions and that is that Your Power Who will get the human body, the Saints, should not perform any miracles.

“And the other condition is that wherever I give birth to the souls, whether I put that soul in a hunchback body, or whether I put that soul in any deformed body or anyplace, even if I put the soul in a body of an animal or any creature, he should be pleased with that body – he should be content in that body – and he should not be willing to leave that body. No matter how difficult or how miserable that body may be that soul should always be content with that body. The other condition is that no soul should know about what he has done in his past lifetime.”

Because if we would know that we are getting the comforts and the happiness because of this past good karma and we are getting the pain because of this bad past karma, I think that nobody would want to do any bad karma; everybody will do the good karmas; and in that way, nobody will do any bad karmas. But since we are not supposed to know about our past lifetime, that is why, out of ignorance, we do good as well as bad karmas.

Since Negative Power put this condition and got God Almighty to promise that the Saints will not perform any miracles, that is why Saints never perform any miracles; otherwise, it is not a very big thing for the Saints to give a leg to a crippled person and an eye to a blind person. If They were allowed to do that, They could easily attract all the souls in this world to the Path of Naam, and They can easily give Naam initiation to all the souls. And in that way, They could empty the domain of Negative Power.

But They cannot do that. That is why They never perform miracles; and that is why They always tell the disciples, “You also should not perform any miracles – you also should not use your powers. You should remain in the Will of God and do the things according to what We have taught you.”

It is because of the boon which the Negative Power has taken that the pig lives in the dirt; he eats the dirt; he always remains in the dirt. We know that the body of the pig is a very miserable body, but still, when somebody tries to kill the pig, he runs for his life and he cries for help. And even though he is suffering a lot in that body, still he doesn't want to leave it.

The Light of Ajaib

In fanaticism, we become jealous, we criticize others. We try to prove that we are better than others, and we always try to prove that the other people are worse than us. But when we do the devotion to the Satguru, we develop love within us; we love everyone. We do not throw dirt at others; we do not criticize other people. And we never judge others; we never criticize others. We always pray to God Almighty that we should not criticize others and we should not judge others; and we always pray to Almighty Lord to shower grace upon us and all the beings.

All the fights, the battles, and all the disputes – all the fighting and killing – are because of the fanaticism. What we are seeing today in the war of Iraq and Iran is nothing but fanaticism. Even though both the groups are following Prophet Mohammed – they believe in the same Holy Book – but one is called Shiah, the other is called Suni; and the Shiah people want to dominate the Sunis and the Sunis want to dominate the Shiahs.

If we want to write the story of devotion to the Master, we can write many books if we want, but we cannot write it completely. Because when we do the devotion to the Master, we have love for the whole world, for the whole universe. We understand all the societies, all the religions as our own religion, as our own society. And we have love and affection for all the beings of this world.

When I was at Sant Bani Ashram during the first World Tour, a person who was a Catholic came to see me. And he said, “I can never forgive those who are not Catholic; and I can never forgive you.”

When he was saying this, Pappu hesitated in translating; so I said, “Well, tell me what he is saying.” Pappu told me what he was saying and I told him lovingly, “Only one who has forgiveness in his within can forgive. It doesn’t matter if you forgive me or not, but I love you and I forgive you.”

It had such an effect on him that after that he became a dear one; he started writing letters to me, and he became a very good dear one.

Dear ones, no religion is bad; all the religions are good. Master Kirpal used to say that all the religions were made for the development of our soul, for our progress. Because in the depth of all the existing religions, there is a very meaningful principle, and that is the devotion of the Master and love for all. But we people forget the principle, we forget the foundation stone on which the building of that religion has been erected. And we start fighting for the useless things; we always forget the real principle on which that religion exists.

Saints and Mahatmas do not present any new formula to us. They always tell us about the past Mahatmas – They always talk about the past Masters in Whose Name we have formed the existing religions. Because, if you read the writings of all the past Masters, you will come to know that all the Masters have written about having love for all – doing the devotion of the Master. And They all have written about the presence of God Almighty within us; and They all talk about going to the perfect Living Master; because They tell us that God Almighty cannot be found in any holy book. It is the attention of the Living Master through which we can be lifted up and go back to our Real Home and realize God Almighty.

The present Masters tell us only those things which the past Masters have written in Their books. If you read the books of the past Masters, you will come to know how They laid a lot of emphasis on love for all and hatred for none, and how They talked about the importance of going to the Living Master.

If we knew about our past lives, it is possible that we might not progress in this lifetime, we might not do any meditation. Who knows what karmas we have done in our past lives? Suppose our past life has been very bad. It might discourage us; we might lose interest in becoming better in this lifetime; and it is possible that we might not do any meditation. So that is why it is not necessarily true that if you knew about your past life it would be useful for spiritual development.

You can read the Sant Bani Magazine and you will see how, when Baba Bishan Das had told me about my past lifetime, that I was performing the rites and rituals – I was doing the fire practice, the austerities. And He made me dig some land; and He showed me the bones of my past lifetime. And at that time he said, “Your past parents are still alive.” I touched my ears; because I was convinced. And I told Him, “No, Master, don’t make me see them; because I am already bothered by the present parents. I am not able to become detached from them. And if you will make me meet my past parents, it will become difficult for me.” So it is not necessary for you to know about your past life to progress in the meditations.

You should not go into details like this; because if you would go in your within, this matter can be solved there by itself. Not only of one lifetime but, if you go in the within, you can know about all your past lives, where you have been, and what sufferings you have suffered.

Fati was a Muslim Fakir who used to do meditation; he used to go in the within. And he was a contemporary of Baba Bishan Das. When I took Baba Bishan Das to see Master Sawan Singh, Fati also came with us. And there he told Baba Sawan Singh, “I know about your past lives. I know that once you were born the king of Faridkot. Faridkot was a state in Punjab, but now it is all dissolved in the state of Punjab. But at that time it was an independent state in Punjab. Baba Sawan Singh heard that and, in a very serious mood, He said, “Yes, I know. I even remember the poverty I have suffered in many of my past lifetimes. If I go and claim to be the owner of those palaces which I used to own in my past lifetime, do you think that they will let me go in?”

1994 May: The Importance of Our Vows

Session Date: January 29, 1984

This question & answer talk was given January 29, 1984, in Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Would the Master please talk to us about the power in the vow and the penalties of breaking one?

SANT JI: First of all, we should not make any promises or take any vows. If we have to take a vow or make a promise, before doing that, we should know in our heart whether we will be able to maintain it or not. And when we have made a vow, it is more important to maintain that vow than it was to make it.

Previously, when not many people were educated and there was not much reading and writing, in those days, people would take a little bit of water in their hand and would take any vow and make any promise; and that would serve as an agreement. After that they would never break their agreement, never break their vows, no matter how much they had to lose or how much they had to sacrifice They had the capacity of always being truthful; they would never lie. That is why their thoughts were pure and with a very little grace of the Master, they would go up. In the old days, people used to do more meditation. There were many people who were religious-minded.

The Light of Ajaib

I'll give you a worldly example, which most of the people in India still use. Whenever any father would give his word to someone else that he will marry his daughter to the other person's son, he would do that at any cost. At the wedding, both the boy and girl take vows; and they know that they have to keep these vows. They always keep their word, they maintain their vows throughout their life, and they separate only when death separates them. They do it because they know that it is very important for them to maintain the vow which they took at the time of their wedding.

But nowadays, what is happening? The Western culture is coming into the big cities of India. And as it happens in the Western countries, the same thing is also happening in the Indian cities. People don't take much time to break the vows they have taken at the time of their wedding. Sometimes people break their vows only a few hours after the wedding ceremony has taken place, or sometimes a couple of days or weeks after the wedding has taken place. They do not care for the vows which they have taken, and they do not care for their parents or their Master. [No matter] what they say, they don't pay any attention to that.

Because people started breaking the vows which they made at their wedding the government introduced laws. But what can the law do? The law can only punish those people. The law cannot bring them back to the real path. So when people started breaking their vows and started separating from each other, then the government implemented this law which could not do anything very solid. And nowadays, people don't care what their Master is telling them; people don't care what their relatives will tell them; they take no time in breaking the vows which they have taken at their wedding. There is a saying that, no doubt, God provides everything to everyone, and there is no one equal to God. But what is the value of God nowadays? God is used only for swearing. People use the name of God only to swear and only to make the vows. We have made a ceremony of taking the vow and breaking it; and we do not understand its importance.

I have given this example of the wedding vows, because at the wedding we take a vow of helping each other and living our life together. We become very happy when we take the vows at the time of the wedding. And when we break those vows, what happens? We become upset; and we always feel scared in our heart. I receive letters from many people who have already remarried after getting divorced from one partner. They write that they remember their previous wife or their previous companion, because one part of their heart says that they have made a mistake. So there is a part of the heart or of the soul which always feels bad about breaking a vow, because it is not a very good thing. Nowadays, why do the people not believe, why are we not convinced, when other people take vows or give their word? Because we have made this business of taking vows or making the promise as a ceremony.

In the story of the Mahabharata, which you may have read, it is told how in the Copper Age the Pandavas had given their word to the Korovas that if they would lose in the gamble which they were playing, they would leave all their kingdom and they would go into exile for thirteen years, out of which twelve years they will be known to people, and for the thirteenth year they would not be known to the people. And you know that when they lost their game, they gave up their crown and gave it to the Korovas and they left and went into the forest. And they wandered here and there for twelve years, and spent the thirteenth year without anybody's knowledge. They did not have any agreement or anything written on paper. It was just because they had given their word to the Korovas that they left everything. So before making any vows, or before making any promise, you should think about it. I would say not only for days, but if you want, you can even take weeks or months to decide whether you should take that vow, whether you should make that promise or not. Because if we do not maintain our vow, if we do not maintain the promise, then what happens? We get punishment in this world, and we get some part of that punishment in the other world also. You should not understand that you made a vow and you broke it, and you are not going to get any punishment. You will definitely get punishment.

First of all, in this world, the person with whom you have made the promise or the vows, he will get upset and he will be hurt. So you will get some punishment – you will face some karma – as the account of that deed. And the remainder of that will be paid by you in your next lifetime. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that, because of our give and take of the past, we develop love for other people in this lifetime and we develop hatred for other people in this lifetime. Since we have loved people in the past, we get the love from those people in this lifetime. And since we have hated some people and have had bad relations with them in the past, that is why we fight and argue with them in this lifetime.

So, why not keep our account clear? Why not keep all the things very clear in this lifetime – not upset other people, always love other people – so that we will not have to come back again into this world and suffer the hatred and the upset-ness of the other people whom we have made upset in this lifetime.

We do not care for a very big vow we have taken. And when we break that without thinking about its consequences, then we start not caring for the small vows or the little promises we have made to people, and that spoils our habits. Sometimes at the time of our death, this bad habit gives us a lot of problem, because the people with whom we have made the false promises and with whom we have broken our vows and our word, those people's faces come in front of us, and they bother us at the time of our death. Always remember that nature, Negative Power, and the karmas, all these are not useless things. They all exist and they all work according to their laws. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that Negative Power does not spare even one karma. Either the disciple has to pay the consequence of the karma he has done, or his Master has to take care of that.

There is no doubt in the fact that Master definitely helps, whenever it is possible, in suffering the karmas. But still the disciple has to suffer some of the consequences of his karma. And you know that when we are paying off even a little bit of karma, how much pain, how much suffering we have to take on our body.

If we have real love for the Master, and if we are really yearning for Him, we will definitely think about the consequences of the karma which we are going to do, and the consequences of not maintaining the vow which we are going to take. Because good children always stand on their own feet and they do not become a burden on their father; in the same way, the good disciples do not become a burden on their Master.

Before doing anything, before making any promise to anyone, they think about it: “If I will not be able to maintain this promise, who will have to carry the burden of it?” If we do the bad karma, if we do not maintain the promise, then definitely our Master has to share the burden or consequence of that karma. If we have real love for the Master, if we are the good children of the Master, then we will definitely think in our heart, “My Master is such a gracious One that He is ready to jump in the fire for my sake. Is it good for me to make my Master carry this burden of not maintaining the vow which I am taking?” So before making any vow, before doing any karma, we will definitely think about it.

There was a disciple of Guru Har Gobind whose name was Vidi Chand. He had the habit of stealing. Once he was stealing some things and suddenly the householders in that house woke up and called the police. The police came, and they started chasing him. While he was being chased by the police, he went on requesting to his Master, “Master, from now onwards, I take this vow that I will never do this bad thing again; but for this time You should save me.”

He did not find any place to hide himself. Finally, he came near a furnace which was not cold, it was still burning. And, remembering his Master, he went into that furnace. At the same time, Guru Har Gobind was doing the Satsang in front of many other people; and suddenly, He started saying, “I don’t know what is happening to my body. I am feeling as if my body is burning in a fire. Please bring the water and pour it on me.” So people brought water and poured it on His body. And nobody knew what was happening to Guru Har Gobind. Somebody thought that He has something from this disease and that disease. They all thought, according to their own understanding; but nobody really knew what was really happening.

After some days, when that disciple who was saved by Guru Har Gobind – because he went in the furnace remembering the Master, he did not feel any heat of the furnace and he was saved; he did not burn his body he came out and he knew that his Master had taken care of him, had taken his karma on His body. That is why he came to his Master, to thank Him. After coming to Guru Har Gobind, he became a very good devotee, and he became a leading sevadar. His name was Vidi Chand, and he was one of the leading sevadars of Guru Har Gobind.

So I mean to say that Master definitely takes the karma of the disciples on His body. At that time, when Guru Har Gobind was feeling that His body was burning, He told His disciples to pour water on His body. At that time, He was not receiving that water being poured on His body. In fact, He was sending the water to that furnace so it would cool down and His disciple would not feel any heat.

A few days before this incident happened, Guru Har Gobind told Vidi Chand that he should give up his bad habit of stealing; and he promised Guru Har Gobind that, from then onwards he would not do that. Once in the Satsang, when Vidi Chand was taking care of the people’s shoes, he was tempted to steal some of them, because there were some good shoes there. But then he remembered the promise he had made with his Master. But since he was in the habit of stealing things from other people, he could not control himself. So instead of stealing the shoes, he started changing their places. He would take one shoe from this end and one from the other end. Some dear one saw that and he complained to Guru Har Gobind. And he told Vidi Chand also, “Don’t do this. You have given your word to Guru Har Gobind that you will not steal things.” He said, “Well, I have given my word that I will not steal the shoes, but I have not said that I will not change their places.”

Even now many people remember this. I mean to say by this story that, since he did not maintain that small promise which he had made to Guru Har Gobind, and he continued doing his bad habit, that is why it led him to do such a big sin; and his Master had to pay the karma of it.

Always remember that when we do not care for the small promises, the small vows which we have taken, it leads us to commit a very big sin – a very big crime. And that makes us suffer throughout our lives.

QUESTION: Would you speak to us about the value and purpose of marriage and how it should be conducted?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: In the last question, I approximately answered this question also. Before getting married to anyone, we should think about whether we will be able to maintain the married life with that person or not. In Sant Mat it is not considered a bad thing to get married. Getting married is only getting dyed in the bond of love. And marriage means to take a companion in life, to make life easier.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “When people come to me and ask, ‘Master, should I get married?’ I tell them, ‘Well, if you can carry the burden, then you may get married. If you can maintain the married life, then you may get married.’ And when some people ask me, ‘Master, should I not get married? Is it all right if I live without getting married?’ I advise them, ‘Well, if you can maintain chastity without getting married, if you can save yourself, if you can abstain from committing the adultery, then you may not get married.’”

He used to say that it is not a bad thing to get married in the Path of the Masters. But Masters always emphasize maintaining a chaste life. They always say that you should not commit the adultery; you should always keep your life pure. Master used to say that, once we get married it is very important for us to maintain it. Up until now, no Master has ever inspired us to get the divorce; They have never inspired us to commit adultery. They always say that it is very difficult to maintain love, just like it is very difficult to develop the love for one Master even if we go on working for it throughout our lifetime. In the same way, it is very difficult to develop the love for one husband throughout our lifetime.

In the same way, we should try to maintain our marriage with one person only. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to further say that the wife or the woman who has many husbands, how is she going to please everybody and how is she going to care for everybody? In the same way, the husbands or the man, those who have many wives, those who have many companions, how are they going to please everyone? So that is why it is very important to maintain the marriage.

QUESTION: Master, when you give us parshad, we take a piece of that and take it home with us and mix it with other food and give it to the sangat, are we giving them any of our meditation? Is it okay to do that?

SANT JI: Regarding parshad, a lot has been published in Sant Bani Magazine. You should read it. You will get a lot of information about it.<sup>56</sup> Parshad means “grace.” In the parshad given by the Master, there is a lot of grace of the Master; there is a lot of earnings of the meditation of the Master. But it all depends upon our feelings, upon our receptivity, how we accept that parshad, and how the other person to whom we are giving the parshad accepts that parshad.

Before I came to the feet of Master Kirpal, there was an overseer who used to serve me a lot, with the intention that he may be blessed by a son because they did not have any children. So he used to serve me

January 1978, “The Value of Parshad,” p. 28 – “. . . how should we use it? . . . eat it all at once? . . . should we share it with other people?”

October 1985, “The Reality of the Saints,” p. 27 – “Is it all right to give parshad as part of a medical treatment?”

January 1989, “Simran Cuts the Simran,” p. 29 – “Are there different gradations of parshad?”

October 1989, “Be Careful in Making the Karmas,” p. 25 – “I wonder . . . whether the grace that comes through parshad and darshan depends on the belief of the person receiving it or strictly upon what You want to give?”

The Light of Ajaib

a lot. When I went to Master Kirpal, I brought him there also. And I wanted that Master Kirpal might bless him with a son, might shower His grace on him. So Master Kirpal gave him the parshad. At that time He was giving out the parshad of the ladoos, the sweets, and He gave a lot of parshad to that overseer.

After coming down from His room, when that overseer was standing there, another person who knew the overseer came there. And he said, “Well, you are an educated person. You still believe in the Saints and Mahatmas? Why are you standing here?” So the overseer felt very bad. He felt embarrassed, because he was an educated man, and he thought that it is not good for people to know that, even after being educated and having such a good position, he is still running after the Saints and Mahatmas, which is not a very good thing [from a worldly viewpoint]. So, because he felt embarrassed, he lost his faith in Master, and he gave the parshad, which the Master had given him, to somebody else. That person who received the parshad had many daughters, but had no son. So they took the parshad with a lot of faith in the Master, and he gave that parshad to his wife. And, after ten months, they had a very beautiful son. When they had the son, they came to me and they told me that the overseer had given them the parshad, and they took it with much faith in the Master. And as a result, they have been blessed with a son and they were very grateful to the Master.

About nineteen or twenty years after that son was born, suddenly a thought came into their mind, “We were blessed by this son only after we made the pilgrimage to the Temple of Duala Ji, which is in the mountains.” By then they had forgotten the grace and the parshad given by Master Kirpal, so they started thinking like that. And they thought, “Well, because Goddess Duala Ji has given us this son, we should go to her temple in the mountains, in the Kangara and we should pay our tributes there. We should thank that goddess.” So they went there; and on the way, their son, that boy, died in an accident. And when they came back, I came to know about that and I felt very bad, I felt very sorry; because they used to live in our area. And that is why I felt very bad that they had lost their son.

So the overseer did not accept the parshad with faith, and that is why he passed on the grace of Master, which he was going to get, to somebody else. And those people, even though at that time they took it with much faith and with much love, and that worked for them. But afterwards, when they could not maintain the faith in the Master, they lost the thing which they had received by the Master, which was, in fact, the grace of the Master.

I mean to say that, whenever we get any parshad from the Master, we should maintain it. Because it is the charging of the Master; it is the meditation of the Master which we are getting in the parshad which He is giving to us. It all depends upon our receptivity and upon our feelings how we accept the parshad. In the parshad, we get a lot of the grace of the Master, but it depends upon our vessel how we accept it.

In the West, people want to have children in their families, and I get many requests like this. But they don't care whether they get a son or a daughter. But in India we have this disease, this is a very common disease, that people want sons and not the daughters. [laughter] No matter if the son is harassing them, and no matter if the daughter is giving them much peace and happiness, still they would prefer to have the son. And that is why, whenever anyone gets any daughters, they feel very bad about it. [Lots of laughter by sangat and Sant Ji after this statement.]

QUESTION: Could the Master talk about some of the ways that we unknowingly lose the value of our meditation?

SANT JI: We do not lose our meditation; because whatever meditation we have done is preserved and protected by our Master. But when we say that we have lost the meditation, what happens is that our soul becomes dirty, and haziness, mistiness, comes over our soul. And that is why lust, anger, greed, attachment and egoism – all these five passions overcome us. Because of these five diseases, we go away from the meditation, and the [passions] do not allow us to meditate more.

Mind is our great enemy, and he is sitting within us. Like a competent lawyer, he tells us, “What is wrong in indulging in the lust?” “What is wrong in being angry?” “What is wrong in being greedy?” and egoism, and attachment, etc. He always prepares such ways in our within which take us away from meditation. One who obeys his enemy, will he ever become successful in his battles? One who obeys his enemy will never become successful. Your friend, who has real sympathy for you, is also sitting within you. And he is always telling you about the advantages of doing the meditation.

He always makes sure that you know the consequences of the bad things which the mind is making you do. But we trust our enemy and we do not trust the friend who is within us. Because, if we trust and believe, if we obey our friend, we have to work hard. Whereas, if we trust our enemy, if we believe in our enemy, then we do not have to work hard. That is why we do not follow our friend who is sitting within us, and giving us good advice.

We should behave with our enemy mind – like we behave with such people with whom we do not get along very well. You know that with such people, first of all we don’t want to see them, and if, by chance, they come in front of us, we do not look at them. We always ignore them. We should behave the same way with our mind.

Those people who have such an attitude for their enemy mind, they become successful in their meditation, because they never even think about the mind and the passions which he is creating, what to talk about allowing all these passions and the tricks of mind to come in their body. They have determined that they will not allow their enemy, and the passions and the army of their enemy, to enter in their body. That is why they become successful. They never lose their meditation and, by leaps and bounds, they progress in the meditation.

1994 June: Take Advantage of His Coming

Session Date: February 1, 1984

This question and answer talk was given February 1, 1984, at Sant Bani Ashram, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Master, in 1977, You said at Sant Bani that all Your initiates were going up in this lifetime. You also mentioned that the initiate goes up on the Master’s meditation, not on his own, that all the meditation that the Master does is stored for His initiates, and that He doesn’t really need it. Also if the initiate doesn’t meditate, supposedly the Master can’t help him. “What can the Master do if the initiate doesn’t meditate?”

Also Mother Millie told about going up in meditation to one of the higher planes and meeting an initiate who said, “I can’t talk to you now; I have to meditate! I didn’t meditate on planet Earth. Now I have to meditate a long time up here . . .” So, can Master comment on those comments, and also tell us about the fate of the initiate who doesn’t meditate, and also the fate of an initiate who does meditate but, for one reason or another, can’t quite do it properly.

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: When a seed is sown in the ground, whether in the right way or in the wrong way, it definitely grows. Meditation, whether it is done correctly or incorrectly, always gives us fruit. That is why we should meditate. Kabir Sahib said, “One who will meditate, will definitely someday meditate correctly.” The thing is that we need love, faith and trust in the Master.

I told a story previously, about a devotee of Lord Vishnu – the Hindus remember Lord Vishnu by repeating many of His names. There was a farmer who was illiterate, and he could not remember all those names. So he went to a pundit, a learned scholar, and asked him about the names of Lord Vishnu. The pundit tried to help him learn a few names of Lord Vishnu, but since the farmer was illiterate, he could not remember any of the names. When he went home, he could not remember any of the names which the pundit had taught him. In those days, people did not go to tailors to get their clothes stitched. Usually they stitched their clothes at home. And they had strange names for the clothes. The underpants were called by the name “arban,” which did not have any meaning. So, in his efforts to remember the name of Lord Vishnu, the farmer started remembering Lord Vishnu by the name “Arban.” [Sant Ji and everyone else laugh a lot when this is translated.] When he started remembering Lord Vishnu by that name, even Lord Vishnu could not help! [more laughter] He also started laughing while he was sitting on his throne. And he told his wife Lakshmi, “Today, a new devotee has been born, who is remembering me with such a name which is not written even in the Vedas and Shastras.”

Now, Lakshmi said, “You always praise your devotees. Take me to one of your devotees, so that I may see how devoted he is.” So they both came down to this Earth plane. At that time, the farmer was bringing water out from his well. He was working in his field, and at the same time remembering Lord Vishnu by that name – the new name which he had discovered. Vishnu told Lakshmi, “Okay, I will go and sit in the well, which is without a fence. You go and ask him what he is doing, whom he is remembering.”

The farmer was tired remembering Lord Vishnu by that name Arban; and it was not doing him any good. He was doing that remembrance so that he might have the darshan of Lord Vishnu and it had been a long time since he began doing that without any results, so he was tired. When Lakshmi came to him she asked, “Who is this Arban; who are you remembering?” He replied, “It is the name of Lord Vishnu, and I am remembering Him.” Further, she asked him, “Do you know where He is now?” He was so tired that he said, “Yes, He is sitting in that well without a fence.”

Out of frustration, he had said that, but it became true. And Lord Vishnu appeared from that well, and He gave him His darshan.

So the meaning of telling this story is that, if you remember God with any name, it does not make any difference, if you have love and yearning and faith in the Lord, He will definitely give you His darshan. That name was not given to that farmer by any Saint, and there was no charging working behind that name. And that name was not of the Lord of Sach Khand, that was the name of a Lord of a lower plane. But still, because that farmer had love, faith and yearning for Lord Vishnu, that is why he got His darshan.

So the main thing is that you should do the meditation. You should do the repetition of the five sacred names which are given to you by the Master. The main thing which counts is your love, faith and yearning.

The Light of Ajaib

Saints do not initiate the dear ones with the intention that they will come back into this world again and again, and will get liberation only after many births. Whenever They give us the initiation, They are determined that They will take Their disciples up to the Real Home in this lifetime.

So the disciple should do the devotion with faith in the Master, because the happiness which we see is not the permanent happiness. It is temporary. The things which change into pain are not the real happiness. This world is full of suffering. And our Beloved Friend, Who is going to relieve us of all these pains and sufferings, has come onto this plane. So why not take advantage of His coming? Why not have faith in Him and do the devotion of the Path which He has shown to us? Only he is a wise person who, living in this world, becomes liberated from the suffering world.

QUESTION: Master, will you talk to us about ego and its effect upon the soul?

SANT JI: Ego is a very strong enemy among the five dacoits, the five enemies. And it is that passion which surrenders to us last. He is the last one to surrender.

It makes our soul unclean and dirty, and it takes us away from Almighty God. Ego is that thing which undoes all of our doings. Kabir Sahib says that when the egoism comes, then all that you have done becomes undone.

Guru Nanak Sahib has written, "Egoism is a bad disease. And the medicine for removing this disease of the soul is also kept within us." He says, "Egoism is an incurable disease; but the medicine for it is also within us." If God Almighty showers grace on us and makes us meditate on the Shabd of Master, then this disease can be removed. We can get a lot of help if we pay a little bit of attention to the lives of the Saints. You know that Saints have been given a lot by the Almighty Lord. They have been given such a high position, and within Them God is manifested. But still They never become proud of Their position. They never say that They are something;

They always remain humble. They always call Themselves as the poor ones, as the helpless ones. And They always call Themselves the sevadars. They say, "We have come here to serve you." If we pay attention to Their lives, and if we see how They behave, even after getting all these things, we will get a lot of help to remove this egoism.

Think about it patiently, what are the things for which you have the ego or pride? Are you proud of your youth? Have you not seen any old person struggling with his life? Do you have the pride of your wealth, of your being wealthy? Have you not seen the poor people wandering here and there on the streets? Are you having the pride of your good health? Have you not seen in the hospitals how people are suffering from disease? All those things which we have are not going to last forever, so why have ego over them? Master Sawan Singh Ji used to tell this story often about one old Saint. A lady would everyday come to Him and ask, "Do you have a beard on your face or bushes?" But He would not reply. When His end time came, He told His disciples to call that lady. When that lady was called, He asked her to ask Him the same question with which she had been taunting Him all the time: whether He had a beard or bushes.

That lady said, "Well, why didn't you reply to this question earlier?" He said, "I was not sure about my mind; who knew whether he was going to deceive me or not; I don't believe in it. That is why I did not reply. But now, since I am going, and I'm taking my beard stainless, that is why I am confident that this is a beard, not bushes." So Saints never become proud. They never have the ego because They have the awareness – "who knows when the mind is going to deceive us." Why does egoism make us fall down?

The Light of Ajaib

Because we do not have any qualities, but still we are proud of having them. [laughter] Guru Nanak Sahib says that those people are the real fools, the real donkeys, those who do not have any qualities in them, but still are proud of having them. So we should meditate on Naam and have humility.

QUESTION: I have two questions, the first being, in the morning, to get over the dry spots, is it acceptable to do a practice of counting out Simrans – 50 or 100 – to do acceptable quality, you know, and establish a pattern. And two: When the pain really gets heavy toward the end of the sessions, I found more withdrawal would help, but the breath gets imperceptible; so does the Simran after awhile. I was wondering if that was incorrect practice.

SANT JI: If your tongue is wet by doing Simran and if you have love, faith and yearning – if you have all these three things – then there is no question of having the dryness. So we should always keep the Simran on our tongue.

Pain is also felt when we do not meditate regularly. We meditate for some days and then give it up. And again, when we come in the company of the other people in the Sangat, looking at them, we also feel like doing the meditation. But since we have not done it regularly, that is why we are bothered by the pain. If we continue meditating for some days, this pain will go away.

If you will start counting the Simran, your attention will go to the counting, and you will not be able to concentrate at the Eye Center. In the earlier days, many Saints used to recommend the moving of the rosary to do the Simran. But Guru Nanak Sahib and Kabir Sahib did not emphasize this. In fact, They condemned it. They said, “When a person moves a rosary, his attention does not go to the Eye Center; his attention is stuck in moving the rosary.”

Many times it will happen that your mind will make you give up the Simran, and you will only go on counting the numbers.

In Delhi, in Bali Nagar, near Pappu’s house, there is a temple. Every morning, when people come to the temple, the priest over there makes them repeat the name of Rama. And all the people who come there say, “Ram, Ram.” And he is the only person who is counting how many times they have said, “Ram.” Once he came to see me and I asked him the question, “Why do you count how many times people have said, ‘Ram, Ram’? Is it harmful if you repeat the name of Rama a couple of times more than you are supposed to?” [laughter]

My purpose of asking him that question was, “When God does not count all the blessings which He has given to us, and when He does not delay in opening His gracious door for us, is it good for us to do His devotion by counting? If we repeat His Name a couple of times more, what harm will it do?” So whenever we do the Simran we should not count the number of repetitions. The Simran should be done by love, [not by numbers]. If we do the Simran by love, without being aware of how many times we have repeated it, we will definitely become successful in our practice.

If you will do your meditation regularly when you are at your home, or even when you go to visit your family, or when you are going out for the business; if you have made the routine of meditating every day, you will find it very easy to sit for an hour. You will not even remain aware of how that one hour was spent – how that one hour passed. I have seen many Muslim devotees – Muslim people – offering their prayers, doing their Namaz in a moving train. Many times in the airplanes also I have seen them offering their prayers. And in the Army also, even at the place where the bombs were dropping, the Muslim people, at their scheduled time, would offer their prayers and do their Namaz.

In those days, I used to perform the rites and rituals of the Sikh religion. So that is why, whether I would travel in a train or in a truck when I had to go to the battlefield, or even when I crossed the sea on a ship,<sup>57</sup> I always used to do the rites and rituals at the fixed time. In fact, whenever the time would come, I would know by myself that the time had come, as an addict does not find any peace if he does not take his drug. In the same way, one who is regular in his practices will not find any peace unless he has done his practices.

So we should not give up our meditation no matter where we go. If we miss meditation for one day, it is equal to the missing of the meditation of three days.

Further, we should introspect our life; we should keep the diary which was introduced to us by Master Kirpal. Even if we meditate for five or six hours every day and do the worldly work for sixteen or seventeen hours, you know which side of the balance will have more weight: the side of that balance, the side of the world, will be more. So even if you are doing five or six hours, still it is not enough.

So Satsangis should never give up doing the Simran, even during the daytime. If a Satsangi is doing the Simran during the daytime, in the nighttime Simran will come to him by itself; he will find it very easy to do the Simran. We should develop such a habit of doing the Simran like we have the habit of thinking the worldly thoughts. Now, you know that we do not get upset, or we do not worry about thinking the worldly thoughts that come in our within by themselves. We do not need to make any efforts for doing this. So if, at the place where we have the thoughts of the world, we have the Simran, then it will become very easy for us to do the Simran.

Because if we have developed that habit, we will be doing the Simran without making any efforts to do it. It will go on within us by itself.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that our condition should become like this: that our hands are at work and our hearts, our thoughts, are towards our Master.

QUESTION: Would Master please talk to us about the role of the ashrams in the West?

SANT JI: Ashrams, whether they are in India or in the West, are made for our own improvement and for doing the meditation. That is why we should use the ashrams only for this purpose.

When the dear ones leave their homes and visit the ashrams, at the ashrams always there are some people who are ready to take care of us. So we should take advantage of their being there; we should let them take care of us, and we should sit there, do the meditation and improve ourselves. If we use the ashrams for this purpose, it is good for us.

No ashram is made for the purpose of fighting and arguing with each other, or sitting there and drinking wine and doing the bad karmas, bad deeds. The ashram is made only for the devotion of God, the remembrance of God, and learning the lesson of love and humility.

<sup>57</sup> Sant Ji was a young man in the Indian Army during World War II; his regiment was sent to fight in Italy.

The Light of Ajaib

As long as the Saints are alive, They never say that in any ashram you should criticize or comment against any community or any religion. They say that if you want to look at the faults, you should look at your own faults, and you should look at the good qualities of others.

And most of all, do your meditation there. So it does not make any difference whether the ashram is in the East or in the West. The purpose of the ashram is the same everywhere, and that is to do the devotion, to do the meditation, and to come together in the name and remembrance of the Master. In the ashram, the Satsangis get the opportunity of having the bhandaras in which different Satsangis come together. And as the melon changes its color by coming in the company of the other melons; in the same way, we change our habits and we improve ourselves by sitting in the company of the other improved souls. Because in the bhandaras or the big unions of the Satsangis, many times people who have done a lot of meditation also come. So sitting with them, in their company, we also feel inspired and devoted to do our meditation. So the purpose of ashrams everywhere is the same, and that is for doing the devotion of the Lord.

QUESTION: Beloved Master, would it be all right for a Satsangi to whisper the five sacred charged words in the ears of a dying Satsangi who is dying in a state of unconsciousness, whispered very softly without being audible to others?

SANT JI: It was a very important question that you have asked. If there is any non-Satsangi present at that time, you should tell him to leave the room. And, if that Satsangi who is dying is unconscious, then you can say the Simran in his ear. If he is a little bit conscious, you should ask him if he remembers the Simran. If he remembers the Simran, it is all right; he will start doing the Simran. If he does not remember the Simran, then you can help him; you can make him remember the Simran.

If only Satsangis are present there, that person who is dying will definitely leave the body only after telling you, "The Master has come and I am going with Him." Even if he has not been able to speak, he will definitely let you know.

If there is any non-Satsangi around, he will not say anything; he will leave the body quietly.

If such an opportunity comes, we should be very careful because it is a very delicate moment. If there is no non-Satsangi around, the departure of that Satsangi's soul will be very comfortable, very pleasant. If you are meditating, then you don't have to face this problem, because those who are meditating, Master always hints to them, either by their dreams, or sometimes He appears in front of the Satsangi and tells him, "I will come on this day, at this time, and I will take you."

Many times it happens that when the person is very sick, in the beginning he gets the darshan of the Master. But afterwards, when the sickness becomes more serious, he stops having the darshan of the Master. And then people start wondering what wrong he has done, what is the fault that he is not having the darshan of the Master.

The reason for not having the darshan of the Master when the sickness has become more serious is that, if the disciple gets the darshan of the Master, he requests the Master to remove the burden of the karma, to remove the suffering which he is having. Master is already doing that. He is already removing the pain of the karma; He is helping him to pay off the karma. That is why the Master does not appear in front of him, yet without his request, the Master is already working in the direction which He should be working.

When all the karmas are paid off, when the final time comes or is about to come, then Master comes to him, either in the dream or through the Simran or by a vision or by appearing in front of him, and tells him, “Now you have paid all the karmas and I will come on a certain day and take you.” Many times it happens that such meditative souls know about their departure much in advance; and they even tell their family members, “Master has told me that I have to leave on this day, and I’ll be leaving on that day.”

He is a Gracious Being, and that is why He protects the members of the family even though they are not initiated. If there is any member of the family who has heard about the Master and has faith in Him, no matter if he is not initiated, he will also report, before leaving, “Master has come and I am going with Him.”

So when such opportunity comes, when you happen to be near a dying Satsangi, you should do these two things, you should do this seva, and it will be a very good seva for him. The first thing is that you should ask him, “Does he remember the Form of the Master? Is the Form of the Master coming?” If he is remembering the Form of the Master, he will at once take his attention towards the Form of the Master, and he will start seeing the Master. The second thing you should ask him about is Simran. If he remembers the Simran, he will start doing it. If he cannot speak, if he cannot hear, if he is unconscious; then you should whisper the Simran in his ear, and that will also help him.

You can have this experience. I am not telling you all these things just to make you believe in these things. You yourself can have the experience of those things. Remove all the non-Satsangis from the place where a Satsangi is dying and ask him if the Master has come or not. He will say, “Yes, Master has come and I am going with Him.” And even you will feel the presence of the Master over there.

QUESTION: I've heard it said that Lord Krishna is a manifestation of the Negative Power. Is that true?

SANT JI: You should read the book The Ocean of Love: The Anurag Sagar of Kabir; you will be convinced.

Every Satsangi should read that book Anurag Sagar; because with a lot of hard work that book was prepared and published. And it was published for all of you.

QUESTION: I have a question about meditation. Yesterday Sant Ji mentioned that we should not look at the picture of the Master; we should concentrate on the form. Does He mean the astral form or the physical form of the Master? The other question is on bhajan. In Spiritual Gems, Master Sawan mentioned that one should listen to the sound and imagine it coming from the center of the Eye Focus whether it is coming in darkness or in light. But Master Kirpal said that we should listen to the Sound and ignore all light. And I would like to have that clarified.

SANT JI: You have not seen the Astral Form of the Master. That is why you should contemplate on the physical form of the Master. When you will contemplate on this form, gradually this form will change into the Astral Form of the Master, and then into the Causal Form of the Master; and finally it will change into the Shabd. Now we are working on the physical plane; when we are in the physical world, we see the physical form of the Master. He is sitting in front of us; He talks with us. And that is why we need to contemplate on the physical form of the Master. When we will go to the first plane, over there we start working through the astral plane, and we have the astral body, the Master has the Astral Form; and there the Form of the Master is Astral. And further, when we go in the Brahm, the Form of the Master is Causal; and after that when we go to Par Brahm, the Form of the Master is Shabd. In that way, when we go on progressing upward, gradually the Form of the Master becomes more and more pure; and finally it is changed into the pure Shabd, Sar Shabd, very pure Shabd. But now, since we are in the physical plane, we need to contemplate on the physical form.

Yesterday also I said that the teachings of Master Sawan Singh and Master Kirpal Singh were not different. They had the same teachings, but Their ways of explaining things were different. They had Their own explanations, but Their goals were the same; They always gave us the same teachings.

That is why Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that those who want to understand the teachings in a few words should come to me; and those who want to understand the teachings with many words, many explanations, should go to Kirpal Singh. [laughter].

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that Kirpal Singh first dismantles the gun or the thing, and then, taking one after another part, He reassembles it.

I tell you that when you sit for the meditation, for the Sound, you should concentrate at the Eye Center. And the Sound, the Shabd, is coming from above. You don't have to feel or imagine that it is coming from there. It is really coming from above and from the center.

1994 September: Always Eager to Give Grace

Session Date: January 30, 1983

This question & answer talk was given January 30, 1983, at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan.

QUESTION: A friend of mine wants me to ask Sant Ji about coming to see Him here, and whether it is due to her own effort or her karmas whether she can come or not.

SANT JI: You know that when the child is very young he is helpless and he cannot do anything by his own efforts. As long as he is lying down on the bed quietly, without calling for help, the mother says, "Well, he is doing fine. So let me do my work." And she does not pay much attention to the child.

But when the child starts weeping and crying for help, no matter how busy the mother is, or no matter how important the work she is doing, she will leave all her affairs and come to help the child at once. She will come and embrace the child at once.

In Sant Mat also, the same principle applies. The yearning of the disciple and the grace of Master work together, side by side. If we have the yearning, no matter how busy our Master is, He will at once give up all His thoughts. He does not have any worldly thought. All His thoughts are for His disciples.

So if we have real yearning for Him, no matter how busy He is with the other disciples, He will give up all His works and come to help us. So your friend should also have the yearning to come here. She should also make efforts from her side, and she should leave the result for the Master to decide.

QUESTION: Should Satsangis become involved in economics and politics in the countries that they live in?

SANT JI: It is the duty of every citizen of the country to be loyal to his nation. It is the duty of every person to remain loyal and faithful to the community in which he lives. In the same way, it is the duty of every person to remain loyal and faithful to his own family also.

The Light of Ajaib

Sant Mat does not teach us to go away from our responsibilities. Sant Mat tells us that whatever amount of attention or involvement is needed in these affairs, you should do that. But you should also try to give your maximum attention for the Bhajan and Simran.

Just by taking part in the economics and politics, we cannot serve the country in a bigger way, in a greater way. There are many other areas, there are many other fields, working in which we can serve our country in a much better way.

Even by doing our Bhajan and Simran, in a way, we are acting our role in the service of our nation. Because if there were more devotees and meditators of Shabd Naam, if there were more people who were doing the meditation of Bhajan and Simran that country could progress more. Because if there are more people devoted to the Lord in a country, there will be more peace in that country, and you know that where there is peace, the country can progress very soon.

You know that India has given birth to many great Saints and Mahatmas, Rishis and Munis. Many Mahatmas, Rishis and Munis spent Their lives in this land, and They taught many people to do the devotion. That is why India is called “the land of Rishis and Munis.” And out of all of India, Rajasthan is the place where most of the Mahatmas have taken birth and have spent Their time. That is why Rajasthan is also called “the land of the Mahatmas.”

The part of Rajasthan in which we are sitting now was once a part of a state called Bikaner. And Ganganagar is the district of the same state of Bikaner. Nowadays, things have changed. People in this area are also adopting the ways of the West, and many of the western countries are adopting the ways which we used to have here.

I have seen this with my own eyes, because it was not long ago. Maybe forty years ago here, nobody would drink wine, and no officer would take any bribe, and nobody would lock their doors. Everybody used to live a very simple life, and they all were devoted to the devotion of God. They all were very truthful. There was nothing like corruption in this state. Because at that time, the owner of the state, King Gunga Singh was a very strict and very just king. And he used to have a weighing balance on the table.

Whenever he would sit in the court, he would have that balance. He used to say, “God may forgive the corrupt officer; but I will never forgive the corrupt officer.” He used to say, “When I do the justice, I weigh it.” And because of that, in those days, if you had left anything here, nobody would come and touch it, because people used to know that in the kingdom of Gunga Singh, they were not supposed to do that.

Once his son looked at some girl with lust in his eyes, and that girl replied, “It is said that the people of the state are like the children of the king.” Because of his mistake King Gunga Singh had him shot dead; he did not even forgive his own son. Even though his mistake was not a very big one – he could have been forgiven – but just to show the people that he cannot tolerate even this thing, he shot his own son dead. Whenever he would see any officer dressed up very well, he would at once ask, “From where have you gotten this good dress? You must have definitely taken the bribe.” His time was a very good time. Nobody used to drink wine, and many people used to do the devotion.

So if there will be more good people in a country, that country will prosper. If there will be more good people, they will think about making their country better, and they will glorify the name of their country.

The Light of Ajaib

You know that Kabir Sahib was born in a very low caste family. And nowadays people from far and near, from all the countries, remember the name of Kabir Sahib with sweet love and devotion. And they say, "Where was Kabir Sahib born? He was born in India." So Kabir Sahib glorified the name of His country. In the same way, Guru Nanak Sahib and the rest of the Ten Gurus, up to Guru Gobind Singh, They also glorified the name of Their nation. In the same way, you know how our beloved Master went across the oceans and awakened the oversouls of the souls, and how He did the devotion of Lord and inspired us to do the devotion of Lord. And in that way He glorified the name of His nation.

Politicians have their own point of view of explaining things to us. And Saints have Their own ways of explaining things to us. Lovingly, They remove the corruption from our within, and They make us good people. The politicians want to rule over the land, and they want the people to change their habits by force.

Whereas the Saints lovingly make us change our habits, and They rule over our hearts. Politicians rule over the land, whereas the Saints rule over our hearts. Saints make us change our habits with love, and They inspire us to do the devotion of Lord, whereas the politicians want to change the habits of the people by using their power, by using their force, which is never possible.

You know it has been about 2,000 years since Christ was born. And you know how many people in the west believe in Him. Is there anyone who wants to forget His name? They all remember His name with love and devotion.

About 1,400 years ago, Prophet Mohammed was born. And you will find all the Muslims have love and devotion for Prophet Mohammed, and they don't want to forget Him. In the same way, about 500 years ago, Guru Nanak and Kabir were born, and people still don't forget them; they always remember Them with love and devotion. This is only because of Their teachings and Their ways of living.

You can even go farther back and see how Mahatma Buddha, Lord Rama and Krishna were born – ages have passed since They were born. Still people celebrate Their anniversaries, Their birthdays, and how sweetly the people remember Them. In the same way, Swami Ji Maharaj was born about 100 years ago, and still we remember Him. Baba Jaimal Singh and Master Sawan Singh, how we celebrate Their birthdays, Their anniversaries. And how we remember Them! And we understand that we are doing Their devotion by remembering Them.

In the same way, people remember Baba Somanath Ji, the disciple of Master Sawan Singh, and you know how they get together in Bombay in His remembrance, and how they have inspired other people also to come and join them in the remembrance of Baba Somanath.

You know that here in Sant Bani Ashram, we have the Satsang on every first Sunday of every month. Of course, we also celebrate the birthdays and the anniversaries of the Great Masters. But most of the people come to attend only the monthly Satsang. And this time, we are very fortunate ones that the birthday of our beloved Master Kirpal Singh is coming on the monthly Satsang day that is the sixth of February, it is on Sunday. And for that occasion I have written many bhajans in which I have congratulated and greeted that great Soul Who came into this world to liberate us.

I not only greeted and congratulated and thanked Him Who came down in this world, but also, I have shown my gratitude to the father and mother of that great Soul. And that is why in the bhajans I mention Gulab Devi, mother of Master, and Hukam Singh, father of Master. Because they were also very fortunate ones to have such a great Soul born in their family. That is why I have mentioned them, and I am grateful to them also.

I mean to say that great Soul came in this world and went far and near. He became the sympathizer of the suffering ones, He cooled down the heated hearts, and He served the community, the religion, and He served the nation. So I mean to say that Saints are the only people Who really serve Their community and religion. And that is why They all inspire Their disciples to be loyal to their country, to be loyal to their family and to their community. They will never advise that you should not be loyal to your country or your family or your community. They always tell us that, as a citizen, it is your first duty to remain faithful and loyal to your country.

On the other side, you can see the condition of the politicians or the rulers. When Kabir Sahib used to live in Kashi – the emperor, was Sikunder Lodi. Now, nobody remembers him; nobody even knows who he was, even though rulers or kings have monuments made in their name, in their remembrance. But when another king comes, or the other party comes into power, you can see how they demolish the monuments and the remembrance. Only the Beloveds of God, Those who do the devotion of Lord, are remembered for a long time. The politicians, the rulers, and the kings are not remembered for a long time.

There is a very famous example about Aurangzeb, the Mogul king. He was one of the mightiest kings in the Mogul empire, and he bothered many Saints and Mahatmas. But he killed Guru Teg Bahadur, the Ninth Guru of the Sikhs, in front of the people in Delhi. And now, at the place where He was killed, people go and bow down their heads. They have covered that place with gold [Gurdwara Sis Ganj is located at that site], and now people go there to bow down their heads. Before going to bow down their heads, they wash their feet; they in a way become pure and then go there. And now all day long they recite the Gurbani over there.

But the place where Aurangzeb was buried, nobody is there to even take care of that place; nobody is there to wipe the dirt off that place. Only the birds go there to make it dirty. So you can very well imagine and realize who glorified the name of his nation, or who served his nation in a true sense. Even after 300 years, people remember that beloved of God and people pay homage to such a great Soul, Who came into this world to serve the community and to serve the nation.

QUESTION: Is there anything wrong with wanting to work hard to be financially successful or wealthy, or is it already predetermined in your karma?

SANT JI: You see, there is no doubt in this fact, that our body is made afterwards, but first our fate, our destiny is made. But Saints say that it is our first duty to work hard. Suppose we make food, and have the food in front of us and say, “If it is in my destiny, this food will come by itself, and I will eat.” In that way, the food will never come to your mouth by itself. You will have to want to eat, and you will have to work hard. You will have to use your hands to eat that food.

That is why everybody should want to work hard. And they all should work hard, whether it is the worldly work or the meditation work. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “If you get defeated, even after working hard, understand that as the will of God.”

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: My wife is always asking some question about life insurance every time the bill comes due. She says, "Are you sure the Master wants us to pay this?" You know, if I die, she gets a lot of money. [everyone laughs]

SANT JI: You see, such things which are made in the world for the benefit of people are really very good for us. And life insurance is not a bad thing. If you can have it, it is a very good thing to have.

But I will tell you about my life insurance [laughter]. Once I had that policy and I paid all my installments, and the policy was mature. But when I went there to ask for my money, they gave me a very hard time; and I had to spend more money [to redeem the policy] than I was going to get. So if any [bogus] thing like that is [offered] in your country, you should not go into that. But if there is any other better arrangement for it, then you can have it.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, what sort of blessing does the meditator Saint give when He pats one on the back or puts his hand on one's head, or offers His hands to them?

SANT JI: The reality is that there is no difference between the Saint and Almighty Lord. The only difference is that within the body of the Saint there is the hidden treasure which we call "Almighty Lord." Otherwise there is no difference between Him and Almighty Lord. That is why, when we sit for meditation with Him, we are sitting with Almighty Lord to meditate. If He puts His hand on our head, it's exactly the same as if God would put His hand on our head. And if we take His hand and touch our forehead with His hand, or if we kiss His hand, it is exactly like kissing the hand of Almighty Lord.

Saints have got a lot of strength and power from Almighty God. Guru Nanak Sahib says, "By whose order everything happens in the Court of God, He is also gracious." God has given the same amount of grace to the Saints as He has given strength and power. That is why graciously They do not hesitate in giving us Their blessings.

Guru Nanak Sahib said that God has taken the Form of the Sadhu. He lives in the Sadhu and He lives among us. Many times I have said that when I got the opportunity of sitting in the lap of my Beloved Master, I would always feel myself as an infant of forty days old. I never understood myself as a grownup or a wise person. I always understood myself as an ignorant infant sitting in the lap of my father. And since He was a very Gracious One, a very Beautiful One, that is why He would always caress me as a father caresses his son. Many times He would even take some food and put it in my mouth as a father feeds his son.

Swami Ji Maharaj had also said, "By having the darshan of the Master, I have forgotten my body and my existence." He said, "In the darshan, I got so intoxicated that I didn't remain aware of my body."

But very lovingly, I would like to tell you that Saints have a lot of graciousness. They are always eager to give us Their grace, but since our minds do not believe in Them, and our mind always gives us a hard time, that is why we do not take complete advantage of Their grace, and we always remain away from Them. Guru Ram Das Ji Maharaj also says, "Sadhu is the One Who does the practice and within Whom the Naam is manifested. By touching such a Sadhu, one touches Almighty God; and by seeing such a Sadhu, one sees Almighty God."

So dear ones, if we are looking into the eyes of the Master, we are looking into the eyes of God. If we are shaking hands with the Master, we are shaking hands with the Lord. If He puts His gracious hand on our head, we should know that it is the hand of Almighty God which is on our head.

1994 October: To See My Children Meditating

Session Date: September 12, 1994

This question and answer talk was given in Ahmedabad, India, on September 12, 1994.

QUESTION: Beloved Sant Ji, when I do seva I become absorbed in the work and do not do much Simran. Also in spite of my trying to do seva with love, ego takes over. How can one do seva with the confidence in the work he has to do, without ego, according to Master's teachings?

SANT JI: First of all I bow down at the Feet of Lord Almighty Sawan and Kirpal Who gave us this opportunity to sing Their glory and allowed us to sit in Their remembrance. Guru Nanak Sahib said, "First we need to get the permission from the Master before doing any work." He said, "Whatever we want to achieve, first of all we should seek His blessing, we should ask His permission, and only then that work becomes successful."

In the morning meditation I said that God Almighty is great, like a mountain, but He is hidden behind a very thin straw of our ego and the illusion.

Simran brings humility within us. Simran creates the enthusiasm in us to do the seva; if we do the Simran, love for the Master will also be created within us.

If you do not do the Simran, your mind is not going to sit there idle; he will create the illusions and deceptions within you. He will bring in the ego and then he will start bringing all these egoistic thoughts within you. He will expect that people will praise you when you are doing the seva and if people don't do that then you will think "what is the use of doing seva when it is not recognized, or when people are not praising me?" Then your mind will tell you not to do that seva. So if you will not do Simran you will not get humility and all these thoughts of the ego and all this deception of the mind will come within you.

So the first thing which is taught in Sant Mat is humility. Unless you have humility you cannot get the grace of the Master. Master used to say, "The bowl which has the grace of humility will lower and will fill your cup only if your cup is empty. If your cup is already filled with all other things how will you get the grace of the Master?"

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, "Many times our mind creates this kind of deception – that outwardly he makes us have humility, but inwardly he craves name and fame. Outwardly he goes on telling people, 'I am doing nothing, it is all the Master who is doing it, Master is making me do all these things,' but inwardly he is always looking for name and fame and the praises of other people."

So anyone who does this is deceiving the people and also he himself is in the deception. If we do the Simran then our mind cannot play such tricks on us. We can save ourselves from such deceptions of the mind only if we do the Simran.

Whether one does seva with his body, with his mind, with his wealth, or the seva of the Surat Shabd yoga, all these sevas are equally important in their places. A Satsangi should always remain involved in doing one or the other of these sevas. But along with doing one of these sevas a Satsangi should also do Bhajan and Simran because we can have humility and grace only if we do the Bhajan and Simran along with doing the seva. Meditation is very essential; it is the most important thing to do.

The Light of Ajaib

This is a story from a very long time ago, before I had met the Master. There were about eleven people in our group and the other ten people were initiates of Baba Sawan Singh. I was the only one who did not have the Initiation, but we all had a very deep relationship and we used to get together. Ever since I had had the darshan of Baba Sawan Singh I was very fond of Him so I would always be in the company of the people who were Initiated by Him.

We all used to get together and do the Satsang. Once we collected some money, rented a hall, and invited one mahatma to come there and do the Satsang. That mahatma came there to do the Satsang and it so happened that every day he would eat good food and then sleep all the time and still he would say that he was the sevadar of the sangat and he had come there to do the seva.

It so happened that he was invited by one family and we all went there with him. After the Satsang was over, the family who had invited him made some tea for all the sangat. They thought that first they would serve tea to the sangat and then they would take the mahatma to some other room, and maybe talk to him privately and serve him the tea there. So while the mahatma was still sitting there, in front of him, they started serving the tea to the sangat and that upset that mahatma very much. Sitting there he started changing his colors, he became very upset, very angry, thinking about why he was not served tea first and why the sangat was being served the tea first.

The family members got worried but they didn't know what to do. After some time they requested that mahatma to get up and come to the other room for tea but he wouldn't go there because he was very upset and angry.

When he did not get up to go into the other room the family members were very worried. Usually householders are very worried and afraid of the saints and mahatmas, because if anything has gone wrong the mahatma will curse them. They didn't want him to curse them, so that is why they were afraid and in that state they brought the tea for him in front of the whole sangat.

He was wearing a turban, and he was so angry at that time that he took off his turban and he said, "Now you put that tea on my head."

So the meaning of saying this is that if that mahatma was also doing his Bhajan and Simran along with doing the seva of the Satsang or whatever he was doing he would not have acted like that and he would not have become the subject of mockery. Because when the people who were there saw him doing all that, many of the new people were not initiates and when they saw the mahatma doing that, they all laughed at him. And when he said, "Great is the Guru or the Mahatma of the Radha Soami faith," they all left without having any faith in the Path and in that mahatma.

If he had been doing the Simran and Bhajan along with doing his seva don't you think he would not have become the subject of mockery for the people? So that is why it is very important for us to do the Bhajan and Simran along with doing our seva. If we are not doing the meditation along with doing our seva then it is possible that we also may become like him, we also may become an issue of mockery for the other people.

Sukhpal, who is Gurmel's daughter and most of you know her, heard this story from me many times in the Satsang, so whenever I tell this story again she at once says, "He is talking about some other Baba Ji; He is not talking about our Baba Ji."

The Light of Ajaib

The meaning of saying this is: if you are called a sevadar and if you want to do the seva, you should also do the Bhajan and Simran along with the seva.

Well I am very happy that now the dear ones in the west have changed and they arrange for people's food and drinks when someone visits them. But earlier, when I went to the west for the first tour and also on the second tour, I got the opportunity to visit some people's homes. Now, since the number of people in the sangat has grown, it is not at all possible for me to visit the homes of the people, but in the early two tours I did go to peoples' homes.

Once we were invited by one dear one, so Pappu told me that there was no need to eat and drink anything before going there. He said, "When we go, they at least will serve us tea according to the traditions and customs of India." Because in India when you go to visit someone they offer you tea or whatever, according to the time of day. So he was expecting that the dear one would offer us tea at least, or something to eat. So we went there expecting that and without eating anything from our own place.

When we got there we were greeted by that dear one, but he didn't offer us anything to eat or drink. He didn't even say, "Okay, come and sit in our home." Then we went back. Pappu said to me, "They didn't give us anything to eat or drink." I told him, "Maybe because we didn't go and sit in their home."

So dear ones, if you are making the efforts to do the seva, at the same time also do the Simran, because when you are doing the seva with your hands, your mind is still empty. Always remember the words of Master Sawan Singh who used to say, "Hands at work and heart with the Beloved."

QUESTION: We know that we don't need to ask Master for anything because He knows our needs and takes care of us and the ones we love. So is it wrong to keep asking Him to bless our families?

SANT JI: There is nothing wrong in asking for the blessings for the family, because there is humility in it, there is love in it. But when we are asking for the worldly things, we do not know that in those things which we are asking from the Master whether it is good for us, whether we are going to gain anything, or whether we are going to lose.

We always look at things according to the present circumstances and that is why we do not know what there is in the future for us. Many times it so happens that we sit in meditation with some desire, with some wish to be fulfilled, and with the grace of the Master our attention is connected within. If the Master manifests Himself over there and in love the disciple expresses his desire or wish to the Master, because of love for the disciple, at that time, the Master may grant him that wish or may promise to fulfill that desire, even though if the disciple were to receive that it would not be good for him. So later on that thing doesn't happen, because the Master knows what is good for him and what is bad for him, that is why sometimes even after saying yes to that disciple in the within, outwardly sometimes he has to withdraw that granting of the wish.

In the heart of the Satguru there is a love for His children, for His disciples, a thousand times more than a worldly parent has for his children. If we are unhappy, if we are in a difficult situation, if we are suffering, it is all due to our own karmas. We are paying off our own karmas; it is nothing but the consequences of the karmas which we have done earlier. And even in that, the Master is extending all feasible, all appropriate, help to us.

In Bhagwat Puran there is a story of a goat who once went to a waterfall to drink the water but when she went there she was afraid when she heard the sound of the water falling and she went back, again she went there and again she came back. So she would always go there but when she would get near the waterfall she would always be afraid of the sound and she would go back without drinking the water. One elephant went there and he saw the goat doing that, always going near the waterfall and going back, so he asked her why she was doing that and she said, "I want to drink the water but I can't do it because of that noise and I am waiting when this noise, this sound will stop and then I will go and drink the water."

So the elephant said, "You see, that sound is never going to stop. It will always be there, if you want to drink the water you will have to go there and drink the water in that sound."

In the same way, the Masters lovingly tell us, "Dear ones you will have to live in the world like this." Outwardly also, through Their words the Masters explain to us and inside also, within us also They caution us, They give us the warnings through the inner hints and the inner experiences. They lovingly make us understand, "Dear ones, you are not made to pay off someone else's karmas, whatever karmas you are paying off they are your very own."

So dear ones this noise or the sound of our good and bad karmas will always go on happening as long as our life is there. As long as our pains and happiness are there, and as long as we are in the body, we will have to do the Bhajan and Simran. We will have to do the meditation as well as paying off our karmas.

We are sitting or living in this human body only because of our karmas. If all our karmas are paid off then how can we come back into this body? How will we sit in this body?

Guru Nanak Sahib says, "The bird is imprisoned in this cage of love and in whatever way the Lord makes that bird speak, he speaks. But when he eats the food or the nectar, then he breaks open this cage and flies out of it for good."

The body is the cage and the soul is that bird or parrot, and because this bird has become attached and is in love with this cage that is why she is speaking the language of the pains and happiness. But when, rising above the body, and rising above the pains and happiness, she eats the food of that Anhad Shabd just for once, she has to come into this world. If she eats the food of that Anhad Shabd just for once she opens that cage and flies out of it forever.

QUESTION: Dear Sant Ji, while doing Simran is it best to remember the Master, also is it appropriate to hold a motive for doing Simran?

SANT JI: It is a very good question I hope that everyone will write the answer to this question on your heart because mind usually brings such kind of illusions, such kind of thoughts within all the Satsangis.

First of all the Satsangi should have a very strong heart. Always I have said that we can do the meditation only if we have made our heart like iron.

We have to struggle harder in the astral plane than we have to struggle in the physical plane. So unless we have a strong heart we cannot struggle over there, because there are many powers whom we have to encounter in the astral plane. They come and they tempt us and intimidate us. Kabir Sahib says, "Over there, there are the intimidators, there are the ones who tempt you, so unless the meditator has a strong heart he won't be able to progress over there."

One Indian dear one came in the darshan this morning and he told me when he wakes up at three o'clock in the morning for meditation he feels afraid. I asked him, "If you have to go to your job at that time do you still feel afraid?” He said, “No.” Then I asked him, “If you have to watch television at that time, or if you have to sleep at that time do you still feel afraid?”

He said, “No, I only feel afraid when I sit in meditation.” So I told him, “This is only because you are not strong-hearted and you do not have enough faith and confidence, that the fear is bothering you.” The only motive you should hold on to or you should have is that you have to go within, manifest the Master, and talk to the Master.

If you will not remember the Master, if you are not sitting to manifest the Master, dear ones, whose devotion are you doing?

This is why we should always go on remembering the Master. Guru Arjan Dev says, “Master, Master, always go on repeating the Master, because I am nothing without Him.” If we will not remember Him then how are we doing His devotion? We should always remember Him, whether we are traveling in the bus, or sitting in the toilets, or bathing, or doing anything – we should always remember Him. The Simran which we are doing has been given to us by the Master. We should always remember His Form in front of us.

If you will sit with the worldly thoughts you will not get anything from your within as far as the worldly thoughts or the worldly thing is concerned. Nor will you be able to go within and you won't be doing the meditation at that time so you are wasting your time.

I have told you about this before: in the village where I used to live there was a dear one who once needed some money so he sat in meditation with this worldly desire or thought of getting the money. Over there he saw his trunk full of all the currency notes. So at once he told his daughter to open the trunk and see if the trunk was all full of those notes. He also said that if he would open his eyes they would disappear. When she opened the trunk there were no notes there because it was just in his mind that he was seeing the notes. When you think about the worldly things you do not get anything.

So he came to me and he told me that this is what happened to him, that he was sitting in the meditation with this thought and he saw that his trunk was full of the notes but that was not so, it was not real. I told him, “Dear one, if in a state of dreams you eat sweets and other goodies, you don't feel satisfied, you don't remove your hunger, so it is like that; even if you see all these worldly things inside, still you are not getting them.”

The meditation is only done, dear ones, to remove the worldly thoughts from our within. The meditation is done only to empty our within which is filled with the worldly thoughts, so that our Beloved can come and reside there.

All the Satsangis should always remember those couple of things which I always remind you before we sit in the meditation. The first thing is that you should not understand meditation as a burden – you should always do it lovingly. The other thing is that before you sit in meditation – all the anxieties, worries, desires of the world which are coming within you just like the waves in the ocean – you should first cool them down, quiet them down, and then do the Simran. If you will do the Simran after forgetting all the worldly wishes and desires, then as Guru Nanak says, “If you do the Simran like that, after quieting down your mind and all the desires of the world, just one moment of the Simran will be enough for you.”

The Light of Ajaib

I have told you about this incident earlier also. Once there was an initiate of Baba Sawan Singh in a place called Muksar. She came to me saying that she had come for doing the meditation and she would leave only after the inner veil was lifted up, only when the inner door was opened.

I became very pleased and I said, “Thanks be to you, that you have come for doing the meditation.” Since she was an elderly lady I told the girls who were there doing the seva, “You should take care of her; you should serve her.”

So those girls would serve her very much and they would even wash her clothes and do all the things for her. Then that elderly woman, whose name was Bhagwanti, asked us to call another woman who used to live about two miles from our place. I knew that lady, and I also knew that Bhagwanti was very talkative, and the other lady whom she wanted to invite was also very talkative. So I told her, “Just you alone are not able to control yourself, and if you invite this other person who is as talkative as you, how are both of you going to manage doing the meditation?”

She meditated for a few more days, and then she came to me and said that she wanted to go back to Muksar and I should arrange for her to go back to her place. I asked her, “Why do you want to go back to your home? Your sons came and they dropped you here, now it is very difficult for us to make arrangements to take you back to your home. But why do you want to go back? You came here to do the meditation.” She told me when she sat in meditation she was seeing her sons in front of her, also she saw all the work to be done at her home, and the worldly things, and that was bothering her very much and she wanted to back to her home.

So dear ones if she had remembered Master Sawan Singh, if she had this motive of manifesting Master Sawan Singh within her, then she would have become successful in that. But what happened when she sat in the meditation? First it was her mind that encouraged her to come to me and do the meditation and that is why she came. But when she started doing the meditation she started remembering her family. Because she was remembering them and thinking about them, the balance or the weight of the worldly things was more, that is why she gave in to that attachment and she did not fulfill the wish that she had of manifesting Baba Sawan Singh. So I told her, “Dear one, if you had sat with the motive of manifesting Master Sawan Singh He would have come to you, He would have manifested Himself within you. But since you were remembering and you were attached to your family members, that is why your sons and your worldly work came in front of you.”

Both Master Sawan Singh and Master Kirpal Singh were very gracious ones and many times when any true seeker would come to Them, They would at once agree to give them the Initiation and they would initiate them right there. They were very gracious ones.

Once it so happened – I have narrated this incident to you previously also – that in my home, when Master Kirpal was visiting, one dear one came and asked Master Kirpal Singh for the Initiation. Master Kirpal was so gracious that He readily accepted him and He told me to convey the Initiation to that dear one. Master was resting in one room and I took that dear one into another room and I made him sit in the meditation and I also sat with him, closing my eyes. It didn't take him more than a few moments to get up from that place and run away. I did not know that he had already left that place; I was sitting there to convey the Initiation to this dear one and after a while I realized that the person whom I was initiating was not sitting there and I was sitting there all by myself. When I realized that I came out and I ran after him. He had already traveled two kilometers on the road which was just in front of my house. So when I got a hold of him I asked him what had happened.

He said, "Well, I don't know what happened. I came from my home and family; I was so absorbed in my work and family. And I came to the Master, He was very gracious, and He accepted me to get the Initiation and you were giving it to me and I don't know what happened. Once again my mind played a trick on me. Master was very gracious, but my mind did not let me take advantage of that grace, and he put me on this road back to my home."

So dear ones when we sit in the meditation we have to be very careful. All the Satsangis, as I have often said, before you sit in meditation, make sure that you remember the Five Holy Names, because those are the Words, those are the Names given to you by your Master. If you are doing the Simran, then you will also remember the Master who has given you the Simran. The Form of the Master will appear in front of you by Himself if you will remember Him, if you will do the Simran given to you by Him.

So when you will do the Simran like that, remembering the Form of the Master, then all the worldly thoughts will go away. That is why I always say that you should remove all the anxieties, all the worries, and thoughts and desires of this world when you sit in meditation. When you weed out all your thoughts and all these worldly things, when you will throw out all these things using the broom of the Simran, then your within will become empty, so either your Simran will remain there or the Master who has given you the Simran will remain there.

When we do the Initiations, Pappu and Gurmel do not close their eyes and meditate when the people close their eyes and meditate because they have this duty. Also during the morning meditations there are a couple of dear ones here who just keep guard. But in the early days, even though I would tell people, "I promise you that I am not going to leave you sitting here, I will also sit with you." But in the early days, what would happen, some dear ones would open their eyes and get up, and they would walk a little bit and then they would again sit there. Or sometimes they would open their eyes to see if everyone was still sitting there or not.

I am very pleased to see that now the dear ones are getting into the habit of sitting in meditation. That is why I prefer not to miss any meditation sitting. If I have to miss a Satsang then it may be all right, but I don't like to miss the meditation sittings. That is why when I come here to do the meditation I am very pleased looking at the dear ones, at how people are now sitting in the meditation. Because mind is such that if you make him do something, in the beginning he will not do it, but gradually, later on, the more you go on making him do something then he starts enjoying it and then you will become successful in it. So I am very happy when I come and meditate with all of you, that you dear ones sit here with very much love. When I open my eyes, a couple of minutes before I make you leave off, I see my dear children sitting in the meditation and that gives me immense pleasure. Especially when I see on many dear ones a lot of glory and radiance so that makes me very happy to see that my children are now meditating.

Often I have said that Sant Mat is based on Reality, it exists on the Truth, it is not a fairy tale. Whatever the Masters have said, whatever the Masters have conveyed to us, is one hundred percent true.

So with firm determination, with faith, with love, we should do our meditation. The Master also becomes very happy. Everyday one should make the effort of manifesting that Stream of the Shabd, that Current of the Shabd, to flow within us in the lifetime of the Master. The Master also becomes very happy when His disciples, when His dear ones are able to manifest that Sound Current within them while He is still in the body. He becomes happy, “At least there are some dear ones who have become what I have wanted them to become.”

1994 November: The Voice of the Master

Session Date: February 2, 1983

This question and answer talk was given in Rajasthan, on February 2, 1983.

QUESTION: In Bombay, You said, some days ago, that Sant Mat starts where the mind or the intellect ends. If that is the case it seems that using the mind and the intellect, we can't understand the writings of the Saints; we can't understand the Satsang. We can't even understand the bhajans which we sing. Now, speaking personally, for me and for those whose eyes whose are not opened, it seems to be a very desperate condition. [much laughter] What to do? It will be a memorable day when our eyes would be opened so we can understand what You say. In fact, it seems that I won't even understand the answer which you're going to give me. [more laughter]

SANT JI: I am very pleased to hear this question, but would like you to know that even in this group there are so many dear ones whom I have seen in the interviews. They have told me about the progress in their meditation ever since they came here. And I was very pleased to know that there are some people in this group who have progressed.

Satguru connects you with the Shabd Naam after making you rise above the mind and the intellect. On the very first day He does that. The thing is that, if the disciple maintains the devotion and yearning which he had before taking the Initiation, if he maintains that yearning, if he maintains his devotion and love for the Master, instead of coming down, he may go upwards very soon.

Kabir Sahib said that if the devotion and yearning which was [with us] before taking the initiation and which was [with us] even on the day of initiation, if that devotion and yearning could be maintained – what is the question of one's own liberation? Such a person who has maintained his devotion and yearning can liberate millions of other souls.

But it is a pity that some dear ones, instead of maintaining and increasing their yearning and devotion, start decreasing and losing their devotion and yearning. And that is why they always remain stuck at the place where they had gone on the day of initiation. And they remain content with whatever little capital Master gave them at the time of Initiation. This is not the case with many dear ones. Only some dear ones do this.

Even if the disciple has not done the meditation, even if he does not rise above the mind and intellect, but still as far as understanding the writings of the Masters or as far as understanding the Satsang is concerned, Master helps the disciple from behind the veil to understand His writings and to understand the Satsang. And the disciple makes the mistakes or obeys his mind and intellect only when he goes away from the Satsang. As soon as he leaves the Satsang and the company of the Master, at once the mind brings lust, anger, laziness, attachment and other things; and he tries to entangle the disciple in all those passions. This happens only when the disciple goes away from the Satsang and the Master.

I have often said that it is worse to surrender than to be defeated. Keep trying, do Simran, do meditation. Because He who is going to help you is sitting within you in the Form of the Shabd. At least you try, have the courage to go within and ask for the help from Him. And if you will ask for help from Him, He will at once come to help you.

Only those who do not meditate and those who don't have the faith in the Master, become toys in the hands of mind and intellect.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, at the last question and answer session [printed in the September 1994 Sant Bani Magazine], You said that a lot of Saints had taken birth in Rajasthan and also that the Eastern and Western cultures are becoming mixed. In the future, will Perfect Saints be taking birth in the West?

SANT JI: I had also said that the place where many people do the meditation and where there are many souls who are chosen by God, that now they have to go back to Sach Khand, at such places only, most of the Mahatmas, most of the Saints take birth.

There is no definite time for this, and Saints never make any prophecies. But I have said this, that the place where there are fewer people who eat meat and drink wine, and where there are more people who are righteous and inclined towards the devotion of God, where there are many souls who are pure and ready to do the devotion of God, there God Almighty sends His Beloveds, the Saints, to that place. He tells Them to go to that place and bring the souls back to their Real Home, because now the souls of that particular place are ready to come back to their Real Home.

The grace which the souls are getting nowadays cannot be described in words. This is only because of the grace which the souls are getting that Supreme Fathers Kirpal and Sawan went so far, and that, because of Their grace, the souls are able to come here and take advantage. The Saints put Their lives in danger and went to many places far and near around the world, and They told us that They are sitting within us and in fact They are calling us and waiting for us, "Come back to us. Come back to your Real Home." This is all because of the grace which we, the souls, are getting nowadays from Almighty Lord.

Paltu Sahib had said, "What interest do the Saints have? Why do They suffer so much? Only for liberating the souls, They go everywhere in the world."

Saints and Mahatmas do not go into the world for getting any fame, They do not go into the world for collecting any wealth. They do not go for any sight-seeing; They go only to search for Their lost souls. When They go, and when They reach Their lost souls, They tell them, "We have come with the message from Almighty Lord. We have come with the message from the place from which you are separated. Why don't you come back?" They see us suffering and They tell us, "Why are you suffering so much in this world? Nothing is going to go with you, not even the body in which you are living and of which you are proud is going to go with you. This will be made useless either by some accident or by some sickness. The only thing which you can do with this body is the devotion of God. Why don't you go back to the Real Home from where you were separated? This place does not belong to you; this is not your home. Your home is a very beautiful place. At your home, there is no birth, no death. There are no sufferings, no pains, over there. It is the home of complete happiness. Why don't you come with us? Come with us, and we will show you how to go back there. In fact, God has sent us with this message to bring you back to His Real Home."

Kabir Sahib said, "If anyone has visited my place, my country, only he can know the beauty of my beautiful country. The Vedas and the other holy scriptures cannot comprehend the glory of my beautiful country."

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Sant Ji, the other day before meditation you said there were two things we should always remember before we go into meditation. Would you kindly repeat those two things?

SANT JI: I said that the two things are: first that you should make your mind quiet. Making the mind quiet means that you should not have any worldly thoughts coming up in your mind. When you have no thoughts, your mind will become quiet by itself.

The other thing I said is that you should not understand meditation as a burden; you should do it lovingly. Because whatever work we do lovingly pleases our Beloved, pleases our Master. When we can please even a worldly person by doing his work lovingly, can we not please our Master if we do His work lovingly? If we will do His work without understanding it as a burden, and if we will do it lovingly, He will definitely be pleased with us.

The other thing which I always say is that, while you are meditating you should not let your mind wander outside. You should always concentrate him at the Eye Center, at the Tisra Til, because the Tisra Til is the place from where our journey starts. It is the place where the door to our Real Home exists.

Also I had said that, when you go back to your homes, even then you should remember these couple of things, which will help you in the meditation. If you will remember these things, you will definitely get help in meditation. Because when you sit for meditation, you know that mind is such an obstinate enemy that if you will try to stop him from doing one thing, he will always make you do those things which you will not want to do. And if you will listen to your mind even for a moment, even for one second, if you will listen even to one thought, then he will at once open his office and he will start bringing so many thoughts in you, and you will forget that you are sitting for meditation.

At the end of the hour, you may feel that you have done the meditation, but he will not even let you realize that, in that hour, you did not do any Simran, you did not do any meditation, and you were doing the work of the mind. And then you will put in the diary that you did the meditation for one hour. But still he will not let you realize, he will not let you realize that the time that you were sitting was not the meditation, it was just doing the work of the mind.

The matter of the diary which our Supreme Father gave us is one of the best things, one of the best gifts of His life. But we are not understanding its reality, we are not understanding the real way of using it. We do not realize when we fill up the diary, we do not think, that in the hour which we are reporting, which we are noting down that we meditated, how much time we spent going around the world, how much time we spent in the Simran, how much time we spent in the talks of the mind. We never introspect our mind; we just go on writing in the diary, as if it were a custom.

My mother had a brother in faith. And he had the Initiation into the first Two Words. But at that time, I was very young and I did not know about the Words and I did not know that he had the Initiation. But we knew that he was doing some sort of devotion. And my mother would give him very good foods and a good place and everything because she was very devoted to the devotion. And she always used to love those people who were involved in the devotion.

He used to live in our house, and every night, he would stay up and do his devotion. Whenever we would wake up, we would go and look in his room. We would always find him staying up and doing his devotion. Sometimes we would hear him saying, "Yes, you have come. Come and sit with me. So you have also come. Okay, you also come and sit, I will deal with you, I will kill you." And then sometimes he would say, “Oh yes, now all of you have come. Wait a minute; I’ll deal with all of you.” We were surprised to hear him saying all these things, and we could not figure out what he was saying. Sometimes we would think that either he had gone mad, or that some spirits were coming to him in the nighttime, and he was talking with them. But we did not know with whom he was talking or what he meant by that.

In the morning, when he would come for tea, all the kids would go and play and joke with him, saying, “Uncle, will you kill us? Will you beat us? We have come to you.” They did not know what he was saying. Then he would say, “Yes, you will know about all those things when you grow up. And if, fortunately, you will get involved in the devotion, then you will know what I was talking about.”

When we grew up, and when I started doing the devotion, only then I realized that no spirit was coming to that uncle, and there was nothing which was bothering him except the thoughts. And whenever any thought would come, he would say, “Okay, you have come; I will kill you.”

When he would have the streams or flow of thoughts, then he would say, “Okay, now all you have come? I will deal with you.” So he was replying to the thoughts. When one starts doing the devotion, then he has to deal with the thoughts, because thoughts are very potent. And when they come at once, when they attack the devotee, then he has to deal with all these things. I did not come to realize this until I myself started doing the devotion.

Once a Maulvi, a Muslim priest, asked Master Kirpal, “Which Simran is the best?” Master Kirpal replied, “The Simran which can open our Path.” Then he again asked Him the question, “Which path is the best?” Master Kirpal replied, “The path which leads us to Sach Khand is the best Path.”

Then he asked one question further. He said, “If anyone’s Beloved is lost, where can one find him?” Master replied, “He should come to the Eye Center, and he should concentrate there, and he will find his Beloved there.”

QUESTION: Master, chastity is one of the hardest things to me on the Path. Through being unchaste I left my wife, I left You; through Your grace and Your love I came back to both. Could You speak a little to us about the importance of being chaste?

SANT JI: You see, always I have said that you should never remember, or you should never think about lust. This is the only medicine of removing the lust. Always forget the lust, and you will become successful.

You yourself will know the value of chastity, if you maintain it; you will note how beneficial it is. Kabir Sahib laid a lot of emphasis on remaining loyal to one’s partner in the married life, because it is a very important factor which helps us make progress in the Path of the Masters. One should never think of leaving his wife, or no woman should ever think of leaving her husband. They should not get separated until the death separates them.

Because the mind which is making you hate one person now, and which is taking you away from one person now, can do the same thing with the other person tomorrow. It is very difficult to maintain love. One can do that only with one person throughout his life, with efforts all his life long. And if we cannot maintain the love with one person, how can we expect to maintain love with so many people? It will always create problems.

The Light of Ajaib

Guru Nanak Sahib said, “Don’t call them husband and wife who only sit together physically; call them as the husband and wife who are working as one soul in two different bodies.

Mind is the root cause of all the evil. It is the mind which brings us closer, it is the mind which takes us away, which separates us. And since we all have become the toys in the hand of mind, that is why our condition is like this.

QUESTION: In America, the citizens vote on the issue of capital punishment. There is controversy over whether the state has the right to take life, in what crimes it is justified, and whether in fact it is a deterrent to crime. In your talk the other day [printed in the September 1994 Sant Bani Magazine], about the king in Rajasthan, You seem to be saying that capital punishment is the deterrent. Would you comment on whether it is karmically or morally right for the state to take life? And if so, for which crimes? Also, on whom does the karma rest if an innocent person is wrongly convicted and then executed?

SANT JI: Since it is a legal question, I would advise that if you could ask some legal person, it will be better for you to ask any legal person about this question.

The other day, when I was talking about that king of Rajasthan, the purpose of my saying was that he did not find any difference between his people and his own son. He used to say, “I will not forgive any corrupt person, no matter if he is my son.” He was a dictator, and that is why he was using this type of law and that is why he used to say, “I weigh the justice, and then solve the problems of the people. I weigh the justice and give the justice to the people.”

Before we ask any question, we should think about it thoroughly. We people don’t pay attention to the answer which was given to us, and we don’t [think about] in what context or on what subject that answer was given. And we make up a new question from the answer.

King Gunga Singh was a just ruler; he did not use any money from the treasury for his own livelihood. He used to do his farming to maintain his family and himself. Do you think that there is any leader in your country who is earning his livelihood by doing such a work, by making the hats or by making anything, or by working wholeheartedly or honestly? Is there anyone like that?

So the reason why I gave his example was that he was alike for everyone, whether it was his son or whether it was the other people in his kingdom. He did not hesitate in shooting his own son, because his justice was equal for everyone. He did not bother the innocent people. There is the difference between the democratic way of ruling and the way the dictators rule.

I think that it will be better for you if, going back to your country, if you can contact any lawyer. He will be able to explain to you about all this in a much better way. Because you know that this is Satsang, and if you have any spiritual question, you can ask [it here].

QUESTION: In meditation, I find this symphony of thoughts coming back again, back again, back again, like music – very sweet. Then I find I am thinking I should do the Simran lovingly, yet I find I’m shouting the words to get rid of the thoughts. Of course, the hour is over sometimes. But what’s the solution in the long run?

SANT JI: Saints have given us this Simran only to remove the weakness of our mind which we are having. Because you know that we have been in the habit of doing the simran or the repetition of thinking of the [worldly] things in every lifetime. We have had this habit from ages and ages, from birth after birth. And this habit is even bothering us in this lifetime, in this birth also. That is why Saints have given us the Simran which They have meditated upon, which They have earned Themselves. They have not given us the Simran from the books or from hearsay. They have given us the Simran on which They have perfected Their life, on which They have molded Their life. And if we do the Simran of the Master lovingly, without understanding it as a burden, if we do it sweetly, if we keep trying to do the Simran, then definitely we can get rid of the thoughts. And in our within, only the Simran of the Master will go on happening, and no thought will bother us. We people don't have the habit of doing the Simran continuously and constantly. That is why we lack in doing the Simran. You know when you are traveling in the bus or when you are flying in the airplane, or when you are doing any other thing, you have all sorts of worldly thoughts coming in your mind without making any effort. If, instead of all those worldly thoughts, which are of no use at that time, if you can do Simran, if you can have the Simran go on happening in your mind, then you can perfect the Simran in no time. And if you do it lovingly, then you will not have such problems in the meditation.

Here all the dear ones are sitting in love and lovingly they are looking into my eyes. No doubt, everybody is looking at me and their eyes are towards me. But even here, you will find many people who have [mentally] gone across the oceans and who are back in their homes taking care of their children and like that [laughter]. Even here also not everyone who is present here is here with his mind. There are some dear ones here, those who are sitting here looking into my eyes, but have still gone across the ocean.

Kabir Sahib said, "You have given your mind to some other place and you have given your body to the Saint. O Kabir, how can you get your body dyed in the color of the Saint when your mind is not present along with your body?"

QUESTION: Master Kirpal has written that you should listen to the voice of the Master within, which is your own voice. Some of the dear ones in our Sangat have become involved in listening to the voice of the Master within to guide their activities throughout the day and just generally speaking with Him. I would like you to comment on if we should do this? And how do we distinguish between the voice of the Master within from the voice of our mind?

SANT JI: In the voice of the Master, there is attraction, there is sweetness; it is a very loving voice. And at that time, you will have the loving thoughts coming within you. And that voice will always inspire you to sit for meditation. Whereas in the voice of mind there will be confusion. He will always inspire you to do the worldly things, and he will always create problems for you.

The dear ones who are listening to the voice of the Master in the within, or those who are even trying to listen to the voice of the Master in the within, they are doing a very good thing. We all should do that.

1994 December: Becoming Free of Faults

Session Date: August 17, 1977

This question and answer session was given after morning meditation with Sant Ji at Sant Bani Ashram, Sanbornton, N. H., on August 17, 1977.

QUESTION: What is "will power," and how can I best develop it – a resolute will to impose self-discipline upon myself to succeed with this Path?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: Two powers work in our body: one is the Negative Power, and the other is the Positive Power, or God Power. The good things are within our body, and the bad things are also within our body.

We have to choose what we will do, whether we will do the good things or the bad things. And will power is such a thing that whatever desire you have – whether you develop your will power towards spiritual things, towards the God Power or the good things, or towards bad things – until you achieve those things, that desire will go on increasing and increasing.

This is a matter of experience, and a matter of becoming fond of such things. You can develop your will power in either of the directions; because two directions, or two paths, are within us. One is a negative path, the other is positive.

You already know about my yearning for realizing God in my childhood. And that desire developed the will power to realize Him. Until I met the Master that desire went on increasing and increasing. I told everything about that in the month of May, and that was published in the magazine also.<sup>58</sup> So will power is such a thing that, in whatever direction you develop, it will go on increasing and increasing, until you achieve the goal.

QUESTION: I'd like to know if you can explain to me what just happened in this meditation. Towards the end of the meditation, I was experiencing tremendous pain in one of my legs and I was telling my mind, "No, you're just going to have to wait." And I was forcing more and more – that I was not going to move. And all of a sudden, just like something exploded inside me, there was tremendous light and going through suns and moons and just. . . I don't know, too much . . . so much. But there was also a feeling like my whole being, my whole body was going to explode, and dizziness, and all that. And Master's Form was there also, but there seemed like there was something happening in my body at the same time, and, finally I had to move. Was I involved with pranas, or what?

SANT JI: Your attention went to the pain, and that was all. And I guarantee you that your body will never explode. [Gentle laughter, including Sant Ji] You should never be aware of the body. And this type of pain is natural. Whenever we start any work, in the beginning we have these things. Our soul is tied, not only to our body, but our soul has also gone outside our body, and that's why, when we are collecting our thoughts, and when we are bringing our soul back in the body, it is natural to have pain. And after that, when we are trying to withdraw the soul from our body, then the pain becomes more and more. But this is only in the beginning. When a meditator develops the habit of withdrawing from the outer world and then from the body; after that, these things become so ordinary, that after that he doesn't have any pain.

When Master first told me to do the meditation I also had some difficulties in the beginning. But whenever any problem would come, I would always remember this promise, or the vow which I had taken. And that was, "O my heart, O my mind, you have taken this promise that you will never be discouraged." These are the ordinary [natural] things; until we take our mind to its Real Home mind will never become our friend. And in that way, he will bring many types of difficulties in our meditations.

Looking at the materials of the world our mind has gone crazy, and that's why it also rebels. Outside also, if you have to control any crazy man, in the beginning he will try to fight with you and it is very difficult for you. But when you give him the medicine – good advice – and when he becomes all right, he also becomes a very good friend and he becomes very grateful to you. In the same way, our mind has gone crazy looking at the materials of the world, but when our mind will become all right, when we take it to its Real Home, after that he will also become our friend.

<sup>58</sup> See "To Solve the Mystery," June 1977.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: There's something I'm failing to understand about moving and mind. Kirpal used to say to make your mind your friend. It's like a donkey; the more you restrict him, the more stubborn he gets. So, befriend your mind and say, "You know, you want a little food, mind? Okay, here's some, now sit in meditation." And I feel Sant Ji's advice is really good, but I don't understand when You say we should punish the mind. I don't know how to integrate those two things.

SANT JI: He is a Satsangi who becomes obstinate in front of mind. One who always stands in front of mind very strongly, he is a Satsangi.

We people are remembering the things which Master Kirpal said, the things which are very soft. But the strict things which He said, we never give any attention to them. [laughter]

When Master would give Satsang and say, "A Satsangi should never give up his Simran. Twenty-four hours a day, he should go on doing the Simran." At that time, nobody would bow down to Him and say, "Yes, that's true." But when Master would say, "You should never miss your meditation – at least do it for five minutes," then everybody would fold their hands and say, "Yes Master, that's correct." [laughter, including Sant Ji]

QUESTION: Would Sant Ji speak about the importance of the diary?

SANT JI: You should read Sant Bani Magazine. In that, I have said a lot about keeping the diary. Regarding the diary, I have said that only to fill up the diary forms is not enough. Whatever sin or mistake one has committed one day, in all his life he should never do it again. We people are filling up the diary forms, saying, "This month we committed ten sins, last month it was five, and once it was fifteen, and twenty, and like that." We are going on increasing the number, but we are not ready to give that up.

Here in this country, the houses are made in a different style, and their roofs are such that when the rain water comes, all the water runs down onto the ground at once, and there is no problem. But in India, the houses are made in such a style that all the water collects on the roof and then, through some small pipes, the water comes down from there. There was one house in India, and it also had a pipe through which the water came out from the roof, but that pipe spilled into the neighbor's house. That neighbor was very worried about that because whenever it would rain, the water was coming into his house.

So he requested the man to please move that pipe, but he didn't do anything. Then the neighbor brought some leading people of the town to settle that problem. When everybody came there, the person said, "I am welcoming all the leading people, and I respect you very much; but the pipe is going to stay there, I'm not going to change that."

In the same way, we welcome the diary, we welcome the ideas which Master has presented in front of us, and we find much pleasure in filling up the diary forms. We give up all our works and sit with the diary and pen in the evening, and we put down all our mistakes, but we are not willing to change. As that man was not willing to move that pipe, in the same way, we are not ready to finish our sins. But we welcome [the diary], and we keep it.

The Light of Ajaib

In Rajasthan, one man was singing in front of the Master. He sang a poem which was about the importance of keeping the diary. And in that poem he even said that the diary is God, and the diary is more than Master, because the diary removes all our faults.

When Master heard that, He said, “You sang about the importance of the diary, but have you ever thought about removing the sins, removing the faults?” So keeping the diary is not enough. You have to remove the faults also.

In the army people also keep a diary, it is called “daily accounts,” or it is called “sheet roll” – very often it is called “sheet roll” – in which all the mistakes and everything is recorded about the soldiers. So whenever any soldier has done a good thing, first of all the officer will call him, with the sheet roll, to see if he has done any mistake or not. If he has not done many mistakes, only then will he be awarded the prize for his good deeds. But if he has had lots of mistakes, he will not receive the prize, even though he has done one good deed. In the same way, if we will fill up our diary forms with all the mistakes and not with the good deeds, how will Hazur Kirpal be able to give us the prize for our good deeds?

Very often I have told about how an old lady in Rajasthan kept the diary form. After Initiation Master told everybody to keep the diary, and because the people in our area are very much illiterate, and she was also illiterate, she kept that diary with much protection, but without filling anything in there. When Master came back next time, He asked everybody, “Are you keeping the diaries?” So that lady brought out her diary form and she said, “Yes Master, I have kept this with very much protection. Daily I have burned incense in front of it and I respected this very much, and You can see this diary; I am still holding this.”

So Master saw the diary and it contained nothing. It was blank. So Master said, “I did not tell you to ‘keep’ the diary, I told you to understand the importance of the diary and to fill in whatever faults you have done.” When we are understanding that this is our fault, and this is a sin which we have done, then why are we forgetting that when we are repeating it again. We should never again do this sin which we have recorded once in our diary form.

In India, the advantage which the villagers took from Master, the city people didn’t take that same advantage from the Master. That is only because the villagers are very innocent and they are illiterate. Whatever Master told them to do in a practical way, they did that because they were not involved in all these intellectual things. Who kept the diaries there? Nobody was there to keep the diary. But now also, when people are leaving the body, at that time, in His full glory Master comes there to take them. And those who are initiates, for them, Master definitely comes. But even those who are non-initiates and those who have seen Master only once, because of their purity and because of their innocence, Master comes to liberate them also.

But the people living in the cities didn’t take much advantage from the Master; because they were very clever and they were involved in all the intellectual things. So the more learned we are, the more we know how to read and write – we read many books and we write all these things in diaries and we find much pleasure in filling up the diary forms; we respect it very much. But we do not know the real meaning of keeping the diary – that is, becoming free of the faults.

Hazur showered much grace on us, and He showed us how to keep the diaries, and what the diary was. And that is really appreciated. But the problem is that we people are not understanding; we are not thinking about the real purpose which He meant by keeping the diary.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: I'm getting up earlier in the morning for meditation, but I find that by meditating for many hours in the early morning by the time we have a chance to sit with You the body is so tired it's very difficult to get the benefit of being in Your presence for meditation. Would it be better to make some adjustments so we'll be fresher when we sit with You? If my body shakes, and my mind, it's very difficult to be peaceful because of the pain.

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs gently] Well, this is only because of the mind. Your mind is putting this thing in front of you. You see, when we are working in the world, eight or nine hours, we do that work without any complaint, without getting tired. But when we are doing the work of God, we are tired. Guru Nanak Sahib says, "All day he is working in the world and he doesn't get tired, but when the time of remembering God comes, at that time he feels that a stone has been kept on his head; he feels a lot of burden on his head when he has to do the meditation."

Nowadays, in Rajasthan, there is a canal system, and that is why there are many good fields. Crops are growing and there is no scarcity of water there. But thirty years before, when there were no canals, it was very hard for the people who were living there. They had to go in their bullock carts to get the water from many, many miles away. And in the summer months, when the sandstorms would come, it would form many mountains of sand and it would become very difficult for the animals to walk on that sand.

At that time Sunder Das, that initiate of Master Sawan Singh who lived with me, both of us, we didn't have any personal interest in doing that work. But still, whenever the people of the village would go to bring the water, we would take shovels and we would remove that sand so that it would be easier for the bullocks to walk on that path. And people would call us mad, but still we did that physical work.

The meaning of telling this is that the more physical work we will do with our body, the more it will become fresh; and in that way, we will be able to do more in meditation. We didn't have any personal interest in doing that work, but still, for the good of our meditation, we understood that whatever work we would take from our physical body, that was all good and that would bring more freshness to our body.

People may be thinking that I am sleeping all night and in the morning I come and sit in front of you on the dais. But those who think like that, they are welcome to see me, and they will be surprised to know that after twelve-thirty, they will never find me sleeping or lying on the bed. But you can catch my companions sleeping in very deep sleep [laughter, with Sant Ji], because always I am telling them to get up!

This is only an excuse of the mind, and this shows the weakness. If we are saying that we are tired, that means that we are surrendering to our mind. The schedule in Vancouver was such that I didn't get sleep at all for that one week. Because I stayed in Arran's house, and that was the house of Pappu's relatives. All day I was seeing the people and held Satsang for the Sangat; and after that, in the nighttime the relatives would come and we would talk until one o'clock or two o'clock. And when they would go back to sleep, I would again start doing my work and all day long I would serve the Sangat.

So for that one week, I didn't sleep, not even for one hour, but I didn't have any effect of sleepiness. But lovingly I will tell you, dear one, that if two people come to you and give you a massage to remove your tiredness, then also your mind will bring this excuse: that it would be better if you had started doing meditation later, or if you had meditated for just one hour.

The Light of Ajaib

In our ashram, we have tried many things. Many people would come and they would do the meditation. And after that, when they would say that they were tired, we would have some people fan them whenever it was hot. And some people would give them a massage and do many types of things to comfort them. But still, whenever they would get comforts they would sleep. And after that they were kicked out by giving them a good beating. So the more comfort you will give to your body, the more it will become lazy.

1995*1995 January: To Cut The Simran Of The World*Session Date: August 18, 1977

This question and answer session was given after morning meditation with Sant Ji, August 18, 1977, at Sant Bani Ashram, Sanbornton, NH

QUESTION: Yesterday You told us that we were spending too much time on our diaries without changing ourselves. I think lots of us get very involved in the psychological and astrological causes of our weaknesses and negativity. Is that necessary? It also seems to make us very tired when we get so involved in probing ourselves.

SANT JI: Well, until we look into our within, we cannot improve ourselves. And until we are aware of ourselves, we cannot change our life; and in that way we cannot progress.

QUESTION: While sitting in meditation, many unchaste thoughts come to my mind and completely distract my attention. Even when I'm doing my Simran, they're so powerful that they're taking me away from You. Also, I would like to confess to You that I voluntarily lost semen last month, and I'd like to beg Your forgiveness now.

SANT JI: You should replace your thoughts by the Simran, and after that, the bad thoughts will not come. Now we are doing Simran only for one hour or for the time when we are sitting for meditation. And for the rest of the time, ten or twelve hours which we have during the daytime, we spend all that time doing the simran of the world. That means thinking the bad thoughts in the world.

That is why Mahatmas lay much emphasis on doing Simran always. They say that you should go on doing the Simran day and night. There are twenty-four hours in a day. For twelve hours it is day and for twelve hours it is night. And from those twelve hours of day, if you spend eight hours in your worldly work, and if you sleep all night, and in that time if you are doing the Simran for only one hour, then the time devoted to worldly simran is much more than the time devoted to the Simran of God.

Mahatmas shower much grace on us, and in this Iron Age, They have given us such a Simran that we can do even while we are doing our worldly work, and we can easily cut down the simran of the world by doing the Simran given by Them.

The problem of losing the semen is not only for you. Many people are having this problem, and that is only because of their bad thoughts. And it happens, that when the vital fluid is lost in great amounts, after that it becomes very thin, and it is difficult for the vital fluid to stay in the body. If we have even a little bit of bad thought it goes out very easily. That's why, from the beginning, we should always have chaste thoughts. Now also you can change your thoughts. Have chaste thoughts, so that this precious vital fluid this is a very precious wealth in our body so that we can maintain that.

Mahatma Charan Das said, "How can one do the devotion when the fence of devotion is broken?" He said, "How can we do the devotion when we are not keeping the fence of the devotion, that is, when we are not replacing lust by continence?"

QUESTION: I was wondering if Master could review common inaccuracies in Simran and Bhajan. And pointers. For instance, are some of us trying to sit too straight? And in Bhajan, are we supposed to center our attention, maintain our attention at the Eye Focus? I start seeing Light, and we're not supposed to do that, and I divide my attention by trying not to see the Light. So I was just wondering if Master could just generally speak on inaccuracies and accuracies of Simran and Bhajan?

SANT JI: The first thing is that you should always go on doing the Simran. You should never stop doing the Simran. Whether you do the Simran in a jolly mood or in weeping, even then it will bear fruit. Kabir Sahib has said that if you remember Sat Naam, it doesn't matter if you are remembering Him in a jolly mood or in a weeping mood. But definitely, it will bear the fruit. It is just like a seed which is thrown in the ground: whether it is thrown in the right position or upside down, still it will bear a plant.

After that, when you are sitting for practicing Simran, at that time, first of all you should take up such a posture that you do not have to move in that position. Whenever you have adopted any position, after that you should not move from that position. But the stillness of the body only is not enough. After that you should still your mind also, and go on doing the Simran. Sometimes it happens that we are sitting in a very good position, but our mind is not in a good position. Instead of doing the Simran, he is bringing many bad, unchaste thoughts within us, and that is not good. You should always keep your mind in doing Simran when you are sitting for [meditation].

It is only in the beginning that we have some difficulty in doing constant Simran. But when we start getting interest in doing the Simran and when we enjoy the Simran, after that, it all becomes very natural. Our body sits still, our mind also becomes still and, because we are doing the Simran, the Surat and Nirat also become still.

Kabir Sahib said, "The Simran which one does when the body is still and the mind is still, then the meditator takes his soul and attaches it to the Shabd." If one does Simran like this, even for a moment, that Simran has very great value, and that meditator doesn't have any fear of death. But what are most of us doing? We are all involved in the mind and we do not rise above the mind. Instead of Simran, mind gives us one or another thought and we spend all our time thinking and making plans.

Sitting for one hour, carefully check your mind and see how many times your mind is taking you into the world, thinking the worldly thoughts, and how many times you are breaking the Simran; check how much time from this hour you have done Simran.

QUESTION: Master, I seem to be having a big problem this morning. I don't know if my mind's playing games or what, but I feel that I'm being pulled up and I see light. But my physical body is dizzy and I get stuck. I feel dizzy and start falling backwards. I don't really understand what's happening.

SANT JI: Sometimes it happens that the beginners have a problem of their body becoming numb, and that's why their body falls down, or falls back. But they should do more Simran, and when they will do more Simran, this problem will go away.

QUESTION: Master, I'm not trying to make a joke, but do the mosquitoes give the Saints and Mahatmas trouble?

SANT JI: [Everyone laughs, including Sant Ji] Well, everybody is doing their own duty. [more laughter]

It is only in the man that he is having the feeling of duality, but for mosquitoes, they don't have any sense of duality, and for them everybody is alike. [much laughter again by the Sangat, with Sant Ji laughing delightedly.]

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Master, I have a great love for You, as a Master and as a teacher. And sometimes I have a great deal of difficulty doing what You say; and I'm sure that many of us do. Why do we have to go through so much difficulty to get to You, to love You like we should and to adhere to Your commandments?

SANT JI: I appreciate your love. But this is also a deception of mind, that we say. "I love you, but... [laughter] whatever you are saying, we are not ready to obey that." [laughter]

Saints and Satgurus love the souls and Their love for the souls is very true. As far as Their responsibility is concerned, Their liberating the soul, They do that at any cost. They never say, "We have difficulty loving you." No matter how much the soul is dirty or involved in this world, but still They come and They liberate the soul. They never have any problem in loving the souls.

QUESTION: One time you spoke of a place between the earth and the heaven distinct from the astral plane and the causal plane and so on. And, I'm wondering... at times I need to know the distinction, and maybe if I asked you a question... For instance, if one sees a vehicle like a car that you know is miles away, but you actually see it, is that an experience of the area between the earth and the heavens, or is that like an astral or causal thing? This morning it happened.

SANT JI: In California also, I said this thing: that that plane is also one part of the astral plane.

The plane between the heavens and the hells, that is the plane of the ghosts. It is a very difficult plane. There is no connection between the physical plane and the astral plane.

On that day you said that you were seeing ghosts and you were working with them. On that day also, I was responding to your question.

And I told you that you had never seen the ghosts. If you had seen the ghosts, you would have died as soon as you had seen the ghosts.

Because until we reach their plane we cannot see them and we cannot make them work for us.

All the people who say that they are seeing the ghosts, and that they are controlling them and working with them they all are fake. Because they only impress the people; they have not reached to that plane. Only a meditator of Sant Mat can reach to that plane, and he will not stand there because his journey is beyond that plane also.

There was a man in the village called Patehwalla, and he also said that he was seeing ghosts and working with them and doing all things like that. And everybody was very much impressed because always he would talk about ghosts. If anybody would see any ghost or anything like that, they would come to him to ask his counsel. So one day, when I went there, he also started boasting about that. He told me, "Once when I was coming back from the village called Goduwalla, I saw one ghost and that ghost walked with me for four miles. And sometimes that ghost would turn into the body of a small boy, and sometimes an old man." Yet everybody knew that he was so much afraid of things, even of people, that he would never come out of his home in the nighttime, because he was afraid of the darkness. But he was saying, "It was nighttime and the ghost was coming with me," and things like that. I told him, "Dear one, everybody knows that you are very much afraid of the darkness, so how were you not afraid looking at that ghost on that very dark night?" So he said, "No, no, I have seen the ghost. Who says that I was afraid?" And in that way he started boasting. He didn't believe me at that time. But after that, when he came to me and when he took Initiation, and when he knew what that plane was and what a ghost is, then he realized that it was his mistake, that he was saying a falsehood.

And when I bought some land in Maduwar – Maduwar is some other part of Rajasthan – I employed the same man to work in my fields. I told him to go to the field, taking some bullocks. And on the way there was a graveyard. He spent his night there in the graveyard. He did not know that it was a graveyard, but he slept there.

In the morning, when he got up and he saw the graves around him, he was very much afraid. He was so much afraid that he got a fever at that time. I was very surprised to know that and I told him, "Once you were saying that you were talking with ghosts, but this was a simple graveyard with dead bodies, and they also were not alive."

So these type of people just unnecessarily speak untruth, and in that way they are making more bad karmas. And some of the weak-hearted Satsangis also, because they are very much weak in their hearts, follow such people, and they also believe in ghosts and all those things. They should not do that. Only those souls go in the body of a ghost, who have done very many bad karmas in this world, and they get the punishment by getting the body of a ghost.

The physical, astral, and causal planes, they have this type of relation: they are just like cages. One cage is in another one, and those two are in yet a bigger one. But all the cages and all the planes have their own structure, or way of creation. And when we leave the physical plane, the physical body, then we are in the astral body, in the astral plane, and we do not have any relation with the physical body. And when we withdraw from that, we go into the causal plane, we work in the causal body.

1995 January: Always Remember Our Goal

Session Date: February 27, 1983

This question and answer talk was given at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan, on February 27, 1983.

QUESTION: I have two questions. One is: each time that we reincarnate, do we bring the same mind with us. And the second question is about free will. I still don't understand how much free will do we have? How does it operate? Is it different for initiates and non-initiates?

SANT JI: As there is one God and the one soul is within all of us, in the same way, there is only one mind.

The only difference is that, if we have had very good karmas in the past, our mind is quiet and peaceful. And because of it, the effect of the Satogun, or the good qualities, is more. That is why we get the thoughts of doing the meditation and for the love of the Master.

No one explains to the non-initiates that they should have good desires, they should have good wishes, and they should develop good qualities within themselves. But to the Satsangis, Saints and Mahatmas always explain what are the benefits of doing the good deeds, and what are the punishments for doing the bad deeds. And through the Satsangs and through the writings of the Mahatmas, the Satsangi understands a lot about his own desire, about his own free will and the will of Master. And through the Satsangs, Masters always explain to us that, even though we have a choice, even though we have our free will, [They explain] how we have to use it. Greatest of all, the Satsangi has the Naam within him.

The Light of Ajaib

And as he goes on doing the meditation of Naam, gradually he starts controlling his desires, his wishes; and then he himself knows how much he has to use his free will.

When we do the meditation regularly, gradually, at the end, only one desire remains in our within, and that is the desire for doing the devotion constantly, and the desire of manifesting the Master within us.

QUESTION: I've read that we should do Simran in intervals. What does that mean?

SANT JI: If the worldly thoughts bother us a lot during the meditation, we should increase the speed of the Simran. But if our mind is quiet, and there are not many thoughts bothering us, then we should not stop our Simran. If it is happening with the tongue of our thought, if it is happening mentally, let it happen like that.

QUESTION: When You say, "if it's happening mentally", does that mean when you're in a state of remembrance that you're not saying the words?

SANT JI: When the Simran starts happening within us with the tongue of our thought, then we do not need to make any effort of doing the Simran. It is like this: now we do not make any efforts to think the thoughts of the world. In the same way, when such a state comes in respect to the Simran, then we do not need to make any effort of doing the Simran.

QUESTION: [another question about Simran]

SANT JI: When you will go in your within by doing constant Simran, then you will be able to understand the meaning of the words without making any efforts. But while you have not gone inside, you have to repeat only the words without bothering for its meaning or anything like that.

QUESTION: Last year your eyes were operated on, and we were very concerned about that. And I was wondering if they're okay now or whether they are giving you any trouble?

SANT JI: I thank all the dear ones for having concern for my eyes. With the grace of supreme Father Kirpal, my eyes are okay. I don't have any difficulty. Master Kirpal made all the operations successful.

QUESTION: Can you say something about parshad, and what happens when it is eaten by non-initiates?

SANT JI: I have said a lot regarding parshad, and a lot has been published in Sant Bani Magazine. You should read that.

The parshad which is given to us by the perfect Masters carries a lot of Their meditations, a lot of Their blessings. In fact, a lot of the grace of the Master is residing in the parshad given to us by the perfect Master.

But on the other side, there is the question of our faith in the Master and our receptivity. It all depends upon how much faith we have in the Master, and whether we accept the parshad with faith in Him and with receptivity, or we accept it only because Master is giving it to us.

I had a relative who was a young boy. He was in his last days, and he was suffering a lot, and he was requesting to Almighty Master (this is an incident when Master Kirpal was still in the body). So he started requesting to Master, "O Satguru, kindly protect me, shower grace on me," because he was having a lot of pain. Even though he was not initiated, still he was having a lot of faith in the Master. The other members of the family were initiated. They had some parshad given by the Master, so they gave some parshad to that boy. And as soon as he ate that parshad, he felt peace; and peacefully he left the body.

You know that, when the parshad is being distributed, sometimes it happens that some of the parshad gets thrown away on the floor. And the dear ones who have a lot of faith in the Master, and those who have appreciation for the parshad, they at once take that and eat that. While the other people don't care whether the parshad is falling on the floor or going anywhere. When the parshad is distributed, and when some parshad gets spilled, some people walk over that parshad; and in a way it is like not appreciating that parshad. If they knew what was the importance of the parshad, they would never let that happen. The importance of parshad is so great, so high, that it cannot be described in words.

About thirty or thirty-five years ago, the place where we are sitting now did not have many doctors. And only a few medical treatments were available. That is why most of the people used to have their own kinds of remedies and medicines. It so happened that once I got a very high fever. I was down with malaria, and there was no medicine available in this area. That is why I was not getting well soon. In those days, one initiate of Baba Sawan Singh, whose name was Dharam Chand, used to visit me very often. He was one of my best friends. So when he saw me in that state, he said, "If you are happy to take some parshad of the Master, I will bring some, because I have some parshad given by Baba Jaimal Singh." (His parents and his grandparents used to be Initiates of Baba Jaimal Singh. So they had some parshad given by Him.) At that time, because I was already initiated into the first two words by Baba Bishan Das, and I was doing the meditation on those two words, that is why I knew that the parshad given by the perfect Masters carries a lot of Their grace, and it is very powerful. So I requested him, "Okay, if you will bring it, then I will be very happy to have that."

So next day, Dharam Chand went to his village and brought some parshad to me. He dissolved it in some water and gave me that water to drink. As soon as I drank that water, my fever went away, because I took that parshad with a lot of faith in the Master Power.

So I mean to say that the parshad given by the perfect Master carries a lot of His strength and grace. In a way, the hidden grace of the Master lies in the parshad given by Him. But it all depends upon the faith of the disciple; it all depends upon the receptivity of the disciple.

QUESTION: When the Masters speak of the time being short, are They referring to Themselves as well as Their initiates?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs] Saints have the knowledge of the reality of this world. That is why They always live in this world like a traveler. And They always warn Their children. They always say lovingly, "Dear children, don't procrastinate your work. Don't leave your work of today for tomorrow."

The disciples have forgotten that they have to leave this world one day. That is why Masters always tell them, "Beware, get up and do the meditation." Because the Masters always want their disciples to go within and manifest that audible stream of Shabd within them, for which they have come in this world. Master is always ready to manifest that Shabd within the disciples, and He wants, before He leaves His physical body, that all His disciples should be able to contact that Shabd.

Once a person died, and the other people were taking him to the graveyard. So Guru Nanak Sahib told his disciples, "Awake, awake, awake, O dear ones! Look at that. One of our friends is going. Why are you sleeping? Get up, because one day we must all leave this world."

Kabir Sahib has said that the day which has started will end eventually. Whoever has come in this world will go back from this world. Guru Teg Bahadur said, “Whatever has been created will perish one day. Nanak says, Sing the praise of Almighty Lord, giving up all the worldly things.”

Saints and Mahatmas know that some day we will be called back by God, and we will have to go back to Him, leaving this world behind. But the disciples are under the control of the mind and the organs of senses, and they have forgotten that this is not their home and they have to leave this world one day. But when we meditate, gradually the awareness comes within us. We realize that this is not our real home, we have to leave this world, and we have to worry for the home where we will go and reside after this death.

Guru Nanak Sahib says, “O man, you are attached to the home where you are not going to live forever. But you are not worried for that home where you have to go and live after this world.”

Once some of the disciples of Guru Nanak asked Him, “How much time do You think that You will live in this world.” Guru Nanak replied, “I don’t know. I have breathed in and I don’t know whether I will breathe out or not. Because it all depends on Almighty Lord. It is in the Will of God. If He wants I will have to leave this body right now.”

Then Guru Nanak asked His disciples, “How much time do you think you are going to live in this world?” The disciples replied, “Master, we never thought about that. We had forgotten that one day we have to leave this world.”

Saints and Mahatmas are gracious beings, and the reason for giving Their examples and telling us all these stories is that They want that, along with living in this world, we should always remember our goal; we should always remember that we have to go back to our Real Home, Sach Khand. And They want that we should always try and prepare ourselves for that journey and we should become successful in that journey while our Master is still in the body.

Once a disciple of Guru Gobind Singh climbed a tree with his shoes on. One person who was passing by told him, “O Man, why are you wearing your shoes while climbing the tree; you will fall down. Why don’t you leave your shoes down on the ground?” That disciple of Guru Gobind Singh replied, “Suppose God calls me to come back. Will I tell Him, ‘Wait for a minute! Let me go and [put on] my shoes!’”

So the meaning of saying this is that those who meditate, they always remember that the death will come any time.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to tell one story very often in the Satsang. Once, a newlywed couple went to a gurdwara – to the holy place of the Sikhs – for getting the blessing of the priest there. Because it is a custom almost everywhere in the world that when the people get married, they get married in the holy places like churches. The Christians get married in the churches and the Muslims go to the mosque, the Hindus go to the temple, the Sikh people go to the gurdwara.

So in that way, one newlywed Sikh couple went to the gurdwara to get the blessing of the priest there. They also took some sweets with them, they paid their respect to the priest who was in charge of the gurdwara, and they offered him the sweets which they had brought. The priest gave those sweets to a fearless fakir whose name was Suthra, who used to live there in the gurdwara. And that priest himself kept two rupees which that newlywed couple had offered to him. And after taking the two rupees, he said, “May God bless you. May He give you a long life. May you live for four ages.” And he went on giving them many blessings.

Suthra could not control himself because he was a fearless fakir, and he was a very blunt-natured man. He said to the priest, “Why are you lying? You see, you are going to die, and they are also going to die.” So the newlywed couple did not like that and they said, “Why are you cursing us?” Suthra replied, “No, I am not cursing you. You are going to die, and moreover, I am also going to die. Only this priest who is giving you such a blessing, I don’t think that he is going to die; because only for the sake of two rupees, he is lying so much.”

So Saints are fearless, and They know the reality of the world. And They know that one day we all must leave the world. If They tell the people directly, “You have to leave this world,” people will get upset and they will not like it. That is why They say, “The time is short.” And They refer to Themselves also because we worldly people think that the death is not for us; we think death is only for those people whom we see dying. And we forget that we are going to be one of them.

That is why They lovingly tell us that our life is not permanent. One day we all have to leave this world. Our body is like a piece of paper. You know that when a piece of paper is put into water, it loses its existence. In the same way, when death comes, our body remains in this world. And the parrot who is speaking within us – our soul – leaves this body and flies back to her Real Home, leaving our body in this world.

QUESTION: There has been some discussion about what the right attitude, the right behavior, might be towards initiates who are friends of ours and for some reason or another leave the Path. I was wondering if You could make some comment about that.

SANT JI: Those who have been initiated by the perfect Master, they will never be left alone as far as Master is concerned. No doubt, they have left the Master; but the Master has not left them. They have left the Path of the Master because they are now obeying their enemy, their mind. But they should always remember that one day, they will have to come back to the Master. We should have love and sympathy towards them. You will find that many people, who will be impressed by your love and sympathy, will come back to the Path of the Masters in your lifetime. And you will find many people – those who had once left the Path – will come back to the Path very soon. It is possible that your company may increase the love for the Master, and may create the desire of coming back to the Path.

I will tell you one story from the Sikh history, which I have said very often; and once it was published in Sant Bani Magazine also.

Guru Gobind Singh had become a warrior to oppose the tyrants; because in those days in India, there was a lot of corruption everywhere. And the Mogul emperors, who were ruling over this country, were themselves doing all the bad things. Nobody’s life and honor was protected in those days.

The Mogul rulers were not protecting any women, and they were molesting everybody. At that time, Guru Gobind Singh had to oppose them. And in those battles, He himself lost a lot. He lost all his four sons, and He lost His home, His property and everything.

Anandpur Sahib, the place where Guru Gobind Singh Ji used to live, is in the hill area. And the Moguls knew that they would never be able to defeat Him in that part. They tried a lot, but they were not successful; because Guru Gobind Singh used to live with a lot of his army in a very strong fort in Anandpur Sahib. And He knew about that area; and the Moguls did not know how to fight with Guru Gobind Singh.

So finally the Moguls thought [instead of attacking the fort] they would stay outside the fort and wait for the time when the people in the fort would have to come out.

It happened that for six months, nobody came out of that fort, and gradually all the food and supplies which were in the fort were coming to an end. Some of the disciples of Guru Gobind Singh started becoming impatient. They requested Guru Gobind Singh, “Now we want to go back home.”

The Mogul army had sent many messages into the fort. Once they sent their holy book, the Koran, saying, “We swear by this holy Koran that if you leave this fort we will not harm you, we will not do anything to you. You kindly come out and let us go and fight with Guru Gobind Singh.”

There were many Hindu officers as well as other disciples of Guru Gobind Singh who had become very impatient because they were not getting enough food and supplies, because it had been more than six months since any food from outside was brought into the fort.

So they requested Guru Gobind Singh, “Master, now we want to go back home, because it has been such a long time. And every day here You fight with the [Mogul army], and we don’t like this. We want to go back home!”

Guru Gobind Singh told them, “Have patience, do your Bhajan and Simran, and wait for some more time. The people who are outside, the Mogul army will get tired, and they will leave us alone. But you please wait for some time.” But those people did not want to obey the commandments of Guru Gobind Singh, as they had become very impatient. So they said, “Master, we don’t like Your policies, we don’t like Your ideas, and we don’t want to call You our Master. We are leaving You; from now onwards, You are not our Master.”

Guru Gobind Singh lovingly told them, “Okay, if you want to do that, you may do so. But before leaving me, write on this piece of paper, sign your name and write that you are not my disciples.”

But Guru Gobind Singh never said, “You are not my disciples.” He made them write, “We are leaving you; you are not our Master.” Many people left Guru Gobind Singh at that time. About forty people from one village, in a place called Majah, all went back to their homes. Their wives were surprised to find their husbands back without defeating the Mogul army and they were surprised that their husbands had [deserted] Guru Gobind Singh in that fort.

So they got very upset and said, “Okay, you wear our clothes and do the household work; and we will go and fight in your place.”

So the husbands who had left Guru Gobind Singh in Anandpur Sahib felt very embarrassed. At once, they left their homes to rejoin Guru Gobind Singh and went to the place called Malvah, where Guru Gobind Singh had gone after leaving the fort of Anandpur Sahib. When He was left alone, He could not do anything, so Guru Gobind Singh had gone to Malvah with the little bit of army which was left with Him.

So those people from Majah came to the area of Malvah. And on their way, they were attacked by the Mogul army, and most of them were killed. When Guru Gobind Singh saw that the people from Majah were in battle, He went there to the battlefield on his horse. And he found all the people dead except for two. One was Bhai Mahan Singh and another was Matta Bagu.

Guru Gobind Singh went to Bhai Mahan Singh and wiped off the blood from his mouth, and said, “Bhai Mahan Singh, I am very pleased with you. If you have any desire for the world, tell me. I will fulfill that. Do you want me to open your inner vision? Ask for anything you want.”

Bhai Mahan Singh replied, “Master, it is Your work to open the vision. It is Your work to do everything. But I have only one desire; I have only one request, You kindly destroy that paper on which our people had written that You are not our Master.”

Guru Gobind Singh replied, “Bhai Mahan Singh, ask for something else. Because I never said that you are not my disciples. It was the disciples who had said that I was not their Master. I never said that you are not my disciples. I still say that you are my disciples.”

When Guru Gobind Singh had left Anandpur Sahib, he left all his valuable things there because there was no time to take all the things with him. But He had not forgotten to bring that piece of paper on which the disciples had written that He was not their Master. So Guru Gobind Singh showed Bhai Mahan Singh that letter, which was saying, “From today, you are not our Master.” So Guru Gobind Singh said, “Bhai Mahan Singh, you see I never said that I was not your Master. The people said that they were not my disciples. But I am your Master, and that paper has already been destroyed; I am very pleased with you.”

So the meaning of saying this is that, no matter that the disciple may run away from the Master; but Masters will never leave the disciple unless He takes him back to the Real Home.

There was an initiate of Baba Sawan Singh whose name was Puran Chan; and he had got his initiation at a very young age. But later on, when he became the head of the district, he got a very high position. He forgot that he was an initiate of Baba Sawan Singh, and that he was a Satsangi. So he became intoxicated because of his high position; and he started eating meat and drinking wine and doing all sorts of bad things. He had forgotten the Path; he had forgotten the Master. But you know that when any pain comes to our body, only then do we remember God, only then do we cry for His help. Once it so happened that he got some disease in his eyes, and he became blind in one eye. So he went to Ganganagar and there the doctors told him to go to Ludhiana, a place in Punjab, which was very famous in those days for the eye treatments. The doctors told him to go there as soon as possible because there was a chance that he might lose his other eye also.

So when he went to Ludhiana and got his eye operated on, the doctors who were doing the operation reported afterwards that, during the operation, a tall person with a white beard and white clothes stood there in the operating theater through the entire time when the operation was happening. They didn't know whether he was God or what. And they were surprised at how a person could come into the operating theater without their permission. And even that disciple Puran Chan said afterwards that Master Sawan Singh was with him throughout the operation.

Usually the doctors change seven bandages, but Baba Sawan Singh told Puran Chan, “Now your eye is okay; you should not have any more bandages.” So after the third bandage, he told the doctors, “My Master has assured me that my eye is okay and I don't need any more bandages.” After telling them that, when the bandage was removed, his eye was okay. And then he came back to the Path. He realized that even though he had left Master Sawan Singh and the Path, Master had not left him. And after that he came to Master Kirpal Singh and did a lot of seva for Master Kirpal Singh as long as he was alive.

So the meaning of this is that when we forget that we are the disciple of the Master, when we start doing the bad deeds, then we don't remember our Master. But when any pain comes, when any difficulty comes in our life, then we remember the Master. And Master does not [take revenge on] us. He is a gracious being, and He always showers His grace on us. It is possible that in the happiness we may not remember Him. But when we remember Him in our pains, in the difficult times, then at once He comes to help us.

There are many incidents in which the disciples leave the Master when they are happy and when they are comfortable in the world. But when they are unhappy, or when they find any difficult moments, only then do they remember the Master. But Master always appears there whenever the disciple needs the help.

That disciple came to my home with his family to see Master Kirpal Singh. And when he came to see Master Kirpal Singh, he held His feet and said, "Master, kindly forgive me, bless me, and tell me that I will not have to come back into this world." Master Kirpal said that this is not the way of asking for the forgiveness. But he was very determined; and he did not leave the feet of Master Kirpal Singh until Master Kirpal told him, "Okay, Baba Sawan Singh will forgive you."

1995 February: The Tongue of the Soul

Session Date: January 7, 1995

This question & answer talk was given in Bombay, India, on January 7, 1995.

QUESTION: What is the significance of the many references in the bhajans to please tell the Master not to desert the devotees?

SANT JI: First of all, salutations unto the feet of that Almighty Lord Who is capable of doing everything, and Who has given us this opportunity to sit in His remembrance.

Guru Nanak Sahib said that whenever you are going to start any new work, any new thing, first of all, bow down your head in front of the Master or the One Whom you worship and believe in, so that with His grace the work which you are starting may become successful.

The humility which the Masters have used or conveyed in Their writings – the prayers or the pleas which They have made to Their Master – is coming from that heart which is very pure and holy; and it is coming from that abode, from that being, where the Shabd is manifested and where the stream of the Shabd is flowing.

After going within, They have seen that Their Master is All in All, He is Omnipresent. Outside He is living among us like a person who goes on changing his forms.

We see this all the time in this world. And you might have had such instances in your life also. Many times we have such experiences that – suppose there is an officer or a magistrate who is going to make a judgment. If our case is involved, and if we meet him, we fold our hands, we request to him to please make the judgment in our favor. Even though we know that he has been appointed to do justice by the government, and he will do justice. But still we want him to do the favor for us. And when we make the prayer, when we request, even to the worldly person, still he does the judgment in our favor; he showers grace upon us.

Guru Nanak Sahib said that we cannot compete with the Husband, we cannot compete with the Beloved Lord, over there only our humility and prayer can become successful. In the bhajans you hear, “O Lord, I will not get even one like You, and for You, there are millions like me,” because the disciples cannot get a Master who does the seva without charging anything, without expecting anything in return. We cannot get even one Master like that; but when the Satguru comes, when the Master comes, He makes a lot of Sangat, he makes millions like us.<sup>59</sup>

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to tell a story to explain this thing further. He used to say that, in the town of Piran Kalleah, there used to live one Master whose name was Beekh. And He had an initiate who was very much devoted, and in a state of intoxication in the love of his Master, he was wandering in the streets of the city of Delhi, and he was repeating, “O Beekh, O Beekh, Hail Beekh. On the earth it is Beekh, in the water it is Beekh; Beekh is everywhere.” So when he was praising his Master like that, he [got in trouble with] the kazis [Muslim priests] who at that time were responsible for the religion. According to their religion it was a very bad thing, because no one was allowed to repeat the name of any human being as comparable to God Almighty. According to their religion it was a very serious crime.

So he was brought to the kazis. But still he continued repeating the name of his Master; he went on praising his Master. So he was taken to Emperor Akbar, who was a very righteous, very good, emperor of that time. So Akbar asked him, “Why are you saying this? Why are you repeating the name of Beekh?” He said, “He is my Master, He is Almighty, He is everywhere. That is why I am remembering Him, I am calling His name.”

Emperor Akbar was a very wise emperor. At that time, the country was having a severe drought, and this caused a lot of problems with the grain crops and other foods. So Emperor Akbar asked that disciple of Beekh, “Can you ask your Master to get rain for our country?” He said, “If you will set me free; if you allow me, I will ask my Master.”

The kazis and the other people who had brought that disciple to Emperor Akbar thought, “That disciple is just playing some kind of trick, and he wants to run away.” So they told the emperor that he should not set him free. But Emperor Akbar was very wise and he said, “Don’t worry, he will not run away anywhere; he will come back here.”

So he was set free and he sat in meditation. He contacted his Master within; he made the prayer. And he was promised that on the third day, the rain will come. So he told the emperor that on the third day the rain will come. So the rain came, and his promise was fulfilled. Emperor Akbar became so pleased, so happy, that he gave the ownership of twenty-one villages to that disciple of Beekh. But the disciple said, “I do not want anything of the worldly nature, which is going to be destroyed. I don’t want this thing.” And he transferred that to his Master Beekh. Some other time, when he met his Master, his Master told him, “When you had made the prayer, at that time, your attention was in me, and at that time my attention was connected with Almighty Lord. If you had asked for anything, you would have been granted that. If you had said, ‘Make me a god,’ or ‘Make me almighty,’ God Almighty would have even granted you that prayer.” So the meaning of saying this is that whenever we make the prayers to the Master, whenever we make a plea to the Master, if it is coming from our sincere heart, and if our attention is completely absorbed in the Master, then always our prayers are accepted; and they are answered.

When the disciple looks at his own faults, then he comes to realize how many faults he has done. And if he will have to settle the account of all the mistakes he has done, it will become unbearable for him. That is why he makes this prayer to his Master, “O Master, before looking at the piece of paper where my accounts are written, you forgive me; because if I should have to settle the accounts of all the faults I have done, I won’t be able to do that. So before you look at my faults, forgive me.”

Kabir Sahib also made this request to His Almighty Master. He said, “O Lord, You are my True Father. I do all the faults hidden from the world. But from You, nothing is hidden. First of all, the lust has attacked me and has made me ignorant, and he has controlled me.”

“O Ram Rai, Lord Almighty, listen to my prayer. First of all You forgive me, and then ask me for the account.” Says Kabir, “O my Beloved Father, Ram Rai, I have come in your refuge.”

So the bhajans which the Masters have written are the humble prayers which They have made to Their Master. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that mind is an agent of Negative Power, and he is very strong. He never allows us to confess our mistakes; He never allows us to admit that we have made this fault or we have done this mistake. He used to say that if we would confess our faults, confess our mistakes, and ask for forgiveness, then there would be no other hurdle or any obstacle in our way to reach God Almighty. So, through the bhajans written by the perfect Masters, which are full of Their humility, we can confess our faults, we can apologize for our mistakes, and we can also express our feelings to the Masters. Otherwise, our mind is so strong that, even though we make so many mistakes, we make so many faults, still he never wants to confess – he never wants to believe that he has done that.

When the Masters live in this world, They are like a very small being, a very small person and very humbly They live Their life. They behave like They are very small beings in front of us. Even though we see how much grace They shower upon us – many times when we are involved in an accident, we are saved by the Master. When we are in any kind of sickness or when any problems come to us, we always feel and we always see that the Master has helped us. Many great instances of things like this continue to happen between the disciples and the Masters. But when we go to the Masters and tell them, “O Master, You have showered so much grace upon me; You did this for me or You did that for me –”; They always say, “No, I did not do this; it is all the grace of my Beloved Master.” Many times They will say, “I am not capable of doing anything. I am just a lowly sinner. This is all the grace of the Master.” So you see how much humility the Masters have within them. Even though They are capable of doing everything, and They are doing everything for us still, when we ask them or we tell Them face to face, “You have done this for us,” They tell us, “No, I have not done it.” All the Saints have said that the Path through which our soul has to go is very narrow. It is one-tenth the size of a hair, and it is very narrow. So one has to become very thin, very humble, in order to cross that Path and go to one’s abode.

Kabir Sahib has said, “Suppose there is a very narrow path which is one-tenth the size of a hair. If you bring in an elephant and ask him or force him to go through that narrow path, no matter how much you beat him from behind, or no matter how you try to tempt him, but still he would never attempt to go through that, because he knows that he is too big and the path is very narrow. But if you bring an ant, you do not need to do anything. The ant is very small, and it will easily go through that narrow path.”

So Kabir Sahib says that if we remain small, within our self, only then our Surat or attention, can go within.

So dear ones, if you will always remain humble, if you will always make the prayers, then Hazur Kirpal will definitely shower His grace upon us. Dear ones, we need Him, He does not need the disciples. We need the Master; the disciples always need the Master.

He is making the requests and prayers a million times more than us in front of His Master.

The reality is that, when the Masters give us the Initiation, They take our soul and place it in the lap of Their Master, and make the prayer: “Now he has taken refuge in You. You forgive him; now he is under Your refuge.”

Many dear ones have got the opportunity to see that underground room where Beloved Lord Kirpal had asked me to go and meditate. When He gave me the order to go in that underground room, He told me that I had to open my eyes inwardly. He put His hands on my eyes and told me, “You are to close it from outside and open it inwardly; and I will come to see you by myself.” At that time, shedding the loving tears, I made this request, I asked my Master, “O Lord, You have to protect me, because the Negative Power is after me. You have to maintain my reputation, You have to protect my honor.”

QUESTION: What is an appropriate and respectful way to act in front of the outer Shabd Form as we live with Him day by day?

SANT JI: The thing is that if one can maintain the enthusiasm and the yearning which he had for the Master on the very first day when he met the Master – if that yearning and enthusiasm can be maintained, then one can make the best use of his living with the Master. Because every day, when he is with the Master, he gets the opportunity to have the darshan. And through the darshan, he can make his life successful, he can gain a lot. But usually what happens when the people live with the Master day after day, their mind makes that yearning less. And then, whatever Master tells that person, he thinks, “Master is telling this every day to me,” and gradually he stops doing what the Master tells him to do.

Then the dear one stops earning his livelihood; and whatever the other people donate in the langar, he starts eating from there. So whatever benefit he used to get from the darshan of the Master, and whatever benefit he used to get from doing a little bit of meditation, the people who are paying for the langar or are donating in the langar, they take all the benefit of the darshan and the meditation of that dear one.

The dear ones who come from far and near, they come and respect that person who is with the Master. They even touch his feet and give him a lot of honor and he allows them to do that. Then he starts thinking that he is something, that he is someone great; that is why all those people who come here give me so much honor and respect me.

I have had the opportunity of being in the presence of two great Masters. And I have seen many dear ones those who used to compete with the Masters, and those who would not even want to obey what the Master would ask them to do. So just imagine what benefit can those kind of people get from being with the Master. But not everyone is like that. If anyone gets the opportunity to be with the Master, he should understand that moment as the most precious one and he should take advantage of it. One should always remember the example of Bhai Lena, who devoted himself so much to the Master that he served Him with mind, body and wealth. He saw many instances, he saw many examples, he saw many different deceptions also, but he did not let his mind shake. He always remained firmly determined and devoted to his Master. Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say that the seed of the truth is never completely finished. Truth always prevails. The true people – the sincere people – are always present. Master Kirpal Singh Ji got the opportunity to be at the Feet of Baba Sawan Singh. Whatever Baba Sawan Singh would say, Master Kirpal Singh always took it as the divine order. You know that there were many other people who were living around and living with Master Sawan Singh, but not everyone was taking the words of Baba Sawan Singh as Master Kirpal Singh used to take them.

There is an instance to which I was an eyewitness. Once there were some sevadars of Baba Sawan Singh who started fighting with each other. They fought so much that they even hit each other. One of the so-called leaders of the sevadars said, “Okay, let us all go to the Master. The Master will go from this side to His house so there I will ask Him to stop and see you.” Master Sawan Singh saw them. Some of them were bleeding because they were hit. But Master Sawan Singh did not stop on the way to see them. So the leader went ahead and said, “Master, these people want to see you.” Master Sawan Singh said, “Can I give them any more punishment than what they themselves have got?”

The dear ones who live at the feet of the Master, who live with the Master, if they argue with each other, if they backbite, if they criticize each other, and if they even hit each other, what worse can they do; and what punishment can the Master give to them?

QUESTION: Master, sometimes, while sitting in meditation, I hear a strong ringing in my right ear, which lasts through the entire sitting? Should I pay attention to it or should I try to ignore it? Can I do two things at the same time?

SANT JI: At the time of Initiation you are told that you can do only one thing at a time; because if you try to do both the things at the same time, your attention will get divided and you won't be able to do anything at all. So that is why, when you are sitting for the Sound, you should only listen to the Sound, and when you are sitting for the Light, you should only pay attention to the Light.

But what happens to some people, those who do a lot of Simran during the day, when they sit in the meditation, since they have already done a lot of Simran, their concentration is very strong. So when they sit in the meditation, their attention gets fixed at the Eye Center very easily and very quickly. Then, in that case, the Sound starts coming within them by itself. So if you have developed that kind of situation, in that case, you can stop doing the Simran and get absorbed in the Sound. Otherwise, you should only do one thing at a time.

Many times dear ones who come in the darshan tell me, especially those who have completed the course of Simran, they tell me that without closing their ears the Sound of the Shabd comes to them.

What you should do – what you have been asked to do – usually in the Initiation, is that suppose if you are to meditate for one hour, you should do at least three quarters of an hour in doing the Simran, and for fifteen minutes do the Bhajan, listen to the Sound.

As you are told, when you listen to the Sound Current, at that time, you are not to do the Simran. Because if you try to do the Simran when you are listening to the Sound Current, then your attention will be divided. I have also answered this question earlier, in which I said that, if we do the Simran with love, affection and yearning, only in the beginning will you have to do the Simran using your tongue. Later on it comes by itself. After a few days, that dear one starts doing the Simran with the tongue of his mind. When he goes even further up, then his Simran starts happening by itself through the tongue of his soul. In this kind of situation, in this case, the disciple does not have to move his tongue, and he doesn't have to make any effort.

Just patiently look in your within and see that even now, when you are sitting here, you are thinking something. Your tongue is not saying anything, but still some kind of thinking, some kind of repetition is going on within you. That is being done by the tongue of your mind or the tongue of your thought. You are not making any effort, but it is still happening. So all the thoughts, all the bad thoughts which are coming within you, even at this time, are being brought by your mind. And the tongue of your mind the tongue of the thought – is used for that. When you have any good thoughts regarding the Masters, when you have good, loving feelings for the Master, that is your soul. The tongue of the soul is creating all that, and that is also happening within you by itself. And you are stuck in between this mind and soul. The bad thoughts, or the worldly thoughts, or the worldly fantasies, are created by the mind; and the Master, through the tongue of the soul, is creating the good thoughts within you for Himself. And you are stuck in between both of them.

So if you were to replace the worldly thoughts with the Simran which the Master has given to you, if you develop the habit, if you become perfect in doing the Simran with the tongue of your thought, and furthermore, when you get in the habit of doing the Simran with the tongue of your soul, then all the time, not even for one moment, will you forget the Form of the Master. You will always remember Him, and He will always be within you. When you have developed that kind of situation, that kind of condition, even if you want to break away, even if you want to forget Him, still you won't be able to do that.

Paltu Sahib had said that such kind of remembrance of the Master, such kind of devotion of the Master, is like the flow of the oil. Like the flow of the oil is non-stop, you cannot break it in the middle, in the same way, the remembrance of the Master cannot be broken. Even if you make an effort, still you cannot forget Him. Guru Nanak Sahib said, "My Master has connected me in a very strong way. He has made such a connection that, even if I want, I cannot break it."

Guru Nanak Sahib has described this condition of a dear one by saying that such a dear one who has developed this connection within him, even in a very busy place, he feels very lonely and secluded. He may be talking to the people outside, but in his heart, he is always remembering his Beloved.

Guru Teg Bahadur, the ninth Guru, describes this state by saying: "Just as there is a drawing or painting or some kind of scribbles – writing on the wall – in the same way, all our bad thoughts, our bad karmas, are imprinted on our mind. And just as with a broom, we can clean all the dirt, in the same way, when we do the Simran, we are able to erase all the bad effects of all the karmas which we have done."

So He says that when the thoughts are made pure, when the thoughts are purified, then all the impressions of the bad thoughts and the bad karmas are removed from the wall, and over there, the Simran, the Form of the Master, gets printed.

So Guru Teg Bahadur says, "O Nanak, remember or worship the Master in such a way that your mind and your within become one. With one-pointed attention, you should remember Him."

Dear ones, in order to attain this state, in order to attain this position, you do not need to make any special effort, you do not need to carry any heavy load on your head. Dear ones, you just have to convert your thoughts. No Saint wishes that His disciples should go on working hard like the bullocks of the oil mill, all their life long. They want that their disciples should understand, and that soon they should change their thoughts.

I caught hold of my Master. It was all His grace. And that is why I was able to confess this in front of Him. I told Him, “Neither have I seen Radha Soami, nor have I seen any God or Allah or Rasul. For me, you are my Radha Soami, you are my God, Allah or Rasul, because I have seen You.”

The first time when Master made me initiate the people, He asked me to explain the theory to them. He had showered grace on this poor soul; and this poor soul had come to realize, he had seen, that the Master is Almighty, He is competent, and He is the Reality. So that is why I said, “Master, why don’t You show them Your True Form? What is the use of explaining the theory to them?” Master, with a very stern look, said, “Don’t make them tear my clothes! Just do what I have told you to do.”

Often I have told you the story of Sufi Saint Bulleh Shah, which Master Sawan Singh and also Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to tell the dear ones in the Sangat many times. You know that Sufi Saint Bulleh Shah was a very learned kazi [a Muslim priest]. And the Master whom he went to was not very learned; He was an illiterate farmer. Before Bulleh Shah went to his Master, he used to do some sort of spiritual practices through which he had acquired some supernatural powers. So when Bulleh Shah went there, at that time, his Master, Inayat Shah was there in the orchard of mangos, and through his supernatural powers, Bulleh Shah plucked all the mangos. When Inayat Shah asked him, “Why have you done that?” He said, “Well, I have done nothing. I did not throw any stone at the mango trees; I did not do anything!” He said, “I know that you have not taken any stone – you have not thrown any stone at the tree. But still, you have done this; so why have you done this?”

So at once, Bulleh Shah realized that Inayat Shah was all-conscious; “He knew that I had done this.” So he said, “Master, I have come to you to know how God can be realized.” So at that time, Inayat Shah was uprooting the onion plants on one side of the field and planting them again on the other side. He said, “O Bulleh, what is difficult in realizing God Almighty? You just have to uproot your attention from the world and root in the side of God Almighty!” So dear ones, I am also telling you the same thing.

It is not at all difficult to realize God; there is nothing difficult in doing the devotion of God. You just need to convert your thoughts – you just need to change your thoughts – and take your thoughts towards the Master. Bulleh Shah was an already prepared vessel which Inayat Shah had got. There was just one barrier of the veil which Inayat Shah had lifted very graciously. In his writing, Bulleh Shah has written, “O Beloved, now you remove this veil. Why are you embarrassed?”

The dear ones who have been to Rajasthan know how the Rajasthani women cover themselves up with a veil; they cover their heads. So this is the veil which Bulleh Shah also refers to in his writing, when he asks his Master to remove the veil, or to lift the veil up.

[Sant Ji laughs as He tells this story.] Once when some dear ones from the West came to Rajasthan, some Rajasthani women came to see them. And the western dear ones were surprised to see how those women lived; they wondered how they ate their food, because they always kept their whole head covered up. The Westerners asked me, “How do they eat?” So I told those women, “You should lift your veil up and show them how you eat the food!”

So dear ones, those who do the practices right from their childhood, and those who have the yearning – those who search for God Almighty, they do acquire a lot of supernatural powers. But when they come across their true Masters, then they fall at Their feet; and since they are already prepared vessels, it doesn't take them much time to become perfect Masters Themselves.

The same is the story of Banda Bahadur, who used to live in south [India]. In those days, when there were not such good means of transportation, there were no trains and like that Guru Gobind Singh had taken that journey; He went down south to find Banda Bahadur. Banda Bahadur was also very devoted right from the beginning, and he had also acquired the supernatural powers. He had made a bed, and if any fakir or any holy man would come to his place, he would welcome him and then ask him to sit on that bed. And then, using his supernatural powers, he would throw the bed down, and in that way he would make a fool of that holy man and he would laugh at him.

So when Guru Gobind Singh came, Banda Bahadur treated him also very well. Then he tried to do with Guru Gobind Singh the same as he used to do with the other holy men. But Guru Gobind Singh was Almighty. And as only a wrestler can realize the strength of the other wrestler so, when Banda Bahadur tried to do the same trick with Guru Gobind Singh, it did not work, and then Banda Bahadur fell at Guru Gobind Singh's feet, and he said, "I am your slave, at no charge!"

In the writings of Banda Bahadur, we read, "The intoxication which I got at that time from my Master, I could not forget that for the rest of my life."

Regarding myself, I have often told you how, from the very beginning, I was involved in doing different kinds of practices. And I always used to do those practices very sincerely. Later on, when I met Baba Bishan Das, he gave me Initiation into the first Two Words. And I worked very hard at that; I became practically successful in that, so much so that I reached Brahm. So the Mahatmas, the devotees, the practitioners who reach that place – they easily get fooled by name and fame; they easily misuse the supernatural powers which they acquire by doing the meditation. I also had that habit, since people used to come to me for Satsang, sometimes, whenever I would feel like doing it, I would look into the eyes of the people and would make them fall down flat on the ground.

When Master Kirpal Singh Ji came, I also tried to do something like that. But He was the Competent One, He was the Almighty One; and it didn't work there. And then I realized that it was better for me to bow down my head in front of Him.

It is my personal experience, and I have heard this from Master Kirpal Singh myself. He used to say, "That day is the most auspicious day, even in the life of the perfect Master, when He meets a disciple who is already prepared – when He meets an already prepared vessel, when He meets someone who recognizes Him – who realizes Him – that day is the most auspicious day for the Master."

So dear ones, whatever I have told you, according to that we should do the Simran sincerely; and with love, yearning, and devotion for the Master, we should make our life successful. Erasing those pictures of the world which are printed on our mind, we have to print the Form of the Master on our mind.

1995 March/April: On Becoming Small & Humble

Session Date: March 17, 1995

This question and answer talk was given March 17, 1995, at the S.K.A. Retreat, near Sampla, India.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Beloved Master, how could we become as small [humble] as a child?

SANT JI: First of all, thanks be to God Almighty Sawan and Kirpal Who have given us this opportunity to do Their devotion and to sit in Their remembrance.

The most important thing in order to become as small as a child is to realize that Naam is the medicine for all the sicknesses.

When we go to the Masters, through Their Satsangs They make us realize our shortcomings and faults.

Mahatmas even tell us that this life is not going to be here forever; it is very short. And nothing of this world, neither the mother nor the father, not even the son or the daughter, no power, no wealth, no knowledge, no skill of this world will go with us. We are born with a closed fist but when we leave this world we go out with fists stretched open.

The history of the world, especially the history of Alexander the Great, tells us that he became the conqueror of this whole world. When he died his mother went to the graveyard and started weeping over his grave, saying, "Alexander, you were a mighty warrior and there won't ever be anyone like you." She said, "No one else like you was ever born, nor could there be anyone like you in the future." It is said that at that time from the graveyard a voice came out which said, "Many Alexanders have come into this world and have left, which Alexander are you mourning for?"

When in the Satsangs Masters tell us the reality of this life and after hearing the Masters' talks, when our heart becomes soft, then They prepare us to go within and see the Reality inside. No Mahatma ever comes to give us the blind faith. The Perfect Masters wish and They make efforts so that Their disciples, Their children, may go within while the Master is still in the body, and after going within, they may manifest the Stream of the Shabd within and see the Reality with their own eyes.

Swami Ji Maharaj said that our surat or our soul goes into the Shabd only when we become small in our within. Why are we not going within and why are we always outside? It is because of our egoism. What is the egoism? All that we say: "I have this; I have that; I have so much property; I have so much wealth; I am the most learned one." All these thoughts that tell us that we are something.

We say that we are not the ones who are going to die, they were some other ones who are going to die, but we are not going to die. We don't realize that all the wealth, all the property, which our fathers and forefathers used to possess, did not go with them. But we think that we will be able to take all those things with us. So we are much attached to those things and we always go on counting how much we have.

All this is egoism. And unless we withdraw our mind from all these things we cannot go within, because all the Masters have said that the inner path is very small; it is much smaller than the size of a hair. And we cannot walk on that path carrying all these things which we go on counting that we have this or that. In order to go within we need to become very small, but because of all these things which we count as our very own, our mind has become as big as an elephant; that is why we cannot go inside.

During the Second World War, I got opportunities to go to many European countries. London, as you see it now, was not like that during the war. It was ruined by all the bombardments. And in the same way, Paris is also not as you see Paris now. I went to Italy [He was then about sixteen years old], to Java and to many other places during the war. And I saw how many people were killed and how Hitler was so much full of egoism, because he was routing and killing everyone. Do you think that at that time Hitler would ever have thought that he would even make his own country the slave of the other countries?

Hitler was so determined to take over the whole world, that whenever he would determine and decide to have a cup of tea at a certain place, he would advance to that place and he would fulfill his desire of having tea at that place. What was all that? It was nothing but egoism. And do you think that God will open His door to such people who are so much full of egoism?

During that war, I got a lot of experiences; I encountered many great generals and colonels. There were many British, many Muslims, many Sikhs, and many great officers who used to control a great number of soldiers. I saw that all of them were killed by the bombs. I got the opportunity to do their final rites – to take care of their cremation, or their burial.

A couple of days ago I was talking to Gurmel and I told him that I have had many opportunities in my life to witness death. During the war, in the army, I was carrying a wireless [radio] set and a bullet went right through my wireless set. Even though it went through the set, still our communications did not break. I saw my own friends departing;

I saw my own friends dying in that war. Wouldn't you feel sad and depressed, or even scared, when you see your own friends dying in front of you?

Once there were three of us people; a bullet went between the legs of one person, it went right through my arm [Sant Ji gestured to the space between His arm and body], it hit the back of the head of the third person and he died there instantly. So if you have a human heart and if you witness that this is how death comes, this is what happens, will you not get the encouragement to become small and humble?

The experiences which I had in the army when I was there were an inspiration to become small and humble.

All of you have seen Pappu's house in Delhi. When that house was being built, Pappu's father Hiralal and his friend Kavel and his brother Kulwant were all telling me about how strong that house was going to be. They were telling me about the house and they took me to see that house. When I went upstairs at once these words came out from my heart which meant, "Here the buildings are made, but over there the grave is calling you."

No one understood that. It was Pappu's father who wanted to build that house, but even before the house was completed he died. He could not spend any time in the house, he could not enjoy the house which he was building.

When I was young I used to wonder: "Why does death come?" "What happens when one dies?" and "Who is there who comes to help at the time of death?" Once when I was playing with the mud, I started making small house-like things, I made maybe ten or twelve each representing a brother or sister or relative.

After making these house-like things of the mud, I asked a question to each one of them, "Would they help me at the time of death?" And after asking that question I would demolish that house when I did not get the positive answer. So I asked that question for every brother or sister, for all the worldly relations I had, and I went on demolishing them. Only one was left, that was representing God Almighty. I said, "I don't know Who You are, or where You are," but I got the answer in my within, that "Yes, He is the One who will rescue me.” My father was watching me doing all that and he came to me and asked me what I was playing, what that was all about.

Usually it happens that when your child is playing like this, when he is playing a game which you do not know, you become curious and you want to know what he is playing.

Normally the parents do not pay any attention to what kind of things their children are playing, but if you watch them, and if you are curious, you definitely go and ask them. So my father also came to me and asked me what I was playing. I told him, “All these small houses I made, they were one for each of my brothers and sisters, and all my worldly relations.” I told my father that I was asking that question to them and I did not get any positive answer, so that is why I demolished them. “And this one which is left, signifies God Almighty, because I know – I have not seen Him – but I got the answer from my within that He is the One Who will help me.” Hearing that, my father became very sad. He said, “Well, you see that I have made this beautiful house for you, and all this property which I have collected, that is only for you.”

I spat [on the ground] and I said, “All these worldly properties, all these worldly possessions, are nothing more than this spit for me; they do not have any value for me.”

My father felt it very much, but that was the reality which I told him. So this is an incident of my life which I have often related to you; I have often told you about this. So looking around in my life, in my childhood, I learned many lessons which helped me to become small and humble.

When the Masters talk about the worldly possessions, the worldly properties and the worldly wealth, They do not mean to say that you should give all those things up. Nor do They say give all those things to the Master, They do not want any of our possessions.

When They tell us about the detachment for the worldly properties, for the worldly possessions, They mean to tell us, They want us to realize, They want us to remember, that when we were born from the womb of the mother, we were just a small piece of flesh. We came into this world with the support of God Almighty. When we were born, you see how He brought the love and affection in our mother and in our father, and how the milk started flowing in the breasts of our mother for our maintenance.

He has given us so much: first He gave us life, and then He provided us with the things for our maintenance. Should we not become grateful to Him for all that He has done for us? Should we not do His devotion? Should we not go within and see Who He is and what He is like? – the One Who has given us so much.

We can do that, we can go within, only if we become small. We cannot go within carrying all these worldly possessions.

He is great, He is the greatest, and unless we become small, the smallest, in front of Him, we cannot get any grace from Him. That is why Saints always lay a lot of emphasis on becoming humble and small. In the bhajan Aj Shub Diharda E, “Today is the blessed day and it has come with good fortune, for we have had the darshan of our Master” – you sing, “Some things of the past, some things of the present, telling us all these secret things, He has awakened our heart.” Masters tell us the things from the past, and They also tell us many things which They themselves have experienced, and by telling us all these things, They make us realize the Truth. And when we understand what They are telling us and when They see us prepared, They take us within and They show us what this whole thing is about, what is the Truth.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that coming to the Path, we have to become like a five year old child. Even if we have a Master's Degree in education, still we have to behave like an illiterate, because in the Path of Spirituality, we are the ignorant ones. We do not even know the ABC's of Spirituality.

After receiving the Naam Initiation if we do not spoil our devotion with the dirt of the passions and pleasures, if we keep ourselves pure and holy, and if we maintain the enthusiasm, the yearning, and the faith in the Master as we had before receiving Initiation, we can easily go within. We can easily achieve liberation for our own selves, and if anyone like us comes along and comes to us, we can also help him go within and get the liberation.

Kabir Sahib says that "If the faith which you had on the very first day is maintained, what to talk about your own liberation, you can liberate even millions of others."

Master Kirpal gave us the strict instructions to keep the diary to make our life pure. He told us that we should fill up this diary without sparing our own selves, without sparing our mind. Dear ones, we don't have to fill up the diary as if doing some formality. Often I have said that even a single mistake of one's life can make one's whole life dry. What are we doing when we fill up the diary? We go on doing the same mistakes again and again and we go on filling up our diary form with the mistakes we have made. The purpose for which Master Kirpal Singh invented this form of the diary, that is not being fulfilled when we fill up the diary form as a matter of routine and a matter of formality. When just one mistake of your life can make your life dry and empty how can you expect any progress if you go on doing the mistakes again and again?

When we make the halvah, first we bring the flour, we bring sugar and then we cook it on the fire. We work so hard to make the halvah but if we spoil it, if we spread some ashes on the halvah, it just takes one moment, one second, to ruin what we have done, what we have prepared after working so hard. In the same way, we keep our life pure, we work hard for two or three months and we make it pure and holy. We even do the meditation during that time, but when the mind plays its tricks upon us and when we start obeying our mind, it doesn't even take more than one moment to spoil, to ruin, all that we have done in the past two or three months.

The more we make our body pure because mind also always follows the body – the more our body is pure, our mind will also become pure and the more our mind is pure, the more our thoughts will become pure. The more our thoughts are pure, our soul will also become more pure and then it will be very easy and very fast for our soul to go within.

So according to the instructions of the Master, when we keep our body pure, when we also make our mind and soul pure, and go within, and after going through the stars, sun and moon, when we reach the Radiant Form of the Master, and when we see our Beloved Master inside, then we realize how great He is, how He is the owner of all the Khands, Brahmands, and all the great divisions of this creation. When we see Him within us in His full glory then we come to believe in Him that He is God. And even though He is God and He is the Owner of all Creation, we see outside how outwardly He is having a very small life, a very humble life. Then we also feel like becoming small and humble like Him, we get the encouragement and the yearning to become humble.

Guru Nanak Sahib says that He whose order is obeyed in all the different parts of Creation, who can ask Him any questions? When we realize that He is the All-Owner and His order is obeyed everywhere in this Creation, do you think that we would expect any respect from Him? Would you think: "We went to see the Master, but He did not welcome us, and He did not give us this or that thing.” Once we realize that He is the All-Owner of the creation, then we will not expect anything like that from the Master. He does not have to look for anyone in this world because He is the All-Owner of this creation and He is free to do anything He chooses to do.

Just as we believe in Christ now, if we believed in Him when He came, if we believed then that He was God, do you think that we would have made Him wear the crown of thorns?

In the same way, if we had believed that Guru Nanak was God Almighty, do you think that we would have given Him as many hardships as we did?

Guru Gobind Singh’s house was plundered and He was made to leave His home, and for three months He could not even bathe. Now we believe in Guru Gobind Singh and we say that He was God Almighty. But if at the time when He came, if we had believed that He was God Almighty, do you think that we would have plundered His home, or made Him leave His home for three months?

All the Param Sants, all the Perfect Masters, up to this date have never cursed even those who gave Them hardships and difficulties and punishments. Instead They prayed to God Almighty, “O Lord, they are the ignorant ones, they do not know what they are doing; please forgive them.”

Only Rishis and Munis or those who practice the Hatha Yoga have been giving boons or have been cursing the people. The Perfect Saints would indeed give the boons and the blessings but They would never curse anyone. Guru Nanak Sahib said this, “O Lord, may everyone in this world be glorified. In Your Will may everyone be happy.” They have always asked for the happiness and well-being of the whole world.

Indra Mati was a disciple of Kabir Sahib. When she rose above the body and went in the inner planes she saw that Kabir Sahib was sitting on the throne of Almighty Lord. She bowed down at the feet of Kabir Sahib and said, “If you had told me earlier that you were the All-Owner, the Almighty One, why did I have to go through the hardships of doing the meditation and all those things, I would have just bowed down at your feet at that time.” Kabir Sahib said, “If I had told you earlier that I was the All-Owner, you would not have believed in me. Now you can do whatever you want.”

I never had any clever words or clever conversations with Master, I never pretended to be smart in front of my Master. Whatever work He gave me to do, I just did that. I never had any questions for Him. But one day I said, “Bulleh Shah called his Master the great deceiver. He said that if you want to do the robbery you should do it in the home of God, and if you want to deceive, the greatest deceiver is the Master. So why is this? Even though Inayat Shah, Bulleh Shah’s Master was Almighty, He was the All-Owner of the whole creation, and Bulleh Shah knew that, but still why did he refer to Him as the great deceiver?”

Beloved Lord Kirpal answered that when the disciple goes within and sees the Truth, the Reality of the Master inside, then he comes to realize that He is the greatest thug or deceiver.

Is it not a great deception that He is one thing and He is telling you that He is something different? Outwardly we see Him breathing like us, walking like us, and we see Him paying off all the karmas. We see Him going through all the sickness and disease, although those karmas, those diseases are not His own. He does it for the sake of the other people, but we see Him performing all the things just as we do.

The Light of Ajaib

But He is not what we see Him to be. He is the All-Owner, but still He becomes so small and so humble in front of us. He tells us, “I am not your Master. I have just connected you with the Shabd; Shabd is your Master.” But He Himself is the Shabd. Is that not the great deception?

You know that the deceivers say something, but they have something different in their heart. So in the same way, the Masters are something different than what They tell us. Outwardly They seem to be just like us, but inwardly They are not what we see, They are different.

Once it was the wintertime and you know that in the winter, the days are short, so it became dark early. I think it was around 8:00 or 9:00 p.m. and Master Kirpal was sitting in the room and He was wrapped up in a quilt. It was very cold, and He was sitting like this, as if He was feeling a lot of cold. And it was at that time that I asked Him this question regarding Bulleh Shah.

So when I asked Him that question about Bulleh Shah, He removed His quilt. Even though it was so cold over there, and I was sitting on the chair and He was sitting on the bed, still I could feel the warmth, the heat, coming from His whole body. His whole body became full of light, His forehead and His eyes were also pouring out immense light. It was so strong, the light was so strong that the whole room filled with the warmth of that light.

That was a very unique experience of my life and I have never shared this with anyone, but today in His love I am saying this to you. I can never forget that experience because it was at that time that He gave me His open darshan.

Because of that experience, when He asked me to explain the theory to some of the people who were going to get the Initiation, I asked Him, “Master, why don’t You show them Your open darshan just like You have shown that to me?” And He got upset and He said, “Don’t make them tear off my clothes, just do what I’m telling you to do.”

So when you see the Master, when you see who He is, what He is inside, and also when you are able to see Him outside in His great glory, then you become small, you become humble, because when you realize that He is the Greatest of All, He is the Owner of All Creation, then you don’t have any honor, you don’t have name or fame, you don’t have any egoism, because you know that He is the Greatest of All.

When you have seen and realized the greatness of the Master, when you have seen how every single cell of His body, every single hair of His body is emitting the light, every single particle of His body is full of light, when you see Him like that, do you think that you can be proud of anything you have? All the pride and ego vanishes when you see and witness the Reality of the Master; and then you become small and humble.

1995 June: The Value of Darshan

Session Date: March 14, 1995

This question and answer talk was given at the S.K.A. Retreat near Sampla, India, on March 14, 1995.

QUESTION: Dear Ajaib, would you please speak of what we are doing when we get so much with you and then talk and talk?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: The answer to this question is what beloved Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say in response to this question. I have always repeated that. So once again, I would like to repeat what Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say in answer to this question.

Maharaj Ji used to place a great deal of emphasis on the importance of darshan. He used to say that if we were to know the importance of darshan, we would know how much the darshan of the Master helps us to go within and how much His darshan helps us to pay off our karmas.

Guru Angad knew the glory and the importance of darshan. Even though the Shabd Form was manifested within him, and when Guru Nanak left this physical world He had appointed Angad in His place, saying, “Whomever you initiate, I will be responsible for him.” Even though Guru Angad had manifested Guru Nanak within him and Guru Angad had become one with Guru Nanak, still when Guru Nanak left this physical world, Guru Angad wept and He closed Himself in one room, and He remained there.

There was a woman initiate of Guru Nanak. Guru Angad Dev used to go to see her and talk to her about what Guru Nanak was like – what was His nature, what He looked like, how was His humor, and things like that.

Why do such great Masters Who have already manifested Their Master within Them, and Who are always one with Their Master, become so sad when Their Master leaves this world? Why do They become so sad? They become so sad only because They know the value of darshan. They know how much the people are losing without the darshan of the Master. That is why They always say such things. They always express Their sadness over not having the darshan of the Master.

Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to tell about when his beloved Master Sawan Singh went to visit Ghuman, the village of his Master Baba Jaimal Singh. When Baba Sawan Singh went to the village of Ghuman, as He approached the boundary of the village, He bowed down on the ground to pay homage to Baba Jaimal Singh. When He started weeping in the remembrance of His Master, Kirpal Singh asked Him, “Beloved Lord, when Your condition is like this, then what can be the hope for us the worldly people?” Master Sawan Singh Ji said, “If Baba Jaimal Singh were to come back to His body of five elements in front of me, even for once, I would be willing to give up everything for that.”

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that when we come to the Satsang and sit in front of the Master, right from the moment when the Master comes into the Satsang and He is seated in front of us, we should look constantly at the forehead of the Master. We should not pay any attention to the sound or the noises which may come from the right or left, or from any other side. Our attention should be constantly towards the forehead of the Master. He used to say that we should get so much absorbed in the darshan of the Master that we should not even remain aware who is the Pathi or what the Pathi is singing or what his turban is like. We should not pay any attention to anything except the forehead of the Master.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that it would be much better, after attending the Satsang, to remain seated in meditation for some time and remain absorbed in the darshan which we have had during the Satsang. As we go on talking after the Satsang, our heart, which has become full with the darshan of the Master during the Satsang, starts to become empty. The more we talk after the Satsang, the more empty we become, and we become exactly like we were in the beginning when we came to the Satsang.

The Light of Ajaib

Master even used to say that before sitting in the Satsang, if we could do a little bit of meditation, that would also become very successful.

Lord Kirpal used to say that once when He and Dr. Johnson were massaging the legs of Baba Sawan Singh, Master Kirpal asked Master Sawan Singh, “Master, tell us what does the Master look like inside?” Master Sawan Singh Ji smiled and He said, “Look here, Kirpal Singh, the features of the Master which you see outside in the physical world, in the inside also, the Master has the same features. In the within He looks exactly like what He looks like outside.” Because God Almighty always assumes the Form of the Saints and He comes into this world. God Almighty does not have any outline, He doesn’t have any form, He doesn’t have any feature. So that is why He always takes up the body of the Perfect Saints and He comes into this world. So if we still the Form of the Master in our heart, then the more we love that Form, the more the Path becomes open for us, because it is the same Form of the Master Who is going to take care of us when we go within.

Whenever the Negative Power tries to deceive the souls, he also uses or takes up the form of the Master. But those within whom the Form of the Master is still, those who have manifested the Form of the Master within them, they at once do the repetition of the Five Sacred Names – the Simran – and at once that fake form created by the Negative Power disappears.

Didn’t you read in the Anurag Sagar how the Negative Power took the form of her Master, Kabir Sahib, and tried to deceive Queen Indra Mati. But since the Form of the Master was manifested in Indra Mati, that is why she could easily recognize Kal and she was saved from his tricks.

Master Sawan Singh Ji Himself used to say that when he fell from the horse and broke his leg, the doctor suggested that he take the soup of meat and also some kind of wine. Master Sawan Singh Ji then sent a cable to his Master, Baba Jaimal Singh, to get confirmation. And at the same time, the Negative Power also appeared in the form of Baba Jaimal Singh, and told Baba Sawan Singh that there was nothing wrong in taking those things, “when you have some injury, if you were to take it as a form of medicine, there is nothing wrong in taking this.”

Baba Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “At that time, when the Negative Power came in the form of Baba Jaimal Singh, I repeated the Five Sacred Names of Simran and at once that form disappeared.”

In the last Bombay program in January, many dear ones told me about their very good experiences. The reason for that is that only those dear ones who concentrate during the Satsang get the higher experiences in the meditation.

So dear ones, Guru Arjan Dev Ji says, “The enjoyment we get from doing the darshan of the Master cannot be described in words.” Those who reach Sach Khand, they know what is the enjoyment we get from the darshan, what is the importance of the darshan. The enjoyment which we get from having the darshan of the Master cannot be described in words; it is indescribable.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji was so intoxicated in the darshan that He said, “I wish I could have the darshan of my Master all the twenty-four hours of the day, because when I don’t have His darshan I feel crazy. I feel content only when I’m able to have His darshan.”

Dear ones, whenever I would see my beloved Master pleased, in my innocence I would say this couplet, “O my Beloved, I wish that may I always have You with me so that I can go on having Your darshan all the time.” When I would say that to my Beloved Master, He would try to reach my ear to twist it, and then I would go like this! [Sant Ji moved backwards suddenly; much laughter by the sangat.]

Dear ones, even the physical form of the Master attracts us very much. When we look into His eyes, He pulls our soul up. But when we manifest the Astral Form of the Master within us, then what to talk about it He pulls us inside so much. We get so much intoxication when we are pulled up by the Astral Form of the Master. Furthermore, when we go above, and when we manifest the Causal Form of the Master within us, then what to talk about the enjoyment we get by having that Form of the Master within us. Once that Form is manifested within us, we don't want to give up that Form, we always want to be with Him. Beyond that, when we manifest the Shabd Form of the Master, then the disciple starts using words like: “He is the most beautiful one. He is even more beautiful than the fairies. He is the unique one.” The disciple doesn't have adequate words to describe the glory and the beauty of the Master.

When the disciple manifests the Shabd Form of the Master within him, only then his pride disappears. Because when the disciple reaches there, he sees how many more gurumukh disciples are already there, how many better disciples have already reached there. And then he finds himself no one as compared to the other gurumukh souls who have already reached the Master.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj says, “Over there, there are so many souls superior to me. Who knows my name over there?”

Dear ones, there is no camera in this world that can take the picture of that Form.

Only to that Form the soul says, “I will not find even one like You, whereas You may find millions like me.”

So dear ones, in very simple words I am telling you the importance of darshan. Because, even at the time of our death, the same Form of the Master has to come, the Form Who gave us the Initiation.

There was one initiate of Baba Jaimal Singh and his name was also Jaimal Singh. He lived a very long life. Often he used to visit me, and he would stay with me sometimes for a week, sometimes for ten days or even for a month. He was a very good meditator and he used to tell me about [the times] when Baba Jaimal Singh would give Initiation. In those days, there were very few people who would take Initiation – maybe one or two at a time. So Baba Jaimal Singh would graciously allow him to sit in during the Initiation.

So he told me that once, when Baba Jaimal Singh was initiating someone, the person who was getting initiated asked Baba Jaimal Singh, “Master, is it true that You will come to take me when I leave this world?” Baba Jaimal Singh said, “Yes, you recognize my clothes, and I will come to rescue you, come to take you, in the same clothes I am wearing today.”

You know that the life of the clothes is not very long, but it was the grace of Baba Jaimal Singh that He said, “Look at my clothes, and you will find me wearing the same clothes when I come to take you.” When I went to Calgary, one American woman came there to see me. She has two daughters, and both of them are initiates. And often in their home, they used to talk about the Master. She told me how, when her husband was on the death bed and when he was about to leave the body, the daughters had put pictures of the Masters on the wall of the hospital room. Even though the wife and husband were not initiated – she said that they had tried, but they could not prepare for the holy Initiation – even though they were not initiated, still she felt the presence of both the Masters when her husband left the body.

The Light of Ajaib

She came to thank me for Master's protection. And she told me, "I don't have any doubt, because I felt the presence of both the Masters when my husband left the body." So you see, it is only because of the Form and the darshan of the Form, that she felt the presence.

Dear ones, you have come here only for the darshan, only to see the Form, whereas you can read the books in your own home a lot. Even though I am weak, still I try to sit as much time as possible in front of you, because I know that my dear children have come from across the oceans, and they should take back something from here.

QUESTION: Dear Sant Ji, I heard that Sawan Singh loved to laugh and Kirpal Singh loved to laugh. I can see that You do. Could You comment on the role of humor in our Path. If this answer has already been in Sant Bani Magazine, please laugh at me!

SANT JI: [Much laughter, including Sant Ji] Mr. Oberoi is sitting here and he has seen how Master Sawan Singh Ji used to laugh and how beautiful He would appear when He would laugh. You know that we laugh only when we get something which gives happiness to us. When the disciple gets something within himself which gives him the happiness, he has to express it outside, and he does that through laughing. Because unless he expresses his happiness through the laugh outside, he cannot feel relaxed. So that is why, when he gets something within, which gives him happiness, he laughs!

A dumb person eats the jaggery [candy or syrup made from sugar cane] and he finds it very sweet, and he becomes very happy. He cannot speak; he cannot tell what he has eaten and how sweet it is, but he can only express his happiness by dancing. Do you think the people who have lost in their business will laugh? The lamp of their heart has blown out, so how can they laugh? You laugh only when you get the happiness from within.

The Reality is what I'm telling you: that it is Their Master who is always standing in front of Them; and He always accompanies those great Masters like the shadow accompanies us. And it is Their Master Who is making Them laugh. It is Their Master Who gives Them happiness every moment, and only Their Master makes Them laugh.

So if you were to do this, if you were to manifest Him within you, then your weeping, your sadness, your depression forever will be erased, and you will always get happiness. Even if you are sick with so many diseases and your body is all broken; but still if you have Him within you, you will feel so happy that often you will express your happiness through laughing.

If there is love between the husband and wife, when the husband comes back to the home, the wife will smile at her husband and the husband will also smile looking at his wife. They both become happy seeing each other, and if not through their lips, if not through their mouth, at least through their eyes they will express their happiness. But if they don't get along with each other, if they are not in love with each other, do you think they will smile or laugh when they see each other? The Masters have become the beloved wives of Their Masters. That is why when They see Him, They always smile, They always become happy and They laugh.

Dear ones, I have given you this worldly example because this is something which we often see in our life. If there is love between the husband and wife, whenever they remember each other, whenever they see each other, they become happy and they laugh. The same is the condition of the disciple with his Master. The disciple who is involved with the Master, who has manifested his Master within himself, whenever he remembers the Master, whenever he sees the Master himself, he starts laughing, he starts smiling because he becomes happy just by one thought of the Master, or just by one remembrance of the Master, he becomes happy.

Many times you might have seen that even when you remembered the Master, and if you are in love with Him, you became so happy that you just smiled instantly. Many times people ask me, when I am just going or walking somewhere, and if they all of the sudden see me laughing or smiling, they ask me why I was laughing. So I just tell them, “I was laughing just looking at you.” But the reality is that when I remember the Master or when I see Him, it gives me so much happiness that I cannot control my laughing.

We see the worldly love, the love which our relatives have. It’s all full of their interests. If there is any love, which a disciple or a person gets, which can be called a selfless love, that is the love of the Master. Master is the only one who loves us without any interest, without having any self interest.

1995 July/August: A Very Precious Hour

Session Date: August 19, 1977

This question & answer session took place during Sant Ji's first tour to the West, on August 19, 1977, at Sant Bani Ashram, Sanbornton, N.H.

QUESTION: Tell us the distinction between repression and fighting the mind?

SANT JI: Only he is a Satsangi who stands in front of the mind, who becomes an obstinate one. That’s why to struggle with mind is called devotion. Until we will fight with our mind, we cannot repress him. We need something to repress our mind, and that is Simran. There is no difference between repressing our mind and fighting with it; both are one and the same thing.

QUESTION: Can we spend this darshan time to just look in Your eyes?

SANT JI: The people are getting much time. Everybody has full freedom to look into the eyes, as long as he wants. But to look into the eyes is very difficult. In Houston, one dear one came for a private interview. And when he was asked, “Do you have any questions?” he replied, “No. I have come here only to look into Your eyes.” So I told him, “You are welcome, you can do that.” And he was not able to look into my eyes even for one minute. I asked him, “Why are you not looking into my eyes now?” Then he smiled and he went back. Russell Perkins was also there at that time. It is difficult; it’s very hard to look into the eyes of any Saint.

In a place called Tusara, when Master Sawan Singh went there, one pundit came to see Him and he started looking into the eyes of Master Sawan Singh. And when Master Sawan Singh gave him His attention, the pundit couldn’t hold that, and he started looking at the ground. So Master Sawan Singh asked him. “Pundit Ji, what is the matter? Why are you looking down and not into my eyes?” He said that he was not an initiate. And he said, “It is very difficult to look into Your eyes.”

Ordinarily, we can look at Master or we can look into the eyes of Master for a long time. But when the Saint or Master is giving His attention, at that time it is very difficult to look into His eyes.

QUESTION: I have two questions about the Five Names. Is it all right if we don't pronounce the names exactly correctly? And the second question is – if I remember correctly, in a Satsang you said that Baba

The Light of Ajaib

Jaimal told Sawan Singh that God had fifteen hundred names. Therefore, Sawan Singh shouldn't be embarrassed that Baba Jaimal called God, "Radha Soami" – so likewise, why are the Five Names that we use – used for meditation? And would other names work also?

SANT JI: Swami Ji Maharaj perfected these Five Names, and behind these Five Names His charging was working when He was initiating. After that, Baba Jaimal Singh also perfected these Five Names; He also charged these Names. In the same way, Master Sawan Singh also perfected these Five Names, and behind them His charging was working. Master Kirpal did the same thing, perfecting these Five Names; His charging also worked behind these Five Names.

The name "Radha Soami" is a descriptive name of God, used only to call God outside. That name was not perfected by any Saint, not by Swami Ji, nor anyone else. And there is no charging working behind the words, "Radha Soami." This was only a descriptive name to call God.

Swami Ji Maharaj also said this: "My Path is of Sat Naam and not of Radha Soami." The Radha Soami Path was started by Rai Saligram; he did not perfect the words, "Radha Soami," and no charging is working behind that name.

Only the words behind which the charging of the Master is working, only those words work during our meditation, and only they can do the real work. They are not only words; they carry the charging of the Living Master. In the same way, Guru Nanak also gave the Five Words, but outside, He called God "Sat Kartar" or "Wahe Guru" or "Sat Sri Akal" – all these words. These are all descriptive names of God. But He never perfected all these other words, and He never supplied His charging behind these words. He also charged the Five Words. The Words which are charged by the Master, only they work in the meditation.

Master Kirpal didn't take the name of Radha Soami in any other context. He didn't even mention this word, "Radha Soami." But still, in India, people think or believe that this Path is one part of the Radha Soami Path.

After I first came to the feet of the Master, wherever I would go, people would greet me with the name Radha Soami, because they understood that this Path is part of the Radha Soami faith, which is very famous in India. And most of the people started greeting me as Radha Soami. But once, when I was going to some other village, and we were traveling on a camel cart, there were some children playing there; and some of the children started greeting me with "Radha Soami." But some other children didn't agree with them; and they said, "No, he is not Radha Soami, he is the Sant of that village," because most of the villagers knew me at that time. So this name, "Radha Soami" is just a descriptive name of God, and it has nothing to do with meditation.

This word was given by Hazur Saligram, because before getting initiation from Swami Ji Maharaj, he was the worshiper of Radha and Sham. And that's why, when he came to the feet of Swami Ji Maharaj, he gave the name "Soami" to Swami Ji Maharaj. Before that, Swami Ji's name was Seth Shiv Dayal Singh and his wife's name was Mata Narayan Devi. And Saligram called her "Radha." So that's how the Radha Soami name came about, by Hazur Saligram.

Before that, wherever Swami Ji Maharaj had written anything, in the end He would always write, "Satguru Swami"; but after [He left] that was changed, and instead of "Satguru" "Radha" was put. Instead of "Satguru Swami," "Radha Soami" was [written] down.

The Light of Ajaib

So the word “Radha Soami” is just like a word for greeting, and people use that. Some people use “Sat Naam,” some people use “Sat Sri Akal,” just as you people say “hello.” In the same way, this word is also used just for greeting and it doesn’t have any charging.

You people use the word “hello” for greeting; and if you go on repeating this word, “hello, hello,” all day, then nothing will come from that, because nobody has charged that word, because no Param Sant has charged that word. So the Five Names which the Saint or the Master is giving us to repeat, behind that His charging is working.

As far as the pronunciation is concerned: the pronunciation, or the way in which the Saint Satguru has pronounced the Names, we should try to do that; because if we will pronounce them correctly we will get much fruit, or that will be very fruitful. Because if we are doing any wrong pronunciation, that will not have much effect. In May, and wherever I went on the Tour, I said this thing to all the people – that if anyone has any confusion about the pronunciation, they can, without any hesitation, come to me and ask me about the Five Names in private time.

QUESTION: I have trouble forgetting myself. When I have lots of pain, I repeat Simran faster and louder using the tongue of thought. But I have trouble forgetting myself and I was wondering if you could give some tips, or explain exactly how I can forget myself; with so much pain.

SANT JI: Keep doing your practices. Because you Western people have difficulty sitting in the cross-legged position that’s why it happens in the beginning. And you are a new initiate; that’s why you need to do more practice. And after a few days, this pain will go away.

QUESTION: A few days ago, You mentioned the story of how two people who were lazy in the ashram in India were kicked out. My question is whether or not we should do the same to someone who is inconsiderate in their practice and interfering with our practice? Or will we incur some bad karma or some bad mark on our non-violence?

SANT JI: You should show your love to him, and when you will love him, he will be ashamed and he will go, without your asking. In that, there is no bad karma.

In our ashram, we have kept this principle of love. We are never – we do not become strict with anybody if we find anyone like this. We start serving them more and loving them more. So that, feeling shame for himself, he himself leaves the ashram.

QUESTION: Yesterday You started to talk about love from the Master for the soul. I'd like You to talk more about that. Will You tell us how much You really love us [happy laughter all through the Sangat], so we'll be dancing all around? [More laughter]

SANT JI: [Sant Ji chuckles] You can feel that only when you will go within.

QUESTION: After Satsang, is it better to sit in meditation, or should we go for more darshan?

SANT JI: Whatever opportunity you get. If you can get the opportunity of going there and having darshan, you should do that. If you can get the opportunity of sitting here for meditation without any disturbance, you can do that.

QUESTION: Why do you have to leave so soon?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji chuckles] Because, from the other side, the dear ones like you are pulling me.

QUESTION: I have been told that a Satsangi should not meditate with one who is not a Satsangi, because his meditation could adversely affect the non-Satsangi. Is this correct? And if it is correct, what is the polite way to explain this if one should invite you to meditate with him?

SANT JI: Well, the only effect which a Satsangi has in sitting with a non-Satsangi is that a Satsangi has to sit for a long time because he knows what to do, but a non-Satsangi doesn't know that, and that's why he gets up very soon. And when a Satsangi sees the non-Satsangi getting up very soon, the desire of leaving the meditation comes to him also. That is the only danger, and nothing else. Because a non-Satsangi doesn't have any Path to walk in the within, and he doesn't know what to do, that's why when he gets up, the mind of the Satsangi also makes the excuse, "Now your companion has gotten up, so you also get up."

Daily I am saying about mind, "What is mind doing?" Here we Satsangis are all sitting and doing meditation. But many people from this group also are such that, because of their mind, their mind doesn't allow them to close their eyes. And after a few minutes, they open their eyes and they look at each other and sometimes they look at their watches. And when they look at me, I am telling them with signs, "Please have patience. Just a few minutes and then you will get up."

So if we allow non-Satsangis also to sit here for meditation, they can't sit for this much time because they don't know what to do. So when they get up and leave the meditation hall, the other Satsangis will also be affected, and they will also leave. So who will meditate here? [Sant Ji and the dear ones all laugh]

Many times I have said this: I am giving you a promise that I will not leave you until you open your eyes and I will not make you sit for more than one hour. I will not leave without telling you to leave off the meditation. But there are many dear ones here, and their mind is telling them that maybe I have left. That's why they open their eyes to make sure.

So you should take advantage of this precious hour. In this, you should close your eyes, sit here doing Simran without stopping it. This is a very precious hour in your life; and this will help you. So you should try to take advantage of this hour.

1995 October: Make Your Life Like the Lotus

Session Date: September 7, 1995

This question and answer talk was given in Ahmedabad, India, on September 7, 1995.

SANT JI: Salutations unto the Feet of Supreme Almighty Lords Sawan and Kirpal Who have given us the opportunity to sit in Their remembrance and Who have allowed us to do Their devotion.

QUESTION: Beloved Master how are karma and attachment related? Are we attached to the world, to people, etc. because of karma? Or is karma created because of attachment, or are these two things separate?

SANT JI: It is a very good question, worth understanding. We know that rock candy and the sweetness of the rock candy cannot be separated from each other even though there are two different words to describe them.

In the same way, attachment and the karmas are two different words, but the relation between them is very severe, it is very much.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “Because of our past karmas with the people, because of our attachment with the people in the past lifetime, whether it was in the relationship of a father and a son, or a brother with brothers, or brother and sisters, or the husband with the wife – if our give and take, if our dealings with them were good and full of loving feelings, then wherever we go and take birth, because of the past karmas and attachments we form relations. Wherever we go and take birth and get into a relationship, if it is between the husband and wife, or a brother with his brother or his sister, or a father with his daughter, or any relation, if our give and take, if our dealings with those souls were good previously, in this lifetime also we will have good loving feelings and we will have a good relationship with them. But if our relationship with them in our past life was not so good, when because of the karmas we get together again in this lifetime, then no matter what relationship we are in, we will have difficulties in those relationships.

Attachment is the cause of the bindings, and it creates the karma. Only because of the attachment to people we think of giving them the benefit.<sup>60</sup> We are tied to each other only because of the love and attachment with them.

Saints have called this world as the land where we do the karmas. In order to pay off the karmas that we have done in this world earlier, in one way or another we come back into this world. When we get attached to someone, in order to give that person the benefit we do various kinds of karmas. We deceive others, we steal, we do so many other things which we can't even describe. So we do the karmas in order to give the benefit [or reaction] to the person to whom we are attached. But whatever karma one does, that person [who creates the karmic debt] has to pay off that karma himself.

God has not kept anything bad in our within. It is only when we use those things which God has kept within us that we are caught in the badness of that thing.

Attachment is not a bad thing. If there were no attachment of the like ones with the like ones then God Almighty would never have come assuming the human form, He never would have taken up this cart which is full of filth and dirt and sickness. It is only because of the attachment that He assumed the human form and He came into this world.

If we were to use this attachment for the right thing – if we were to become attached to the Master, if we get attached to the Naam, then there would be no difficulty. But instead of getting attached to the things to which we should be attached we get attached to the worldly materials.

We cannot live without doing the karmas because we have come to such a plane where it is very necessary, very important for us to do the karmas. But Saints, the Masters, tell us, “Do not do any such karma that you may have to come back to this world to pay off the consequences or to suffer the consequences of the karmas.” If you are doing any good to anyone, do not do it expecting anything in return. Do not be in the ego. Do not expect anything when you are doing good for anyone. If you give something to anyone don't expect that he will give it back to you. So don't do any karma in such a way that you may have to come back into this world to enjoy the reward or suffer the consequences of it.

<sup>60</sup> In our relationships we think of them, and our actions produce reactions; “benefit” here means the fruits of karma, not always sweet.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Baba Ji, what is that prayer by making which we can remove one dacoit every Satsang? How deep is that heart which swallows and digests this commitment?

SANT JI: Many times I have advised the dear ones, and this has also been printed in Sant Bani Magazine, I have said that you should read the Sant Bani Magazine; you should devote some time to reading the magazine also. You can easily find the answers to such questions if you read the magazine.

Regarding the prayers, I have always said that if there is any case that you want a judge to solve for you – instead of going to him personally, if you burn incense in front of his picture, if you go on praying to his picture, even if you take along with you tens of other people in doing the prayers to the picture of that judge, he will not solve any of your problems. But if you go to him and talk to him personally about your problem, he will at once solve your problem.

In the same way, if the student doesn't go to the school, if he doesn't do what the teacher is telling him to do, if he just remains at home, can he expect to pass the examination?

When I was in the army school doing the course of the wireless [radio], the instructors we had were very strict. They used to say, "Either you come to the school after studying your lesson, or you should be prepared to leave this place." They also used to say, "We don't believe in the gods and goddesses to whom you are praying, we only believe in the work which you do."

All the hymns which the Saints have written as the prayers are not bad, they are good, there is nothing wrong in praying. It is much better than doing nothing else.

Those are the experiences of the Perfect Masters. They have said those words manifesting Their Master within Them and standing in front of Their Master. And whatever you will create after you reach there and stand in front of the Master that comes out as the prayer.

Prayers are not bad but just like it is written in the prayer, we are not surrendering ourselves to God Almighty, we are not presenting ourselves to the Master, we are not manifesting the Form of the Master within us and we are not going to Him and telling Him all the things which are written in the prayer. We only make Him listen to what we have to say, but we do not listen to whatever He answers.

I have told you many stories of Suthra Fakir; he was a very fearless fakir. Once someone told him, "This time in this village many people are getting married." He replied, "What is the use of having such a heavy season of the weddings if I am not getting married. What is the use of singing the songs of the other people's weddings when you yourself are not getting married."

So you see how much humility there is in the hymns of these prayers. Swami Ji Maharaj says, "O Master, I am a grave sinner." You see that even though He was the All-Owner, the Almighty One, but still in order to explain to us. He is saying that He is a grave sinner. But we people, even after committing the sins, are we ready to confess that we have committed the sins?

In Gurbani there is a hymn that says, "We are full of faults, we do not have even one good quality within us. Giving up the Nectar of the Naam of the Master, we are involved in consuming the poison of the earthly pleasures. But with Their grace we have come to know about the Path, the best Path, following which we are able to remove the pain of the Angels of Death."

So Dear Ones, the prayers written by the Masters, we should apply to our own selves. We should also manifest [the Masters] within us. We should go and stand in front of Them and pray to Them. You may do the Satsang, you may read the hymn of any Master, but you should realize where – realize [that status] after reaching which – They have written this prayer.

First God Almighty showers His grace upon us when He gives us the precious human birth. Then He Himself showers more grace upon us and encourages us and He brings us to the feet of the perfect Master. When the perfect Master wants to shower His grace upon us He gives us such a birth of Naam which we cannot obtain by any wealth, which we cannot realize or achieve by using any amount of power, and we cannot have through any kind of force. Only with the grace of the Master can we have this birth of Naam. When we have mercy on our own selves then we do the meditation of the Shabd Naam and we follow the Path shown to us by the perfect Masters, the Saints and Mahatmas, with firm determination.

So when we do the meditation of the Shabd Naam, when we withdraw our attention from all the outer things and connect our attention with the Shabd Naam behind the Eye Center and when we vacate the nine openings and after crossing the stars, sun and moon, when we go beyond these things and reach the radiant Form of the Master, then we become the true disciple of the Master. The residence of lust, anger, greed, attachment and egoism is behind our Eye Center.

The astral residence of all these passions is in Trikuti so there is no way that we can survive or be protected from these five passions unless we have reached Trikuti.

As a matter of fact, first of all these five passions do not allow us to enter within because physically they are present at the Eye Center. As long as we are below the Eye Center we cannot be saved from the five passions. But when we reach Trikuti, over there we are given the temptations of the heavens and the other things. So because of all these temptations we are not allowed to go further.

So when we cannot give up the physical pleasures, when we cannot control ourselves when we deal with or when we are looking at the men or the women who are made of dirt, how will we be able to control ourselves when we go into the higher planes where we will be shown the radiant men and women?

The law or the restriction which the Saints have imposed upon us is that a man should only get married to one woman, and the woman should get married to only one man, They have done so only because of the inner sacred union. That is how it should be maintained even in the inner world.

Through Their Satsangs the Masters always go on giving the warning to Their disciples that except for your husband, you should not look at any man, or except for your wife, you should not look at any other woman, with lust in your eyes.

So those who are not stable in this world, those who do not have a good character in this world, how can they remain stable and have a good character when they go in the within?

Those who meditate and go within, they know how they are stopped by the radiant [beings]. If the men go in they are met and stopped by the radiant women, who tell them, “You can’t go further up; we will give you all sorts of comforts here.” And they give so many temptations. In the same way if any woman goes within she is met with by radiant men and she is also given the same kind of temptations.

You can read in Kabir Sahib’s Anurag Sagar [The Ocean of Love] how Brahma, the creator of the creation, when he went within, could not remain stable. In the same way Vishnu, the one who destroys the Creation, when he went within and when he was presented with an enchanting form, he also could not control himself.

The Light of Ajaib

Baba Bishan Das was a very strong fakir and the amount of sacrifice He did, to give everything up, after achieving so much worldly knowledge, not everyone can do that.

One day I requested Him, “Master, tell me some story of the heavens.” So He told me, “What can I tell you about those who are the indulgent ones? All those who have reached the heavens are nothing more than the indulgers.”

Still graciously He told me the story of King Indra who was the topmost of the gods over there in the heavens. Even though he had a very beautiful wife, who was the head of all the fairies, but still when he heard the glory, the praise, of Ahelia who was the wife of one mahatma – it is very bad to look at the wife of a mahatma, in fact it is bad to look at anyone’s woman with the lust in your eyes, but to look at the wife of a mahatma is considered to be a very bad thing. So when he looked at Ahelia, he got into trouble.

In those days in India there were no clocks and watches and it is said that in those days that the roosters would get up in the mornings at three o’clock and they would make the crowing sound. That was the time that the people would get up and go and bathe in the rivers and do what they had to do. So they always went by the sound made by the roosters in the morning.

So when King Indra wanted to go and indulge with Ahelia, who was the wife of Gotham Rishi he took along with him Lord Moon who was under him. So the moon became the rooster and on that particular night at midnight he made the sound and Gotham Rishi got up and he went in the river to bathe. On the other side King Indra changed himself into the form of Gotham Rishi and he went to his home and he started indulging with his wife Ahelia. Meanwhile moon was in the form of the rooster and was standing outside in the courtyard to guard the door. But somehow when Gotham Rishi was in the river a voice came and told him that, “Your home is being plundered.”

So at once Gotham Rishi came back to his home and when he saw that thing happening over there he got upset and he cursed all the three people involved in that act. He cursed Indra by saying that, “Just for this one female organ you have done this great sin, now I curse you that now you will have the female organs all over your body.” So because of that curse, Indra became very ugly looking. And Gotham Rishi cursed his wife Ahelia also, saying, “You could not realize that he is not your husband? Because you also have indulged in this act I am giving you the curse that now you will turned into stone.”

Then she requested, “I was deceived, I did not know that it was not you, I was deceived and that is why I got involved in this, so you should have mercy on me. I am your wife, so you should shower grace on me.”

So then Gotham Rishi said, “Okay, you will come back to life only when you shall be touched by the sacred feet of Lord Rama.” This story appears in the Puranas also that when Lord Rama came near the place where Ahelia was in the form of the stone, and when he touched that particular stone, then Ahelia came back into her body.

It is believed that since the moon also helped Lord Indra in doing that sin, he was also cursed by Gotham Rishi: “You will go on increasing for fifteen days and then decreasing for another fifteen days, and this will go on and on.” Also it is believed that Gotham Rishi was carrying his piece of cloth which was wet, and he gave a beating to the rooster with that. It is believed that the stain which we see on the moon is the result of that.

The Light of Ajaib

So Baba Bishan Das told this story to me and He concluded by saying that people over here perform the yajnas and do so many good deeds. They perform the austerities and all other things just in order to get to the heavens. But what is the condition of the people who are living in the heavens? You do not have any peace or satisfaction indulging physically, and when you go to the heavens, all the indulgences of the pleasures are in the astral form, and those who indulge in the astral form of the passions they also do not have any peace or satisfaction. So what is the use of going to the heavens?

So these pleasures, or the passions become very subtle, even up to the peak of Brahm. And we cannot get rid of them unless we remove all the three covers from our soul: the physical, astral, and causal.

Over there we get to drink the Nectar from our Master. Some Masters have called that as the Nectar, or some have called it as the pure water. Muslim Fakirs call it as the Water of Life. The mahatmas have called that Nectar by different words.

Our soul drinks that juice, that Nectar, and she gets peace and contentment. When we go within the direction of our soul changes.

So now you can decide yourself how much depth is needed to get there, how much commitment and how much hard work is required in order to get there. As the Negative Power has created the planes within us where He has installed so many tempting, so many attractive things to mislead us, in the same way if those don't work on us, He has created many terrifying planes within us to intimidate us, to frighten us. You may read the hymn written by Kabir Sahib in which He says, "Look with your own eyes; in the palace of your within, your Beloved resides." In that hymn it says, "The Negative Power has created so many different frightening planes within you and in the forms of the ghosts and the bad souls, He comes to frighten and intimidate you, if you do not come around in any other way."

But if you have the Master then Kal doesn't bother you, it is the work of the Negative Power that if no one comes around, if no one follows Him because of the temptations He offers to them, then He creates terror, He frightens them and somehow brings them around.

Saints encourage us for the Satsang day and night. Often I have said, "Fortunate are those souls who manifest the Shabd within them while their Master is still in the body."

So the disciple who reaches there is neither tempted by the offers of the Negative Power nor is he frightened by the terrors of the Negative Power.

Unless we go within and see this Reality with our own eyes what happens? Say for a few days, or for a few months, we abstain from these things, we maintain chastity and we do something to control our anger also. But after a few months or a few weeks, a few days, once again we fall into their trap. Swami Ji Maharaj says, "Before and after, I repent a lot, but when the time comes he makes me the thief, and he makes me indulge in both the lust and anger."

Our chastity is like the Udasi Sadhu who came to Baba Bishan Das and who started talking about his knowledge and the other things which he had. So after listening to him Baba Bishan Das asked him, "Tell me, are you saved from the lust? How are you doing? Are you saved from it?" He said, "Yes, I am saved, I don't indulge in lust until I see the woman." Baba Bishan Das got upset with him and gave him a beating and chased him out of the ashram.

Many couples from the West came to me in the early tours, now they don't bother me, but during the first tour, many dear couples came to me. They told me, "Master, we want to get married, but we also want to maintain chastity.” I would laugh – I would not say anything to them, but I would wonder, “How is it possible that they are very young, they want to get married, and also they are saying that they want to maintain the chastity?”

How is it possible that you hold a piece of coal in your hand, and say that you will not get stained by it? How is that possible?

But I didn't say anything. After some time, I saw the same people carrying so many children, and they would come and talk to me. The husband would find fault in the wife; and the wife would find fault in the husband. He would say, “I was all right; I wanted to maintain chastity, but she did not want to.” And the wife would also say the same thing. So they would find faults in each other. I would tell them, “No, there is no fault in you, or you, all the fault is in me, because I believed in what you told me.” [laughter]

QUESTION: Is there joy on this Path?

SANT JI: Well, it is a very interesting question. And the reality is that the peace, the happiness, the joy which we get on this Path of Sant Mat, we do not get that peace, happiness, contentment, or joy in any other path.

All the things which we have recognized as the source of peace and happiness: lust, anger, the other passions, and the love of the family, the love of the children, the love of the worldly things – Naam is the only thing which cuts the attachment to all these things. And when you make your life like the lotus, when you start living with all these things, like a lotus lives in the water – when you don't feel any happiness when you get something, when you don't feel any sadness when you lose something, then what more feeling of joy would you expect or would you want to have?

There is no word through which I can express the joy or happiness which we have on this Path. I can only say that this is something which you have to feel yourself, which you have to experience yourself. You go within and see it and experience it yourself. Kabir Sahib said, “A dumb person eats the sugar candy and he cannot express the happiness which he is getting from eating that sugar; he can only move his hands to express that he has eaten something sweet.”

Bhikha Sahib said, “O Bhikha, the matters or the talks about Agam, are such that it cannot be talked about. One who knows doesn't talk about it, and those who talk about it don't know anything about it.”

It is like a woman coming back from her in-laws home to her maternal home, and her friends come and ask her about the joy she has had from meeting with her husband. What can she tell them, she only laughs and smiles. The same thing is over here; that joy cannot be described or talked about. It is something which you have to experience yourself. Kabir Sahib has said, “If anyone has been to that place, he knows about what country I have.” So this is something which you have to experience yourself.

All the Masters who come from Sach Khand, They do not mean to involve Their disciples in the meditation like a bullock of a mill which goes round and round. It is not the purpose of the Masters to make Their disciples do meditation [endlessly]. They tell us, “Do it correctly for a few days, for some time, and once and for all, the hard work which you have to do will be finished, and you will realize Him.” So Saints say, “Come along with us and see with your own eyes, see for your own self.” But when we are not ready to go along with Them, then They give us the worldly examples. Using so many different examples, thinking that if not this one, then the other example or the other parable will make us ready to go with Them.

In this context Master Sawan Singh used to tell a story. He used to say that once Udho, a very devoted disciple of Lord Krishna, requested him – because you know the disciples always make the requests to their deities, to their Masters – so Udho, because of his sympathy for the sufferings of this world, requested Lord Krishna, “O Lord, your heavens are very large, they have much room. Why don’t you allow the people of this suffering world to go to heaven?” Lord Krishna said, “I have tried my best to call the people here, but they do not want to come. If you want to try to bring them here you may do so; you have my permission.” So Udho was very happy and he happily came to this world. First of all spotted an old man, who was a trader. He was guarding the shop, because you know that the young people in the family, they always stay at home and the old ones sleep in the store. The old people cough a lot during the night and in that way they keep a very good guard at the store. So he was coughing a lot and he was in a very bad state. Udho thought that he would be ready to go with him. He said, “Do you want to go to the heavens with me?” The man said, “No, not right now, because my children are still too young and they cannot sleep here in the store at night, and they cannot guard. So maybe when they grow up I will think about it.”

Then Udho went to a pig, whose condition was also very bad. He was also suffering a lot. Udho approached him and said, “Do you want to come with me to the heavens?” The pig inquired, “Are there any kids [piglets] in the heavens?” Udho said, “What is the use of having kids in heaven?” Then the pig asked, “Is there any dirt or garbage in the heavens?” Udho said, “Well, what kind of heaven would that be, if there is dirt and garbage? It is very clean and pure over there.” So the pig got upset and said, “What kind of heaven is that where they don’t have kids, where they don’t have dirt and garbage. You go away from here! I don’t want to go with you.”

So Udho went back to the heavens, back to Lord Krishna. He was sitting there with a long face, and Lord Krishna asked him, “What happened, why have you come alone? Why didn’t you bring anyone along with you?” Udho said, “What can I tell you? The whole world is suffering, everyone is suffering, crying, but nobody wants to leave that world, nobody wants to come here.”

1995 November: The Most Beautiful One

Session Date: November 3, 1995

This question and answer talk was given November 3, 1995, at the S.K.A. Retreat, near Sampla, India.

SANT JI: Salutations unto the Feet of Supreme Fathers Almighty Lords Sawan and Kirpal Who showering Their limitless grace upon us have allowed us to sing Their Glory.

QUESTION: Could you tell us the difference between the mission of the Master and an avatar’s mission?

SANT JI: This is always said in the Satsang and you can satisfy yourself by reading the book Sukhmani Sahib [The Jewel of Happiness]. The avatars come from Brahm whereas the Saints come from Sat Lok. Brahm is the second plane and Sat Lok is the fifth plane from where the Saints come. You read the book Anurag Sagar [The Ocean of Love] in which Kabir Sahib has very lovingly explained how the Negative Power first did the devotion of God Almighty, Sat Purush, and how Sat Purush became pleased with Him and gave Him all the things to create His own kingdom, to create His own world and how He has created this whole kingdom and how He is taking care of it.

The Age of Kal or the Negative Power comes always towards the end of the Ages. The mathematicians who have estimated, and those who know about, the life of the Ages, they know that after the Golden Age comes the Silver Age which is followed by the Copper Age and finally the Iron Age comes. So the period of Kal or the Negative Power always comes at the end of this cycle. Negative Power is the avatar of Brahm and He comes from Brahm. Those who are below Brahm, those who have not yet transcended Brahm, come into this world again and again. They take the births and they die. According to their deeds, according to their karmas, they keep coming into this world again and again. When the Negative Power comes as a form of Brahm, as the avatar of Brahm, He performs the miracles to attract the souls, to keep the souls under His domain. This is the reason why the people expect the Param Sants to perform miracles also, like the Negative Power does. But They cannot do that even though it is a child's play for Them. Kabir Sahib has very clearly written about this in His writings and also Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, "If the Master gives eyes to one person, the whole district, the whole street, would come to the Master." If They were to give legs to the crippled ones, the whole country would follow the Masters. For Them it is a very little thing to do but They do not do that. Because when the souls were given to the Negative Power, at that time the Negative Power made Sat Purush make some promises.

The first promise was that wherever the souls are born they should remain content. Whether they are in the body of an animal or a human being they should not feel like leaving that body; they should remain attached to that, they should always be content with that. This is the reason why no one wants to leave this world no matter how much suffering he is getting.

The second promise was that no one should have any knowledge of his previous birth. No one should know on account of which karma he is getting the suffering of the present time.

The third promise was that the Masters should not perform any miracles [to attract the souls]. And They should liberate the souls only after making them do the devotion of Naam.

These are the four promises that Negative Power got from Sat Purush. But the perfect Master, Sat Purush, also had one promise from Negative Power and that was that, "The souls who are Initiated by the Perfect Master will never be sent to the hells. If by any reason a soul initiated by the perfect Masters is sent to the hells, the Masters would go there to liberate that soul. And when They go to the hell to liberate that particular soul, the Negative Power will have to empty all the hells, He will have to free all the souls that He has captured in hell."

According to the Hindu Shastras there are twenty-four avatars, but in the eyes of the people the recognition has been received by only two main ones, Rama and Krishna.

Sugriv's wife was kidnapped by his own brother Bali. Lust is such a thing that a person forgets the relationship and being blinded by lust he goes to any extent to do bad things. So Bali had kidnapped his own brother Sugriv's wife. Sugriv went many times to fight with Bali to get his wife back, but since Bali had performed many austerities, many tapas, he had gotten boons. One of the boons was that if anyone came to fight with him Bali would get half of his opponent's strength just by looking at him. So whenever Sugriv would go to fight with Bali he would come back defeated because Bali would get half of his strength and Bali himself was already very powerful.

Sugriv took refuge at the feet of Ram Chandra and Rama, being the avatar of Brahm, knew the secret of Bali's success. So through deception Ram Chandra killed Bali. He hid himself behind a tree so that Bali could not see him and from there he shot an arrow into Bali's chest and that was the end of Bali. Before Bali left the body he told Ram Chandra, "You are such a big avatar, but still you have killed me through deception, and you will have to pay for this karma."

In order to pay that karma back Ram Chandra, Lord Rama, came back as Krishna, and Bali was born as a low caste hunter. After the great battle, once when Krishna was out in the forest, he was relaxing. Usually the avatars have a star in their foot; so that star started shining in the dark, and that hunter saw that something was shining. He thought maybe it was the eye of some animal which was shining; so at once he shot an arrow and he killed Krishna in that way.

Guru Nanak Sahib has written that, "Krishna was an avatar but still he had to pay back the karmas. How could those who rely upon him for their liberation achieve any liberation from him?" So how are those who devote themselves to the avatars of Brahm going to get any liberation? Because the avatars are the owners of that plane, but still they have to take birth again and again to pay off the karmas which they have done.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj says, "The avatars do not know the end. God Almighty is limitless. He is Par Brahm, He is beyond the Brahm." Bhagat Namdev has written in his writing how when Ravana kidnapped Rama's wife Sita, Rama fought a very big battle with Ravana. He built one bridge over the ocean and that has been considered as performing a miracle. Whenever the avatars come in this world, even if they do a very small thing, even if they show a little bit of miracle, the Hindu people or the people who believe in them, their devotees exaggerate the doings of the avatars and they show it off as if they have done such a big miracle.

When the perfect Masters come into this world They tell us the reality of the avatars, that they come from Brahm and they are also involved in the cycle of karmas. Then the people who believe in the avatars they criticize the Saints and say that the Saints are criticizing the avatars. It is not true because the Masters never criticize anyone; They just tell us the reality of the avatars.

Masters tell us, "They come from the second plane, from Brahm. We also believe in them, up to Brahm. You come along with us and we will go there and see. When we go beyond the Brahm, if there is anything beyond the Brahm, then you can believe in us, otherwise you can keep believing in the Brahm." But those people are not ready to believe what the Masters have to say. They are not even ready to go up to Brahm. Bhagat Namdev says, "The Hindu is blind and the Muslim is one-eyed. Only he is called the gyani who knows the reality." Further Bhagat Namdev Ji says, "The Hindus worship the temples, the Muslims worship the mosques. Namdev neither worships the temples nor does he go to the mosques; He worships the One who is within him."

Paltu Sahib says, "One goes to the east, the other goes to the west. One goes to the temple, the other goes to the mosque, and they bow their head over there."

Because in the west there is that holy tomb of Prophet Mohammed and most of the Muslims understand that by visiting that place and going around that tomb of Prophet Mohammed they will get the liberation. That is why they don't consider going to any other place.

The Light of Ajaib

The Hindus go to the east and what is there in the east? There are the temples filled with idols. Nowadays in every home there are idols, so they go there and worship those idols.

So Bhagat Namdev Ji says, “He who has got the true Naam, the true knowledge and understanding of the Naam, from the perfect Masters, they know about that Form of God which is the Formless One which is beyond the limit of our mind and intellect. Such a person who has got that knowledge of the Naam is much better than both the Hindu or the Muslim.”

In the language of the Saints he is not called the gyani who has got the degree of gyani or who has read many books or attended many lectures.

I myself have the degree of the gyani, dear ones. But I did not get any peace of mind until I went to Baba Bishan Das and bowed down at his feet. When I went to Baba Bishan Das I got a little bit of relief, a little bit of satisfaction, but real relief, real satisfaction, came only when I went and bowed down at the feet of Lord Almighty Kirpal.

Guru Nanak Sahib says, “The real knowledge, the real understanding, is the one which knows about the Limitless and Unsung Melody.” Who is the gyani? He is the gyani who goes and merges into that Divine Melody, into that Limitless Melody.

Guru Arjan Dev Sahib says, “He is the true gyani whose light of the soul has gone and become one in the Light of the Oversoul.”

Mahatma Dhanidas says, “We do not call him as pundit who reads the stories from the book and makes the other people hear it. He who reads and adapts what he has read in his own life is a real pundit.”

Saints never criticize the avatars. They don't even criticize the Vedas and the other scriptures. But They tell us about their real value. We know that a hundred paisa makes one rupee and if there is anything that has less value, then They have to tell what the value of that thing is.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, would you tell us a little more about the day when you met Master Kirpal for the first time? Could you give us more details or tell us more about your meeting with Him?

SANT JI: Well, I am sorry that yesterday the amplifier, the sound system was not working so well. That is why, even though I wanted to tell about that day in detail, since yesterday we were commenting on that hymn but I could not do that. I hope that if at any other time an opportunity comes I will tell you in detail about that pleasant day.

Now I can tell you only this much: according to the Indian tradition, when a girl gets married she goes to her husband's house. After that, when she comes back to her own home, her friends ask her about her meeting with her husband, how it was and all those things? Then what does she do? She doesn't say anything, she just feels shy and smiles, she puts her head down. What can she talk about? What can she tell her friends about her meeting, about her union with her husband.

He was the husband of my soul; what can I tell you about my union, my meeting with Him? My condition is like what Guru Ramdas Ji has mentioned in His writing, He says, “O Lord, I am Your disciple and I have fallen at Your feet. I have taken refuge in You and my soul is indulging with the Oversoul and I am getting so much pleasure and happiness.” The indulgence of the husband and the wife in this world, in this physical plane, leaves only the unrest and dissatisfaction. But the pleasure which you get when the soul is meeting with the Oversoul, that happiness cannot be described. When our soul goes and meets with the Shabd, that happiness, that satisfaction that our soul gets cannot be described outwardly; it is something worth experiencing yourself.

The stories of the love are untold. You cannot tell the stories of the love because when the love comes in your heart your lips close, you cannot say anything. It is something worth experiencing.

As I have often told you, from the very beginning, from my very early childhood, I had been yearning and craving for God Almighty, even though I do not know since when I had been craving for Him. So if you are yearning for something from your very childhood, and if you have gone to so many different places, if you have gone to the jungles, and done so many things to look for that thing which you are craving since your childhood – if that person appears and you meet Him, just imagine what your condition would be! How can you describe that moment? You will only be amazed, you will only be surprised, and you will find no words to describe the meeting, to describe that moment when you met your Beloved.

I have written a new bhajan which has not yet been translated because Pappu does not have the time to translate that. Poor Pappu did not even have time to shave his beard. Last night when I touched his face and I told him to shave, only then did he get his beard shaved.

In that bhajan you will read, you will consider, you will think upon, what is written, as Guru Nanak said, “I have seen with my own eyes that how my beloved Master is making the souls sit in His boat and He is taking them across.”

In that bhajan it tells how Master Kirpal Singh came with the boat, and how He Himself made the ferryman take care of that boat and take the souls across. So dear ones, I have seen all this with my own eyes so if you have seen Him coming with the boat and coming with the sailor and how He is making the souls go across this ocean, how can you sing about Him? How can you tell other people what He was like? How can he who has become one with Him sing and tell the other people who He was? Everyone looks at the Master with his own angle of vision, with his own eyes. So he who has seen Him with such an eye, and he who has seen how He came and how He took the souls across, how can he sing His glory? Guru Nanak Sahib has also said, “Whatever feeling, or whatever way of seeing one has, He sees the image or the Form of God Almighty accordingly.”

Perfect Masters are like the mirror: with whatever feeling we go and look at Them, we see our own form in Them. Just as when you go and stand in front of a mirror, if you are laughing, you will see yourself laughing; if you are crying, you will see yourself crying. If you have white hair, or black hair, whatever you are, if you go and stand in front of the mirror you will see yourself accordingly. In the same way, with whatever feeling of devotion you go and look at the Master, you see the Form of God, you see the Image of God, in Them according to your own feelings.

Baba Bishan Das Ji used to call the mirror as a person who tells you to your face who you are. You know that when you go to the mirror and he tells what you really look like, you don't get upset at the mirror. But when we go to the Master, and whatever feelings we have or whatever we are, our feelings go and come back to us, and then we realize what we are. But when the Master is making us realize what we are, then we don't want to accept that.

In the group not everyone goes back empty-handed. There are many dear ones amongst you who have very good experiences, and they tell me what they saw even during the Satsang, when they were sitting in the Satsang. Many dear ones have wonderful experiences even in the Satsang and also in the meditation. But some people who come in the Satsang and fall asleep right after coming or those who move here, or move there, or put their head down, how are they going to get anything? One dear one told me about a very good experience of his on the very first day that I saw him. It was right after the first meditation sitting. I became so pleased to hear that and I still have the intoxication of his experience.

I can only tell you that beloved Master Kirpal was very beautiful, He was the most beautiful One. I have never seen anyone as beautiful, or more beautiful, than He was. You may say that He had the beard, He had the moustache, He used to cough, and He used to lose His breath when He would speak – dear ones, everyone has his own way of looking at Him. He who had seen His real Form, His inner Form, he knows that how from every single cell the light was coming out. How beautiful He was and how from every single part of His body rays of light were coming out and attracting everyone. Once you see that Radiant Form of the Master within, then you realize that there is no one else as beautiful as He is.

Regarding the same Form of the Master, Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj said, “I am so amazed, I am so overwhelmed, by looking at the Form of the Master that I wish that I could have my Master sit in front of me so that I may go on looking at Him all the time.” He said, “When I am able to see Him only then I remain in my senses, otherwise I lose my senses.” I recognized my old friend and I embrace him, I hold him tightly.

Dear one, if you have the love in your heart, who doesn't recognize his friend? The recognition comes if you have true love for Him.

Breaking all the strings I embraced my beloved; there is no space left between me and Him. Just like the sugar and the patasa become one, in the same way, I and my beloved have become one.

1995 December: If You Maintain the Love

Session Date: November 6, 1995

This question and answer talk was given November 6, 1995, at the S.K.A. Retreat, near Sampla, India.

SANT JI: I thank Supreme Father Almighty Lords Sawan and Kirpal Who have given us this holy opportunity to be in Their remembrance, to sing Their praises and Their glories. It is all due to Their grace that day and night we are in Their remembrance and we sing the songs of Their praises.

QUESTION: The very first encounters with the Masters are reflected in tears and feelings of yearning. What happens after some time when in such encounters there are no more tears? There is a smile and happiness but not as passionate as before when the tears would happen. Is this change a signal of stepping back or a lack of progress in the spiritual development of the initiate?

SANT JI: It is a very good question and everyone should understand this because this ordinarily happens with every Satsangi. I have often said that those Great Souls Who come into this world with the feeling of yearning, with the pain of separation, when They go to Their Masters, when Their glances are exchanged, when They look into the eyes of Their Master, the intoxication which They receive at that moment, in that encounter, cannot be described.

They become so much absorbed in the love of Their Master that even if They were to be cut into pieces, still They would not complain. They would not hesitate if it was for the love of Their Master. No matter what They are offered in this world, no matter how many difficulties They have to go through, but once They go to the Master, Their enthusiasm, Their passion for the Master, Their love for the Master never decreases, instead it goes on increasing with every moment.

Dear ones, nowadays there is electricity available everywhere and now generally people do not use oil lamps. But still there are some people who do, and maybe you have heard how we light the oil lamps when we are using them. As the wick is burned away, we need to trim it, and as long as we continue to trim the wick, the lamp continues to give more light.

You know that when we have to light the lamp, first of all, we have to see if all the parts of the lamp are in order. It should have a wick in it, it should have oil in it, and the glass should be clean. So when everything is in order, you just take a moment to light it. But if there is a lamp whose parts are not in order, it will take some time for you to fill it with oil. You will have to clean the glass, you will have to trim the wick, and bring it in order. Only after making some efforts and spending some time will we be able to fix that lamp and light it up.

In the same way, those who come to the Master with the pain of separation, with the feeling of yearning, for them it takes only a moment. Such souls just need the connection with the Master and Their work is done. While the others, like us, are like those lamps whose parts are not in order. That is why it takes time. First we have to be put in order and then we will be lit up. We are not yet in order, just like that lamp, because sometimes we come to the Satsang and other times we don't. Sometimes we meditate, sometimes we do not meditate.

Dear ones, I have always said that before we go to any Master, first of all we should find out about his history, his past. We should find out if he has done any meditation, if he has done any sacrifice in his life, if he has spent five, ten, or fifteen years in search for God Almighty. Has he done any devotion or not?

You should find out about his past and his devotion as much as you can. Once you are sure that he is a real Mahatma and once you have taken refuge at his feet, once you have gotten the Initiation from him, after that, your search for the Master is complete. After that, whatever path he puts you on, whatever he tells you to do you should do only that.

O brother, whatever path the Master has shown you, now that has become your karma and religion. In the letters from Baba Jaimal Singh to Baba Sawan Singh, He has written that when a person receives the Naam Initiation from the perfect Master, the person gets the right to go to Sach Khand. He deserves going to Sach Khand but there is one condition and that is that he should not understand his Master as a human being, not even in the state of sleep or dreams.

In the Punjab there is a saying, "Drink the water after straining. Take someone as the Master after knowing him."

First of all you should find out about the Master. Don't take the Initiation from him if you think he is just a human being. Find out about him, and once you are sure that he has done the meditation of the Shabd Naam – only then go to Him without any hesitation and receive the Naam Initiation from Him. And once you receive the Initiation from Him after that do not have any doubts and do not think that He is a human being.

The Light of Ajaib

What do we do? We come to the Satsang after looking at the other people coming to the Satsang; we receive the Initiation because we see the other people receiving the Initiation. Sometimes we have this wave coming in our within and we understand the Master as God Almighty. Sometimes the wave comes and we understand the Master as even inferior to the human being. So dear ones, how will we progress if we go on wavering like this?

Dear ones, when I went to Sant Bani Ashram on the first tour, about two hundred people came for the Initiation. Out of those two hundred people, there were only two people who did not get any experience of either Light or Sound.

You know that Master did not have anything personal against those two people who did not have the experience; it was not that Master did not want to give them the experience. When we cook lentils, all the lentils are soaked in the water, and they all get equal amounts of heat. Among the lentils there are some hard, stone-like lentils. No matter how much you soak them, nor how much you heat them, still they will not become soft.

One of those two dear ones was a woman from South Africa. She did not ask for another sitting. She said, "I know what the problem is, what is the reason of my not getting the experience, and in due course of time it will become better."

She continued with her meditation with much faith, love and devotion for the Master, and in the course of time she got the experience of Light as well as Sound. Her husband became so impressed by her devotion that he also came to the Path. He became such a devoted disciple that he became the Representative of the Master in South Africa. Maybe in Sant Bani Magazine you might have seen his picture. His name was Ranga Naidoo. He was a very devoted disciple; he was very faithful. At the time of his departure he was taken care of and he was protected by Master Kirpal.

The other person got two more sittings and still didn't get any experience of Light or Sound. He did not say what was the problem, and he tried to receive the experience in the first or second sitting, but he didn't get any experience at all, even though he was made to sit three times. He did not confess at that time. He did not realize or tell me that there was some difficulty on his part. It was only after a few months when he wrote me a letter that I found out. In the letter he said, "Today I am confessing that the day I received the Initiation I had come after committing a great sin, and that was the reason of my not getting the experience."

Master Sawan used to say that we receive even the experiences according to our karmas. The father and the son do not have the same kind of experience. Not even the husband and wife receive the same kind of experience because their karmas are different and the experiences are received only according to our karma.

So the question was: when the disciple comes to the Master for the first time he has tears in his eyes and he has yearning in his heart, but gradually that yearning, those tears go on decreasing. I have received the opportunities to sit at the feet of Master Sawan Singh. It was all due to His grace that right from my childhood he blessed me with the opportunities to be at His feet. Within His heart He had so much love, so much yearning for His Master, that listening to Him it would seem that He had just come back after seeing His Master Baba Jaimal Singh.

The Light of Ajaib

Master Kirpal Singh used to say, “After Baba Jaimal Singh departed from this world, once Baba Sawan Singh had promised to give a Satsang in the village of Gumana. (That was the birthplace of Baba Jaimal Singh.) So when Baba Sawan Singh went to Gumana to give Satsang, just as He was entering the village, at the boundary He laid Himself down on the ground and paid homage to that village, that land, where Baba Jaimal Singh was born.

After that, when He went to do the Satsang, He started crying. He wept and wept and the tears would not stop. When Master Kirpal saw His condition like that, He said, “Beloved Master, if Your condition is like this, what are we the jivas going to do?” So Baba Sawan Singh said, “If my beloved Master Baba Jaimal Singh would come into His physical form and give me His darshan, I am willing to give up everything; I am willing to sacrifice everything for that blessed moment.” So you see that His enthusiasm, His pain of separation, His feeling of yearning, did not decrease even after so much time. His affection, His love, His yearning for the Master was still the same.

Regarding Master Kirpal Singh I have seen this with my own eyes that whenever He would mention the name of His beloved Master Baba Sawan Singh or whenever He would hear someone talking about Baba Sawan Singh, the tears would roll down His cheeks. In Hanumanghar, Harbans was singing the bhajans in remembrance of Baba Sawan Singh, I was sitting with Master Kirpal Singh and I saw that with every single line sung of that bhajan, Master Kirpal would shed tears, He would weep, He would even put His finger like that saying, “Yes, that is absolutely right.”

Kabir Sahib was the first incarnate Saint Who came into this world. He never went below the human body, and with the order of God Almighty He came directly into this world.

From reading the Saints’ writings, from reading Their banis, we realize how much enthusiasm and love They had for Their Master, even up to the last moment of Their life. Their writings are the witness to how much love, how much enthusiasm, They had for Their Master throughout Their life.

Kabir Sahib says, “Those who understand their Master as a human being are the blind ones. Kabir says, In this world they suffer, and in the world beyond they fall prey to the Yama.”

Kabir says, “O Kabir, without doing the devotion of God, even a king becomes a donkey who carries the mud for the potter, and no one gives him any food to eat.”

Kabir Sahib says, “O Kabir, without doing the devotion of God a woman becomes like a dog who roams from street to street and no one offers any food to her. Never give up the company of the Saint.

Whenever you look at Him, go and be in His company, because you become holy as soon as you see Him, and by being in His company you meditate on the Naam.”

Kabir says, “O Kabir, we were being churned in the mill, but the Satguru came and rescued us from that suffering. Because of the past karmas, we came close to the Master and got His grace.”

In the same way we read the bani of Guru Nanak Dev Ji Maharaj; it is a very big scripture, a very big book. In the whole scripture, everywhere the praise of the Master, the importance and glory of the Master, is written. He says, “O my mind, go on repeating ‘Master, Master,’ because without the Master I am nothing. Day and night remain at the refuge of the Master whose gift cannot be erased by anyone. The Master is the doer; He is capable of doing everything. The Master is the Almighty One, He was and He is. With the grace of the Master our development happens, our darkness is removed, and we are enlightened.”

The Light of Ajaib

Nanak says, “This has been devised by God Almighty, that without the Master we cannot get the liberation.” Sehjo Bai, who was a disciple of Charan Das, has said, “I can give up God, but I can never forget the Master. Because God has put me into the cycle of coming and going, but the Master gave me the Naam and liberated me from that cycle. God hid Himself from me, but giving me the lamp, Master made me see Him. God has thrown me into the trap of the family and the attachment to them, but the Master has cut that attachment. God attached the five dacoits: lust, anger, greed, attachment and egoism who are making me dance like a monkey, but understanding me as an orphan, Master has rescued me from them. I cannot pay back the Master for all the favors He has done for me. I am prepared to sacrifice everything. Even if I have to sacrifice all the families, all the generations of mine, but still I will not be able to pay back the favors that the Master has done for me. You cannot pay back the Master, Sehjo Bai says, even if you sacrifice everything.”

Ramanand also praises the Master. He says, “Once the desire came into my mind to do the devotion of the Master and find God Almighty. I got some materials together to perform the worship, but wherever I went to worship Him I found nothing but water and stone.”

He says, “Wherever I went I found only water and stone, but the Word of the Master is the only thing that cuts all the fantasies and all the difficulties.”

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj says, “In the beyond no one is going to ask us about our learning and the knowledge which we have received. No one is going to consider the karmas, the rites and rituals, which we have done. Fortunate are those who have gone to the Master because they have made their lives successful.”

Those who have seen the Master with their own eyes have made their lives successful.

Dear ones, everyone knows about my condition, what happened to me after my beloved Master Kirpal left the body. Even before that I wept a lot and only because of that weeping my eyes were affected.

If you want to have an idea of what pain I had at that time, what yearning I had, read the bhajan and understand it, the bhajan that says, “Being separated from Kirpal I wept.”

I have told the story of Bhai Joga previously: Bhai Joga was from the town of Peshawar. When he was a very small child he went to Guru Gobind Singh along with his parents to have His darshan. Guru Gobind Singh looked at him and very happily He asked, “Dear child, what is your name?” He replied, “My name is Joga.” Now the word Joga can also literally mean “for the sake of” something.

So Guru Gobind Singh said, “If you are for the sake of someone why don’t you become for the sake of me?” And in that way Bhai Joga stayed with Guru Gobind Singh.

He was a very devoted soul. He did a lot of seva for Guru Gobind Singh; he did a lot of devotion and meditation also. When he became a young man – you know that the parents are always attached to their children – so when Bhai Joga became of the marriage-able age his parents came all the way from Peshawar and requested Guru Gobind Singh to send Bhai Joga back to his home, because they were thinking of getting him married.

Bhai Joga did not want to go back with his parents and get married, because he was intoxicated by enjoying the company of, and living with, his Master Guru Gobind Singh. But his parents begged Guru Gobind Singh to let him go, saying that he was their only child, their only son, and it was their desire that he should get married. So Guru Gobind Singh told Bhai Joga, “Okay, go with your parents, and I will send a message to you. And when I send the message, you should come back immediately.”

So with a very heavy, sad heart Bhai Joga started his journey back to Peshawar with his parents. After just a few moments Guru Gobind Singh sent another one of His dear ones with the message that was supposed to follow Bhai Joga and his parents. In those days there were no trains or other fast modes of transportation, so they had to walk all the way from Anandpur Sahib, where Guru Gobind Singh used to live, to Peshawar, which was a very long distance.

After Bhai Joga arrived at his home, the preparations were made for him to get married. On the wedding day, according to the Indian traditions, they take four circles around their deity to complete the wedding ceremony. So when Bhai Joga was getting married, when he had completed only two circles, the messenger of Guru Gobind Singh, who was following Bhai Joga, appeared there with the message from Guru Gobind Singh which said, “Leave whatever you are doing in the middle and come immediately.”

When Bhai Joga read the message he wanted to leave immediately without even completing the wedding ceremony. His friends and the family members said, “It won’t take much time to complete the other two circles.” But he did not listen because he wanted to obey his Master completely. He left in the middle of his wedding and started his journey back to Anandpur Sahib. On the way he had to spend the night in a town called Saharanpur, and there his mind started bothering him. As Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “The mind is within us and he finds many different ways to deceive us.”

After doing something good, our mind makes us think that we have done something good, then he puffs us up in the ego. So Bhai Joga started thinking, “Look at me, I am such a great devotee; I have done such a big sacrifice. I left that woman who was as beautiful as a fairy, in the middle of the wedding ceremony, and I am on the way to the Master; I am a very great devotee.” When he started thinking like that lust bothered him and he thought of going to a prostitute. When he went to the prostitute, since it was a test put by the Master, and as Master Sawan Singh used to say, “A potter puts one hand inside the pot, when he is hitting the pot from the outside.”

When Bhai Joga went to the prostitute there was a guard who told him, “You cannot go upstairs to the prostitute now, because some very important person is there, so you come back later.” He went back later and again he was told the same thing by that guard.

This went on and on, and finally at three o’clock in the morning when he went back to the prostitute, the guard rebuked him saying, “O dear one, you look like the disciple of a perfect Master. Is it not the time for you to meditate? Why are you bothering with going to the prostitute?”

That touched his heart and he realized his mistake and he started his journey back to Anandpur Sahib. When he arrived, he presented himself to Guru Gobind Singh and had His darshan. You know that if you have not had a good night’s sleep, the following day you find it difficult to stay awake. So as Guru Gobind Singh was talking with Bhai Joga, He was falling asleep. So Bhai Joga inquired, “Master, why is it so? Didn’t You have a good night’s sleep last night?” Guru Gobind Singh replied, “Yes, last night I was guarding one of my dear ones.”

Then Bhai Joga realized that Guru Gobind Singh was guarding no one other than himself, and he fell at the feet of Guru Gobind Singh and repented. So the meaning is that if we maintain the yearning which we had for the Master on the very first meeting with Him, only then can we progress on the Path. I often tell you the words of Kabir Sahib, “If we could maintain the yearning for the Master, which we had on the very first day, throughout our lifetime, what to talk about our own liberation, we can liberate a million others.”

So if you maintain the enthusiasm, if you maintain the love and yearning and the feeling of the pain of separation which you had on the very first meetings with the Master, throughout your lifetime, there is no need to worry about your own liberation, you can even help other people achieve liberation.

1996*1996 January/February: To Become a Child of the Master*Session Date: December 13, 1995

This question & answer talk was given December 13, 1995, at the S.K.A. Retreat, near Sampla, India.

SANT JI: Salutations unto the Feet of Supreme Fathers, Lords Almighty Sawan and Kirpal, Who have given us the gift of Their devotion and have also blessed us with the opportunities to do Their devotion. Kabir Sahib said that whoever keeps the Master on his head and who always obeys the commandments of the Master, such a disciple doesn't have any fear. He doesn't have to fear anyone in the three worlds, says Kabir. If we obey the Master lovingly and affectionately, this is true that such a disciple cannot be bothered by any forces of the Negative Power up to the limit of Triloki, up to the three worlds. Because if he obeys the commandments of his Master lovingly and affectionately, he will always have the company of the Master with him. The Master will always be with him and no forces of the Negative Power can come near him. Nobody can bother him. And this is true, that when we rise above the body consciousness, come to the Eye Center and manifest the Master within us, after that the Master always accompanies us like our shadow accompanies us. Not even for a moment are we left alone.

QUESTION: Could Sant Ji comment on what is required to become a child of the Master?

SANT JI: It is a very interesting question. My face is smiling; not only my face, but also my heart, my whole body, my whole being is very happy; it is smiling listening to this question. Whatever I will tell you is my own experience. There is a lot I can say in response to this question but I will tell you only a few words and that is that we have to give up all our cleverness, all our wisdom. We have to give up all our shortcomings.

Even a person who has a master's degree has to behave like a forty-day-old child if he wants to become the child of the Master. Whoever wants to become the child of the Master, his mind should be pure, his earnings should be pure. His whole being should be pure because purity is what counts in becoming the child of the Master. Often I have said that such souls are already made before they come into this world, and since their childhood they always have this yearning: they always search for that love which cannot be bought in any market, which cannot be grown in any field, which cannot be obtained by any other means. Such souls are always craving for that Beloved One right from their childhood. I have always said that such souls are not made in this world. They are already made before coming into this world.

Many times I have related this incident to you and once again I will refresh this for you, because it is always good to talk about your own experience. I am telling you that I made Him my true Father with sincerity in my heart, and He made me His own child. For twenty-five years my Beloved Satguru went on saying that it is not difficult to realize God – it is difficult to become a man – because God Almighty is in search for a man.

God Almighty has kept the accounts of all the souls. He has kept the destiny of all the souls in His own hands, and it is for Him to decide. He Himself decides whether such a soul will come to the Master in this lifetime or not, whether he will receive the Initiation or not, and after receiving the Initiation, whether he will have the faith in the Master or not. God decides whether the soul will do the meditation or not, whether he will be made to reach the perfection, whether he will be made to give the Initiation and do the work for the other people, or whether he will just be kept away and will not be allowed to do the devotion. So all these things are kept in the hands of God Almighty, and He Himself decides who should be brought to the Path and who should not be brought to the Path. So when such a chosen soul who has the yearning – when the time of that soul comes – he gets to meet the Master or the Master Himself appears in front of such a disciple.

Dear ones, many times we feel very embarrassed, because even though we are married, we still get lost in this world. We commit the mistakes and commit the adulteries, and we say that the mind was very strong and because of the mind we made these mistakes. But this poor soul who is sitting in front of you, right from his very childhood, at the place where he was born, there was no dearth of anything, all the material conveniences were there. This poor soul also became a young man, he also had his mind in him. As far as marriage was concerned, his parents pressured this poor soul very much to get married. They even said that if you will not get married, we will jump in the well and finish our life. I cried, I wept in front of them, and somehow I convinced them, “No, it is not for me.” Because I did not want to hurt their feelings, that was why I had to explain to them that I could not get married.

Before I met my Beloved Master for the first time, I had not met anyone who had criticized or praised my Beloved Master, so I did not know anything about Him. So when I first met my Beloved Master, I told Him, “Master, as I was born from the womb of the mother, still I am the same. I am as pure as a virgin, and I have come to You with all my purity and virginity.”

So dear ones, in search for God Almighty I slept on the floors. For many days I did not eat food; I remained thirsty. When the pain of separation is there, when you have the yearning, how can you remember the evils? How can you remember the pleasures and the vices of this world? You only have one desire, you only have one wish, one hope: that some day you may meet your beloved.

In 1947, when there was a war between India and Pakistan, our army was also involved in that war. I got the opportunity to serve my country during that war and we were fighting in the mountains where it snowed a lot. It was very cold over there. After we became successful in the war, the government, as the reward for our good work, gave us six months’ leave and allowed us to go to another hill station called Simla, thinking that before we went back to the plains we should spend some time in a cool place (because we had been in a very cold place in the mountains).

But instead of going there and enjoying a vacation like the other people did, I chose to come down to the plains, and I performed the austerities in the month of June, which is a very hot month in India. I did not perform the austerities to collect money from people. I performed the austerities only with the wish that maybe by performing the austerities and by burning the body in the fires, I would realize my Beloved One. If I could do that, I would think that still it was a very cheap bargain.

I knew that one cannot realize God Almighty by performing the austerities. I knew that by remaining hungry and thirsty one cannot realize God Almighty. I knew that God cannot be realized this way, but still I performed all those practices only because I didn’t want the mind to make this body make me lose my way and make me someone who is lost in the pleasures of this world. That is why I gave all the difficulties and hardships to my body and to the mind who was in this body.

When the time came of my meeting with my Beloved, I was at my home and He Himself came to my home. I did not know Him. I did not know that He was coming. He sent a messenger to me because I did not even know His name. So when He came, He quenched the thirst which I had since my childhood. He fulfilled my desire.

Right from childhood I had had the desire that my Groom should come to marry me. Even though my mother had told me that a man does not get married to another man, still I had the desire. I did not know to whom I was going to get married; but I had the desire that the Form of God Almighty Who was going to marry me should come to my home Himself like the groom does. So He came, and really He came like a groom. He brought the ring for me, He brought the clothes for me, and He married me. He gave me His ring; He gave me the clothes, and in that way He fulfilled my desire, He quenched the thirst, which I had from ages and ages ago.

In India there is a custom that when a woman is married, after she goes to her husband's house it is up to him to decide which name he wants to call his wife. They change her name. She does not have any wish or any will of her own. She is completely resigned to the will of her husband and whatever name and fame or whatever there is, that all belongs to the husband. She doesn't have any free will. She always goes by her husband's wishes.

Dear ones, just consider this: suppose the person for whom you have been waiting all your life long – even if you don't know that person – comes to you, and on the very first meeting he puts you to a test which is very difficult, a test which doesn't even sound very good in talking, but he puts you to that test, and you are expected to pass that test . . . ?

You know that when my Beloved Master first came, I had a very big place over there. There were many buildings. He saw and inspected everything. He went all around and then He told me that I should leave it. Just as Pappu is making all the buildings here, some things are finished, some things are not, it was the same there. So He told me that I should leave that at once.

I think that if I would tell Pappu that he should leave this place, his heart would fail. Even though, dear ones, I am living with Pappu, but I had not even known my Master before that. So when He told me that I should leave everything right then, at that time I had taken off my turban, and I just had a small piece of cloth on my head.

So when I tried to put the turban back on my head, He said, "I didn't tell you to take even your turban." So with whatever piece of cloth I had on my head I left that place immediately, and I went that same evening to 16 PS, the place where I am living now.

One of my very close associates, one of my very close dear friends [at 16 PS], suggested that we should at least get the vessels from the place which I was made to leave. I got very upset with him and I said, "Well, don't you get the vessels here? Don't you get the food in the vessel? We will have our own vessels here. Whatever the Master has done for me, whatever He has told me, I have to follow that." One of my relatives opposed my leaving that property very much and he said, "Well, how can you leave your property? How can you go like that?"

So I snapped my fingers and said, "Just like this, because I have not been caught; I am not attached to this property. I have been attached only to my Master."

What usually happens? If the Master has made a small hut-like thing for Himself, even though the Master is still in His body, still we go on looking at that place, waiting for that time when the Master would leave the body so that we could become the owner of the place which the Master has made for Himself. And to what extent do we go? When the Master leaves the body, what do we people do? We even go to the courts and fight with each other just for the worldly possessions and the worldly properties.

So dear ones, when you have given up and have left everything for the Master, only then can you become His child. You can do that only if you have given up your cleverness, only if you have become as innocent as a child. Because when you have left everything, it is just like a child – if you snatch a toy away from the hands of a child, what can he do? He just sits there; he just remains content there. So if the Master takes back everything that He has given to you, you can bear that only if you do not have the cleverness, and only if you are innocent. It is very difficult to become the child of the Master.

My beloved Master never allowed me to sit in front of Him. He always gave me the honor of sitting right next to Him. Many times He allowed me to be with Him, and many times I got the opportunity to eat with Him, and many times I got the opportunity to sit in His lap, just as a child does in the lap of its father. And I got the opportunities to play with His beard also. What to talk about cleverness – at that time I was half mad – I was not even aware what I was doing.

Dear ones, a child doesn't know the difference between a friend and an enemy. For him a rope and a snake are alike. He is completely resigned to the wishes of his parents. He trusts them. Our Master has love, more love than thousands of worldly parents put together. So if we totally resign ourselves to the will of the Master, only then can we become His child.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that when someone becomes a child of the Master, even the Master has to give such a child something. And He gives that child such a wealth which cannot be taken away by Brahm, or even the Par Brahm. Not even Jot Niranjan, the owner of the first plane, can snatch or take away the gift which the Master has given to such a child. Because the Master brings the gift from Sach Khand for such a child, and that gift cannot be taken away by any owner of the lower planes.

So dear ones, it is a very big thing, a very high thing, to become the child of the Master. I would say that to have the desire, to have the wish of becoming the child of the Master, such a person, such a soul is a very fortunate one.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, my daughter's question to the Master is: If the Masters are All-forgiveness, why do They also say that there are some sins that cannot be forgiven, like suicide? What happens to a soul that cannot be forgiven?

SANT JI: We have been given this life as per the Will of God Almighty, and our body is created according to the karmas which we have done in our past lifetime. Whether we are deaf, dumb, or blind; whether we have a good intellect or a bad intellect; whether we have a defective body or a very good, handsome body – all this is due to our own karmas. And we get the things of this world also according to our own karmas. God has kept the matter of life and death in His own hands, and it is for Him to decide how long a soul should live in this world and when a soul should leave this world. We think about committing suicide, we commit suicide, or do such kinds of karmas only when we do not accept the Will of God Almighty, only when we try to impose our own wishes on the Will of God Almighty.

All the Vedas and Shastras and all the religious scriptures unanimously say that whoever commits suicide cannot be forgiven because whoever commits suicide is a grave sinner.

The Light of Ajaib

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that sins are also of different categories or different degrees, and the sin of committing suicide is of the highest degree. He used to say that God Almighty doesn't forgive the soul who commits suicide. A soul who commits suicide is made to hang upside down and is given a lot of punishment over there. You know that in this world also, if someone tries to take his own life, even the law of this world doesn't pardon him, doesn't forgive him. He has to go through a lot of suffering; he has to bear the punishment and be in prison. So when the law of this world doesn't forgive someone who tries to commit suicide, we should know that the law of God is also unchangeable, and according to the law of God Almighty we will not be forgiven for this terrible sin of suicide. It is only because of the weakness of our soul that we think of, or we actually commit, suicide. And if we do commit suicide, then not only do we have to suffer for the karma of committing suicide, we also suffer the karmas, we also suffer on the account of the other things which are involved in committing suicide. And you know that no problems are solved, nothing gets resolved by committing suicide.

Many people commit suicide because they are afraid of their worldly responsibilities, because of their weak mind. And many people commit suicide because of craziness.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, did you spend any time with Baba Somanath or Mastana Ji? If you did, would you tell us about it?

SANT JI: Yes, I had a very brief meeting with Baba Somanath. You know about my relationship with Baba Bishan Das; he was my previous Master and He had given me the Initiation into the first two Words, but He had told me, "There is something beyond this. If you ever come across a Master who is capable of giving you more, then you should take me also to have the darshan of such a Master. And if I will come across someone who knows more than what I know, then I will take you there." So such was the Will of God Almighty, because you know that I had the opportunity to have the darshan of Baba Sawan Singh [before I met Master Kirpal]. So when I went to see Baba Sawan Singh and I was convinced, then I also took Baba Bishan Das there. Baba Bishan Das told Baba Sawan Singh about me – how I had performed the austerities and had done so many different kinds of practices in search of God Almighty.

Baba Sawan Singh Ji said, "I also have a disciple here, I also have a Baba here, who has gone through the same kind of practices, who has done a lot of searching for God. He even had long hair which he cut off only after coming to Beas." Then Baba Somanath was called, and we met there in the presence of Baba Sawan Singh.

I met with Mastana Ji many times at the feet of Baba Sawan Singh. During the Satsangs I had many opportunities to spend time with Mastana Ji. He was my old friend; we had a lot of love for each other.

He was a lover in the true sense. He used to call Master Sawan Singh as Sawan the Emperor, and he used to remember Him with his every single breath. In fact, the bhajans which you sing, written by Mastana Ji, are bhajans which were penned by me. But after Mastana Ji left, since He did not leave any successor, there was a person who started writing his own name at the end, saying that he had written those bhajans. But I did not feel comfortable, after Mastana Ji left, to delete his name and add my name. So that is why we wrote the name of Mastana Ji. But in fact, the bhajans which you sing which have the name of Mastana Ji, were written by me.

Mastana Ji used to have anklets with tiny bells on his feet, like dancers have, and he would dance in front of Master Baba Sawan Singh.

The Light of Ajaib

I was also very fond of dancing in those days, and in that mood I had written this bhajan, “Dance, mind, dance; dance in front of the Satguru.” In the presence of Master Sawan Singh I said, “Just as Ranja (a great lover in Indian folklore) said, ‘Come with me all those who want to become a fakir – because I neither got married, nor will I get married, and there is no one in this world who will mourn my death.’ So those who want to become a fakir should come and follow me.”

Just as Master Kirpal Singh [later] made me sit in the underground room to do the meditation, in the same way, Master Sawan Singh had made an underground cave for Mastana Ji and had made him do the meditation. I also got the opportunity to be in that meditation cave and meditate there.

Dear ones, when Mastana Ji gave the Initiation, He had a very large following, but still the love which He had for me was the same as it used to be in the court of Master Sawan Singh. Whenever I would visit Him, in front of His whole following, in front of His whole sangat He would call me and He would say, “Okay, now you tell people what Master Sawan Singh was like; how did He look?” So I would describe the glory and beauty of Master Sawan Singh to all Mastana Ji’s sangat in exactly the way I had witnessed.

Master Sawan Singh was very beautiful; He was very handsome. In fact, He was the true gentleman Guru. He had a gold chain fitted to His watch, and He always used to wear very clean clothes. Nobody had seen any stain on the clothes of Master Sawan Singh.

When He would laugh it would feel as if His whole being was laughing, and as if flowers were pouring down from His mouth, when He laughed like that. He was so beautiful, so handsome, that even the fairies used to pay homage to Him, because even the fairies were not as beautiful as Master Sawan Singh was. His style was such that He would be talking to a person, but on the other side somebody else would be trembling there, realizing his sins.

So dear ones, Mastana Ji used to say, “All that you see here is the blessing, the grace, of Master Sawan Singh” – because Mastana Ji used to distribute money to the people. When He would do that, He would start in the morning, and He would go on distributing money to the people until late in the evening. Many times the Indian government officials tried to find where He was getting all the money from, and they even put Him into prison. They searched all His belongings, but they could not find any money; but still He was distributing to everyone. So He used to say, “All that you see here is nothing but the blessings and grace of Master Sawan Singh.”

He used to say, and He had this thing in writing also, “If anyone says that he has given even one rupee to Mastana Ji, he can take back 1,000 rupees.” His own clothes were always torn, and I have seen that He used to wear torn shoes too. He used to say, “The poor Mastana has only these things.” He used to show His torn clothes and torn shoes, and say, “Such is the play of Master Sawan Singh: the poor Mastana doesn’t have anything more than these torn shoes and the clothes.”

One day very lovingly He told me, “Look here, everything you see here is the grace of Master Sawan Singh. I have the blessings of Master Sawan Singh, but the Power Who is going to come to you by Himself, He has done the meditation. Sawan Singh is God Almighty, and the One Who is going to come to you, He is the Son of God. He has done so much meditation, He is such a big Power, that if He puts His hand like this in front of cannons blowing the fire, even the cannons would stop. When the time will come, that Power will come to your home by Himself and you have to appreciate Him.”

The Light of Ajaib

Dear ones, He had so much love for Master Kirpal Singh also; His sangat used to love Master Kirpal Singh a lot.

Generally He was not pleased with the initiates of Master Sawan Singh. The reason for that was, as He used to say, “You see that you got the form of God Almighty in the form of Sawan Shah, but you did not appreciate Him.”

So dear ones, because the Form of the Master, because the Form of Sawan Shah was still in His within, that is why He said, “You people did not appreciate that Form of Sawan Shah,” and that is why He was not pleased with those who did not appreciate Sawan Shah. The Form of Sawan Shah was so deeply engrossed in His within that He could not forget it. Just as I have written in one of my bhajans, “Such a Form of my beloved Master is manifested within me, is imprinted within me, that not even for a moment do I forget how my beloved Lord, my beloved Sawan, used to smile.” And I never felt, I never saw, any difference between my beloved Master and Master Sawan Singh.

And happily, smilingly, He gave me the immortal sign, the immortal gift, in the Form of Kirpal, Who always accompanies me.

QUESTION: When a disciple prays deeply to the Master from the depths of his heart, does this type of prayer go to his account, similar to meditation?

SANT JI: Yes, it is good to pray. If our prayers are sincere; if they are not for the worldly materials; if they are for the spiritual things; then our prayers are listened to, and they are answered also.

The reality is that we become able, or we get in the position to be able, to do the true prayer only when we rise above our body consciousness. When we vacate the nine openings, go to the Eye Center, and manifest the Form of the Master there, only after that can we do the true prayer. Because once we reach the Eye Center and manifest the Form of the Master, then whatever comes from the depth of our heart is the prayer only for the spiritual things, only for the Master. We will not have any desires for worldly things; we will never ask for worldly materials. Because when we go inside and manifest the Form of the Master within us, then we also realize that if we are asking for anything except the Master, we are only inviting, we are only asking for the pains. So that is why the true prayer happens only when we go within and manifest the Form of the Master.

One dear one prayed to the Master that she should be given a child, and she was given a child. I am very happy that in the West people do not make a big fuss over whether they should have a girl or a boy. For them, both the sons and the daughters are the same. Now in India, because of the effect of Western culture, things are changing. But in those days it was a very big thing [to have a son]. So that woman who prayed for a child got a daughter and because she had prayed to Master Sawan Singh – she stood in front of Master Sawan Singh and said, “Now I don’t have any faith in You, because I asked You for a son and You gave me a daughter.” So what kind of prayer was that? If we pray to the Master for a child, He gives us a child, and then we create the controversy, we create the confusion, over having a son or a daughter.

So there is no use in making such kinds of prayer to the Master.

There was a dear one from the West who came to the 77 RB Ashram many times, and she told me that she was not respected by her family, by her mother-in-law, and other relatives because she did not have a child. So she prayed for a child. I told her, “This is the court of beloved Lords Sawan and Kirpal and whoever prays to Him, He definitely answers their prayer. So you should pray to Him.” And as a result she got a child. When I went to America, I saw her in the Satsang; she had a child. But since then it has been many years, and I have never seen her again. So dear ones, when we pray to the Master, He gives us what we are praying for, but most of the time, after receiving the things for which we have prayed, we leave even the Master.

I have said this many times before also, that once we traveled a very long distance and we visited a very wealthy family in the U.S. So when I went there, both the husband and wife came, they embraced me and they cried. They said, “Well, You have given us so much material wealth, but we do not have any child. So either You should not have given us all the material wealth, or You should also give us a child.” So I said, “Well, this is the court of Lord Kirpal, and He will answer your prayers.” A year after I visited their home they got a child, and then they wrote me a letter saying, “You have given us the child, but the child cries a lot in the night, so You also should make him quiet.” So when we pray to the Master He answers our prayers, He gives us all that we are looking for, but then we ask Him to do many more things. First we ask for the child and then we also ask Him to come and baby-sit for our kids.

I can tell you many prayers which the worldly people often make to the Master and which are fulfilled, and then they make more prayers. It could fill many books if I went on telling you about the worldly people’s prayers. I don’t feel like talking about this, but since the nature of the question is like that – I am compelled, because I am answering this question – so I will tell you about one woman who for many years went to 16 PS Ashram with a desire. After many years she asked, “Don’t You know why I have been coming here?” I said, “Yes, of course I know what you have come for.” So she said, “Well, if You know, why don’t You give me that?” I said, “Well, will you be content, will you be happy if you get what you are asking for?” She said, “Yes, I will be content. I will be happy if You give me what I am praying for.” She did not have a child, so she prayed for a child. And with the grace of God Almighty Kirpal a new soul entered her body. And after that she came to see me and she said that she was expecting a child but she warned me, “If You don’t give me a son, then I will lose faith in You.” With the grace of God Almighty Kirpal, in His Will she got a son. But unfortunately when the child was still very young, one day some hot water poured on his body and he became very sick. So she came to me and she said, “Well, if my son will not survive I will lose faith in you.” That also became all right, her son became all right, but afterward she became crazy. She herself went crazy, and then she came to me and she said, “I have lost faith in You. First You should make me better, and then I will have faith in You.”

So these are the stories of the prayers of the worldly people. We go on praying and we go on getting the things.

All our prayers are answered, then we go on asking for more and more, and we never get any contentment, we never get any satisfaction. So the meaning of saying this is that the true prayer can happen only when you rise above the nine openings of the body, when you go within and meet the Master within and pray to Him. Only in that case, only in that situation, will the prayer come from the depth of your heart – because then you will not be asking for anything which will bring pain or unhappiness to you. Except for the prayer for the Naam and the Master, the prayers for all other things will not give you any contentment or happiness. Do you think that you will get any contentment, do you think that you will get any happiness, if you are praying for any worldly thing? The contentment comes only when you pray for the Naam.

The Light of Ajaib

I will tell you one more thing, one more incident to make you laugh. There was one girl who came in the month of October. She came for the October monthly Satsang over there in Rajasthan. And when she came to see me in the private interview she told me, “I attended Your Satsang, and I liked it very much. But You say that the soul is the same whether one is male or female, if You say that the soul is the same, then why didn’t You get married?” I made a crooked-looking face and I said, “Well, nobody liked me. That’s why I didn’t get married.” But she didn’t accept that. She came back again in November for the Satsang and once again she came to me and she said, “I had prayed to the Master that He should get married, but now He has become old so He will not get married.”

So this is the kind of prayer we people make. So how can we expect that such prayers could be answered? We do not know what kind of prayers we should make, what kind of things we should ask from the Master, because we are here outside. When we go within, only after going in the within, we will know what we should ask from the Master, and what we should pray to the Master.

So dear ones, we do not know how to make the prayers. In fact, only after going within and manifesting the Form of the Master and accepting His authority, His being, in our within – only then do we realize what our Master is and what He is capable of giving to us. Dear ones, when we go within and see His power over there, then we make the true prayers, and then we ask from the Master only the Master.

Regarding prayer, in Satsang I have always said, “Suppose there is a child who is supposed to go to school and study. But instead of going to school, if he just sits on the way and prays to his teacher that he should be made to pass the examinations, he should have good numbers in his test – you know that he will not get good results, he will not get good marks, and he will not be able to pass the examination just by praying for it. He will get good results, he will pass the examination only if he goes to the school and works hard.”

Dear ones, when [I was in the army] I went to the city of Poona to take the exams to become a signalman. The teachers there were very strict and they said, “We don’t believe in those gods, in those beings, to whom you have prayed before coming here. We only believe in the hard work which you have done in preparing yourself for the examination. If you will not do well then we will mark an “F” on your examination, and we’ll send you back from here.”

Dear ones, from the blessed mouth of Master Sawan Singh I have always heard Him say, “I am a farmer Guru.” Farmers are supposed to be very rugged, very strong, and He used to say, “I am a farmer Guru, and I will put all of you to a very severe test. I will make you work very hard.” And from Master Kirpal Singh I always heard Him say, “I am an accountant, and I will ask you for the account of every single penny. If one penny is less, why was it less? If there is one extra penny, why is it extra?”

The meaning of Master Kirpal Singh’s saying was: “I will ask for the account of every single breath which I have given to you. Did you do the Simran in all the breaths which I gave you, or did you just waste them for the pleasures and the other useless things?”

Dear ones, we are very fortunate ones that we got our beloved Masters Who taught us how to do the prayer. He taught us how to do the prayer and He gave us all that we have. If you go to a shop which sells pearls and diamonds, no matter if you burn the incense over there, if you offer prayers, if you offer anything over there, and ask for coal, they will not be able to give you coal because they only have pearls and diamonds. Only if you ask for pearls and diamonds will you get the pearls and diamonds. But if you are asking for the coal, they will not be able to give it to you, no matter what efforts you make. In the same way, at the shop of our beloved Master there is only Naam. So if you pray for the Naam, you will get the Naam from Him. If you will pray for the other things which the Master does not have, how can you get them?

1996 March: Why the Veil was Thrown Down

Session Date: January 7, 1996

This question and answer talk was given January 7, 1996, in Bombay, India.

QUESTION: Is it possible to progress in one's meditation and not know it? Does the Master at times keep the inner vision of the disciple closed and at the same time the disciple is progressing? Why is this? Some of us have been meditating for over twenty years with very little inner experience, but our love for You is very strong.

SANT JI: Salutations unto the feet of Almighty Lords Sawan and Kirpal Who showering Their limitless grace upon our poor souls have given us the opportunity to sit in Their remembrance.

Dear ones, I have already answered this question many times and it has been published in the Sant Bani Magazine. This is why I always make the request to all the dear ones to read the Sant Bani Magazine because many of the questions that the dear ones have asked and that I have answered for the benefit of the dear ones are published in the magazine. So that is why you should read the magazine and you can get the answer to such questions.

Well dear ones, as I have often said, in the very beginning the Masters used to give only the Simran to Their disciples. When the disciples would perfect their Simran, when they started to remain at the Eye Center after perfecting the Simran, then the Master would give them the Initiation of the Sound Current. But sometimes, before the disciple could perfect the Simran, before the disciple could gain the concentration at the Eye Center, either the disciple would leave the body or the Master who had given the Simran would leave the body. You know that the Power which takes our soul back to the Real Home is the Sound Current, the Sound of the Shabd, the Dhun Atmak Naam. The Simran has been given to us only so that we can withdraw from all the outer things, so that we can collect our scattered thoughts and attention and bring them to the Eye Center.

But dear ones, don't think that by doing the Simran you only gain concentration. In the Simran that you have been given by the perfect Master, the renunciation, the sacrifice, the hard work, the meditation of the Master is also included. By doing the Simran given to us by the perfect Masters we can develop or create the yearning and longing for God Almighty within us.

Those who have the knowledge of the greatness and importance of Simran know how we can gain the ridhis and sidhis, the supernatural powers; but it is the instructions of the Masters to Their disciples that, "Your Path or your Way is above this, ahead of this, and you don't have to get stuck in the supernatural powers."

In the Iron Age Kabir Sahib showered much grace upon the devotees, much grace on the people of the Iron Age, and that is why He started giving the Sound and Simran both at the same time.

But what do we usually do? In the very beginning when we get the Initiation, we put a lot of emphasis on listening to the Sound Current and we don't put much attention on doing the Simran and gaining the concentration. In that process even if we hear the Sound Current, that Sound Current doesn't pull us up because of the lack of concentration.

We have not yet gained enough concentration so that the Sound Current which we hear can pull us up. This is the reason why at the time of the Initiation you are told that you should meditate at least three fourths of the time for the Simran and you should devote one fourth of the time listening for the Sound Current. Regarding the Simran, it is also said that you should not give up the Simran. The reason you are asked to listen to the Sound Current for one fourth of the time is so that you can maintain the habit of listening to the Sound Current, and also so that you may enjoy the Divine Melody which is sounding in your within. But a lot of emphasis is put on doing the Simran. It is also said that you should not give up your Simran even when you are sitting in the latrine, even if you are traveling, or doing anything – all the time you should be doing the Simran.

We know that if very fine sugar is mixed with sand, an elephant does not have the skill or power so that he can separate that sugar from the sand; but a small ant has that capacity and she can easily take out the sugar which is mixed with the dirt. In the beginning, no matter what kind of Sound we are hearing, even if it is a slow humming Sound, still we should listen to it. We should not go on changing the Sounds every day, we should listen to and concentrate on the same Sound, because that is the Sound which is going to take our soul back to Sach Khand.

I am telling you from my own experience that when we gain complete concentration, and at that time when we hear the Sound Current, even though the Sound is coming from within and it is audible only to the meditator, but it seems to him as if the Sound is coming from outside or that it can be heard all over the place, maybe in a radius of twenty miles or so. Many times when such Sound comes within the disciple he tries to look for the Sound coming from the outside and he thinks that it is audible everywhere. But it is so melodious, it is so strong that, even though only the meditator is able to listen to that, he becomes so intoxicated, he becomes so happy and content with that Sound that he becomes absorbed in it.

It is like that special kind of musical note which the hunters often play to attract deer. Usually the deer don't like to go near men, but when the deer hears that sound to which he is attached he also becomes intoxicated. He is attracted to that and he comes and places his head at the feet of the hunter. So when you gain the concentration and you hear the Sound Current, you become so intoxicated and attracted that it may seem that it is being heard all over.

But that is not the case; it is within you, and only you are listening to it. Up until the time of Guru Arjan Dev Ji the disciples were made to progress, and at the same time they were shown how much they had progressed. But it so happened that once in the place called Kabul some disciples of Guru Arjan Dev Ji were visiting and over there someone's son left the body. You know that the disciples of the Masters have the same kind of sympathy and they also feel the pain of others. When one of those disciples, who was an advanced disciple, when he saw that the son of the family had left the body, and the family members were all crying and weeping and mourning his death, he could not stand to see their pain. Using his meditation powers he brought the life back to that boy. You know that Masters always remain in the sweet Will of God Almighty. They always say, "O Lord, Your Will is very sweet." They never compete with Him; They never interfere in the law of Nature, or the law of God Almighty. Whatever God Almighty plans, whatever God Almighty does for Them, They always bow down Their head and

They always remain like the beloved children of God Almighty. They never do anything against His wishes and They expect the same thing from Their disciples also.

But Guru Arjan Dev's disciple did that thing and when Guru Arjan Dev was told, "He has brought life back to that boy," He became very upset, and since then He threw down the veil on the disciples. So that is why the disciples, even though they progress, but they are not shown how much they have progressed. Of course, some disciples, those who have digested the grace of the Master, those who have digested the progress of their meditation, and for whom the Master is sure that they will not misuse their progress, misuse the powers that they have gained from the meditation for the worldly things, for them sometimes the Masters even make it possible for them to see the progress. But for most people usually that veil is thrown and they don't see how much they have progressed, even though they do progress in the meditation.

Dear ones, normally good parents don't show their children how much wealth they have. Even though they have collected that wealth only for the benefit of their children, but they know that if the children knew that their parents had so much wealth, they would not study, they would not work hard, and they would not stand on their own feet. But when the parents' end time comes they pass on everything to their children.

In the same way, dear ones, the Masters protect the wealth, the progress of the disciples, because finally They have to give that progress of the meditation to the disciples. Many times it so happens that the Master becomes so pleased, They have to give the progress of the disciple, but They also give Their own wealth, Their own capital, and carrying all the riches and prosperity, They go and sit within such a disciple.

Once I received a letter from a dear one and I felt like laughing and also I felt very sorry. I started wondering: "What do these people understand about the Path?" and "What will they benefit from it?" He had written that he had thought that by coming on this Path and by taking the Initiation, that all his problems would be sorted out and all his matters would be resolved. He thought they would have a very good form of livelihood, they would have big factories, and they would live a very comfortable life. But ever since they got Initiation nothing like that happened and they had not gained anything of the material world, and no sickness and disease in the family were removed. So when I read all that, I felt very sorry for him. So just imagine, dear ones, if such people are given a glimpse of the spiritual wealth which the Master has for them, will they not misuse it for gaining worldly riches and things?

Now things are changing in India, but still sometimes people are attached to having only the sons and they don't like the daughters. And I have heard this myself, in the time of Baba Sawan Singh, there was a woman who had the desire that she would give birth to a baby boy, but she got a girl. So I heard her telling Baba Sawan Singh, "Now I don't have any faith in You, because I had done Your devotion expecting to have a boy and now I have got a girl, so now I don't have any faith in You." So what will these kind of people gain from the Path?

Dear ones, when I went to the U.S.A for the first time I got a phone call from some dear ones who had just gotten a baby girl and they said, "With Your grace we have got a baby girl and we ask Your blessing for the baby girl." You know that I was brought up in India and according to the Indian culture if anyone gets a baby girl, they don't accept it and they don't become very happy.

The Light of Ajaib

It is as if mourning prevails in their home, as if they have lost something, so there is no question of congratulating. So I was confused about how I should respond to that phone call because I was brought up in the Indian culture and I still had that effect. So I called Kent, the principal, and I told him about that phone call asking how should I respond.

He said, “Well, it is not like India. In America we do not feel any difference whether we get a baby girl or a baby boy and you should just congratulate them.”

So after that I went around America and I saw many of the people, and when I saw that the dear ones in America don't feel any difference whether they have a girl or a boy baby, I became very happy that they are good people and they accept and they become happy no matter what God Almighty gives them.

When Sukhpal was born – all of you know Sukhpal – when Sukhpal was born we celebrated her coming. The Sangat was visiting the ashram, so we distributed parshad of ladoos and other sweets and we expressed that happiness. But many people in the Sangat were upset. They said, “Well, she should have given birth to a son.” I told them, “You should ask those who have given birth, how happy they are.” So the meaning of saying all this is that those who are expecting only the boy babies, and those who are ready to lose the faith in the Master if they do not get a baby boy, what will they gain from Sant Mat? Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “If you are coming to the Master expecting to get the baby boy, or if you are expecting the Master to help you resolve a lawsuit, it is much better if you don't show your face to the Master, it is better if you just stay at home. Because the Masters have the Naam. You should come to the Master only for the Naam. You should ask for the Naam, and you should do the meditation of the Naam so that your problem of coming and going from this world may end. When you have done the meditation of Naam, when your coming and going from this world is ended, then there will be no suffering.”

This is why Masters emphasize on doing the meditation. They tell us that we should do the meditation and come to the Eye Center. And after removing the physical, astral and casual covers from our soul, we should reach Par Brahm. When we reach Par Brahm, there is no difference between male and female; the soul is neither male there nor is she female. It is neither from America nor India, it is neither black nor white, it just a soul. That is why the Masters Who come from Sach Khand do not see any difference between the male and female and that is why when They give Initiation They do not differentiate between the men and women, because for Them it is just one soul, and soul is neither male or female.

Even in the Satsangs Masters do not find any difference between the men and women. Their teachings, Their instructions, are the same for everyone; whatever the Masters say applies to both men and women. When I went to Jaipur to do a program, some pundits came to see me and they told me, “You allow both the men and women to sit together when you give them the Initiation. Nobody else does that, because the women do not have any right even to hear the religious sermons.”

So I told them, “Yes, I agree with you that ‘the women do not have the right to read the Vedas.’ This is what they understand. But tell me: those who have the right to hear the Vedas, are they not from the womb of the mother? These kind of differences exist only in the minds of the people who have not reached Par Brahm. If you had done the meditation of the Shabd Naam and reached Par Brahm, then you would have realized that there is no difference between the man and the woman. It is the same soul who is working in both the man and the woman.”

The Light of Ajaib

The reality is that those who reach Sach Khand and those whose inner experience gets opened, they are the only ones who really know what is written in the Vedas and the other holy scriptures. They may not know the language, but they do know the essence; they do know the extract of what is written in the Vedas. The reality is that in the Vedas it is written that first you should give the knowledge, you should give the education to your daughters and after that you should get them married. So those people who talk like this don't know what is written in the Vedas.

The purpose for saying so much in response to this question is so that you can understand this very well, that whatever you are doing here, whatever meditations you are doing here, not everyone is shown the progress that he is making. Some people, those whose vessel is made, those who are receptive, they are even shown how much they have progressed. But not everyone is shown their progress.

Two years ago in the Bombay program one dear one came to me and he told me about his very high experience – what we normally discuss and tell about: the kinds of lights, and all the other experiences. So he had all those experiences and he told me about it, and for many days after I heard that I became very happy. I became very overwhelmed that at least there is someone who has understood and has done the meditation and has gained the experience.

I told him, “It would be much better for you to just keep it to yourself and not to talk about it to the other people.” So what I mean to say is that when people come to see me in the interviews, they tell me about their experiences and I become very happy. When some people come here they put a lot of emphasis on doing Simran; they gain the concentration, but they don't tell me about their good experiences. That does not mean that they have not progressed. They also have progressed but they have not yet developed that vessel with which they can preserve what they have been given, that is why they have not been shown how much they have progressed. But like the other dear ones, those who talk about their experiences, they also have done the meditation and they also have gained the progress.

There was an initiate of Master Kirpal; I think his name was Glen Jarman. When he would come to see me he would always greet me with “Sat Sri Akal” and he would always be very happy to see me. I remember when he came to see me in the ashram at 77 RB. He greeted me with “Sat Sri Akal,” and he told me how all that I talk about in the Satsangs Master Kirpal had shown him very clearly. He had now realized, he knew that now his time for going back was coming, was approaching very fast.<sup>61</sup> And then he told me that I should allow Sally and Michael Barickman to do the seva in his place. So I was very happy when he told me about his experience, and also when he told me about his end time coming, because normally people don't want to talk about the day of their death or the day of their departure. Even if someone gathers the courage to talk about it, they will say it in a very low tone, so other people don't hear it. I was very happy that he had so much faith in the Master that he told me about his experiences.

Dear ones, often I have said that if we want to store the milk of a tigress, we need a vessel made of gold. In the same way we need to make our within, our heart, very strong, very courageous, very grand, if we want to preserve this wealth of Spirituality. We should not be like a gambler and waste the spiritual wealth which we have gained for the worldly problems. Because when we are living in this world, the pains and happiness are [both] going to come. The problems will come, so that is why we need to make our heart, our within, very strong, so that we can maintain and preserve this spiritual wealth which we are getting from doing the meditation.

QUESTION: I believe that the bhajans are no less important than Simran but what should we do if the remembrance of the bhajans becomes more like a repetition, sometimes even interfering with the Simran?

SANT JI: Dear ones, the purpose of doing the Simran is to gain the concentration. If a line of any bhajan, or if any bhajan becomes a part of your within, and if it goes on happening in your within and it helps you in concentration, even that is not less important than doing the Simran, because the love of the Master is in that line of the bhajan.

But the dear ones should put emphasis on doing the Simran as you have been told at the time of Initiation. You were told that you should do the Simran, and when you are doing the Simran, you should only be doing the Simran. The bhajans written by the perfect Masters have much yearning and much love for Their Master. And if we sing those bhajans before doing our Simran, that will help us to gain the concentration. After the meditation also, if we can sing one bhajan full of love and yearning for the Master, even that will help us. It will keep us happy and content during the rest of the day.

QUESTION: When someone's parents live together for over fifty years and then die of natural causes within hours of each other, what [meaning] can one draw from this, if anything?

SANT JI: I think that outwardly we should not get involved in drawing the meaning of these kinds of things happening. Instead of getting confused and worrying about it outside, it would be much better to go inside so that we can find out why they were brought together and also why they left together.

You can even understand up to this extent, that from here where will they go, and in the future who is going to become the husband and who is going to become the wife.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, You have written an enchanting new bhajan "Guru, Guru." If it is in the Master's Will, would You kindly tell us what it means?

SANT JI: Well I hope that someday I will be able to do a Satsang, a commentary, on this bhajan, because if I try to explain to you the whole bhajan it will require a lot of time, so you will have to wait for it.

The fact is that when your Master has controlled your body, when He has controlled your thoughts, when He has controlled your everything, do you have any other choice? Will you not sing of Him? Will you not think of Him? Will you not talk about Him? He Himself will make you sing of Him, He Himself will make you talk about Him and think about Him, and you will have no choice, because He is controlling your everything. Guru Nanak Sahib also said, "O my mind, go on repeating 'Guru, Guru' because I am nothing without the Guru. Day and night you remain at the Feet of the Master, because His gift is such which cannot be erased by anyone." Yesterday we had taken the hymn of Swami Ji Maharaj in which He had said, "My Master is my life, my being, my pranas."

The hymn of Swami Ji Maharaj was that, "My Master is life, my being, my pranas, and He has given me the gift of the Shabd." Dear ones, you know that when any worldly people get married, when they become the husband and wife, they love each other so much and always they remember each other and they always talk about each other. So when a worldly husband and wife also remember each other, will you not remember your Master, He Who has given you so much, He Who is the owner of your life? A devotee, a disciple, always remembers the Master; he will always find the excuses to remember the Master.

Dear ones, their condition becomes like this: that if you have the fever I feel the heat, I feel the pain. Your life and mine have become one. The condition of the true devotee and the Master becomes like this: that if the devotee has the fever, the Master feels the pain. And they both think that both of their lives are one and the same.

In Punjabi there is a very famous saying: “The pain of the separation from the beloved one is very bad. To hide from people, the lover goes and moves the fire and as a result she gets the smoke. She is crying in the pain but she doesn’t want to show the people that she is crying in the pain of her beloved, that is why she goes and plays with the fire so that people may see that she has the tears in her eyes only because of the smoke.”

Master Sawan Singh had a very poor disciple. The family was so poor that they used to cut and collect grass and sell it in the marketplace. So that poor woman disciple was a very devoted disciple of Master Sawan Singh, and her family members were always against her even taking the Initiation. First of all she got the Initiation and she was very devoted; she would meditate whenever she got the chance. But whenever the family members would find out that she had been meditating, they would give her a hard time and they would beat her. So when she would go into the fields to cut and collect the grass, she would do her work very fast so that she would get some time, and she would sit there in the water course in the field itself and meditate.

Sometimes when her surat would get attached within it would take her a longer time and then she would be delayed in going home. The family members would get upset and say, “Today you must have sat in the meditation.” And they would give her a beating. But she was so devoted that she would not give up the intoxication, she could not give up the taste of the meditation, and she would always meditate whenever she would get an opportunity.

Once it so happened, because she lived not so far from the place that Master Sawan was, and whenever Master Sawan Singh would go near those fields, she would come along with her friends to have the darshan of Master Sawan Singh. So one day when Master Sawan Singh was in the area, that girl, along with some other friends of hers, came to have His darshan. Bibi Lajo who used to cook for Baba Sawan Singh was there and she told me about this incident. She said, “She came to see Baba Sawan Singh and I told her, ‘No, don’t go near the Master, because your clothes are dirty and they smell. You should not go near the Master,’ and Master Sawan Singh said, ‘No, you allow her to come near me, because the bad smell is coming to you, but not to me.’” Master Sawan Singh knew about her, so when she came near, Master Sawan Singh asked her, “Tell me, do you have any difficulty, any problem on the inside?” She said, “No, I don’t have any difficulty on the inside. The only problem is that sometimes when I sit for a long time, I get delayed, and when I go home they give me a beating. When You know everything, why don’t You let me go earlier?”

So dear ones, those who have got such enjoyment, so much intoxication in the meditation, will they not sing of their Master all the time? They always go on singing of the Master, they always remain in His remembrance.

1996 April: The Strings of the Puppet

Session Date: March 19, 1996

This question and answer talk was given March 19, 1996, at the S.K.A. Retreat, near Sampla, India.

QUESTION: Beloved, I would like for you to explain to me how to keep the diary by removing the faults I have committed. When I do it, I see the same faults every day, and I can't get rid of them. What can I do in order to keep the diary as it should be done?

SANT JI: Salutations unto the Feet of Supreme Fathers Lord Almighty Sawan and Kirpal, Who have given us the opportunity to sing Their praises. The Satsang which we had yesterday, based on Swami Ji Maharaj's hymn, I think we should listen to this Satsang on the tape again and again, and when it will be published in the magazine, it should also be read again and again, and I am sure that when they will read it, the dear ones will benefit from it.

Many dear ones keep the diaries, and they do fill them, but they do not understand the importance of keeping the diary. The importance of keeping the diary is to see whether we remember all the faults we have committed during the day by the end of that day, or not. If we remember at the end of the day all the faults we have committed, and if we note all those faults down in the diary, that means that we have got the realization that we have made those faults, and once you realize that you have committed the sin, you have committed the faults, you should not do them again. If you are not giving up the faults you have committed and noted down in the diary, it is like you are playing a joke on the Master.

In India there is a saying that someone had a drain which was not according to plan, so the authorities of the town came and asked that person to remove that drain from there. He said okay, but after the authorities left he did not do anything, and the drain remained where it was. If there is a thief who steals something, and he goes to the police officer and asks for forgiveness; if he goes on doing that again and again, he is not going to be forgiven; he will be punished. In the Path of the Masters there is no punishment. As Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say, in the domain or in the kingdom of the Negative Power there is justice, and in the domain or the kingdom of the Positive Power – the Master Power – there is grace. So Masters don't punish, because They have come to shower Their grace and They always forgive, but it is not good for us to go on committing the same faults again and again.

Sant Mat, or the Path of the Masters, is not a religion. It is the path of self-improvement. In the Path of the Masters, it is not the mission of the Masters to enroll many disciples; Their mission or Their purpose is only to prepare the souls for doing the devotion of God Almighty and take them back to their Real Home.

From within the Satsangi, the fragrance of love should come out, and not the foul smell of the dirt. When a Satsangi meets another person, at once that person should feel that the Satsangi goes to some perfect Master.

Master used to say that the master is blamed if the dog is bad. So if the disciple of the Master is committing the faults, if he is doing the bad deeds, then he gets cursed, he gets rebuked, but also the Master gets blamed for the bad deeds of the disciple. People say that the Master does not improve him.

This is an incident from my life. About thirty years ago, one person received the Initiation from Agra, and [later] after receiving the Initiation he started drinking. One night, just a few yards away from where

The Light of Ajaib

I was living, he was drinking wine with many of his other friends. People used to call him “Swami Ji,” so his friends were saying, “You should drink from the hands of Swami Ji,” and they were making fun of him. After all of them were drunk they started fighting with each other, and that person got a lot of beating from the other people in the group, and finally they threw him at my door, saying, “You take care of your Swami Ji.” Even though I was not an initiate of Agra, but at least people knew that this is a branch of that Path which was started in Agra by Swami Ji Maharaj. So just imagine what those people who drank wine with him would have felt and what they would have thought of Swami Ji and the Path.

Dear ones, just one mistake in your life can make the rest of your life dry. Master used to say, “If a person who has risen above, and who has gone very far in the within, if he commits a mistake, even one mistake can bring him down.” So we should be very careful before committing the faults, before making the mistakes. We should think about its consequences, we should think about how much dirt it will bring on our soul.

Diaries are for the introspection of our life. Graciously Lord Kirpal has given us this diary, which is an opportunity to improve our life.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, forgive my ignorance, but could You tell us, from Your point of view, what is the function of an ashram?

SANT JI: Regarding the ashrams, Master Kirpal Singh has written and said a lot, so I hope that you will get that material and will read it and convince yourself about the ashram. The ashram is the place where you live.

QUESTION: Master, at the bhajan-singing session, you mentioned the importance of guiding the life of our children. I have a seven-year-old boy, initiated into the Sound. He lives with me from Monday to Thursday, and from Friday to Sunday he lives with his father, who is not a Satsangi, and who feeds him meat, since he considers it is good for him. In this case, what can I do to guide my son according to Your advice? Whatever he learns when he is with me is questioned when he is with his father.

SANT JI: Well, it is much better for the dear ones who have such personal questions to ask me when they come to see me in the darshans.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, how can the Satsangi know when the strings of the puppet are being moved by God Almighty, or by Kal?

SANT JI: Every Satsangi should listen to this with much attention and they should think about it. Often I have answered this question, and many times it has been in the magazine also. Once again I will answer this question, I will respond to this in detail.

The strings of all the souls are hidden by the Negative Power in the higher planes. That is why the Masters lay a great emphasis on going to the perfect Master, because a perfect Master is the only One Who takes the strings of the souls from the Negative Power, and connects those strings with Sach Khand.

Kal is not just a word; He is not a demon; He is a power. You may read in the Anurag Sagar [The Ocean of Love] that Kal is also one of the powers created by God Almighty. He did the devotion of God Almighty and in return he got the souls. If a mahatma is not perfect, he cannot take the strings of the souls which are in the control of the Negative Power. Because Kal has hidden the strings of the souls in the inner planes, and only a Master Who has access to those inner planes can get the strings of those souls and attach [them] to Sach Khand.

Up to a certain extent, Kal also gives the heavens and paradises to those souls who maintain discipline and do things according to His law in this physical plane. Also, in order to punish the souls, those who do not do things according to His wishes, He has created the plane of hell to punish those souls.

When Kal moves our string, then our attention becomes extroverted, it goes toward the outward form of doing the devotion. Or our attention goes toward indulgences and passions.

When bad thoughts arise within you, thoughts of lust, of anger, the thoughts of indulging in passions, of stealing and other things, at that time a Satsangi should be very careful, and he should know that now it is Kal who is moving his string. And, if he will follow Him, he will have to commit acts, he will have to do things, to fulfill the desires which are being created within him by Kal.

When the wave of lust arises within you, when the wave of anger is erupting within you, at that time, sit in meditation and pray to the Master. When your mind is quiet and you are having good thoughts coming in your within, take advantage of that time, and realize that it is the Master Who is encouraging you. So, at that time, take advantage of that time and sit in meditation.

A Satsangi has to be very careful and he has to keep a very strong vigil, a very strong guard, against the Negative Power. In the beginning it is very difficult to figure out what is coming from Kal and what is coming from the Master. You should know that the Master will always protect you from doing the bad deeds. He will always keep you away from them, and He will always encourage you to do the good deeds and the meditation. We should not spend all our life just talking about these things; we should also do the meditation along with this because, when we do the meditation, then our direction changes.

Dear ones, right now we do not consider the bad things which we are doing as the evil or bad things, and we are not ready to abandon them. Even though we know that they are bad and we get nothing but suffering from them. We get the treatment, we eat the medicine, but still we don't want to give up the diseases. But if you start remaining at the Eye Center, even for a little bit, then you will realize how much you have gained, and how much help you have received in giving up those bad deeds, those evils. Now you are finding enjoyments, and it is very pleasing to you to indulge in all those evils and bad deeds, but once you start putting your attention and concentration at the Eye Center – even for a little bit of time – then you will see that you will enjoy even more giving up the evils and bad deeds.

QUESTION: Master, could you talk about the events in the life of an initiate regarding free will, the disciple's will, and God's, karmic laws, and those which shape our destiny. How does Kal fit in all this? How does this affect our choices, the simple ones and the more complicated ones?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji makes a brief; questioning comment; laughter erupts from the group. There is a light-hearted exchange between Sant Ji and Pappu, with much laughter throughout and following.]

Well, I am very sorry that many dear ones write the questions, but they don't read it again after they have written their question. [Laughter.] Because a question has to be answered, and they don't consider whether the question, when the question is being asked, whether the other people who will hear that question will laugh at me or what.

The Light of Ajaib

I often quote Master Sawan Singh's words; He used to say, "There are six things which we have brought with us, written in our destiny. They are: pains and happiness, richness and poverty, good health and sickness. These things are written for our life, even before our body is created."

Tulsi Das said, "First of all our Pralabdh, or destiny, was decided, and then our body was created. Tulsi says, this is a very amazing game, but the mind does not understand."

Well, giving an example, I will make you understand how our Pralabdh, or destiny, is made, and how it works, because it is easier to understand with an example. Just as when we are in school and we have the class periods, we make a schedule for school, showing at what time or in which period each subject will be taught, and according to that schedule the teacher goes on changing the classes and the subjects; in the same way is our Pralabdh. These six things – pains, happiness, richness, poverty, good health, bad health – these are written in our fate, and according to that period which goes on changing, we go on having different things in our life. Just as every subject has its purpose, but the student does not know what [it is], he finds out that only after he has learned that subject, only after he has gone through that thing.

In the same way, these six things: pains, happiness, richness, poverty, good health and bad health are like periods which change in our life. They each have their purpose. But the jiva does not know this, because he has not yet reached the place from where these karmas are functioning.

Now what happens is that if we meet with an accident or if somebody is hurt or somebody has died, then we cry, we weep; and if we have had some good moments in our family, like if we have gained something in business, or if there has been some other good event in our life, we become very happy and we give all the credit to our own self.

As far as the interference of Kal is concerned, you know that we have come to the kingdom of Kal. Here we do the karmas, and here also we suffer the consequences of the karmas we have done. In the kingdom of Kal is the birth and death; in the kingdom of Kal is the pain and happiness. Also in the kingdom of the Negative Power is richness, poverty, good health, and sickness.

Dear children, in the kingdom of Dayal, the Positive Power – the Master Power – there is no pain or happiness, there is no birth or death; over there it is only peace. Pain and happiness, whatever we feel, has no connection with our soul. It doesn't affect our soul because it has a connection only with our mind, and only our mind gets affected by pains and happiness. Even if a piece of iron doesn't melt completely when it is thrown in a fire, at least in the fire it gets heat and becomes the form of the fire.

The body which we get because of our sins and virtues, the body which is a bag of sicknesses and diseases, our soul is living in this body, in this bag, and even though she is not affected by pains and unhappiness and happiness, but still, she is living in this body.

When, by doing the Simran, we are able to concentrate our soul at the Eye Center the physical cover for our soul is removed. When we go further, the astral and causal covers are also removed from our soul, and after that we come to realize all the reasons, we come to know why each event has happened in our life.

Dear Ones, the Mahatmas Who have reached that place never find any fault in God Almighty. They don't blame God, and They don't find faults in God if They are in pain. They give all the credit to God Almighty; They say that everything is done by Him alone, and nothing is in the hands of the man.

The Mahatma Who has gone to Sach Khand understands this world as a play. He doesn't understand this world as His home. It is just like when we go to see a play, we don't feel that it is our home; we understand that this is just a play, and when the play is over we go back to our home.

So Dear Ones, we should always do our Bhajan and Simran wholeheartedly, so that we may get released from this prison of the Negative Power, because Saints come into this world only to set us free from the prison of the Negative Power, and of the karmas.

Master Kirpal used to say, "When a Satsangi gets the Naam Initiation, he should draw a line. He should say, 'I have been forgiven all my faults which I have done up until now, and now my Master has shown me the way.'" He used to say that if you will go astray from the Path which we have been shown by the Master, if we go off the Path on which we have been put by the Master, it will take us longer to reach our goal.

1996 May/June: Become the Devotees of Love

Session Date: February 14, 1996

This question and answer talk was given at the S.K.A. Retreat near Sampla, India, on February 14, 1996.

QUESTION: Dear Sant Ji, I have been initiated by Master Kirpal Singh for more than twenty-three years. Eighteen years ago I met you and find that my love for you is growing more and more. However, at times I feel guilty about this thinking that I am perhaps being disloyal or unfaithful to Master Kirpal. Can you talk about the relationship between you and the initiates of Master Kirpal?

SANT JI: Salutations unto the Feet of Supreme Fathers Lord Almighty Sawan and Kirpal who showering Their limitless grace upon us have brought us together, and we are sitting here together in Their remembrance. In Their Love They have sown us together just like beads are sown in a garland.

Dear Ones, I have much respect, appreciation, and love for all the initiates of beloved Master Kirpal and I always respect them. I always have love for them because with my open eyes I can see that He is present everywhere. Not only in the initiates but also He is present in all the birds, animals, and in all the vegetation.

He is present everywhere and I can see that very clearly with my open eyes. As a matter of fact, within all of you initiates, He is sitting in the Form of the Shabd. That is what He said at the time of Initiation, that the Master sits in the disciple in the Form of Shabd and doesn't leave him until He has taken the soul of the disciple back to Sach Khand.

He is Love and once you mingle in the Love, then you become the Form of love; then no difference remains. When the water of the river goes and mixes with the water of the ocean, can we differentiate between those waters? Can we recognize which water is from the river and which is from the ocean? Once the river water mixes with the ocean it becomes the same, and then there remains no difference.

The initiates of beloved Master Kirpal do not need to change their contemplation or dhyan. They should have dhyan or they should contemplate only on the Form which has given them the holy Initiation. I am here, and I am giving you only the love that I have received from my beloved Master. As a matter of fact, the dear ones who will come to me with much faith in the Master and much love for the Master, will see no difference. They will see the same Form, because there is no difference in the Forms of the love.

You know that I had many opportunities to be with Master Sawan Singh in my life, and reading from my talks you cannot tell whether I was initiated by Baba Sawan Singh or by Master Kirpal Singh.

I did not commit any crime by going to the feet of Master Kirpal Singh because Master Sawan Singh Himself said, “The One Who has to give to you will come to your home Himself.” So this is all due to His grace. When I went to Master Kirpal Singh, the reality is that I did not see any difference between Master Kirpal Singh and Master Sawan Singh.

In [one of] the bhajans you sing, “Since I have seen the Master, it went into my eyes and I could not forget.” And I still cannot forget the way Master Sawan Singh smiled. So Dear Ones, it is not any crime to get the love from wherever we can get the Master’s love. There is nothing wrong in going to that place because that love comes from the same origin. All the Masters come from the same origin and there is no difference in the Masters. It is possible that I am even connecting my own initiates with that Power of Shabd whom we call as Kirpal. So what is wrong in doing that?

I am working according to the promise He gave to me. I am making the souls climb His ship of Naam with the prayer, “O Lord, having faith in You I am making all the souls climb the ship of Your Naam, now You have to take them across.”

The thing is that we should not have any lacking in love, we should not be like this that when we are sitting in the meditation sometimes we have love for the Master, sometimes we don’t have love for the Master, sometimes we have faith in Him, sometimes we have doubts in Him. We should not be like that, we should sit with firm faith and determination, and we should do the meditation with much love. If there will be no lacking in our love for the Master, our faith will be firm and determined. Then as many dear ones report – when they sit in meditation they have even seen Master Sawan Singh over my head. Even so a dear one in Canada said that he had seen Baba Bishan Das with me, even though there is no picture available of Baba Bishan Das.

So Dear Ones, we should rise above such doubts and confusion because you know that all the times, day and night, I am singing the praises of Master Kirpal. Also I have come out in the world with the love of Kirpal, so it is natural that if someone talks about your beloved one, if someone talks about and sings the praises of your Master, you tend to have the faith and love for that someone. So like I can see my beloved Master clearly within all of you and I don’t have anything else in this world all the time I sing the praises of beloved Lord Kirpal in this world – it is natural for you also that looking at me you would feel the love of Lord Kirpal. Master Kirpal used to say, “Suppose your friend comes wearing a different coat, will you not recognize Him?”

So Dear Ones, we should become the devotees of love. We should not have any confusion over going to the place from where we can get the love of the Master. I am drowned in the love for my Master. I got only the love from Him, and that is what I am giving to you. Have I ever said that I have doubts for someone? When I don’t have any doubts for anyone, then in the same way, no one should have any doubt. Often I have said that I have been taught only the love from my Master, and Lord Almighty Kirpal was the Ocean of Love. I was the devotee of love and I got only the love from Him.

The Light of Ajaib

The most important thing which the initiates of Lord Kirpal should know is that they should not think of getting the Initiation again because one gets the Initiation only once in his lifetime.

Kabir Sahib had said, “The banana plantain plant bears the fruit only once, and the tigress also conceives only once, and in the same way the Saint also accepts the disciple only once. The disciple of the perfect Master doesn’t need to go to any [other] Saint to get Initiation. Bhai Sunder Das used to tell this story. He got many opportunities to be with Master Sawan Singh, and he had heard this personally from Master Sawan Singh. He used to say that once Master Sawan Singh was sitting with some of His disciples and He was in a very jovial mood. He was so very happy that a lot of light was coming out from His body and Master Sawan Singh, in His Will, said, “The dear ones become very lazy and that is why they make this Path very long for themselves. What can I say about them? There are many dear ones in this group,” (at that time there were about two hundred people sitting there with Master Sawan Singh) “ – there are many dear ones who were initiated by Guru Nanak who are still here. Because of their laziness, they have made their Path very long.”

You dear ones know you have gotten together only now, but maybe we have met before also? For the forgetful souls the Master has to come back into the world, again and again, to take those souls back.

QUESTION: Can the Negative Power love?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs.] It is very difficult to understand the love of the Negative Power and the love of the Master Power or Positive Power. This is only because we do not understand the Love, that we make the Path very long for ourselves. If we were to understand the Love there would be no difficulty, because God is Love and if we have understood the Love, we have understood God.

It is through love that the Negative Power has kept you attached to this world. It is only because of His love that He has kept you attached to this world in so many different ways; you know how many temptations there are. Is it not through His love that He gives us the children? We get attached to the sons and the daughters. Is it not through His love that He gives us the man and the woman? You see how we have become like a toy in His hands, just because of His love.

Kabir Sahib said, “Unless you die you will not become free of these attachments and while you are alive, you don’t even care to hear what the Masters have to say.” You see, because of the love of the Negative Power you are so much attached to this world – what to talk about receiving the Love of the Positive Power – you do not even want to hear what the Master says about that Love.

There is no doubt in the fact that the Love of the Positive Power is more powerful than the love of the Negative Power. If we get the Love of the Positive Power even a little bit, we kick off the things of the Negative Power and we forget all the worldly things that we have.

It has been many years since all of you have been traveling with me, visiting me here in India and also in the foreign countries like Canada, America, Africa and South America wherever the dear ones are. You have seen me in so many different places and on many different tours. Have you ever seen me going to the beaches? Have you ever seen me going into the cities to do the sightseeing or anything like that? I always go as a servant, and all day long I attend to my responsibilities, my duties, toward the disciples, to the dear ones. Whether I go to Ahmedabad, Hyderabad, Bombay or to any place, even in the city programs here in India, I don’t go out for sight-seeing or anything like that. This is because I have such a powerful Love for my Lord beloved Kirpal that I don't need the love or the things of this world. That is why I always attend to my responsibilities towards the disciples of my beloved Master.

Dear Ones, the time of this life is very precious and you people spend the time in going to the cinemas. When you sit in front of the screen, things are on the screen, and even though nothing is real, but still you spend so much of the precious time just sitting watching the movies. When you go home, you watch the television. How much time do you spend there? You don't pay any attention to the [inner] things, but you waste so much time on the unreal things. Can I not afford to have a television? Can I not go to see the movies? In the army we were asked to watch the movies; but I would tell them that the poison is poison even if you get it for free.

In the beginning when I first came to Delhi, Hira Lal, Pappu's father, was very attached to watching the television. He would return to his home when the time for the programs on the television would start. For some days he remained involved in the television. I had a separate room and was by myself all day long. But one day he became concerned for me and asked me, "Why don't you also come and watch the television?" So I told him, "Well, you look very good sitting in front of the television, I am fine where I am." After a few days he again felt concerned for me that I was spending all my time by myself in the room, so he suggested that I should go with him to see a movie. He said that it was a religious movie. So I told him, "Can you find the religion only in the movies? Is there no religion in the human being?" So when I said this thing to him he never bothered me by suggesting that I should watch the television or go see the movies.

So Dear Ones, if I go on talking about the love of the Negative Power, it can fill many books. In the same way, if I tell you about the Love of the Positive Power, it will also fill many books. The only difference between the love of the Negative Power and the Love of the Positive Power is that the love of the Negative Power is visible and our mind receives that love. Whereas the Love of the Positive Power is like a fragrance and our soul experiences that Love. The soul which receives the Love of the Positive Power always remains fragrant and remains intoxicated in her within.

QUESTION: When I sit for meditation and start doing the Simran slowly it goes in time with my breathing and I end up focusing on breathing. Is it okay to do Simran really fast at first to break that pattern?

SANT JI: I often request that the dear ones should devote time for reading Sant Bani Magazine because often such questions are already printed there. The Masters have answered such questions and the answers of the Masters to these questions are always effective and they are always valid.

As a matter of fact all the disciples should do the Simran in the fast speed only when they are being bothered by too many thoughts. However, if the thoughts are not bothering them, they should do the Simran slowly in a rhythm. The disciples should never pay any attention to breathing. The breathing gets involved only when you pay attention to it.

Don't do like this, that sometimes you do the Simran in a fast speed and sometimes in a slow speed. If you do it like this, it will break your concentration.

There are a couple of things that I often tell the dear ones before we sit in the meditation and those things should always be remembered and followed. It doesn't matter if you meditate here, or back in your home, you should always remember these things. The first thing is that before you sit in the meditation you should make your mind quiet, because if you will not make your mind quiet it will be difficult for you to concentrate. Often when we sit in the meditation, the mind brings such a thought within us of the worldly nature and then our concentration gets broken.

Only a quiet mind can do the meditation. If we have not made our mind quiet then what will happen? The thoughts of the world will keep bothering us again and again in the meditation.

The other thing I always say is to never understand meditation as a burden. Don't think that you are performing your duty. It should be done with love, because this is the Path of Love.

QUESTION: Sometimes I remember Master's Eyes while I am doing Simran. Master said not to visualize, so I try not to. What is the right way to contemplate the Form of the Master if you are not seeing the Radiant Form?

SANT JI: Guru Gobind Singh Ji said, "All the different Saints have the same kind of teachings." They have the same kind of understanding and I also say the same thing that no matter how many shooters there are, they all have the same target to shoot at. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to put a lot of emphasis on doing the dhyān or contemplating on the Form of the Master, [whereas] Kirpal Singh Ji did not emphasize a lot on contemplating on the Form of the Master. But that does not mean that Master Kirpal's teachings were different from those of Master Sawan Singh. There was a great secret, there was a great Will of Master Kirpal in those instructions.

At the time of Master Sawan Singh there were not so many gaddis and Master Sawan Singh was the only perfect Master in Punjab. In Master Kirpal Singh's time, there were so many people who were giving initiation; that is why Master Kirpal Singh said that if we will contemplate on the form of an incomplete or an imperfect Master we will also remain incomplete and imperfect. We will go to the place where the one whose form we are contemplating upon goes. So if we are contemplating upon the form of the imperfect one we will also go to the place where he goes.

I have seen many dear ones like this and maybe you also know some dear ones like this – they go to so many different places and they get initiation from so many different people because they do not understand the importance of the Naam. First of all before going to the feet of, or before taking the refuge of, any Master we need to find out about him. Has he done any meditation and has he done any sacrifice? We need to know his history and we need to know what he has done in the Path of Spirituality to become the Master, because in order to become successful in anything, hard work is required.

In the line of the Saints, in Sat Mat, starting from Kabir Sahib, all the ten Sikh Gurus and even Master Sawan Singh and Master Kirpal Singh worked very hard in meditation to become the Perfect Ones. Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say, "Gunga the wrestler became popular and successful in the field of wrestling only because he worked very hard. He stayed up at night many times and worked very hard until he achieved the status of being a wrestler."

I don't believe in criticism. I neither criticize others myself, nor allow my dear ones to criticize others.

You yourself can see how at so many different places there are people who are giving the Initiation without spending some ten or twenty years in meditation, without sacrificing anything, and yet they are giving the Initiation to people. You know that if you want to be a doctor, or even if you want to get a master's degree – if we want to get any worldly knowledge – we have to work very hard. We have to stay up late at night for getting the master's degree. We have to spend sixteen years going to the schools and colleges. Do you think that Sat Mat is the only place where you don't have to work hard, where you don't need to sacrifice? Do you think that overnight you can become a Saint? I have had the opportunity to meet many mahatmas and many masters whose institutions and missions are very popular and who have a very big name in India. When I ask them about their meditation, they then had these excuses or this answer. They either said that they had done the meditation or they had done the sacrifices in their previous lives. Some mahatmas said that their ancestors, those who went before them, had given them this job, they had given them this power. But when I went to Baba Bishan Das he did not have any reasoning like that. He did not say that he had done it in the previous life or that his Master had given him the job. Neither did Master Kirpal Singh. Master Kirpal said, "This is the Path of doing, you will gain only if you will do. You will become successful only if you meditate."

Once I went to a mahatma who has a very large following; millions of people go to him. When I went there, I sang the bhajan of Kabir Sahib that says, "There is nothing in hypocrisy; O brother, there is nothing in the hypocrisy. The hypocrite suffers in the hell and he is never accepted anywhere." So when I sang that bhajan they threw me out. They only allowed me to sing two lines of that bhajan before they threw me out, whereas, you know that in our sangat this bhajan is sung very freely. I become very happy when any dear one sings that bhajan.

The question was about contemplating on the Form of the Master. It is only because of the faith that we have received the Initiation of the Master. When we have received the Initiation from the Master and if we have developed that faith and are convinced about the Master, then what is wrong in doing the contemplation on the Form of the Master? We should always remain absorbed in the Form of the Master.

When we sit in the meditation and bring our attention to the Eye Center sometimes our attention stays there, sometimes it drops down, once again we bring it up and once again, it drops down. So we need something which will keep our attention there – there we need the contemplation on the Form of the Master. I am not talking about the remembrance of a picture of the Master, I am talking about the remembrance or memory of the Form of the Master.

Because the perfect Master is the Form of the Shabd and He has come from the Plane which is beyond the Negative Power – the Form who has given us the Initiation is similar to the Form in the Within.

When we reach the Tisra Til or the Eye Center by doing the Simran, after vacating the nine openings of our body, when we reach the Eye Center, we will find that the perfect Master is already there. He has arrived there even before we get there. This is the true criteria, or the true sign of the Master.

It is the Master Who has to make you catch hold of the Sound which is coming from above, because there are so many different sounds which are coming within us. But when our attention gets awakened, when we get to the Eye Center, then it is the Master's work, it is up to the Master to decide which is the Sound that the disciple has to catch.

Guru Nanak Sahib said, "In the within, when the soul is awakened and the Shabd gets manifested, Satguru is the One who decides, who sorts out which Sound the disciple has to catch."

Dear Ones, the work of the Master does not finish just by giving the Simran, He doesn't get rid of you just by telling you the Simran. He has more work to do in the within. At every single plane He has to be there to help the disciple, because the disciples forget at every single step. The Negative Power has created so many confusing planes in our within. Outside there is not so much confusion, but inside there is a lot of confusion. The disciple always forgets and the Master is always present there to help him and to remove those confusions.

You will be very surprised to see how much the forces of the Negative Power love you when you go within. They will tell you, “Don’t go beyond this place, don’t go any further. We will give you so many conveniences here, we will give you this, we will give you that.” The men will be tempted by the women there, the women will be tempted by the men. You will be very surprised at how the Negative Power and all his forces will love you so that you will not leave them.

The Satguru explains things to us through the Satsangs and sometimes He lovingly tells us about the things, while other times He may frighten us. He tries to save us; He takes us out from the outside confusions and He takes us within. In the within, His work is even harder because there are so many tricks and confusions which He has to remove for the disciples.

Usually what we think about the Master is not true. When I went on the first Tour there was one dear one who sat at the bridge. She came to me and told me, “Last night I was sitting over there and I was looking at Your house, and I was thinking that maybe Master is relaxing. Maybe He is watching the television. Then my mind told me that, well, there is no television in His room.”

So Dear Ones, this is what some dear ones think about the Master. If that was my house in India, maybe I could have hidden a television somewhere where you people cannot see it, but this was at the place that you had made and you should know if there was a television there or not. So people spend so much time, so much money to go to the Satsang, and then they have such thoughts.

Dear Ones, if the Master watches television then what will happen to the world? The Masters don’t watch the television at night; They don’t sleep. At that time also They take care of and They protect Their souls.

We go within only because of our attachment to the dhyān or the Form of the Master, so when we have full faith in the Master, then there is nothing wrong in contemplating on the Form of the Master.

Guru Nanak Sahib said, “Contemplate on the Form of the Master within you, and in your mind always go on repeating the mantra of the Master.”

There was a deep secret behind Master Kirpal Singh not emphasizing on contemplating on the Form of the Master. He used to say, “If we will do the Simran given to us by the Master, then the dhyān or the contemplation of the Form of the Master will come within us by Himself.”

Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say, “He is God Who comes to you by Himself.” What Master Kirpal Singh said was very true and accurate, but there is a difference in our understanding. If we will do the Simran of the Perfect Master, if you will remember the perfect Master, His Form will come within us by Himself.

1996 December: Faith is the Foundation of Our Life

Session Date: October 17, 1996

This question and answer talk was given October 17, 1996, at the S.K.A. Retreat, Sampla, India.

QUESTION: Beloved Master where is the mirror of the soul? In which plane is it? What gets reflected on it and what can we see on it? Thank you.

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: First of all, Salutations unto the Feet of that Almighty, All-Doer, He Who is capable of doing everything, Almighty Lords Sawan and Kirpal Who have brought us together in His love and are making us sit together in His love. He is the One Who is allowing us to hear such beautiful words and interesting questions like this. He Himself asked this question and He Himself is supplying the answer. He Himself is calling everyone and He Himself is making them sit here.

First, in order to understand this question, not only to understand this question, but to also see that mirror, we need to work very hard. By doing the Simran sitting at the Eye Center constantly and by rising above the physical, astral and causal planes, by rising above the nine openings of the body, and after reaching the Par Brahm we can see this mirror of the soul. In that mirror we can see the face very clearly, just like here outside we are able to see our face very clearly. In the same way, in this mirror we can see the Form very clearly.

When by doing the Simran we reach the Eye Center that means we have gone through, we have completed, our search of the body. When we go beyond that into the Brahm then our search for the mind is completed. When we go past the Brahm into the Par Brahm then the search of our soul is completed.

Suppose we have a stain or some kind of dirt on our face. If our friend were to tell us that we have that on our face we would not believe him, we would think, “I didn’t go to any place where I could get a stain so how can it be there?” But if instead of saying anything, that friend just places a mirror in front of us, he doesn’t need to say anything, we can easily see what is on our face. What is the present [situation]? – someone understands himself as a man, someone understands herself as a woman; someone understands himself as an Indian, or a Colombian, or as a Christian or a Hindu, etc.

You see that all the religions and all the religious leaders say that there is only one God, and He is the Protector, He is the Giver to everyone. They say this but still they hate each other so much, they fight with each other so much. I got an opportunity to go to Europe during the Second World War and I saw that even though they all believed in Christianity, they were all Christians – but still how many people were there who were really impressed and who were affected by the teachings of Christ? How many of them were following the teachings of Christ? No one was following Christ, they all were following Hitler.

Is this not the message of Christ that if someone slaps you on one cheek you should present your other cheek in front of him? Didn’t He say that you should love your neighbor as you would want yourself to be loved?

Sufi Saint Farid says, “If anyone does bad to you, you should still be good to them. Don’t let anger come into your mind, and then you will not have any diseases and also you will gain a lot.”

Master Kirpal Singh used to say that if we do not love those whom we can see with our eyes and then if we still say that we love that All-Doer, Almighty Lord – He used to say that those who claim to be a lover of God and who don’t love their fellow beings, they are liars.

I always say that before killing others, have the knife beside you and first cut your own flesh and see if you feel any pain or not. The soul is within that animal also, and just as you feel the pain when your flesh is being cut, in the same way he also feels the pain when he is killed.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “The dear ones from the West emphasize much on reading, but they emphasize less on rising above.” Saints don’t just talk, They have seen the mirror of the soul

The Light of Ajaib

Themselves and that is why They understand all the religions, all the souls, as Their very own. They understand people from all different countries as Their very own because They have seen in the mirror of Their soul that all the souls belong to God. If we have seen the mirror of the soul do you think that we will say, “He is Hindu,” or “He is Muslim,” or “He is Sikh,” or “These people are made by some other God”? Can we kill anyone if we have seen the mirror of the soul?

So that is why, when the soul reaches Par Brahm and attains the status of Sadh then she realizes that she is neither a man nor is she a woman; she realizes that this is not the place I belong, my home is Sach Khand and God Almighty is my beloved husband.

The soul mingles with the beloved Lord exactly in the same way as the sugar mixes with the patasa and no one can differentiate what is made of what.

The person who asked the question did not know how to put this question. Dear One, that mirror does not get any reflection on it. Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj has described that moment when one sees that mirror of soul like this: He says, “Just as water comes and mingles and becomes one with the other water, in the same way, the soul goes and mingles with the Oversoul.”

The light of our soul mingles and becomes one with that Great Light just as the water mixes with the other water.

Regarding this meeting, I describe it in the Punjabi style like this: “The Beloved One has embraced me, opening His shirt, and there remained no gap between Him and me. The sugar became one with the patasa and there remained no difference.”

God is an Ocean of Love, our soul is the drop of that Ocean, and the Shabd is the wave of that Ocean. Now you can figure out for yourself what the relationship is between the drop, the wave, and the ocean.

As long as the soul is separated from God Almighty, she is called the drop, but when she gets on the wave and becomes one with the ocean she also becomes God.

The student is called a student until he completes his study to be a teacher. When he finishes that study then he also becomes a teacher and there remains no difference between his teacher and himself. In the same way, a disciple is a disciple only until that time when he goes and becomes one with the Master. When he becomes one with the Master then there remains no difference between him and his Master.

Guru Ramdas Dev Ji had said, “O Lord, You Yourself are the disciple, You Yourself are the Master, only through the Master Your devotion is done or You are meditated upon.”

The knowledge is sleeping in the child, whereas in the teacher it is manifest, it is awakened. Unless the child goes in the company of the teacher, she cannot awaken his knowledge.

Now the question arises if a child does not obey his teacher and if he does not learn the lesson that his teacher has given to him; if instead he tells his teacher, “You learn this lesson for me,” just imagine – that teacher has already learned so much, why does he need to learn the lesson again? If the child is not learning the lesson do you think that he can expect to pass his exams?

In the same way, if the disciple does not meditate and if he does not obey the commandments of the Master can he expect to progress on the Path? So just as we have received the holy Initiation, we should do the meditation honestly, we should rise above and do the work that our Master has asked us to do.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: The other day when commenting on the bhajan “Mera Kagaj Gunah Vala,” You said that the disciple should not lose faith in the Master, that you should not think the Master is like other human beings, but maintain the faith that Master is God Almighty. When the mind sends thoughts of doubt it is easy to recognize and stop them, but other times it is as if something is missing, as if the rope connecting the disciple and the Master has become as thin as a sewing thread. This does not seem to be in my control. My question is how can we maintain faith in the Master if it is not in our control?

SANT JI: You know that the house that does not have the strong foundation does not remain there forever, it collapses very soon. Faith is the only foundation of our life in the Path of the Masters. If we do not have the faith first of all we cannot even take the Naam Initiation. It is only because of the faith we had for the Master that we came into the Satsang and finally got the Initiation.

Always in the Satsang I have said this, “You may call it faith, you may call it devotion, or yearning: if you could maintain that devotion, that faith, or yearning, which we had on the very first day of the Initiation, throughout our lifetime, then what is the big deal about getting liberation for our own selves – we can liberate millions of others also.

The rope of the Shabd is so strong that it cannot be broken by any means. It cannot be abandoned in any way. There is no force of the Negative Power which can make us give up that rope or which can break that rope of the Shabd.

The disciple does not know how at the time of Initiation the Master takes over the rope of the souls from the Negative Power and He ties them very hard, very strongly in Sach Khand.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj has said, “God Almighty has stretched and very firmly tied the rope so that it neither can be broken by any breakage nor can it be abandoned no matter how much you try to leave it.”

Dear Ones, often I have said that sitting within us, our mind, just like a competent lawyer, presents advice to us, and even before one advice is over he presents us with other advice. Those who listen to the advice of the mind never become successful in their meditation because it is the job of the mind to somehow keep us away from doing the meditation.

Dear Ones, unless you have faith you cannot do your household chores. If you do not have the faith that your breathing is going on, you can’t even get up from your bed. I think that if we don’t have faith we cannot put even one morsel of food in our mouth. Even though we know our life is in the food, but if we don’t have the faith that it will be good for us after going in our stomach, we cannot eat it.

Dear Ones, there comes a time in everyone’s life which everyone has to face and we call it as “death.” Also it is said that when the Angels of Death come to take us they give us a very hard time. They torture us so much, they make us go through the mills, they throw us in the dirty rivers, and do many other bad things to us. We also know that nothing from this world goes with us and nothing from this world helps us at that moment. Neither our mother nor our father, neither our brothers nor our sisters, neither the wealth which we have collected nor anything of this world goes with us. None of these things come to rescue us when we have to face the Angels of Death. At that place it is only the Master Who appears and saves us from the beating of the Angels of Death. So not to have faith in the Master Who saves us at the place where no one from this world can save us – do you think that it is a good thing not to have faith in the Master? The other thing is that the love of the brothers and sisters, and all the worldly relatives, is full of their self-interest. Only the love of the Master is selfless. So do you think it is a good thing not to have faith in the Master Who loves us selflessly and Who rescues us at the place where no one from this world can help’?

Suppose we lose our way in the forest. We are afraid that the dacoits and the thieves may come and plunder our wealth. Also, if we are in the forest. the fear of lions, tigers and other wild animals is also there. If someone appears at that time to help you, if he holds your hand and he doesn’t allow anything to come near you, what would you do?

Would you say. “We don’t have any faith in you”? No, you would be very grateful to him and you will be ready to surrender to him, you will be ready to give up everything for him. And at that time what do you have to offer to him? It is only yourself, only your soul that you have to offer to him. Soul becomes very happy when she sees that the Master has come to rescue her from all the difficulties, and at that time she surrenders herself to the Master, and in the happiness she offers herself, her soul, to the Master.

Dear Ones, when the poor soul leaves this body, at that time when she has to face the Angels of Death no one comes to help her, but if she has got the perfect Master, if she has got the Naam, They are the only companions, They are the only Ones Who come and help her.

I have seen many incidents of people leaving the body. I have seen the non-initiates leaving the body, I have seen the initiates leaving the body, I have seen the meditators leaving the body, and there is much difference between the meditators leaving the body and the other people leaving the body. The meditators go with much happiness whereas the manmukhs cry and weep a lot when they have to leave this body. So we should have faith in the Master no matter if our mind cries, or weeps, or rebels, but still we should have faith in the Master. When he brings us doubts about losing faith in the Master or when he brings this kind of feeling, on that day, punish your mind; you should make him meditate more.

You may read the conversation which Bhai Sunder Das had with Master Kirpal Singh in the book written by Mr. Oberoi [Support for the Shaken Sangat]. That has not been written from hearsay, it happened in front of many of the dear ones in the sangat, just like we are sitting here, and it was talked about very openly.

It is the weakness of the mind that he creates such feelings, such doubts, in the disciple. This is something which we all should remember – it is very important – it is because of the weakness of the mind that we have this kind of feeling of not having faith in the Master. The Master has so much faith in us and that is why with all that faith He has given us the Initiation.

1997 January: The Most Beautiful Inner Form

Session Date: December 13, 1996

This question & answer talk was given on December 13, 1996 at the S.K.A. Retreat near Sampla, India.

SANT JI: Salutations unto the Feet of Supreme Fathers, Lords Almighty Sawan and Kirpal, Who have given us the opportunities to sit in Their remembrance.

Many dear ones who come to see me in the darshans, and with whom such a thing has happened, tell me that they do see the Form of the Master, but the Master doesn’t speak to them, as if He is not pleased with them, and He doesn’t speak to them even though He definitely comes there. So this happens and this is done in order to create the yearning within such a disciple so that the disciple may start wondering and he may start counting all his faults and shortcomings. That is why many times it happens that the Master comes and He doesn't speak. That is why here the disciple says, "O Master, tell me what mistake I have made, what sin I have committed, that You come but You don't talk to me, You do not look at me, and You just go away from my sight." This happens to many dear ones. And this bhajan which was just sung is very loving, very painful, and this is the best way of telling the Master about our faults and asking Him, "What is the reason why You come and You just go away and You do not talk to me?" The Master definitely comes to those disciples because He has made those disciples as His very own. But because He wants the disciples to find out and weed out their shortcomings, and also in order to create the yearning within the disciples, that is why sometimes He does such a thing to the disciples.

QUESTION: You have said that if we were to maintain the enthusiasm which we had at the time of our initiation we would easily reach our goal. How can we maintain that enthusiasm? How can we regain the enthusiasm if we have lost it?

SANT JI: We know that if we want to achieve anything in this world, if we want anything in this world, we have to work hard for it. Without working hard, without putting in all the efforts, we cannot achieve anything, even of this world. And that is called the enthusiasm; that is called the devotion. In the Path of the Masters, such enthusiasm and such devotion are required in the meditation also.

You know that when the child first goes to the school, he is very fond of going to the school; he likes it and he has much enthusiasm. If he obeys his teacher and if he learns the lesson which his teacher is teaching him, then he can easily pass the examinations, he can easily secure high marks. But if he does not obey his teacher, if he does not learn the lesson taught by the teacher, do you think that he can expect to pass the examinations?

Gold is obtained from the ground only after digging the ground, and if we want to obtain a precious pearl, we have to dive deep into the ocean. In the same way, Satguru is the Ocean of Love, and if we want to take out the pearl of Naam, we will have to dive into Him.

At the time of the Initiation, we are told that we have to meditate at least two and a half hours every day. That is the minimum. If we can meditate more, that is even better. And also certain rules and regulations are told. We are even told in which direction we have to go and which direction we do not have to take. Just as when the doctor prescribes any medicine, when he gives us the medicine, along with it, he also tells us about certain things which we have to do. And as it is important to take the medicine, in the same way, it is equally important to abstain from the things which he has suggested or which he has prescribed for us.

Dear Ones, we have to control the organs of eyes, the organs of ears and the other organs.

Dear Ones, I have told you about myself, how right from the very beginning I have never gone to the marketplaces, I never hung around unnecessarily. And still I have that habit, I have maintained that habit. I don't even go to buy my own clothes. When I say that I did not eat the food, that I lost the taste of the food – that was the condition of myself. I did not eat the food, I did not taste those things, and that was the condition which I had lived in. And I still maintain that.

There are still many dear ones who have spent fifty or sixty years with me, and they have known about my life, and I have known about their lives. And that is why, proclaiming, I ask them: "Either you tell me about my life or I will tell you what you have done in your life.” Have you ever seen me in the cinemas? Or have you ever seen me in the fairs and the other fun-making places? Or have you ever seen that I have criticized the food and things like that? In the sangat, you will not find anyone who can come out and who will stand up and say that he has seen anything like this in me.

It has been twenty years since I have been with Pappu, and if Pappu allows me, I can say a lot.

Dear Ones, if you will follow all these things with much enthusiasm and devotion, definitely you will realize, you will remember what is the goal which you have to achieve. And even if you have not met with the Master inside, still He is helping you. He is protecting you, and He will definitely extend all His help and protection to you.

Master Sawan Singh used to say that he at whose door there is any animal, the owner of the house knows when he has to feed the animal, when he has to take him to the shade from the sun, and when he has to give him water. He is worried for him, and he always attends to all the needs of that animal. In the same way, if there is a servant working in your home, you know when you have to pay him, you know when you have to feed him, because you are worried for him.

Do you think that God Almighty is the only one who is careless or who doesn't care for us when we are working for Him? The bhajan that you sing in which it says. “When the devotee remembered Him, He came running barefoot” this is the condition of my own self. Since I had been remembering Him, I had been waiting for Him all my life, since my childhood, so when I remembered Him, He came to me by Himself, and He embraced me.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “God forbid, may the Master not put anyone to the test!” Just imagine that if someone has come into your life on that very first day, and if you had not known him before, and if you have a very good house, if you have fifty acres of land, and if that person comes to you and at once he tells you, “Leave everything and go away from here.” At that time, I had my turban off. When I tried to put the turban on my head, He said, “I didn't ask you to put the turban on your head.” So just imagine what it takes to do all that, especially if you had not known that person, if you had not met with that person earlier in your life.

And then He gave me the orders to go to 16 PS. At that time, I saw that my mind hesitated. In my mind a lot went on happening, but at the same time, from within, this thing came out (as I used to hear from Master Sawan Singh), “When a potter is making the pot, he is hitting the pot from outside, but inside also he keeps another hand to give it the protection, to give support.” So then I thought, “Now it is up to Him. Whether He wants me to be in the shade, whether He wants me to be in the sun, wherever He wants me to be, now He is responsible. So whatever He is telling me to do, I should do that.”

Even today I have the same enthusiasm in me for His remembrance which I used to have in the beginning.

This is the reason why I like to sit with all of you. I become very happy sitting with you in His remembrance, because I am hoping, I wish, that just like I have the enthusiasm for His remembrance and for His devotion, looking at my enthusiasm, you may also pick that up, and you may also get that enthusiasm. Because you know that the melon catches the color from the other melons. Even though God has not put any sense in the melon, it is just a vegetable, but because of the company, even the melon ripens; a melon catches the color of the other melons. In the same way, I wish, I hope, that at least looking at me, these people would create that enthusiasm, they would regain their enthusiasm, and they would also remember Him with so much enthusiasm as I am doing.

Dear Ones, even the Master has to give us something if we remember Him with our every single breath. Because They are remembering, that is why when we remember Them, They also have to give us something. They bring the fruit from Sat Naam, and They want us to have that fruit; They want to give that fruit to us. And in giving that fruit, no one else can interfere in that. Neither the Parmeshwar nor the Ishwar can interfere in that work because the Masters have brought that fruit of Sat Naam to give to Their disciples.

This is why I always say that if we were to maintain the enthusiasm which we had on the very first day until the last breath of our life, what is difficult for such a person to obtain the liberation? He can liberate millions of other souls, those who may come to Him. Giving the spark of the Naam, such a person can make millions of other souls achieve the liberation.

Now coming to the second part of the question of how to regain the lost enthusiasm. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, "Suppose someone has lost his home or has gone away from his home in the morning, and if by the end of the day, he comes back to his home, we do not call him as the one who had gone away from the home." Or, in other words, it is never too late to mend. So a person who has lost his enthusiasm, he should not always remain lost. He should never remain forgetful. He should learn the lesson. And with much more enthusiasm, with much more devotion, he should start his life new, he should once again do his devotion. He should never remain like that forever. He should look at his own self, and he should realize that by giving up or by leaving, by losing the enthusiasm, he has not only lost his Spirituality, but he has also lost his physical health. So that is why he should look at his own self and with much enthusiasm and with much yearning and devotion, he should start his devotion once again.

Dear Ones, never become thieves of working hard. Those who work hard, they definitely achieve success.

QUESTION: Master Kirpal emphasized fixing the gaze or attention. He said, "Do the Simran slowly with the tongue of thought, so as to not interfere with the attention. Look into the middle of the darkness in front of you. Look, look, look, intently, minutely, penetratingly, to see what comes up. The darkness will be thinned, you may see Light. Look intently into the middle of it. It will burst and give you further way up." My question is: What is the relation of the gaze to the Simran? Should one be emphasized more than the other? I have had a hard time fixing the attention especially.

SANT JI: I think yesterday in the Satsang I have answered most of this question. The difference is, as Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, "Those who want to understand something in few words should come to me and I will explain to them, and those who want to understand something in detail, in more words, they should go to Master Kirpal Singh. Because Master Kirpal Singh first takes apart the gun and then He puts it back together."

That is why Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, "For a Westerner, it is very difficult to control his tongue. He likes to talk a lot and he likes to hear a lot. And for Punjabi people it is not easy, it is difficult for them to keep their hands at their place – with their hands, they always go on doing something."

First of all, we have to understand that unless we complete the course of the Simran, we will not be able to fix our attention. Unless we will withdraw our attention from all the different parts of the body, and unless after retracing our soul, our consciousness, unless we will bring it up to the Eye Center, we will not be able to fix our attention there.

Because it is your Surat, or the consciousness, which has to fix the gaze. Right now your consciousness, your attention, is spread all over, so how can you fix the gaze? Sometimes you will look at the turban of the Master, sometimes you will look at some other part of the body of the Master, and in this way your attention will always remain separated or disturbed.

So, first of all, Satsangis should understand the importance, understand the greatness, of doing the Simran. When you will do the Simran and when you will keep your gaze behind the two eyebrows, your Dhyān will start becoming itself.

When you will go to the Tisra Til, or the Eye Center, and when you will go a little bit above that, just a little bit farther up, then you will see that your Master is already sitting there for you. Sometimes people see the Light over there. For some people it is still dark over there. It all depends upon the person's background.

Just like the video people do when they are taking the video, sometimes they zoom in, and sometimes they zoom out. In the same way, sometimes we see the Form close to us, sometimes we see the Form far away from us. And that is why we need the Dhyān or the contemplation of the Form of the Master.

So when your Dhyān or the contemplation on the Form of the Master is perfected, then you will be free of all doubts. How can you perfect your contemplation? You can perfect the contemplation on the Form of the Master only if the Form of the Master is there.

The story of Hir and Ranja is very old, and many Saints have mentioned it or they have told the story of Hir and Ranja. Hir was in love with Ranja. Even though the parents of Hir were very strict with Hir and they tried to prevent her from going to see Ranja, but she was so much obsessed, she was so much involved and intoxicated in the love of Ranja that she would always think about him. One day, she asked her friends, "Where is Hir?" Her friends asked her, "Who are you? You are Hir, and you are right here." She said, "No, I am not Hir. Don't call me Hir. I am Deeto Ranja." (Deeto was another name of Ranja.) And she said, "By repeating the name of Ranja, by remaining in the love of Ranja, I myself have become Ranja. Now no one should call me Hir, because now I have become the Deeto Ranja, I have become the form of Ranja." So if the worldly love, if this is the condition of those who have the worldly love, just imagine what would be the condition of the disciple who is in love with the Master. If we have love for the Master, if we always remember Him, if we are always doing His Simran, then such a disciple also becomes the form of the Master. He forgets himself completely, and over there, only the Master remains.

The love and the Dhyān starts with the body of the Master First of all, we love the body of the Master; we have the Dhyān or the contemplation of the body of the Master. The Masters say that just like when the calf looks at the cow, she runs and embraces the cow, in the same way, when the love and when the yearning is created in the disciple for his Master, then his contemplation is completed. Just like the calf runs to the cow, in the same way, if we also develop that kind of yearning and that kind of fondness for the darshan of the Master, if we also run to the Master whenever we can have the darshan, only then we can perfect our contemplation of the Master's form.

The Light of Ajaib

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to lay a lot of emphasis on doing the Dhyān or the contemplation of the form of the Master. He used to say that the best way or the best means of perfecting the contemplation of the form of the Master is during the Satsang.

He used to say that you should look in the center of the forehead, between the two eyes of the Master, and you should look into the forehead of the Master: and your attention should be so much fixed in the forehead of the Master that you should not be aware of anything else over there. Either you should be there or your Master should be there. You should not be even aware of the pathi who may be sitting next to the Master.

He also used to say that, even if there is some noise happening behind the Master, even if the Master is talking to someone, your attention should only be toward the Master.

He also used to say that after the Satsang, don't go on talking with other people. Otherwise the cup which you have filled up with the darshan of the Master will start emptying. So after the Satsang, just keep sitting there: keep your eyes closed, and enjoy the darshan of the Master.

Swami Ji Maharaj said, "The words of Master are so much loving and I like them so much, just as the mother likes the talk of an infant. Just as the unchaste person loves the woman, in the same way, the disciple of the Master loves the words of the Master."

Dear Ones, when such a love, when such a fondness is created within us, what is difficult in perfecting the contemplation?

For such a dear one even doing the Simran is not difficult. You know that even in this world, if you are in love with someone, if you love someone, if you are fond of someone, without making any effort, you will remember that person; you will see that person in your head.

Many times when we remember our worldly friends and when we miss them, we don't even feel like sleeping. So if we would miss the Master, if we would remember the Master like this, do you think that we'll be able to sleep?

Hazrat Bahu has described this condition by saying, "Neither He Himself sleeps, nor does He let me sleep; it is like the crying child who does not sleep himself and also does not let the other people sleep."

Dear Ones, there is so much which I can say about the Dhyān or the contemplation, but first of all you should do the Simran. First you should do the Simran with your tongue, and after you have perfected that, you should do the Simran with the tongue of your mind or [the] tongue of your thought. And when you have perfected that, that also goes away, and then the Simran with the tongue of your soul starts happening. When such a condition happens in the disciple, then the difference between the disciple and the Master is removed, all the secrets are removed between the disciple and the Master. It is like when the rock candy dissolves in the milk, it does not change the color of the milk, it only changes the taste of the milk. In the same way, when the disciple does the Simran with the tongue of his soul, then no difference remains between him and the Master.

Dear One, the Form Whom we call as the most beautiful one, or the Form Whom we call as the most attractive one, we get to see that Form after going to the Tenth Door. Hazrat Bahu describes the condition of the soul who has reached the Tenth Door and who has seen that most beloved, most beautiful Form of the Master. He says, such a disciple says, "May I have millions of eyes on my body with which I may behold the Form of my Master. I would close one eye and open the other eye, and in that way, I would go on having the darshan of my Master. Even after having so much darshan of my Master, I would not be satisfied. I would still look for some other means, some other way through which I can have the darshan of the Master. Because for me, just once, the darshan of the Master is worth much more than millions of pilgrimages.”

If a disciple gets even one glance of that Form of the Master, if you would offer him the kingship of all the entire Creation, of all this world, he would not accept that because he has already become of the one Who has given him that darshan.

“After getting there,” Bulleh Shah said, “there is no need for the long Namaz or offering the prayers. You just need to bow down once and that’s all, and your work is done.” So dear ones, once we get there, after that we do not need to have long talks or long lectures. All these things are done only to make you understand. Once we get there, we only need to bow down at Him just once and that’s enough.

Sai Bulleh Shah said, “He does not need to go to Mecca, the place of pilgrimage, he who has his pilgrimage just by looking at his Beloved. Dear One, for such a person, his Master becomes his Mecca, Medina, his place of pilgrimage.”

QUESTION: When children are born into Satsangi families and then get initiated, does that mean they already searched for a Guru in their past lifetimes? If that is true, why do so many of us, who do not have to search in this lifetime, take the Path for granted and are not serious about it for so many years ?

SANT JI: I have often said this previously, and also Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say this very often in His Satsangs. He used to say, “Very special, very selected, chosen souls are sent into the Satsangi families. Those souls who are going to get the Naam and the Master in this lifetime, only those souls are sent into Satsangi families.”

We know that the child does not know what is good and what is bad, what is right and wrong in this world, which direction he should take, nor what will be beneficial for him. So it becomes the responsibility of the parents that, right from the very beginning, they should bring the children up according to the principles of Sant Mat, and they should always keep the children informed about the Path. The parents should never, not even in the state of forgetfulness, do anything bad in front of or in the presence of the children, and they should not do anything which may distract the children. They should always talk about the meditation, and they should always set a good example for them.

They should tell the children the benefits of doing the meditation of the Shabd Naam, and they should tell them the benefits of the Path and the Master. And they should also give the example of the lost children or the lost people, those who have gone off the Path, that how much they suffer and what happens to those who go off the Path.

Because as the parents are, such are the children.

If the parents will tell their children that they should become good, that they should meditate and should go to the Satsang, and if they themselves don’t do that, that will not work. It is the parents’ responsibility first to do all those things themselves, and then teach the children.

So when such children will get the Initiation, they will definitely remain on the Path, and they will definitely do their Bhajan and Simran. This last Tour when I went to Sant Bani, I saw that those children, those who had been infants on my first Tour and who had been brought by their parents – this time, I saw that those very children have now grown up. They were doing a lot of seva in the Program and they were doing a lot of meditation, and this made me very happy.

Seeing those children, I told Pappu, “Look here, Pappu, I am very happy to see these children, because they used to be very young, but now see how they are running here and there, and how much seva they are doing for the sangat.” There are only a few children among them, who have gone off the Path or who are distracted, and that also is because of the parents. The parents have not paid so much attention, they have not given them the information about the Path.

Dear Ones, always remember that children are the greatest gift which God Almighty has given to you. And they are the ones who are going to grow up, and later on they are the ones into whose hands the reins of power of the country will come. So from among your children, those people are going to come who are going to rule this country. So if your children will be good – the more good people there are in a country the more that country will be glorified.

In the beginning when the dear ones used to come to me, they used to say that the children should not be allowed in the Satsang because they are a distraction and the adults become nervous. And that was the reason that I started the children’s Satsang, because it is our responsibility to produce good citizens, it is our responsibility to bring them up according to the teachings and make them good people.

In 77 RB, one dear one came to me and he told me that whenever he saw children in the Satsang, he became very upset, he became very perturbed. When I lovingly explained to him how the children are the greatest gift of God Almighty, and how we have to look after them and bring them up according to the teachings of the Path, then he understood. This last Tour when I went to the United States, I saw that same person. Now he is married, and he has a couple of children. When I saw him carrying the children, one was on his shoulders and one was on his front, just like the American people carry the children, I was very happy to see how that same person, who used to get upset by the presence of the children in the Satsang, now he himself has the children and how much he loves them.

Dear Ones, we get to learn a lot from the children. You know how selfless their love is and how selflessly they love everyone. They do not see any difference between the enemy and the friend. Whoever calls for them with loving arms, they always respond and they always go to him.

So understanding them as the gift of God, we should love the children, and we have to make them good citizens.

You know that when a gardener plants an orchard, if the trees which he has planted bear good fruit, then he becomes very happy. And all the hard work that he has put into that orchard becomes successful. If the fruit are not so good, then all the work he has done, all the hard work that he has put into making that orchard is all useless. In the same way, married life is like a garden, an orchard, and children are the fruit which the tree of the married life bears. If the fruit will not be good, then just imagine how you would feel. So if you will make them good, if they will stand on their own feet, if they will do their Bhajan and Simran, and if they will become the good citizens, it will give you much happiness and much pleasure looking at them.

I was very happy to sit with all of you, and I hope that all of you will teach good lessons to your children, that you will encourage them, and you will inspire them toward the Satsang, toward the Naam.

Often I say that if you cannot do good to others, at least don't do bad for them. If you cannot give any good advice or good teachings to others, at least don't give them bad advice.

If we are telling our children, "Dear children, you should not lose your track, you should not get lost in this world, because there is no peace, there is no happiness in losing yourself in this world," we are not doing any favor to them. We are just attending to our obligations, attending to our responsibility.

1997 February: When Both the Lights Become One

Session Date: December 10, 1996

This question & answer session was given December 10, 1996 at the S. K. A. Retreat, Sampla, India.

QUESTION: Would Sant Ji talk about the inner sights and sounds like Master Kirpal used to do?

SANT JI: Salutations unto the feet of Supreme Fathers, Lords Almighty Sawan and Kirpal, Who have given us the opportunity to sit in Their remembrance and do Their devotion.

I have talked about the inner sights and sounds a lot in many of my talks, in many of my Satsangs. Many times I have commented upon Swami Ji Maharaj's banis; many times I have commented upon Guru Nanak's banis. And in those Satsangs, in those talks, a lot has been said about the inner sights and sounds. You should read Sant Bani Magazine because most of those talks are published in the magazine, and by reading those magazines you will be convinced, you will be satisfied. As a matter of fact, whatever the Master tells us, whatever the Master speaks, He always talks about the inner sights and sounds. He gives us the outer examples so that we may follow what the inner sights and sounds are like. But whatever He tells us, His goal is, His indication is always toward the inner things.

Yesterday in the Satsang, I commented upon Guru Nanak Dev Ji's bani, and in that Satsang the example of the bumblebee, the example of the deer, the fish, and the river were given. But the real meaning or the real thing which Guru Nanak Sahib wanted to explain to us was that just as only with the grace of God Almighty the separated river goes back and merges into her origin, into the source from where it came out – in the same way, our soul, which is also separated like that river, can go back to her origin, can go back to God Almighty, only if God Almighty showers His grace upon our soul. And only by riding over the Shabd, can our soul go in the inner planes and finally go back to the Real Home.

You know that it is the water of the ocean which evaporates and is transformed into drops, goes into the sky and becomes clouds, and finally the water comes down to the earth in the form of rain. And after going through so many different places – we do not know how many places the drops of rain have gone to – and after going through many ditches and many up and down places, we do not know when it finally goes back and merges into the ocean. So it takes a very long time, and that happens only if God Almighty showers grace.

You know that sometimes that water has to remain in the company of the dirt for a very long time. For a very long time it remains there. It does not have any flow. After that, when it rains, it flows down to the river along with the water of the rain; it becomes [part of] the river and then finally it goes to the ocean.

When the water of the river falls into the ocean and merges in it, after that, no one can say which was the water of the ocean and which was the water of the river. All the water becomes one. Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj has explained this to us to make us understand how our soul mingles and becomes one with the Oversoul, with God Almighty.

The Light of Ajaib

He has also given the example of a lamp. He says that just like when you light a lamp and with that lamp when you light another lamp, both the lights become one and we cannot differentiate, we cannot say that this light is different than the other. When our light goes and mingles in that big Light, then both the lights become the same – in the same way, when the water of the river goes and falls into the water of the ocean, both the waters become one.

In the same way, being separated from God Almighty, from her origin, from her source, our soul took many births. We do not know how many times she became a reptile, how many times she became a plant, how many times she became a worm, how many times she became the husband, how many times she became the wife. We do not know how many times the soul went to which places. No one has any idea ever since we got separated from God Almighty, where our soul has gone and how much she has suffered. Sometimes she enjoyed the happiness, sometimes she suffered the miseries and the pains. So we do not know ever since we got separated from Him, where we have been and how long we have been separated from Him.

The soul is never born, she never dies, but she has to live in the body. And we call this body as the sick body. And when we are living in the sick body, then we definitely feel the sickness. It is like when you put the iron in the fire, even though the iron will not burn in the fire, but still it will be affected by the heat of the fire. In the same way, even though our soul is neither born, neither does she die, but because of the different bodies into which she is put, she is affected by the pains and the miseries.

So Dear Ones, that Shabd, riding on which our soul has to go back to her origin, that Shabd cannot be read or written, it cannot be sung. It is not of any particular language. It is beyond the reading, writing, and singing. You may call that Shabd as the Ocean, or as the Wave of the Ocean. Just like the Sound is coming out, in the same way, Shabd can be called as that Sound which is emanating from our Real Home, which is emanating from that Ocean and is coming and Sounding in our forehead.

I have said this earlier also that the sound of the river at the place from where it starts is different. When it flows over the rocks and the stones, it sounds different. When the river is flowing over the plain on the sand, then it sounds different. And finally when the river falls into the ocean, then the sound of the river is different. There is only one water. It is the same river, but because of the different places on which that water traveled, it has different sounds.

In the same way, there is only one Shabd which is being created, which is emanating from Sach Khand, but the Sound of that Shabd changes according to the plane that the Shabd comes in.

Since we have this habit of listening to the outer sounds from ages and ages, from birth after birth, that is why most of the time our attention is always spread outside. We always run outside, and that is why the Masters give the example of the outer sounds. They tell us, “These are the kinds of sounds which you will hear in your within.” Whenever you sit down and hear the Sound, even if it is a hissing Sound, even if it is a very small Sound, listen to it, concentrate on it, catch it, and once you have caught hold of one Sound, don’t go on changing it every day. Always go on listening to the same Sound, because that particular Sound will take you above. Because it is the One Sound which is coming from our Real Home, and if we will catch hold of that Sound, it will take us there.

The Sound is so strong in our within that many times in the beginning when the dear ones hear the Sound and it is very strong, it is unbearable. Some dear ones even request that the Sound is sounding too loud and they request to stop it or to make it low. The dear ones do not understand the importance of listening to the Sound Current. Even now you hear the Sound Current, but it is not pulling you up. Why is this so? Because you are not understanding the importance of meditating on the Sound every day. You do not meditate on it every day. That is why your attention is always outside.

We will be pulled by the Sound only when we will go in the range of that “pulling” Sound, which is sounding in our within. Unless we go in the range of that Sound, we cannot be pulled up. Even though we may hear that Sound, but since we are not going near that Sound, we are not reaching the place where the Sound is coming from, that is why we are not being pulled up by the Sound.

It is like a magnet. A magnet will attract iron only when the iron is in the range of the magnet. If the iron is not placed in the range of the magnet, the magnet will not attract the iron, no matter what. And also if the iron is not clean, if it is rusty, even then the magnet will not attract that iron toward it.

In the same way is the Shabd, in the same way is the Sound. We also have the rust of the bad karmas, of the sins, of all the bad things which we do. And because of that dirt which is on our soul, no matter how strong that Shabd is, even if we are able to hear It, but still It does not pull us up because we have the dirt, the rust, of the bad karmas and sins which we do.

That is why the Masters always tell us that we should understand the importance of doing the Simran. Unfortunately, the dear ones don't understand the importance of doing the Simran, and that is why they ask me why it is that even though they hear the Sound Current but still the Sound does not pull them up. It is because of the dirt which the soul has accumulated over the ages, and because we do not do enough Simran we do not remove the dirt from our soul. That is why we do not go near the Shabd and the Shabd, the Sound Current, does not pull us up.

So that is why it is very important for us to do the Simran, so that we can remove the dirt which is on our soul. After our soul is purified then that Sound will pull us up. Just as a broom cleans all the dirt from a room, in the same way, the Simran cleans all the dirt from our soul. By doing the Simran we can clean the mirror of our soul. If the mirror of our soul is not clean we cannot see our image very clearly in it; but once we clean the mirror of our soul then we can easily see our face, we can easily see our form in the mirror.

In the same way, when we will do the Simran and clear the mirror of our soul, then we can easily see ourselves; we can easily hear that Sound Current and go within. So that is why, first of all, we have to vacate the nine openings of the body by doing the Simran. That is the purpose of doing the Simran. Once we vacate the nine openings of the body by doing the Simran and reach the place where the Sound Current is coming from, once we have reached there, then that Sound Current will pull us up.

Simran has the peace in it, Simran has the happiness, and by doing the Simran our heart cools down. But we Satsangis do not understand the greatness of doing the Simran. Those who know the greatness of the Simran, they do not give it up even for a moment.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj says, “Do the Simran; by doing the Simran, you get the happiness. In that way, you remove all the anxieties and worries which are in your body, and you get the eternal happiness.”

Guru Sahib says that by doing the Simran we get the eternal happiness. All the worries and the anxieties which are bothering us now, all the bad dreams, all the nightmares which we are having, we can get rid of those only by doing the Simran. If you would do the Simran all the time, then all these bad things will not bother you. If you will have any dream, it will be of the Master.

Many Saints have called the Simran as the jap. Jap means the repetition of something. You know that in the very beginning, first of all, we have to do the repetition of the Simran with our tongue, and once we become perfect in that, once we learn that, then the Simran starts happening with the tongue of our thought, the tongue of our mind. And when we are able to do the Simran with the tongue of our mind, we start enjoying it. And after that, we do not have any difficulty doing the Simran. When we go beyond that, when we have perfected ourselves in doing the Simran with the tongue of the mind, afterwards, the Simran starts happening with the tongue of our soul, and then we start enjoying it very much. And after that, we never realize how much time we have sat in the meditation, how much time we have done the Simran.

You know that it is only because of the enjoyment that you get from the remembrance of something that you go on thinking about something of this world for hours, and you are not even aware of how much time you have spent in thinking or doing the simran of some worldly thing. Those who get the perfection in doing the Simran with the tongue of their soul, they never remain aware of the time. They sit for hours doing the Simran, and many times, when they are walking, they walk for miles without realizing how far they have gone or how much time they have spent. Because once you start doing the Simran with the tongue of your soul, you start getting the enjoyment and happiness in your within.

So first of all, we do the Simran with our tongue, and after we have completed that, then we do the Simran with the tongue of our mind. And when we go beyond that, then the Simran starts happening with the tongue of our soul. So Kabir Sahib says that the japa, the Simran, which we do with our physical tongue, first of all, that dies. And then the ajapa – ajapa is that Simran which we do with the tongue of our mind – so He says that first of all, the japa dies, then the ajapa dies, and after that anhad also dies. He says that the Simran which happens with the tongue of our soul He calls that as the anhad or limitless – so He says that first of all our japa dies, then our ajapa dies, and then the anhad also dies. When the soul goes beyond that, she climbs on that limitless Shabd and goes to the Eternal Home.

The soul who has reached there by climbing on the limitless Shabd, stretching out both her hands, she can say, “Now I am free from Kal.” So the soul who has done all these Simrans and who has gone beyond all these things, the Negative Power cannot eat that soul, the Negative Power cannot bother that soul. So that is why Kabir Sahib says that first the japa dies, then the ajapa, and then the anhad, and the one who is able to do all this – these kind of Simrans and go beyond – such a soul is never bothered by Kal.

When the soul of the disciple goes and mingles in the Shabd, the Master becomes pleased and after that the duty of the Master is completed, and then He becomes very happy. You can go in the within and see how much happiness the Master feels when He sees that His disciple has merged his soul into the Shabd.

Dear Ones, does it cost you anything to do the Simran? You know that the children go on playing, and at the same time, they go on counting: one, two, three, four, and like that. In the same way, even when you are walking or talking to other people, still you can do the Simran. You can do the Simran while you are flying in a plane, while you are doing anything of this world.

It doesn't cost anything – you don't have to carry any burden on your head – you don't have to do anything – the Simran can go on happening by itself.

The Light of Ajaib

Only those who do the work of accounting have a little problem, because while doing the accounting, they have to take the help of their mind.

QUESTION: Would you speak about the Master's grace?

SANT JI: Always in the Satsang a lot is said about the Master's grace. In fact, in Sant Mat, whatever is said is all regarding the grace of the Master. So you should keep your mind present when you sit in Satsang, because it is the mind to whom you have to explain; you have to make your mind understand.

So in the Path of the Masters, all that is said is regarding the Master's grace. So you should listen to the talks, to the Satsangs, very carefully, and always keep your mind present here so that you may know what I am talking about.

Many dear ones who come to see me in the darshan sessions tell me that all their questions are covered in the talks, in the Satsangs. They say, "Now we do not have any questions; we do not want to say anything to You. We have come here only to have Your darshan." So this is the condition of those people who remain present in the Satsang, those who keep their mind present in the Satsang and listen to the Satsangs attentively. The other people who do not listen to the Satsangs attentively, they have such questions.

Regarding the Master's grace, I have always said that first of all the Master is our servant Who does not ask for any payment. He is such a servant of ours Who serves us and never gets exhausted, never gets tired. And even though He does so much for us, but still He never makes us feel that He has done any favor to us.

He cleans our courtyard in such a way that He cleans every nook and corner, every place of our courtyard, and He is never lazy doing that.

When He scrubs the dirt out from our courtyard, at that time the initiate, the disciple, sometimes resents that, sometimes he complains, because sometimes it is painful. But at the same time, the element of grace is always there. The Master is gracious also. But sometimes the dirt is so hard that He has to use a scrubber to remove that dirt.

Usually the Masters use Their words, and through Their words They rebuke us and make us understand. There are only a few things which the Masters go on repeating. Again and again, in every Satsang, They talk about the same things. There are only a few things. Those things are: that you have to come to the Satsang, do the meditation, and go back to the Real Home. So these are the only things, but They go on telling us, They go on repeating them again and again to us, expecting, hoping, that if not this word, or if not this statement, maybe some other way which I will talk to them will [make them] understand, and that will pierce through their heart, and they will understand, and they will do this.

Tulsi Sahib says that the reality is that the Masters bring the fruit from Sach Khand for the souls. And when They offer it to the disciples, when They offer it to the souls, all the souls come to take that fruit from Them. But when they ask for the price of it, and when they are told the price, they refuse and they go away without taking the fruit.

What is the price that the Master is asking for? The Master always asks the disciple, "Are you ready to sacrifice your head?" And when such a price is asked, the disciple just goes away and does not want that. As a matter of fact, the reality is that the Masters neither ask for our head, They don't ask for our body or wealth, or anything like that. They only want that we should surrender ourselves to Them.

The Light of Ajaib

The greatest grace of the Master is that, first of all, outwardly through the Satsang, He makes us do the Simran, and through the Simran, He takes us inside. He helps us go within, and He goes along with us in the within. After He takes us in the within, He connects us with the Shabd. Also, after taking us inside, He does not remain there. He comes back into this world, and He gives the Satsang to the other souls.

First of all, He takes us inside by doing the Satsang and by encouraging us. He brings us in the range of the Shabd, and afterwards He connects us with that Shabd. And furthermore, He tells us where we have to go and where we don't have to go in the inner planes. So this is the greatest grace of the Master.

Our elders used to tell us the fairy tales. They used to tell us that there were fairies, that they had wings and could fly. Those were not just stories; those were real things of the inner worlds. Even now, those who do the meditation, those who go within, they can see the fairies and see how the souls over there can fly. And they also tell us about the hells, and when they go by the hells, they can see, and they tell us, how the souls are writhing in pain over there.

You know that in this world there are many preachers, but there are very few practitioners. There are many people who talk a lot, but there are very few people who live up to what they talk about.

That is why we even say that the words of the Masters are like fairy tales, because we do not live up to the words of the Master, and we do not practice [them]. And that is why we do not believe in the words of the Master, and we think that they are also like the fairy tales. But the Masters tell us, "No, that is not the case. Whatever the Masters say, that is very true; it is not a fairy tale. You should work according to, you should live up to, the words of the Master, and then you will know what is the reality."

People even say that God exists only for the cowards. That is also not true; God is there. And it is only because of God that everything is functioning in this plane, in this world, in a very correct way. It is because of that Power whom we call God that the sun rises and sets on the appropriate time and that we go to sleep and then wake up. It is like we are coming back into life after death. And it is only because of the presence of that Power that things are functioning in this world normally. It is only because of that Power, otherwise how could this world function?

We do not know on the support of which axis this earth is revolving, this earth is rotating. It is the Power of God. And God Almighty, after creating this Creation, has not become careless. He has not left this world alone. He is managing this world; He is maintaining and sustaining it through His Power.

Dear Ones, who wants to be sick and who wants to suffer, who wants to be crippled, and who wants to be dependent on others? It is because of that Power, Who keeps the account of everyone's deeds, that people have to go through all this. Otherwise, you know that there are so many people in this world who have nothing, and there are so many people here who have millions of dollars with them and who have beds which are made of gold and which are very expensive. And there are people who do not have any bed or any food to eat. So who arranges for all this? Who is deciding all this? There is some hidden Power who is taking care of all the accounts of the deeds we do.

Guru Nanak Sahib says that He Himself creates these vessels, He Himself creates these bodies, and He Himself has put His Power within the body. Some people sleep very comfortably, while others stand by and guard them all night. There are some people who have an abundance and there are some people who do not have enough.

So it is all in the hands of that God Almighty. Who can question Him? Who can ask Him why He has done the things like that?

It is all due to the grace of God Almighty. First of all when God Almighty showers His grace upon us, He brings us to the Perfect Master, and when the Master showers His grace upon us, He gives us the precious jewel of the Naam.

So the greatest grace of the Master is that He guides us in the inner planes, and He takes us to God Almighty.

The grace of the Master cannot be described in words. Guru Nanak Sahib says that Satguru is the Form of grace, and He always showers His grace.

The truth is that this grace of the Master cannot be described in words. One who has that grace of the Master, one who has gotten even a little bit of grace of the Master, even a fraction of a little bit of the grace of the Master, he becomes overwhelmed, and only he knows how much grace he has received from the Master.

So Dear Ones, I hope that all of you will make a little bit of effort. The Masters never give us very long promises. They tell us the stories and They give us the examples, and using the signs in the stories, They tell us so that we may make some efforts to go in the within. The Masters always tell us, “You come, you do, and you see, and you go within.” Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say, “What a man has done, a man can do.” Since I myself have done this, that is why I know that everyone can do this. That is why the Masters come into this world, only to show us the reality, only to show us the truth. But we are the forgetful ones, and we do not make the efforts, and we are not ready to see the Truth.

1997 March: Only by Doing What the Guru Granth Sahib Tells You

Session Date: January 9, 1997

This question and answer talk was given in Bombay, India, on January 9, 1997.

QUESTION: Beloved Sant Ji, You have quoted Baba Sawan Singh Ji about the Guru Granth Sahib that it is a very precious treasure, and its every single word is worth billions and billions. You have said how much You have loved this treasure in Your life. Could You tell us some things about the Granth Sahib? Like how it was gathered and put together, and how we can gain the love and understanding for this great treasure which may help us to progress on the Path?

SANT JI: Salutations unto the Feet of Supreme Fathers, Lords Almighty Sawan and Kirpal, Who have had mercy on the poor souls and Who have given us the opportunities to sing Their glory.

Whatever I have learned sitting at the feet of Great Master Baba Sawan Singh, and whatever I learned and heard from sitting at the feet of Master Kirpal Singh Ji, and even sitting at the feet of Baba Bishan Das, I will tell you all that.

Even before I became aware of this world, when I was still a very young child, even before that, my family, my father, and my grandfather were attached to this bani very much and they were great devotees of this holy Guru Granth Sahib. Afterwards, when I went to Baba Bishan Das, since He was a very great scholar and He was a mahatma Who had access up to Brahm, He also told me what the bani was and how one can take advantage, how one can gain, from this great bani. So this is what I learned from sitting at His feet.

Also when I was in the army, once we had the non-stop reading of Guru Granth Sahib and when we [were about] to complete that we invited Baba Sawan Singh to attend. Baba Sawan Singh came to the Beas Station where we were and at that time He also told us about the importance and value of this holy bani. And this is what I have learned from Him also.

Master Sawan Singh Ji was also born in the Sikh religion, in a Sikh family, and you know that in whatever family or religion we are born, the ABC of Spirituality starts right from there.

Baba Sawan Singh Ji used to recite or read the five banis which the devout Sikhs usually read or recite every day. They are the Jap Ji Sahib, the Jap Sahib, Chaupai, Rahiras, and the Anand Sahib. So everyday He used to recite these five banis.

In addition to these five banis, I myself used to do the reading of Sri Asa Ji Di Vars, Sukhmani Sahib, and there is another bani called Dakni Onkar. Very lovingly and faithfully I used to read these eight banis every day.

To read the bani is one thing, but it is a different thing to understand the bani, and to live up to the bani.

So when we in the army invited Baba Sawan Singh Ji to attend the completion of the non-stop reading of Guru Granth Sahib, He became very pleased. He used to love the army men very much because He Himself had been in the army, so He said, "I am very glad that even though you are in the army, still you have so much love for Guru Granth Sahib. This bani is of the great Masters and this belongs to everyone. Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj also said, 'This is the bani of the great beings, great people and this belongs to everyone.'"

Very lovingly He said, "This bani of Guru Granth Sahib talks about some other Bani also, which cannot be written, or which cannot be read." And He said, "In the hands of the Saints is the key to unlock that Bani."

In the bani of the Holy Granth there is the bani of Guru Nanak Dev Ji, Guru Angad Dev Ji, Guru Amar Dev Ji, Guru Ramdas Ji, Guru Arjan Dev Ji, and also the ninth Guru, Guru Teg Bahadur. The couplet which I had recited, is also included in Guru Granth Sahib.

All the Ten Gurus were One Light, They came from the same Light and They went into the same Light. Those who came to Them, those who came on Their Path, They united them, and They put them on the Path to God.

In the holy Guru Granth Sahib the writings of many other great devotees are also included, regardless of whether They were the Hindu pundits or They were Muslims, whether They were weavers or whatever caste. All Those Who preached and Who practiced the Five Shabds, the Five Names, and Who had the access up to Sach Khand, Those Who used to go to Sach Khand, Their bani is also included in the holy Guru Granth Sahib.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj had a very great heart, a very good heart and that is why He has taken the access of the Mahatma into consideration. All the Mahatmas who used to reach Sach Khand, who had access to Sach Khand, He has included Their bani, He has not ignored any Mahatma on the basis of caste or on the basis of religion.

Many Mahatmas came into this world a long time before Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj came. So from wherever He could get the bani, from far or near, whatever bani of those Mahatmas He found, He collected all those banis, all those writings, and with much love and with much effort He collected all those banis and He got this printed.

Besides the banis of the great devotees and the other bhaktas which came into the hands of Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj, Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj Himself composed a lot of banis, and Bhai Gurdas was the scribe of that book.

Bhai Gurdas was the maternal uncle of Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj and He also had reached the highest status. He was very faithful and a very great devotee of the Master.

Bhai Gurdas made many dear ones get the Naam Initiation from the Masters and He Himself did a lot of meditation of the Naam.

So Bhai Gurdas has this honor of writing the great Guru Granth Sahib.

Bhai Gurdas Himself also wrote the Vars on the Path of the Masters, on the teachings of the Masters which Guru Arjan Dev Maharaj called as the Key to Guru Granth Sahib. He said, "If you would read the Vars written by Bhai Gurdas it will become easier for you to understand the banis of the Guru Granth Sahib."

You may ask, "Guru Teg Bahadur came into this world a long time after Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj, so how is it that the bani of Guru Teg Bahadur is also included in there, because Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj compiled Guru Granth Sahib?" Dear Ones, the place was left by Guru Arjan Dev Ji for that bani and later on Guru Gobind Singh included the bani of Guru Teg Bahadur in the Holy Granth.

Guru Gobind Singh Ji Maharaj was a saint soldier and He was a very soft natured, very quiet-natured Master. But you know the history that how when nothing else worked, when nothing else became successful, then in order to teach a lesson to those tyrants who were torturing Him, who were giving Him a hard time, He had to take up the arms. This is what Guru Teg Bahadur said, "The Master is such Who does not intimidate anyone and also He does not accept the fear of anyone."

It is not very easy to understand Guru Gobind Singh, because He did not go and invade any country, He did not go and conquer any country. Only those who came to invade Him, only those who came to fight with Him, He taught only those people a lesson.

At that time it was the rule of the Mogul emperors and they were a very orthodox kind of religious people and they troubled Guru Gobind Singh a lot. They killed two of His four children and the other two were buried alive in the walls.

In the south, Shivaji took up the arms and in the north Guru Gobind Singh took up the arms to fight with the Moguls. And they fought with the Moguls in such a way that even after so much time has gone, still the kingdom of the Moguls is nowhere in the world.

Dear Ones, in this holy Guru Granth Sahib, Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj has not criticized anyone. He has not criticized any community or any religion. He has understood all the communities and all the religions as His very own.

The Light of Ajaib

In fact, in this holy Guru Granth Sahib, He has even said, “Giving up the duality, all of you, all the brothers should get together and sit together, and connect yourself with the Naam of God, and sing the praises of God Almighty, all together.”

When Guru Granth Sahib was written, at that time the religiously strong people who used to oppose Guru Arjan Dev criticized and [slandered Him] to the Mogul Emperor Jahangir. They said, “In the Guru Granth Sahib that Guru Arjan Dev Ji has compiled there is a criticism of every religion, every community and it talks against Islam,” which was their religion. So four times the Guru Granth Sahib was taken to the court of Jahangir to find out if there was any criticism or if anything was said against Islam. But they did not find anything because in this holy Guru Granth Sahib no religion is criticized. There is nothing against Islam. In this Guru Granth Sahib, only that love of God is talked about and all the creatures, all the beings are termed as the children of the same Light.

Dear Ones, in fact, this is a vast treasure and the more we will read it, the more we will understand and follow it, the more we will receive a lot of pearls and diamonds and we will get many opportunities, we will get help in making our life.

We should love all the Masters, and we should ponder and think upon the writings of all the Masters without any discrimination, without feeling any difference.

In the holy Guru Granth Sahib the glory of Satsang is written. The glory of Satsang is talked about and it is written that only those who have the greatest fortune, only those who have good fortune, the fortunate ones, can come into the Satsang. Those who do not have the good fortune, the unfortunate ones, they cannot come to the Satsang and take advantage of it.

Fortunate souls get the Satsang, the unfortunate ones get the beating. Without the good fortune we cannot come to the Masters and we go on collecting the dirt and we go on getting the beating.

In the holy Guru Granth Sahib the signs of the perfect Masters are written: it tells how He is the Donor, He is the Giver, and not the beggar. He gives us that gift which cannot be stolen by any thief, which cannot be burned by any fire, which cannot be taken away by any wind.

At many places in this holy Guru Granth Sahib the imperfect or the false masters are also mentioned: how they go to peoples homes, how they go to the people and make them understand. They themselves do not understand; they try to improve other people, but they themselves do not improve themselves. They try to protect other peoples' courtyards, but they do not protect their own home which is being plundered. He says. “He teaches other people, but he does not understand. In that way, he is getting sand in his mouth.” It is like he is trying to protect other peoples' courtyards whereas his own house is on fire.

“He teaches other people, but he does not himself do that. He comes and goes and he dies and he takes the birth.”

It is also written in the holy Guru Granth Sahib about the perfect Master. First of all, He Himself earns His livelihood by honest means and He encourages and He tells His disciples to do the same.

From the honest earnings, the perfect Master Himself contributes in the holy langar and He also helps the needy and the poor ones. He does not use all that He has earned only for His own self, He shares it with the others.

“Do not go near and do not go to the feet of the one who calls himself as the master and the puppet, but he goes on begging for the things from others. He who works hard, He who earns His own livelihood, and He who shares his earnings with the other people, He is the true Master.”

Lord Sawan always in His Satsangs used to say that if you will live off someone else’s earnings, if you eat someone else’s things, then either you will have to pay him back through your meditation or you will have to come back in the body of a bullock or some other animal and live with him in his house and work for him and pay for all that you have taken from him.

As the householders have this concession and they have been asked to meditate for two-and-one-half hours. At that place the sadhus are asked, or they are expected to meditate for five hours, so that two-and-one-half hours may go to those who are helping them or whose money they live off.

Kabir Sahib says, “The food of the householder has very long teeth. One survives only if he does the meditation. If he does not do the meditation and he is eating the food of the householders, then his intestines will be ripped apart.”

Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say, “It is very easy to live off the earnings of others because one enjoys that, it is delicious; but it is very difficult to pay for it.”

So in this holy Guru Granth Sahib, many of the signs, many of the characteristics of the perfect Master are written: how He is one with God Almighty, how He is absorbed in God Almighty. There is no difference between Him and God Almighty. Just as the wave of the ocean and the ocean are no different – the wave is in the ocean – in the same way, the perfect Master is one with God Almighty.

In this holy Guru Granth Sahib this is also written: “He whose master is a beggar, he whose master does not have anything, how can his disciples eat anything? The disciples will relish and enjoy only if the master has something with him to give to the disciples.” “The ignorant, the blind one, calls himself the master, but whom can he put on the Path when he himself is blind and ignorant?”

Regarding the perfect Masters, Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj has said in this holy Guru Granth Sahib, “The devotee, the servant of the Lord, is exactly like the Lord and there is no difference. Do not feel any difference between the devotee of God Almighty and God Almighty Himself. Just as the wave erupts from the surface of the ocean, and finally goes and merges into the ocean, in the same way the disciple, the devotee of God Almighty also comes from God Almighty and goes back into Him.”

In this holy Guru Granth Sahib it is not ordered that you should leave your homes and your belongings and go into the wilderness. Also it is not mentioned anywhere in this holy Guru Granth Sahib that you should leave your families, your children, and go out into the wilderness. And also, nowhere is it said you should get your ears pierced and put earrings in them and go into the forest; at no place is it mentioned that you will realize God Almighty by wearing saffron-colored clothes or by wearing blue-colored clothes or any particular kind of clothes. He says that you do not have to do all these things. You can realize God Almighty only by going in the within.

The third thing which is mentioned in this holy Guru Granth Sahib is the Naam. He says that without the Naam your liberation will not happen, you will not achieve liberation without the Naam. Giving up the Path of the Naam, no matter on what path you go on, no matter what practices you do, you will have to repent at the end.

The Light of Ajaib

Guru Amar Dev Ji Maharaj has said, “Giving up the Path of Naam, forgetting the Path of the Naam, if you go on any other path, in the end you will repent.”

So whatever other path you follow, giving up the Path of the Naam, we repent in the end. If we wear saffron-colored clothes or white-colored clothes or blue-colored clothes, all these clothes have a connection only with our body. It doesn't have anything to do with our soul.

So in this holy Guru Granth Sahib the glory of the Satsang is there, the glory of the perfect Master is there, and the importance and the glory of the Naam is there.

The importance of the human birth is also included in this holy Guru Granth Sahib. He says, “We can fulfill the purpose for which we have gotten the human birth only if we do the meditation of the Naam.”

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj says, “The human birth has been given the greatest honor out of the eighty-four lakhs of births of creatures. If he misses on this step, he comes and goes and suffers a lot.”

Kabir Sahib says, “The human birth is very precious. One does not get it again and again. It is like fruit: when it ripens, it falls down from the tree and it does not go back to the tree. In the same way, once we lose this human birth, we do not get it again.”

Like a brave warrior, like a very courageous warrior, Guru Arjan Dev Ji fearlessly has written, has compiled this bani. In this bani the use of any kind of intoxicants is also prohibited. It is not written in the bani that one can eat the meat. Eating of meat and using any kind of intoxicants is also prohibited.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj very lovingly says. “All the creatures look the same. There is no one outside [God's sight].” So this bani is for the entire creation, for everyone. Anyone can read this bani and take advantage of it.

Don't you think that this holy Guru Granth Sahib only belongs to the people of the East and the people of the West cannot take advantage of it, or they cannot get any benefit from it. No, it is not like that. Anyone who reads this bani without feeling any discrimination or without feeling any duality can take advantage of it, can benefit from it. Whoever will read this with much faith and whoever will understand it and will follow it, will be able to take out the pearls and the diamonds to make his life.

Guru Angad Dev Ji Maharaj has said, “The Naam whom I glorify and whose importance I sing cannot be written. It does not come in any writing or reading or singing.” Baba Sawan Singh Ji also used to say, “Naam is like the unwritten law and the unspoken language.”

Dear Ones, Guru Angad Dev Ji Maharaj said, “One has to see without his eyes and one has to hear without his ears. One has to speak without his tongue and one has to work without his hands and one has to walk without his feet and Nanak says that in this way after killing ourselves, after rising above our own selves, we have to go and meet with our beloved Husband.”

These eyes which are made of flesh cannot see that Naam, because these eyes do not have the light of their own. These eyes see things only in the light of the sun or the moon or any of the outer sources of light.

The place where there are none of these things, the sun, the moon, or any other source of light, at that place many times you would have seen that even these eyes cannot see anything over there. It is all darkness there. And many times you might be in the position where there is no source of light and you have to go in the dark.

The Light of Ajaib

The reader of Guru Granth Sahib will never go and stretch out his hand in front of the false or imperfect master because it is like the Philosopher's Stone. It is like a test because it talks about all the things that [explain] how we can know about the perfect Master.

Maharaj Kirpal used to tell why people nowadays are hating the guru-dom. It is because everywhere people have opened their shops. He used to say, "Everyone calls himself perfect, no one says, 'I am the lesser one.'" It is not the fault of those hypocrite and false masters. It is our fault. We do not test; we do not understand; we do not find out for ourselves whether one is perfect or not.

Often I have said that before going to the feet of any Master, first of all find out about his history and read his history. Find out whether he has done any sacrifice in search for God Almighty or not, whether he has spent ten or twenty years in meditation in search for God or not. Often, I also say this: "One cannot realize God Almighty by indulging in the pleasures and enjoying all the things of this world. In order to realize Him, one has to work very hard in the meditation."

The perfect Master has done some sacrifice in His life; He has done something in His life.

Kabir Sahib says, "The whole world is very happy because they eat and sleep, but unhappy is Kabir because he remains hungry and he stays awake."

I have often told you about Baba Bishan Das, that like you cut the soap, you make the soap go through a very sharp wire, in the same way, He also made me go through that sharp wire and how difficult that was. I do believe, I do agree that it was very torturous, it was very difficult, but He was the one who made my life.

Dear Ones, first of all He made me reduce my intake of food. It is very difficult to reduce the amount of food which you eat. Those who have done that they know how difficult it is. Sufi Saint Farid Sahib has written, "O Farid, hunger is worse than death. One eats at night, but next morning once again he feels hungry and he feels like eating."

After making me reduce the food intake then Baba Bishan Das kept me on milk. He did not do this for months, He made me do this for years. After the milk, He gave me a bit of clarified butter, a little bit of ghee and He kept me on that for a long time. Afterwards He made me drink warm water with some salt in it.

Many times I would cry out and I would become very perturbed. I would cry out and I would say, "Baba Ji, I feel like I am going to die." He would say, "No, you are not going to lose anything, you are not going to die. In fact, now you are going to live."

This is why I say that in the beginning the practices are very difficult to do. It is very difficult to go through and reach the earlier planes, but afterwards it becomes very easy. One gets the confidence and then it gets very easy to go in the higher planes.

I have enjoyed good health in my life up to the age of sixty years. I had not sought the help of any doctor up to the age of sixty years. Only after crossing sixty, I had to use the doctor. This is because I had reduced my food intake. Because of eating very little in the beginning, the place of my stomach has become very small and I cannot eat too much. That is why when I speak a lot, when I talk a lot, I feel the weakness and that is why I need to rest a lot because I have not eaten a lot of food in my life.

The Light of Ajaib

I have told Mr. Oberoi also that I used to feel as if there was some spring in my body. But in 1984, when the riots happened, it had such a bad effect on my soul that I lost a lot of blood, and now I feel as if that spring has gone out of my body.

By remaining hungry I have even spoiled the taste of my tongue. For me, even Parshad, the halvah also tastes the same as the other foods taste.

My dear daughter Balwant, who does the cooking for me, she was very young when she came to me. She had been cooking for me, and many times, if she would not put salt in the food or if she would not put sugar in the tea, I would still eat that. I would still drink that without complaining, without even noticing that. When she would realize that she had made a mistake, that she had not put salt in the food or sugar in the tea, then she would feel like crying and she would ask me, "Why didn't You ask for the salt and sugar?" I would tell her, "Dear Daughter, it is not in my control, because to me everything tastes the same and I do not notice whether a thing has salt in it or not or whether a thing has sugar in it or not." This is because I have spoiled the taste of my tongue while remaining hungry.

Everyone knows Balwant because she went on one of the tours to the West and the dear ones who have gone to Rajasthan might have seen her bringing food for me. She is a very good daughter and she does a lot of meditation also. When I went on the first tour she became very sad. She went out of the ashram and was sitting there and my beloved Master Kirpal Singh gave her the physical darshan and consoled her by saying, "What happened if Sant Ji has gone abroad? Don't worry, He is always with you." So He gave her that darshan.

She wrote her experience in a letter, how Master Kirpal gave her His darshan and that letter was even read in front of the sangat.

We people say that the Master does not protect us. But if we live up to what the Master tells us, if we walk on the Path which the Master has shown to us, then definitely, not only us, but He also protects every single member of our family. He comes and takes care of them.

All the Masters and the Prophets belong to us. Guru Nanak and all the ten Gurus, They also belong to us. But They belong to those who follow the Path which those Masters have shown to us and those who live up to the teachings of those Masters.

So in the holy Guru Granth Sahib it is written that all the Masters and the Prophets are ours. The Masters do not feel any difference and there is no discrimination because all the Masters are like friends. They come from the same source and when they go back, They go and merge into the same source.

But our condition is this: we go on doing the reading but we do not live up to that, we do not follow what we have read. If we do not change our habits, then what is the use of bowing down, and what is the use of reading the same thing over and over again? Many big gyanis and scholars cannot understand the writings of this holy Guru Granth Sahib because every single word of this holy Guru Granth Sahib is worth billions and trillions. The bani which is going to change our life, which is going to improve our life, can we buy that bani? Can we buy those words paying any amount of money?

Nowhere in this holy Guru Granth Sahib is it written that you will get the liberation just by reading this holy Guru Granth Sahib. Of course, it is written that by doing what is written in the Guru Granth Sahib, by doing what the Guru Granth Sahib is asking you to do, you will receive the liberation.

The Light of Ajaib

In this holy Guru Granth Sahib, Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj has written, “All the Simritis, Vedas, and Puranas say this aloud: ‘Except for the Naam, everything else is the useless thing.’”

“The treasure of the Naam resides within the Masters. In the company of the Masters the darkness of unhappiness and disease goes away.”

There is a lot more which can be said about the holy Guru Granth Sahib, but the time is very short, very little. So we should lovingly and faithfully read this holy Guru Granth Sahib, because all the Masters, all the ten Sikh Gurus, whatever They taught, Their teachings are included in this and this is the essence of Spirituality.

I have seen this with my own eyes how when Master Sawan Singh Ji used to explain the bani, many people who used to just read the bani, when they would understand the meaning of the bani, they would cry. They would say, “Oh, so great and so pure and holy is the bani of Guru Nanak Dev Ji Maharaj and what have we [been doing] with this? Just like you put some water in the mouth and [spit] it out, in the same way all day long we have just been reading the bani and throwing it out, without understanding what the bani is teaching.

When my beloved Gurudev Master Kirpal came to my home for the very first time, at that time, the program of Satsang was going on, because right from my childhood the program of Satsang had always been going on. So at that time also we had the Satsang. Through the words of the Gurbani, from the holy Guru Granth Sahib, Master Kirpal Singh sent me this message, He gave me this hint, that Guru Arjan Dev Ji has written, “He Who has sent you into this world, now He Himself is calling you. So very happily and easily through me you come back to the home.”

When master Pratap Singh, who was Master Kirpal Singh’s pathi, read this particular line of Guru Granth Sahib, I understood that it was a direct message for my soul, for myself, and I understood that God Almighty, Who had sent me this word, now He Himself had come in the form of beloved Lord Kirpal to take me back.

1997 April/May: If You Can Carry Your Own Burden

Session Date: March 21, 1997

This question and answer talk was given at the S.K.A. Retreat, near Sampla, India, on March 21, 1997.

SANT JI: Salutations unto the Feet of Supreme Fathers, Almighty Lords Sawan and Kirpal Who, having mercy upon the poor souls, showering Their grace upon the poor souls, have given the gift of Their devotion and allowed the opportunity to do Their devotion, and also to sing Their glory.

QUESTION: Beloved Sant Ji, recently there have been a number of messages with references like “The hawk of death may snatch us at any moment,” or “We may not get this precious opportunity again.” Many disciples understand from this that You are trying to awaken us so that we may really begin to do the devotion through spending more time in remembrance and through keeping the diaries to improve our lives. Others, however, have gotten very worried that this means You are leaving soon. They announce that, and then rumors begin to fly all around the world. Still others talk about how we, the disciples, can or should take on part of Your suffering so that You may be relieved. Would You care to comment as to what would be the correct, loving, respectful, and helpful attitude as regards all of this?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: Well, it is a very good question. The reality is that all of the Saints have said such things, keeping that feeling in front of Them. And I have also said these things keeping the same feeling which the earlier Saints had in front of Them. Dear Children, I have not come here to tell you anything new.

You know that Guru Teg Bahadur Ji said that when we are a child gradually that childhood goes away, and when we become adolescents then, at that time, if for a moment we think that we should get our childhood back – we can only think about that. But once we have lost our childhood it doesn't come back to us. In the same way when we get to old age, when we have become older, then if we think that we should become young again, become adolescents once again, it is not possible, because once you lose that state then you do not get it back.

Guru Teg Bahadur Ji has said, "Childhood, adolescence, and old age – do not understand any of these things as the reality. Guru Nanak says that you should understand and accept the reality." Guru Teg Bahadur Ji said, "Rama was the incarnate of Brahma and even He did not live in this world forever. Ravana, who had progressed very much in science – and also it is said that he had a very big family – even he did not live here forever."

The life in this world is like a dream. When you are having the dream everything seems to be very real, but when you open your eyes, when you get up from your sleep, then nothing is real. It was only a dream. In the same way, life in this world is not real. It is just like a dream of the night. "Rama went; Ravana, who had a very big family went. Nanak says, 'No one is permanent in this world. The life in this world is like a dream.'"

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj said, "We are the foolish ones, and we have got attached to the illusion. All our life long we go on doing that work which is imperfect and which cannot be completed. We have forgotten the real work. We have forgotten the real perfect work which is meeting with God Almighty. Instead we have become fond of the imperfect and the unreal work."

Kabir Sahib said, "When the leaf gets cut off from the branch of the tree, the wind blows it away." That particular leaf doesn't come back and get attached to the same branch.

Some people were carrying a coffin – somebody had died so they were taking him to the cremation ground – so looking at them Guru Nanak Sahib, in order to awaken the souls, said, "Awake, awake, awake, O Traveler. See that the other traveler is going!"

Yaksha asked Udhistra, "What is the most surprising thing in this world?" He replied, "The most surprising thing in this world is that we see with our own eyes these people leaving this world, and even we ourselves give them our shoulder and take them to the graveyard or to the cremation ground, but still we believe that death is only for those who have died and it is not going to come to us." Sufi Saint Farid Sahib said, "I used to believe that I am the only one who was affected by this pain of birth and death. But I did the Simran given to me by the Master, and with His grace I got above the nine openings of the body. I went to the Eye Center, and furthermore I went into Par Brahm, and over there also I meditated a lot. And when I went in the Banwar Gupha, after reaching there I saw that the entire Creation which the Lord Almighty has created is suffering from this sickness or this disease of birth and death. If there is anyone who is saved from this, it is God Almighty Himself. Otherwise everyone has this pain of birth and death."

The Light of Ajaib

Farid Sahib says, "I thought that only I had this pain. But the entire world is suffering from this pain. When I got to the higher planes and looked around, I saw that in every house the same fire was burning." He says that a crane was sitting on the bank of the river. He was catching frogs and fish, and he was playing with them. He would take his prey in his beak and he would throw it upward, and again he would catch it with his beak. He was playing like that when all of a sudden a hawk came there and attacked him. The crane did not know that the hawk was looking at him and that the hawk was going to come. It came without giving any warning – it came all of a sudden.

The crane was sitting on the bank of the river, but while he was playing, all of a sudden a hawk came and attacked him. When the hawk of God Almighty attacks us, then all the plays and all the fun which we are having are forgotten. Those who do not remain aware of that "hawk" which comes to everyone, those who forget this, they always find it very difficult when that hawk attacks them.

Dear Ones, every one remembers the materials of the world. Who remembers Death? Even if we do not remember Death, still when the time comes, Death comes and shows us His face. The Lord of Death cannot be avoided by any temptations or by any power, or ruling, or anything like that, and He is very punctual about the time. At the fixed time He definitely comes to us.

The Lord of Death comes while the two lamps are still burning. He extinguishes both the lamps and He takes over the fort of the body.

The person who is about to die sees with his own eyes that the Lord of Death has come, because he can see Him coming. When He extinguishes both the lamps, when He closes both the eyes, and when He takes the soul out of the body, at that time nobody can see Him doing that. So the people who are sitting around us, our relatives, our friends cannot help us. How can they help us when they don't know what is happening with us? The Lord of Death is seen only by the person for whom the Lord of Death has come. The people sitting around him cannot do anything but weep and cry after he dies.

Dear Ones, the kings in India were very powerful; they were very strong. And I had the opportunity of witnessing the death of three kings with my own eyes. I am not saying this from hearsay. I have seen this with my own eyes. They had hundreds of guards around them, but no one could say from which direction the Lord of Death came and took those kings away. We ourselves took them to the cremation grounds and reduced them to a handful of ashes.

The state of Kapurthala used to be called as the Paris of India. And when the king of Kapurthala died, I myself took him to the cremation ground. It was very beautiful, it had so many beautiful trees all around. And at that place we reduced him to a handful of ashes. I myself sang this bhajan written by Ravi Das, which says, "A day comes when a person comes into this world, and a day comes when he leaves this world. No one lives in this world forever. No one is permanent here."

A couple of years ago when we were coming back from Kullu Manali, on the way back I showed Gurmel all those places where I had been: the school and the palaces of the king where I was working with him. And I showed him the cremation ground and even the palace where the kings used to be. Now there is no one there – no one to even look after that place. And I even showed him the cremation ground where those kings were cremated.

Kabir Sahib says, "Kal is such a mighty one that even though you may have warriors standing by your side, but still He would take you out from among them, and they would just stand there repenting. All the salutes and homage which we offer to the person who has departed is only for showing off to the people, it is only for the name's sake. Because we do not know what that Lord of Death is doing with that soul.

Well my Master, my Beloved Gurudev, told me, "Look here. We have not come to live in this world forever. The time which has passed will not come back." Even in the bhajan you read: "The time which has passed does not come back. This is what Kirpal makes Ajaib understand." Dear Ones, only those who have not seen death are afraid of death. Those who have not seen death, if you even mention death in front of them, they get nervous, they get perturbed, and they say, "Don't talk about death in front of me."

Saints do not die; They return to Their home. Of course the body dies and the body takes birth. But the Power which works within the body of the Saints is neither born nor does It die; It neither comes nor goes. Do you understand that Beloved Kirpal or Master Sawan are dead? They are still living. They lived in the past, and even thousands of years ago They lived, and They will live in the future also. They give life to hundreds of thousands of people, They give life to millions of people, and They always live. Guru Nanak Sahib says, "God Almighty is immovable, He is indestructible, and those who mingle in Him also become indestructible like God Almighty is."

All the Saints Who come into this world awaken us, the ones who are sleeping in the deep sleep of attachment. They come to awaken us, and They tell us, "You should do the work for which you have come into this world. You have not come here to live forever. You are like a traveler, and this is an opportunity which you have been given to do the devotion, so you should get up and you should do your devotion."

Dear Ones, I can give you many more examples, I can give you more quotes of many different Saints. All the Saints have talked about death. They have even said, "We do not know when the bell of death may ring."

Now coming to those people who make the prophecies and who talk about this. First of all, I would like to thank those dear ones, those people, who had concern for my health and those who showed their sympathy towards my health. But Dear Children, even the small children would think twice before saying things like this – those who talk about my leaving. Those who talk about my leaving, do they think that they will live in this world forever? Do they think that they will not leave this world? How do they know if they will go after me or before me?

Dear Children, if a Satsangi can carry his own burden that is more than enough for him. Those who say that they are carrying the burden of the Saint, that they are sharing the sufferings of the Master, they are in the great mistake. Dear Ones, I can tell you this thing for sure that such people are hungry for name and fame, and only so that people may praise them do they make such statements and say such things to the people in the sangat.

With the grace of God Sawan and with the grace of God Kirpal I saw in my within both of them as great Gods. And even outwardly also I saw them as God. And I never saw or heard either of Them making any prophecy or saying things about any other person leaving: "He will leave at this time," or "He will leave at that time." Nor did They talk about Their own leaving. In fact, Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say those who make the prophecies or those who say these kind of things, they do that only for the fact that they are craving for name and fame, only so that the other people may come and praise them. And He used to say that we should never believe in such prophecies because it is the mean people who make the prophecies.

Maharaj Kirpal had given the program of Satsangs in various countries. And I know at least about Ghana, that He had made the program to go there [in 1972], but He left the tour and He came back [to India] and He did not make any prophecy. He did not tell people that He was going to leave soon.

Many times in the Satsangs I have said that whatever pain and happiness, whatever comforts or discomforts, come to the Masters in the Will of the Lord, They always accept them and They do not make any excuses in going through the sufferings. They do not say, “But . . . ,” and They do not say, “Why?” They always accept them gladly and lovingly. Even if They are going to meet with an accident or even if They are going to lose a lot after getting up from one place, even if They know that, still They do not avoid that time. They always live in the Will of God Almighty and They teach us the same thing. The Master lives in the Will of God and we should live in the Will of the Master.

Dear Ones, just imagine that if the Masters were to give such hints, or were to make such prophecies about leaving and all that – there are many dear ones, those who go within and who have been blessed by the Master with unbreakable love for the Master. So if the Masters were to make such prophecies or if They were to give such hints, do you think that those dear ones will live? They will die just thinking about it.

They will die from the grief of it. When Master Sawan Singh Ji left the body, many people got the experience that He was going to leave before He died, and about two hundred people ended their life [from grief].<sup>62</sup> Somebody jumped in the well, and somebody jumped in the river. [So] Master Kirpal did not let anyone know that He was leaving. Not even Tai Ji who used to cook food for Him knew that He was going to leave. She was under this illusion that, “Now Master is perfectly all right.”

Dear Ones, not everyone in the sangat is like a jackal. There are some tigers also. It is not [the case] that everyone who comes here or who goes on tour, or those who attend the programs, that they just come here and close their eyes and go without receiving anything. There are many dear ones in your sangat, in your group, who go very far inside in their within, but they do not show it off to the other people outside. They do not talk about all these things. Their humility is very unique and, in fact, you cannot even recognize them – that they are the ones who are going in the within. They do not talk about such things. They do not make such statements. And they always remain quiet. They are very humble.

Dear Ones, whenever I initiate anyone I put that soul in the jholi of Lord Kirpal and Sawan. They are the only Ones Who can share my suffering. They are the only Ones Who can take on my burden. There is no one else who can share my sufferings or who can take on my burden. However, if you would do your Bhajan and Simran I will have to carry less karmas. It will surely help me, and my health will remain better.

<sup>62</sup> QUESTION: Maybe my question is not very important, but it is lurking in my mind for quite a long time. I read in a book that when Master Sawan Singh left the body, many of His disciples committed suicide; and I was wondering what happened to those disciples. SANT JI: Master Sawan Singh was very strict and He was very much against those people who committed suicide. He used to say that those people who committed suicide will never be forgiven; Master will hang them. – from Sant Bani. Nov. 1982. p. 32

People had asked Master Sawan Singh, "It is written in your horoscope that You will live up to a hundred years, but it seems like You are preparing to leave now?" So Master Sawan Singh said, "Yes, if you will allow me to work without any disturbance, then I may live up to a hundred years. And if you will meditate more it will help me. Also if you will not write me letters in which you write about the worldly things, then it is possible that I may live longer." We know that Master Sawan Singh left ten years early. Similarly Master Kirpal went on saying this all His life long, "Meditate, meditate. Do not feed your body until you have fed your soul with the food of meditation." He also left fourteen years early.

Well, I am very thankful to the dear one who asked this question. It is good that he asked this question. No Saint has ever said that we will live in this world forever. All the Saints have said, "One day we have to leave this world, and we do not know when that moment will come when we will have to leave this complete world, this full world."

Suthra was a very fearless fakir and He lived a very long life. From the time of Guru Har Gobind until the time of Guru Gobind Singh He was there, and He used to meditate a lot and He had attained the highest status. He was a perfect being. We got many humorous things from Him.

Once it is said that He spent a night in some religious place. Over there a newly-wed couple came to ask for the blessing. (You know that when we get married we often go to the religious places to ask for a blessing.) So that newly-wed couple went there to seek the blessing. Usually people carry some sweets, some money, and things like that to offer to the deity that they worship. So when they went there, they offered some money on a plate which Suthra gave to the priest there, and the priest gave that newly-wed couple a blessing, saying, "May you live for four ages!"

When that couple turned towards Suthra for His blessings, "Look here," He told the bride, "You are going to die." And he told the groom, "One day you are also going to die." They got upset and said, "Well, haiya fakira, why are you doing this? Why are you cursing us?" He said, "I am telling you the truth. This is what will happen. And for saying the false things, the untrue things, the priest is there whom we have given the money and he has given you the false blessings!"

So Dear Ones, one day we all have to leave this world. Everyone has to die. Those people who make the prophecies of other people leaving, they forget that they also have to leave this world. As long as Lord Almighty Kirpal will continue showering His grace upon me, and as long as He makes me do the seva for the sangat, I am very happy serving the sangat. If you will do your Bhajan and Simran then definitely it will help me. I would like to tell you that you should not believe in such prophecies. You should not believe in those people who make such prophecies. You should do more Bhajan and Simran. This is my only message for all of you.

I received a cable at the Ashram, a very long cable, and Gurmel read it, and the people there were affected by it. It took me many days to convince them that nothing like that is going to happen. And it had a very bad effect on the sangat also. So the dear ones should not make such prophecies. They should not talk like this; instead they should do more Bhajan and Simran. As a matter of fact, everyone should always be prepared, because it is always much better to leave whenever the call comes.

[At this point Sant Ji said, "Aacha," and stopped. He then asked Gurmel and Pappu to sing Kirpal Yahi Sandesh Deta.]

1997 June: Don't Make the False Excuses

Session Date: March 18, 1997

This question & answer talk was given on March 18, 1997, at the S.K.A. Retreat near Sampla, India.

SANT JI: Salutations unto the feet of Supreme Fathers Lords Almighty Sawan and Kirpal, Who have given us the opportunities to sing Their glory. First, He Himself created the yearning to meet with His Master in His within. Then after that, telling us about His yearning, He has created the yearning within us to meet Him, through His bhajans, through His words. How can we thank Him enough for all the grace He has showered upon us? We do not have the appropriate words through which we can thank Him for all the yearning He has created within us. In fact, when we vacate the nine openings and by doing the Simran, when we concentrate at the Eye Center and go behind the eyes, after connecting ourselves with that Sound which is all-pervading, only at that time can we express our gratitude to the Master for all the grace that He has showered upon us.

QUESTION: At work, frequently people give us gifts. We are worried by it, and we don't want to receive them. But when we want to reject them, people feel offended. How can we handle that situation, and what are its karmic implications?

[Pappu says to Sant Ji: "Actually there is another question which I think is similar to this."] Is the give and take between Satsangis, either financial or physical, good?

SANT JI: Yesterday in the Satsang it was said that man has come into this world and he has to live in this world, and from the very beginning man has been living along with the other people. So it is very important for us to get along with the other people in this world. We have to live in harmony and with the love of other people. We cannot live in this world comfortably if we go into the finest details of these kinds of things. We cannot live comfortably if we just go on splitting hairs. So if you are in a situation where people offer you a gift, and if you do not feel like taking it or using it for yourself, you may accept it from them lovingly, and then you may pass it on to somebody else whom you love.

The question is of greed. Do not be greedy and keep those presents with you. And also do not tell other people that you have received or you are receiving so many gifts from other people. If you will show off to people, if you will tell other people that you have received so many gifts, it would be like you are telling them that they should also give you the gifts. It is a way of telling them that you like receiving gifts. So don't do that. If anyone gives you a gift, you can give it to someone who really needs it. And also, it is of no use to give or pass on that gift to someone who already has so many gifts or so many things like that.

As a matter of fact, there is a deep secret behind giving the gifts. Do you know with what expectations or with what hope that person is giving you the gift? And what karmas are involved in that? So the best thing in that situation is that you should pass that on to someone who needs it. The more you can abstain from accepting gifts, the better it will be for you.

The other question was about the give and take between the Satsangis. In response to this, I would like to tell you one very interesting incident which happened in the lifetime of Guru Gobind Singh between two disciples. There were two disciples of Guru Gobind Singh by the names Lohara Singh and Allam Singh. They got involved in some dealings of give and take between themselves. Lohara Singh asked for some money from Allam Singh to do some business, and he said. "We do not need to do anything in writing, we do not need to write an agreement on paper because our Master is there in between us, and He is the witness, He is the guarantee.” Some Satsangis are very innocent, they are naive, and they understand that every Satsangi or every person who comes to the Master has the same amount of faith as they have. But every person who comes to the perfect Master has his own background, and his faith and devotion for the Master also depends on the background of his past karmas. Those who have had a very good background, those who have had very good karmas in the past, when they come to the Master, they understand His greatness, and they sacrifice everything at the feet of the Master. Their faith in the Master is so much that if anyone asked them to do anything in the name of their Master, they would do it at once.

So like that, Allam Singh was a very innocent, a very faithful disciple of Guru Gobind Singh. So when Lohara Singh said that the Master is our guarantee, then Allam Singh gave him the money, having faith in his Master. After Lohara Singh was supposed to give that money back to Allam Singh, and when he did not return it, whenever they would meet in the Satsang, Allam Singh would ask Lohara Singh to give him the money, and Lohara Singh would always make one or another excuse. When it became too long a time, when it became too much, and when Allam Singh went on insisting for the return of his money, once Lohara Singh even frightened him by saying, “What is wrong if one disciple of the Master takes the money of the other disciple of the Master? We are brothers in faith, and there is nothing wrong if I have taken your money.”

Now when Guru Gobind Singh heard that, He thought, “This is a great injustice. It is not a good thing between the disciples.” He asked Lohara Singh why he was doing that. Instead of confessing that he was doing a mistake, he said, “Well, I am just following what You have written in the Bani. Because in the Bani it is written, and the first part of that verse says, ‘There are many in this world who take other people’s things, and after taking, they just refuse to pay back.’” So Guru Gobind Singh Ji said, “You should read the second part of that Bani also, which says, ‘Those who take the things from the other people and refuse to pay them back, they are the foolish ones.’”

Now it was very difficult for Lohara Singh to admit that he was a foolish one in front of the whole sangat. But still, he looked at the sangat and he said, “You see, Master, all these people are sitting here, all the sangat is sitting here. The first part of the Bani is applicable to me, that is for me. And the second part of the Bani can be acceptable to the rest of the people.” So it is much better if we can avoid the give and take or the financial dealings between the Satsangis.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to caution the Satsangis regarding the give and take of money. He used to [warn] the dear ones from doing that. He used to say that it is a very dangerous dealing, because when the person who has borrowed the money is not able to return the money on time, then people start talking about their being disciples, and they say, “You see that he is a disciple of the Master and he has taken my money.” So that brings a bad name to the Master also.

If the money is not returned on time, which sometimes happens when you borrow the money – sometimes it is very difficult to pay the money back on time – so when that happens, then the love between the disciples finishes.

Many dear ones come to me asking my permission to do business together. I never approve of that, I never give them the permission, because I tell them, “You see, dear ones, today you love each other, but tomorrow when you will get into the business together, then you will become the opponents of each other. You will fight with each other, and then it will not be a good thing. So it is much better if you do the business alone, individually.”

There is so much more which I can say in response to this question, but lovingly, I would like to advise all the dear ones that it is much better if all the Satsangis would stand on their own feet, and the more they can abstain from borrowing from other people, the better it will be for them.

You read in the history of Master Kirpal Singh how in His life, He never accepted a bribe. Even though His family always pressured Him to take the outside money or the bribes, He said, “No, I will never do that, and even if you don’t want to give me anything for my own expenses, that is fine. I will limit my expenses, but don’t ask me to accept that kind of money.” So because He did not accept the bribes, once it so happened that He did not have any money left. He was left with only two rupees, and there was still one more week before He was going to get His salary. He did not borrow from anyone, even though at that time there were many people in the sangat of Master Sawan Singh who used to go to see Master Kirpal Singh, but still He did not borrow from them. He did not get into any kind of dealings with them. He preferred to just buy chick peas [to eat], and He passed His whole week just on two rupees.

We should learn from His example. He used to say that when you take anything from a Satsangi or a non-Satsangi, when you borrow anything from anyone, in the morning when you sit for the meditation, you don’t meditate: you remember the person who has given you the money. So it does affect your meditation if you are dealing with anyone, if you have borrowed money or if you have taken money from anyone.

Master Kirpal Singh was a shining star in this world. In the bhajan it is written, “He who is controlled by greed is like a star which does not have any light in it.” We people do have the human form, and we look like the other human beings, but because of the greed, we are like that star which does not have any light in it. But Master Kirpal Singh was that shining star which was above greed and was not affected by it.

QUESTION: How can one get rid of the habit of smoking if one is addicted to it and has got depression because of the lack of nicotine?

SANT JI: Well, Dear Ones, it is a very interesting question, and I feel like laughing a lot in response to this question. [Sant Ji chuckles] The people who are addicted to any kind of addiction, be it smoking or anything else, they have made many stories which suit them. They convince their family members, they convince their friends and the other people near them, and instead of confessing that they are involved in the bad habit, and instead of making the efforts to give that habit up, they have made many comments and stories which suit them and which convince other people that what they are doing is the only way they can live their life.

There was an initiate of Master Kirpal Singh, and I feel very sorry talking about this. Master Kirpal Singh went and stayed in his home two times, along with many other Satsangis. One of their sons got into the bad habit of drinking wine. It is very easy to get into any kind of bad habit but very difficult to give it up. So he became so much addicted to wine that it affected his body, and his body started becoming weak. About twenty days ago, the family brought that boy to me. He had formed this story: he had convinced his family that he was not drinking the wine by himself; it was some hidden power who was making him drink the wine. So the family believed in him and they brought him to me and they requested that I should release him from that hidden power.

The Light of Ajaib

I told him, “Look here, O Dear One, if that hidden power is bringing the wine and making you drink that wine, then I will guard against that. I will even be there in my hidden form and I will not let that hidden power come to you. But if you are paying for the wine, and if you are sending someone to bring the wine for you, then I am sorry, it is not my responsibility. But if there is some hidden power who is making you drink the wine, then I will stop that power from coming to you.” So when I told him that he laughed, and he said, “Yes, it is my mistake, it is my fault. I am addicted to the wine, and I do it myself.”

So this is what happens to people who are addicted to any kind of thing. In order to justify themselves, in order to justify their addiction, they form such stories that if they don't use that, or they don't smoke, or they don't drink, this thing happens or that thing happens. This is only to convince the other people; this is only to justify their bad habit. They do not make any efforts to give their bad habit up.

Dear Ones, I had a friend in the army. He would lie down very peacefully in the morning on his bed, but then all of a sudden he would light up a cigarette, and then he would start coughing, and then he would become very restless. So he would cough and he would become restless only after lighting up the cigarette. So I used to tell him, “Why don't you just leave your mother alone.” (I used to call the cigarette as his mother.) So that friend of mine, whose name was Yosalam, instead of confessing that it was his bad habit, he also had made this couplet to justify that what he was doing was right. He used to say that there was a Sikh who went to the heavens, and when he got to the heavens, he was asked if he had brought any tobacco with him. The Sikh replied, “No, I didn't use the tobacco, because not even the horse of my Master entered the field of tobacco.” Yosalam said that the man was sent back from the heavens because he did not have the tobacco with him.

Sugandha Puran is one of the eighteen Puranas; it is a very precious Purana. In that Purana, all of the herbs are mentioned. So in that Purana, Brahma was giving the knowledge of all the herbs to Rishi Narada. So after telling him about the qualities and the properties of all the herbs, when Brahma came to the herb of tobacco, Brahma said that no one will use this herb in the Golden Age, the Silver Age, or the Copper Age. But when the fourth age will come, the Iron Age, then people will consume this herb a lot.

Brahma told Narada, “In the Iron Age, people will do a lot of religious deeds, they will do a lot of austerities, and they will do a lot of japas and tapas, and they will give a lot of donations and things like that, and they will do many good deeds. But because of their use of tobacco, all their good deeds will be reduced to ashes; all their good deeds will finish, just because they will also consume, they will also use this tobacco. If any Brahmin who has learned a lot and who is a scholar, if after getting all the knowledge, if he will use this tobacco, he will become a pig, or he will be incarnated as the pig of the village. And those who will give him any donations, those who will give the donations to such a Brahmin, they will also be incarnated as a pig.”

There is another Purana called Naskit Puran, written by the Naskit Rishi out of the eighteen puranas. It is said that Naskit Rishi had the knowledge of many of his previous births. So he has written that those who consume the tobacco, they will be born again in this world in the form of the jackals. And all night long they will go on howling in the jungle.

Kabir Sahib has said that those who use the hemp plant, those who drink the liquor, those who eat the fish, and those who are addicted to the drugs and other things, even if they do all the good deeds like donating, and even if they go to the places of pilgrimage, all their good deeds will be of no use. They will not be counted anywhere if they are using all those things which were mentioned earlier.

The Light of Ajaib

Guru Gobind Singh Ji was going along with some of His disciples. He was riding on horseback, and after reaching a certain place, as they were approaching some field, the horse stopped and did not want to go any further. So Guru Gobind Singh asked His disciples to go and find out what the reason was. So they told Him that there was a tobacco field there. So not even the horse of Guru Gobind Singh wanted to go into the tobacco field. So Guru Gobind Singh Ji cautioned His disciples. He said that they should never use tobacco, and in fact, “He who will use this, he who will consume the tobacco will not be my disciple.”

There is a state of Sangli near Bombay, and the king of that state of Sangli was an initiate of Master Sawan Singh. Once, upon his invitation, Master Sawan Singh visited the State of Sangli. So the King of Sangli, took Master Sawan Singh to show Him all the land he had. So he showed Him where his lots of land were, where different kinds of things were growing, but when they reached the lot where the tobacco was growing, Master Sawan Singh did not put His feet in that lot of land. He said. “When the horse of my great Master, Guru Gobind Singh, did not enter the field of tobacco, how can I go there?” So there are two things which we learn from this incident of Master Sawan Singh. One is that we come to know how much respect and appreciation Master Sawan Singh had for the Master Who had been in this world previously, how much love and respect He had for the earlier Masters. And the other thing which we can learn from this is that when Master Sawan Singh did not enter the land where the tobacco was being grown, we should not consume that – Satsangis should never allow the smoke of the tobacco to go in their body.

Dear Ones, now even the doctors have proved and they have cautioned us, they have told us how many diseases we can get by smoking. And in many countries, they have banned smoking tobacco in public places.

Well, even in the city of Delhi they have put this prohibition on smoking tobacco in public places. This place where we are sitting is in the state of Haryana, where there is a total prohibition on liquor. So there was a cartoon in one of the newspapers very recently about a guy, one of the kind of people who justify their addiction by saying one or another thing. So there was a cartoon and he was holding a cigarette in one hand and a bottle of wine in the other hand, and the cartoon said, “If you want to smoke cigarettes, come to Haryana, and if you want to drink wine, go to Delhi.”

Baba Bishan Das, from Whom I got the secret of the first Two Words – and I am ever grateful to Him, I am ever indebted to Him, because He laid the foundation of my life – He used to tell this joke. He used to say that there was one donkey in a tobacco field, and he was picking up the grass and eating the grass and not touching the tobacco leaves. Someone, who saw him picking only the grass and not eating or touching the tobacco leaves, asked him, “Mr. Donkey, why is it that you are not eating the tobacco leaves? Why are you only picking up the grass?” The donkey replied, “Well, I have heard that those who use tobacco, those who smoke tobacco, they become donkeys in their next lifetime, and I am already a donkey.”

Dear Children, ever since this Creation was created, God Almighty has been sending the Rishis, Munis, Masters, Saints, and the Prophets into this world to put the limitations and to give us the knowledge of the things which are healthy for us, which are good for us. And through Their scriptures, through Their books and through Their words, They have given us the knowledge of those things which we should use and those which we should not use.

Those Masters have said this aloud, They have said that if anyone has gained anything from drinking wine, or from smoking tobacco, or from eating meat, or by gambling, or by any of those kinds of bad deeds, they should come and tell us. You gain nothing from consuming the liquor and smoking the tobacco. Of course, you do lose your body, you do lose your glory, you lose your money, and also people criticize you because that is a bad deed which you are doing.

The questions of all the dear ones were very good, very beneficial, for the whole sangat, and I hope that we the Satsangis will try to give up all the bad deeds, all the addictions. We should not make false excuses, we should not form false stories, to justify our addiction; instead we should make the efforts and give them up.

The reality is that when the Master gives us the Initiation, He sits at our Eye Center in the Form of the Shabd, and He does not leave us until He takes us back to our Real Home. The Master proves this: that He does not leave us until He takes us back to our Real Home, in our lifetime itself. So the place where the Beloved Master is residing, if we put the liquor in there, if we put the tobacco smoke in there, do you think that we are being respectful to the Master? It is like insulting the Master. So we should make our life purer, because when we will make our life purer, only then will we progress in our meditations.

1997 July: He Takes Care of Every Need

Session Date: March 22, 1996

This question & answer session, was given March 22, 1996, at the S.K.A. Retreat, near Sampla, India.

QUESTION: Master, I have this doubt of whether You have said that no initiate of Yours returns to this plane after leaving the body in this life. Please clear this up for me.

SANT JI: Salutations unto the feet of Supreme Fathers, Almighty Lords Sawan and Kirpal, Who have had mercy on us, Who have showered grace upon us and given us the opportunities to sing Their glory.

Dear Ones, no teacher wishes from his heart that his student should fail in the exams and repeat the classes again and again. He cannot be called a teacher if he wishes that his students should repeat the class again and again. But the student who does not obey the teacher, just consider, whose fault is it? Is it the fault of the teacher or the student?

Dear Ones, I was a teacher of the signals [in the army], and if I found any weak student, I would explain to him again and again, and eventually he would pass.

I am not the only one who says that my initiates will not return to this plane. All of the perfect Masters, the Param Sants, Who have come into this world in the past, They all have wished, They all have said that no disciple of Theirs would come back into this world of suffering, because what is there on this plane except for the sufferings?

Kabir Sahib said, "What can the poor Master do if the disciples have faults in them?" If you blow air in the hollow bamboo, it doesn't stay there, so where is the fault? So if the disciple is not cooperating with the Master, if he has turned his back toward the Master, what is the fault of the Master?

I will repeat the words of my beloved Master in response to this question. And that is enough for the sangat. Dear Ones, he who has gone in the within and seen the glory of his Master in his within, for him it is very difficult to live in this world after his Master has left this world. And when he is asked to do the work, when he is asked to give out the message of the truth, it becomes even more difficult for him to do that. After the Master has left this physical plane, he understands himself as the sinner one, and he thinks that whatever breath he is taking is a sin. The way the Master makes him understand, the way the Master convinces him to do the work after He has left this physical plane, that scene is worth watching.

Dear Ones, Bhai Sunder Das, whose stories you have read in the book written by Mr. Oberoi, had attended that Satsang in which there were twenty or twenty-five other people also in the sangat of Baba Sawan Singh. Feeling much pain and becoming very emotional, Master Sawan Singh had said, "What can I say about how much the souls are forgetful?" Many initiates of Guru Nanak are also sitting here, and even that person who had made the sons of Guru Gobind Singh get arrested by the police and who was the cause of the burial of the sons of Guru Gobind Singh in the wall, even he is sitting here in the Satsang." Master Sawan Singh said that in one of the Satsangs.

So suppose fifteen or twenty dear ones are sitting in the Satsang and our Satguru says something like that, how would we feel in our heart? Bhai Sunder Das said, "All the dear ones who were sitting there were awestruck; they all wondered: have we done so many faults?"

Dear Ones, I came to Sant Mat at a very young age. I got many opportunities to spend time in the company of Master Sawan Singh. And from Baba Bishan Das, from whom I got Initiation of the first Two Words, I heard a lot. Baba Bishan Das used to say, "With every soul, the Negative Power has attached His agent, the mind." Baba Bishan Das used to call the mind as the bull of the timber market. The bull always goes in the direction where you don't want him to go. So that's why he used to call the mind as the bull of the market.

Even though all of these things have been said, still I don't believe in them. Because my beloved Master put His hand on this chest, and He said, "It is my work to liberate, and I will liberate all those who will be initiated by you." And up until now, He has been keeping that promise.

You may ask Gurmel Singh how much forgetful his grandmother was. But still, both Master Sawan Singh and Master Kirpal came to liberate her soul. A few days before she left the body, she said, "Both the Masters have come to take me." She was very forgetful, and she did not do the Simran. Even though she was initiated, but still, she did not do the Simran. The family members tried to force her to do the Simran and remember the Form of the Master, but it did not work. I told them that they should not bother with her; it is the work of the Master, and He Himself will take care of her.

The beloved Masters showered so much grace upon her, and They created such a will for her that within a few days everything changed for her. After that, she would oppose if any non-Satsangi would come near her, but when any Satsangi came near her, she would talk very loving talks about the Master with him.

When Master gave her the darshan, at that time, Nirmal, her son, had to go to Bombay. So I asked him, "Next time she has the darshan of the Master, she should ask the Master when she will be taken." So on the following day when she was asked to ask the Master when she would be taken, she replied, "He doesn't speak." But the day she left the body, He told her that she was going to leave.

It is very important that no non-Satsangi should be around the person who is leaving the body. The Satsangis should be around that person, and they should create such an environment – they should sing the bhajans and then you can see what kind of Will the Master creates and how He showers His grace.

The Light of Ajaib

Those who do not say before leaving the body that they are being taken up by the Master – because not everyone has the orders to say that they are taken by the Master – they are protected in the end. In the relationship of the Master with the disciple, it is not true that the Master does not take care of, or protect, the souls.

QUESTION: Beloved, I was very fortunate to spend some months with Master Kirpal Singh in India. I was surprised to see disciples ignore the requests He made. Over the years, I have witnessed this in your mission also, when disciples have requested and persuaded You to change Your Will to comply with their wishes. My question is: At what cost is it to You when this occurs?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji chuckles] You can think about this yourself. You see that when we are a child, at that time we do certain things which are not good for us. We put our hand in the fire, we try to catch a snake, and things like that. Since it is the responsibility of the parents to make our life, they always try to keep us from doing those things, because the child is an ignorant one; he doesn't know what is good or bad for Him. But the parents have the knowledge and they know what is good for the child. So they try to explain to the child why he should not be doing those things which he is doing. Sometimes the child gets upset and then he becomes sad.

In the same way, if the Master were to work according to the wishes of the disciples, He could never liberate the souls, no matter how many births they take. Because the disciples ask for worldly things, which are not permanent. They are the forgetful ones, and the Master knows everything.

The Master knows better than us. And from the court where you get everything, even without asking, what is the need to ask for anything? Even though I never asked any worldly thing from my Beloved Master, but still, I can say there was no worldly thing, there was nothing which I was not given. He took care of all my needs and even now, when He is not on this physical plane, He is still taking care of me. I remember how He used to tell the people, "You should take care of my Sadh." Even now He is taking such good care of me, and He is providing me with everything I need.

Dear Ones, he is not a disciple, he cannot be worthy of being called as a disciple of the Master, who tells or who wishes that the Master should work according to his [desires]. He should always be making this prayer, he should always be requesting to the Master. "O Master, may I always live in Your Will."

The reality is that we do not know what is good for us, whether riches are good for us or poverty is good for us, or sickness is good for us, or good health is good for us. We do not even know whether the pains are good for us or the happiness is good for us, even though outwardly we all seek the happiness; we all ask for the comforts. But we do ask for the happiness, even though we don't know what is good for us. So Dear Ones, when we do not know what is good for us, then why not remain happy in His Will? Why not bow down to Him and His Will?

Two people came to see beloved Master in my home. And they had to return soon, because they were in the service. But Master told them not to go back. It was very hard for them to accept that, because they were very afraid of their officer. Later on we found out that the bus which they would have been riding on met with an accident, and no one in that bus was saved, or if they were saved, they had very serious injuries. Then they realized that Master wanted to save them, and that is why He told them not to go on that bus.

The Light of Ajaib

There are many hymns written by Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj in the holy Guru Granth. And you may read them and you will see how much love and how much faith He had in His Master. He said, "O Lord, Your Will is very sweet. Nanak asks for the Naam."

Dear Ones, you know that the disciple who is close to the Master and who does the meditation is always opposed by the other people. Master Kirpal Singh also had to face that opposition. One person wrote many letters, and he posted those letters from different places opposing Master Kirpal Singh. And many other times He was criticized, but He did not say anything to Master Sawan Singh, even though He continued seeing Him. One day Master Sawan Singh told Tai Ji, "I don't know what His heart is made of; He does not say even a word, even though He is so much opposed." So why did He not react to the opposition that He was getting from people? Because He knew that everything is happening in the Will of the Master. The Master knows everything, and He accepted the Will of the Master. So Dear Ones, when He accepted the Will of the Master, Master Sawan Singh also did not hide anything from Him.

Dear Ones, I say this from the depth of my heart. If I were to impose my wishes, the wishes of my heart on the Master, I would not have started doing this work of giving the Initiation. I would not have done the seva in His mission. Because I had done the devotion in such a way that I suffered hunger and thirst. I did the devotion thinking that I would get peace, that I would always remain connected with God Almighty. I did not do the devotion for doing what I am doing now, because Master Kirpal had told me everything that He went through. Whatever happened with Him, the same things are happening with me, also. I always wanted to run away from this, because I was hearing from Him, what He was going through.

Dear Ones, remaining hungry, I have spoiled the taste of my tongue. I have never tried good foods, I have never tried wearing good clothes. And there is no question of me watching any plays or any games or any other kind of entertainment, even though in my father's home where I was born and where I was brought up, there was no dearth of anything. There was no lacking of the love there, there was no lacking of the money there. My father did so much, wishing that I would find my heart in my home and that I would remain attached there.

Dear Ones, when I go abroad to do the seva of the dear ones, no one can say that they have seen me wandering or visiting the beaches or doing the sightseeing in the cities and like that. Pappu has been with me for a very long time, and he does not need to spare me; if he has seen any worldly thing in me, he can say that to my face. If he has seen any worldly thing or if he sees any taste of the food, or any plays or games or things like that, he can say that to my face. I always say that the people who are traveling with me, who have been with me for so long, if they have found anything in me like that, they can tell that to me to my face. Or I will tell them what they have been doing, because I have seen them doing so much. But who can say anything regarding me, because I have not done anything like that, and they haven't seen any worldly thing.

I do have a habit which I try to give up, but so far I have not been successful in doing that. And that is that I try to help the dying people. If anyone is going to do an abortion, I try to help that person so that the abortion doesn't happen. Many times in doing that, I have even had to sell my property to help the people. Sometimes I try to make the efforts to give this habit up, but still I have not been successful in doing that.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Master, at the beginning of Your mission, You used to say that the Master does not necessarily come at the time of the disciple's death, that He would come depending on the disciple's behavior. This made me feel a little confused, because at the time of the Initiation, we are given the warranty that He will come at the moment of our death. Could you clarify this doubt? Thank you.

SANT JI: [Sant Ji chuckles] Well, you don't need to be sad. In the answer which I gave for the first question, this thing is covered; this thing is answered.

Well, Dear Children, all of your questions were very good. Sometimes in answering some of the questions I become emotional. I can't control myself, and I get swept away in the emotions. But the reality is that I am speaking as He is making me speak. And I do know this fact that on my back, on my head, that great Power, Beloved Lord Kirpal, is there. He has been protecting me, and He has been protecting everyone. And as He had told me that He will be responsible for the people who will receive the Initiation from me, so that is why I know that He is protecting me, and that He will protect all the dear ones who are initiated. That is why after giving the Initiation, I become worryless, because I know that He on whom there is such a great power, Master Kirpal, that He does not need to worry about anything. He has been showering grace upon us, and He will shower His grace upon us.

Once a girl was singing a bhajan in front of Master Sawan Singh, which said that the owner of the sangat will liberate us Himself. Master Sawan Singh Ji said, "You should not sing that bhajan, because if you will sing that bhajan the sangat will give up meditating." [Sant Ji chuckles] It is your work to do the Bhajan and Simran, and you should do your meditations. If the Master will take you Himself, if the Master liberates you Himself, then you will feel much pain. But if you will do your Bhajan and Simran, then it will become easier for you to go along with the Master.

Then there was another woman who started singing this bhajan, which said that, the Master will Himself take me, the one who is weeping and crying with the pain. So the dear ones are also like this, and when the dear ones make such requests, when they sing such bhajans for the Master, the Masters also tell us the reality in Their own strict way.

1997 October: Give First Priority to Meditation

Session Date: February 17, 1996

This question and answer session was given on February 17, 1996, at the S.K.A. Retreat near Sampla, India.

QUESTION: Master, could You please talk about the Master-disciple relationship before one has manifested Your Radiant Form inside?

SANT JI: Salutations unto the feet of Supreme Fathers, Almighty Lords Sawan and Kirpal, Who showering Their limitless grace upon us, the separated souls, the forgetful souls, the souls who are being drowned in this ocean of life. Graciously They chose us, They found us, and They have united us and have made us do Their devotion.

Dear Ones, the reality is that when we turn our face from the passions and the indulgences of this world, when we rise above the nine openings of the body and go within, the experience which we get over there can be understood and can be had only by our soul. Our mind and intellect cannot have any understanding about the experience which our soul gets over there.

The Light of Ajaib

When the soul tastes the nectar of love over there, then she becomes absorbed, she mingles in that love, and this question of what is the relationship between the disciple and the Master is answered by itself over there. Before that we always remain involved in our mental pursuits. We always go on thinking: “How would the Master have given me the Initiation if I had not gone to receive Initiation from Him?” or “If I had not known about the Master from a certain person, how would I have come across the Master and how would He have given me the Initiation?” We always remain the mental wrestlers and we always remain involved in our mental thinking.

After reaching her destination, the soul herself comes to know what is the relationship between her and the Master. And then she also understands what the job of the Master is and how the Master has been given the job by God Almighty to search for His souls and how going to different places, the Master searches and finds His lost souls. For the perfect Master distance does not make any difference, and also the caste of the person, or the place, or the other things do not make any difference to Him because He has been given the job by God Almighty to collect His souls. He goes to far and near places, He cuts all the attachments and all the bonds, and He finds His lost souls.

He Himself searches for His souls. Either He Himself goes to that soul or He Himself makes someone as a medium, as a means, through which He calls that soul toward Him.

Sometimes the representatives also wonder how to make the decision, how to decide if a certain person who is asking for the Initiation is ready for the Initiation or not – even though they are told the basic requirements, and that if anyone fulfills these basic requirements, then you can convey the Initiation instructions to them. But the reality is that unless God Almighty sits within a person, unless He creates the yearning within them to do the devotion of God, and unless He Himself moves the key within them, no one can come to the Master and ask for Initiation.

The representatives are told on the outer level to decide about the person, whether he should be given the Initiation or not, because they have still not reached that place where they can, looking at the person, easily say if that person is ready for the Initiation or not. It is like not all the clouds have the rainbows in them. Rare are the clouds which have the rainbows in them. In the same way, Masters are the only Ones who, looking at the forehead of a person, can say if he has been encouraged and inspired, if he has been chosen by God Almighty to do His devotion or not. When any person comes in front of the Masters, They can easily tell if that person is ready for the Initiation.

Guru Ramdas said that only he on whose forehead that Word of God is written comes to the Satguru. Only the Saints can read that Word which is written on the forehead of a person who is going to be initiated or who is supposed to get the Initiation and do the devotion. Otherwise in the within, how can you recognize the souls? Saints are the competent Ones, and They are the only Ones Who know how to read that Word which has been written on the forehead of the person.

That Word is not written in any worldly language, in any worldly script. In the army I got the opportunity to cremate many dead bodies, and over there we would [sometimes] find a special kind of sign on the forehead of the skulls of the dead bodies. At that time, since I did not have any knowledge of that Word, we used to have our own estimates about that special sign or that special Word, but when I came to Beloved Lord Kirpal, and when He made me competent in reading that Word, then I came to realize that the dead bodies which I had cremated, some of them also had had that Word which God Almighty puts on the forehead of the chosen souls.

The Light of Ajaib

So Guru Sahib said that those on whose forehead that Word of the Lord is written come to the Satguru, and Master lights up the lamp of knowledge and removes the darkness of ignorance from within such a soul. Only those in whose forehead that Word is written, that grace of God is written, come in contact with the Master, and the Master lights up their lamp of knowledge. He gives them the Naam and He removes the darkness of ignorance. You know that when there is all light within, then you can see all the things very clearly. Once your within becomes illuminated, then you are able to search for and you are able to find that precious treasure, that gem of Naam, which cannot be stolen by anyone, which cannot be burned by any fire, which cannot be taken away by anyone. So that is why Guru Sahib says here that unless God Almighty writes that Word on your forehead, you cannot come to the Master and cannot remove the darkness of ignorance and cannot get the gem of Naam.

Nanak said, "O Nanak, by meditating on the Naam, one realizes God Almighty." So after getting the Naam from the perfect Master, we do not have to just keep it, we have to work hard on it, we have to meditate upon it. Even in the worldly work, we need to work very hard if we want to progress, if we want to gain anything. In the same way, Spirituality also demands a lot of hard work. For years, you have to work very hard. So after receiving the Naam from the perfect Master, you don't have to just sit upon it, you have to meditate upon it and work very hard for it.

Dear Ones, it is the responsibility of the pilot to take the people who have boarded the plane to their destination, and there is no doubt in the fact that once you have gotten the Naam from the perfect Master you will be liberated, you will be taken across. But who are the brave ones? Only those who meditate upon that Naam. They gain the pleasure of the Master and please the Master very much, if they do their meditations.

QUESTION: Master, I just want to make sure I understand something. The Simran is the only medicine to improve our lives and by doing it, love for the Master develops. Is that right?

SANT JI: Often you may have sung this bhajan, that "Kirpal gives only this message, And even the wind tells the same thing: that If you keep on doing the Simran the destination will come to you by itself," So Simran is the only medicine for all the sicknesses, and Simran is the only thing which will take you to your destination,

Also in the bhajan of Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj you sing: "Do the Simran of God Almighty with your every breath so that the worries of your mind may come to an end," He says you do not know what is going to happen and you always keep worrying about it, and in order to remove those worries, or to remove all the other difficulties, you should do the Simran with your every single breath. Don't let even one breath go without doing the Simran. When you breathe in, do the Simran, and even when you breathe out, you should do the Simran. Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj said that the Formless Lord is present within every Simran.

QUESTION: When leaving off Simran and beginning Bhajan practice, if one feels one is being pulled down, and hearing the Sound Current becomes difficult, can one leave off Bhajan practice and repeat the Five Names again, until one has returned to the Light again? Or should one stay with Bhajan practice only and attempt to deepen one's meditation in this way?

SANT JI: Dear Ones, the reality is that the dear ones don't understand the importance of doing the Simran. If you were to do the Simran all the time, whether you are sitting or standing, walking or talking, even if you are in the toilet and you are doing the Simran, then when you will sit for the meditation, you will not have to struggle with the Simran. If you have completed the course of the Simran by doing the Simran at other times, then what will happen? The moment you will sit down for the meditation, your body will become empty, you will rise above your body-consciousness, and your attention will go straight to the Eye Center into the Light. Then you will not have to worry about doing the Simran, because you would have already completed the course of your Simran, and then you will also start hearing the Sound Current. Unless you have completed the course of Simran, even if you are able to bring your attention to the Eye Center, even if you are able to hear the Sound Current, that Sound will not pull you up because of the lack of Simran. And you may feel that somebody is pulling you down. No one is pulling you down; it is only because of the lack of Simran that you are not able to hold your attention at the Eye Center. So that is why, it is always suggested that you should do the Simran all the time, so that when you sit for the meditation, your attention may go right up to the Eye Center into the Light.

Dear Ones, the magnet pulls a piece of iron toward itself only when the iron comes within range of the magnet. Even though the magnet is still powerful, but unless the iron comes in the range of the magnet, it does not get pulled by the magnet. In the same way, once the iron gets in touch with the magnet, it can be removed only when you remove it; otherwise, by itself, it cannot be removed from the magnet. In the same way, when the soul, after doing the Simran, concentrates and goes in the range of the Shabd – because the Shabd is coming from above our head – so when the soul goes into the range of the Shabd, then the Shabd Himself pulls the soul toward Him. Until we concentrate, even though we may hear the Shabd during the day, or when we are walking or doing other things, we may still hear the Sound, and also during the night time, we may hear the Sound, but unless we have concentrated at the Eye Center, that Shabd does not pull our soul up. But we should keep doing the Bhajan practice after doing the Simran. We must every day sit in the Bhajan practice and listen to the Sound Current.

QUESTION: Dear Master, how can we best make and keep our hearts like iron?

SANT JI: We require meditation in order to make our heart, our within, strong like iron. Often I remind you of the words of Beloved Lord Kirpal, and once again I will repeat those words, as He used to say, “Just as we need good food for the nourishment of our bodies, in the same way, we need the meditation for nourishing our souls.” If we eat good quality food and fruits, we make our bodies very strong and healthy. In the same way, if we keep giving the food of meditation to our soul, our soul will also become very strong.

The reality is that if we keep ourselves away from doing the sins, if we keep ourselves away from indulging in the pleasures, then our heart becomes very strong. When we indulge in the pleasures and we do the bad things, our sins make us weak from within. A weak heart is like a gourd, and our sins, our bad deeds, go on frightening us from our within.

A weak-hearted person will criticize and will be jealous of others, because a weak-hearted person cannot stand somebody else being praised.

Since the heart of the Saints is strong, that is why They even accept and forgive Their critics. They never respond to Their critic in the tone of criticism. Either They respond in love or They just laugh at the criticism.

When, with the orders of Aurangzeb, the Mogul Emperor, Sarmad was being executed – you know that when someone is being hanged, then his head is covered with a piece of cloth – so when He was being covered with that hood, He said, “O dear one, I recognize You in any form You come, and I welcome You.” He said that because even in the person who was executing Him, He saw His Beloved Master, and that is why He said, “I welcome You. You come to me in any form You want.”

You may read the histories of all the past Masters, Those Who were tortured by the rulers of that time. Some were thrown in the hot fire, some were made to sit on the hot coals, and some were put in the hot, boiling water. So you may read the histories of those past Masters, and you will find that They never got upset at those who were killing Them. Instead They prayed to God Almighty saying, “O Lord, kindly forgive them because they do not know what bad karma they are doing.” They never cursed anyone for the bad deeds they were doing to Them.

We people are weak-hearted, and that is why if we have done any good to anyone, and if there is any misunderstanding between us and that person, see how we go on taunting that person, see how we go on blaming that person, and we always go on singing our own praises.

Dear Ones, there is a great secret behind this fact that the Masters never curse anyone, because the jiva is going to get liberation only after coming back to the same Master, only after coming back to the same door. That is why the Masters never curse anyone, because the Masters know that this jiva is going to get liberation only after coming to Them. So that is why if They were to curse anyone, with which mouth could They ask for forgiveness for that soul from God Almighty? The jivas can say very easily, “O Master, forgive me.” But how could the Masters, if They had cursed that jiva, pray to God Almighty to forgive that soul?

The Mahatmas Whose Inner Eyes are opened always say that the Light is the same, the practices are the same; They come back changing the bodies.

The soul is the same, and if the same soul comes back into this world again and again, that soul cannot be cut by any knife, it cannot be destroyed by anything, it cannot be burned in any fire. In the same way, the Shabd also can never be destroyed. The Shabd also comes back into this world again and again in different bodies, and it is the Shabd who connects us with God Almighty.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj said that no matter in how many bodies a jiva goes, unless he comes to the Satguru, he cannot get the Naam. Once again he will have to come to the Satguru and devote himself to the meditation of the Naam, and only then will he get the liberation. So Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj said that no matter in how many bodies we go, we will not get liberation unless we come to the perfect Master. When we will come back to the perfect Master, we will have to do the same thing – just like now we have got the Simran and we are asked to do the meditation. Only by doing the meditation can we get the liberation, so no matter how many bodies we go into, but finally, our liberation will happen only when we will come to the perfect Master and do the meditation of Naam given to us by Him.

QUESTION: Dear Sant Ji, unless I misunderstood You, during the last Question and Answer session, You said that loving husbands, wives, sons, and daughters is the love of the Negative Power. Yet You say that marriage is no bar to spirituality, and that we should love, appreciate, and respect our spouse. Also, we should love and care for children in a very special way. These seem to be two opposing views, and this has always confused me. Could you please clear this up for me?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: We make all these loves as the love of the Negative Power because we make all these relations, we make all these loves as everything, and we forget our real goal, our real work of the meditation of the Shabd Naam.

Saints have been married and also They have been the renunciates, but Their teachings are the same. They have said that marriage does not interfere with Spirituality. The children don't say, "Don't meditate," the wife never says, "Don't meditate," or the husband never says, "Don't meditate." It is only because we go away from the love that we have difficulties with each other; we start fighting with each other. Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say that if you throw a little bit of love in any family, that family will become like a heaven. So if you really love each other, will you not meditate more? Will you not meditate more if there will be love in your family?

Saints explain to us that we should live like a water fowl lives in water. You know that a water fowl lives in water, eats there, does everything over there, but whenever she leaves the water, she flies out with the dry wings. In the same way, we should be living in this world, but we should give the importance, the first priority, to the meditation and to the Master.

Dear Ones, in the scriptures, the Rishis and Munis were ridiculed because they ran away from their responsibilities toward their families. They went into the forest, they ran away from their family responsibilities, but outside of the family they had to do the same things [to maintain themselves], and that is why they became the cause of people laughing at them.

What do most people do? They don't get married because they don't want to attend to the responsibilities, and instead they go on committing adultery with so many different people. If they say that they are not getting married because they don't want to get the love of the Negative Power, they are wrong, because instead of getting married, they are doing a bad thing, they are committing adultery, and they are adding to the burden which they have to carry.

That is why in Spirituality, in the Path of the Masters, marriage is not considered to be a bad thing. Because if you are married, then your mind will remain quiet, and you will be sure, you will know that you have everything. If you are not married, then always your mind will go on bothering you; you will always go on desiring other people, and in that way mind will always keep you restless. Guru Nanak Sahib said that rare are the ones, maybe one out of millions, who get the Bhajan or the meditation of the Naam of Lord. Rare are they who, without getting married, would remain in this world and get the meditation of the Naam and go back becoming successful.

Guru Nanak Sahib even said, "If you don't lose the vital fluid even in the state of the dream, only then you can be called as the brave one. Blessed is the life of such a person who does not lose his vital fluid, even in the dreams."

But what is our condition? We are married, but still in the state of the dreams, we go on doing the same bad things, and when dear ones tell me about that, I feel embarrassed.

So the question was about the love of the Negative Power. Our love becomes that of the Negative Power when we remain limited only for the family and the children, and we give up doing our devotion and our meditation. If we give the first priority to meditation, then the few days which we have to spend with our family, we will live with the family in a very easy way and also go back to our Real Home by doing the meditation.

The Light of Ajaib

You may have heard the story of Sringeri Rishi many times, and once again I will tell you this story. Right from his childhood, with the thoughts of being a renunciate, he left his home and went into the forest and he started living there all by himself, and he would not eat anything. He would practice his meditation or devotion, and he would lick one part of a tree just once a day and that was all. So he would only live off the air, he would not eat or drink anything, and he became very famous. Now the king of that place, King Dasrath, did not have any children, so he asked the astrologists how he could have children. They said, “There is only one way: if Sringeri Rishi comes and performs a yajna, only then there is a hope that you may get some children.” So King Dasrath wanted Sringeri Rishi to come into the city and perform the yajna, but Sringeri Rishi was so much devoted to his practices that he did not want to come into the city. No matter what King Dasrath did, but still Sringeri Rishi would not agree to come to the city.

So then King Dasrath announced a reward and one woman came forward and said, “I can bring Sringeri Rishi to the city to perform the yajna.” So King Dasrath told her to go and try. “If you will become successful in bringing him to the city, then you can have whatever you will ask for.” That woman went in the forest disguising herself as a woman sadhu, and she stayed at a distance, and she observed what Sringeri Rishi was doing all day and how he was living. She saw that once a day he licked a tree, so at the place where he would lick, she pasted some honey, and Sringeri Rishi liked that sweetness very much, and instead of licking there once, he started licking there twice. So when the woman saw that, she put even more honey over there and then gradually some good, nourishing food, and gradually Sringeri Rishi also started talking with that woman, thinking that she has all these nourishing and sweet things. So she presented halvah and some other good things to him, and when he started eating those good foods, he became healthier, he got the strength in his body, and then the woman was there, so they indulged, and as a result, many children were born.

After some time, that woman told Sringeri Rishi, “Now it is too hard for us to survive in the forest because of the children, so we should move to the city.” Whenever I tell this story, I always laugh – because the way Sringeri Rishi came into the city carrying his children was similar to what most of the American dear ones do when they have several children. They carry the children, one is in a backpack, one is in the front; so like that, Sringeri Rishi came to the city with so many children, and he performed the yajna. But somebody taunted him and said, “We have heard so much glory of Sringeri Rishi, but look at him; he has so many children.”

He was very brave. When he heard that taunt, he realized what a great mistake he had done. So he left that place and ran back to the forest and started doing his devotion there.

So what I mean to say is that even the great Rishis and Munis were not spared by this. So that is why the Masters always lovingly explain to us that we don't have to give up our families, we don't have to give up our worldly relations. We have to understand the reality of them. We have to understand how much we should get attached to them. We should not become attached to them; we should attend to our responsibilities. But our first importance, our first priority, should be the Master and the meditation. We should, while living with the family, remain detached from them.

Dear Ones, there is no need to be confused about this. Neither the children are bad, nor the wife is bad, nor the husband is bad. They all are very good, but we must understand the reality. We should understand Who is the One Who will go with us: the One Who will go with us is the Master and His Naam.

Should the fragrance of the love not come out from your within? Should your neighbors not know that you go to a perfect Master? If you go to Satsang, if you go to the Masters, and do the meditation, and still the husband and wife fight with each other, and are not in harmony, if there are difficulties with the children, what will the neighbors think of you? Will they take your example? Will they be inspired to come to the Master? What will they think about you?

Don't the Masters tell us that we should love our neighbors as we expect to be loved? Are the family members, the children, and the wife not included in that? It is our responsibility to love everyone and to respect everyone.

Dear Ones, in the beginning I said that if we do the meditation, if we go within, if we vacate the nine openings, then we understand all these riddles ourselves.

1997 November: Working in the Will of God

Session Date: December 16, 1995

This question and answer talk was given December 16, 1995, at the S.K.A. Retreat, near Sampla, India.

QUESTION: Why is it that some initiates of Kirpal do not have any desire to seek the Guru successor, the old friend in a new coat, and some others could not find peace until they could find him?

SANT JI: Salutations unto the feet of Supreme Father Almighty Lords Sawan and Kirpal Who, showering Their limitless grace upon us, have given us the opportunity to sit in Their remembrance and sing Their glory.

Dear Ones, always in the Satsang I have said, and reading the writings of all the Param Sants, we come to know, that every soul has his own angle of vision. Every soul has his own karmas and according to his karmas, the program of his day-to-day life is made. As Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, "There are six things which are written in our destiny and all the souls come with that written destiny. And according to that destiny we get richness, poverty, good health, sickness, pains, and happiness." Everything happens in our life at the appropriate time, at the determined time. But since we are the ignorant ones, we do not know why this thing has happened in our life, why this event has taken place in our life, and that is why we become confused. But all the things which happen in our life are all predetermined according to our own karmas of our past lifetime.

When we see that all the events which are taking place in our life are according to the Will of God, and that everything is happening at its fixed time, everything is working in the Will of God, in the same way, this thing also is predetermined: it is determined for every single person whether he will get to the perfect Master in this lifetime or not, and after getting to the perfect Master, whether he will get the Initiation from Him or not, and whether he will have any faith in Him. In this lifetime, should he be brought to the Master or should he not be brought to the Master? All these things are also predetermined. Even if the Master comes and starts living in our neighborhood, but if it is not written in our destiny, if our time has not yet come, we will not be able to take any advantage of His [presence].

I will tell you the story of Guru Nanak and Baba Buddha. Baba Buddha used to raise cattle. And once Guru Nanak Sahib, accompanied by Bhai Bala and Mardana, were going by – in those days since there were not so many good means of transportation, they used to travel by walking. So once they were walking and they came to the place, which was like a wilderness, where Baba Buddha used to graze his cattle. Guru Nanak Sahib sat there and then Baba Buddha, whose name in his childhood was Buddha, came there. He thought that Guru Nanak was some holy man, so he offered to bring things for Him. He said, "If You wish, I could bring the milk of my goats. I could get something for You from my home." So when Guru Nanak Sahib heard him saying all those wise things, He said, "You are very young in age, but you talk like an old man, like an elder man." So from then on Guru Nanak Sahib gave him the name of Baba Buddha.

Baba Buddha was a person who had the privilege of living a very long life, and he used to perform the ceremony of putting the tilak mark, which is like a saffron mark, on the forehead of the successor, up to the sixth Master, the sixth Sikh Guru. And even though there were so many people after Guru Nanak Sahib left who were not interested in seeking Guru Nanak's successor, and it went on happening after every Master left the body, but Baba Buddha was the one who always recognized the successor. He was always present there to do the tilak ceremony of all the Masters up to the sixth Guru.

The people of the village where Bhai Lehna used to live used to worship the goddess Jiwalaji, and Bhai Lehna was also a very sincere devotee of goddess Jiwalaji. But once it so happened that he met with an initiate of Guru Nanak, and Bhai Lehna asked him about the Master. So that initiate of Guru Nanak told him about the greatness of the Master and how if one worships the Master and does the meditation of the Naam given by the perfect Master, that includes the worship and the devotion of all the gods and goddesses, and how all these gods and goddesses were nowhere in comparison to the perfect Master, Who is the incarnate of the Shabd Naam.

After Bhai Lehna heard about the greatness of the Master, once when he was on a pilgrimage to the place where they have a temple of goddess Jiwalaji, on the way he passed Kartarpur, the place where Guru Nanak Sahib used to live. Bhai Lehna thought, "Before going to my destination, I should go and at least see Guru Nanak Dev," because he had heard about Him. When Bhai Lehna went and saw Guru Nanak, just by exchanging his glance with Guru Nanak he was stunned. He was so impressed and he felt that this was the place where he should be. He forgot all his attachment to all the things which he was doing before with the goddess, and he fell at the feet of Guru Nanak.

Guru Nanak Sahib asked him what his name was. He said, "My name is Lehna." In the Punjabi language "Lehna" means that "I have to receive." So Guru Nanak Sahib said, "If your name is 'Lehna' then I have to give to you. If you are the one to receive, then I have to give to you." After that, whatever seva Guru Nanak Sahib gave to him, Bhai Lehna always did that with all his love and sincerity.

And he did so much devotion of Guru Nanak Dev that once Guru Nanak Sahib called him and He said, "I am so pleased with your seva and now I will make you a part of my body." And from then onward, Guru Nanak Sahib gave him the name of Angad. So from Bhai Lehna, he became Guru Angad.

Perfect Masters know everything that is going to happen. And Guru Nanak Sahib also knew that after He would leave, Guru Angad would not be appreciated and respected by His sons, by His family, and the people over there. So some time before He left the body, He told Guru Angad to go back to His own village. So Guru Angad returned to His village.

After that Guru Nanak's son, Sri Chand – who was not initiated by Guru Nanak Dev, he was initiated by Abinashi Muni, who had initiation of Two Words and belonged to the sect of Udasis – so Sri Chand had the initiation from Abinashi Muni, so he also had a gaddhi, he also ran a path parallel to the path of Guru Angad, even though he was not initiated by Guru Nanak.

The Light of Ajaib

So this thing has always been going on. It is not a new thing that some people go to the successors and others don't go to the successors. This has been going on for ages and ages. There are some fortunate souls who will not find any peace and contentment unless they go and find the successor of the perfect Master. But there are many who don't want to go, or those who don't have the desire to seek the successor of the perfect Master, and it is all according to their own fate, to their destiny. Those in whose forehead it is written that they will go to the successor of the perfect Master, only they are brought to His feet. Otherwise, the other people, they just wander here and there.

Baba Amolak Das had the initiation from Baba Sri Chand, because Baba Sri Chand also lived a very long life, and so did Baba Amolak Das. He lived for maybe 140 or 150 years. Baba Bishan Das also got the inner secret from Baba Amolak Das. I vaguely remember seeing Baba Amolak Das, what his face looked like. I had the opportunity to serve him; I served him some milk. So I am third in the order after Baba Sri Chand to receive the initiation into the Two Words.

Dear Ones, regarding Sri Chand, I am not telling you anything from the books. Whatever I have seen myself, face-to-face, I am telling you.

Baba Amolak Das initiated only two people, Baba Bishan Das and King Bupinder Singh of Patiala. And this is true that through His blessings – it was like a boon from Baba Amolak Das – Hira Singh got the kingdom of the State of Nabha. The place where Baba Amolak Das used to live was halfway between a village called Beruki and on the other side there was this town or State of Nabha. And Hira Singh, who later on became the King of Nabha State, used to be a very poor person. He used to have a camel cart on which he used to take the loads from the village Beruki to the town of Nabha. But he was so devoted that every time he would go by Baba Amolak Das' place, he would go and first bow down at Baba Amolak Das and then he would go on to Nabha. And on the way back also, he would not miss going to Baba Amolak Das and seeing Him there.

This went on for a long time, and one day Baba Amolak Das told Hira Singh, "Hira Singh, ask whatever you want, you may ask for it." Hira Singh replied, "O Lord, I have everything; You have given me everything." But Baba Amolak Das said, "No, you should ask for something and it will be given to you." Again Hira Singh said the same thing. So three times he said that he was very content with whatever he had. But such is the Will of the Master Saints, and when They come in Their Will and if They want to give something to the disciple, They will give it. So Baba Amolak Das said, "Should I not make you the King of the State of Nabha"?

Usually what happens when a Master is giving a boon? When He is showering His grace and giving the blessings to somebody, the people around Him don't believe in Him. They think that He is just saying this for nothing and it has no value, that it has no meaning. But that was the reality. So when people around Him heard that Baba Amolak Das was saying, "I'll make you the King of the State of Nabha," after that, all Hira Singh's friends started making fun of him. In the marketplace they would always say, "Okay, let us go and put our load on the camel cart of the King of Nabha." But it so happened that when Bhagwan Singh, who was the King of Nabha, left the body, he did not have any son, he did not leave anyone as a successor.

At that time, India was ruled by the British, and they were very just rulers. So what happens is that if there is no successor, they try to find someone who is the closest relative. In the city of Hardwar, where people go to perform the final rites and throw the ashes in the River Ganges, there the accounts are kept; they have the names of all the family members, all of the ancestors and like that. So from there, the British found that Hira Singh was the closest relative of the departed King Bhagwan Singh, and because of this justice of the British rulers, Hira Singh was made the king of the State of Nabha. And this is true that Hira Singh was an illiterate. He did not even know how to sign his name, but he became the leader of all the kings of the States of India.

I have done many Satsangs on the writings of Bhai Gurdas but because of the lack of time it still has not been published by Sant Bani Ashram. But in those discourses you will find the answers to such kind of questions. Bhai Gurdas was the uncle of Guru Arjan Dev, and he also lived in the time of three Masters: Guru Ramdas, Guru Arjan Dev, and Guru Har Gobind. He left his body only in the time of Guru Har Gobind, and He was also like Baba Buddha, one of those who recognized the successor of the Satgurus. Because those who go within, those who do the meditation and go within, they are the only ones who know where the Light of their Master is working.

So when, after Guru Ramdas left the body, there was a controversy over the successorship and there was a fight between the brothers, the sons of Guru Ram Das, Bhai Gurdas and Baba Buddha were the only ones who helped in solving this problem of the successorship.

So Dear Ones, many people get stuck in forming the parties; they get stuck in “I” and “mine” and I-hood. But all the Masters have said that the Truth never perishes, Truth never loses its existence; there are always some people who recognize the Truth. As Master Kirpal used to say, “It is the same Light. It is only that one bulb fuses and another replaces that fused bulb, but the Light which is coming is the same.”

QUESTION: Sant Ji, I read again in an old Sant Bani Magazine the story Russell Perkins told of when You had him meditate alone with you at 77RB in May 1976. It is an inspiring account. In this account, Russell tells of the pain he experienced and how much better he was able to concentrate by sitting perfectly still and straight. You told him that if he practiced sitting perfectly still and straight for ten to fifteen days regularly, the pain would not be a problem and that he would not fall asleep in meditation and the spiritual progress would be accelerated. Would You please comment further on this? It would appear that many of us, especially me, would benefit from being able to handle pain better, to not fall asleep in meditation, arid to progress spiritually faster.

SANT JI: What can I tell you about that time? Because the time when I met with Russell Perkins was such that I myself was very sad; I was very perturbed. I would come out from my room only for one hour in twenty-four hours. And the first meeting which I had with Russell Perkins, at that time, in that meeting, I was only able to rebuke him. Some sweet words, some sour words, that is the only thing I could do with him in the very first meeting which I had with him.

It is true that if he had, if that person had, even a little bit of weakness in him, the way I behaved with him, he would not have come back to me; he would not have stood in front of me. Because he had been hearing things like: “He will not see anyone; He doesn’t allow anyone to come to His place.” From Ganganagar he was getting only this message. The group leaders and the people who knew me over there, they had also told him that there is no use of going there because I will not allow him there. But looking at his devotion, looking at his eagerness, the group leader, Jagir Singh said, “We cannot go against His wishes, but because of your devotion” – he agreed to send his son with Russell so that he might come and see me.

The Light of Ajaib

When he came, at that time, the sevadar who used to live with me had never seen any Westerner before. He became so nervous seeing the Westerners that he ran upstairs to me and told me, “The Westerners have come!” So I told him, “Don’t worry. Go and make them sit, and then I will call them.” So when I called them, at that time, it was such a time, everyone was so nervous, that Kulwant, who was accompanying Russell, in his nervousness, when I asked him to introduce all the people, instead of introducing Linda, his wife, as his wife, he said that Linda was Russell’s wife.

So Dear Ones, if someone sits at the door of the Master, becoming stubborn and devoted, then the Master also has to give something to him. So it was because of his eagerness that he got what he got. As Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say, “If we have already prepared ourselves, then we don’t have to go through so much pain, we don’t feel so much pain.” It is like if you try to lift up a piece of silken cloth from a thorny bush, if you do it all at once, using all your force, then you will tear the piece of cloth into pieces. But if you do it gradually, slowly, then you can easily remove it from the thorns. In the same way, before going to the Master, if you are prepared, then you don’t have to go through all this pain.

So whatever happened with Russell Perkins, the attention which he got was because of his devotion, because of his sincerity – he got so many other things which are not written in that account. It is very difficult to make the heart like Russell’s.

And the reality is that it is very difficult to make a Sadhu also like this: He who does not want to see anyone, He who does not want to meet anyone. And this is a reality that if we become stubborn and if we go and meet that Sadhu, and if we have the sincerity, and if we are searching for Him, then we will definitely benefit from Him and then no doubt will remain there.

When Makhan Shah Labana went to search for Guru Teg Bahadur, and when he recognized Him, he went onto the rooftop and he shouted, “I have found the Guru, I have found the Guru!” And this is a fact that at that time there were twenty-two claimants to the successorship and they also were there and they all were claiming that they were the Master. But when Makhan Shah Labana found Guru Teg Bahadur, he proclaimed Him all over the world and no doubt remained in his mind.

Guru Teg Bahadur belonged to the Sodhi family. And when it was said that the true Master is at the place called Baba Bakala then all the members of the Sodhi family sent their preachers over there. But the one who has to recognize, the one who has to search for the True Master, he will go and find the True One, no matter what happens.

Before coming to me, Russell Perkins had met many other dear ones who had made him sit on the dais and had served him tea and had given him a lot of respect. But this poor fakir did not have any worldly dais for him, nor did He give any worldly respect or any name and fame to him. I think that if Russell Perkins had been hungry for the name and fame and for the worldly things, then he would never have come to me. Because he could easily have gotten better places to stay than with me, he could have got better food than what I could offer to him – because from me, he only got the rebukes.

Kabir Sahib says, “It is better to have a fight or a duel with the Sadhu than to have a union with a worldly person.” Because even in the duel, even in quarreling and fighting, the Sadhu will give us something, because at that time, the stream of the Shabd will be flowing in the Master, in the Sadhu, even in a more powerful way. So even while quarreling, He would give us something.

The Light of Ajaib

As Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “When a potter hits a pot from outside, he puts his other hand on the inside to give support.” So even if we are quarreling with the Master, still we are gaining, we are benefiting, because He is giving to us even in that quarrel.

So Dear Ones, when the dear one becomes still, the Master, the Sadhu, is always ready, He is always willing to give. The question is of the receiver. Because to bring out a Sadhu like me and take Him out in this world, such a Sadhu Who has been sitting underground, it was not an easy thing.

So it was all due to the courage of Russell Perkins, Doris Matthijetz, Kent Bicknell, Anne Wiggins, David Wiggins, and all the other dear ones. It was because of their love, support, and their courage that I was brought out into this world, because I had already made up my mind that, “What do I have to take from this world? Let me just sit underground and do the meditation.”

I remember very well, once Doris showed me many pictures telling me that it will be like this, or this will be like that. She showed me many pictures. And at that time, I was laughing very much in my within. And when we went to Florida, we met Jonas [Gerard] over there, who asked me if I had ever seen such an airport. So I told him that if you go within, you will find millions of such airports, even better than this one, if you go in the within.

So Dear Ones, we should also sit in the meditation, making our mind like Russell Perkins, because the grace of the Master is for everyone. So we should also take the encouragement and the inspiration from the account of that dear one.

What can I say regarding the glory and praise of my beloved Master? Mother Millie herself told me how Master Kirpal had told her, “He Who is going to work after me will need a mother very badly in this world.” And Master Kirpal had drunk from the same cup from which Mother Millie had drunk her tea, and He had said, “You will have to be His mother, and you will have to take care of Him.” And as long as Mother Millie lived in this world, she served me, she took care of me like a very devoted mother; like a very loving mother, she took care of me.

Mother Millie came to 77 RB Ashram, and she told me that she had such orders, and I said, “Yes, I do need a mother.” After that, she was always a loving mother, and she took very good care of me. Whenever I went to Sant Bani Ashram or to the other places, wherever she would be, after the Satsang, until she would come and kiss me good night, she would not feel any contentment. So she was like a real mother and very loving mother to me.

Dear Ones, I was brought up in the Indian culture, where kissing is understood as a very bad thing, but whenever she would come near me, I would always put myself in front of her. No matter how many people were there of the sangat, but I would always allow her to kiss me.

When we went to Nanaimo, Pappu’s grandmother, who left her body in Canada, came there and she came close to Pappu to give him a kiss, and Pappu moved backward. I told him, “Pappu, let her do that. She is only giving you a kiss.” I mean, it is not in the [habits] of we Indians, because according to our culture, kissing is considered to be a bad thing.

So what can I say in the praises of my Beloved Master? He is the One Who gives us the recognition; He is the One Who makes us recognize Him. On the earth there is Kirpal, in the water there is Kirpal, in the sky there is Kirpal. Kirpal is the One Who comes, Kirpal is the One Who protects. Everywhere there is Kirpal.

The Light of Ajaib

There are many great Rishis and Munis, but even they could not sing the praises of the Master. Guru Nanak Sahib says, “How we can praise the Master? Because Master is the One Who is capable of doing everything. He is the Omnipotent One.” In India, still there are many people alive – many of them have died, but still there are many people alive – who had been told by my Beloved Master, “You should take care of my Sadhu.”

As I have often said, the mother who gave birth to me. I did not see her, and the mother who brought me up, who took care of me, she loved me very much, and I was also attached to her love so much so that I did not have any other attachment, I did not love anyone else like I loved my mother. And it was very difficult for me to give up the love and attachment for my mother.

But when I met Beloved Lord Kirpal, the love which He gave me was such that it became very easy for me to give up the love and the attachment to my mother. He gave me so much love that I became the intoxicated one in that love, and I forgot everything. I forgot the entire world, I forgot everything. I only remembered Him, because His love was such that I cannot describe it with words. It cannot be talked about, it can only be felt in the soul. That was something which my soul experienced, which my soul felt, and I can only say a few words about it, but I cannot truly describe the love which I received from my Beloved Lord Kirpal.

This was the reason, when He went away from my eyes, when He departed from this world, that it became very unbearable for me to live in this world. It is not that I am not seeing Him now or that He is not with me. I am seeing Him now also, and He is always with me. But He who goes within, and He Who has manifested the Form of the Master within Him, He realizes, He knows what is the value, what is the worth of the physical darshan of the Master. Only He knows how many sins are cut, how many karmas are paid off, just by having the darshan of the physical form of the Master. So when He left the body, it became very unbearable for me to live, even though He is still with me, He is always with me, guiding and protecting me. I had not attended to any worldly responsibility, because my father was responsible for everything, and I was always happy looking at him doing all the worldly things and taking care of all the responsibilities. So just imagine the condition of the person who had not been responsible for anything worldly, if he is made responsible for the entire Spirituality, how would he feel? So now when He is not in front of us and when He has made me responsible for His dear ones, for the Spirituality, then it is difficult, because I had not been like this.

But the love which I got from Him, I can never forget that. Always I keep remembering His love, and I always wish that He was in front of me. The true disciple who has gone within and has seen the greatness and glory of the Master within, he will never wish to wear the turban of His Master. He will never wish that he should live even for a moment after the Master leaves this world. In fact, he would always wish that he should die, that he should leave this world in the lifetime of his Master.

There is a very famous saying, which goes like this, “If one leaves the body in the bed of his Beloved, his bones or his ashes go to the heavens.” So the true disciple always wishes that, while his Master is still in the physical form, is still in the physical body, he should leave this world, so that he may not have to embrace the pain of separation after his Master has left.

Dear Ones, I am saying this from the depth of my heart that I am not making you meditate, becoming a Master. I am, in fact, meditating with you like a devotee, a disciple of Master Kirpal, and I am meditating with you like that.

If I was like a “Master” of the present time, then I would be taking you all around India, making you stay in the nice hotels and then return you here after doing all the sight-seeing and things like the other people are doing nowadays. And if I went to the U.S., I would not give any pain to my knees, and I would not make your knees hurt either. I would just take you to the beaches and to go sight-seeing, if I had been meditating, or making you meditate, “becoming” the Master. Because still I understand that I am a very lowly disciple or lowly initiate of Master Kirpal.

Truly, I am telling you that all the meditation which you are doing over here and (when I go to your country), the meditation which you do over there, you will always gain. You will benefit from it. At the end, you will realize how much you have gained by meditating with a disciple of Master Kirpal, how much you have gained from meditating with a Sadhu.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj says that our true company, our true sitting is when we sit with those who do the meditation of the Naam. He says that our union, our sitting, with those who do the meditation of Naam is the true one. Only that sitting, or only that union, will be counted in our devotion. Guru Nanak Sahib says, “Never go in the company of, never sit with those who are lost in their own selves and those who don’t do the devotion of God. Even if one is born in a high family, even if one is a very clever and a smart person, even if one is very handsome, Nanak says, call him as the dead one, if he doesn’t have the love for God Almighty within his heart.”

1997 December: The Dust of the Feet of the Master

Session Date: February 11, 1997

This question and answer talk was given February 11, 1997 at the S.K.A. Retreat, near Sampla, India.

QUESTION: What is the dust of the feet of the Satguru?

SANT JI: It is a very good question. I hope that everyone will listen to this with much attention, because all the Saints have sung the glory of the dust of the feet of the Master, both the internal and the external.

Dear Ones, if we do not get the external dust of the feet of the Master, we cannot get the yearning, we cannot get the motivation, to go in the within. If we do not appreciate the dust of the outer feet of the Master, we cannot go within ourselves, because the ABC of Spirituality starts only from the body of the Master.

If we could contemplate on the Form of the All-Pervading One, if we could get the dust of the Feet of the All-Pervading One, then it [would be] a different thing, but since we have not seen that All-Pervading God, how can we love Him, how can we receive the dust of the Feet of God Almighty? Because you know that we can only love him whom we see with our own eyes.

God Almighty is All-Pervading; He is Unreachable; He is Unaccessible; He cannot be seen with these eyes. He is Unseen and He knows about our weakness. He knows that we cannot comprehend Him, we cannot see Him, we cannot reach Him with the physical eyes which we have. So that is why He had pity on us and He became merciful. He is an Ocean of Grace, so that Ocean came in His full force, and that is why He assumed the human form and He came into this world: in order to give us that dust of His feet, He took the human form. He came and he lived among us, because He knows that we cannot comprehend Him, we cannot see Him, because He is Unseen and Unreachable.

The Light of Ajaib

In all the banis of Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj, the love for the form of the Master is overflowing. He writes, “I do not get satisfaction even after looking at the form of my beloved Master again and again.”

The Saints never allow us to take the dust of Their feet outwardly, and They are not pleased when we make the efforts to do that, because if They were to allow us to do that, [then] everyone, all the dear ones, would do that, and They do not like that. But still the dear ones, whenever they get the opportunity, they always grab it, they always take the dust of the feet of the Master, because they know that a great secret, a great mercy, lies in the dust of the feet of the Master.

Earlier also this question has been asked, and in response to this question I have often quoted the poem which I wrote for beloved Lord Kirpal. I have also told you about that incident, and that is why still I say that if Lord Almighty Kirpal were to come in His physical form now, I would ask for the dust of His feet. But you know that such is the law of Nature, such is the law made by God Almighty, that once anyone has left this world, once anyone has withdrawn from the physical body, he cannot come back into this world in the same body, be he a Master, a Prophet, or any spiritual teacher. Once he has left this world, he cannot come back into the same body again.

Many times I got the blessed opportunity of walking along with Master Kirpal in my own field, and it was something very enjoyable; I always liked it very much. It was very pleasing to me also because to walk with Him was like walking with God Almighty.

Often, becoming pleased with me, He would allow me to ride with Him in the car, and I would become very glad. I would become very pleased because at that time I would feel as if I was riding in the ship of His Naam, and I was going Home. And at that time He would also become very pleased, and He would tell me many things of this world. He would tell me many things which had happened to Him, and He told me many things which were going to happen in the future. Those things, those matters, were not of the worldly nature for me. They were more than the spiritual matters, and I enjoyed those talks very much. He told me many things of the past and He told me many things of the future, and in that way He touched my heart.

With me also some dear ones do this whenever they go out with me. But how can I stop them, because I myself have done that? Many times I was very patient and I did not dare take the dust of the feet of the Master, but when I could not control myself anymore, and when I would try to take the dust of the feet of my Master, He would tell me not to do that. And then I would say this poem which I have often quoted here also. It says, “O my Beloved, I feel like taking the fresh dust of Your fresh footprint, because, O Beloved One, Your Five Shabds have shot me dead, and They have liberated me.”

Dear Ones, I have preserved the dust of the feet of my beloved Master very safely and with much respect, and the other thing which I am preserving is that sheet which had the honor of being used by the Great Lord, Master Sawan Singh. The purpose of preserving those things is that whenever I see those things it makes the memory fresh. Master Kirpal gave me one coat, and with much respect, I often wear it when I go on the tours. I gave one of the coats which beloved Lord Kirpal gave to me to Russell Perkins, and in that way I have shared His love with Russell Perkins.

Dear Ones, this is the glory of the dust of the outer feet of the Master. Those who value the dust of the outer feet of the Master, those who value and appreciate the outer things of the Master, and those who make those outer things of the Master an essential part of their life, and those who respect them, only they get this yearning to go within and seek the inner dust of the feet of the Master. Only they have the desire to go within and remove the cataract from their eyes and open their inner eyes, and see the Radiant Form of the Master within.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj did not ask for any worldly wealth from His Master: He did not ask for any successorship; He did not ask for any sons or daughters or worldly wealth and riches. He asked only for one thing: “Nanak says, ‘I have only one desire, that You make me the dust of the feet of the Masters.’” Always in Satsang you are told that when we withdraw from all over the body – when we rise above body-consciousness and, after rising above the nine openings of the body, when we come to the Eye Center by doing the Simran, and when, after removing all the physical vestures and rising above the physical, astral, and causal covers, we remain seated at the Eye Center over there, the Radiant Form of the Master is manifested. This is the place where we get the Inner Feet of the Master and we get the dust of the Inner Feet of the Master. This is the place where our beloved Master makes us hear the inner Sound of the Shabd. Outwardly, we are only made to practice to hear that Shabd; but when we really go inside, when we reach the Eye Center, only over there the Master makes us catch hold of that Shabd. He tells us, “This is the Shabd which will take you to your Real Home.” You cannot break away from that Shabd. Once you have heard that Shabd, once you have heard that Sound Current, no matter what happens, you cannot give up listening to that Shabd. Once you have reached there, after that, your direction changes, and no trap of the Negative Power can trap you into this world. In fact, one reaches that Eye Center, one reaches that place, only after breaking away from all the traps and making oneself free from the clutches of the Negative Power.

Guru Gobind Singh Ji has described this by saying, “If one were to meditate with one-pointed attention even for one moment, then he would not fall into the trap of the Negative Power. If one would reach there and meditate with one-pointed attention, no trap, nothing of the Negative Power, can bother him.” In the holy book of the Muslims, the Koran, it is written, “If one were to hear the Sound or the Voice of the Son of God, even the dead bodies would rise up in their graves.” Dear Ones, it is the same Sound, it is the same Voice of God Almighty which is sounding in our forehead at our Eye Center. The only difference is the words. Different Masters have described that Sound of God in Their own ways and in different words.

In one of His hymns Guru Nanak Sahib has written, “These are the signs of the Iron Age: in the Iron Age, people will call a dead person as a living being, and the one who is going, they will call him as the one who is coming.”

Those who are awakened in God Almighty and those who are absorbed in God Almighty, of them the worldly people say, “He is dead as far as we are concerned;” and those who are dead in respect to God Almighty, those who come and get involved in the world, people say, “Now he is living in this world.” Guru Nanak Sahib says, “I have seen this with my own eyes, that in the Iron Age, one who is absorbed in God Almighty, who has become one with God Almighty, people will criticize Him.” So one who goes and mixes Himself with God Almighty, one who mingles in God Almighty, people criticize such a Mahatma and they give Him a hard time.

Tulsi Sahib says, “Moment after moment, bring back the attention, your thoughts which are running away in this world” – because every moment, all of our thoughts, all our attention, is going all over the world. So that is why Tulsi Sahib says, “Bring them back, withdraw them from all the outer things, all the worldly things, and bring your attention to the Eye Center.” “This is the best way to purify your bodies. Simran is the best broom which removes the rust of our mind. Simran is the only way through which we can clean our within.”

When our wandering mind ceases to wander and comes to the Eye Center and remains still there, then with the grace of the Master and with devotion towards the Master, we get the dust of the Inner Feet of the Master. This is what Tulsi Sahib says.

You may call it Light, you may call it Radiance; the Masters have called it as the dust of the Feet of the Master.

So all the Saints have sung the glory of the dust of the Inner Feet of the Master. In fact, we become the real disciples of the Master only when we reach the Inner Feet of the Master. It is our duty to reach up to the Feet of the Master, and after that the Master Himself takes us to plane after plane, and He takes us to our destination.

I often tell the dear ones who are just initiated, “I am very glad that you have received the Holy Initiation, and now it is your responsibility to dive deep into this Ocean of Grace and bring out the Pearl of Naam.” So, when we get the Initiation, when we do the meditation, we have the opportunity – and this is the work which we are supposed to do. We need to dive deep into the Ocean. Our Beloved Master is that Ocean, and we have to bring out the Pearl of Naam. Those who have reached there, their condition becomes like the condition of Bhai Satti Das and Matthi Das, who were asked to deny their Master. They were tempted and they were threatened by the authorities in the city of Delhi, but still they did not want to give up the Path of the Master. They gladly accepted being cut by a saw. One of them had his head cut off in front of his Master, but they did not want to give up the Path of the Master, because they had seen what is the value of the dust of the Inner Feet of the Master.

Dear Ones, why do we get nervous very easily? Why do we get lost from this Path of the Masters, and why do we lose faith in the Masters? Only because we do not meditate, and only because we do not see that Reality in our within by going within, only because we do not see that Reality with our own eyes. This is the Eternal Truth: the disciple goes across only with the grace of the Master, and only with that spark of Naam which the Master Himself has earned. The Master gives us His own earned Naam, and only with the support of that Naam He takes us across. Still, the disciple is asked to do the meditation – a lot of emphasis is put on doing the meditation – because the Master wants that, while the Master is still in the body, the disciple should be able to go within and see the Reality with his own eyes.

Dear Ones, it is the mother who in the first place creates love within the child. The child does not know that she is his mother; it is the mother who makes the child know that she is his mother. First of all through the eyes she transmits her love into the child, and afterwards, as the child goes on growing up, goes on developing, she goes on creating more love within the child for herself. When the child learns to speak, the mother is teaching her how to speak, and the day when the child has uttered her first word, she becomes very happy, and she goes and shares her happiness and her pleasure with her neighbors. She goes and tells them, “Today my child has spoken this word,” and you are very well aware how happy the mother becomes when she sees that her child is growing up.

In His bani, Guru Nanak Sahib has written, “No matter how many mistakes or how many faults a child does, the mother doesn’t remember them; she always forgives.” Lord Almighty has kept a lot of patience in the mother, and many times it happens that because of the innocence, and because the child does not know that it hurts, he throws stones, or he may even hit his mother, not realizing that it may hurt her. But still the mother does not mind that, and she is always very patient and she is always very loving, and she never remembers if the child has done anything wrong to her. This is because Lord Almighty has put a lot of patience and love within the mother.

So Dear Ones, within the disciples also, it is the Master Who first installs the love. The disciple does not have any awareness of the love; it is the Master Who first puts the love within the disciple. He Himself comes, and He Himself gives the recognition to the disciple. Master Kirpal Singh Ji used to say, “The blind person does not have the ability to go and catch hold of the person who can see. Unless the person who has the eyes reaches out to the blind person and offers his help, the blind person cannot catch hold of the hand of the person who can see.” Just think about this for yourself. Who told Master Kirpal Singh about you? [Think about] how and why He went to all the places, He even went to the bottom of the seas, He went to so many different places, and He collected all of us. He Himself knew about all of us, and that is why He Himself came. He went to many different places and He found us.

Paltu Sahib said, “Only in order to liberate the souls, They travel in so many different countries; otherwise They do not have any other interest. Only for the sake of the souls, They go through so many sufferings.”

Dear children, it is not a child’s play to travel so much in an old body, in the old age, and that also without any self-interest and without asking for any compensation. Who wants to do all this selflessly? It is only the Master Who does that, because Master loves us all, He likes us all. The Masters know everyone, but rare are the people, few are the people, who really love the Master. Dear Ones, you know that the Master wishes only one thing from the disciple, and that is that the disciple should do the meditation and bring that meditation to Him.

When the child learns to speak the language of the mother, the mother becomes very happy. In the same way, when the disciples sit in meditation, when the disciples do what the Master is teaching them, the Masters also become very happy and Their happiness, Their pleasure, can be known only by Them. If, within someone, that inner dust of the Inner Feet of the Master is manifested, he does not waver, he does not lose his faith. Even if the whole world were to turn against him, but still he does not lose his patience, he does not lose his faith and devotion.

Such a being doesn’t mind if pain comes to him or happiness comes to him, because he understands that everything is coming from his Beloved Master, and that is why they don’t mind either the pains or the happiness. You may read the life sketch of Sarmad and you will see that when His end-time came, and when He was going to be hanged at that time, they normally cover the head with a black piece of cloth. So when they were doing that, Sarmad said, “Why do you cover my head with this black piece of cloth? I know you and I welcome you, I am ready to go with you.”

Dear Ones, we are talking about a very great thing – the highest thing – the dust of the Inner Feet of the Master. But I will tell you one thing, and that is that when we rise above the nine openings of the body and when we go beyond the physical, astral, and causal bodies and covers, over there, the difference between the genders is finished. Over there it doesn’t matter if one is man or woman, and over there it does not even matter if one is from South Africa, from America, or India, or any other place, because over there it is only one soul, and all the souls are the same. So once we reach Par Brahm, and once we have risen above all these physical, astral, and causal covers, then our understanding is changed, and we see everyone as only one soul, and it doesn't matter to which country or to which part of the world they belong.

But when you go even beyond that – the Mahatma Who has reached Sach Khand, His angle of vision changes completely, and He sees Lord Almighty, He sees the presence of God Almighty within each one of us.

Many dear ones came to Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj and told Him, “Master, in India it is believed that if you go to the sixty-eight places of pilgrimage in the month of Magh (which is like January), and if you go and bathe over there in the holy waters, then you get a lot of benefit. So, like every other person is doing, we should also do some kind of bathing in the holy waters so that we may also get some benefit.” So, addressing them, Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj wrote this hymn and He said, “In the month of Magh, you should go in the company of the Sadhus, and you should bathe in the dust of the Inner Feet of the Master.” He said, “That is the real beneficial thing: if you would go in the company of the Masters, if you would go in the company of the Saints, you should ask for the dust of the Inner Feet of the Master, and over there, in Par Brahm, you should bathe in that dust, and only that kind of bathing, that kind of pilgrimage, will be acceptable. The dirt of birth after birth will be removed over there, and from your mind, the egoism will go away.”

He says, “What will you gain? What will happen to you if you will bathe in the dust of the Feet of the Master? The dirt which you have accumulated over many of your past lives – the birth after birth [in which] you have been collecting dirt on your mind – that dirt will be removed and you will become clean and pure; and the egoism, the pride, which does not leave you alone, which always bothers you, that also will go away.”

Dear Ones, we know that in our old age, almost every organ of our body becomes unhealthy or refuses to work, and the passions also leave us one by one. Egoism is the only thing which does not leave us alone, which does not surrender to us. It surrenders only when we take our last breath.

You know how many different kinds of egoism we are affected by, and how many kinds of egoism are bothering us. Suppose we have some amount of wealth: we become very proud about the wealth, and even though we know that it is not going to go with us, still we say that we are the richest of all. Suppose if God Almighty has given us some beauty, we think that we are the most beautiful one, we are the most handsome one in this world. God Almighty has created us by Himself; maybe for other people He had sent some paid laborers to create them [laughter], but He chose to create us with His Own hands. We do not understand anyone else as like us, and we have that kind of pride. But we know that when we are down with a fever for a couple of days, our face becomes like the face of a frog, and then we lose all the beauty and all the glory of our face. So Dear Ones, what is the use of having the ego, what is the use of being proud of that thing which is not going to be with us forever, which is not going to go with us after this world? So that is why Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj said, “If you would go into Par Brahm, and if you would bathe in that pool in Par Brahm, in the dust of the Feet of the Master, only then this egoism, only then this pride, will leave you alone.”

What more should you do? He says, “You yourself should do the meditation of the Naam, and those who come to you, you should make them do the same; you should give them the gift of Naam and you should make them do the meditation of Naam. Naam is such a thing that will cut our births and deaths; Naam is such a thing that will give us eternal peace and happiness, and Naam is the only thing which will go with us from this world. Naam is such a precious wealth which cannot be robbed by any robbers, which cannot be burned in any fire, which cannot be washed away by any water. It is permanent. It is eternal. And It is the only wealth, It is the only thing which we will carry with us when we will leave this world. So that is why He says, “After reaching there and after bathing in that pond of Par Brahm, do the meditation of Naam and make the other people do the same.”

QUESTION: Dear Master, I have heard that You wrote some of the bhajans that we sing, when You were a child. How old were You when You began writing bhajans? Please comment on Your inspiration to write these beautiful bhajans when You were so young. Thank you.

SANT JI: Dear Ones, you know that I do not have a head for dates and I do not keep the accounts of my life, and I don't know what happened when in my life. If you were to ask me how many Tours I have done, I would not be able to answer that.

Last year when dear Russell Perkins met me, he reminded me, he told me, “It was twenty years ago that we had met on this day.” So I became grateful to him, and I thanked him for reminding me that we had spent so many years together. [Laughter]

I remember my birthday only because I remember that my mother used to celebrate that, and on that day she used to invite everyone from the village and feed them.

My mother was very devoted. I do not know if she had any Master or not – maybe she had a Master because she used to do a lot of meditation – but she was a very good soul, she was very devoted, and she took very good care of me. She brought me up in a very good way, even though she had not given birth to me.

She used to tell me many stories from her life, and she used to tell me very good things about doing the devotion. She would tell me that one should do the meditation, one should do the devotion, “because that is the only thing which will go with us. Otherwise, nothing else from this world will go with us.” She also used to say, “Unfortunate are the ones who do not get up early in the morning to do the devotion of God.” So she would say that to me, and when she would find me not sleeping at night, she would get upset at me and she would say, “Why [are you] not sleeping?” So I would reply, “But Mother, you yourself have said that they are the unfortunate ones who do not get up in the morning to do the devotion.” Dear Ones, the mother has a very great effect on the life of the child. The encouragement or the inspiration to do the devotion of God Almighty which I got came to me from my mother.

Every mother wishes that her child should be good and should be a noble person.

I deeply love those parents who pick up their children and who love their children. But when I see those parents who hit their children, those who get upset with their children, I get very upset with them, I don't like them, even though they are doing that with their own children.

In one bhajan, which I wrote in my childhood, I had written. “You may write anything in my destiny, but never write the separation from my Beloved Master,” [Likhan Valya Tu Hoke] because it is unbearable, and I won't be able to bear that pain. But that was a bitter truth, and I had to suffer that pain of separation, not once, but twice in my life. First, when my beloved Baba Bishan Das left the body, it affected me very badly, it made a hole in my heart, and it tormented me. And afterwards, when my Beloved Lord Kirpal went away from my eyes, when He left this world, that also was a very unbearable moment, and I could not bear that.

The Light of Ajaib

I had the experiences of Light and Sound right from my childhood, and that is why in that bhajan I have written, “O Lord, write the Light of my Master in my forehead, and write the Sound of Almighty Lord in my ears.”

Even though the holy souls are able to hear the Sound Current in their childhood, and even though they are able to see that Light, but still that Light and Sound cannot guide those souls up. Unless they meet a perfect Master, and unless they meditate with the guidance and instructions of a perfect Master, even though they may be seeing Light and hearing the Sound, but still, those Lights and Sounds cannot pull the soul up.

Often I have said, “Suppose that there were tons and tons of gold and precious stones buried in your house. But if you are not aware of that – if you are living like a beggar, if you are begging for pennies outside and living your life like that what is the use of having so much gold and precious stones, all that wealth, buried in your home, if you are not able to take it out? Suppose someone comes along and helps you take out that wealth which is in your own home, and with that wealth you are able to live a comfortable life. Tell me, whom would you thank? Would you thank the gold and the other valuable things which were buried in your home and which were useless for you until you discovered them with the help of the person who knew they were there? Will you thank that wealth? or the person who helped you get that wealth? I think you will definitely thank the one who helped you to discover it, because if he had not come to you, you would not have gotten those things.

In the same way, God Almighty was always present within us in the Form of Light and Sound. But we did not know about Him, we did not know how to make contact with Him, we did not know how to take advantage of Him.

Almighty Lord Kirpal, showering so much grace, and having so much mercy upon us, came into this world, and He told us that God Almighty was within us. He made us realize Him, He connected us with Him. That is why day and night, with every single breath, I go on thanking my beloved Lord Kirpal, that He is the One Who came into this world, and He is the One Who made me realize that God Almighty Who was always present within me. I remember this like a dream. I was maybe seven or eight years old when I made those different heaps of clay representing every member of my family, and I asked them this question, “Will you protect me? Will you help me at the time when no one can help me?” And I got the answer from my within, “No, they cannot help me.” So I demolished all those heaps. I kept only one that represented that Power Whom I was missing from my very childhood, and in Whom I had this faith, that someday He will definitely come to me: I will definitely meet with Him, and He will surely help me, He will surely protect me.

So from that I got the voice coming from my within, “Yes, I will surely come and meet with you, I will surely help you at that time.” So I kept only that heap. When my father saw me doing that, he asked me what I was doing. I told him, “I have asked this question to each one of you, if you will help me at the time of death, if you will come with me in the beyond to help and protect me, and I got the answer that no, you will not do that. That is why I do not want to keep any relation with you and that is why I have broken up your heaps. But I have kept this one heap of clay which represents that Power Whom I have not seen, but I have the faith, that someday I will meet with Him, and that Power will definitely help me.” My father said, “I have made so much property for you, I have made so much wealth for you, how do you say that I will not help you?” I said, “But Father, I am asking you about the inner world. Will you be able to come with me within, will you be able to help me at the time when no one from this world can help me?” He said, “No, I don’t think that I can reach there, that I can help you there. I cannot even help my own self, so how can I say that I can help you?”

So that is when I said, “Then if that is the case, if you are not going to help me, if you cannot help me, then what is the use of taking all the wealth and property which you have collected for me?” At that time I spit at, I abandoned, all the property which my father had collected for me. Right from that day, I never had any attachment for the worldly possessions, wealth, and properties, and at that time, in renunciation and yearning for God Almighty, in His remembrance, I wrote many bhajans. But unfortunately I could not save them, because whenever I moved from one place to another, I never took anything along with me. I only took the clothes which I was wearing at that time, and that is why all those bhajans which I had written in my early childhood were lost, and I don’t know where they are. I got the inspiration from my very childhood to write bhajans and I wrote many bhajans at that time. Dear Ones, when the love for the mother is created within a child, and when he wants only his mother, at that time if you bring all different toys in front of him, he will not like them, he will not become quiet. He will go on crying for his mother, and he will not stop until he sees his mother. In the same way, if we have the yearning for God Almighty, if we develop real love for our beloved Master in our within, do you think that we will stop, do you think that we will rest until we have met with our beloved Master within ourselves? Do you think that the worldly temptations, the worldly pleasures, the passions and the other worldly things, will have any meaning for us? Do you think that we will get attached to them? Of course not. Unless we meet with our beloved Master, we will not find any peace or any comfort in any of these worldly things.

Okay, goodnight everybody.

1998*1998 January: On Simran and Yearning*Session Date: February 14, 1997

This question and answer talk was given on February 14, 1997, at the S.K.A. Retreat, near Sampla, India.

QUESTION: [Sant Ji was asked a question about Simran which was not recorded on the tape.]

SANT JI: Salutations unto the Feet of Almighty Lords Sawan and Kirpal Who, having mercy upon our souls, have showered Their grace upon us, and have given us the opportunity to remember Them, and have allowed us to sit in Their remembrance.

Supreme Father Kirpal used to say that when you have to sit for meditation, before sitting for meditation, you should sing at least one bhajan which you like the most. Even though all the bhajans are very good, they all talk about the love of the Master, and they all create the yearning for the Master, you should choose one bhajan which your soul likes the most and which you like to sing. So you should sing that bhajan which creates the yearning within you while singing the bhajan and then you should sit for meditation. When you sit for meditation, the yearning you have had, which you have developed while singing the bhajan, should be maintained.

In fact not only should it be maintained it should be increased many-fold. Because when you are sitting in meditation, you have developed the yearning, you have confessed to the Master all your faults and all your sins, and you have apologized to Him, you have asked for forgiveness and you have become humble. So you have to maintain that, so that the request that you are making to the Master may be complemented.

When you go inside, when you remain seated at the Eye Center and do the Simran, you should not think that the Master is not there or that the Master is not aware of what you are doing or what you are saying to Him. Because as you have been told at the time of Initiation, that when the Master gives us the Initiation, right from that time, He sits within us and He is always waiting for us. He is always aware of our every single thought. And in fact, whenever we sit for the meditation, He is waiting for us to get to the Eye Center so that He can drag us inside. So just imagine, will you turn your back to the One Who is waiting for you? If you really love Him, then definitely you will make every single effort, every possible effort, to go and meet him. Since your Beloved Master is waiting for you inside, you should not turn back, you should not lose the yearning, you should develop more and more yearning while doing the Simran. In fact, you should maintain the yearning which you have gotten while singing the bhajan, and when you do the Simran you should continue doing the Simran with the same yearning.

Often I have said that love, whether it is physical or spiritual, the feelings in both those loves are the same, and the dealing is also the same in both, whether it is a physical love or a spiritual love. In both the physical and the spiritual love a lover doesn't feel like sleeping, and he is always craving for his beloved. In the physical love, when you are in love with someone, you are always waiting for that person, you are always craving for that person, you cannot go to sleep at night. You always go on thinking, "I wish that he was here," or "I wish that she was here." If that person comes to you then your joy knows no bounds.

The Light of Ajaib

In the same way, if you really love the Master, if the love for the Master is very strong in your within, a dear one always goes on planning things, thinking about things and he always thinks, “If the Master were to come here, I would tell Him this, I would tell Him that. I would go at once and embrace Him. I would express my love in so many different ways.” So if you really love the Master, then you will always think about Him, and you will definitely maintain the craving and yearning for Him.

Dear Ones, many people, many men and women, boys and girls, come to me and tell me about their love and the affection they have for each other, and in that way they come close to each other in front of me and they express their love for each other. Rarely do I meet with someone who expresses his love for the Master. It doesn't mean that there is no one who tells me about his love for the Master. There are dear ones who come to me and tell me how much love they have for the Master and how much gratitude they have for the Master.

I have told you the story of Sussi and Poono and that story was printed in Sant Bani Magazine. It is possible that most of you may have read that story. In that story I said that it is written in the history that for twelve years in the separation of her beloved Sussi did not eat well; she did not sleep and she was always waiting for her beloved. Finally, when she came across her beloved, when they finally met, she fell asleep and while she was still asleep, Poono was taken away by some other people. Once again they were separated. When she woke up and she did not find Poono there, she went all over the desert looking for him and she met with her death in the desert. So you see that if she had maintained the yearning which she had – if she had not fallen asleep – she would not have been separated from her beloved once again.

If you have made the efforts to develop yearning within you, if you have worked hard for many months and if before sitting for meditation you have sung a bhajan and if you have developed the yearning within you, but if you become lazy after you start doing the meditation and if you do not maintain that yearning, then your Poono, your Beloved One, will also be hidden behind the lust, greed, anger, attachment, and egoism. If your yearning is not there, if you are not awake over there, then it is possible that the mind and the other passions may take you away from the meditation. It is possible that the mind will make you involved in the indulgences and in the passions, and in that way your Beloved One may be hidden behind all these passions.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj says, “You should always go on going forwards and you should never look back. You should never think about the world.” If you will maintain this, if you will go on going forward, then as Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj loving says. “You will not be born in this world again.”

When Sohni saw the unbaked pot, she knew that if she would take that unbaked pot and try to [float] across the river using that pot which was not baked, she would definitely meet with her death, but still she was not stopped. She thought, “My love is stainless and I should maintain its purity. I should maintain the promise which I have made to my beloved.” That is why, even though she knew that she would be meeting her death because the unbaked pot [would break] but still she did that.

So all those who have been in love with their Master, in the Path of the Masters, those who have maintained their love, they know that the love is always stainless and they never allow anything to stain that love. You know that when you are in the love of the Master, your Master is sitting at the Eye Center, and if, at the time of doing the Simran, instead of doing the Simran and maintaining the yearning, you are allowing the bad thoughts to come up, then what are you doing? You are doing that in front of your

Beloved Master, because He is sitting within you. So when you are allowing the bad thoughts to come during the meditation, are you not insulting your Master? You are being disrespectful to Him when you are not maintaining the yearning at the time of the Simran, when you are allowing your mind to create the bad thoughts.

Suppose there is a young boy who is sitting near a store: you will not dare to go there and steal even a small booklet, because you are afraid of that young boy and you are scared that if you try to steal anything from over there, he will beat you, or he will call somebody else. We don't understand the presence of the Master as even that important or that real, as much as we understand the importance or the reality of that young boy sitting in the store. This is the reason that while the Master is still sitting within us we are doing all kind of bad deeds, we are allowing the bad thoughts to come into our mind. Sometimes we think that Master is in India, sometimes we say that He is gone on the Tour, or He is sleeping, or He is somewhere else, and in that way we think, "Oh, who is looking at us? Let us do whatever we want to do." So those dear ones who think that the Master is not looking at them, and those who think that Master is in India or that He has gone somewhere else, how can they get any benefit from the Master?

You know that when the Master is protecting the souls who are leaving the body, it happens many times that many dear ones happen to leave the body at one time [in different places]. The people around them say that the Master came there to protect those souls, even though at that time the Master may have been sitting somewhere else doing the Satsang and the people there also say that the Master was right there in front of them. So the Master is always everywhere, and He always protects His souls. And those who understand that the Master is not aware of our thoughts, or those who think, "Since He is not present physically here in front of us, He is not aware of our actions," they are under a great illusion and they can never gain any benefit from the Master.

This is the reality: Even though it has been many years since Master Sawan Singh has left this world and went back to Sach Khand, and in the same way, it has been many years since Beloved Lord Kirpal also went back to Sach Khand, leaving this physical world behind, but still you will find many people, even those who were not Initiated, but if there is someone in their family who is initiated, and if they talk about the Master, they also feel the presence of the Master whenever anyone is leaving the body. They say, "Yes, we felt the presence of the Master. We saw that the Master came and He protected the soul."

When I go to the West, many dear ones' parents come to see me, and even when I go to Bombay, many dear ones' parents come to see me, They tell me, "We have come to see You because You have done so good for our children and that is why we are here to see You." They have the yearning within them, and that is why they come to see me. Don't you think that God Almighty will reward them for the yearning that they have for the Master Power?

Everyone has his own vessel, everyone has his own receptivity, and this is the main thing which I want to tell you in response to this question. Your yearning should never decrease, it should never even decrease when you are sleeping, when you are talking, when you are walking, when you are doing anything. When you are doing anything your yearning should never decrease: it should always go on increasing, it should always be maintained.

Dear Ones, don't you yearn for the world and the worldly things even when you are sleeping? Even during sleep you have dreams of this world, you are chasing after worldly things. So if you had the yearning for the Master, would you not have the dreams of the Master? Of course, yes, definitely, you will have the dreams of the Master if you are yearning for Him.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, You speak of the importance of going within and seeing the Master's Form while the Master is still in the physical body. Could You comment on this in more detail?

SANT JI: All the Saints have said, "The work which we are supposed to do tomorrow, it is much better if you do it today." Because who knows if the breath we have taken in will come out or not? Who knows if we will get this time again or not?

Dear Ones, often I have told you about one particular sect of people who came into existence after Guru Gobind Singh. It was even called by Guru Gobind Singh as the "Beloved Army." They were the army men of Guru Gobind Singh. They were called Nehungs.

There is a story that once a nehung had climbed up to get some branches of a neem tree. He was all dressed up with his shoes and armor and everything. Someone asked him what he was doing up there in his full uniform. He said, "Well, I have come up here to get some branches of this tree."

They said, "Well, at least you could have taken off your shoes." So the nehung replied. "But what if God Almighty calls me from there? Will I tell Him to wait one minute while I go put on my shoes?"

So in the same way, Dear Ones, when the Angel of Death comes to you, will He give you more time? Will He tell you, "Okay, you go and complete the things you want to do, then I will come and take you"? He will not give you any time: so that is why whatever work you are supposed to do, you should do it right away.

You see, if a child, when given some work to do in the schools, says that he will do that work after going to his home, it is possible that when he gets to his home he may have some other things to do. So if he finishes the job that he has been given by the teacher, right in front of the teacher, will it not be better? It is possible that he may have some difficulty in doing that work, and if he is doing it in front of his teacher, the teacher can help him also.

Dear Ones, we were three boys who went to the school, and when the teacher gave us a lesson in Urdu because in those days they used to teach the Urdu language – so when the teacher gave us a lesson in Urdu to learn, two of us started learning that lesson, but the third one was from a weaver's family and he did not want to study, so he went and he sat on the wall.

When the teacher came back, he saw that the third boy was sitting on the wall. He said, "Well why don't you study? Why aren't you studying?"

The boy said, "Well, why do you bother; I will study myself."

So the teacher got upset and he said, "Well, come here and catch hold of your ears" [to indicate that he repented his impudence.] But instead, the boy caught hold of the ears of our teacher.

So the teacher got more upset and he slapped him – because in those days in India the teachers used to slap the students if they would do something like this. So that boy became upset and he left the school right then, and after that he never came back to the school.

After we went into the army, when we used to come back home from the army, that boy, who had by then grown up, would come to us and ask us for clothes because he was living a very poor life. He would ask us for clothes and he would claim to be our class fellow. Even though he had only gone to the school with us for one day, but he would say that he was our class fellow.

So what I mean to say is that if he also had studied like we did he would also have made his life good. He would have made his life good and he would have lived comfortably, but he did not go to the school, and that is why he did not make his life. He worked all his life as a laborer and finally he died like that without living a decent life.

What I mean to say is that whatever work you are given, whether you are studying in school or you are studying Spirituality from the Master, it is much better for you to do the work which your Master, which your teacher, has asked you to do while the teacher is still in front of you.

Dear Ones, I have seen that there were many dear ones initiated by Master Sawan who used to see Master Kirpal Singh as the Form of Master Sawan Singh. But there were many who had this pride, who had this ego, and they used to say, “We are your brothers-in-faith.”

Master Kirpal always used to say, “God does not have any brother-in-faith, if He has anyone, He has only God; He does not have any equal. If anyone would become anything, he will become only God, not His brother.”

Dear Ones, we should never become the thieves of meditation. Kabir Sahib said, “Whatever you have to do tomorrow, do it today. Whatever you have to do today, do it right away.” Because if you will go on procrastinating or postponing the work, who knows when your time will come. And in that way you will have to leave this place without completing the work which you have been given.

Dear Ones, when I used to study the signals, there was a lot of reading and writing involved in that. Every night I would go to sleep only after finishing the work which I was given to do. I never thought, I never said, that I would do this later on. Whatever work was given to me by my teachers, I finished that and then I went to bed.

In the same way, when beloved Baba Bishan Das gave me the first Two Words, and when He gave me the work of the meditation to do, until I became successful in that I did not sleep very well. I left the rest and sleep on one side and I gave the importance, the priority, to the work which my Master had given to me.

Gurmel Singh, who is sitting here, has been seeing me since his childhood and he knows – you can ask him – that until I perfected the lesson which Lord Almighty Kirpal had given to me I did not go out, I did not see anyone, nor did I meet with anyone. Maybe every once in a while I may have gone out, but otherwise I always remained in the underground room and I continued doing my meditation until I perfected the lesson given to me by the Master.

Dear Friends, could I have earned the pleasure of my Beloved Master, which I earned in His lifetime, after He left? When He became very pleased when I did my meditation, He said, “I am very grateful that at least one of my disciples has completed, has passed this examination.” So the pleasure which I got from Him while He was still in the body, do you think I would have got that if I had perfected myself after He had left?

So Dear Ones, do not postpone the work, do not procrastinate it for tomorrow. How can I tell you not to manifest the Master within yourself, while the Master is still in the body? – because I myself have done that. How can I tell you, “Do this some other time” or “Do this later on”? – because I myself have done that in my life, and that is why I am telling you that whatever work you are supposed to do tomorrow, you should do it today. You should never postpone the meditation, you should never become lazy in doing the meditation. You should do it right away.

We spend a lot of time, we make a lot of effort, in beautifying ourselves. I say that, in the same way, we should also try to beautify our soul, we should try to clean ourselves also. We should not make ourselves dirty even in the thoughts. To think about lust, or even to allow lust to come into your thoughts is a very bad thing, because it defiles your soul, it makes your soul very dirty. So we do not know how much time is left and that is why we should not rely on the [future]. Whatever we have to do, we should do it now.

The lives of the Masters are the examples and lovingly the Masters tell us that we should adopt their example. They say, first of all, your earnings should be very pure and holy. You should work sincerely and then you should do your meditation. You should keep your body pure, because the more the body is pure, the more the mind will become pure. As your mind will become pure, the soul will also become pure, and when the soul will become pure, you will definitely become successful in the meditation which you will do.”

In front of many dear ones, Master Sawan Singh said toward His end time, “Dear Ones, if anyone owes anything to me, I forgive him for that, he doesn’t have to give me anything. And if I owe anything to anyone he should please stand up and I will give him that.” He said, “All my life I have used only the car of the sangat, the fuel of the sangat for the car, and the vegetables of the sangat. Other than these three things I have not used even one penny of the sangat for my own self. Whatever earnings I had, I contributed those also to the sangat.”

I have seen Master Kirpal Singh also doing that. The Perfect Saints reduce Their expenses and whatever amount of money They have access to, or whatever They earn. They limit Their expenses and They live on only that much money, and still They are able to save something. And from Their own savings, from Their own earnings, They still help the poor and the needy ones.

In the court of Their Master, in the work of Their Master, the Masters have done a lot of seva physically, and with Their mind also They have done a lot of seva by doing the Simran. They do the seva with Their mind, and They have even contributed in the court of Their Masters, in the work of their Masters with Their wealth. Much more than that capacity, whatever They have, They have surrendered all that for the cause of the Master. They do that because the wealth which we use for the cause of the Master, the wealth which we surrender to the Master, that becomes pure and holy and we get the reward for it.

Kabir Sahib says, “We have to do it with our own hands, we have to send it with our own hands, and we have to eat it with our own hands. No one has been born in this world who will send things to us after we leave this world.” So Dear Ones, do not wait for tomorrow, make the efforts from your side so that you may become perfect while the Master is still in the body.

Master is very pleased when he sees that his children have become successful. There are many dear ones, many children of the Master who have manifested the stream of the Sound Current, the stream of the Shabd within them while the Master is still in the body.

QUESTION: Dear Master, is it better to read the bhajans and sing to the Master, or to get the darshan, since both are important?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: Master Sawan Singh Ji used to talk about the importance of having the Master's darshan. He used to say that the importance of the darshan of the Master is greater than anything else because God Almighty is Inaccessible, He is Unfathomable, He is Unseen, and we cannot contemplate on the Form of the One we have not seen. God Almighty knows our weakness and this is the reason that He assumes the human form and He comes in the Form of the Master. When the Master is sitting in front of us it is much better for us to have the Master's darshan.

Master Kirpal told me about his earlier condition, he told me that once when he along with Doctor Johnson was massaging the legs of Baba Sawan Singh, Master Kirpal Singh asked him, "Master, how would the Form of the Master be within?"

Master Sawan Singh smiled and He said, "In the within you will find the same features, you will find the same Form. This why those who have the privilege of seeing the Master's Form within, they tell us that in the within also it is the same Form which we see outside. Those who have perfected their dhyān, those who have perfected the darshan of the Master, only they know this and whatever they see in their within, they tell us."

Dear Ones, the outer face is not as attractive as the inner face, as the astral face, because the astral face has the magnetic attraction. Just like the magnet attracts you, in the same way that Inner Form, that Astral Form of the Master attracts you; and as you go further within and as you see the Causal Form of the Master, that is much more radiant and it is even more attractive.

Master always looks at the souls and this is the reason why He never makes any mistake, He never forgets the soul after giving Initiation to that particular soul. You see that only because of that, the Master goes and recognizes His soul. Many times it happens that the soul goes into some other planes, or even to the hells, so the Master goes there and He recognizes His soul and He brings him back. If there is any sign on that soul, only then the Master is able to trace him and only then is the Master able to recognize him. If there was no sign on the soul how could the Master trace him?

If the disciple has not perfected his contemplation, if he has not had the darshan of the Master and if he has not contemplated on the Form of the Master, how will he go along with the Master when the Master comes to take him? How will he be convinced? How will he be sure that He is his own Master?

That is why Swami Ji Maharaj said, "O brother, you have the contemplation of the Master's Form, otherwise you will not be saved."

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj said, "Develop the Form of the Master in your within and in your mind you go on doing the Simran given to you by the Master." The Simran given to you by the Master is such a Power that no force of the Negative Power can stand in front of it. So while doing the Simran given to you by the Master, bring the remembrance of the Form of the Master over here at the Eye Center.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj says, "The Form of the Master is beyond time, it is beyond Kal: and we can concentrate on the Form of the Master only by contemplating on the Form of the Master." You see that it is very difficult to concentrate and contemplate on the Form of the Master because He does not go below the Eye Center. It is very easy to remember the things of the world. The moment you think of anything of this world at once you feel like that thing is in front of you. Why? Because it is coming from the centers below the Eye Center and our attention is still not perfected. That is why we can easily have the remembrance of the worldly things, but for the Form of the Master it is difficult for us – because still we are not right at the Eye Center and we have not perfected our concentration.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “In the Satsang we should try to sit in such a place from where we can have the darshan of the Master. We should not try to sit way in the back or in the side or at a place from which we cannot have the darshan of the Master.”

He also used to say, “The people who come first should go and sit in the front. The people who come later on should not try and go and sit in the front; they should sit at some other place. But wherever you sit in the Satsang, you should always be sure that you are able to have the darshan of the Master.”

In order to sit in the front and have the darshan of Master Sawan Singh, at least five or six hours before the Satsang, if not more, we would come and sit there so that we would not be pushed back; if we came later we would not get the [good] seat.

The teachings of Master Sawan Singh were very simple and He used to say in a few words whatever he wanted to say. He even used to say, “The farmer always looks at the other end, the furthest end from where he has started watering the field.” What He meant to say was that, “I can see even the people who are sitting way in the back and you should not fight over the issue of coming and sitting in the front.”

He used to put a lot of emphasis on contemplating on the Form of the Master. He used to say that, sitting in the Satsang you have the best opportunity to develop the concentration on the Form of the Master. For an hour, or an hour-and-a-half, while you are sitting for Satsang you can look at the form of the Master and contemplate on it. And you should be so much absorbed and so much concentrated in looking at the form of the Master that you should not even be aware of the pathi who is sitting right next to the Master. And if the Master is talking to anyone, even then you should not be looking at that person: your attention should be only at the Master.

Kabir Sahib said, “Always look at the forehead and eyes of the Sadhu because in His eyes and in His forehead the truth always resides.”

Those who look at the Master constantly sitting during the Satsang, they get a tremendous amount of experience, they get very good amount of the experience, those who look at the Master constantly.

Now the question is, “Do you have to read the bhajan?” So what to do? Often I have said that you should practice singing the bhajans. You should learn the bhajans so that, when you get the opportunity to sing the bhajan, you will not have to use the book. You should always be looking at the form of the Master and you should even remember the page number. You should have the book in front of you for the namesake, for the page number, and like that, I would say that you should even remember the page number so that, when your turn comes, you should at once say that it is on this page, and then you should know the bhajan by heart so that you may continue looking at the Master, you may continue having the darshan of the Master.

Dear Ones, Master Sawan Singh used to say, “The hands at work, the heart with the beloved.” So we, the dear ones, should also be like this, that the string of our heart, the string of our eyes should always go on moving toward the Master. We should always go on looking at the Master.

Well, the questions of the dear ones were very good and I really enjoyed answering their questions. It reminded me of my Beloved Masters. Master Kirpal Singh and Master Sawan Singh Ji, and whenever I am able to remember Them I become very pleased: it makes me very happy to remember Them. I remember the times I have spent sitting at Their Feet. My words are very simple and the way I answer the questions is also very simple. As Master Sawan Singh used to talk about His own way, He used to say, “If anyone wants to understand anything in simple words they should come to me and I will explain to them.” He always used to explain the things in a few words. He used to say, “If anyone wants to understand anything in detail, in more words, he should go to Kirpal Singh.” He used to say, “Kirpal Singh first takes apart the gun, piece by piece, and afterwards he puts them back, and in that way he explains the things to everybody. But my way is different: I just say a few words and I explain things to people in simple words.”

So my system, my style is also the same. My words are very simple. I only share the love, I only share the grace which I have received by sitting at the feet of those great Masters. Whenever I talk about Them, whenever I remember Them, I feel like – you know that when you pull a spring – in the same way, I feel so much strength and energy in me whenever I remember my times with Master Sawan Singh and Master Kirpal Singh. So whatever I have gained, whatever I have learned sitting at Their feet, it is a very simple thing. I appreciated the time which I was given, which I got to sit at Their feet and I made my life. And I would like to tell all of you, that you should appreciate the time which you have got, so that you may also make your life successful.

Master Sawan Singh often used to call Master Kirpal Singh as a malvi.

Once there was a wedding and people were waiting in Sikhandarpur, at the farmhouse of Master Sawan Singh, and Master Sawan Singh said, “At least let my malvi come.” Malvi is the word for a Muslim priest.

A malvi is a very learned person; he knows about the holy book of the Koran. That is why Master Sawan Singh used to call Master Kirpal Singh as “Malvi.” Master Kirpal Singh often used to explain the Path to the malvis and to the Muslim people.

1998 February: Master's Grace is Always Flowing

Session Date: December 29, 1982

This question and answer session was given December 29, 1982 at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Some of my friends want to live a very quiet and meditative life and deepen their inner relationship with the Master, and so they left off their work in the world and they just stay at home very quietly and say Simran and do a lot of meditation. But it also means that they don't have the money to come to be with the physical Master, and I wonder what the Master has to say about that. Is there a time when it is indeed better to stay home and just be very quiet and meditative?

SANT JI: Indeed it is very good to meditate, and I appreciate this. But sometimes what happens to such people is that the mind deceives them. What happens is that after some years, when such people start doing any worldly thing, people play jokes on them, and they become the subjects of taunts and criticism by the people. That is why it is always better to do the worldly work, earn one's livelihood by honest means, and side-by-side do the meditation. This will be much better.

The Light of Ajaib

This is my personal experience. I have also come across many people who leave the world and do the meditation for many years. But when their mind deceives them, he throws them from the top of the mountain.

This is an incident of some thirty or thirty-five years back. It happened in the village where Baba Bishan Das used to live. There was one man whose name was Ikam Das. About twenty or twenty-five years before I met him, he left his home. He went into the wilderness to do the devotion of God. So after spending twenty or twenty-five years in the wilderness and giving up the worldly life for that many years, he came back and his mind deceived him. His mind told him that since he has come into this world, he should enjoy the worldly life, too. People told him not to do that. Baba Bishan Das also told him not to do that. Baba Bishan Das told him, “Now you will not be able to be a worldly man, because you have become very old.” At that time he was about seventy years old, but still he wanted to get married. So he got married, but he could not maintain that marriage, and so that marriage was not successful. He got married again, but since he was very old and the wife was very young, still he could not do anything. So what happened? His wife used to use him to carry the load of vegetables to the nearby market where they would go to sell the products of their field.

Once it so happened that when I was going to see Baba Bishan Das, I saw him on the way. When I had seen him [previously], he had good health. But after his marriages he had become very weak, so I could not recognize him. But he recognized me. He said, “Ajaib Singh, don’t go very soon, because I want to see you, I want to talk to you. So wait for me until I come back from the marketplace.” I went to Baba Bishan Das to have His darshan, and I was still sitting there when he came back after delivering the vegetables to the market. And he told me, “Ajaib Singh, I want to tell you one thing, that you should not get married. I have told everyone in this village not to get married, and I was looking for you, and now that I have seen you, I am telling you not to get married.”

I told him, “Look, Ikam Das, still you are not giving me the right advice. It is not a bad thing to get married. One should get married – if he needs to be married – at the right time. You should advise me, ‘Don’t get married at my age. Don’t get married at this old age.’”

Baba Bishan Das told him, “Ikam Das, you spent so many years in the wilderness pretending as if doing the devotion of Lord, and when you came back into the world, you wanted to live a worldly life. That is why you are neither a worldly person, nor are you a spiritual person.”

Sant Mat does not inspire us to remain idle and do nothing. Sant Mat teaches us to work hard, earn our own livelihood, and then do our devotion. If we will not work for our livelihood and if we will live on the other peoples’ earnings, what will happen? Whatever meditation we will have done, our meditation will go into the account of the person who is supporting us. And what will we get in return? We will get the anger, criticism, and all the bad qualities of the person who is supporting us. That is why Sant Mat teaches us to work hard, earn our livelihood, and then do the devotion. Because if we will earn our livelihood by honest means, and if we will support our children and our family with the money which we have earned ourselves, it will have a very good effect on our meditations, as well as on our children.

One who works hard supports himself, and he can support many other people as well. That is why we should not remain idle. We should work hard and then do the devotion. If we leave the world and sit quietly in our home for the meditation, you know that mind is a very swift horse, and he wanders everywhere in the world. Even when we are sitting for the meditation, our mind may plan and make us think that we should do some work, we should find some job in the world. He may make us realize that it is not a good thing that we are sitting in the meditation. So one should always spare himself from the tricks of the mind, and one should work hard, earn his own livelihood, and then do the meditation.

When I did the meditation of the Two Words given by Baba Bishan Das for eighteen years, I used to work very hard in the fields. All day long I would go on working in the field and make my body and mind tired, so that when I would sit for meditation, my mind would not play any tricks on me. I would stay up in the night and utilize the nights for doing the meditation, whereas in the daytime, I would work very hard in the field doing my own farming. Here also, when Master gave me the orders to meditate, I planted this orchard at that time. All day long, whenever I would find the need, I would come in the field and I would work hard with my own hands. I never sat idle or became lazy. I would always make my mind and body tired so much by doing all this outer work that when I would sit for the meditation, my mind would not play any tricks on me.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, in our country it's the rule [that] if the woman is divorced from her husband and she is over sixty years of age, she can't share his pension. My husband doesn't support me. We are living apart. And so in our country, the woman who is divorced from the husband gets [a welfare] pension. Should I accept that?

SANT JI: It is better to stand on our own feet. It is best to earn our own livelihood; but if in case we can not do that, and if we get help from the government or from the social security or anything like that, we should meditate more. Satsangis should meditate more, because the money which one gets from the government, the help in the form of the social security, that money is also of the people, and one has to definitely pay to those whose money he is using. So that is why if any Satsangi is getting that type of help, he should meditate more, so that he may not have the bad effect of the people whose money he is taking.

QUESTION: Concerning the paradox between grace and our will to do things, it seems at times when we can't manifest what we want, that the grace is not there to do so. Can this be a trick of the mind, that the grace is always there, and it's just our will that's lacking? Or are there times when the Master will withdraw the grace to humble us or to let us know who's really in control?

SANT JI: There is no time when the Master is not showering His grace on His children. But sometimes what happens when we people do some work, we do not think about it seriously, we do not seek the guidance of any of our good friends. That is why we do not become successful in those works, even though the grace of the Master is there.

Satsangis should never think, not even in a state of forgetfulness, that Satguru's grace is not on them or that Satguru is not gracious on them. Satguru showers all His grace on the disciples all the time, even when a Satsangi is sleeping or when he is awake. Only the Satsangi sleeps; the Master does not sleep. He is always awake, and with His every single breath He showers His grace on the disciples. So that is why the Satsangis should never think that they are not getting the grace of the Master. There is no time when Master is not showering His grace.

I will explain this to you by giving this example. Suppose there is a worldly father. The worldly father always thinks that his child should become a better person, he should be a very good person in this society. But the son does not pay any attention to what the father is saying; he does many bad things. But still the father is having a lot of patience, and he always tries to explain the things to the son, but the son does not understand. Suppose that son makes a grave mistake and he goes to jail. Still the father is very patient and loving, and he hires a lawyer and tries to fight in the court and tries to get his son released. He always tries to do the things better for the son. So just imagine: if a worldly father does all these things for his worldly son, our Almighty Father, our Supreme Father, Who has left His eternal home of happiness and has come down into this world assuming the human body and is suffering a lot for us, don't you think that He will do all these things for us? He is always ready to shower His grace on us. But what happens? You know that if a child is trying to touch the fire, even though he has the desire to do that, since the parents know that it is not good for him to do that, they know that if he touches the fire he will burn his hands, that is why the mother will hold him and tell him not to touch the fire. Or if the child is trying to touch a piece of coal, the father will say, "Don't do that." The father knows that if the child touches the coal, his hands will become dirty. That is why he always tries to stop the child, from doing all these things, even though the child is trying to do that.

What happens is that we don't know what is good for us, or what is bad for us. That is why when we desire anything, when we ask for anything, and if that does not happen, we blame the Master. We say that the grace of the Master was not there. That is not true. The grace of the Master is always flowing toward us, but on many occasions since we don't know what is good or bad for us, and since our Master does know what is good or bad for us, that is why He does not let us do the things which we desire: because we don't know that it was bad for us. Gradually, after some time, we come to know that the thing which we were going to do was not good for us, and we get the right understanding afterward.

So I want to explain to you that there is no time when Master is not gracious on us, but because we don't know what is good or bad for us, that is why many times we do not feel the grace of the Master in the things which we want to do, because it is not appropriate for us to have those things.

When Satguru comes He makes us understand these things through the Satsangs; He teaches us how to make our worldly life comfortable. He tells us, "Loving each other, make your home a heaven, because this is a stepping stone for your spiritual life. If your home life, if your worldly life is comfortable and harmonious, only then you can do your meditation." Our Master does not want us to be unhappy and miserable in this world; if we are unhappy and depressed, our Master is also affected by that, because He is sitting within us. That is why He tells us to make our worldly life easier and comfortable, because we can meditate and go within only if our outer life is comfortable. If we have difficulties and problems in our outer life, we can never progress in the meditations. That is why, always lovingly through the Satsangs, He tells us how to make our home life a heaven. He tells us, "The Master Who is sitting in you in the Form of the Shabd is definitely affected by your pains and problems. You should never think that when you are unhappy, He is not affected by that. He is definitely affected by that because He is sitting within you."

That is why Saints and Masters always tell us to go within, manifest the Master, and find out what is the Will of the Master for you. Always do anything you want, but first take the order from the Master. First you should know whether it is the Will of the Master or not. Because Master never wants us to do anything bad. When the disciples go away from Sant Mat, when they leave the principles of Sant Mat and start doing the other things, Master becomes very unhappy. He says, "What are these forgetful children doing?" And He is always unhappy and affected by the pains and problems of the dear ones. That is why you should do meditation, go within, and manifest the Master within you, so that you may know whether the things which you are doing are acceptable in the eyes of the Master or not, whether it is in the Will of the Master or not, that you are doing those things.

Kabir Sahib said, "If the dear ones are unhappy, I am also unhappy." Guru Gobind Singh Maharaj said, "O Lord, grant the happiness and comforts to all my disciples and to their families."

When we go away from the principles of Sant Mat, we create problems and difficulties for the Masters. That is why we should never go away from the principles of Sant Mat. We should mold our lives according to the teachings of Sant Mat. We should never understand, we should never think, that Master is not gracious on us. Master is always gracious on us. Guru Nanak Sahib says, "I sacrifice myself on such a Master Who showers His grace on me, breath after breath. He Himself is a Liberated One, and He liberates others."

QUESTION: Having no power over the Satguru, and existing only by His mercy, begging for one drop of love, can you open our hearts and tell us of the beauty and love of Kirpal?

SANT JI: I agree that we have no power over the Satguru. But when I sang this bhajan in front of Beloved Master, He told me, "No, that is not true. Those who meditate definitely have power over the Master. They can control the Master. Because the obedient children can even tie the father with ropes. They can do anything, because they have controlled their father in their love. There is nothing impossible for them because they have manifested the Master; and they have controlled the Master in their love." That is why it is not true that we have no power over the Satguru. Those who meditate and go within, they have the power over Satguru. Whatever they want, Satguru will do for them.

Satguru knows what is there in our hearts, because He is sitting within us. Once I had made some pickle [chutney], and I had even prepared food, and then the thought came into my heart that when the sister of Guru Nanak had made a chapati for Him, because that chapati had become very beautiful and very good, she thought, "My brother, Guru Nanak, should come and eat this." Even though at that time Guru Nanak was living far away, but still He appeared there to eat the chapati because his sister had remembered Him with love. So I thought that like Guru Nanak came to quench the thirst of His sister, is it possible that my Master may come and fulfill my desire? I have the desire that my Master should come and eat the [chutney] which I have made and the food which I have prepared. And it is true that after that, Master sent one person, whose name was Ramlal. He came and informed me that Master was coming there for lunch. And because I had desired that Master should come and eat the food there, even though there was no schedule but still Master came there and He ate that [chutney], He ate the food. And I have mentioned many times in the Satsang that Master told me, "Your [chutney] is very delicious; and now that I have eaten your salt, I will have to be true to your salt, and I will have to give you something." I was a very fortunate one that Master, Who was residing within me, heard my plea and knew my desire, and He came to fulfill my desire.

The Form of the Supreme Father Kirpal cannot be described in words. As Kabir Sahib said, "The dumb person cannot describe the sweetness of the jaggery; he can only express his happiness that he has eaten something sweet by dancing. He can never speak because he does not have any tongue; he is dumb." In the same way, the Form of the Master, Supreme Father Kirpal, can never be described in words. No matter if you write millions of scriptures in the praise and the glory of the Form of the Master, but still you cannot describe His glory in its full sense, its full extent. It is something which is worth seeing.

I can tell you only this thing, that this world is a dense forest of sensual pleasures in which the mind and soul are being kicked and knocked. When the mind and soul get some perfect Master and, by doing the meditation according to the instructions of the Master, when both mind and soul after stilling themselves at the Eye Center with the grace of the Master, when they go in the beyond and reach the Radiant Form of the Master, there they see the attractive Form of the Beloved Master. Then both the mind and soul are attracted by that Radiant Form of the Master, just as a piece of iron is attracted toward a magnet. When our soul and mind come in the range of the Shabd, they are at once attracted and pulled by the Radiant Form of the Master. And then we come to realize what is the position of our Master and what respect our Master is getting in the higher planes. There we come to know how these opposing powers, which were bothering us in this world, pay homage to our Master and how they have become the slave of our Master. And only then the true love and true faith in the Master is created within us.

QUESTION: First, why are the hours of 3:00 to 6:00 in the morning the best hours to meditate? Second, in the meditation instructions You said that when our mind wanders from the Third Eye, when our attention wanders, we lose a lot of our strength, and I was wondering: is that physical strength, and does that also apply throughout the day? Third, Master Kirpal used to say that when we see Light in meditation, that that's the only time that we are progressing in our meditation, that it would make us progress. I was wondering what that process is? How does seeing the Light make us advance spiritually?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji chuckles] Well, Hazur Maharaj Kirpal threw a lot of light on this matter, regarding the early morning hours for meditation. One reason is that by sleeping, we forget all our daily thoughts which we have been thinking throughout the day. We have forgotten them by sleeping, and our body becomes lighter by sleeping. And the other thing is that since our consciousness, our soul, our attention, has recently or at that time entered in the body when we woke up, that is why those who meditate in the early morning hours are able to withdraw from the body, are able to take their soul up easily.

Another reason is that at that time in the houses or the streets, not many people are awake, so there is not much noise or disturbance. That is why it is recommended that the meditator should take advantage of that time.

Now, regarding what strength do we lose if we let our mind and soul come in the nine openings. You know that our inner journey starts from the Eye Center and we have to go upward. But if instead of going upward, we let our mind and soul come downward into the nine openings, what happens? When our mind and soul go in the nine openings, then we start having thoughts of the world. And when we will have those thoughts, we will naturally have the desires of the world. And when we will have the desires, we will definitely do one or another thing to fulfill that desire. And you know that when we act to fulfill our desires, what do we do? We definitely lose our strength.

Now, regarding the Light – in Sant Mat, our job is to go into the Light, because this Light is the Light of the Almighty Lord, and the Light is Life. That is why we have to go into the Light, and when we go into the Light we progress.

God has manifested this Light from Sach Khand, and it is burning in all the planes. So when we see the Light, when we go into the Light, gradually by traveling in the Light, we come nearer to our Real Home, Sach Khand. When we have the Light, when we are in the Light, we will not lose our way. On the first day in Satsang I said that there is a lot of darkness in the within, and unless we have the Light of Master, we cannot progress. So when we have the Light, when we see the Light, or go into the Light, we progress.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Would You like to use this blanket?

SANT JI: [much laughter, including Sant Ji] Thank you, I have enough clothes. I thank you for your sympathy.

QUESTION: Is it disrespectful if, after the morning meditation, we follow You to Your stairs and watch You go up the steps?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs] Well, you have to please your mind, whether it is appropriate or not. The question is to get the darshan of the Master, and for that, no matter what you have to do, everything is respectful.

[Sant Ji laughs while Pappu translates this.]

I will tell you an incident of Master Sawan Singh and His very devoted disciple, Mastana Ji of Baluchisthan, which I saw with my own eyes. In those days there was no electricity in the Satsang Hall, at the place where Baba Sawan Singh Ji used to live. So in the summertime, they used to have [large] fans, which they would move with their hands. One person was doing that to Baba Sawan Singh, and Mastana Ji was there. He had the desire, “Let me go and fan my Master.” He thought, “Is that person superior to me, or has he more right on my Master that only he is allowed to do that seva? Why shouldn’t I go and do that?” But there were many other people who were not allowing Mastana Ji to go in front of Baba Sawan Singh and do that job. So He was very much upset, and then He thought, “Baba Sawan Singh always says in the Satsang that a dear one should never be stopped by anything, even if he is living in a place where there are many snakes, and if on the way there are many lions and tigers – no matter how many obstacles there are in the way, the dear one should never be stopped by or be afraid of anything when he is going to have the darshan of the Master.” He thought, “When Master says all these things, why should I worry, why should I just stay here? I should go and kick that person out and take the fan and do that seva.” So somehow He got the way [to the front] and He pushed that person. He was trying to get the fan from him, but the other person was also very stubborn. He did not want to give that fan to Mastana Ji, and they both started fighting. Now both of them were very strong, and nobody wanted to just let go of the fan, so ultimately both of them fell onto Baba Sawan Singh [Who was sitting] on the bed.

Then Baba Sawan Singh Ji became upset, and He said, “Well, Mastana, why don’t you give him the fan?” He replied, “Master, that person is not giving me the fan. Why should I give the fan to him?” So when both of them were fighting, Baba Sawan Singh Ji became very upset and He said, “Mastana Ji, you go and jump in the well. You are disturbing me a lot.”

Mastana Ji had wanted to hear some words, He had wanted the order of the Master. So when Master Sawan Singh said, “Go and jump in the well,” He at once went to the well which was near the Satsang Hall and He jumped into it. When Master Sawan Singh Ji came to know about that, He at once ran to the well, and they threw a rope into the well, and Baba Sawan Singh told Mastana Ji to hold that rope and come out. But underneath the water, Baba Sawan Singh was holding Mastana Ji up, and He was not letting Him drown. And Mastana Ji knew that, that Master Sawan Singh was protecting Him. So He said, “Well, I will not do that. I am obeying Your order, You told me to go and jump in the well, now why are You trying to rescue me?”

Anyway, when Mastana Ji came out, He used to say, “One should never get stopped by any obstacle when he is going to have the darshan of the Master. And even if one has to sacrifice a very big thing on the way to the Master, for having the darshan of the Master, he should understand that sacrifice as the little one, and he should never let anyone stop him from going to have the darshan of the Master.”

Mahatma Chattardas also had the Initiation from Baba Sawan Singh, and in His writing He has written that the Master is not bothered by the world, and because He is in the love of His Master, that is why He does not care for the love of the people, and that is why usually He does not let many people come near Him. But the disciple, the dear one, the lover of the Master, even if He gets the opportunity to have the darshan of the shadow of the Master from a distance, still he understands himself as the most fortunate one. If somehow he gets the opportunity to have the darshan of the Master face-to-face, even from a distance, still he will understand that he is has gotten a very big kingdom or that he is one of the most fortunate ones.

Once when Master Kirpal Singh Ji was resting in my house in the room on the top floor, two dear ones I don’t know from where they climbed the stairs – they came and opened the door. As soon as Master Kirpal saw them, He became upset and He said, “Why don’t you let me rest?” Hearing that, one dear one told the other, “Look, did you get the Parshad, isn’t it very tasty?” And they both were very happy to have the darshan of the Master. So I mean to say that the dear one needs only the darshan. No matter in which way he gets it, he is desirous of the darshan. So whatever he has to suffer in order to get the darshan of the Master, he is ready to accept that.

Session Date: December 26, 1982

This question and answer session was given December 26, 1982 at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, could you give us some suggestions about dealing with discord in a group of people. I’m thinking particularly of my family and of our Satsang. [Pappu asks for clarification.] Disagreements and arguments and things like that – how to help when those come up in a family or in a Satsang group.

SANT JI: I think in 1977 I gave a discourse on this subject in Sant Bani Ashram, which is on tape as well as in the magazine. I think you should find that tape and listen to it.<sup>63</sup>

Satguru Power has a lot of sympathy for the Satsangis, that is why He always tries to make the Satsangis peaceful and in harmony. Satguru Power always becomes very happy when He sees the Satsangis living in a peaceful state, and that is why He always tries to make them peaceful. Because when our minds are peaceful and quiet, then we get a lot of help in doing our meditations. Whether it is a family or a Satsang group, it is always very important to keep our mind peaceful.

Ever since our soul has left the realm of peace, the Home of our Supreme Father, she has not found any peace, she has not experienced any peace. Instead she has been carrying the burdens of the sufferings and pains and problems of this world.

From childhood until old age man goes on dreaming of peace and happiness, but he never finds any peace or happiness because the Negative Power is bothering everyone. When the Negative Power comes to bother us, then we can handle it, but [even] before the Negative Power comes, the mind is bothering us a lot. You know how the mind is bothering everybody. He is separating the husband from the wife, he is making us fight with each other. You know how only because of the mind one religion is fighting with the other religion, how one country is fighting with the other country. So everyone has become a toy in the hands of the mind, and they all are being bothered by him and that is why they don't have any peace.

Whether it is a Satsangi family, a Satsang group, a school, or any institution, if we all come to realize that we all have only one Father, and we all belong to one Home, then we may start learning. And then we may know how to become peaceful, and then we can become peaceful.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, for the past seven years I have been separated from my husband, and in that time I haven't committed adultery or anything like that, but I have on occasion masturbated. And I'm wondering, for women especially, You haven't really said very much about the damage that's done when women engage in sexual acts of different kinds. For men You've said that if they lose semen they are losing the power of Ojas and there's a great loss. But for women, what can You tell us that can give us more information on why not to do these things?

SANT JI: Women need to preserve the vital fluid as much as the men need to. As men experience a loss by losing their vital fluid, in the same way, women also lose the same power.

Because as men have the desire, in the same way, women also have the same kind of desire. And as men have the vital fluid in their bodies, in the same way, women also have the vital fluid in them.

But many doctors, as well as most women, don't know this, that they also have the vital fluid. Suppose there was no vital fluid in a woman: she would never have gotten the desire of lust.

I have said this a lot, that people lose a lot more vital fluid by masturbating. They may lose a little when a man and woman indulge, but if they are masturbating, they lose a lot of vital fluid. And the other damage is that the veins in which the vital fluid is made, and through which it flows out, they also are damaged if the people are masturbating.

Masturbation eventually leads to many diseases in old age. That is why in the Hindu Shastras it is written that masturbation is a great sin. It is like throwing the vital fluid in the fire, because the vital fluid is the main element in the creation of babies. And just imagine: one drop of your vital fluid can create one baby, who can create many other babies, so it has been considered as the main element in the creation of this world. That is why in the Hindu Shastras it is written that those who masturbate, those who waste their vital fluid with their hands or by artificial means are doing a grave sin.

Of course, everyone should abstain from lust, but it is worse to masturbate.

The Light of Ajaib

Don't go for the little pleasure you may get by indulging in this lust. Always consider the consequences of your unchaste deed; just think about the diseases which you may get by indulging in this way.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj says that just for a little bit of pleasure a man suffers a lot for many days; he comes back into this world again and again.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji has written that one gets the pain for one crore days, which is about thirty-three thousand years.

Now you can very well imagine and think and decide about it – who will [want to] be the foolish person who will enjoy for a little bit and, just for a little bit of pleasure, will suffer for thirty-three thousand years? Because the more you indulge in lust, the more disease you get in the end. If we indulge more in lust, in our old age we will get more disease.

A Satsangi should always sit in meditation when such a wave of lust comes within him. He should always hide himself behind the Form of the Master. You know that if any trouble is going to come, the child goes and hides himself behind the mother. In the same way, when you see the wave of lust coming, at once go and hide yourself behind the Form of the Master at the Eye Center. At once take your attention into the Light and start doing your meditation. Then that wave of lust will go away and it will not bother you any more, and you will get peace.

If you put more wood on a burning fire, the flame will increase. It will never be extinguished; you can never satisfy the fire. In the same way, obeying your mind, if you will indulge more, your mind will not get any satisfaction. He will ask for more and more; and the desire will become more and more, and it will create a lot of heat in your body. And every now and then your mind will make you do that. He is like a competent lawyer sitting within you, and he may tell you, "Well, do it now and don't do it later on." But later on also he will make you do the same thing. Whenever he will get the opportunity, whether it is in the morning, in the afternoon, or in the night, he will always make you indulge in this and he will make you his slave.

I get the opportunity of meeting many people and sometimes when I hear about people's lives, I feel sorry for them. Because when I hear how they have spoiled their lives it is a matter of great sorrow for me. What people do, right from their childhood, even before the vital fluid has started forming in their bodies they are involved in lust – they talk about lust, and they get involved in lust. So that is why before they come into their youth, they become old. What happens when a child knows about lust and thinks about it and gets involved in it? In his youth he starts losing his vital fluid faster than it is made in the body. When he sleeps, and when he wakes up, all his clothes are wet. So gradually, when he loses a lot of vital fluid, he becomes old very soon. Later on when he gets a lot of diseases because of the loss of energy, then he goes to the doctor and tries to replace the vital fluid with medicines. He gets some help, but the medicines produce a lot of heat in the body. The person does not abstain from the unchaste deeds. Instead of abstaining from the unchaste deeds, instead of maintaining the chastity, he goes on taking the medicines and he goes on indulging in lust.

In the present time, which we call as the age of progress, you know that lust is promoted a lot through the television, radio, movies, and newspapers. Lust is talked about everywhere, and you will be surprised to know that most of the advertisements are regarding the pills for energy to replace the vital fluid. And in many different ways the doctors are inspiring people to indulge in lust more and more.

The Light of Ajaib

Why do Saints and Mahatmas emphasize living a life of loyalty between the husband and the wife? Why do They tell us to abstain from the sexual pleasures? And why do They tell us to maintain chastity and purity in our lives? This is something which we all should think about.

If a woman can maintain her love for one husband in her life, that is enough. In the same way, if one can maintain the love for one Master in his lifetime, that is enough. Because the woman who makes many husbands and who tries to love many different husbands never finds any peace or happiness. She becomes restless; she becomes sad and depressed. But if she is loyal to only one husband, only one person, then she gets the eternal happiness.

When you are bothered by lust on this plane, when men cannot control themselves when looking at the physical women, and when women cannot control themselves when looking at the physical men, just imagine what will become of you, what will happen, when you go into the astral plane and you meet the astral men and women? They are more beautiful, more radiant, than the men and women are here. If you are not able to control your emotions your lust in this physical plane, what will you do when you go to the astral plane?

When the pleasures of this physical plane are bothering us and we are finding no peace in them, do you think that we will be able to get peace and happiness when we get the astral bodies and astral organs of senses?

Your Master, your Friend, wants to take you to Sach Khand. But when you are not able to control yourself in this physical plane, how will you control yourself when you go to the astral world? Don't think that it is all a story. This is a fact: when we leave this physical plane we go to the astral plane. And the astral plane is exactly like the physical plane. The only difference is that there the bodies are astral and everything is in the astral form. There also we have many different places, many different bodies. If we have not controlled ourselves, if we have not maintained purity in this physical plane, how are we going to maintain purity and chastity in the astral plane?

Always remember, if you will get absorbed in unchaste thoughts, at the time of your death they will bother you. The unchaste thoughts will not allow you to think about your Master or to remember your Master at the time of death. At the time of death the unchaste thoughts will come again and bother you.

Once I got the opportunity of visiting a ninety-year-old man when he was on his death bed. When I went to visit him, he was unconscious. When I held his hand, at once he woke up and he asked me, "Are you tying the thread on my wrist?" In India it is a custom that when a boy gets married they tie a thread on his wrist. So he thought that I had come to tie a thread on his wrist to get him married again. So he asked me, "Are you going to get me married again?"

Just think, he was ninety years old and he was on his death bed, but still because of his unchaste thoughts, he was thinking that he was going to marry once again. So if you have unchaste thoughts deep in your mind, then at the time of death they will bother you and they will not allow you to remember the Master.

Regarding how important or how valuable the vital fluid is, I gave many discourses on the banis of Guru Nanak and Kabir while I was at Sant Bani Ashram, which are on the tapes and in the magazine. You should find those and you should listen to them, you should read those, and you will realize how important, how valuable the vital fluid is for everyone.<sup>64</sup>

In the Path of the Masters there are not different teachings for the men and women. The teachings of Sant Mat are the same for both men and women, because within both of them the same Path of the Master is existing, and they both are given the same Naam, the same Initiation, and they both have the same practices to go back to the Real Home.

Kabir Sahib said, “Listen, O men and women, to the true words of the Master. In this world there are many poisonous fruits. Don’t taste them.” The Negative Power has [covered the poison with sugar] and He is tempting the people. Kabir Sahib says, “Don’t say, ‘Let us taste it once and then we will not eat it.’ Don’t do it, because once you taste this poisonous fruit, once you get the bad smell of this unchaste deed in your brain, it will bother you over and over again, and you will never be able to get rid of it.”

Masturbation is a very bad habit and it is very difficult to get rid of it. In the army there was a boy from the Punjab, whose name was Guru Dev Singh, and he had this habit. He became very weak. He was not able to function properly, he was not able to run with us, he was not able to do any work because of his weak body. But he did not stop doing this bad habit. Once our officer asked, “What is wrong with Guru Dev Singh? Why is he becoming so weak?” Since I knew about his habit, I told the officer that he was masturbating, that he had this bad habit. So that officer told me to watch him and make sure that he did not do that again. You know, how can one guard someone who is involved in this bad habit? I tried to guard him, but whenever he would go to bed, in his bed he would do that. So I told the officer that I cannot guard him because he finds one or the other way to masturbate. Gradually he became so weak that he was not able to move properly and the government had to fire him, and he lost his job. So I mean to say that when you have this bad habit, it is very difficult to get rid of it. So that is why one should be very careful and never form such a habit which may result in disease or problems.

QUESTION: Are all the five dacoits as difficult to get rid of? If lust goes first then is every one [of the dacoits] going to be just as bad in time?

SANT JI: [After hearing the question, Sant Ji laughs.] For those who do not meditate, the dacoits are very mighty and very powerful and they make those people their slaves. But for those who meditate, they are nothing, they are very weak. The dacoits do not bother those who meditate.

Yesterday in the Satsang I said that when you progress in meditation and reach the Feet of the Master, when you reach Trikuti in Brahm, there these powers, one by one, will go from you. They will come and tell you, “Now I cannot live with you any more.” Because when the owner of the house wakes up, then all the dacoits find no place in the house. Lust will tell you, “I am going,” and in the place of lust will come continence or chastity.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj said that these five dacoits bother the people of the world, whereas to the devotees of the Almighty Lord they bow down.

You know that if you surrender to your enemies, if you surrender to the dacoits who have come to plunder the valuable things in your home, they will take all your belongings, and it is possible that before leaving your home, they may even beat you. But if you do not surrender to them, if you are strong and you say, “Okay, come on!” if you try to fight with them, then they will know that you are stronger and they will run away. If you chase them, they will run away. In the same way, if we will wake up and if we are determined to fight with the five dacoits, they will not bother you. You will be able to chase them away. That is why Kabir Sahib said, “In this city of the body, you should keep the Light of the Shabd glowing all the time. Because in this city of the body the thieves come.” He even called all these five passions as the dacoits. He said, “Burn the Light of the Shabd within you and always remain awake because the dacoits come into your city to plunder you. When they see that you are awake and that there is Light in the house, they will not enter the house and bother you.”

QUESTION: If lust only departs when we reach Trikuti, and if we can't progress in our meditation until we get rid of lust, what hope is there for us?

SANT JI: [After hearing this question, Sant Ji laughs.] Supreme Father Kirpal always used to say, “What a man has done, a man can do.”

This is the thought of a weak mind. The weak person is always afraid of the other person. Even if he is stronger than the other person, still because of his weak thoughts, he always thinks that he is weaker than the other person.

In Rajasthan there is a saying that once a trader – traders are not usually very strong – defeated one of the farmers, who usually are very strong. The trader sat on the farmer, and the farmer who was underneath said, “Well, let me come up and then I will show you.”

You have the strong Master with you, and on your back is the strong hand of the Master. Why should you think that you will never go inside, that you will never go within, that you will never rise above?

You should have firm determination to go in the within, and you should have love and affection for the Master. You should have faith in Him. These three things are the stepping stones, they are the foundation of your Spirituality. If you have all these three things: love, and faith in the Master, and firm determination, then there is no question of not going within.

Make your determination a little bit stronger and try to rise above. That will also help you a lot. And go within just a little bit and then you will see how the flames of love are burning in your within. Reach the Eye Center and then you will see how your Master is waiting for you. Master never wants to delay our journey to Him. He is always ready to pull us up. At least be attentive to Him, look at Him. Take one step toward Him and He will come down fifty steps to take you above. If you have firm determination, love and affection for Him, and faith in Him, then definitely He will take you up.

QUESTION: Master, many times I feel like I have very little or no love for You. I feel like I have a really hard time trying to reach the Eye Center, to try to do something good, or to do what You ask. I am wondering, how can I get over that phase?

SANT JI: Just now I have said that first of all we need to have love and faith in the Master. These are very important things. Unless we have all of these, we cannot go within.

QUESTION: Is the Form of the Master, which resides within the disciple from the time of Initiation, always doing the Simran within the disciple?

SANT JI: Yes, it is the same Form of the Master. The Form of the Master never changes. In fact, that Form of the Master has come into this world only so that we may develop our love for the Inner Form of the Master, which is residing within us. Because we can love only the person, only the power, which we have seen with our own eyes that is why Master has come in the physical form, and He is residing in front of us also. The same Form is also residing in our within. The Master tells us, “I am sitting within you in this Form. You develop the love and rise above and go within.” The Form of the Master never changes until the Master takes us to our Real Home. It always remains the same.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: When the Master says, “Remember the Form of the Master,” is this the Inner Form or is it the outer form? And if it’s the outer form, is it visualizing the Master from His physical picture, or remembrance of Him in the physical form?

SANT JI: You do not have to think about the picture of the Master. You have to remember the physical form of the Master. Just now I said that there is no difference between the inner and the outer form. As you see the outer form of the Master, the Inner Form of the Master is also exactly the same.

The picture does not have any life in it. The Form of the Master has Life in it, and that is why when you will remember the Form of the Master, it is possible that you may talk with that Form of the Master, like I am talking with you, and if you will put any question to Him, He will reply.

The only difference is that the Inner Form or the Shabd Form of the Master is more beautiful; it is more radiant. That is why sometimes when you see that Form in dreams or in visions, for many days you remember that Form, for many days you feel the happiness coming out of that experience. This is because the Inner Form, or the Shabd Form, is more beautiful and more radiant.

When our mind and soul get purified and when we perfect our Simran, after that, we find the same attraction and same pleasure and same happiness by looking at the outer form of the Master also. Because when we have purified our mind and soul and have perfected our Simran, then we don’t find any difference between the inner and the outer form of the Master. As the Inner Form is beautiful and it gives us happiness and we are attracted to it, in the same way, once we have purified our mind and soul and perfected the Simran, the outer form of the Master also attracts us. And then we don’t feel like going away from the outer form of the Master even for a moment.

Those who became fond of the outer darshan of the Masters, those who got intoxication from the darshan of the outer form of the Master, they never tried to go away from the form of the Master, and they always tried to live near the Master. They always said, “O my Beloved, I feel like sitting in front of You always and looking at Your beautiful form.”

Those who develop faith in the outer form of the Master, they also get intoxication and pleasure by looking at the form of the Master. And if you would tell such people, “God is standing in back of you,” they would not want to give up the darshan of their Master in order to see God. Because they know that their God is the Master, and they are seeing the Master with their open eyes, and they have faith in the form of the Master. Regarding myself, I have said this many times that I did not close my eyes when I was told, “If anyone wants to see God, he should close his eyes.” I did not close my eyes because I was seeing my God, my Beloved Kirpal, with my open eyes. I told them, “When I am seeing my Lord in front of me with my open eyes – I see Him moving and talking and doing everything – why do I need to close my eyes? – because I don’t want to see any other God except for my Master.”

Master has manifested the Naam, and Sach Khand is the Home of Master. Those who get attached to their Master, only they manifest the Naam and go to Sach Khand. Those who understand that Master,

The Light of Ajaib

Almighty Lord and Sach Khand are three different things, if they try to get themselves attached to Almighty Lord or to Sach Khand without getting attached to the Master, they always remain in confusion.

Hazrat Bahu said, “May every cell of my body become an eye so that I may behold the form of my Master. And after looking at my Master so much, still I will not get any contentment.” Further, He said, “If every single hair of my body becomes an eye, and if I get the opportunity of looking at the Master with so many eyes, still I will not get any satisfaction; still I will find one more way to have the darshan of my Master, because for me the darshan of my Master is worth more than millions of pilgrimages.”

From childhood Ajaib had this desire of seeing the attractive, beautiful form of Kirpal. And when the time came and when the attractive form of Beloved Kirpal came in front of Ajaib, he sacrificed himself on that form, and he said, “Ajaib is like a moth which flew to the Light of Kirpal and sacrificed himself on the Light of Kirpal.” Master used to say that the coming of the dear soul, or the loving soul, to the Master is like bringing dry gun powder in contact with fire. As the dry gun powder at once explodes when it is brought in contact with fire, in the same way, when the dear or loving soul comes to the perfect Master, that soul sacrifices everything on the Master and becomes of the Master.

So the first step in order to become successful in this Path is that we have to love the Master. We have to have faith in the Master, and we have to have so much love and faith in Him.

Kabir Sahib said about His Master, “O Master, when You will come in my sight, I will close my eyes so that I may not see any other thing except You. And moreover, I will keep You shut in my eyes, in my sight, and I will not let You see anybody else except me.”

Swami Ji Maharaj praised His Master by saying these words: “If anyone may see the Form of my Master, may he become attracted and may he sacrifice everything for Him.”

Mahatma Chattardas has said, “There are many beautiful people in the world but the Form of the Master is the Unique One.”

He says that in order to get the darshan of the Beloved One, many people became sad and depressed. They went into the forest and they made their homes in the forest. They worked very hard and emaciated their bodies and became very weak, just for the darshan of the Beloved. But when the Beloved did not give them His darshan, they became depressed.

Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj also sings the praise of His Master, and about the value of darshan He says, “I desire to have the darshan of my Master for twenty-four hours a day. When I don’t see Him, I am like a madman. When I see Him, when I have His darshan, I become sane.” Once when my Supreme Father Kirpal came to my place, He was wearing a light-weight blanket like a shawl which is called kumbli, and I said these words: “‘Kumbli, kumbli,’ everybody says, ‘Kumbli,’ and I see You wearing this kumbli. Ask my heart and you will know how beautiful You seem to me.” When I said this He was very pleased and He embraced me. Whenever I would say anything like this He would embrace me. He would become so happy and He would caress me like the father caresses the child of forty days old. He made me sit on His lap, and He loved me very much.

I never called Him using the word “Master” or “Hazur.” Usually I used to call Him as the Beautiful One.

The Light of Ajaib

I was a very fortunate one whom Master has given the opportunity of serving Him. The flour, the wheat, the clarified butter, all used to go from this place for Him. And whenever He came here and would want to take anything with Him personally, He would say, “Your Beautiful One needs this, so give me this.”

I used to do the farming with my own hands in the field from which I used to send wheat for the Master. And I used to take care of the cow which gave the milk to make the clarified butter for the Master. And I always felt that I was the most fortunate one, and I would always wonder, “What good deed have I done because of which I have been given this opportunity to serve my beautiful Master?”

When the faith in the Master and the love for the Master resides within the disciple, then all the meditation, Bhajan and Simran are done. And after that the disciple takes everything that happens in his life as the Will of the Master. Because he knows that everything is being done by the Master. He does not possess anything; he says, “Nothing belongs to me, it is all of the Master.” He understands that his body, mind, and soul: everything is of the Master. He does not understand that he is the owner of all these things because he knows that his beautiful Master has taken over all these things.

Our minds do not trust, and that is why we never believe. We say, “How can a man become God?” But this is true – that God has always come in the form of man. and He has lived among men, and He has told us about the Real Home, and He creates the desire within us to go back to the Real Home.

1998 April: He Always Protects the Disciple

Session Date: September 25, 1983

This question and answer session was given September 25, 1983 at Sant Bani Ashram, Village 16 PS, Rajasthan, India.

SANT JI: Okay, now you can ask your questions.

QUESTION: I have two questions. One is that when a soul commits a sin which seems small and she is so badly punished, first in hell and then again in this world by having a bad life or a body of a low creation – why is this sin, which is committed in maybe half an hour over here, punished over there for maybe over a thousand years? For example, I heard on a Satsang tape that indulging in lust one time has an effect thirty-three thousand years long. This is the first question.

SANT JI: [Sant Ji chuckles after hearing the question.] You know that the Laws of Nature are such that they cannot be changed. The Laws of Nature are imitated in this world and that is why the laws which people have made in this world are also unchangeable.

The Laws of Nature cannot be challenged. It is better for us to bow down in front of the Laws of Nature and accept them. It is better for us to remain in the will of Nature. You know that if there were no severe punishments for the sins which we do, there would have been corruption everywhere in this Creation. Nobody would allow another person to live in peace, and nobody would bother to respect other people.

Here, if a thief steals someone’s things, it takes him only a few moments to steal things which the other person would have earned or collected by working so many days or months. In the same way, it takes about twenty or twenty-one years for a child to grow up and become a young boy. If someone murders him, it takes only a moment to kill that person, but just consider how much his mother had to suffer while giving birth to that child. Consider how much effort and how much time was spent in bringing that boy up. It takes only one minute, or even less than that, to shoot that boy, but just consider for how long that boy had worked hard, and the efforts his parents made to raise that boy.

In order to keep the souls in His control, God has created hells, heavens and many other planes. And even after going to the hells and heavens and the other planes, and even after suffering a lot as a reaction of her deeds, still the soul says, “No, it is not like that. I will not be punished for this small sin which I am doing.” But she does not realize that God is within her all the time and He is watching every single deed that the soul is doing.

The seed of a tree is a very small thing; it looks very small. But you know that out of that seed come the leaves, the branches, the trunk, and finally it becomes a very big tree. If we go on discussing and arguing about this – about how is it possible to bring out leaves, branches and trunks from that little seed – it is like splitting hairs and we will get nothing out of it. But if we think about it and if we consider how that seed grows and how the branches, trunk and leaves come out from that seed, we know that when we nourish the seed, all these things come out.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to tell a story very often about a man who, while he was walking, did not see that there was a well and he fell into that well. When another person who was passing by heard the cry of the person who was in the well, he tried to help him by putting a rope down the well. He told him to catch hold of it and to climb the rope and come out. But instead of holding that rope and coming out, the person who was in the well started asking questions: “Who made this well?” and “Who broke the fence around this well?” and “How many more people can fit in this well?” He started asking such foolish questions. At first the person who was trying to help him was very patient and loving; he answered some of his questions, but when he asked, “How many more people can fit in this well?” the helper became angry and he threw down the rope, saying, “Many more fools like you can fit in this well!”

Just think, if that man who was in the well had first climbed out from there with the help of the other person, it would have been much better for him. After coming out, he could have asked many questions about the well, and the person who was helping him would have been very happy to answer all his questions. But that person did not first come out; he did not solve his problem first. Instead, he was worried about other people.

So in the same way, we all are in the deep well of this life. We don't have any idea how deep this well is and we don't know how to come out from it. Masters have come into this world and graciously They have taught us how to come out of this well. So if we Satsangis all meditate and obey the commandments of the Master, go within, open the inner veil and go in front of our Shabd Master and ask Him these questions it will be much better for us. If we ask such questions, without coming out of this well of the life into which we all have fallen, it is not less than foolish, because we are not less than the person who was in the well, who did not want to come out, and who instead went on asking questions.

QUESTION: May I ask the second question then?

SANT JI: Sure. [Much laughter]

QUESTION: I'm sorry for this second [question]; it's a little rebellious. In South America, Master said that if by mistake the soul of a disciple is taken to hell by the Angels of Death, the Master comes and liberates the soul. Now how can that be? – that in the Kingdom of the perfect God and in the law of equilibrium that there can be a mistake? That makes me disappointed and even a little bit uncomfortable and angry. If God Almighty is perfect and everything is in His Will, then how can there be a mistake? I'm afraid I'd be the one the Angels of Death will grab and put in the hells by mistake.

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: You did not try to understand what I was trying to say in that Satsang.

[Questioner responds, "I'm sorry."]

SANT JI: The soul does not make any mistake when she reaches Sach Khand, but when we come down from Sach Khand into this world, when we are in the human body, we make mistakes. And because we are living in the kingdom of the Negative Power, if because of our mistakes and bad deeds, the Negative Power takes our soul and puts her into the hell, the Master is still a gracious Being. And because He has initiated us, it becomes His responsibility and duty to liberate us. That is why He goes into the hell and brings us back from the clutches of the Negative Power.

But I would say that the son who carries his own burden, who works for his own self, can be a good son, can be a loyal son to the father.

In Sant Mat also the same principle applies. We should also become good sons of our Master, of our Father. No doubt the Master is happy carrying our burden on His shoulders, but it is not good for us to put all our burden on the Master. Always remember, as both Master Sawan Singh and Master Kirpal Singh used to say, that the Negative Power does not give any concession. He does not spare any karma. Either the disciple has to pay the karma or the Master has to pay it.

About the condition of the disciples, we already know that whenever we are a little bit sick, if we have even a little bit of fever, we always pray to Master and tell Him to lift that pain up from our body. Because Master loves us, He does not mind carrying that burden on His body. But we should never do such karmas whose burden our Master will have to carry. Although He will not complain in carrying the burden, it is not good for us to go on putting the burden on the Master.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to tell a story about a soul who went into hell. He used to say, "Baba Ji ordered me to go to the hell to bring that soul back from the hell and when I went there, I asked that soul if she could remember the Simran. She replied that 'No,' she could not remember the Simran. And then I asked her if she was hearing the Sound Current, to which she also replied that she was not hearing it. So then I told her to follow my voice. And when she followed my voice, gradually she told me that she could now remember the Simran and the Sound was also coming. And following that Sound and my voice, she came out of the hell and then she reported, 'Now I can see how the souls are suffering in this hell.'"

You see that the disciples make the mistakes and by their mistakes, they go to the hell. And since the Masters are gracious Beings, that is why, in order to liberate the souls, to liberate the disciples, the Masters have to go in the hells.

QUESTION: Could you explain, do you need to see the living Master within before you can reach the different levels?

SANT JI: This is something which all of you should remember, that unless you manifest your Master in your within, you cannot reach the different levels. You can never even dream of going in the higher planes. Because it is the Master Who will take you to the different planes, to the different levels, in the inner journey, in the inner world. You cannot go there by yourselves.

Swami Ji Maharaj said, “The Shabd will open to you with the grace of the Master and the mighty Master will pull your soul up.”

QUESTION: Does Master ever allow one family member to share the burden and suffering of another family member if they pray for that? I was wondering, because I’ve been praying for my son, who is so sick. When I left America and when I came here, I got very sick and was going through a lot of suffering and wondered if that could maybe alleviate what my son was going through.

SANT JI: The thing is that if the prayer is made with a sincere heart, sometimes it is heard and it works. But regarding this, Master Sawan Singh Ji used to tell a very interesting story about one old woman whose granddaughter was always sick. Because that girl used to remain sick a lot that old woman would always request Almighty Lord, saying, “O Lord, may I have the pain of this girl and may I suffer on her account.” Many times she would even say, “May the Angel of Death come and take me instead of her.” Once it so happened that a cow came from outside and it was looking for some food in the kitchen. She put her mouth into the pots, one after another. The cow’s head got stuck in one pot and then the cow could not see anything, so she was running here and there in the kitchen. You know that the bottom of the pot was black. When that old woman saw that beast, she thought that it was the Angel of Death for whom she had been praying. So at once she said, “No, no, no! I am not the one for whom You have come! You have come for the other one and she is in the other room.”

So the thing is that we may say outwardly that we are ready to suffer the pain of our family members, but you know that when the pain comes, it is very difficult to bear. It is very difficult to suffer the pain on the body. We cannot even suffer the pain of our own karmas, what to talk about suffering the pains of others’ karmas. Outwardly we may say that we are ready, but when the pain comes, only then do we know how difficult it is.

It will be better to meditate than to pray like this, because your meditation will help your son very much. It is like a part of worry in which you are involved.

QUESTION: You say that when one meditates, you shouldn’t think, but I find that it is very sweet to remember You, and so I was wondering whether this is something that disturbs the meditation or whether it is counted as valuable remembrance.

SANT JI: Well, it is good to remember the Master, but it is much better to remember what the Master is saying and what the Master has told us to do. That is why Master Kirpal used to say, “Respect my words more than my body.”

QUESTION: So, when I meditate I can’t think of You?

SANT JI: Instead of that, do Simran, because if you will do Simran, you will come closer to me.

QUESTION: For me, it is easier to think of You.

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs.] But it is very important to obey what the Master is saying. You should do Simran.

QUESTION: When You answered the second question it came to my mind, something we were talking about amongst ourselves, and that is we shouldn’t put too much burden on the Master. I would like to know . . . how far can one expect You to take care of things, and how much are we allowed to decide for ourselves, remembering also that we have to surrender in time to the Master?

SANT JI: You should read Sant Bani Magazine and the writings of Master Kirpal. You will get a lot more knowledge about these things in those books.

QUESTION: What does Master not know about us?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs.] It is a matter of understanding. Master knows everything about us, but He does not exhibit His qualities. He does not show that He knows everything about us. Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that Masters know everything, but still They behave like an innocent child. Even though the Master knows everything about us, still He likes to hear from us, because He wants us to form the habit of speaking the truth.

Regarding this, Master Sawan Singh used to give an example of a woman in Peshawar who used to have knowledge of many men and women in her area. She would sit outside her home and whenever any man or woman would pass by her house, she would taunt them. She would say, “You have come from that woman,” or, “You have come from that man,” and she would point out their bad qualities. It so happened that after some time, nobody wanted to go through that street where her house was.

So Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that if, like that woman, Saints also start pointing out the bad qualities which we all have, then nobody would go to the Saints. Nobody would even want to come near the Saints. In the same way, if They go on telling our good qualities and praising us, then also there is the danger of egoism coming. When egoism comes, then all the good qualities leave us; and if a disciple is praised a lot by the Master, egoism will come and he will go away from Sant Mat. So that is why Masters neither point out our bad qualities, nor do They praise us. Even though They know everything, but still They don’t point out our bad qualities.

QUESTION: She would like to know how come Master never comes and eats with us, or chats with us, or comes for a walk with us.

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs.] Well, I always eat with you, I always walk with you. I’m always with you, I always love you. If you don’t understand and feel that, it is not in my control.

Once food was being distributed to the sangat and Master Sawan Singh was sitting among them, and at the same time, the sevadar who used to cook food for Master Sawan Singh had also fixed some food for Him. After fixing His food she came and she told Master Sawan Singh that the food was ready and He should come and eat it, otherwise it would get cold. At that time, all the people to whom the food was given were sitting in the remembrance of the Master, and they were offering the food internally to the Master, like we do before we start eating – we remember the Master. So Master Sawan Singh told that sevadar, “You see, all these people are offering their food to me. Now, without eating, I am content, I am satisfied, so I don’t need to eat any other food.”

At the time of eating, or before going to bed, or when we are going out for a walk, or doing anything like that, we should develop the habit of remembering the Master. If we will remember the Master at the time of eating, or before going to bed, or walking or relaxing, many times you will feel Him sitting with you, eating with you, talking with you, and walking with you. And if you develop such a habit then you will be saved from many sins which you may do unknowingly. If you have made the habit of remembering the Master all the time, before eating or before sleeping, then many times you will see that if you are about to do any bad deed, He will hold your hand and He will save you from committing that deed.

Master is a gracious Being and He protects the disciples moment after moment; when He sees us eating, only then does He become happy. There is no time when the Master is not paying attention to the disciple. He is always with the disciple, but our mind is not content. Our mind does not believe that Master is always with us.

I have told many stories about Sunder Das, the initiate of Master Sawan Singh who used to live with me. He had a brother, whose name was Jagar Singh. His brother had the habit of smoking the hookah. So once Sunder Das requested Master Sawan Singh for him. He said, "My brother does not give up this bad habit of smoking. You should shower grace on him." So Master Sawan Singh asked him why he was not giving up the habit of smoking. He replied, "I don't feel like smoking when I come into Your presence, but otherwise, whenever I am away from You, I always feel like smoking and I fall into that bad habit."

So Master Sawan Singh told him, "Okay, you promise that you will not smoke in my presence," to which he said, "Yes, I promise that from now on I will never smoke in Your presence." After that, once when he went to Ganganagar, he had left his hookah in his home, so he went to a shop to buy some cigarettes. In that cigarette shop there was a big mirror. So while he was asking for the cigarettes he saw in the mirror the Form of Master Sawan Singh. Master Sawan Singh was holding a stick and He was about to hit him. So when he saw that Form of Master Sawan Singh, he remembered his promise and he didn't buy the cigarettes. After that, when he went back to his home, again he started feeling like smoking the hookah, so he filled up that pipe and took that hookah and he started going to his fields. On his way he saw Master Sawan Singh with a stick. He wanted him to throw that hookah away, but he did not throw it away, so Master Sawan Singh hit him with that stick and he fell down, and the hookah was broken. Many people came there; they thought that maybe some ghost had attacked him, because they could not find anyone there who had hit him. But he said, "No, no ghost has come. It was my Master, Master Sawan Singh. Because I had promised that I would never smoke in His presence and I was going to smoke in His presence. That is why He came and He punished me." And then he told them the incident which had happened in Ganganagar also.

When Jagar Singh used to come to the Kunichuk [ashram], many times he used to tell his story of the hookah and he used to tell the sangat how the Master is always with the disciple.

So after giving the Initiation the Master does not become careless. He always remains with the disciple. He is always within the disciple, and He always protects him.

1998 May: Remain Attentive to the Master

Session Date: November 28, 1983

This question and answer session was given November 28, 1983 at Sant Bani Ashram, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Master, what is the meaning of the aura of a person? What does the color mean? You know that sometimes the color is different. And also sometimes the size and the radius is different, and so what is the meaning of that? And what relation does it have with spirituality?

SANT JI: We do not see the aura, the light around a person's body, for every person. We can see the real light only around the body of the perfect Being, and that also only when our attention gets attuned with the attention of that person. Mostly it happens during the Satsang, when we are looking at the Master and our attention is attuned with the attention of the Master – only then we see the aura.

Even with the Saints, we see the auras, according to our own feelings. Guru Nanak Sahib said, “Whatever feelings we have, we see the image of God accordingly.” Generally, people see the circular aura of the Master only when they sit in front of the Master, withdrawing from all the outer thoughts. Many dear ones had the good fortune of experiencing this with our great Master Kirpal.

QUESTION: Master, when we come to Your ashram, the days pass beautifully if we are connected with Your radiation of love. Why is that connection cut and how is it possible to reconnect ourselves with that?

SANT JI: You know that it is natural for us to accept the color of the company we keep. That is why Saints have put a lot of emphasis on spending time in good company. Here, you are in my contact. When you go back to your home, then also I remain in your contact, but you people forget me, because then you start getting involved in your worldly affairs, in your home affairs, and you remain in my contact only for name’s sake. Kabir Sahib said that everybody is liked by the Master, but few like the Master.

This is an incident of Baba Sawan Singh’s lifetime. When Guru Arjan Dev, the fifth Guru in the Sikh line, was captured and imprisoned in Lahore, it became very difficult for His real disciples. Guru Arjan Dev was put in prison by Chandu Divan on the orders of Jahangir, the Moghul Emperor. He was imprisoned in the name of religion because the orthodox religious people don’t like the coming of the Saints into this world and they always give Them a very hard time.

So Guru Arjan Dev was ordered to be tortured to death. They made Him sit on hot coals and put burning sand on His head. He was also thrown in hot, boiling water. So when He was given so much torture, so many troubles, the disciples who could not remain away from the Master even for one moment suffered a lot. Most of the dear ones who used to live with Him in the ashrams or nearby had the practice of eating food only after having the darshan of the Master, so it became very difficult for those who had made up their mind to have His darshan and then eat, because the physical form of the Master was far away from them [in Lahore].

So in Amritsar, where Guru Arjan Dev used to live, they started to sing the shabds, the hymns, in the evening and go around the house where Guru Arjan Dev used to live, hoping that looking at their yearning, Guru Arjan Dev would appear there to give them His darshan. So when they would sing the bhajans in the yearning and go around His house, Guru Arjan Dev would appear there, and not only would He give them His darshan, but He would also give them Parshad.

This happened about five hundred years ago, but still the devotees who visit Amritsar do this practice and it has become like a rite and ritual. It is very difficult to break such practices once they get started because the devotees need something to do. So even now people go around that house, singing the hymns and expecting the Masters to appear there.

Once an old woman who was an initiate of Baba Sawan Singh went to visit that house in Amritsar. So according to that rite which the Sikh people perform, she also went around the house where Guru Arjan Dev used to live. In her mind she did not find any difference between Baba Sawan Singh and the past Masters Who had come. We Satsangis do not find any difference between the past Masters and our present Master, because we know that whether that Power came in the body of Guru Nanak or Kabir, or any other Mahatma, in our Master also, the same Power is working. So that is why whenever we remember the past Masters, we have the same spirit as when we remember our own Master.

So when that old woman initiate of Baba Sawan Singh went around the house of Guru Arjan Dev, she requested Master Sawan Singh, saying, "O Master, when You were in the body of Guru Arjan Dev, You used to come and give Your darshan and Parshad to the dear ones. Would You not be kind enough to come and give me Your darshan now?" Because she was very much yearning for the darshan of the Master and the voice was coming from her deep heart, Master Sawan Singh had to appear there and He gave her His darshan and the Parshad.

When she got His darshan and the Parshad, she forgot that Master was giving darshan only to her. So she at once thought, "Let me go and call my children so that they can also have Master's darshan and Parshad." Carrying the Parshad which she had got from the Master in her hands, she went home to call her children. But when she went back to that place she did not find Master Sawan Singh there. So she felt very embarrassed in front of her children. Then she took all of them to the ashram where Baba Sawan Singh was doing the Satsang. There she complained and told Him, "You deceived me. You gave me Your darshan, but when I went to call my children You disappeared from that place."

Master Sawan Singh Ji replied, "You can ask all these people who are attending the Satsang: I did not go to Amritsar to give you any darshan. I have been doing the Satsang here for quite a long time. And all these people are my witness."

But she said, "No, I don't want anybody's witness, because I have this Parshad as my witness. You went there and You gave me the Parshad. So you cannot say that You didn't go there to give me Your darshan and this Parshad. Why did You come back without giving the darshan and Parshad to my children?"

Master Sawan Singh Ji replied, "As long as you were remembering me, you had my darshan and Parshad, but when you took your attention away from me and gave it to your children, I also came back among the dear ones here."

So in that way, as long as we remain attentive to the attention of the Master, we feel that connection of radiation from Him. He always remains in contact with us, but when we take our attention away from Him and put it on other things, only then we feel that the connection has been cut. But in fact it does not get cut from His side.

The glory of the Master cannot be described in any words. The grace of the Master cannot be found in any books. This is something which happens between the disciple and the Master, and only the disciple with whom this thing has happened can know about it. Even if it is nighttime and it is raining very much outside, or if it is snowing and the weather is too bad to go out, or even if your house or your room is closed from all four directions, but still, if you have true yearning for the Master and if your remembrance of the Master is very real and very true, you will find your Master sitting with you. He will listen to all that you have to say and He will do everything which you want Him to do.

QUESTION: Master, I heard in one Satsang that Kal, or the Negative Power, has the right to ask for an arm, an eye or any part of the Master. Is this due to our own faults and shortcomings that we make?

SANT JI: Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that the Negative Power does not let any person go from this world without paying even the smallest karma, even a karma one-tenth of a sesame seed, even that small karma. All the karmas which are done in the realm of the Negative Power must be paid off, either by the Master or by the disciple. And you already know the condition of the disciples, how capable they are of paying off their karmas. If they get even a little bit of fever, they go on praying to the Master to remove that fever. Not only will they themselves pray to the Master to remove their fever, but they will also have a couple of other people pray to the Master for them.

So when the disciple is praying to the Master, the Master has to pay off his karma. And when He pays off the karmas of the disciples, He has to pay those karmas with His body and the Negative Power has the full right to ask for anything from the Master. It is like if someone owes some money to another person: if that person comes to collect that money, the debtor has to give whatever he has. If that person asks for his car, or animals, or anything in his house, he has to pay. The person who is in debt does not have any choice. In the same way, when the Master has to pay the karmas of the disciples, He does not have any choice. Whatever the Negative Power asks from Him, He has to give.

Dear Children, when you people come to see me in the interviews or when you write me letters, you would have realized that not one, not even hundreds, but thousands of people all request that I should bless them and I should bless their children – not only their children, but I should also bless their grandchildren. So you can see how much burden we put on our Master. We even put on His shoulders the responsibilities of those people who never like to come in the Satsang and who never even like to talk about the Path, even of those people who don't like the Masters. And after requesting the Master to carry all that burden, we tell Him that we cannot do the meditation: for that also we want Him to help us.

Now Master is a very gracious Being; He has come into this world to shower His grace on us. So when we pray to Him like this, when we have all these requests for Him, He quietly and lovingly accepts our requests and He suffers on account of our karmas. Because in the kingdom of the Negative Power in which we are living, there is judgment. Whatever one has sown, one has to reap that. Whatever one has done, one has to suffer the consequences of that. In the kingdom of the Positive Power there is no judgment, because it is the kingdom of all-forgiveness. But in this kingdom of the Negative Power there is no forgiveness; there is judgment. And that is why whatever deeds or karmas are done in this kingdom of the Negative Power must be paid off.

Once Master Sawan Singh was talking with some community leaders and some of His leading sevadars. One person told Master Sawan Singh, "Master, it is written in Your horoscope that You will live for a hundred years. Is that true?" Master Sawan Singh Ji said, "Yes, I will live for a hundred years, but only if people let me work peacefully, only if people do not write painful letters to me and if they write only about meditation, only if people do not make me carry a lot of burden of their karmas." The meditators know that Master Sawan Singh Ji left ten years before He was supposed to go. He left this world at the age of ninety years. In the same way, those who meditate know how Master Kirpal Singh also left fourteen years early.

In Ganganagar it became the practice that if anybody became sick, people would sit in meditation and pray to Master to remove the sickness. I saw this for a couple of days and then I told people that it is a very bad thing, because we cannot carry our own burden, we cannot do the meditation, and we want our Master to carry the burden of our little sicknesses also. When I said that, most of the people didn't like it, but some people who were the real lovers of the Master and those who loved Him very much, they accepted it.

The Light of Ajaib

Once when Master Kirpal came to the ashram, a couple came with a young girl and they asked me if they could see Master because they wanted Him to shower grace on that little girl because she cried all night. I told them, "Either you should take this girl to some doctor or you should see if she is hungry in the night. You should take care of her." I lovingly advised them not to put that burden on Master, but they felt very bad and they thought that I was not letting them see the Master. So this is our condition. We want our Master to take care of our children, we don't want to do anything ourselves, and we want our Master to carry all our burden.

Once Master Sawan Singh became very ill, so one dear one asked Him, "Master, is it because of Your own karma or are You paying off the karma of some disciple?" At that time Master Sawan Singh was sick because He was paying off the karma of that same dear one who had asked that question. Master Sawan Singh replied, "No, this is the karma of one of my disciples."

Many times I have said this, that many times it happens that the Master is paying off the karma of some dear one, and the same dear one feels bad and starts having doubts about why the Master has to suffer so much.

Satguru is a very gracious Being; He is very merciful. He will extend all feasible help to you even without your asking for it. Like the mother becomes pleased only after feeding her child, in the same way our Master becomes satisfied or pleased only after taking care of us.

QUESTION: Master, some days ago you were talking about the pitiful condition of that initiate who leaves his own Master and receives initiation from a different master. What happens to that initiate at the moment of his death? What happens to his soul?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs.] Satguru takes those dear ones who are initiated by Him back to the Real Home. But you know that those who try to travel in two boats, they suffer.

1998 June: On Facing the Difficulties

Session Date: November 25, 1983

This question and answer session was given November 25, 1983 at Sant Bani Ashram, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Your Holiness, is Jesus Christ a true Master?

SANT JI: We respect all the Saints because They all have given the message of Truth. Even now we can see that Power after going in our within.

Swami Ji Maharaj says that we should have the connection with the living Power of God; we should have the connection with the living Master of the present time. The past Masters, Whom we remember with much love, because we did not go in Their company, we did not get any Initiation from Them and They did not take any of our responsibilities on Their shoulders. They took the disciples who went in Their company and received Initiation from Them, back to the Real Home, after making them Their own Form. But since we have not gone in Their company and we did not get Initiation from Them, that is why our connection should be with the living Master Who has initiated us. By obeying His commandments and by living according to His instructions, we can go in the within and become His Form and go back to our Real Home.

The Light of Ajaib

Further, Swami Ji Maharaj said, “Don’t rely on the Masters Who came in the past; I say this for your benefit. Search for the living Master; I say this for your benefit.”

Master Sawan Singh Ji generally used to give the example in His Satsangs about the four living things which can be beneficial for us. He used to say that only the living Master can give us the knowledge of Shabd Naam, and if we are sick only the living doctor can treat us. In the same way, only a living husband can produce children, and only a living teacher can give us an education.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that no doubt Likhman Hakim and Dunvatur were great doctors of Ayurveda. They were such great doctors that they could even put life into a dead body. But if we think that they will come and give us a treatment for our sickness, that is not possible. If we want to get rid of our sickness, we need to go to a doctor who is living and get treatment from him. We will have to go to a living doctor and get our body checked up and receive a treatment.

In the same way, there was a king called Gunga Singh in this area of Rajasthan. He died about forty years ago. He was a very just king and he used to have a weighing balance on his table. He used to say, “I always give the judgment after weighing it.” He used to say, “God may forgive a corrupt officer, but I will never forgive him.” And this is true, that when his own son made some mistake he also was not spared. He was very famous for his judgments. But if we say that our disputes should be settled by him, that he should give judgment for our problems, that is not possible because he is not living. In order to get our problems settled we need to go to the magistrate of the time and get our lawsuits settled.

In the same way, Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that in the place called Ujain there was a very righteous king, King Vikramajit. If any girl says that she will indulge with King Vikramajit and have a good baby from him, that is not possible. Because he is not living she will have to go and find a husband of the time, a living husband.

In the same way, if we insist on getting our children educated by the teachers who left this world thousands of years ago, that is not possible. We need a living teacher. We have respect for all the past Masters and we bow down to everyone. But our connection is with our living Master, Who has given us the knowledge of Shabd Naam and Who has become responsible for us.

In His Satsangs Baba Sawan Singh Ji used to say that when He would go to see His Master, Baba Jaimal Singh, He would often meet a priest at the Beas train station, who would always ask him, “Tell me, who is greater: Baba Jaimal Singh, Kabir Sahib, or Jesus Christ?” Baba Sawan Singh Ji always told him, “You bring Kabir Sahib and Jesus Christ in front of me and then I will tell you who is greater.” The priest would reply that he could not do that. So Baba Sawan Singh Ji used to say, “Since I have not seen Them of course, I have heard about Them – but since I have seen only Baba Jaimal Singh, I cannot say who is greater.”

My uncles always used to argue with me a lot about the Master. Once when I visited, they asked me if I had seen God. I told them, “Yes, I have seen God Who is six feet tall, Who is moving and walking and talking like the other people, and Who has become responsible for my liberation.” Hearing that, they would say that I have gone mad. Then I would tell them, “Repeating the name of Kirpal Singh, many sinners have gotten liberation. Ajaib says, ‘Do not give up the company of Kirpal Singh.’”

QUESTION: Master, why is it that some initiates immediately after receiving Initiation, or a short time after receiving Initiation, will start having to face a lot of problems, many difficulties?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs] The same question was asked by the disciples of Prophet Mohammed and it is in their holy book, the Koran. They asked Prophet Mohammed, “Why it is that when somebody tries to walk on the Path of God he has to face so many difficulties? And why is it that those people who enjoy the world and do bad things in the world do not have to face any difficulties?”

This question is like a trick of the mind, because our mind always finds an excuse for not doing the devotion. Our mind always wants us to go away from the meditation.

Anyway, Prophet Mohammed replied very lovingly. He said that when anyone gets Initiation, the Master becomes responsible for his liberation and He always wants that His initiate, His disciple, should not be given one more birth in this world. And since the soul has done so many karmas in her past lifetimes, and before going back to the Real Home all the karmas [have to] be paid off, that is why some karmas are paid off by the Master and some are paid off by the disciples. So that is why after the dear one gets the Initiation he has to face the difficulties, because by facing the difficulties and having the problems he is paying off the karmas of his previous births. The dear one has collected the karmas from many births and when he has to pay off all the karmas in one birth, then it is natural that he will have to face many difficulties every day.

On the other hand, those people who do not have the Master, those who do not do the devotion of Lord, do not seem to be facing as many difficulties as the devotees, because God has not taken their responsibility, the responsibility of their liberation. And since they are going to go into the cycle of eighty-four lakhs births and deaths, and since they are not even going to get the human body again, that is why they are allowed to enjoy the fruit of all their past good karmas. While enjoying the fruits of their past good karmas they do bad karmas, which takes them into the cycle of eighty-four lakhs births and deaths. For them God has decided that they will not get any other human body. That is why whatever they do, it all goes smoothly and they don't face any difficulty. God does not want them to pay off their past karmas, because God has not chosen liberation for them. Whereas for the devotees God has chosen liberation, and that is why in order to pay off their karmas, the problems and the difficulties are thrown in front of them.

That is why it always seems that the worldly people live very happily and smoothly in this world, and the devotees, the Satsangis, always have to face the difficulties. But this is something we all should understand, that the Satsangis are not going to come back again into this world to suffer the pains.

This is my personal experience: this happened in my own life. Once Master Kirpal was going to visit my ashram and one or two days ahead of time He sent some of His people in advance to the ashram. When they came to the ashram I had a very high fever, so seeing my condition, they did not ask me anything, they went to Ganganagar and sent a cable to Master Kirpal saying that I was sick. As soon as they sent the cable my fever went away, and on the other side Master Kirpal started having such a high fever. The fever was so high that He had to postpone His program. And for this poor soul He suffered very much. So He did not come on the day we were expecting Him.

So the next day, when He did come, His face was yellow, He was very sick and very weak, and He needed some help to get out of His car. When I learned that the dear ones had sent the cable to Master Kirpal, I became upset at them and I asked them why they had done that, because I did not want my Master to suffer for my karmas. So when Master Kirpal came He was told that I had not been interested in sending the cable; Master Kirpal then rebuked the other people. So I mean to say that Masters always take the burden of the karmas of the disciples on Their bodies, because They are determined to liberate Their disciples in this lifetime.

Udo was a devotee of Lord Krishna. Once Udo asked Lord Krishna, “What does the Master give to that disciple with whom He is pleased?” Lord Krishna replied that Master gives three things to the disciple with whom He is pleased: either He sends him sickness, or He gives him the problem of unemployment, or he is criticized and taunted in the world. [Sant Ji and the disciples laugh as this is translated.]

When I left my property in Punjab and came to Kunichuk, I bought some land there. But in those days there was not enough water over there. So when one of my brothers from a distant relation came to see me, the sevadars, or the people who used to live with me, showed him all the property I had bought. But he was not pleased to see all that because he knew that I had left such a good property in Punjab and had come to live in the sand of Rajasthan. So because he did not appreciate what I had done, he did not speak even one word of appreciation in front of my sevadars. So they complained; they said, “Your brother is not happy to see your property.” I replied, “I have not done any good thing, so why should he be happy?” And he criticized me for leaving good property and coming to Rajasthan to live there.

When the canals were built in that Kunichuk area, the land became fruitful and we made a very good house over there, and life became more comfortable. But when I met Master Kirpal, after seeing all the comfortable property I had, He told me to abandon that right away. He told me not to take even the animals from there. And He ordered me to come to this place, 16 PS, and meditate. And because I made that sudden move from Kunichuk to 16 PS, my relatives used to think that I was mad. They used to say that Kirpal Singh had done some kind of magic on me.

But the true devotees, the true lovers, do not pay any attention if they are criticized or taunted by the people. In fact, they grow more in the devotion when they are criticized. It is like the wick of the lamp which gives more light when it is trimmed off. In the same way, if the real devotees, the real lovers, of Master are criticized by the people, or if they are given more suffering, they become more devoted to the Master. Because the true lovers always tell their mind, “This is the reaction of your own karma; you are paying this for your own karma.” They tell their mind, “Be grateful to the Master, because He is helping you to pay off this karma in your lifetime.” That is why the real devotees, the real lovers, of Master do not mind if they have to face difficulties and problems, because they know that it is coming from the Master.

The real lovers do not let their faith decrease no matter how many difficulties they have to face. When Master Sawan Singh broke his leg in the army by falling [while mounting] his horse, Bibi Rukko was very much worried for him. Baba Jaimal Singh told Bibi Rukko that Baba Sawan Singh had to suffer the consequence of one karma for five years, but Swami Ji Maharaj had graciously reduced that punishment, that karma, to five months. Master always reduces the pain from the gallows to a pin prick. You know that Masters do so much for the disciples, but still we are the ungrateful souls. We break our faith in the Master, we lose our faith in the Master when any problem comes to us.

We have not come into Sant Mat only to suffer the pains or only to enjoy the happiness. Saints tell us that in Sant Mat you should rise above the pains and happiness. They teach us how to rise above the pains and happiness and go to the Real Home where there is no pain or happiness, where there is no birth or death, where there is all peace.

The Light of Ajaib

Saints do not tempt us to go in the heavens and They do not frighten us with the hells. They inspire us to go to our Real Home, Sach Khand. Kabir Sahib says, “What is hell? What is heaven? Saints condemn both of them. We do not worry about either one of them because, by the grace of our Master, we are going to the Real Home.”

QUESTION: Dear Sant Ji, why did Swami Ji smoke the hookah, the water pipe? I wonder If it’s not a bad thing for a person who reads about it; they will think that it is allowed to do that on the Path.

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs heartily] First of all, the thing is that the competent ones do not have the stain of these bad qualities. And in His bani Swami Ji did not advise us to smoke the hookah; He advised us only to do the devotion of Naam.

The truth is that Saints always do such things which keep the unwanted people away from Them. Because only They know who should be given the liberation, who should be brought near Them, and who should be kept away from Them. When any soul, any person, goes to a Saint, He reads the account of his karmas very well.

Swami Ji Maharaj used to live in the city of Agra, which was very crowded. And since the dear ones used to prepare the langar every day for the dear ones, many unwanted people would come there to eat the food. They were not initiated and they were not interested in doing the meditation. But since the food was given out there free of charge, that is why they would always come there to eat the food. And after eating the food they would say many untrue things about Swami Ji Maharaj. Swami Ji Maharaj did not mind that, because you know that as we need some guard to protect our wealth, in the same way, the critics are like the guards who protect our meditation.

But when it became too much, when too many unwanted people started coming to eat at the langar, once after the food was prepared Swami Ji Maharaj came to bless it. He took some water in His mouth and He threw that water from His mouth on the food. When the dear ones, the lovers of Swami Ji Maharaj, saw that they became very grateful to Swami Ji Maharaj, because He had made that food as Parshad. They said, “We are very grateful today that our Master has made such good Parshad for us.” But the other people, those who did not have any knowledge about Swami Ji Maharaj, and those who had come there only to eat the food, went away without taking the food because they thought that Swami Ji Maharaj had made the food dirty. This happened many years ago, but still people say that the Masters of this Path contaminate the food before They give it to the sangat.

Sawan Singh Ji was also asked this question many times. But Swami Ji Maharaj did that only once, and that was only to keep those unwanted people away from the Satsang. No Master ever spits in the food which is prepared for the sangat. Instead, for that food He prays to Almighty Lord, “O Lord, we have made this food in Your Name for the dear ones. May You accept this food so that it may be distributed among Your children.” So sometimes Saints do such things so that the unwanted people, the people who don’t belong to the Satsang, may not come near Them.

In the previous village [77 RB] there used to live a man who used to drink a lot of alcohol. His wife always used to tell him that he should go to Master Kirpal and get Initiation from Him. He knew that if he would go to Master Kirpal, He would tell him to give up drinking wine, which he didn’t want to do at that time. So he told his wife, “Look at this guy” – he mentioned me – “Look at Sant Ji: when he got Initiation from Master Kirpal he had to leave his home. If I will go and take Initiation from Him it is possible that I will also have to leave this home.” So he never got Initiation. [Sant Ji laughs]

The Light of Ajaib

So Swami Ji Maharaj has written so many good things in His books, about the Satsang, about Sach Khand, about Naam. We should read those and we should take advantage of those, and we should not worry about what things He did to keep the people away from Him.

Well, you can also do what Swami Ji Maharaj did after becoming what Swami Ji Maharaj was.

Those Satsangis who have the bad habit of smoking the hookah or smoking tobacco, if they are asked by any non-Satsangi why they are smoking tobacco, in order to hide their bad quality they always say that Swami Ji Maharaj also used to smoke the hookah. [Sant Ji and the disciples laugh.] Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that those people, in order to hide their bad qualities, do not mention the good qualities of the Master, but they always talk about the bad qualities.

Swami Ji Maharaj said, “Why do you worry about what Master did? Do what Master tells you.”

Such great souls are innocent souls; They are above all these kinds of bad qualities. They have been given so much Power by Almighty God. How can we compete with Them?

Once when Guru Gobind Singh went to the area of Malvah, He killed a white vulture. That vulture had not done anything bad to Guru Gobind Singh, but still He killed him. So the disciples who were accompanying Guru Gobind Singh were surprised and they asked Him why He had killed that innocent creature. Guru Gobind Singh told them, “If you want to know why I killed him, you go and see whether that vulture has one eye or two eyes.” Then Guru Gobind Singh told them that in his past life that vulture was a king who had raped one girl. And that girl had cursed him by saying, “Since you have eaten this dirt that is why in your next lifetime you will become such a creature who will always eat the dirt. And you will be liberated only when you are seen by some perfect Master.” So when the disciples of Guru Gobind Singh went to see the eye of the vulture they found that he had only one eye. Guru Gobind Singh told them that today that king had come in His sight and according to the law He had to kill him to give him the liberation.

1998 July/August: Everything Lies in His Eyes

Session Date: May 17, 1977

This morning darshan talk was given May 17, 1977, at Sant Bani Ashram, Sanbornton, NH.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, You have already begun Your mission as the Satguru, and already it seems that we are creating difficulties for You, like in giving you pain and causing You to suffer. Could You please tell us specifically what it is that we are doing so we may not do that again?

SANT JI: There is no suffering in it. The duty which Hazur has given to me, I am doing that. If I understand any difficulty or suffering in it, that means that I am not obeying my Master’s orders. You can help me by this, by carrying out the orders of Master, only by doing more and more meditation. And if we will do more and more meditation, Master will be pleased with all of us.

In the army many people were not obeying the commandments, the laws of the army. Looking at their condition, I was always remembering this thing, that the servant should never make any excuses. Whatever work he has been given, he should do that. And here also the same thing applies, that the servant should not make any excuse. I can tell you only one thing to do – much meditation.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Sant Ji, first I thank You for everything You've done for me since You've been here, which is a great deal. I have a question on Simran. I was able to keep repeating the Words, but I didn't feel like I was able to give them devotion, or love, or attention. I just repeated them, and repeated them, and repeated them, but not with real love and attention. I just couldn't put my attention into it. Is there some way I can give the charged Words the attention and give You the attention?

SANT JI: If you will not give attention to the Words of Simran, your mind will easily make you forget the Simran, and after some time your mind will wander in the world and only your tongue will go on repeating the Names. So it is required to do Simran with full attention. Always, doing Simran, you should check your mind – whether your mind is doing Simran or thinking about something else. And if you will not give attention to the Words, mind will easily make you forget the Simran.

Very often I have said about my childhood, and even when I was in the army, because I was born in a Sikh family and it is natural that whatever the parents are doing, the children will also do the same. So, it is one type of law among the Sikhs that anyone who does not read the five writings from the holy book cannot be called a "Sikh." So, many people are reading the five writings from the Guru Granth Sahib. But instead of five readings, I was reading ten writings, because I was very fond of the Guru Granth Sahib.

But when I started reading, only for the first five or six minutes would I remember: "Yes, I am doing this repetition, I am doing this reading." But after that I would forget everything and my mind would go somewhere else. But still my tongue went on reading and reading – until five or six minutes before the end when I again remembered: "Now I am doing the reading."

But still I was reading a lot of writings, ten writings from the Guru Granth Sahib. So when I met Baba Bishan Das, the first question He asked me was, "Well, you have been reading so much from the Guru Granth Sahib, is your mind still?" So I was very much confused. I told Him, "I don't understand why it is so, that I am reading a lot but still my mind is not still. In the beginning I remember that I am doing this work, but later that work keeps going on, but I am not remembering, my mind is not there, and only at the end I again remember that I am doing this work." So Baba Bishan Das told me, "Unless you read with full attention, unless you keep all your mind in the reading, your mind cannot be still. No matter if your tongue goes on repeating the words, your mind will never be still." So unless we do Simran with full attention to each Word, we cannot still our mind.

You see, because we are not doing Simran attentively, that is why we are easily falling asleep. And some dear ones here also, when they sit for meditation, they do the Simran for some time and after that, because they are not giving any attention to the Simran, they sleep, and when they get up, they look here and there, and when they see other people sitting for meditation, again they close their eyes and again they start it. This is because they are not giving any attention to the Simran. If they had given attention to the Simran in the beginning, they would not have fallen asleep.

QUESTION: If you are around people who are criticizing or fighting and you do the Simran, are you protected?

SANT JI: Yes. Don't give any attention to them. Go on doing your work.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: In Spiritual Elixir, Master Kirpal says that if you have a dream about the Master and it's good, then that qualifies it as a valid experience. Is there anything else to add to that? It seems so little to qualify it.

SANT JI: You see, you will not have the dream of Master very often. When our thoughts are very much purified, and when our soul is going above our body during sleep, only then will we have a dream of that Sat Purush. Because Master will never come down into the lower chakras of the body. So when we are sleeping, we are not aware of Him. But when our soul goes above, only then will we have the dream of Sat Purush. But it is not very often.

You see, dreams are the reaction of the thoughts which we have during the daytime. And when we have any bad thoughts, even for just a few moments, then also that reacts very badly and we have that type of dream. You see how much meditation we are doing here, how much we remember our Master – but still we do not have His dream daily. Sometimes people do not have a dream of Master for one year or two years, and some souls have the dreams of Master once in a while. It does not happen very often. In the beginning Master comes only in dreams. After that, when the disciple is satisfied, He comes in meditation. Sometimes in our dreams Master tells us many hints regarding meditation, and sometimes Master gives us warnings, also.

QUESTION: About the private interview with Sant Ji: could You please talk about becoming more receptive to the Inner Master so that we may not demand every moment of Your life for questions that we may have? It seems to me that we are constantly taking You our little worldly problems, and we come to You with more worldly problems than spiritual problems. I just don't want to see what happened to Kirpal Singh happen to You; He left fourteen years early.

SANT JI: It is true that only one person out of hundreds comes with spiritual questions. Otherwise, everybody has their worldly, petty questions, which have nothing to do with Spirituality. And there is no doubt that when they ask their questions, I feel sorry and I become sad.

Master Sawan Singh Ji said, "If you will bring worldly questions to me and will not meditate, I might go earlier. And if you will do more meditation and [only] ask about the spiritual affairs, then there is some chance that I might live for a long time."

So we should try to bring questions about meditation, because we also can solve the worldly questions because you have to spend your life [in the world], and you have to deal with your work. So it would be better if people bring questions about meditation.

QUESTION: I hear the Sound much better in the morning, so I was wondering If I should do Bhajan only in the morning for a couple of hours and not do Bhajan during the rest of the day.

SANT JI: That's all right.

QUESTION: One thing that confused me a little: I'm really happy to be remembering You in Your presence and to be thinking about You, but I'm an initiate of Kirpal. Is it okay that I'm thinking a lot about You?

SANT JI: It's okay. Because the fire is the same: those who come near fire can remove their cold. I have come here only to unite you and connect you with Kirpal.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Master, many times in meditation I sit and see Your face looking at me and feel a lot of grace and love. Sometimes I've wondered if it's my imagination that visualizes Your face or if You are really sending me Your grace and love. And then other times I think that if I'm meditating maybe I should be trying to see the Light, rather than dwelling on and looking at Your face.

SANT JI: Often I have given the example of a tortoise. She lays her eggs on dry land and sitting in the water, with her attention, she is hatching her eggs. Similarly, Satguru's attention is always toward all His disciples. No matter how far away they live, but still His attention is always towards them. Masters have a lot of disciples and everybody in Master's sangat feels that He is giving much attention only to them and that Master is always giving them love and grace, and not to anyone else.

QUESTION: Master, I don't know if the older initiates have this problem, but being a new initiate, I have trouble keeping my mind on the Simran. I was always curious to know the meaning of the Five Words, and I thought that during Initiation one would be told the meaning. Sometimes I think maybe that would help me to keep my attention on it – if I could dwell on the meaning of the Words, and then as I progressed, possibly that would just be part of it.

SANT JI: You see, first of all, we have to give attention to the Simran, and as we progress the meaning of the Words will be open to us. Because these Five Charged Words are the names of the Lords of the planes through which we have to pass. Outwardly these Words have no meaning. Unless we cross those planes and meet those Powers inside, we cannot know the real meaning of those Words.

You are a musician and you might know that if someone brings a harmonium to you and if, without allowing you to play it, he tells you that it has so many strings, that if you will do this, it will [make this sound] – but unless you practice that [instrument], how can you know its real meaning, the real thing? So it is the same here: first we are to do the Simran without giving any attention to its meaning or anything like that. And when we will do Simran and rise above, we will meet all these five Lords. These Names are the names of the Lords of the planes through which we are to take our soul.

You see, just as there are many countries outwardly – England, America, Africa, India – in the same way, inside also there are many regions, many countries; there are many astral and causal regions. If anyone asks us, "What is the meaning of America?" what can we say? Only that it is the name of a country. But when we come into America, only then we know it's real meaning, that this is America.

QUESTION: What percentage of time should we spend in Bhajan?

SANT JI: Very often I have replied to this question, and because some new dear ones are coming, that is why I am again repeating this: you should devote one-fourth of your time in meditation to Bhajan and three-fourths to Simran.

QUESTION: There were some children that Master Kirpal Singh had Initiated only into the Sound Current. What should they do further to get the Five Names?

SANT JI: If they are twelve or thirteen years old, they can take Initiation.

QUESTION: Master, in the morning when I'm sitting with You, after we've started meditating, I'm thinking I don't want to sit and meditate. I just want to sit and look at You. Is that wrong? [much laughter]

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: Many people have this disease. [much laughter] But the thing is that for one hour you should close your eyes. That's why I am daily repeating, "Close your eyes." You should try to sit for one hour, closing your eyes.

QUESTION: Once when we were at darshan with Master Kirpal in India, during the whole darshan nobody asked any questions or said anything. We just sat in silence, and it was very beautiful. I would like to know if it would put undue stress on Sant Ji If we could just sit like that for a few minutes before He leaves. I'm wondering about. . . just the silence.

SANT JI: This is up to you people. I will complete my time. [Sant Ji and the sangat laugh] I will sit here for my time and when the time is up, I will go. If you want me to give answers to your questions, I am ready to do that. If you want to keep quiet and just sit here, then also it's all right. But in the latter case, you will enjoy more attention; that is true.

It is not true that if you will not ask me any question, I will just get up and go away. [Sangat laughs] Instead, I will sit here and if you can keep quiet and just get the maximum advantage of the attention, that will be very good for you.

The questions and answers are very helpful to those people whose minds are not satisfied. Unless they ask questions, and unless they solve all their problems, they cannot sit for meditation. That's why I always welcome people who ask questions.

Regarding myself, from my very childhood I have always kept my mind free from all the questions. I had done many practices before coming to this Path, and whatever anybody was telling me to do, I was doing that. The important thing is to do the practices which Master has told us to do, that is to do Simran and to listen to the Shabd Dhun. When we will do Simran and our soul rises above body consciousness and connects with the Shabd Dhun, then the Shabd will pull the soul right up. Then there is no question of asking any question.

Now, because of the lacking of Simran, people are listening to the Shabd Dhun, but still that Sound does not pull them up.

QUESTION: When Master was here in 1972 I was having some trouble with my meditations, and I was very discouraged. I just went to Him and He asked me if I was doing one thing, which was, was I looking out or in? And I said, "In." And He said, Well, I should look out, and that cleared it completely. It was a very simple thing. I wonder if You could sometime give us just brief meditation instructions? I wonder if that might help us, in case we have forgotten something or there's something that we may be doing wrong.

SANT JI: Well, those who have any doubts about meditation, or those who have any confusion about whether they are doing it wrong or right, they can come in the private interviews and they can ask. There I will be able to explain to them very clearly about the meditation.

QUESTION: I was wondering If Master could explain why sometimes He will give darshan to people when He passes by them – He looks straight into their eyes – and when He gets to other people, He turns the other way, and He just doesn't look at them.

SANT JI: You see, from my side I am always looking at everybody. But see what the people are doing here: they are standing on both sides. Physically, how can I look at both sides at one time? If people stand on one side only, or in one line only, then that is possible. [Sangat chuckles]

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Should I think of desiring darshan or only of deserving it?

SANT JI: Both things. Mahatma Chattur Das said, “Always for the twenty-four hours in my heart there is a desire to have the darshan of my Beloved.”

QUESTION: On planning to go to India: if you spend a lot of time [with Master] while Master is here, is it necessary to go to India to see Him within the next year?

SANT JI: No, it is not necessary. In the evening Satsang today I will comment on a hymn by Kabir Sahib, and this question will be answered very clearly in that Satsang.

QUESTION: Last night there was a movie of Baba Sawan Singh, and one person touched Baba Sawan Singh’s feet. The next person came and He shook His cane and would not let that person touch His feet. Similarly, when I was in Delhi, many people came and tried to touch Your feet and You asked each one politely not to do this. One woman came up and You very sternly told her not to do this. What is the benefit of the disciple touching the Saint’s feet, and is it at all harmful to the Saint if an impure soul touches His feet?

SANT JI: You see, it is harmful for the person who is allowing other people to touch his feet because he has to give something if anybody touches his feet. So it is not good to touch the feet. For the Saints it makes no difference, but for the ordinary people it is not good to allow other people to touch their feet. And the other thing is that nowadays Saints do not allow the disciples to touch Their feet because everything comes through the eyes and there is nothing in the feet.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to tell about one – [The tape stopped recording; a short story is missing.] and that was because of that. So after that he realized his mistake. But nowadays in America nobody is interested in doing that. But in India unless the people touch the feet of the Master, they cannot be satisfied. But still, Saints do not allow them to touch Their feet because They want to maintain the discipline. If They allow anybody to touch Their feet, everybody will do that, and in that way discipline cannot be maintained.

This practice is common among the so-called sadhus in India, those who are not the real Sadhus. Many people come and bow down at their feet and touch their feet, and they don’t mind that. But when the people come to any real Sadhu and do the same, the perfect Sadhus, the real Sadhus, don’t like that. So the Satsangis should not do anything like this. They should always look into the eyes of the Master, because Master used to say that if you want to get anything from any Saint, look into His eyes. There is nothing in His feet; everything lies in His eyes.

1998 September: Continue Doing Your Work

Session Date: December 1, 1983

This question and answer session was given December 1, 1983, at Sant Bani Ashram, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Beloved Master, if Master is All-Consciousness, then how come sometimes He asks us questions whose answers He should know? – for example, asking an initiate if he is initiated or not.

SANT JI: What you say is correct, but Saints never exhibit Their qualities, because They live in this world like the innocent people, those who know nothing.

The Light of Ajaib

Almighty God made several promises to the Negative Power: that the Saints will never exhibit Their qualities; that wherever the Negative Power gives birth to the soul, that soul will be content in that; that Saints will never perform any miracles to attract the souls; and that whenever the Saints will liberate the souls, that will happen only after making them meditate on Naam; and that the souls will not have any knowledge about their past lives. So these were the promises which Almighty God made to the Negative Power, and because of those promises, even though Saints know everything, still They do not show that They know everything.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that it is an ordinary thing for a Saint, or for one who has done the meditation, to give an eye to a blind person or a leg to a crippled person. And by showing only these ordinary miracles They could attract the whole town, the whole city, and everyone would come to get the Naam. But even though the Saints are capable of doing that, Saints never do such things. They do not make use of Their supernatural powers because They understand that earning the supernatural powers is like earning illegal money. Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj said that the supernatural powers are the slaves of those who meditate.

QUESTION: Master, for married initiates whose wife is not initiated, in the years before, they have indulged with their wife like ordinary people, but once they have received Initiation, then it becomes important for them to obey the law of chastity. So it becomes very difficult for them. What should be done in that case?

SANT JI: The thing is that if one of the companions – no matter if it is the wife or the husband – if that person does the meditation of Naam with full devotion and love for the Master, the other person also gets affected by his good company and he also becomes a Satsangi.

If the initiate is shaky in his faith and if he is not strong in his devotion, how can he have a good effect on the other person? So the Satsangis should rise above this; they should become strong in their devotion. The Satsangis have more responsibilities, because they are the ones who have to liberate their families.

QUESTION: Master, there are some people, like some doctors or psychiatrists or others like that, who have to deal with other people due to their profession. What precautions should they take so that they won't take the karmas of the people that they treat?

SANT JI: It is not a bad thing to give treatment to other people, and it is not a bad thing to keep in contact with other people. Whenever those people are dealing with their patients, they should have their faith in the Master; they should have best wishes for them.

QUESTION: Master, with all respect, I have a question about Your first answer. What is the limit of the natural and the supernatural? For example, I heard about Master Kirpal that once while He was doing a Satsang, He grabbed a bullet. It was something that was happening in a different place, and so He was saving someone by grabbing it, so the disciple wouldn't be killed by that bullet.

SANT JI: You should understand this thing. That was not a miracle performed by Master Kirpal. He did that only to save the life of His disciple. And very often I have said that Master even sacrifices His own life in order to save the life of His disciple. He grabbed the bullet, not to perform any miracle and to impress the people: He did that only to save His disciple. And He Himself did not make publicity out of this. If this news came out, it must have been through one of His disciples or through the person to whom this happened. This is a very ordinary thing for a Master to do; it is not a miracle.

The question which I was answering was about All-Consciousness and miracles, and the question which you have brought up is regarding the grace of the Master.

Such incidents often happen between the Master and the disciple. Many times it has been experienced that the Master saves the disciple from the burning fire, and still He will not tell the disciple that He has done that for him. And since He has to pay that karma, that is why He will either get some wound or some scratch on His body, but He never complains that He has to suffer on account of the karmas of His disciple. He does not even tell that disciple, whose karma He is suffering, that He has done a favor for him.

In that incident Master only grabbed a bullet, but when I used to go to see Master Sawan Singh, He used to tell me, “The One Who has to initiate you will come to your home Himself.” So whenever I would meet Mastana Ji, an initiate of Baba Sawan Singh who used to visit the area of Rajasthan very often, I would ask Him, “Are you that person who is going to initiate me and about whom Master Sawan Singh said that He will come to my home Himself?” He replied, “No, I am not that One, but He will come to your home. He has done so much meditation that if He puts His hands up between two firing cannons, He can stop both of them.” So Masters have done a lot of meditation and for Them such things are very ordinary. So that incident in which Master grabbed the bullet was an ordinary thing.

I have written a bhajan – and you will read that when it is published – in which I say, “If the bullets are firing, Kirpal saves us, grabbing the bullets.”

The grace of the Master cannot be described in words. If the Master does not protect the disciple, if He does not take care of the disciple, who else is there who would protect and take care of the disciple? But He does all these things from behind the veil. Of course, those who have real love and yearning for the Master, to them He gives the darshan. For them He appears and does all the work for them.

QUESTION: Master, sometimes I have felt pity for lepers and for very poor people and beggars, and I have given them some money. But what kind of karma ties me to them? Is it okay to do that?

SANT JI: The thing is that Guru Nanak Sahib has said that before donating, we should always think about it, and we should donate carefully. Kabir Sahib also said that those who give donations without the Master, and those who move the rosary without the guidance of the Master, their donation is not accepted. You may read the Vedas and Puranas; they also say the same thing.

Swami Ji Maharaj used to say that Master is not hungry for the donations of the disciples, because He has received a lot of wealth from His Master. But He accepts the donation of His disciples so that He may make the donation of the disciple useful. And by donating through the Master we gain the pleasure of Master without paying anything. Because only the Master knows at which place He has to spend the money of the disciple and how to make it successful.

QUESTION: My first question is: On what plane is the Third Eye opened? And on which plane do we die while living? And how can we know when we have died while living? And are the children who see their Third Eye special children?

SANT JI: When we go within we come to know ourselves on which plane we are, and reaching which plane our Inner Eye gets open, and on which plane we die while living. This is not something which can be talked about: this is something which we have to experience. When the meditator goes within his body, he knows everything by himself.

If having rock candy in our hand we go on asking, “Is it sweet?” or “When will it taste sweet?” – we cannot understand and know about its sweetness unless we eat it. When we put that rock candy in our mouth and chew it with our teeth, only then will we come to know that it is sweet. In the same way, when we will go in the within, only then we will come to know what is in the within and what happens when we get there. You have been put on the Path and you have been given that medicine which, if you use it, you can go within and remove all the problems and see everything with your own eyes.

As far as children are concerned, most children don't have scattered thoughts and they can concentrate very easily, much easier than the parents can. So that is why many times it happens that the faith of the parents is shaky, but because of their concentration the children have developed so much faith in the Master that very often they see the Master.

QUESTION: Master, is the coming of the souls to this world limited? Do they just keep on coming, souls and souls into the world?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs.] You should read the book, Anurag Sagar. You should read it carefully; you will get the answers to such questions there.

QUESTION: Master, how come we don't do the Bhajan practice with You like we do the meditation [of the Simran]?

SANT JI: There is no law that no one can sit for the Bhajan practice in the meditation [sittings with me]. It is up to the dear ones. If they want to sit for the Sound practice, they are welcome. During the meditation, many dear ones do sit for the Bhajan practice and hear the Shabd, because everybody who is sitting in the meditation hall is busy doing his work. [Sant Ji laughs.]

QUESTION: Master, when we are meditating in a group and we hear some people snoring, should we just let them snore, or should we wake them up?

SANT JI: [There is much laughter, including Sant Ji.] I do not say these words before we sit for the meditation here, but whenever I make people meditate in the bigger groups, or when I go to Delhi, or outside, in my instructions before the meditation I also include this instruction: “Since everybody is busy doing his own work, you should not pay any attention to what other people do. You should do only your work.” So I think that it will be much better if you will continue doing your work, and you will not pay any attention to the person who is snoring.

Dear children, that person who is snoring is already being deceived by his mind, and if we are paying attention to him, it means that our mind is deceiving us, also. If we are removing our attention from the Naam and paying attention to him, it means that like him we are also being deceived.

Satsangis should not pay any attention to their surroundings. They should try to forget themselves when they sit for meditation and they should concentrate at the Eye Center. When you forget yourself completely and concentrate at the Eye Center, you will not know what is happening even with the person who is sitting right next to you.

I have sympathy for the soul who sleeps during the meditation. The reason I don't tell him to get up during the meditation is because I am afraid that if I will tell him to get up, he may speak out which may disturb the other people. So that is why it is always better not to pay any attention to the other people. In fact, we should learn from them. The thing which we should learn is that we should know how the mind is deceiving us, and how he does not let any opportunity go out of his hands without utilizing it, and how, whenever he gets the opportunity, he brings illusion, lust, anger, sleep, attachment, and things like that. Who does the mind attack with all these things? Only those who do not do the meditation. Swami Ji Maharaj has written a very beautiful hymn regarding this, saying, “Those who are the thieves of meditation, only they are affected by lust, anger, sleep, and attachment.” Many times I have commented on this hymn.

Swami Ji Maharaj said, “Those who are the thieves of meditation, they always suffer. Laziness and sleep bother them; they always remain in the illusion.”

I hope that if someone falls asleep in the group, you will not pay any attention to him. There are many dear ones in this group who are going very high in their meditation. Why don't you look at them? Why don't you pay attention to them? What if one poor soul falls asleep during the meditation? You should take the example of those who are going very high in meditation and try to become like them.

QUESTION: Beloved Master, although I know You know everything, but sometimes I feel the need to tell You some things. Is it okay for me to tell them to You, or should I do Simran instead of doing that?

SANT JI: [Sant Ji laughs.] You should do Simran, because Simran itself answers all the questions.

I have often said this, that the Shabd and the soul have the same language in which they communicate. They don't need any translator, because they both speak in their own language.

Also, I have said this very often, that for a Param Sant it is an ordinary thing to speak in the language of the disciple. But They do not perform such miracles, because They live in this world like the innocent beings. But when the disciple comes on the level of the soul, and when the Shabd has to talk to the soul, there the Master talks with the disciple in his language.

You know that many people write to me and in the letters they say, “Master, you said this thing to us or that thing to us.” They never say that Pappu was present there or Elvia was present there to translate. Because they hear the Master in their own language, that is why they say that Master said such things to them.

When I first went to Sant Bani Ashram in North America, I said this, that the place where the Shabd talks to the soul, no translator is needed there, because they both speak in their own language. I am very glad that Supreme Father Kirpal is making these words of mine true. I receive many letters from dear ones from your country and from the other countries in which they talk about their experiences with the Master – how Master told them this thing and that thing, and how Master was present there during an operation, and how He helped and instructed the doctors, and things like that.

QUESTION: Does the position which one takes during the meditation have an affect on the meditation?

SANT JI: You should sit in such a position in which you can sit for longer periods, in which you can sit comfortably without moving. The most comfortable and natural position is the cross-legged position.

QUESTION: Master, why should the body be cremated only three days after the person has died?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: It is different for different countries, for different religions. In India, what to talk about keeping the dead body for three days, they don't even want to keep the body for three hours. [Much laughter.]

QUESTION: Master, is it possible that when you go within, you can be stopped at a certain point, for a certain period of time, before you go ahead?

SANT JI: It depends upon the concentration of the dear one. If you are doing the Simran with full concentration and with full love, yearning and devotion for the Master, there is no power in the within which can stop your soul while going up. It goes faster than the speed of a bullet. Except for your worldly thoughts, there is no other thing in the within which can stop you from going up.

QUESTION: Master, if during sleep semen comes out, does that mean that victory over lust is close, or is it still far away?

SANT JI: Well, those whose semen has become very thin, they have this disease. [Sant Ji laughs.] This does not demonstrate the closeness of the victory. This is because of the mistakes one has done in his childhood, which bother [affect] him all his life long. But the meditator should not lose any semen during sleep. If he is a real meditator, he will never lose it.

Guru Nanak Sahib says that such souls come in this world whose body does not get confused, even in sleep. He means to say that maya cannot have any bad effect on those who do not lose their energy during sleep. In this world, men are the form of maya for women, and women are the form of maya for men. But such maya cannot have any effect on such souls who have never lost their energy.

1998 October: Few Get the Opportunity

Session Date: January 11, 1983

This question and answer session was given January 11, 1983, in Bombay, India.

QUESTION: When we go home we miss Master's darshan very much. I'm wondering if we can get Master's darshan through a video?

SANT JI: My only purpose in making you meditate daily is that you may solve this problem, because in the within is the real thing; outside there is only the copy or the image of it. And if you do your meditation daily and go in the within and have the inner darshan of the Master, then you will not have any problem, you will not feel any lacking of the outer darshan. Videos may make you remember the Master, but they cannot give you the real darshan of the Master.

Why not meditate with love and faith in the Master? And as long as Master is in the physical body, why don't we fulfill the purpose for which He has come into the body? Why not fulfill our ambition to go within and have the inner darshan of the Master, so that whenever we want to have His darshan, we may go within and have it?

We should never think, not even in the state of forgetfulness, that Master is living in India and we are living far away from Him. And we should never think that He is the body. We should always remember this: that He is Shabd and He has come into this world only to explain the things to us. And when He gives us Initiation, He takes His seat at our Eye Center and He always waits for us.

The Light of Ajaib

Things have progressed very much, and I really appreciate the work that the video people are doing. They help you remember the Master. But we should never think that we can have the darshan of the Master through the video machines. or that we can solve our problem through the use of machines. We have to go within and manifest the Master within us if we want to solve this problem.

QUESTION: Master has said that until we perfect our Simran, the Sound Current cannot pull our souls up. Would You talk to us about the benefit of doing the practice of Bhajan even before we've perfected our Simran?

SANT JI: We should never think, not even Its benefit is that it helps us maintain interest in listening to the Sound Current. Because eventually our soul has to climb, using the Sound Current, and go back to the Real Home. So before the Shabd pulls our soul up, we should develop the habit of listening to the Sound Current.

Many times the Sound is so melodious and so sweet that the mind gets intoxication. That is why it is very important for us to listen to the Sound Current – so that our mind may get peace, our mind may come under our control, and it may always remain intoxicated with the Sound Current.

QUESTION: My question is about children. They have a lot of will power and sometimes they're very stubborn, just to be stubborn. And I wonder, what's a good way to deal with it?

SANT JI: In this the best thing to do is to have patience, because children are innocent souls and the parents should have a lot of patience in dealing with the children.

Once a similar type of question was asked by Emperor Akbar to his very dear minister, Birbal. He asked Birbal, "Tell me, how easy is it to bring up a child?" Birbal replied, "Your Majesty, to bring up a child is the most difficult job in this world. Because children are innocent: they don't know what is right or what is wrong, and they don't have any knowledge of the things of the world. It is very hard to convince them to do anything. So I would say that it is the most difficult work in the world to take care of the children." But Emperor Akbar replied, "I don't believe that; I don't agree with you. Because no doubt children don't know anything, but whatever they ask for, you give them, and that's all. They will do whatever you want them to do. The only thing you have to do is always fulfill their desires."

Birbal replied, "Well, you cannot always fulfill their desires, because they don't know what they are asking for." Emperor Akbar said, "No, I don't agree with that. You should prove this, that it is the most difficult work in the world." Birbal said, "Okay. Now I will become your child and you become my parent. Then let's see how easy it is for you to take care of me, to fulfill my desires."

So Birbal pretended he was the son of Emperor Akbar and he started asking for things. First, he said, "Father, I want an elephant." Now you know that Emperor Akbar was an emperor, he was the king of everything, so it was not difficult for him to get an elephant. So an elephant was brought. And then Birbal said, "Now I want a small glass." A glass was brought. Then Birbal said, "Okay, father, I want to put this elephant in this glass."

Now Emperor Akbar said, "How is that possible? The glass is too small and the elephant is very big! How is it possible?" He tried to convince him that it was not possible. But Birbal said, "No, I want to do that! Otherwise I will weep."

So Emperor Akbar tried in many other ways to convince him that it was not possible. But Birbal wouldn't accept that and he started weeping. Finally Emperor Akbar said, "Now I agree with you that it is a very difficult thing [to take care of a child]. But what is the solution for this?" Birbal replied that the parents should have a lot of patience. Because if they have patience and if they keep trying to convince the children, if they keep trying to raise them in a good way, in the end they will become successful in taking care of their children.

So that is why I will say that no doubt it is the most difficult job in the world to take care of the children, but unless we have patience there is no way out of this problem. I agree that children are stubborn and that they have the will power. But if you have patience, you can win their hearts. If you keep trying, patiently, eventually you will become successful, and then they will do whatever you want them to do.

Children are very innocent souls. Many times they will even ask questions which are very embarrassing. Even though the parents know the answer to their question, still they are not able to reply. In my childhood once I asked my mother how I was born. Even though my mother knew the answer to that question, she replied, "I got you from a beggar. I gave her some wheat flour and she gave you to me." And even after I grew up, they always used to play a joke on me. Whenever a beggar would come, she would say, "Look at your mother! She gave you to me and now she has come back."

Guru Nanak Sahib presents Himself as a very innocent infant in front of His Lord. He says, "O Lord, I am Your child. Why don't You forgive my faults? Whatever faults I have done, I did them all in my innocence. I didn't know what to do and what not to do. You are my Father, You are my Lord. You should forgive my faults." The mother does not remember the faults her child has done, because if she were to remember all the faults and mistakes which her children do, she would never be able to take care of her children, she would never be able to rear her children.

The worldly people have so many expectations from their children, so many hopes they have on the children. But you know that the Satguru, the Master does not have any interest, nor desire anything from His children. He does not have any expectations, nor any hope from His children, yet still He has so much love and patience for His children. He does not mind the faults and mistakes that His children are doing, and He always goes on forgiving them. He does not have any [personal] interest in taking care of His children; His only interest is to take the souls back to Sach Khand. Paying no attention to the faults and mistakes of His child. He waits for the time when the child will improve his condition. He has a lot of patience, and eventually He takes the soul back to Sach Khand.

So just as He does not pay attention to our faults, just as He has a lot of patience for us – He always gives us a long rope; He always waits for us; He always goes on forgiving us we should also make our minds the same way. We should also have a lot of patience like the Master has for us. We should always forgive our children if they are doing any faults, because they are innocent. So we should pay no attention to the faults of the children, and having a lot of patience, we should take care of them.

QUESTION: Master, when we admit our mistakes to the Master in our diary, does that reduce the karmic burden of those mistakes, in addition to inspiring us not to repeat them?

SANT JI: Yes, by admitting our faults we definitely get free from the burden of that karma, provided that you don't repeat it. Because even in this world, if we make a mistake once and ask for forgiveness, even the worldly person will forgive you once. And you know that in the Court of the Lord there is a lot of forgiveness. So if we ask the Master for forgiveness after committing a mistake once, He will definitely forgive us.

Regarding keeping the diary, I have said many times elaborately that you should not keep the diary as if you are doing a rite and ritual. You should not make a mistake and note it down in the diary and again do it the next day. Once you have made a mistake, once you have realized that the thing which you did was a mistake, you should never repeat it.

QUESTION: We ask the Master's forgiveness for sins that we commit. Does the Master take the burden of that karma on His physical body?

SANT JI: I have said this many times, repeating the words of Master Sawan Singh: He used to say that the Negative Power does not spare even one karma. All the karmas which are done in Kal's land have to be paid. Either the Master pays off that karma or the disciple does. You know that if a disciple gets even a thorn in his foot, he will pray to Master to remove that pain. He cannot bear even that much pain. He always asks the Master for help.

You know that Masters are free from all disease. They don't have any karmas to pay because They have come into this world to liberate the souls and to pay off their karmas. They don't have any karmas of Their own. But why do They suffer from diseases? Why do They suffer from sicknesses? This is only because of the karmas or sins of the disciples. Many times it happens that the Masters leave Their body much earlier than They are supposed to, because of the sins of Their disciples' karmas.

Always remember that whatever karma is created in this world has to be paid, whether the disciple pays it or the Master pays it. Tulsi Sahib also said that the law of karma cannot be altered. This world is being maintained by this law of karma. Whatever you sow, so shall you reap.

QUESTION: Master, in the last Sant Bani there was a parable given about a monkey and a goat and a woman. The goat didn't eat the food, but the monkey ate the food and smeared the food on the goat's mouth. When the lady came in, she beat the goat. Who was the woman that was beating the goat?

SANT JI: [much laughter, including Sant Ji] You see that we people don't try to understand what is being said in that story. Instead of understanding what Master wants to say, we try to split hairs, and we cannot do that.

Saints and Mahatmas lovingly try to make us understand through the parables and stories. They use so many stories and parables just to make us understand what we are supposed to do. But instead of understanding it, we just try to fight over unnecessary things, which is of no use.

Many times I have said this, that almost all the questions which you people ask me now, almost all of them have either been published in Sant Bani Magazine or are answered in the Satsangs. So whenever you hear the Satsang or read Sant Bani Magazine, you should read very carefully. Because whatever questions you have, they all are answered in the magazine. So you should be very careful in reading the magazine.

QUESTION: Master says that it's a very great thing for us to awaken the Spirituality within our children. And I was wondering if He can give us any examples as to how we as parents can do things with our children to spark that fire within them.

SANT JI: Yesterday in the children's Satsang, I told the story of Sheikh Farid and his mother. You should also try to become like that; you should take that as an example.

The Light of Ajaib

QUESTION: Do children hear the Sound Current when they're born, and then the world's noises come in and block out the Sound Current?

SANT JI: In the womb of the mother, the soul is preserved and nourished with the support of the Shabd. The soul is connected with the Shabd and she has the Shabd in the form of Light and Sound. And whatever happens, she grows up in the womb of the mother with the support of the Shabd.

You know that when a baby is born, he sees the outer light and hears the outer sound. And you will notice that whenever any baby is born, he cries a lot. This is only because the babies get disconnected from the inner Light and Sound. In the womb of the mother, where the soul is preserved and nourished with the support of the Shabd, she cries and prays to Almighty God, "O Lord, bring me out of this prison and I will do Your devotion. I will remember You day and night, and I will always worship You."

So when the soul is brought out, when the baby comes out, he cries. In the olden days, and even now, when a baby cries, sometimes people hold a light in front of him, and looking at that light, the baby stops crying. Or sometimes people play a musical instrument or they make some noise so that the attention of the baby is diverted to the sound, and then the baby stops crying. It means that when the soul was in the womb, she was having the Light as well as the Sound.

QUESTION: When it comes to doing our work in the world, when we look on that as seva – for instance, our jobs, and also work we want to do in our communities to make them the kind of place we would like to see – is that seva? Or does seva only apply to doing the Master's work?

SANT JI: The works we do in our community or in the world are counted as good deeds and we get the benefit. But as far as seva is concerned, the real seva is doing Bhajan and Simran. And we do that for the uplift-ment of our soul and to practice the Path which makes us liberated ones.

We know that we are born in a society, we live in a society, and it is our responsibility to work in this society. Saints don't say that you should not give any attention to your society, that you should not live in your society. They don't tell us that. But we should try to give as little time as possible to our community and as much time as possible to our meditation. Because there are many other people who can do the job of serving the community and the world, but only a few people get the opportunity to do the meditation of Shabd Naam. This comes to only a few people.

QUESTION: Can you say something about the seva we are doing right here?

SANT JI: I have said a lot about doing the seva, and that is why earlier I advised you that you should read the Sant Bani Magazines. Because during the last Tour I said a lot about doing seva, the seva which we do in the langar. It is one of the best sevas.

By doing physical seva our body becomes pure. And by doing the seva of Simran, our mind becomes pure.

Seva is after all seva, whether you do it here or back at your home. When you are serving in the cause of the Master, when you are serving the dear ones because of your Master, you definitely get the benefit of it. Whether you do the seva here – because here also the langar of the Master is being done – or back in your home, whenever you are serving in the cause of Master, you do get the benefit. Many people are able to meditate and remember the Master with the efforts of a few people. So the people who are serving benefit from the meditations of the people whom they are helping to meditate.

The Light of Ajaib

You know that a very few people made the efforts and showed me their love, and as a result the Bombay program was made and the other dear ones try to take advantage of this program. And that is why I give them the program every year. There are a few disciples of Baba Somanath Ji and a few disciples of Master Kirpal Singh Ji [here], and because of their efforts and seva we all are sitting here together and sharing the love of the Master. We all are doing the seva in one way or another.

Guru Nanak Sahib says that if we do the seva in this world, we get its benefit in this world as well as in the world beyond. because in the Court of the Lord. the Lord loves us and embraces us. Those who get the opportunity of doing the seva of the langar are the most fortunate ones, because not everyone gets this blessed opportunity of doing the seva. They are the most fortunate ones who get the opportunity to serve in the langar of the Master. And I will say that even more fortunate are those who take advantage of the seva done by the dear ones and who spend their time in meditation.

You know that we people might do seva for one or two hours. or for a couple of days. But under whose guidance are we serving the Master Power? We should see how much They work. They don't get any time of Their own; They don't have any free time for Themselves, because They are always doing one or another type of seva. Sometimes They write letters; sometimes They give interviews; and sometimes They are taking care of the souls. They always go on serving the Master Power. Even after doing all that seva. They don't expect anything in return. Their only interest is that those who are serving the Master Power under Their guidance should get a lot of wealth of Spirituality by remaining in the Sangat for as much time as possible.

QUESTION: Could You tell us a little story about Baba Somanath Ji?

SANT JI: There is a book which has all the stories about Baba Somanath Ji. Chris McMahon will tell you some stories from that book.

Master Sawan Singh Ji made my meeting with Baba Somanath possible. It was a very brief meeting. From my childhood I had been searching for God. I had performed many types of austerities. and I did so many things. In the same way. Baba Somanath had also spent a major part of His life searching. He also performed many austerities and did many practices. When He finally came to Baba Sawan Singh, His search was completed, and He got the knowledge of God.

QUESTION: Is it all right to ask the Master to sing His song to the Sangat?

SANT JI: Well, now I don't have that voice which can sing songs, so please excuse me for that. But I'm conveying that to Pappu and he will sing a song. [Pappu translated the bhajan Satguru Ji Darash Dikhao, then led the sangat in singing it.]

1998 November/December: He Is Completely Yours

Session Date: March 3, 1982

This question and answer session was given March 3, 1982, at Sant Bani Ashram, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: Master, it's very wonderful to be here, and – if it pleases You – could You tell us about taking refuge in the Master?

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: I am also very pleased to see all of you. I am pleased with all of you internally, as well as externally. As far as taking refuge in the Master is concerned, I will tell you that we can do that only when we forget ourselves completely, and only when we start doing the things which please the Master.

QUESTION: In doing Simran, I find that the hardest part of it is mentally pronouncing the first name, I have talked with several other Satsangis who have the same problem. Is there an internal reason for that, or is it just my poor pronunciation?

SANT JI: We should have love and faith in the Master within ourselves, and if we have both those things the pronunciation becomes all right by itself.

QUESTION: Last night You said that Master Kirpal was a great Saint [and that] He had liberated even some animals, and I was wondering when You said that He liberated these animals, where did He take them? Did He take them to Sach Khand? [much laughter, including Sant Ji]

SANT JI: When the question comes up [regarding] liberating [humans], it means that Master liberates the souls and takes them to the Real Home, Sach Khand. But when the Master liberates or takes care of the souls of the animals, it means that He liberates their souls from that animal body and gives them the human body in which He then gives them the Naam Initiation and then takes them to Sach Khand. Naam is like a visa with which we can enter the kingdom of Sach Khand.

It may be possible for someone to count the stars in the sky, but it is impossible for anyone to count the examples or to count the grace of the Master. Masters come into this world to liberate the souls and They liberate anyone who comes in Their contact. Whether they ride on any animal, whether they touch or they do anything with an animal – all those animals, all those beings, come under Their protection and they get liberated from their bodies, and they go to the Real Home. Because Masters come into this world only for the sake of the souls, only to liberate the souls.

Now we are sitting on the level of the mind, and between us and the Master there is the great wall of mind, [so] we are not able to know how the Masters liberate the souls. When we cross this wall, when we remove the wall of mind from between us and the Master, only then do we realize how He is working on different levels and how He liberates the souls. Only then do we believe in Him – that He has come as the liberator.

QUESTION: Sant Ji, You always tell us that it's the Master Who brings us to Your side, it's the Master Who does the meditation. What causes us to turn away from the Master? Why do we turn our heads from You?

SANT JI: Always I have said that your Friend is within you and your enemies are also within you. Your Friend is always inspiring you to do the good things, whereas your enemies are always encouraging you to do the bad things. The Master is your Friend and your mind is the enemy. Both these things are within you, and like competent lawyers they both are giving you various excuses and making you do the things according to their wishes. The Master is always inspiring you to do the good things: He is always telling you to go to the Master, to do the meditation, to keep your life pure, and things like that. But the mind is always telling you, "What is the use of going to the Master?" and, "There is no need to meditate now because you still have a long life to live and you will meditate later on." So when we are obeying the mind it means that we are turning away from the Master. Both these powers are within you and they are inspiring you from your within. You should look in your own self and see how many times you have obeyed your mind and how many times you have followed the Master.

Kabir Sahib has said, "O man, your Friend is within you, as well as your enemy."

Master is not the body. Master is at the same time with body and without body. As the Form of the Shabd He is all-pervading and He is not the body. But because He has assumed the human body, that is why He has the human body and we see Him in His body. When Master gives the Initiation He sits within the disciple in the Form of the Shabd, and He always tells us that these are the dangerous things and you should not play with them, you should not do these things. And many times Master warns us and He tells us which things we should not do. Not even for one moment does He leave us alone. Always He is telling us about the good things which we must do and about the bad things which we must not do.

I had a friend whose name was Kher Singh. He was not an initiate, but he had the good fortune to have the darshan of beloved Master. Since he believed in the Sikh religion and he was involved in doing the rites and rituals, and the outer things of the Sikh religion, he was not attracted to the Path. But still, he was a good friend of mine.

Once during the night time, he had a vision in which he saw Master Kirpal. Master told him, "Don't go to Punjab. If you go to Punjab you will become sick and you will get so sick that people will have to carry you back to your place and very soon you will leave this world. But if you postpone your visit to Punjab, if you don't go to Punjab, then it is possible that you may live for some more time."

The next morning when he woke up he was very happy and he told me about his vision. He told me that he had a dream in which he had seen my Master and Master had told him all those things, and he was very grateful to Master because He told him that he was going to become sick and he should not go to Punjab. Then he said, "I am very sorry that I did not take any advantage of that great Power, that I did not take Naam Initiation from Him." At that time he repented. But mind is such a thing that even after seeing the Truth, even after understanding a lot, he does not want to do what is good for us, and that is why he forgot after some days what he was supposed to do.

When he told me about his vision, I told him lovingly, "Dear one, this is not a dream. Masters graciously give us Their visions and we understand them as dreams. But in fact, they are not dreams." I told him that we get the dreams only when our soul goes down into the lower chakras, and as a result we get the worldly dreams in which we do not get any satisfaction, we do not get any happiness. All the worldly dreams, which we have from the lower chakras, end in sadness and we do not get any happiness from them.

But when we have any vision of the Master during sleep, at that time Master pulls our soul up to the higher planes and by pulling our soul up into the higher planes, Master wants to purify our soul and He wants to tell us the Truth and the real things which are going to happen in our life. But it is a pity that we do not understand the visions which Master graciously gives us. We understand them as ordinary dreams and that is why we do not take any advantage of them and we don't understand them.

Masters are always looking for the occasion when They can pull our soul up and purify us, because They have come into this world to purify our souls and to take our souls back to the Real Home. Whenever during the day our mind is quiet and we do not have a lot of tension in our mind and when we do not have a lot of thoughts in our mind, then during the night, because of the quietness of our mind during the day, Master finds it very easy to pull our soul up. Pulling our soul up into the higher planes, He gives us His vision and graciously He tells us the things which we must know. Many times this happens with Satsangis, but people don't understand that and they understand these experiences as dreams.

So I explained all these things to him and at that time he believed. But later on his mind told him that he should go to visit some other place. Twenty-five miles from here there is a town called Suratgarh. He went there, and even though he knew that Master had told him not to go to Punjab, something happened over there and he decided to go to Punjab. So he took a train and went to Punjab. As soon as he entered the State of Punjab, in the Faridkot area, he became sick. He had gone there to visit his sister, and when he became sick, at once he realized that he had made a mistake, and whatever Master had told him had come true. So when his sister told him that she would take him to the doctor, he said, "No, don't take me to any doctor. I don't want any medicine. Take me at once to Rajasthan."

So he was brought back to Rajasthan, and then he told me. "Whatever Master said is now coming true. Now I am going to leave. I have only one request, that when I leave the body You should sit with me. I will leave the body with this thought, that I am repenting because I did not take Initiation from the Master; I did not take any advantage of His grace, even though He was so gracious to me. But I request of You that You should sit with me, so that I may pass happily." At that time when he left the body, I was sitting with him, his two sons, his wife – we all were sitting with him, and he left the body happily and peacefully, saying that Master had come to take his soul up.

So the meaning of telling all these stories is that the Master is so gracious that it is His job to give the warnings to the disciples whom He has initiated. But besides that, He also gives the warnings and the visions to the non-initiates. Those who have a little bit of faith in Him, they are always under the protection of the Master, and they always get the hints during the visions or the sleep. Whenever their mind is quiet, they always get the visions of the Masters and the Masters always tell them the truth.

Both the sons of Kher Singh used to come to see me and now also they are coming. And the daughter-in-law of Kher Singh, whose name was Jagiv Kaur, used to prepare food for Master whenever He would come to visit me. One day it so happened that while she was talking with Master, she asked Him, "When You graciously told my father-in-law what was going to happen to him, when he knew that he was going to become sick and that he would die as a result of that sickness, why did he not believe in You, why did he not obey the orders?"

Master Kirpal told her that because of the mind the soul does not want to obey what the Masters tell them. And the other thing is that whatever is written in their fate, that must happen. Nobody can erase the writing of the Creator and whatever was written for him by Almighty God, that was going to happen. That is why he did not believe in the vision, that is why he did not obey the commandments.

And Kher Singh's daughter-in-law was very much surprised that someone would not obey the order of the Master when the Master had told him that this would cost him his life. So Master lovingly told her, "Well, if you don't understand this, I am telling you that you will die after falling down from your own tractor: your tractor will run over you and you will die as a result. If you want to do anything for yourself, you can try to save yourself."

At that time the Kher Singh family did not have any tractor and they thought that it was all impossible because when they didn't even have a tractor, what was the possibility of getting run over by a tractor?

The Light of Ajaib

So they did not believe in that. But after some years Kher Singh's son bought a tractor and they brought it to my place so that I might bless that tractor.

Then I reminded Jagiv Kaur about what Master had said about the tractor, and she said, "Well, what could I do? When they wanted to buy it, I told them they could buy it. But I will be very careful, I will not ride on that tractor." I said, "Okay, whatever you want, you can do that, but I am pretty sure what will happen, because whatever my beloved Master has uttered, that must come true. Because Saints do not say any useless things; whatever They say always comes true."

When I was on the first Tour, at Sant Bani Ashram I received a letter which said that Jagiv Kaur had died because she fell from the tractor and the tractor ran over her body, and she left the body right there. I became very sorry for her and I came to realize at that time also, that whatever my Master had said, that had come true.

I mean to say this, that many times Master gives us these warnings. They do not make any prophecies, They do not want to change whatever is written in our fate, but sometimes in Their will, lovingly They give us the warning so that we may know what is going to happen to us and we may do some things which may prepare us to accept the will of God.

It is a pity that the mind of the worldly people is like the neck of the tortoise. Sometimes it is inside, sometimes it is outside. It does not remain stable at one place. Our mind can believe in the Master and obey His commandment only if it becomes still, but because it is not stable, it does not obey the orders of the Master.

QUESTION: Why is it that so much power is given, so much is demonstrated, inside by the Master, but outside, when we're in His presence, He is [not] very demonstrative, or not wanting to tell us a lot of things about our lives? Why is it that He doesn't talk to us much about our personal lives, except for a few minutes, but inside He talks to us a lot?

SANT JI: You know that outwardly the Master does not have so much time as you would expect from Him, and that is why you do not get as much time with Him as you want to, because He has to give time to all the dear ones. But internally He is completely yours and you can talk to Him all night, you can talk to Him as much as you want, because He is always within you and there is nobody else in your within to share Him with you. You are the only one who owns Him in the within. And because He has taken the job of awakening your soul, that is why He is within you, and whenever you are awakened, whenever you look in your within, He is over there and you can talk to Him and ask Him anything you want, as much as you can.

Kabir said, "O Lord, when You will come into my sight, I will close my eyes so that neither I will see anything except You, nor will I let You see anyone else." We should also make our condition like that of Kabir. Whenever we see the Master, we should have Him in our within, in our vision, and after having Him in our sight, we should close our eyes from everything else so that we may not look at any other thing. And at the same time, we should not let our Master look at anybody else except us.

QUESTION: Every day as the meditation starts, You say to still the mind. How do you do that? [Sant Ji chuckles.]

The Light of Ajaib

SANT JI: I said that as we clean the house and remove all the dirt from the house using the broom, in the same way, when we sit for meditation we should clean our within, we should remove all the worldly thoughts from our mind. When we do that what will happen? Our mind will become quiet.

You see that when you have to talk with any of your friends or when you are to do any of your business, you keep your mind quiet and you don't have any other thought going on in your mind except the thoughts which you are going to talk about with your friend, because you want to talk completely with your friend and you don't want to miss anything.

If you are asking him anything, you don't want to miss anything, so you put all your attention on your friend, and you put all your attention on the conversation which you are having, and you don't let your mind wander here and there. In the same way, when you sit for meditation, if you think that your Master is your best friend and while you are dealing with Him your mind should be concentrated on Him and you should not have any worldly thought, you should not have any thought going on in your mind except the thoughts for the Master – if you make your mind like that, only then you can make your mind quiet and communicate with the Master completely. If you are having worldly thoughts in your mind when you are sitting for meditation, you cannot communicate with Him completely.

You know that when you have invited any friend or relative and he is going to come to your house, you clean it very well, so that he may not criticize your house and so that he may like it and will feel welcome over there. In the same way, when you sit for the meditation, everyone should have this thought in their mind: "I am sitting in order to talk with my Master Who is going to come into my heart, come into my within now, and I should keep my home, my within clean." If it is not clean, the Master will not come there. If it is clean, the Master will definitely come there. Just think, if your within is not clean, how can the Master come? – because He is very clean, He is very pure, and He does not manifest in a dirty place. Master definitely comes to us when we sit for meditation, but when He finds us dirty, He does not enter in our within, He stays away.

If we will keep our thoughts pure, it will be very easy for us to do the Simran. The more pure our thoughts [become], the easier it will become for us to do the Simran. And when our Simran is happening correctly and completely, then Master will manifest within us without our even requesting Him. Whenever He sees us doing Simran, He will at once appear in our within. Master used to say that God is in search of a man. Who is a man? He is a man who has risen above the mind and the organs of senses, and who has withdrawn his soul from everything and has attached it with the Shabd. He who has risen above all the worldly things and has manifested God within him is a man. God is always in search of such a man.

We all say that we are men, that we are human beings, but who are called as men in Sant Mat? Only those who have risen above the worldly pleasures. Those who have become dirty with the worldly pleasures and the worldly things are not called men. You read the writing of Kabir Sahib where He says that God was making the animal, but by mistake He made the man. The intellect and the qualities which the man has are the same as those of the animals. The only difference is that instead of a tail and horns, he has a beard and moustache.

Guru Nanak Sahib said that people get up to do the bad acts, but when the time for meditating on Naam comes, they always keep sleeping. When we have to do any worldly thing, when we have to remain [awake] for the worldly greed and attachment, we don't know where our sleep has gone, we do not feel sleepy. But when we have to sit for the meditation, we feel sleepy, we feel drowsy. Sometimes we say that we have pain in the body, sometimes we complain about this and that, and always the sleep and things bother us. But when we have to do the worldly things, then we don't know where all these problems go.

QUESTION: What is the reason when children are initiated, they are given the Sound before the Simran?

SANT JI: This is because the thoughts of the children are not so spread out, and their attention is also not so spread out in the world. That is why they catch the Sound Current easily. That is why they are given Sound Initiation before the Simran.

Master Sawan Singh Ji used to say that children are innocent souls, and their souls have not become dirty with the worldly pleasures, and that is why many times it happens that the parents, even though they are initiated, are not successful in opening their inner vision, but the children have already opened their vision, and many times they talk with the Master and they have high experiences.

QUESTION: Can you talk about keeping our thoughts pure? Do you mean no worldly thoughts, or just no bad thoughts? [Sant Ji chuckles again.]

SANT JI: No worldly thought is pure. Whenever you think any worldly thought, it will always take you into the world, into the things of the world, which will eventually take you into the worldly pleasures and the worldly things, and that will make the thought impure. Suppose you are thinking about your worldly business, or your education, or going to school and things like that. Only for a couple of minutes in the beginning you might be thinking about those things, but later on your mind will take you in such a direction that you will be thinking of the worldly pleasures and the worldly things which are not very pure.

The book of the mind never comes to an end. Whenever this book of the mind gets opened, no matter how much time you spend in reading it, it will never come to an end. You go on reading it during the day, and even in the night you will be reading it. Whatever thoughts you have during the day, they get transformed and they come in the form of dreams during the night. Again the next morning it continues like that. It never comes to an end.

My mother had a brother-in-faith and he used to do some sort of practices which we didn't know at that time. We would see that during the night he would leave a lantern beside him and he would sit for some sort of practice. He had a sharp needle in his hand and whenever any bad thought would come, he would say, "Okay, you have come; let me beat you," or "Let me punish you with this needle." And again after some time, he would say, "Okay, you have also come; let me chase you away with this needle." We didn't know what he was talking about. So in the morning when he would drink his tea, we would go and climb on his shoulders because we were very [young] – and we used to copy him. We used to say, "Yes uncle, should we also give you the punishment with this needle?" And he said, "Yes, now you are playing jokes on me, but when you grow up, when you will have to struggle with your mind, it is possible that you may make a bigger needle than I have."

We did not know at that time what he was talking about, but later on, when I had to struggle with the mind, then I realized how he was having a hard time with the mind, how the thoughts were bothering him, and in order to remove those thoughts he was using that needle and he was sitting up all night doing his practices. So I am telling you that if we have an attitude like he had towards the mind – if we always go on punishing the mind, and rebuking him, and chasing the thoughts away – it is possible that we may be able to keep our soul attached to the Shabd and it is possible that we may become successful.

If anyone would listen to what he was saying during the night, they would think that many people were coming to visit him, and he did not like them, and he was trying to chase them away. But he used to sleep alone and nobody would go into his room. It was only [because of] the thoughts which he was chasing away, that he was saying, “Yes, you have come, you have come” – like that. So he was removing his thoughts by saying that.

QUESTION: In the holy books it is written that Masters are all-knowing, and I believe that. But in the physical body Masters very often are surprised. saying, “This I did not know,” “this is new for me,” and “I want to know, how does it work?”

SANT JI: No doubt Saints know everything, but outwardly They do not exhibit Their qualities, because in this world They remain like an innocent child and They do not tell people that They know everything.

Last night I was listening to a taped letter which Pappu’s father sent to me from Canada, in which he said, “You always say that Saints never perform any miracles, but how can I believe that when whatever You are doing is all miracle?” People always say things like that, [according to] whatever has happened with them, but Saints say, “No, we are not performing any miracles.” Even though They do good things for other people, still They remain like an innocent child and They say that They are nothing. They always say that it is the grace of the Master, and They always give the honor to the other people. They do not accept anything for themselves, because They know that in this world there is no place for the ego. So They always say, “We have done nothing.” Even though They do everything and They know everything, but still They say, “We don’t know anything.”

I have seen this many times with my Master: when people would come to Him and praise Him for something which He had done. He would just say, “Hmmm. hmmm. Yes, you have done this, not me.” I mean to say that He would not even be pleased when people would praise Him to His face.

1999*1999 January: Climbing the Ladder of Love*Session Date: December 1, 1981

This previously unpublished question and answer session was given December 1, 1981, at Sant Bani Ashram, Rajasthan, India.

QUESTION: I would like to ask the Master – many of us have small children – what is the best way to guide our children toward the Path? We have to send them to school, but it is a strange atmosphere there; it is not the same as the Path. At what age should we send them to school, and what other things can we do to help them?

SANT JI: The parents should leave a strong impression on their children. It is up to the parents to leave a good or bad impression on them. That is why, from the very beginning, you should tell them about vegetarianism; you should be a good example for them, and gradually you can tell them about the Path.

Parents are the first teachers for the children. Guru Arjan Dev Ji Maharaj said, “My Master is my parents, my Master is my mother, my Master is my Lord.”

Baba Farid was a Param Sant and His bani is also included in the Guru Granth Sahib. He got the yearning for, and the love of doing the devotion of God from His mother.

Farid Sahib’s mother used to give him very good teachings. She used to tell him the benefit of practicing the Path of the Masters, she used to tell him the qualities of Almighty God and the benefit of doing the devotion of God, and she used to inspire him to come to the Path of the Masters and do the devotion.

In the beginning, when his mother would tell him that God is our only friend and sympathizer and that we should do His devotion, he would laugh and say, “Mother, will God give me sugar if I do His devotion?” – because you know that sugar is sweet and children like to eat sweet things. Then his mother would tell him, “Yes, if we do the devotion of God, God will become pleased with us and He will give us sugar and many other sweet things.”

So every morning after cleaning her house, she would tell him to sit down to do the meditation of God because she herself meditated and she knew how one can do the devotion of God; she herself was connected in the within. That is why when she would tell her son Farid to sit down for meditation, he would again say, “Will God give me sugar?” and she would lovingly reply, “Yes, God will give you sugar. You sit down for meditation.”

He would sit down and meditate, and when his mother thought, “Now this is enough time for him,” she would put some sugar candy under his prayer mat so that he would be convinced that God really gives sugar when we do His devotion. In that way, when he gradually developed interest in meditating, his mother gave him her attention and took his soul up. After that, all the time he would take his prayer mat and sit down for meditation and he would say to his mother, “Let me sit down and get some sugar from God.” He did so much meditation because he was inspired by his mother, and then he said, “Mother, sugar, jaggery, rock candy, milk all these things are sweet, but God is sweeter than all these things.” So the meaning of saying this is that it was because of Baba Farid’s mother that he became a Param Sant.

The Light of Ajaib

In Rajasthan there is a saying: as the parents are, so are the children. This is true not only for human beings, but even for the animals. There was a crown prince of one state who fell in love with the princess of another state. Both of them wanted to get married, but because in India the parents choose the brides, they could not get married without asking the permission of their parents. When the crown prince asked permission from his father, he replied, “No, that girl is not fit for you,” and he refused. When the princess learned about that, she suggested that both of them should run away from their homes, go to some other state, get married, and start living there. She said that she would bring a camel and late at night both of them could run away and leave their country. So the prince agreed, and one night the princess brought a camel and both of them left their palaces and went out of that state.

On the way, there was a small stream and when they reached it with the camel, that princess said, “Pull the reins, otherwise this camel will sit in the water.” At once she added that her mother also had the same habit. When the crown prince heard that – that even the animals have the habits of their parents, he thought, “Now we are doing this bad thing: we are running away from our homes, and later on when we have children, they will also follow [our example], and in that way we will be criticized.” In India if anybody’s daughter runs away from home and marries someone whom the father does not like, it is a very bad thing for that father. People criticize him a lot.

So he realized that it was not a good thing that they were running away to get married without the permission of their parents. He changed his mind and he told the princess, “I have forgotten something very important and we should go back to my palace and get it.” The princess did not know that he had changed his mind, so she said, “Okay, let us go back and then we will continue.” But when the prince reached his palace he said, “I am sorry that I was going to make a terrible mistake by running away from my home. When I hear that even the animals have the impression of their parents, I am afraid that if we will run away then later on our children will also copy us, and that will be very painful to us. It is better for us to forget each other and live with our families.”

The meaning of telling this story is that even the animals have the impression and the habits of their parents. So whatever impression you will leave on your children, whatever habits you will show your children, they will also acquire the same. That is why the parents should become a good example for their children, because they have to learn from you. If you do bad things, they will also do bad things. If you do good things, they will also learn to do good things. It is in the hands of the parents to make the lives of the children good.

The Vedas, Shastras and the other holy books are written by the great Masters of the past, and they mention the relationship between the man and woman. They say that the union of man and woman is not only for enjoying lust; it is for living together and making life easier for one another. As far as producing children is concerned, they say that whenever you have to conceive a child, you should have good thoughts in your mind. If the parents have good thoughts during the conception and birth of the child, the children will have very good lives – because even the thoughts of the parents have a direct effect on the coming souls.
